Strange Turn Of Events In Police Chief Matter

ALDERMEN SIGN RESOLUTION TO SIFT MATTERS; THEN THINK BETTER OF
JOINT MEETING OF
BOARD

The council chamber last evening was filled to capacity and extra chairs were brought into play to accommodate the audience who expected fireworks relative to the squabble of the past month in which former Chief Peter Lieve was involved.

The fireworks didn't materialize, however, for right from the "go-in" Alderman Kleis, supported by Alderman Prins, presented a resolution asking that the common council make its own investigation and to call in witnesses, bring in books and evidence that would bring some light on this entire matter. It was claimed that unsubstantiated rumors had filled the city, and was hurting not only police morale but was detrimental to the city. The resolution was signed by eight of the aldermen, but strange to say did not pass.

Alderman Huyser, when the matter was put up to a vote, offered a substitute motion in which he said:

"I am of the same mind that I was when this matter came up before. I believe that this step is too drastic and too expensive at this time. I believe that the members of the common council and the members of the police board like men should meet in joint meeting in private session, where these matters that seem so vague now can be fully explained. The public forms an opinion of half truths. I believe that at a joint meeting all these matters could be talked over dispassionately and understandingly, and I think we will get somewhere. I think that this procedure is at least the first step before we go any further."

Alderman DeCock voiced the same sentiment. Then City Attorney Parsons was asked whether the resolution offered by Alderman Kleis took precedent over the substitute motion offered by Alderman Huyser. Mr. Parsons stated that the substitute motion took precedence. The mayor then called a vote on the substitute motion and it carried by a 7 to 5 vote which made it unnecessary to present the original resolution presented by Alderman Kleis. The aldermen voting for the Huyser resolution were Kleis, Van Zoeren, DeCock, Damsen, Huyser, Bultman and Van Lente. Against the Huyser resolution were Kleis, Prins, Drinkwater, Steffens and Thomson.

Apparently the crowd was disappointed because the police matter did not create more commotion. There was no heated argument, no discussion, only some able parliamentary ruling, and in five minutes the matter was over. In fact Mayor Bosch has a way of hurrying through a council meeting quickly without neglecting the necessary business. For that reason a real live-sized council meeting was over in just one hour.

The resolution which was not voted on, but presented by Alderman Kleis, follows in full below. Whether this resolution will be followed should the joint meeting of the council and police board fail to bring a settlement is a matter for conjecture.

By Alderman Albert Kleis, supported by Alderman Henry Prins:

Whereas, rumors, charges, statements and accusations of various kinds and natures, have been circulating in the City of Holland for the past several weeks, in connection with the conduct of the police department of the City of Holland; and

Whereas, such rumors, charges, statements and accusations should be either proven, or be withdrawn, for the general peace and safety of the citizens of this city, and for the good government of this community; therefore,

Resolved, That the Common Council deem it proper to investigate the police department of the City of Holland, as provided for in section 17, title VI of the city charter, and that the Common Council as a Committee of the Whole shall conduct such investigation which shall begin on Wednesday, August 8, 1934, at 7:30 p. m. of said day, at the Council Chamber in the city hall, in said City of Holland; and further,

Resolved, that any person desiring to appear before such committee of the whole shall be given an opportunity to be heard, and that such witness shall be required to attend as said committee shall order, and that proper subpoenas shall be issued for the appearance of such persons, with the necessary books and records, where required, as in said section the charter provided for; and further,

That said committee of the whole may adjourn from time to time, as they shall determine upon.

ALD. HENRY PRINS,
ALD. JAS. A. DRINKWATER,

LET'S BE NEIGHORLY

Citizens of Holland:
Our neighbor, Grand Haven, will devote the greater part of next week to commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of its founding. There have been many weeks of preparation in which the entire citizenry have made a concerted effort to stage a celebration that will fully portray those historic events harking back from the trading post period until the present day.

Holland is also to do her part in helping to make this occasion the success that a paean of this nature deserves. The mayor and common council and the city officials have received an invitation from the City of Grand Haven to participate, and this invitation has been accepted. I, therefore, urge the citizens of Holland to join us in helping our neighbor commemorate a history that has been so closely identified with our own. I remember some years ago that this city held a similar celebration, when Holland's fiftieth anniversary was commemorated. At that time our neighbor, Grand Haven, was quick to extend a helping hand and today there is time for recapitulation, and judging from the preparations made here I feel that Holland will do itself proud.

You can aid this celebration by being present at least one of the days and I assure you that your host, Grand Haven, will be found to be a genial one.

NICODEMUS BOSCH, Mayor.

HOLLAND'S SWIMMING POOL IS O. K.

In regard to the water in Holland's swimming hole recently completed on the east end of the city, tests of the water conducted at Lansing have revealed no contamination, but not of the kind to prevent bathing. Dr. Weststrate, city health officer, stated that lack of a cement bottom has caused the water to become a bit dirty, but that the change of water each day due to the current of the stream keeps the pond free from disease.

COUNCIL NOTES

All the aldermen were present, saluted the flag and were led in prayer by Alderman Steffens.

Alderman Prins, chairman of the ways and means committee, stated that the committee had gone over the welfare problem of Holland and recommended that this city pay $1,000 a month to the county upon its share in welfare contributions. Holland will have to take care of the hospitalization of patients.

Henry Vander Schel, who is doing such wonderful work preparing a battery of floats typically Dutch, asked for $100 for material to complete the work. Of this sum $40 will go to transport the American Legion band and their expenses while at the Grand Haven centennial celebration. It was allowed.

Alderman Prins stated that the ways and means committee recommended that $2,100 be appropriated to buy tulip bulbs for next year's Tulip Time celebration, and $1,000 for new soil to be used in the tulip lanes where the bulbs are to be planted. The recommendation passed unanimously, even Mayor Bosch stating "We're having our Tulip Time every year, and I don't see how we can get away from the expenditure."

Relative to soil, Mayor Bosch states that Captain Harrington had furnished his dredge to scoop silt from the Black river bottom. It was thought wise to try this out to save the expense of buying the dirt. This was bound to be a failure, however, and the scooping of dirt was discontinued.

Alderman DeCock deplored the condition of Nineteenth street between River and Pine avenues, where a sewer had recently been laid, but City Engineer Zuidema stated that this street would soon be put into shape, that it had simply been left that way temporarily to allow the earth in the newly dug trench to settle solidly. The street will be fixed before fall.

John Greengrove, 65 West Sixteenth street, has been troubled with a city viaduct which has been out of commission and need repairs. The viaduct has caused settling of the house, and Alderman Thomson recommended that the matter be taken care of immediately. The matter has been complained about before but relief is now in sight.

Alderman Damsen again complained about the Pados junk dump on city property near the swamp on Central avenue. When Mayor Bosch heard that that mess had not been cleaned up, he said, "I command you to clean that up, even if you have to go to the full extent of the law." It appears that Pados has a small piece of property there, but the pile of old iron and junk has been creeping over onto city property.

Alderman Drinkwater brought to the attention of the council that the large doors of fire station No. 1 needed repairs, and that part of the frame work had rotted away. The matter was referred to the board of police and fire commissioners with a recommendation of new doors to correspond with the other improvements installed in that building.

The board of public works brought in a report that there were more than $7,000 in delinquent light and water bills. These persons still have a month or six weeks to pay them in, but after that time the list will be published, according to the charter, and the debt assessed against the property.

The council authorized the payment of bonds and coupons amounting to approximately $34,000 by the city clerk. The bonds and coupons are due today.

Makes Claim City Takes His Bread and Butter

ALDERMAN KALKMAN NOT SATISFIED WITH CITY SIDEWALK BUILDING

Alderman Kalkman created considerable amusement at the common council and for a time aldermen and the large audience went into fits of laughter. It wasn't so much the subject he was discussing but his strange way of expression and his gesticulations with hands and arms, and he was very serious, and undoubtedly to him the matter was a grave question and worthy of consideration. Mr. Kalkman has as his profession the laying of sidewalks and is licensed to do that work provided such jobs are let to him by citizens. It appears that the city also repairs sidewalks, as was explained by Engineer Zuidema, and that such jobs are charged up to the property owner or are assessed against the property.

Anyway, Kalkman feels that if a property owner is well able to pay, such jobs ought to be left to contractors to do. Mr. Kalkman mentions the names of several whose sidewalks had been repaired who came under that head. It is the claim of Mr. Kalkman that he asked from the engineering department if he could have the job of doing that repairing, but was told that an alderman could not take contracts for city work under the charter.

"If that is the case," Kalkman cried out, "then some aldermen, grocers, plumbers, carpenters or anyone connected with the city in an official capacity should not take such jobs in the future, if that is illegal, and should pay back to the city on such jobs or goods as they have sold to the city in the last six years. The city going into business has taken the bread and butter out of my mouth, and I'm a taxpayer and always have been, and how can I meet my interest on my indebtedness if I can no longer do the work the city gives me a license for?"

City Engineer Zuidema explained that the work was done under the works division under the FERA, and conducted in the customary way. He said that for years notices have been sent to property owners whose walks were bad that they must repair them at once. If they fail to do this themselves after enough notice has been given, the city goes ahead and does the work and charges the entire cost to the property owner, and if he does not pay, then it is assessed against the property.

Mayor Bosch spoke up after the merriment had subsided, stating that the explanation of the city engineer should make the matter clear to the alderman.

JUDGE LACEY TO MAKE OPEN-AR SPEECH TONIGHT

Judge Arthur J. Lacey of Detroit, gubernatorial candidate in the Democratic party for the September primaries, will speak in Holland tonight, Friday, at 8:30 o'clock from the steps of the Masonic temple on Tenth street. In case of rain the temple doors will be open and the meeting will be held inside.

President Ruthford B. Hayes is particularly attentive to bridge parties calling on him at the White House. Usually he gives each bride a beautiful rose taken from the large vase standing on a table in the reception room.

The first ripe peaches were placed upon our desk by James Huntley, the local contractor. Thank you, "Jim." Note—Mr. Huntley owned a small farm south of the city at that time. Today it would be on Central Avenue, the site of the homes of Ben Van Raalte, Nathaniel Robbins, Jr., and Ed Leuw and others in that neighborhood.

Mr. J. A. Bloemers, one of our oldest settlers, died Wednesday night at the age of 82 years. Note—Had Mr. Bloemers lived until today he would have been 132 years old.

Isaac Goldman has sold his home on East Ninth Street to Frank White of the Beach Milling Co. for $4,600. The Goldmans will move to Kalamazoo, the Sterns-Goldman clothing business here having been discontinued.

Wm. Boeve, living on the north side, while cleaning his bicycle had two fingers so badly crushed, caught in the chain, that these had to be amputated.

Fred Jackson is building a fine new Ford garage on Seventh Street east of River. The new building will be directly back of Al Hidding's grocery and Sam Hobbing has the contract to build it for $3,000. Note—This building site was later enlarged, extending to River Avenue, and became the Holleman-De Weerd Auto Co.

A young lady of 17 whose name we are omitting at this time was brutally attacked at 9 o'clock at night while she was on her way home from her uncle's house. The attack took place on College Avenue near Seventeenth Street when a tall young man stepped from the shadow of the trees, asked the girl if he could walk with her. She refused, whereupon he asked her for money, which she did not have. He then struck her and dragged her in an open yard and after that her mind was a blank. She was discovered afterward and a local doctor worked over her for three hours and until midnight attempted to revive her, but the girl failed to recognize any of them. Chief Kamferbeck is handling the case.

The Monica Aid society will sponsor a baked goods sale in the De Vries and Dombros store Saturday beginning at 10 o'clock. In addition to baked goods, potato salad and baked beans will be sold.

Lightning Struck Church, Rooster In Tact

During the severe storm late this afternoon the steeple of the Ninth Street Church was struck by lightning, tearing out several blinds in the tower and sent these spinning all over the church yard. The wiring in the church was burned out but otherwise the church was not damaged. The old rooster weather vane remains in tact and will continue to turn where it has turned for 70 years. The iron rod thru the rooster—as has been often told by the News—turns in an upturned old fashioned French wine bottle with concave bottom ingeniously soldered in a frame so the rod thru the rooster would not rust, but would continue to turn on the glass surface. The rooster was made and the vane devised by Holland's first tin-smith, E. Vanderveen.

The Veneklaes brickyard on the Zeeland road near New Groningen is having a greater demand for brick than what they can supply. The only kind of brick they have ahead is for well building. One order received is for 900,000 building brick and orders are coming in from Benton Harbor to the south to Big Rapids to the north, all along the Chicago & West Michigan railroad. Builders come with cash in hand to get the brick quickly.

Note—This old brickyard at one time was one of the best paying industries in Ottawa County. Today the clay pit, filled with water, is all that remains of a once thriving industry covering two city blocks. The plant in Hamilton, too, has long since been discontinued and only the large round burning kilns, partly in ruins, are left. Concrete blocks came in style. Cement sidewalks were used instead of brick. Tile also entered into the building trade, which was more convenient with much faster construction and as durable as brick and business gradually died and a prosperous industry went out of commission because of a change in methods and materials in building.

In the "good old days" when the Holland Shoe Co. staged picnics at Jenison Park the Cutting room won from the Lasting room the $5.00 prize in indoor game 7 to 5 and the Buttoning room won the second $5.00 prize by winning 2 to 0 from the Making room. Other first and second prize winners in sports: Peanut scramble, Gladys Markus, Vera Mulder; cracker eating, Corneilus Mieras, Walter Winstrom; 100-yard dash, Murvel Houting, John Koning; balloon race, Helen Kienstra, Nellie Mouw; pipe lighting, Walter Mattison, Henry Van Putten; ladies' 50-yard dash, Florence Slagh, Nella De Bree; tug-of-war, foremen (Fred Frundt, captain), salesmen and officials (Ed Moore, captain). Foremen won, Dutch Masters. Tug-of-war: fitting room girls, 10 from balance of factory (Miss De Waard and Miss De Fouw, captains, respectively), $10.00 prize won by Miss De Fouw's team. Three-legged race, Jack Markus, Merle Brightrall. Needle and threading contest with husband helping, Mr. and Mrs. Markroiner. Wheelbarrow race, Geo. Frundt, Peter Dalman. Jumping contest, Seville Kuite, Evelyn Hamm. Wheelbarrow race for boys under 15, Gunner Winstrom, Jim McCarthy. Fat men's race, J. Rottschaefer and Dominie Battams. Tug-of-war, north-south wings, Torri Van Dyke, captain, and east-west wings, Jake Ludwig, captain, $10.00 prize. Ludwig's team wins. John Beltman won individual tug-of-war and P. Heinicke the 50-yard dash; under water swimming prize, Nick Kamphuis. Al Van Zoeren was starter. Oscar Peterson, now city clerk, planned the sport program.

Clarence Zwemer surprised his many friends by getting married in Grand Rapids to Miss Theresa Kudreliak. Rev. Wishart performed the ceremony at Hotel Browning. Mr. Zwemer, who has been the druggist at the Model in Holland for some time, will move to Fort Worth, Texas. Note—Mr. Zwemer has been in Texas ever since and has done exceedingly well in the clothing business. He called on old friends a few weeks ago.

J. A. Vander Veen sold his hardware store to Arend Siersma and Dick Van Tatenhove and it will be called the "Corner Hardware" after this.

Bolt Strikes Top of Dewey Hill Sunday

LIGHTNING SHOCKS SEVERAL PERSONS ON RIVERFRONT
DURING AFTERNOON

Lightning struck the top of Dewey hill, big sand dune across the river, Sunday afternoon during the heavy electrical storm which brought 25 of an inch of rain in two separate storms.

Joe Nowiski, employed by the Metz Fishing company at Grand Haven, was burned about one leg as he was unloading nets at the government pier. The man has a steel plate on his leg, which was necessary following an accident and the metal evidently attracted the electricity which filled the air in that section.

Claude Ver Duin, standing outside his place of business, The Fishery, was leaning against Edward Soule's car. The force turned him completely around and he was stunned, feeling the effects of the shock for several hours.

Nowiski was treated for lightning burns and is at present at the Hotel William M. Ferry where he is recuperating, unable to work.

Edward Soule stated that the bolt Sunday was the third one he had escaped. He was effected on his farm at the south limits of the city the first time, was stunned when a bolt hit the Soule residence on Lafayette street, Grand Haven, and again Sunday.

The bolt ignited a tree and some shrubs on the top of Dewey hill, which was observed by officers on the coast guard cutter Escanaba and others on Harbor avenue at the time.

The storm brought some relief from the drought, although it was but a drop to the amount needed. Heavy rain fell in the afternoon while the sun was shining. Clouds boiled up out of the west later and another heavy shower was enjoyed.

The temperature for the weekend was cool. Saturday night the thermometer went down to 49 degrees and Sunday night to 53 degrees. The maximum on Sunday was 85 degrees.

The attendance at the oval was cut considerably Sunday due to the cool weather and the storm. There were but 25,000 people recorded.

Honey

Poetic fancy always has been stimulated by spring and blossoms and bees. The poor little bee, humming his way from flower to flower, always is thought of as leading a gay, colorful and care-free life. But if information put out by the Michigan state department of agriculture is correct, there is more tragedy involved in the making of honey that helps down the morning waffle than in any other food production.

The elders, the graybeards of the bee colony, are those that chance to be born, or hatched, rather, after the busy season in the fall. They may go through the winter and early spring, coming to the ripe maturity of six months of age. But a worker bee hatched just at the beginning of the honey-gathering season probably will wear out its wings and its life in a few weeks.

Getting together a single pound of nectar is a job requiring 20,000 trips. And four pounds of nectar go into the making of a pound of honey. In terms of sentiment from the bee's point of view, one may well exclaim, "What price honey!"

WILL ENTERTAIN CANDIDATES AND FAMILIES BEFORE DEBATING THEM

A meeting of Republican candidates for congress from the fourth district will be held in Allegan next week, Tuesday, at 8 p. m. at the Griswold auditorium, according to an announcement made this week by Clare E. Hoffman, chairman of the county G. O. P. organization. The meeting has been called to provide the public with an opportunity to hear from each of the four Republicans now in the field for the congressional nomination. It will be the first event to be held under Hoffman's plan for presenting each candidate's platform to the voters.

Invitations have been sent out to all four G. O. P. party members up for election in the September primaries. Dr. Felix A. Racette, of Paw Paw, has already notified Hoffman that he intends to be present. The others are expected to accept the offer to appear this week.

Under the plan promulgated by Clare Hoffman, Allegan attorney who is also a candidate for congress, each candidate will be allowed five minutes for an opening talk, seven minutes for a closing, and three minutes to answer questions from the audience. The order of speaking is to be decided by lot. A meeting is being planned in each of the county seats in the six counties of the fourth district.

Hoffman will entertain his opponents for the nomination and their families at a dinner prior to the meeting. The dinner is to be held at 6:30 p. m. at the Otwell Country club near the city.

DENIES RETRIAL OF $100,000 WILL CASE

A motion before Judge Fred T. Miles in circuit court for the retrial of the Miss Minnie E. C. Reynolds will case, originally appealed from the probate court, was denied by Judge Miles in an opinion filed. The will, leaving an estate of approximately $100,000 to Miss Jessie Reynolds of Grand Haven, was upheld in a previous case. The suit was brought by several nieces and nephews of the deceased who charged duress and undue influence. It was the largest case of the kind ever to be heard in the local court.

James G. Rowell, C. S., of Kansas City, Missouri, who spoke at the Holland theater Sunday afternoon, was greeted by a large and attentive audience. The speaker, who is nationally known, came under the auspices of the Christian Science society of Holland and excerpts of his discourse are found below:

"Human beings are accustomed to look upon business and supply as things of their own origination and of their own responsibility. Christian Science shows that this mental attitude is a pitiable mistake, which is the bottom of our floundering progress, our fleeting success, and none too infrequent losses and despair.

"Christian Science teaches that the only real business is right activity, the activity of divine Mind. It shows that Spirit, true substance, is the only real supply. It avers that the laws of God are just as available and just as powerful to produce results in the realm of business and supply as in religion, ethics and health. Humanly speaking, then, good business and substantial supply can be found only by reflecting the activity and qualities of God, Spirit, in obedience to the laws of Love.

"Speaking of God's activity or business, Mrs. Eddy tells us that 'divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need' (Science and Health, p. 494). Could there be any greater, any more noble business? As an individual reflection of divine Love, our business, then, is to meet every human need. Jesus sent His disciples forth to meet human needs, saying to them, 'Freely ye have received, freely give.' Jesus knew the divine source from which His disciples must draw to meet human needs rightly. This business of reflecting the Father's inexhaustible supply of strength, of intelligence, of love, of right ideas to those in need is true business. It is your business and my business.

"All that is helpful, constructive, and worthwhile in the world's business today is founded upon service, the Christian basis of meeting human need—of reflecting divine Love to our fellow men. Whoever is consciously or unconsciously working on this basis is not working alone; he is being sustained and rewarded in ways he knows not of. Not a single human being, however much or little of this world's goods he may possess, is limited in the slightest in the pursuit of and the reward from God's business, for the needs of men are not for things but for right ideas, for love and joy and peace.

"In Science, business is seen as an integral part of religion, a certain, necessary, and practical road to the kingdom of heaven. Our reward in the Father's business is found not alone in that our human needs are met, but in that which money cannot buy—in purity, innocence, health, satisfaction, yea, salvation.

"Salvation is individual. No one can work out another's salvation for him. Jesus, our great Exemplar, could work out only his own salvation. No one has the power to keep another from working out his own salvation. No one has to wait for others to work out their salvation. Salvation is possible today for each one of us. Jesus furnished the example worked out in daily life. He is our Way-shower. Paul instructed us: 'Work out your own salvation.' When we have demonstrated in ourselves the Mind that was in Christ Jesus, our salvation is assured.

"God's work is done. Our part is in the transforming of our thoughts. Our deeds, not our words, show what our thoughts are. Salvation means scientific right thinking, oneness with divine Mind; saved from false beliefs, superstition, the testimony of the senses. Salvation is Christ, Truth, Christian Science, understood and demonstrated in purity, perfection, and Life eternal.

"Salvation means the abandonment of the false dual standard of belief in the reality of both good and evil, of more than one God, more than one Mind, and the identification of one's self with the one true eternal standard of supreme affection for good, God, that knows no other reality."

NO MORE LEFT HAND TURNS IN HOLLAND ON SATURDAY NIGHTS

During the heavy traffic Saturday nights on Eighth street, no more left-hand turns will be permitted at intersections. This was approved by the police board at Monday night's meeting. Left-hand turns are permissible and convenient in ordinary travel, but Chief Van Ry states that when there is congestion the waiting to get around the corner before the light changes brings still more confusion.

A new type of pavement light is being considered, the matter being brought up by Chairman John Luideus, who felt that a light in the pavement was directly visible to the driver and especially attractive at night. Commissioner John Donnelly felt that a pavement light would be obscured by winter snow and would be useful only part of the year. Mr. Donnelly felt that all stop lights in the state should be standardized and that the state does not allow pavement lights on trunk line highways and Holland's principal streets are just that, maintained by the state.

Chief Van Ry sustained Commissioner Donnelly and stated the reason for this was that lights in the street interfered with road scrapers. A standard system of lights, the chief felt, was just the thing. Action on this lighting matter was deferred until later.

(Grand Haven Tribune)

Pictures of former city officials which have been hanging on the walls of the city hall for many years were taken down yesterday to be renovated before they are placed in the new city hall. Some interesting data was gathered from old papers used for backing, which will be preserved. One picture of T. W. Stuart, a former mayor, was most interesting. It is a black and white, believed to be either charcoal or soft lead, the work done on the back of an old liquor license certificate granted to Loon Van Drezer in 1885. The certificate shows that $300 was paid for the license. How the picture came to be drawn on paper of this kind is a mystery as the work is evidently that of an artist and has long been hung with the remaining enlarged photographs of considerable size. The backing of another picture was the data in broad handwriting telling the lineage of Col. Wm. M. Ferry and referring to his illustrious father and mother, Rev. and Mrs. William M. Ferry, and his brothers.

Apple is reported to have stated that his father-in-law bit his finger, which forced him to retaliate.

STICKER PERMITS GOOD IN MICHIGAN

When Secretary of State D. Fitzgerald extended the use of windshield sticker permits until September 1, with the consent of a majority of the legislature, it was decided that other states would not be notified of the action. This means that Michigan motorists operating their cars after August 1 with 1933 plates and a windshield permit are liable to be detained if they travel beyond the Michigan borders.

DAUGHTER OF REV. VAN DYKE FATALLY INJURED

Gladys Van Dyke, 12-year-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John A. Van Dyke of Marion, New York, was fatally injured in an automobile accident which occurred near Flint Thursday when the car in which the Van Dykes were returning to their home in Marion, after spending the vacation at their summer home at Central Park, overturned, the child dying at Hurley hospital in Flint three hours after the accident.

Rev. and Mrs. Van Dyke and Miss Dora De Pree, sister of Mrs. Van Dyke, other occupants of the Van Dyke car, who were also injured in the accident, were discharged from Hurley hospital after being there for two days. Mrs. Van Dyke, who was seriously injured, being brought to Zeeland in an ambulance to attend the funeral of her daughter on Monday.

The funeral services were held in Second Reformed church in Zeeland on Monday afternoon, the Revs. R. J. Vanden Berg and J. Van Pusem of Zeeland and G. Hondelink of New York officiating. Burial was made in Zeeland cemetery.

Surviving are the parents and two brothers, Sharon and Rodney Van Dyke.

The two Van Dyke sons did not figure in the accident since it was the intention that they remain at the cottage at Central Park prior to their entering Hope college in September. Upon hearing of the accident they hastened to Flint.

Rev. and Mrs. Van Dyke, who is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dirk De Pree of Zeeland, are both former residents of Zeeland and well known here.

THE STRATOSPHERE AND THE KELVINATOR

That a Balloon Voyage into the stratosphere is not all a matter of casting loose the ropes and sailing away into the sky was revealed here today by information received by Jack Knoll of the KNOLL PLUMBING AND HEATING CO., local sales representative for Kelvinator Corporation.

Mr. Jack Knoll said that a standard Kelvinator household model was installed at the ground base used by Capt. A. W. Stevens and Pilot William Kepner in their flight from Rapid City, S. D., for the sole purpose of protecting films and developing chemicals to be used in connection with the important photographic work scheduled to be done on the flight.

Captain Stevens, who is recognized as one of the world's outstanding aerial photographers, laid much insistence on the methods by which his supplies were kept. Mr. Knoll pointed out. Because it was necessary to provide a non-fluctuating temperature for film and chemical storage in the darkness of the flight headquarters, the Kelvinator cabinet was installed.

Not only is it necessary to protect the highly sensitive films used in aerial camera work from temperature changes, but an adequate supply of ice cubes must be on hand at all times for use in cooling the developing fluids to the proper temperature. Kelvinator was selected for this important work largely on the strength of its ability to offer adequate refrigeration and freeze an abundance of ice cubes on even the hottest of midsummer days, it was explained.

About a dozen members of the post drove over to Caledonia last Thursday to the Fifth district meeting. They had quite a crowd, and everyone had a good time. A good ball game between the Zeeland Legion Juniors and a picked team from the losing teams in the district. The business meeting was quite a heated affair. One or two subjects came up that started a lot of arguing. A program had been arranged, but it took some time to get it started and no time at all to stop it.

The nearest casualty of the evening was when Sam Bosch zigged when the road zagger. A jog in the road had Sam busy twisting the wheel; he negotiated the turn by using two wheels at a time.

ALLEGAN FAIR REDUCES PRICES OF ADMISSION

The general admission tickets for the annual Allegan county fair will be 35 cents this year, according to the figure set by the fair association directors, but a special advance sale of admission tickets now in progress will permit any person to purchase a regular ticket for 25 cents.

Under the new plan, which went into effect last Wednesday, August 1, four general admission tickets may be purchased for one dollar. This sale will continue until September 8, when the regular price will be resumed.

With each of the 25 cent tickets a coupon for the drawings on the four cars to be given away during the week of the fair from September 11 to 15, will be issued. The sale tickets may be used by anyone on any day the fair is in progress.

The decision to reduce the price of tickets for the advance sale was brought about by a desire to give everyone in the county an opportunity to attend the fair at the lowest price possible, according to the fair management. By selling four tickets for one dollar it is felt that every person in the county can afford to spend at least one day of the week at the fair, which will this year mark the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the county.

REFORMED CHURCH OBSERVES 75TH ANNIVERSARY OF MISSION WORK IN JAPAN

The Reformed Church in America recently observed the seventy-fifth anniversary of the departure of the first two missionaries for Japan. These missionaries were Rev. Samuel Robinson Brown and Rev. Guido P. Verbeek, an Americanized Dutchman and native of The Netherlands.

Since then many missionaries have sailed to the orient under Reformed church auspices, several of whom are graduates of Hope College. Among those who have spent a number of years there and have since retired are Rev. Albert Oltmans, who served nearly 45 years and who now is secretary of the leper movement; Rev. and Mrs. Albertus Pieters, who served 32 years; and Mrs. H. V. S. Peek, who was in the mission field 45 years. Rev. and Mrs. Stegeman, also graduates of Hope college and missionaries to Japan, are now spending their furlough in Holland and vicinity.

The Fremont Fish and Game club had unusual success this year in the hatching of pheasant eggs. A hatch of 425 baby pheasants was reported out of the incubation of 700 eggs last week.

Twenty-four days were required to complete the hatch and the success is considered remarkable in view of the fact that the incubation of the pheasant eggs is considered somewhat of an experiment as yet. Day-old baby pheasants are sent to a poultry farm near Fremont and they will be kept there until they are large enough to be freed. Various places in Newaygo County will be selected as the permanent home for the birds.

Perch fishing is the best in years in Lake Michigan, according to fishermen on the piers at Macatawa.

Daily, when the perch are biting, the breakwater and piers here are lined with hundreds of men, women and children. The same is true at Grand Haven, White Lake, Ludington, Muskegon and other lake port cities.

Catches ranging from 50 to 100 perch are not unusual here this season. In fact, record catches in record time have been reported on every hand. "Vandie" and Mrs. Vanden Berg stated they spent one hour at the park and caught a pail full and that is true, "Vandie" said so.

There are times when the perch are not biting. Then the piers and breakwater are abandoned. Once the perch start to bite the news spreads rapidly, however, and fishermen come from all sections. They continue to line the piers and breakwater until the perch run halts. Then they await news of the next run.

DEER HUNTING LICENSE LAW 37 YEARS OLD NOW

The Fremont Fish and Game club had unusual success this year in the hatching of pheasant eggs. A hatch of 425 baby pheasants was reported out of the incubation of 700 eggs last week.

Twenty-four days were required to complete the hatch and the success is considered remarkable in view of the fact that the incubation of the pheasant eggs is considered somewhat of an experiment as yet. Day-old baby pheasants are sent to a poultry farm near Fremont and they will be kept there until they are large enough to be freed. Various places in Newaygo County will be selected as the permanent home for the birds.

Perch fishing is the best in years in Lake Michigan, according to fishermen on the piers at Macatawa.

Daily, when the perch are biting, the breakwater and piers here are lined with hundreds of men, women and children. The same is true at Grand Haven, White Lake, Ludington, Muskegon and other lake port cities.

Catches ranging from 50 to 100 perch are not unusual here this season. In fact, record catches in record time have been reported on every hand. "Vandie" and Mrs. Vanden Berg stated they spent one hour at the park and caught a pail full and that is true, "Vandie" said so.

There are times when the perch are not biting. Then the piers and breakwater are abandoned. Once the perch start to bite the news spreads rapidly, however, and fishermen come from all sections. They continue to line the piers and breakwater until the perch run halts. Then they await news of the next run.

The Duty of Every Banker

It is clearly the duty of every banker in the country to perform certain services. The most important of these are:

1. To afford perfect safety for deposits.
2. To grant credit to those who deserve it.
3. In the matter of granting credits the public must in fairness remember that banks are not lending their own money, but money of their depositors, represented very largely by the earnings and savings of the people.
4. It is possible that some legitimate borrowers are hesitating to approach the bank for credit but we know of no time when good borrowers are so warmly welcome.
5. Deposits in this bank are insured to the greatest extent provided for any bank, $5000. for each account.

John H. Den Herder
Ottawa County Treasurer

In commenting upon our able group of public officials at Grand Haven, we feel that it is altogether fitting to offer the following words about John H. Den Herder, our able County Treasurer.

His is an enviable position for it is one requiring experience and a strict probity of character. That is a hard order to fill and to meet such a high standard of personal attributes naturally places him in an exalted position in the admiring eyes of his fellow citizens and associate officers. Mr. Den Herder has needlessly to say given to the people of Ottawa County a splendid administration and seeks re-nomination to this office on his record.

With the increase of work that has been put upon this office, the work has been carried on in a splendid manner and has not brought them criticism from any source. Such men as John H. Den Herder well merit commendation, and we are pleased to present him in our remarks and wish him success in the coming campaign.

Worms for Bait

Always Ready

An easy way to be sure of having a supply of worms on hand when you get the fishing bug in a hurry is to start a worm garden in your own back yard. Equipment necessary for this is very simple. The first requisite is half a barrel with the head out. This should be set part way into the ground and filled with soil and fertilizer. The first layer, about three inches deep, should be of sand to insure good drainage. Then the rest of the barrel can be filled with a well-mixed combination of animal manure, vegetable compost and loam in equal parts. After the whole has been dampened it is time to plant the worms.

The only thing that is necessary from then on in order that your stock of worms may thrive and multiply is to keep the "garden" moist at all times, though not wet enough so that the water stands in pools above the surface. A screen placed over the top will keep away the birds.

SIMPLE DEVICE TO KEEP YOUR MINNOWS ALIVE

Minnows may be kept alive and active by using a simple aerator and injecting air into the water of your minnow bucket at intervals, while you are fishing. The outfit consists of a tube with a rubber bulb at one end and a stopper at the other. The tube is perforated near the end containing the stopper and the bulb has a valve which closes when squeezed but opens when released. Squeezing the bulb injects air into the water containing the bait. The valve which opens to admit the air when the pressure is released prevents the bulb from filling with water. It may be attached directly to your minnow-pail by means of clamps or wire.

HUNTERS FACE SHORT SEASON

New Regulations Designed to Protect and Conserve Wildfowl Resources of U. S.

By Albert Stoll, Jr. (Detroit News)

The Federal Migratory Bird Advisory Board has placed before Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace a new set of regulations governing the hunting of wildfowl this coming fall. From all indications the Secretary will ask the President to approve of the code on his return from the Pacific and duck hunters in Michigan will then know what to expect when the flights begin this coming fall.

There are six recommendations and all are approved by the Secretary. They are as follows: 1. A fixed duck hunting season from Oct. 1 to Jan. 15 with the number of shooting days varying from year to year according to the waterfowl supply.

2. A 30-day shooting season next winter but with the time and spread of the season in each state regulated by states with the approval of the U. S. biological survey.

3. Prohibition of baiting of waterfowl in the vicinity of shooting stands or blinds except under permits to be issued by Secretary Wallace and strengthening of the regulation forbidding the baiting of mourning doves.

4. Shooting extending from sunrise to sunset and pre-sunrise shooting prohibited.

5. Permission for shooting to begin at sunrise on the opening day of the season instead of at noon as provided by existing regulation.

6. Maintenance of the daily bag limit at 12 for ducks and 5 for birds of certain species, signified by the biological survey, which need additional protection.

J. N. (Ding) Darling, chief of the survey, said the recommendation that the time and spread of

Covered Wagons Instead of Tents

Tents are giving way to "covered wagons" in Michigan's state parks. The desire on the part of many tourists to move from one park to another with the least possible inconvenience and the assurance of greater comfort and protection from unfavorable weather is resulting in the increasing use of house cars. At least 50 per cent of the park visitors at the start of the season used house cars. The number is now running 75 per cent, which is a substantial increase from 1933. Most of the trailers noted this season are new, the report shows, costing from $175 in the case of home-made outfits to as much as $1,000 for factory-built products. A large percentage of the house cars, the report reveals, are being hauled by new automobiles.

Live Minnows Spoil Fishing

Fishermen who at the end of a fishing trip dump all of the live bait they have left into the water to feed the fishes are blamed by the American Game Association for unknowingly ruining the fishing in many good lakes. The difficulty of such a proceeding, it is pointed out, is that most of the minnows are of undesirable species of fish, such as carp, and enough of these are likely to grow up to devour or destroy the environment of the game fishes. Carp are sucker feeders and not only eat all of the vegetation in the lake but uproot it as well. The vegetable food of both game fishes and wildfowl as well as the habitat of minute forms of aquatic life upon which the game fishes feed is destroyed.

In Michigan the angler who dumps his left-over minnows not only risks ruining the waters in which the minnows are dumped but lays himself open to prosecution by law as well. The State Department of Conservation has ruled it a violation of the conservation laws to transfer fish from one lake or stream to another or to plant any species of fish in any waters under jurisdiction of the State, unless under special permit from the Department, and this covers the minnow-dumping evil.

QUAIL SO PLENTIFUL COME WITHIN CITY LIMITS

As a result of 20 years of rigid protection by most farmers and land owners, the maintenance of favorable habitat and food conditions in many localities, quail are now fairly plentiful in the south and central part of the lower peninsula.

H. D. Ruhl, chief of the game division, Department of Conservation, states that quail seem to have shown a marked increase during the past four years. It is believed that the comparatively milder winters and lighter snowfall may have helped. Last winter was quite cold, but the snow was not particularly deep for any extended period.

In many localities of the lower peninsula residents have reported that this species of game bird has nested almost within the limits of towns and cities. In some instances the birds have appeared in residential sections and their "bob-white" calls have been heard from backyard gardens.

SCHOOLS TO OFFER CONSERVATION STUDY

Books, which will be used for the purpose of conducting brief courses in conservation are being prepared by the educational division of the conservation department, with the co-operation of the department of public instruction. This material will be supplied to all Michigan schools, next fall and is one of the many methods which the department has adopted in an effort to teach conservation and promote better sportsmanship.

Schools to Get Wildlife Lore

Michigan will go into the schools next fall to teach conservation to the outdoor lovers of tomorrow, says C. A. Paquin, head of the Educational Division of the Department of Conservation.

A small start was made this year through regular conservation officers who gave talks and exhibited motion pictures in the schools, but next year a definite program will be developed.

A series of exhibition cases are now under construction in which the various species of birds, fish and animals will be mounted against a natural background and shown behind glass. These cases will be sturdily made so they can be shipped from one school to another.

Supplementing the exhibition cases Mr. Paquin is also planning a series of booklets which will contain actual photographs of the various species of wild life to be used in classrooms. A single booklet will contain possibly 20 photographs. For example a book on deer would contain photographs of fawns in spotted coats, does, bucks with their horns in various stages of development and deer at various seasons of the year. A brief description of their habits will accompany the photographs of each animal.

The Educational Division also has under consideration the development of a series of graded lessons on conservation to be worked out with the co-operation of the Department of Public Instruction. Other ideas that are being considered include the use of small local conservation projects by school children as a vehicle for the development of civic interest. By teaching the importance and value of conservation to children Mr. Paquin believes that foundations can be laid for permanent and intelligent enjoyment of Michigan's wild life resources.

Dynamite Ruins Famous Stream

When two shots of dynamite fail to bring up any fish it is easy to believe that there are no fish left in the stream to bring up.

According to the statements made by Fay Jenks, 33, and Charles Judko, 22, who recently appeared before Justice M. W. Chinnery of Scottville and pleaded guilty to the charge of dynamiting the south branch of the Pere Marquette river, they were unable to raise any fish with either charge. This may explain the reason why the great number of trout fishermen, who have always found this stream to be productive, have not been able to creel any trout this season.

Evidence of dynamiting along various points of the stream were noticeable before the season opened and it is reasonable to believe that the lack of trout in these waters is due to the extensive dynamiting to which this stream has been subjected.

Jenks and Judko were each fined $50 and costs and allowed 30 days in which to pay. The alternative is 60 days in the county jail which according to most trout fishermen, should be raised to 365.

Miss Viola Steinfert of rural route 3, Holland, and Miss Lucille Steinfert of Grand Rapids, are vacationing at Ottawa Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huisenga of Zeeland were guests of their mother, Mrs. B. Huisenga of this city, Friday.

As to Celebrations

Grand Haven Tribune

The twin cities of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, Holland and Traverse City have become well known for their festivals. It so happens that each of these towns has an environment of tradition that readily adapts itself to a celebration. Blossoms, tulips and cherries seem far more romantic than, say, potatoes, celery or milk. We can appreciate an allusion to sweethearts surrounded by blooming fruit trees or the little Dutch boy and girl admiring the tulip gardens, but a "spud queen" would probably fail to appeal to our sense of the esthetic.

Consequently when ordinary communities turn green with envy because St. Joe, Holland or Traverse City can "put across" an annual pageant we fail to understand their state of emotion. If every town had a festival the "kick" that the current special festivals are providing would be largely lost. Indeed this festival stuff can be overdone.

There should be a reason for a celebration. Benton and East Jordan have their smelt runs; Baldwin is the fishermen's paradise; Holland has transplanted many of the Dutch traditions and flowers, and is beautiful in the Spring; the Twin Cities' blossoms at this time of year are inspirational; and Traverse City's fruit belt is none the less lovely, especially, too, because Traverse is in the heart of an unsurpassed lake country. Finally, Grand Haven has a reason to celebrate this year because it is 100 years old.

Grand Haven could be outstanding as a festival town, in view of its resort appeal. The Spring Lake boating regatta offers a fine chance for the town to capitalize more than it has. Grand Haven could develop its sporting programs and set aside a week in mid-summer when something special could be staged. Or she could build an amphitheatre among the dunes where conferences or musical programs might be held. Grand Haven stands in a position to give as good a show as Ionia does with her free fair. But it should not be a "bud or blossom festival" or a fruit carnival.

Let us see this summer what we can do with a celebration. If we are unusually successful perhaps a celebration annually of some kind will appeal to us. The thing to keep in mind is: Capitalize on a community's strong and unique points, advertise a community's appeal to romance, but do not put on a show just because somebody else puts on a show. Queens are born, not made; and so are festivals—born of the peculiar attractions in a town and the leadership in making those attractions doubly attractive.

Deputy Looks On; Man Takes His Own Life

Despondent Ferrysburg Citizen
Turns Shotgun On Himself,
Falls Trigger

Leonard Kikstra, age 27, of Ferrysburg, died from a self-inflicted discharge from a 16-gauge shotgun at his home, believed by officers and the family to have been done in a fit of despondency.

William Boeve, chief deputy in the sheriff's office, formerly from Holland, was present when the man fired the shot and saw him pull the trigger before he was able to wrest the gun from his hands.

Boeve had been called about 10:30 a. m. to the home of Mrs. Kikstra's parents, living on the North Shore Road beyond Ferrysburg, by a local physician as he had found Mrs. Kikstra in a bad nervous state caused by the continued threats of her husband to take his life.

The deputy stopped at the Kikstra home and found the man sitting on the davenport in the living room apparently in the depths of despondency over his failure to get work so that he could support his family. He said he had nothing against his wife or family and that nothing had occurred to separate them. He declared that life was not worth living and also admitted that he had made threats to kill himself before his wife.

Leaving him in an apparently calm state of mind, although despondent, Mr. Boeve went to the Olthoff farm to talk with Mrs. Kikstra to get her side of the story.

He returned later and noticed that the windows and doors in the Kikstra home had been closed. Boeve remarked to John Klaver, who was with him in the car, that the situation looked suspicious. He went into the home and again found Kikstra in the living room seated on the davenport.

"I inquired of Kikstra if he had a gun," said Boeve.

"Yes, do you want it?" Kikstra replied.

Kikstra then got up, according to Mr. Boeve, and left the room for the gun, which evidently he had loaded, and it stood just behind the door leading from the living room into the back room. Kikstra grabbed the gun and Boeve saw him lean over it with the stock on the floor and he pulled the trigger, all of which was done so quickly that the deputy was unable, he said, to prevent the man from taking his life. The shot entered Kikstra's head and death was instant, it is believed.

"Bill" Boeve ran to the car and told Mr. Klaver what had happened and placed him in charge. He then called Coroner Govert Van Zantwick, who pronounced death due to suicide, and the body was taken to the Van Zantwick funeral home.

Stopped Him Once.

Mrs. Kikstra was then notified by Mr. Boeve of what had occurred. When the deputy had suggested that she go back with him to the house previous to the shooting she refused, saying that she was afraid of what might happen, as only a few hours before she had prevented her husband from taking his life when he was in the basement of their home.

Due to the closed doors and windows the shooting was not generally heard and few in the village were aware of the tragedy until the officers were seen at the house.

Kikstra is well known in this locality, as he has lived on a farm with his parents, on US-16 outside of Spring Lake. His wife was Miss Grace Olthoff and they had been married a few years. He had been out of regular employment for about two years, it was reported, and it appeared that he would not be able to support his family.

Boeve recalled that as he left him to go to Olthoff's he had tried to cheer him up, telling him not to let the depression get him and that things would soon take a turn for the better.

The calmness of the man's attitude disarmed the officer and led him to believe that it was safe to leave him while he interviewed the wife.

County Will Aid Any City Airport Plan

SUPERVISORS AGREE TO ASSIST IN PROJECT FINALLY IF TOWNS INVEST

Ottawa county will participate in assisting any community in the county that desires a landing field for airplanes, following action of the board of supervisors, meeting Monday for a one-day session.

The matter of securing a landing field for Ottawa county, as a preferred project for welfare, was brought before the board by a recommendation from the Emergency Welfare commission of the county and John DePree explained the need for action of the board. He stated that plans of all kinds are continuously being presented, but as the landing field projects are preferred by state and federal commissions he believed that Ottawa county should be in a position to take the advantage and secure one or more landing fields.

The matter was referred to the conservation committee, including Peter Damstra of Holland, Frank Garbrecht and Lester Martin. They recommended the resolution adopted by a vote of 25 to 2.

The resolution recommends that the board co-operate and financially assist any section of Ottawa county that desires a landing field but such participation is to include an outright grant and does not take responsibility in future participation for maintenance.

Mr. Damstra moved that the conservation committee especially co-operate with Holland, Zeeland and Grand Haven with the welfare commission in securing such fields. This was passed. Mayor Heap reported that he had investigated the matter for Grand Haven and the city council was in favor of securing such a field for this section.

Hunter Hering, Crocker, requested, through a resolution, that a survey be made of the financial condition of the county with a special sheet devoted to the finances of the road commission. Upon the assurance of Charles E. Misner, chairman of the finance committee, that such an audit was being made which would be presented at a future meeting, Mr. Hering withdrew his resolution.

Dog taxes, which were paid last year before the general state reduction, cannot legally be refunded, it was reported by a committee investigating the situation, so those who paid the full amount will have to chalk the fees up to the profit and loss column.

Lionel Heap called attention to the resolution passed by the board for welfare labor expended on road projects.

The report of the auditing committee was accepted.

Mayor Heap, speaking for William H. Loutil, chairman of the Centennial committee of Grand Haven, invited the board to attend the centennial celebration and to sit on the reviewing stand on Friday morning to view the giant parade. He called attention to the fine unit which would be sponsored by the city of Holland in that parade.

The board adjourned at noon to meet again on Monday, September 10.

REPRESENTATIVE RACE

Charles K. Van Duren, Holland attorney, has withdrawn from the race for nomination to the state legislature on the Republican ticket at the coming primaries Sept. 11.

Mr. Van Duren's withdrawal leaves the field for the party nomination to Edward Brouwer, incumbent, and Jay H. Den Herder.

Harry Kramer, of Holland, withdrew from the race for Democratic nomination as circuit court commissioner, leaving the field to Arie Vander Wilk and Henry Goertling, Jr., both of Holland, and Paul H. Helm of Grand Haven. Mrs. Martha Van Lier of Marne, sent notice of withdrawal from the Socialist ticket as nominee for county treasurer.

Works in Celery

Farm at 90 Years

Harm Roossien of Grand Haven, who, with his brother, Henry, are the original celery growers in this vicinity, starting over 60 years ago, celebrated his 90th birthday last week. His children gathered at his home for supper and a social time.

Working from 4:30 a. m. until 2:30 p. m. in the celery fields with the hoe and tending the celery rows is a feat for the strongest in the intense heat of the past few weeks, but Mr. Roossien appears to have survived with no more than an extra coat of tan on his already tanned body.

He cultivates about four acres of celery land near his home with his son, John, while another son, Gerrit, cultivates an acre of celery and two and one-half acres of flowers. Besides the celery, Mr. Roossien has a thriving garden of corn, already tasseled and nearly ready for harvest. His garden is his special domain and there he relaxes after a day spent in the celery fields.

He started celery planting shortly after arriving from the Netherlands 61 years ago and father and son are working the same plot that he began so many years ago. He was married in this country to Miss Berdena Boykin, who has been dead for some time.

Some of his children are all living in Grand Haven and the immediate family includes Peter, John and Gerrit, Mrs. John Wellington, wife of a prominent celery grower; Mrs. Peter Ryngaert, wife of the city assessor, at one time register of deeds; Miss Anna Roossien, and Mrs. George Meyer; 24 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. His brother, Henry, is 87 years old.

Celery this year has been growing very well, he says, up until the past week when blight and sun scald have caused some losses. The prices, especially at the beginning of the season, were very good.

His work in the field is not a puttering job that may or may not be called work, but the hard work that is necessary to celery culture in damp ground, which during the heat spell was difficult, due to the humidity. His favorite work is hoeing and none of the younger men can beat him at this work which he has done for so many years.

Rev. Lucas Boeve, 60, pastor in the Reformed denomination for 23 years, died in Kingston, New York, where he was pastor of the First Dutch church since 1922. Rev. Boeve was a graduate of North-western Classical academy at Orange City, Iowa, from Hope college and New Brunswick Theological seminary. He was ordained a minister in 1906.

Contagious diseases in Holland for the month of July are reported as follows: Measles 3, whooping cough 4, chicken pox 3, typhoid 1. Holland's health officer has been authorized to proceed with the annual examination of all food handlers in the city.

Leo Inderbitzen, 19, graduate of Holland High school, is being acclaimed a hero following discovery he had rescued two children from drowning near the north pier in Lake Michigan last week. Three small children had fallen into a deep hole. Leo jumped in and saved two, while the mother accounted for the rescue of the third.

When the story finally was told, Leo modestly replied: "I just walked out there to help them and two of the kids grabbed hold of me. The water was up to my chin, so I could walk them in. That was all there was to it."

Sportsmen Show Better Records For Last Month

ARRESTS DROP OFF AT LEAST
26 PERCENT FOR JUNE

The monthly record of arrests for conservation law violations showed a drop of 25 percent during June with a corresponding decrease in fishing law infractions. These figures are brought out in the report of the Field Administration Division, Department of Conservation.

Of a total of 319 arrests, 289 were for violations of the fishing laws. Seventeen individuals were taken into custody for breaking hunting regulations and four for shooting songbirds. The remaining arrests during June were divided as follows: Trapping violations, taking frogs in closed season and burning without a permit, two each; leaving a permit fire unattended, cutting timber on state land and operating a motorboat without a muffler, one each.

Fines levied during the month came to a total of $1,612.50 and costs to $1,881.60. The aggregate of jail sentences imposed was 521 days. Fines were suspended in 110 cases, 21 respondents were placed on probation and six were dismissed, the report shows.

Conservation officers recovered more than 2,330 pounds of fish illegally taken, nearly all of which was given to welfare agencies or to poor families. Other confiscations were five deer rifles, three 22 caliber rifles, a double-barreled shotgun, a rowboat, five nets and seines, two spears, two flashlights, a 215-foot seine with 85 hooks, five fishing poles and tackle, a dog deer which had been shot, a ferret, two live fawns and three cans of venison.

Among the arrests of unusual nature was one involving the shooting of 58 songbirds and another charging a respondent with using a net to capture two quail and a mourning dove. The songbirds had been shot from a cherry tree and included 54 robins, a redheaded woodpecker and three catbirds.

The fishing licenses of 12 violators taken into custody in Iron county were revoked on arraignment in justice court. Five of them had been fishing on a closed lake. Seven were charged with possession of undersize brook trout.

A marked decrease was noted during June in the number of individuals taken into custody for fishing without a license and for the illegal use of the spear. In May there were 141 arrests for fishing without a license and in June 82. The number of cases in which illegal spearing was charged dropped from 79 in May to 12 in June, but there was an increase in the number of arrests for possession of fish during closed season, the number jumping from 38 in May to 82 in June.

Other fishing law violations during the past month were: Fishing in a closed lake, 50; possession of undersize fish, 37; illegal use of nets and seines, seven; shipping undersize fish, four; commercial fishing without a license, two; exceeding legal catch limit, five; using set lines, three; sale of undersize fish and fishing in state cultural waters, one each.

Of the arrests for hunting violations, seven were for possession of a gun in closed game area without a permit; two were for killing deer and two for possession of venison. The others were as follows: Possession of live pheasant, capturing ducks, possession of ferret, capturing game birds by use of a net, illegal possession of fawns and illegal use of a gun.

OVER 3,000 CANS OF VEGETABLES PUT AWAY

Over 3,000 cans of vegetables and fruit have been preserved at the municipal canning plant at Grand Haven. Last week over 600 cans were put up in one day.

The cannery is open to anyone in the city regardless whether the citizens have gardens on Paradise Island or Kieft's Island. There are many people who have private gardens and others who have borrowed or leased land.

GETS LOST WATCH BACK BUT HE'S NOT TOO HAPPY ABOUT IT

Eckerman said he left it on the washroom table and when he went back to get it a few minutes later it was gone. He named several suspects and police as far away as Grand Rapids were notified.

Shortly afterward one of the early customers at the cafe, a friend of Eckerman's, asked the waiter what he would give for the return of the watch, suggesting coffee and a fried cake.

"Coffee?" said Eckerman. "I'd give a whole meal!"

The friend showed his wrist, bearing the missing watch. He had noticed it in the wash room, as a joke had put it on and had worn it in sight of the waiter while eating his morning meal. He had planned to return the watch then but forgot about it until he returned home.

STRAWBERRY PRICES

REV. BRUGGERS RETURNS FROM WESTERN TRIP

(Coopersville Observer)

Rev. J. H. Bruggers and family returned last Thursday evening from a month's trip through the west, during which they visited relatives in Minnesota, Iowa and Kansas, and also passed through the states of Illinois and Nebraska. Mr. Bruggers gives a very good account of the damages that have been done in most of that section by the drought of the past two years, and especially the intense heat and lack of rain this year. The trip was made in their car, and though they have made similar trips before, they covered more territory this time, and took somewhat different routes to what they had done before.

Rev. and Mrs. Bruggers were given a surprise party Friday evening. They had been invited out to the Peter Bolhuis home, and after dinner a telephone call came that Mr. Bruggers was wanted at home. On their arrival home they found a crowd waiting for them, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The self-invited guests had not forgotten to bring a lunch with them, and this was served at a late hour.

Holland Cemetery

Mrs. Henrietta Bolhuis Meengs, widow of Dr. Derk R. Meengs, died Friday at her home, 103 Paddock Avenue, S. E., Grand Rapids, after several months of failing health.

Mrs. Meengs was born at Holland, of pioneer parents, June 24, 1858. She was married in 1877 to Dr. Meengs, who practiced several years at Muskegon before coming to Grand Rapids in 1893. Mrs. Meengs had lived in Grand Rapids since that time.

She was a member of Central Reformed church, Grand Rapids, and active in church affairs.

Surviving are one son, Dr. Jacob E. Meengs of Grand Rapids; three grandchildren, Norman Reynolds, Joyce and Jean Meengs, and one sister, Miss Bessie Bolhuis, West Twelfth Street, Holland.

Funeral services took place Monday at the residence, conducted by Dr. John Dykstra and Rev. Nicholas Boer. Interment took place in Pilgrim cemetery at Holland, where her late husband is buried. Many years ago Dr. Meengs conducted a drug and stationery store on River Avenue in the building now occupied by the John Y. Huizenga Coal Co. Later he studied to be a doctor. Henry Meengs of the Holland Cleaners is a brother.

JUVENILE FISHERMEN MAKE RECORD CATCH

Noteworthy catches of the kind that veteran anglers dream about but seldom perform were made by two youthful fishermen of this vicinity recently. Fifteen-year-old Jack McNutt, using home-made tackle, caught a seven-and-one-quarter pound bass, the largest taken from the waters of Kalamazoo County in 10 years. The very next day Tindall De Long, also 15, caught two large bass in one cast with the same bait.

The experimenters who have glowed with satisfaction over such feats as frying eggs on sidewalks during last week's heat wave, were somewhat nonplussed by the statement of S. A. Loomis of Coldwater, Mich., that he found three baked apples under a tree in his orchard. He is exhibiting the apples as proof.

Local Laundry Man Dies After Long Illness

BURIAL TOOK PLACE WITH MILITARY HONORS
YESTERDAY

Death took Raymond W. Tardiff, world war veteran and local laundryman at the age of 43 years after battling nearly a year with serious illness that kept him bedridden since January 1. Mr. Tardiff was a veteran of the world war, and spent two years in France during that terrible strife, serving until August, 1919.

He enlisted in May, 1917, in the engineering corps, going overseas in June of the same year as a sergeant of the first class of the Sixteenth Engineering corps. Part of the time he was in charge of the engineering department of Camp Valhalla in France. Since the war he had been second lieutenant of the U. S. reserves.

Mr. Tardiff was born June 29, 1891, in Chicago and came to Holland at the age of 12. He was educated in local public schools and at Valparaiso university. He became an electrical engineer in Chicago before the war.

After the war he came to Holland and with his brother, Calvin Tardiff, purchased the old West Michigan laundry owned by the Martin Benkens estate and conducted for a time by Mrs. Benkens and daughter, Margaret Benkens. The Tardiffs managed this enterprise successfully and later erected the fine industrial plant on West Seventeenth street near the city limits, where The West Michigan Laundry company has installed the very latest in laundry equipment.

Mr. Tardiff was instrumental in reviving the activity in Holland in the Western Tourist and Resort association, and he was untiring in his efforts on this proposal. He has always felt that resort trade was a great asset to this community, and fostering it simply meant the building up of an avenue of business that grew with cultivation and that languished when no efforts were made.

Mr. Tardiff was also active on Chamber of Commerce committees, merchants' associations and water transportation.

He was a member of numerous local organizations, including the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, the local Masonic order, Knights of Pythias, Elks and Exchange club.

Mr. Tardiff was a member of the Republican party, and was very active along political lines.

He was a life-long member of Grace Episcopal church, and he served on the vestry for a number of years.

It was while being overseas in France that Mr. Tardiff met the young lady who became his wife, a French girl by the name of Miss Germaine Maillet. They were married in January, 1919. After the war he brought her back to the United States. Two children, Morris, 14, and Gladys, 12, were born.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon with military honors. The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars attended in a body. The Legionnaires were in charge at the grave while members of the V.F.W. were pallbearers.

The services were held at 2 o'clock at Grace Episcopal church. Rev. J. Wendell Davis officiated. Interment took place in Pilgrim home cemetery.

Surviving are the widow, two children; his mother, Mrs. Joseph Tardiff of Holland, and a brother, Calvin, who was associated with him in business.

The marriage was performed before an altar of palms and ferns with beautiful pink and yellow gladioli adding greatly to the altar as well as home decorations. Rev. Russell Damstra of Minnville, N. Y., brother of the groom, officiated.

The bride's ankle-length gown of sheer pink silk organza was trimmed with the same material in blue, her corsage of roses also being pink. The couple was unattended.

A buffet supper was served to the guests immediately after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Damstra left on a wedding trip through northern Michigan and upon their return will make their home in this city until September, when they will make their home in Hopkins, where Mr. Damstra is a teacher in the high school.

Plans are under way for the presentation of a historic pageant, to be given possibly two evenings. The pageant will depict the emigration story of Zeeland and will date back to events in The Netherlands, when the people of the province of Zeeland were persecuted, fined and often imprisoned because they worshipped in groups contrary to the laws of that country.

Beukema was removing a jack from the trench when the sand started down. He jumped, probably saving his life, but was not quick enough to escape the entire downpour. Arrangements are being made to secure some state speaker, probably a member of the Democratic state central committee. Several important committee reports are to be presented and plans are to be made for all pre-primary meetings in the county.

K. Cook of Gibson is wrecking the old building formerly owned by Henry Dekker. He will use the lumber.

Sheriff Miller answered a call Monday night upon a report that two colored fellows were trying to break into the Methodist church in Allegan at the corner of Walnut and Trowbridge Streets. The youths were trying to get in a back window which had been left open. They were scared away by the sheriff and escaped behind some houses across the street. It is believed that they did not take anything from the church.

One of the outstanding features of the pavilion, Saugatuck, Mich., Wednesday, July 25, was the tap dance by Ruth Jane Beals. It was her first solo attempt before such a large crowd and general comment was that she has a good future in the dancing world. The Beals family, who occupy "Never Inn" cottage, have been coming to Saugatuck for 38 years.

The summer homes at Green Mountain park near Gibson are being equipped with electricity. A special line has been constructed from Pan's Corners by the Consumers Power company.

The church and school at Gibson will also be wired for the installation of electricity.

Doctor House of Saugatuck, accompanied by his grandson, Walter Meyer, spent the week-end at Lake Forest, Ill., in the celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Presbyterian church there. A fine crop of sweet cherries has been harvested at Fennville and prices have been quite encouraging—from $1.60 to $1.75 per case. With the exception of peaches (which there "ain't") other fruits are fine. Apples are cleaner than usual and that cold winter which killed the peaches may have been disastrous to a lot of the insect pests. A big crop of sour cherries is now being rushed into cans, three "shifts" of help being used and over a hundred tons being processed each day. Pears and plums are a big crop, requiring much thinning.

Fire swept the three large barns and outbuildings at the Hillcrest farm, owned by John DenBleyher, located four miles southwest of Hopkins on the Miner lake-Hopkins road, Tuesday night and burned the buildings to the ground causing a damage estimated to be in excess of $12,000. The fire started about 8 p. m. Tuesday evening, thought to be by spontaneous combustion. It burned throughout the night and attracted attention for many miles around.

A Gibson cow seriously injured Leonard Henwall recently but the boss of "bossey" will recover and maybe some day will kill the cow.

Miss Minnie Nelson of California, who spent more than two years with her sister, Mrs. Hamilton Johnston, returning to California last December for a few months, has returned to Ganges for an indefinite time.

A sharp advance in the market price of peppermint oil around Fennville has been encouraging to the growers but the long continued drought is seriously affecting the crop. Even though there may be some oil in the plants it will be lacking in menthol—the mint character which gives it its characteristic quality. On account of the low price that has prevailed for peppermint very little of that variety is being produced by local growers. The Todd company of Kalamazoo practically controls the market on peppermint. Peppermint oil has been bringing about $3.25 per pound or even better. Some very fine home-grown celery is now on the market out of Fennville and it is far better than what has been shipped in from the south. Hot winds ruined much of the early plantings and it has been impossible to secure plants with which to reseed, so that the acreage of early kinds has been greatly reduced.

SUNDAY DINNER
SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE
HEAVY rains have ended the drought in the chief butter-producing states. Improved pasture will and the threat of butter shortage and consequent high prices.

A great variety of small fruits is available, including late strawberries, raspberries, dewberries, huckleberries, sweet and sour cherries, and currants. Apples, plums, early peaches and seedless grapes are also in market along with the year-round stand-bys.

Local gardens are supplying much produce though certain vegetables must still be imported from other sections. Salad ingredients are plentiful, and for them a variety of salad dressings is desirable. Greens are best with a French type dressing, while most fruit, vegetable, meat and fish salads—after marinating—are improved by a thick salad dressing.

AUGUST 5, 1934
"Elisha Helps the Needy"
(II Kings 4:1-7; 42-44)
HENRY GEERLINGS
When Elijah was at Horeb the Lord commanded him to find Elisha and anoint him as his successor. He lived at Abel-meholah in the Jordan plain and here Elijah found him at work plowing. He cast his mantle upon him, the significance of which Elisha understood. He accepted the divine appointment and followed Elijah. Elisha was translated near the Jordan. Elisha asked for a double portion of Elijah's spirit, and as the chariot carried away his master the mantle of the latter fell upon Elisha. His work was quiet, unpretentious, seeking no public applause. It lives like his that fit into the scheme of the world and at the same time adhere strictly to the purposes of God. To look after the physical and domestic affairs of people does not seem to be a religious matter, but it is. Religion and religious ministrations must share in the general welfare, which certainly includes where and how people live. Samuel at Ramah was the head of a company of prophets. These men gathered together to study the things pertaining to God. When they were properly equipped they went about teaching the people. A prophet dies. He left a widow, two sons and a debt. He was a dutiful servant and had the fear of reverence for God in his heart. Because of his devotion to his work, the widow felt that she could appeal to Elisha. When her creditor demanded his money and discovered that she was without funds, he was ready to report to the practice of the nations of Asia, which was to seize the children and sell them into slavery for the debt. Elisha's advice as to how to pay the debt was a test of faith for the woman. To go out and borrow many oil vessels was unusual. It would be especially so for her, since she was poor and not in the oil business. The miracle of oil supplied oil had been assured her. While she was obeying instructions she was thinking in terms of providing food rather than of selling oil. Her obedience is commendable. She did not raise any social question. She took the prophet at his word and acted accordingly. That was an interesting experience the widow and her sons had in the privacy of their house, as they poured oil from their own vessels into all the borrowed vessels. The surprise of it all must have filled them with wonder and amazement. Nothing like it had ever happened as far as they knew. Another incident which reflects the gratitude that must often have welled up in the hearts of the people who shared the benefits resulting from the merciful acts of Elisha is recited here in a very few words. We can imagine how many of them there must have been that
