Scouts En Route To Europe Write Of Experiences

Visit to Washington,
Life at Camp Kilmer
Described by Youths

Eagle Scouts Rodger Northuis and Bill Filkins are now on their way to Europe with the American delegation of Boy Scouts and their leaders to attend the World Jamboree at Moisson, France.

Both scouts wrote Scout Executive Donald E. Kyger of their experiences at Camp Kilmer near Chicago and at Camp Kilmer, N.J., where the entire delegation of 1,090 spent four days before sailing.

Northuis wrote:

"Saturday (July 19) we arrived in Washington, D.C. and toured all of interesting places including the capitol, the White House, the Senate and Representatives building, the Lincoln, Washington and Jefferson memorials and Mt. Vernon. We climbed to the top of the capitol. At 4:30 p.m. we boarded a train for New Jersey and ate supper on the train. All of the meals we have had here were very good, even those that we had to cook ourselves.

"Our life here at Camp Kilmer is very pleasant. We do drilling and practice our troop stunts and then we have free time most of the day. We have clean beds and sheets and all the hot water for showers that we want. The Scouts here are all very friendly and really know their stuff. There will be 1,090 in the American delegation to the Jamboree. It gives you a thrill to see all of these Scouts marching in a parade. You just don't realize how big Scouting is until you get over here. Over 50 per cent of the Scouts are Eagles and most of the rest are Life Scouts.

"Region Seven (Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin) has one of the largest representations in the U.S. delegation. We have two troops of Boy Scouts each, a Drum and Bugle Corps from Madison, Wis., which numbers 30 Scouts and a Senior Scout Unit of 35.

"Sunday we were awakened at 8:30 a.m. and prepared to go to church at 10. Following this service we heard of another service being held so our whole troop voluntarily went to that service. Sunday evening we were welcomed by Col. Duffie, the commanding officer, and were also introduced to A. W. McKinney, who is chief of the American delegation."

Filkins wrote:

"We spent the past week at Camp Kilmer, near Chicago, conditioning ourselves to the routine we will meet in France. Our leaders have endeavored to give us an experience in which we will be prepared for the actual Jamboree. Our troop has prepared a scouting stunt which we will put on overseas. It is a combination of first aid, pioneering, knot tying and fire building without matches.

"When I return from this trip I should have some worthwhile experiences to relate, because I am in a group of very active Scouts. In most troops there are always a few who are inactive and therefore a detriment to the troop as a whole. Such is not the case with a Jamboree troop. Each fellow is a good Scout or he wouldn't be here. I have no doubt as to the success of the Jamboree if all of the troops are composed of Scouts such as I have become acquainted with during the past week."

Anyone interested in writing to these Scouts may do so. Their address is as follows: Scout Rodger L. Northuis or Scout Wm. C. Filkins 7-P No. 15 Jamboree, France Seine-et-Oise.

"Why, of course, I'll take three tickets," Mrs. Alvin D. Bos, of 133 West 11th St., told the young Boy Scout and Camp Fire Girl who called at her home Wednesday in the city-wide canvass for the Centennial pageant, "The Past Is Prologue," which will be presented Aug. 12, 13 and 15. Scout Tommy Hopper, of 461 State St., hands Mrs. Bos the tickets as Ann Appledorn, of 267 West 15th St., looks on.

Potent Wind Huffs Sally Diekema At Smith's Bayou In Second Place

Grand Haven, July 31 (Special)

A cyclone-like wind struck Grand Haven about 2 p.m. Wednesday, causing freakish disturbances at Smith's bayou in Spring Lake township. Most of the action was at the John Lindemulder home, "Sunset Shores," located on the lake point.

A huge terrace awning which covered a wide picture window was ripped off its steel frame and whisked away. The window was not damaged. The pipes which secured the awning were bent into pretzel shapes. The pipes were 10 feet long.

Furniture was lifted off the lawn. A steel table and chairs were carried about three blocks from the house and twisted out of shape. A lawn swing which was sunk into cement was picked up and hurled over the house.

Two cement urns for decorative purposes were swept up and deposited near the lake shore. A glider and cushions were recovered three blocks from the house.

Mrs. Lindemulder estimated the strong blast lasted two minutes. At the C. W. Porter place next door, the wind shook the entire house. The vibration was noticeable.

Chair and swing cushions were brushed away and a husky tree was uprooted. Several occupants of homes took refuge in basements until the high wind subsided.

Lemmel was issued a summons by state police Saturday afternoon after being involved in an accident on M-104 in Spring Lake township where he struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Rev. William Masselink of Chicago near the jack-knife bridge.

Christian School Group Approves Building Program

Expansion Project
Would Involve Start
Of New Ward System

The Christian School Society met in the Christian School gym Tuesday to study and adopt definite expansion plans proposed by the board of trustees. The meeting culminated efforts by the board to find suitable proposals to provide for an ever increasing enrollment.

As outlined by a board spokesman, the long range expansion plan includes eventual operation of three grade, or ward, schools. Each of these schools would include grades kindergarten through the sixth, it was reported.

The first step in the expansion program proposed by the board, and unanimously adopted by the society, involves erection of a new ward school on property located between 29th and 30th streets and Central and River avenues. The society, with the exception of three lots, now holds options to purchase. Plans and specifications for this building will be submitted for approval later.

The second part of the expansion project would be the modernization and the construction of additions to its present grade school property at 15th and Central. This property could then be used for a second ward school for grades kindergarten through sixth, and for all Junior High pupils in grades seven to nine. This was also adopted, and it was announced that these plans would also be presented at the later meeting.

Eventual erection of a third ward school in the west part of the city, including Montello Park and Central Park was the third proposal in the program. The board was authorized by the society last night to secure options for suitable property for erection of such a ward school when decision is reached at a later date to build.

Advantages of the ward school system were discussed at length. One spokesman pointed out that the Michigan Department of Public Instruction recommendations specify that a city grade school should not draw from more than a half mile radius. The new system, it was mentioned, would also involve fewer hazardous traffic crossings for the younger students. It was also pointed out by a board spokesman that erection of these ward schools would provide Christian school facilities for many children to whom it is now somewhat inconvenient because of distances involved.

The board of trustees report last night said that the Society for Christian Education had now adopted a long range planning program with definite immediate steps to be taken in logical sequence. It said that previous plans on the part of the society for a centralized school system were discarded in favor of this program. It also said that failure to obtain property as previously planned for, in no way influenced the change in planning. Instead the report said future growth demands that the society undertake program as approved.

Other leading contestants are Betty Van De Wege, 15,260; Jane Van Houten, 14,790; Ruth Jipping, 11,830; Ella Dyk, 10,380; Elaine Hertz, 9,400; Shirley Bedell, 9,330; Lois Timmer, 7,630; Jo Ann Van Kolken, 5,500.

Polling over 1,000 votes are Mary Vande Wege, Lela Vandenberg, Sally Brower, Louella Jonikman, Glendora Loew, Mary McLean, Mary Ann Nies, Ruth Niemma, Ariene Smith, Beatrice Laman and Dona Sluyter.

Crack Sloop Anchored In Pine Creek Bay

The crack sloop "Nyala" entered Holland harbor Tuesday and was at anchor today in Pine Creek bay. She is 72 ft. long with a duralumin mast and steel rigging. Capt. "Red" Kuehl expected to sail about the local harbor today and leave for St. Joseph tomorrow when the small craft warning was expected to be down.

Owned by Robert Schleman of South Bend, Ind., the "Nyala" was the scratch boat in the racing class in the recent Chicago-MacKinac race.

The tanker Mercury made her second entrance of the month in to Holland harbor at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday. She carried 900,000 gallons of gasoline. The Mercury left the local harbor early this morning.

Sentinel Newsies Have Man-Sized Appetites

Sunburned faces and tummy aches were in order Wednesday night when 85 Sentinel newsies and their substitutes returned from their annual all-day picnic at Ottawa beach.

With Orle Bishop, Sentinel circulation director, and John Vander Ploeg, Merle De Feyter and John D. French of the office staff, the boys enjoyed ball games, volleyball, horse shoe pitching, and swimming.

Appetites sharpened by the Lake Michigan breezes made short work of 12 cases of milk, 27 dozen buses, 36 lbs of wieners, 10 lbs. of watermelon and 300 paddle pops.

"And there was nothing left," Bishop admitted.

Company, Union Display Interest In Ending Strike

Conciliators Conduct
Negotiations to Find
Method of Settlement

"Considerable progress" was reported here by labor conciliators who met with representatives of management and union in an attempt to end the 121-day strike at Bohn Aluminum plant 11.

Federal Conciliator Leo Kotin said negotiations would be continued this afternoon in the Warm Friend Tavern following joint and individual conferences this morning with representatives of management and local 284, UAW-CIO.

"Both sides are showing excellent co-operation and serious intentions to terminate this strike," he said.

Kotin was accompanied by two other federal conciliators, Sylvester Petz and Harold K. Daniels, and by John F. Frederick of the Michigan Labor Mediation board.

Today's negotiations followed day-long conferences in Detroit Friday in which Kotin said the union "receded somewhat" in original demands, offering to settle for a 12-cent hourly wage boost and an additional three cents to be applied to an equalization fund to be distributed among day-rate workers.

Management took the offer under advisement and was to present a counter offer today.

At a union membership meeting of Bohn employees Tuesday night in CIO hall here, members unanimously approved action of the bargaining committee in submitting the offer in Detroit last Friday, according to Business Agent Ora Fox.

Between 400 and 500 employees walked out of the plant April 1 to win wage increases and a new contract.

Company representatives present at today's negotiations were Acting Plant Manager Fred Eaton, Treasurer Simon D. Den Uyl, Labor Relations Director Charles F. Squyres, Personnel Director Randolph Roshers and Ira A. Anties.

Representing the union were Ora Fox, business agent; Jack Conway, international CIO representative; Fred Burton, UAW international representative; Ben Schreienboer, chairman of the bargaining committee; Clarence De Vries, Kent D. Thompson, Orville Gentry and Robert Veeder.

Three Times and Out! That's What They Hope

Three times and out!
Or so Sgt. Jerry Vanderbeek hopes.

The sergeant's nine-year-old son Jimmy returned home Wednesday from Holland hospital where he spent 16 days ill of virus pneumonia.

Young Jim's stay at the hospital brought to a total of seven weeks that three of the four Vanderbeek sons have been in hospitals this year.

The chain of events began early this year when little Alan Gene, then under a year, spent a week there for treatment of burns when he pulled down an electric coffee maker at home.

Some weeks later, 11-year-old Jerry John fell while skiing receiving a skull injury necessitating brain surgery. He was in Holland and Grand Rapids hospitals about four weeks.

The Vanderbeeks are crossing their fingers. Young Buel, the No. 3 son in the Vanderbeek quartet, hasn't needed hospitalization this year.

His Odd Looks Helped To Keep Him Out of Jail

Dr. Eelco Van Kleffens, the new Netherlands Ambassador to the United States, who will make his first official public appearance at Holland's Centennial celebration Aug. 13, wouldn't ever take a prize in a beauty contest, but he's

When the Nazis swept into Holland the Dutch government retired hastily to London. Dr. Van Kleffens, then foreign minister, was among the last to leave. He was forced to embark in a rickety seaplane. About to take off, the pilot balked because he had lost his maps. The resourceful cabinet officer figured out a course.

The plane landed safely in Brighton Harbor, but when Dr. Van Kleffens stepped ashore he was surrounded by British soldiers. Alerted against an invasion, they couldn't believe the strange plane's occupant was the Dutch foreign minister.

With a bayonet impatiently pricking his spine, Dr. Van Kleffens listened while the commanding officer called London, relayed a most unflattering description of his appearance. There was a moment's silence, then the officer hung up, waved the bayonet to a more comfortable distance.

"You're the foreign minister, all right," he admitted grudgingly. "Nobody else could look half as queer!"

Dr. Eelco Van Kleffens a swell guy, friends say. People who know the Dutch official coming here from Amsterdam on a special plane, which Van Kleffens plans to board in New York City, predict the Ambassador or will steal the show.

Crews Seek Body Of Drowned Man

Being hit by a car is no joke, but nine-year-old Roger Vander Meulen, manages a smile from beneath bandages. His sister, Ruth, a Holland hospital nurse, looks after him as he recovers from injuries received July 23 when his bicycle was hit by a taxicab driven by Albert Walley, 22, of Holland. Walley was arraigned today before Allegan Justice Austin Fairbanks on a reckless driving charge, and was assessed fine of $25 and costs of $5.95.

Farm Planners Cite Aid Record

The West Ottawa Soil Conservation district, voted into existence by Ottawa County farmers in 1938, was the first district organized in Michigan. The directors of the district, which includes 12 townships, are Clarence Reenders, Edwin Schaefer, Wm. Sinderman, Albert Stegenga, and George Maierhauser. L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent is secretary.

Over 1100 farmers in the district have complete conservation plans for their farms. Glenn W. Eaton and Olin A. Clay, Soil Conservation Service farm planners assist the district farmers. Proper land use is the basis of all farm conservation plans. Practices to control soil erosion and increase fertility are included. These include contour planting, strip cropping, crop rotations, pasture seedings, cover crops, windbreaks, farm drainage, tree planting, liming, sod waterways and many others.

Farmers in the West Ottawa district have established an outstanding record in reforestation. They have planted over 12,000,000 trees, mostly on the sandy non-agricultural soils along Lake Michigan.

Mayor Proclaims V-J Day Holiday

Mayor Ben Steffens today proclaimed a civic holiday on V-J day Aug. 14 and asked all merchants and manufacturers to close in the afternoon so that townspeople and farmers may join together in a community picnic in Kollen park following the big historical parade.

Meanwhile, plans went forward for the parade which will feature military as well as historical contingents.

Mrs. W. J. Olive, in charge of costume units, urged all women in the city who have Dutch costumes to march in the parade. She particularly urged family groups and appealed for old bab, carriages in which to ride the costumed babies.

Hub Boone is chairman for a horse pulling contest which will take place that morning at 9:30 a.m. at the Northern Wood Co. parking lot. The horses will be used in the parade in the afternoon to pull historical floats and appear in horse units.

More than 70 Holland firms have arranged to have their buildings and store fronts decorated for the Centennial celebration Aug. 13 through 16. Plans include overhead street displays and modernistic lamp post decorations.

The horse belonging to Harold Tanis, route 1, has been removed from the hayloft which he so deftly climbed two days ago, it was reported today. The horse accomplished the same feat some two months ago, and caused considerable commotion in the Tanis neighborhood.

George Lieftag Drowns When Boat Capsizes in Bay

Officials Investigate
Fishing Trip Tragedy;
Mrs. Lieftag Escapes

Sheriff's officers and Coast Guardsmen dragged Lake Macatawa today for the body of George Lieftag, 53, of 63 West Ninth St., who was drowned Wednesday afternoon when the boat in which he and his wife, Polly, 34, were fishing, capsized off Waukazoo point.

Mrs. Lieftag told officers she was thrown from the boat when it capsized and swam at once toward her husband. She said she was not a good swimmer. She said she pulled him to the boat twice but was unable to hold onto him.

Mrs. Lieftag was rescued shortly after 5:30 p.m. by Ed Bittner who saw what appeared to be a capsized boat and a floating body. He entered his outboard motor boat at Campbell's dock and found the boat and Mrs. Lieftag drifting in the strong current toward Jensen park.

Unable to lift Mr. Lieftag into his boat he hailed a passing launch, "The Warm Friend," operated by William Long. Long and Archie Murphy who came to the scene in another boat, assisted Bittner in putting the victim on Bittner's boat.

Mrs. Lieftag was taken to the W. A. De Vaney home at Jensen park where a physician and officers were called. She was later taken to her home.

She told officers the boat capsized due to a swell from a boat which she believed was a 16-foot outboard. She said she yelled but was unable to attract attention. She estimates she was in the water for an hour.

Gustave Nynas, officer-in-charge at the Holland Coast Guard station, said there was a small squall blowing at the time of the drowning and the boat could have been swamped by choppy waters.

Mrs. Chester Van Appledorn, living on the south shore, told officers she had seen a couple in a boat of the Lieftag description Wednesday afternoon. She said the woman was "sitting high" in the front of the boat.

Henry Geerts told officers he went down the lake but did not see a capsized boat. His trip was a little in advance of the rescue by Bittner.

The Lieftags, who came to Holland from Cleveland more than a year ago, had left at noon for their fishing trip. They went to Jack Grissen's boat landing on the north side where they kept their boat, which is equipped with a 4 h.p. outboard motor. Mrs. Grissen told officers she advised the Lieftags not to go on the lake immediately because of the choppy condition, and said the couple remained on the dock and nearby until 3 p.m. when the lake calmed somewhat.

His Car Caught Fire, So He Drove to Fire Station

Firemen at the No. 2 station had the novel experience of having a fire come to them.

An unidentified motorist who discovered a fire under the floor boards and back seat didn't waste time, but drove up to the fire station where firemen put out the minor blaze in short order Wednesday afternoon.

Early that morning they were called to extinguish a fire in a truck tractor parked in the alley between 23rd and 24th Sts. off Van Raalte Ave. Minor damage resulted from the fire in the cab and under the hood.

A third call Wednesday sent firemen to Central Ave. near 27th St. where power wires, knocked down by winds, were sending sparks.

Poundmaster Resigns

Tony Beyer said Wednesday that he was resigning as city poundmaster, a job he has held for 10 years. He will continue to work as a deputy sheriff and poundmaster for Ottawa county. Beyer said during the ten years he has been poundmaster he rid the town of thousands of dogs

Young Bob Sligh Wins National Water Ski Crown

Annexes Title Easily In Sunday's Finals; Miss Worthington Wins

After a lapse of just one year, a National Water Ski championship once again rested in the Sligh family. Yesterday it was young Bob Sligh who ran off with the honors in the Men's division, a title which his dad, Charles R. Sligh, Jr., had held until 1946. Young Sligh piled up 1,084 points to outdistance Bud Leach of California, who had 697. Willa Worthington of Lake Oswego, Ore., successfully defended the Women's crown by edging another Westerner, Dorothy Mae Anderson, of Santa Monica, Calif.

Bob Sligh took two firsts and a tie for fourth to win the crown. He successfully completed the trick riding course to notch a first as well as a top post in the form jumping. Trammel Pickett, of Florida, however, won the distance jumping events in a run off with Buddy Boyle. Bud Leach, was the best contestant in the slalom as he annexed the title by whipping Price Sloan in a runoff. He cut in on all the buoys at practically right angles. Jim Knoll also of Holland, finished third in the slalom run.

Trailers in the Men's division were Lew Withey, 1946 champ, with 609 points, Trammel Pickett, 495, Price Sloan, 353, and Charles R. Sligh, Jr., 324. Jimmy Knoll finished ninth with 225 tallies.

Willa Worthington had some trouble in winning the Women's crown. Miss Worthington was in constant competition with blonde Dorothy Mae Anderson, pre-tourney favorite, who forced Willa into several runoffs. Both girls tied in the Women's trick riding to force a runoff. Performing an exceptionally difficult stunt, Miss Worthington annexed first place. In the slalom events, it was a different story with Dorothy Mae taking honors after a runoff. It was not until the Women's jumping events that the Women's duel was actually decided. Miss Worthington completely outclassed her close rival in the jumping events to notch a first place and a National championship.

Irene Boer, also of Holland and a heavy pre-tourney favorite, was fourth in the overall Women's competition with 521 points. She trailed Miss Worthington, who had 1,300, Dorothy Mae Anderson, 969, Margaret Mitchell, 525. Nance Stille tied "Tie" with 521. Miss Boer took fourth in the trick riding, third in the slalom, and fifth in jumping.

In Friday and Saturday's events Dick Pope, Jr. of Florida took the Boys' Junior crown and Sammey Stille the Girls Junior title.

It was estimated yesterday by officials that a crowd of some 5,000 witnessed the Sunday events, with a sizeable crowd in attendance on Friday and Saturday.

Heinz Company Has Conference

The annual pre-season conference of supervisors of the H. J. Heinz Co. was held Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Attending from the Pittsburgh office of the company were Frank R. Armour, manager of operations, who was recently appointed to the board of directors; H. E. McKinley, mid-west regional manager; R. F. Herr, manager of scheduling and supply; P. K. Shoemaker, manager of engineering and W. Anthony, accounting department.

The conferences were highlighted by a dinner meeting Tuesday night in the dining room of the American Legion Memorial club house at which 57 supervisors were guests of the company.

Mr. Armour addressed the group on policies as well as plans for the future of the Holland factory. Mr. McKinley reviewed the accomplishments of the last year and outlined preparations for the coming season.

A skit entitled "Co-operation" was presented by C. B. McCormick, W. C. Cobb, H. B. Renick and other members of the local plant.

The two-day conference was the first of its nature held by the Holland organization in which Pittsburgh officials took such an active part and was pronounced a success by C. B. McCormick, local plant manager.

Dutch Hoe Located Here For Man in California

A Dutch hoe, one which is designed just a little differently from the ordinary garden tool, was en route today to Art H. de Snoo was a bulb grower in Sas following a request to the Chamber of Commerce for such a hoe.

The Chamber located the hoe after several calls, finally getting one through Nies Hardware. De Snoo, a native of Bloemendaal, near Harlem, the Netherlands, wrote, "Although I am much in love with our American tools, I still prefer 'onzegode Hollandse schoffel'."

Before coming to America, de Snoo was a bulb grower in Sasenheim near Leiden. After serving in the American forces, he settled down to a postal career and last year moved to Sacramento county.

Bill and Dick, a team of oxen, will come to Holland for Centennial week and will appear in the pageant, "The Past is Prologue," as well as in the V-J parade. The team is owned by a Fremont farmer.

er, Marlen Palmer, wearing overalls, shown with Alec Catney at left. This picture was taken on the Catney farm last May while Palmer was working the oxen in the oil fields. An oil well caught fire there just a little later and burned three days.

Oxen Will Appear Here In Centennial Pageant

Marlen Palmer, route 1, Fremont, believed to be the only farmer in Western Michigan with a working pair of oxen, will bring his team to Holland during the week of the Centennial the second week in August.

The oxen will appear in the pageant, "The Past is Prologue," on three nights, and also will be in the Centennial parade on V-J day. Palmer brought the team to Zeeland two weeks ago for its Centennial celebration.

The Fremont man uses his team in farming and in working on the oil fields to remove stumps and logs and haul pipe. He maintains that the placid animals behave better than horses in this type of work.

"Nothing bothers them," he said. "They're deliberate and dependable, and don't jump when a charge of dynamite blows up a stump."

"He says oxen are steers 'trained to work.' It takes a lot of patience to train them, but when they're trained, they work well," he said. He added he has been using oxen for the last eight or nine years, and the current team is three and four years old. He raised the oxen on his own farm. The wooden yoke he uses is 75 years old.

Palmer says he takes the team often to Camp Echo, a girls' camp in Newaygo county, and takes the campers for rides in a covered wagon. In the winter he hires the team to a snow plow to clear his drives.

WHY ANOTHER SCHOOL
ELECTION

The proposal of the Citizens committee to arrange for another school election for the creation of a sinking fund to replace and repair public schools in Holland has drawn the criticism of some of those who voted against a similar proposal earlier in the year. That was of course fully expected.
Since the proposal was brought to the board of education by Dr.
Lester J. Kuyper more than one objection has developed on the score of the allegation that the people decided the issue and that that decision should stand.

It is of course true that the proposal to raise local taxes five mills for the purpose of establishing such a sinking fund was lost in last spring's special election.
But the fact also is true that that negative vote did not solve Holland's school building problems.
Those problems are still with us as big as ever. What are the people of Holland going to do about that? Do those who exercised their legitimate right as American citizens to vote against the issue understand fully that if the sinking fund is not created the buildings will have to be replaced or repaired piecemeal as they become obsolete—and it will have to be done at greater cost?

If they understand that and still wish to vote against the sinking fund proposal, well and good. Any citizen has a full right to say yes or no on a question that is put before him, even if he decides against his own interests.
But there are not a few people in Holland who would like to make sure. Can there be any harm in asking the people of Holland to confirm their decision of last spring, if that was really what they wanted?

There is no disposition to suggest that a no vote last spring was necessarily unintelligent. But many believe that voters did not have sufficient opportunity to take all factors into account. If, in a new election, all the facts are laid before all the people—yes the facts against the proposal as well as those in favor of it—and if the people then decide against the plan, it may be considered settled. As it is now, nothing is settled. No alternative plan has been placed before the people for decision. And the school buildings will go on deteriorating.
We the people of Holland still have to decide what we're going to do about that.

Parents and Their Children
Proverbs 1:8, 9; 6:20-23; 17:6;
Proverbs 23:22-26

By Henry Geerlings

The home, the church and the school are the three major educational institutions in the world. In many ways the home is the most important and influential of the three. To strengthen the influence of the family and to help to endure in today's disordered world are major objectives. Sound parental training is the surest foundation for a good after life. Both parents have their obligations to the children. Neither has the right to delegate to the other his or her share of the great responsibility. In early days' this rests chiefly with the mother, and throughout life her moral influence is likely to be the more pursuasive. Here is women's great work. Man fills the world with the noise of his busy doings. But woman has a no less great and useful task in molding the characters of the toilers of the future.

Yet the father has his duties in the parental training; and there are often special circumstances in which his knowledge of the world or his firmness of control is essential. Parents ought to feel that nothing can take the place of home training. The Sunday school cannot do the work of the mother's counsel. No pressure of public duty should let a man excuse himself for neglecting the religious training of his children. He deludes himself if he thinks he can do it by proxy, he the substitute ever so efficient a teacher.
Nothing can take the place of the anxious watchfulness of parental love. Parents should seek to make their family life the highest possible expression of Christian effectiveness.

The modern home has many problems. There is the basic problem of religion. It should be settled and settled early. Indeed it should be settled before the marriage ceremony is performed. Joshua settled it for his family when he declared that he and his house would serve the Lord. We are not to understand that he arbitrarily imposed his faith on the other members of his family. It is rather true, that while he spoke for them, they heartily concurred in his expression. The husband and wife should talk over this question, and they should not exclude their children. Such conversation should be in the interest of honesty, fairness and love. No other problem can be settled as this one should be until this one is properly disposed of.

There is the money problem.
And a big one it is. It must be studied and faced. The desire to make money runs hot in the blood of us Americans. The chances are that we shall try to make all we can. In this respect the members of the family are in hearty accord.
But the going is not so smooth when the question of the uses of that money comes up. There is no agreement on how much we owe the Lord. Some are generously minded, others are not. What proportion should be spent on the house, on the table, on clothing, on pleasure, on books and magazines, on schooling and the like.
At what age should children go to work? What allowance should children under working age receive? These are vexatious problems, every one of them. Perhaps the best way of arriving at a solution is to agree on some kind of a budgeting system. Who will say the money question has not rocked our homes? It is ever recurring and needs to be studied as new demands arise.

There is the pleasure problem.
We are frequently told that Americans bow down to fun and laughter. Pleasure is without question the idol of many. Not all pleasure is to be derided. It is part of God's plan for us. We need diversion and the recreation that comes from it. Children in particular need it. A good general criticism is that our pleasures are not planned the way they should be.

There is the problem of reading.
It is necessary in most cases to encourage the presence of good literature in the home. Public libraries are extremely useful, but they cannot take the place of books and magazines in the family. The size of our domestic library is not of first importance.
That we should have a few choice books near at hand goes without saying. These should be added to from time to time. They should be chosen to meet the varied needs and tastes of all members of the household. It is with books as it is with pictures, a few good ones are greatly to be preferred to a large number of cheap ones. Several standard magazines, perhaps changed from year to year, should make regular visits to the home.
Efforts should be put forth to cultivate in the children a taste for good literature.

There is the problem of teaching children obedience. If any parent has a panacea for the ills in this particular direction he can probably cash in on it to his advantage. The training of the child must begin early. The attitude of the parents toward him must uniformly be one of love and sympathy. What is done for him and with him must be done knowl-ingly and in light of all the facts.
Firmness must be exercised. To reason with him in all probability will be more availing than the use of the rod, though to spare the latter may be to spoil him.
It is the part of wisdom for parents to live with their children as much as possible. Throw around them a religious influence. Make the home as attractive as you are able, so that they come to feel it is a place they like to be.

Volleys From
Ambush

BILL MEENGs is probably wondering why a swell news tip he turned in never developed into a news photograph. A mother bat, carrying two babies on her back, flew into a tree in Prospect park.
Bill notified The Sentinel and a photographer hurried to the park.
The bat and her babies proved most unco-operative. One of the babies hid under a wing and all three blended so well with the bark of the tree it was difficult to get what photographers call "separation." Besides, the bat family insisted in hanging from the tree upside down, adding to the confusion.

The photographer shot one picture with lights and others with time exposure. But Mother Nature has a way of taking care of her own. The engraver said he could not produce anything from the photos.

That's why Bill's tip didn't produce a photo. The Sentinel staff is none the less appreciative. We like to get the tips.

Last week the Ambusher gave a tip to Jim Klomparsen on a Bible passage. A reader wants to know which Jim was meant. The Amb-usher figured the right man would get the message, but the reader says there are three Jim Klomparsens in his neighborhood.

One is called "Jim Klomparsen here," the second is called "Jim Klomparsen there" and the third is called "Jim Klomparsen neither here nor there."

The citation was for "Jim Klomparsen there."

Cats are funny. The Ambusher is owner of a black alley cat of considerable personality but no name yet. The idea of conducting a contest to find a name for the cat has been studied and rejected because the cat probably wouldn't approve of a winning selection anyhow.

Well, the Ambusher had occasion to board the animal out for a few days at a local cat and dog hospital. When the time came to collect him, the cat had changed from a lazy, lovable pet into a strictly anti-social beast with slit eyes and a nasty disposition.

But within 30 minutes after he was again installed in his house, he again changed back into a good-natured beast with little or no ambition. And people say a chameleon is a fancy quick change artist.

Strolling home during one of these beautiful days, the Ambush-er noticed the perfect print of a tree leaf impressed in the sidewalk. The leaf looks like a maple and even the veining has been delicately stamped into concrete.

Though hundreds of people must have walked on the impression, it shows little signs of wear yet.

At the second Centennial celebration, the Ambusher has decided to look up the spot to see how much the impression has worn away in 100 years.

Cubby Drew wants the world to know he was robbed and so has asked the Ambusher to announce the larceny that cost his baseball team an 8-6 decision at the Hope championship. Cubby was field captain for the De Velder agreement that was out scored by the Lubbers Fighting Tiger Wildcat Maroons. Drew figures the Lubbers team had too many lawyers, because they won every decision that was appealed to the umpires.
The Ambusher is glad to oblige.
Such injustices as these must be brought before the courts of public opinion.

Those flying saucer stories are out of the newspapers now, but their memory lingers on. Last week a blimp flew along the shores of Lake Michigan at night with the cabin all lighted up. The port holes, gave forth a ghostly light and on quick glance looked like a row of saucers. Closer observation showed shadowy outlines of the blimp against the black sky.

"The consumer is the only dictator this country will tolerate." So said Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors. That sounds like a quotable quote.

This is a war story. A drafted man was attempting to strike up the acquaintance of his top kick, a regular Army man with more hash marks than a zebra.

"My brother was in the regular army," quoth the enrollee.

"Zat so?" commented the top kick.

"Yeah, he served a hitch of three years in the regulars."

"Lookie here, rookie, I was in the air longer than that when the Maine blew up. Now git to work!"

Garden Club Members
Tour Hopkins Gardens

Sixty-five members of Holland Tulip Garden club viewed the Hopkins gardens at Spring Lake Thursday morning. The garden, which has been 30 years in the making, is so arranged that parts of it are units within themselves, thereby separating colors that might clash. It extends along the waterfront. The phlox and roses were especially lovely at this time of year, members noted.

The group was also invited into the Hopkins home to view arrangements made by Mrs. Hopkins. One arrangement in a purple luster pitcher with flowers of pink and lavender was especially attractive.

After the tour the club had lunch at the Ranch House near Spring Lake.

A short business meeting was held later at which announcement was made of another tour leaving Holland at 9 a.m. Aug.
21 for the Crane Memorial garden on Westnedge Ave., Kalamazoo.

After lunch another tour to the Kindelberger park at Parchment, a few miles north of Kalamazoo, will be made. To reach Parchment, one leaves Kalamazoo by East Michigan Ave. The river road from Parchment leads back to Plainville and M-89.

Initial plans were also discus-ed for a country fair to be held at the C. C. Wood home on Lake Macatawa early in September.
Mrs. Harold Van Tongeren and Mrs. H. M. Jensen are co-chairmen. There will be the fun and food usually found at a country fair and members and their guests are invited.

A judging school sponsored by the Kent Garden club of Grand Rapids will be held Oct. 6, 7 and 8. Outstanding speakers will discuss judging rules, flower arrangement and color and horticulture.
Only those desiring to be judges need take examinations Oct. 8.

ners.

After a basket supper a surprise amateur show was given.
Participants were called from the audience to present impromptu acts. More than $250 worth of prizes, donated by wholesalers, were awarded in drawings and to the amateurs. Roller skating followed the program.

Jim Voss was general chairman, assisted by Len Steffens, Bert Kortering, Morris Brouwer and John Pathuis. Art Visser was sports chairman. Working with him were Bill Meyer, George Vander Wal and Oscar Bontekoe.

preciation on behalf of the Endeavorers, and he and Don Lam put on a skit, a reunion in 1986 of the Hope class of 1949, in which they reminded about the 59th annual Michigan Christian Endeavor convention held here June 25 to 29.

Cubans Wallop Holland in Free Hitting Affair

Locals Absorb Fifth Defeat and Worst Licking of 1947 Season

The Holland Flying Dutchmen met more than they bargained for Monday night when they met the Cuban All-Stars and took a 13-2 licking. The fact that the Negroes are one of the leading colored aggregations in the United States was plainly realized by every fan before the second inning was over.

Manager Benny Batema sent two of his best hurlers, Lefty Van Wieren and George Zuverink out to the hill in an attempt to halt the rampaging Negroes, but their efforts were of no avail. The all-stars practically hit at will and could place their drives in any nook or corner of Riverview park with little trouble.

Lefty Van Wieren opened the tilt and was warmly welcomed by the Cubans with three hits and four runs. With runners on first and second, Brown, powerfully built receiver for the Cubans, stepped to the plate and plastered one of Van Wieren's fast ones for a circuit clout. Again in the second the Cubans clubbed out three hits, this time only netting one run giving them a 5-0 advantage.

The All-Stars went down in one, two, three order in the third inning, but in the fourth Van Wieren fell back into troubled waters and finally Benny Batema sent George Zuverink in to relieve. But the slants of Zuverink were no relief to the locals and the Negroes continued their dizzy pace, and before the fourth inning was over the scoreboard read: 9-0.

Then Zuverink settled down and held the Havana outfit to two hits and no runs in the next three innings while the locals grabbed a quick two runs in the fifth. Driscoll led off with a single, Zuverink was safe on an error, and a double by Ev De Neff accounted for the local pair of tallies.

It was the same old story in the eighth inning as the visitors pounded out three hits, but the locals managed to keep all but one of the baserunners from crossing the plate. This made the score 10-2. Three hits, three errors and some fancy base running gave the colored boys their final three runs in the last inning to make the final score 13-2.

It was the fifth defeat of the season for the Hollanders and also their worst beating. The defeat was charged to Van Wieren who allowed eight hits and seven runs while Zuverink, who relieved, gave up ten hits and six runs in five and one-third innings.

Harry De Neff had little trouble at bat as he connected with three singles in four trips to the plate to head the "hit parade." The first four batters for the Cubans gained a total of 13 hits between them while only two Negroes went hitless.

Darkness Halts Vet-Cub Deadlock

North Shore Cubs and the Veteran nine battled to a 1-1 deadlock Monday night in a game which was called at the end of seven innings due to darkness. Bill Ver Hey was on the mound for the Vets while J. Witteveen toiled for North Shore. The Cubs had the better of the hitting, blasting eight safeties while the ex-GI's garnered but five.

The Vets took a one run lead in the second inning on a single by Cramer, a walk to Hoffman, and a long two base hit by Ver Hey, the pitcher. Ver Hey also batted out a double in the fourth inning with no one on the bases.

North Shore went scoreless until the fifth inning when J. Kolean singled with one out. He then scored a few seconds later, when Lubbers, Cub left fielder, rifled a double to center. It was Lubbers' second hit of the contest.

Ver Hey led the Vet hitters with two doubles while Lubbers and Waterway were the offensive stars for North Shore with two hits apiece.

Dutchmen Edge Dowagiatic Nine In Tight Game

Skaalen Pitches Locals To 19th Season Win; Hollanders Hit Well

A twelve-hit offensive drive together with good hurling by Mike Skaalen, led the Flying Dutchmen to a 3-1 triumph over the Dowagiatic Merchants at Riverview park Thursday night. The locals tallied runs in the first and third innings and went scoreless in the remainder of the tilt with Dowagiatic scoring their only run in the eighth.

Ev De Neff continued his hot batting streak by starting things off with a single past the shortstop. Van Lente sacrificed De Neff to second and Wenzel grounded out pitcher to first with De Neff taking third. De Neff streaked home on a wild pitch before Russ Wolrding walked and stole second. Harry De Neff then pounded a clean single to center scoring Wolrding from second, giving the locals a 2-0 lead.

After both teams went scoreless in the second, Wenzel led off the third for Holland with a double to left field. He took third on a second baseman's error and scored after the catch when Rotman drove a fly to center field. With the Dutchmen leading 3-0, local scoring ceased and not another run crossed the plate until the eighth when Dowagiatic scored their initial counter.

Bartak, the pitcher, singled sharply to center and took second on an error and went to third on a walk. He scored on a wild pitch, but Skaalen retired the side by striking out Moore.

Skaalen allowed only six scattered hits with no more than one coming in any inning. He fanned 13 Merchants and issued only one base-on-balls. Five locals fattened their batting averages by connecting for two safe blows. Wenzel and Skaalen copped the only two base hits of the contest. Pond, Dowagiatic left fielder, took batting laurels for the opponents by hitting safely twice in four trips to the plate.

Holland Loses Pitcher's Duel

The Steffens Market softball team of the Western Michigan League lost another heart breaker Friday night when they suffered a 2-1 defeat at the hands of the Casemier Marketers of Grand Haven. The locals outlived the Haventites, but didn't cluster their safeties as did the opponents.

Neither outfit could score in the first five innings as both hurlers, Riola of Grand Haven and Vander Veen of Holland, buckled down allowing only two and one hits apiece. But in the sixth inning the invaders pounced on Vander Veen for three hits and a pair of runs to go into the lead 2-0. The pitcher, Riola led off for Grand Haven and slapped a terrific circuit clout deep into center field for the opponent's first tally. Westerhof then singled and scored when Correll lined a triple to center.

Grand Haven had reached the margin of victory and the locals had all they could do to score one run. Holland's run came in the seventh inning when Crozier was safe on an error by the shortstop. He took second on an infield out and scored on a single by Tony Bouwman.

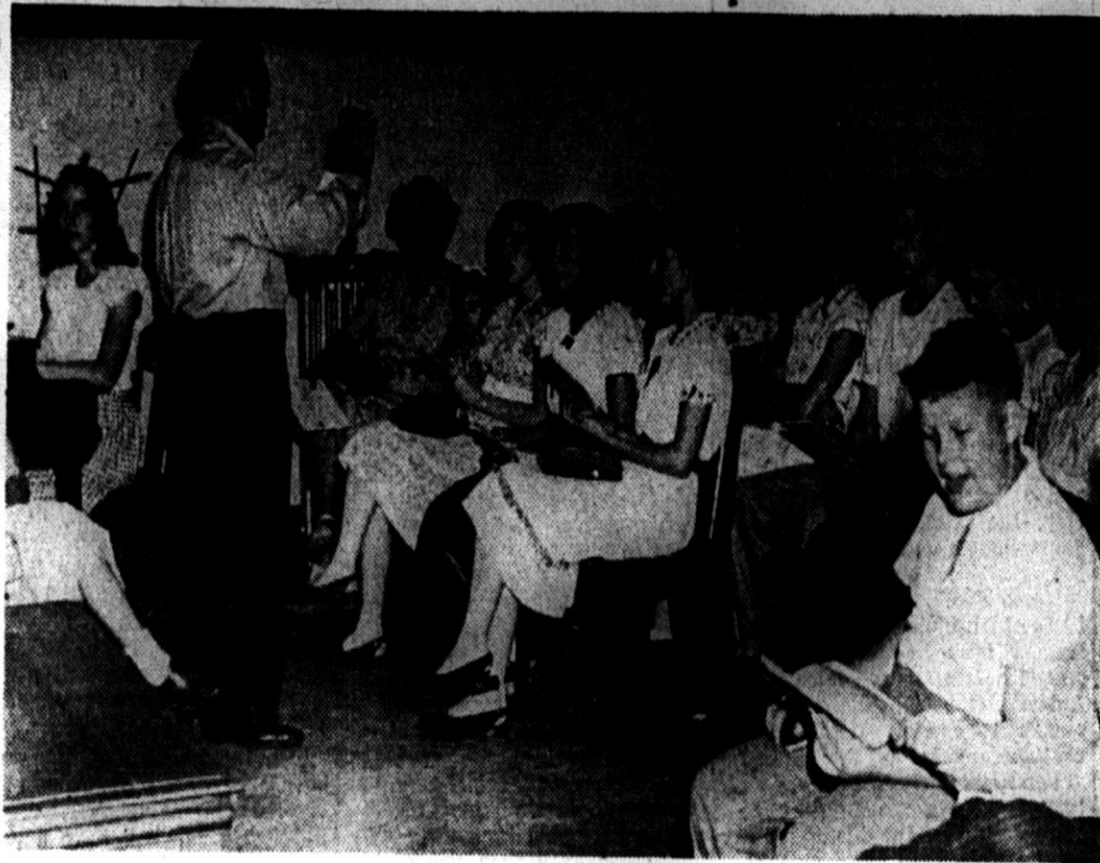

Vander Veen was in top form Friday night. He fanned seven batters and walked only one. Cal Prince was the only local batsman to gain two hits, a single and a double.

The locals will battle the neighboring Zeeland Suncocks next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at Riverview park. The Holland Racine Girls will battle the Zeeland Bon Ton Girls in a prelim affair at 6:45 p.m.

New Ambassador Maps First Visit For Centennial

Notables Plan Trip To Holland Via Royal Dutch Plane

(Exclusive to The Sentinel)
By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Washington, July 31—Dr. Eelco Van Kleffens, the new Netherlands Ambassador to Washington, has arrived in the capital ahead of schedule. The grave situation in Indonesia made it imperative that he cut short his time in New York City and rush to the Embassy without delay.

But nothing will keep him from his first official public appearance at the celebration marking the 100th anniversary of the founding of Holland, Mich., opening Aug. 13.

The new envoy, who exudes charm but wouldn't win a prize in any masculine beauty contest, has yet to present his credentials to President Truman. His formal meeting with the President is now being arranged by the protocol division of the State department and is expected to take place some time next week.

The Netherlands Embassy said today Dr. Van Kleffens will leave Washington Aug. 12 by plane for Grand Rapids, and then motor to Holland. He will board a special KLM-Royal Dutch Airlines plane—which is making a special flight from Amsterdam, Holland, to Grand Rapids—in New York City.

Other Dutch dignitaries aboard the plane will include Dr. Stotermaker de Bruine, director of the Netherlands Information Bureau in New York City, and Lindhurst Homan, the Queen's Commissioner in the Province of Friesland, Holland.

Another dignitary—this one an American—who would very much like to attend the celebration but who is likely to be prevented from doing so by international engagements, is Senator Arthur Vandenberg. It is generally expected in the Capital that Vandenberg will be named as a member of the American delegation to the Conference of American Republics, opening Aug. 15 in Rio.

Rep. Bartel J. Jonkman of Grand Rapids, however, says he will definitely attend the celebration and deliver a brief address following the V-J day parade.

It also was learned that the street organ—traditional musical instrument used at all festivals in the Netherlands—is now en route to Holland, Mich., on the Prins Willem IV, a new ship of the Orange line, which will enter the St. Lawrence river and dock at Detroit and Chicago.

Dr. Davidson conducted his practice at his home, 21 Minnesota Ave., Buffalo. He also was on the staff of Millard Fillmore hospital, where he interned in 1924.

Born in Holland, he attended schools here and later was graduated from De Veaux Military academy in Niagara Falls. He was graduated from the University of Michigan School of Medicine in 1922 after serving with the Army in World War I.

Dr. Davidson is survived by the wife, Mable M., a son, Cpl. R. Grant Davidson, now serving with the Marine corps; a daughter, Lois M.; three sisters, Mrs. Earl G. Ainslie, Lillian H. of Pontiac, and V. Blanche Davidson of Amarillo, Tex., and two brothers, S. Earl and Edward O. of Hamburg.

Miss Maria Bast, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bast here, spoke at the meeting of the Rosebud Sunday school class last Thursday, telling of Portugal as she saw it in her three years' residence before World War II in the Netherlands Legation at Lisbon. She was governor of the son of the minister from the Netherlands to Portugal.

Her talk was very interesting, describing the climate, products, the people, the money system and character of the people.

In the three years she saw only a thin skim of ice once on the pond in the garden at the Legation, and the morning sun soon melted it. The houses, however, were cold as there were no heating conveniences. Products are much like ours, fruits and vegetables, with some oranges, lemons, and olives. Great amounts of olive oil are used in food.

The money system is similar to ours, the unit being the "escudo" of 100 centavos as our dollar of 100 cents. There are the half escudo, 50 centavos the 20 centavo, 10 centavo and 5 centavo coins, but nothing like our quarter.

Wages per day on farms are about equal to our four cents, but four cents there buys much more than that amount does here. There is a wide difference between the rich and the poor, the former living in splendid homes and the poor in hovels.

Wines, red and white, are always served by those who have money to pay for them. Grapes are crushed in vats by barefoot men, who work with high-rolled-up trousers, their feet and legs stained a deep purple. However the feet are washed well before the tramping starts she says.

Their lovely pottery is all shaped and colored by hand. She showed a lovely bracelet and brooch, all metal hand work done in the homes, and inexpensive to buy.

When the war came, the Netherlands Minister was transferred to England, and the boy was ready for school and sent to an English boarding school outside of Lisbon.

Miss Bast, unable to return to the Netherlands, secured a position as governess of two children of the Minister from the United States. They returned to this country and she accompanied them here seven years ago.

Rotary Hears of India's Problems

Speaking on "Present Conditions in India," Dr. John J. Banninga addressed Rotarians Thursday noon in Warm Friend Tavern. He discussed the history of India, the many provinces and the religions.

Dr. Banninga said India is progressing and he feels there is a reasonable chance that the provinces may be able to unite with the exception of Punjab and Bengal. These two provinces under the rule of one maharajah are located 800 miles apart and, in his opinion, will be difficult to govern because of intervening territory not in the union.

The speaker covered the political situation in India, as well as the different maharajahs and their problem of uniting the great masses of population in the different provinces. He outlined the changes that have been made since formation of the Labor government by the British.

Problems presented by the "untouchables" were also discussed by Dr. Banninga, who said that during the last two years India has been encouraging missionaries to come and help her with education and other problems. He also briefly mentioned South Africa and China.

The Rev. W. C. Warner conducted the meeting in the absence of President A. G. Sall. Henry Geerlings introduced the speaker.
