Tragic Accident Occurs Thursday At Waukazoo

Succumbs at Hospital Within a Couple Hours; Favored Uncle's Car

Death struck like a bolt of lightning Thursday afternoon and snuffed out the life of a fun-loving three-year-old boy in back of a Waukazoo summer home.

Victim of the tragic accident was David Preston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Preston of 1909 North Kimball Ave., Chicago.

The boy was in the back yard of a home owned by his great uncle, Constantine "Gus" Speros of Chicago and Waukazoo. Gus was in the house and had just called David's mother to tend her four-month-old daughter, who was crying. David meanwhile dashed out of the house and, as he often liked to do, went over and patted his great uncle's bright yellow car.

The car was parked in front of the garage and about two to three feet from another car. David was between the two cars when a "stub" tree crashed onto the garage and bounced between the two cars. The impact caught the little boy on the head and sent him sprawling under one of the cars.

The great uncle and his mother rushed him to Holland Hospital where he died at 6:55 without regaining consciousness.

Dr. William Rottschaefer, medical examiner, ruled death was caused by a skull fracture.

The stub tree was about 20 feet high and had stood at the site near the driveway for a number of years. It had been cut off and just the 20-foot high trunk was left standing. It will probably never be known just what caused the heavy tree trunk to topple when it did. There was relatively no wind velocity at the time. Some believe recent storms may have loosened the trunk from its base.

There were several persons in the vicinity at the time, including neighbors, friends and other children.

The victim was born June 9, 1952. Survivors include the parents, and great uncle, a sister, Christine, four months; a grandmother, Mrs. Bernice Preston of Chicago and another grandmother, Mrs. Helen Speros of Chicago and Waukazoo.

The Prestons have been at the Speros home for a week. Mr. Preston arrived in Holland from Chicago about midnight Thursday after hearing about the tragedy.

Former Resident Cited for Heroism

Marine Reserve Capt. James Q. Van Ry of 12 East 53rd Place, Tulsa, Okla., has been presented a Gold Star in lieu of a second Distinguished Flying Cross for heroism in action in Korea, according to word received here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Van Ry of 38 West 22nd St.

The award was made by Maj. C. E. Bowers, commander of the First Truck Co., Marine Corps reserve unit in Tulsa.

The citation accompanying the award told how Capt. Van Ry serving as pilot of a Marine Attack Squadron plane, led a flight on a close air support mission against enemy troops and mortars. "By his exemplary leadership and bombing accuracy, he was largely responsible for the success of a mission that destroyed a major hostile stronghold on a reduced pressure on friendly ground forces," the citation read.

He also was presented with certificates for the Gold Star in lieu of a 7th through 11th Air Medal for heroism in Korea.

Capt. Van Ry, who was born in Holland, at present is employed as assistant buyer of men's clothing at Brown - Dunkin department store in Tulsa.

Rattlesnake Killed During Hike in Hills

A hike through the hills near Port Sheldon this morning turned out to be a real adventure for a Montello Park man and three youngsters when they encountered a rattlesnake which the man promptly killed with a club.

Dewey L. Ferman, who was hiking with his son, Paul, and two neighbor children, Stanley and Harold Dorgelo, came across the snake in undeveloped property a good half-mile from Pigeon Lake and far from the summer cottages.

Ferman said the snake measured 36 inches long. It had eight rattles.

All hikers were wearing shoes and jeans; not shorts. Ferman said he insisted on that attire when the hike was planned. Ferman is on vacation this week.

Music Students To Have Picnic

Instrumental music students who have been attending the summer session will be entertained at a picnic at Kollen Park Friday beginning at 5 p.m. More than 125 students of grade school and junior high age have practiced and participated in the summer program which will come to a close with this concert-picnic.

Featuring the event will be a concert by the Grade School Orchestra and Band combined, special numbers by the string students of Carleton Kelch and by a cornet duet trained by Raymond Roth. Arthur Hills will direct the orchestra. Kelch, Roth and Hills were instructors during the six-week session.

Parents of the young musicians are invited to bring along their picnic suppers. Soft drinks and ice cream will be furnished free for the youngsters.

Games with prizes for students will precede the concert. The concert is scheduled for 5:45 p.m. and the picnic at about 6 p.m.

Macatawa Needs First Today to Win Sears Test

Macatawa Bay Yacht Club's junior sailing team can win the district eliminations of the Sears Cup by finishing first in the final race this afternoon at Macatawa.

The MBYC International 110 team, of Paul Harms, Gretchen Boyd and Jim Field sailed to a first in the sixth race of the three-day event Wednesday afternoon and cut Muskegon's lead to one point.

Eleven teams from three states are sailing for the district championship, the first step toward competing in the national junior sailing championships at Booth Bay Harbor, Maine, late in August.

Each team sails six and sits out two of the eight races.

Muskegon bounced back into a commanding lead in the seventh race this morning with a second place finish and had 43½ points for first place.

Macatawa was in second with 34½ points and needed a first place which gives 91 points, this afternoon to tie Muskegon, which does not race in the final event.

Normal procedure in case of a tie is to count up the number of first places taken by each team and determine the champion in that way.

But both Muskegon and Macatawa have two firsts. And moving on down each club has one second and one third.

But Macatawa has a fourth and Muskegon does not. Therefore, if Macatawa can tie Muskegon in points, the judges will probably award MBYC the district title.

In the fifth race Wednesday afternoon, Macatawa finished sixth behind Milwaukee South Shore, Chicago Columbia, Chicago Corinthian, St. Joseph and Muskegon.

Trailing Macatawa in the sixth race were South Shore, Chicago Sheridan Shore, Racine, Wis. and Muskegon.

St. Joseph won this morning's race followed by Muskegon, Sheridan Shore and Corinthian. The fourth place result may change due to a protest by Racine against Corinthian.

M. R. Bissell, race chairman, said that dispute would be decided early this afternoon.

Closely behind Macatawa in the standings was St. Joseph with 32½. Tied for fourth were Racine and South Shore with 32½.

Council Again Asks Speed Check On US-31 Bypass

Move Comes After Ziegler Turns Deaf Ear to Earlier Bid

City Council Wednesday night drafted another resolution requesting a speed study on the US-31 bypass after a letter was read from Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, indicating that no action would be taken on controls on the highway.

Ziegler's letter, addressed to State Senator Clyde H. Geerlings, was in answer to communications sent in June in connection with a double fatality at the 16th St. intersection. Senator Geerlings, City Council and the sheriff's department all figured in the communications.

Ziegler's letter was accompanied by a large amount of data on engineering facts and details on accidents which had occurred on the highway. Ziegler wrote that the highway was a properly designed and constructed, and said the accompanying material definitely shows that the accidents were all preventable being due to the responsibility of one or more drivers of vehicles involved in the crashes.

Mayor Robert Visscher felt that Ziegler had sidestepped Council's specific request for a study on speed, and it was on his suggestion that Council voted to draft another resolution for such a study and the possibility of posting speed limits on the section between M-21 and the southern approach to the city.

In other business, Councilman John Van Eerden requested that the Planning Commission make an immediate study on east-west routes for truck traffic in the city.

Council approved the purchase of a hydraulic underbody scraper with pump including the hydraulic reverse from Root Spring Scraper Co. at a total cost of $1,645.

Approval also was given the city manager's recommendation for combined bid for cabinets, stove, refrigerator, sink and exhaust fan for the Civic Center youth room for $965 entered by Beckman's.

Youngstown Kitchens and Essenburg Electric Co. This covers all costs except plumbing and wiring. Council also approved purchase of a popcorn machine from Krispy Kist Korn Machine Co. at a cost of $796.50, the cost to be charged to the Civic Center capital outlay account.

Council voted to place on the fall tax roll the delinquent light, power and water bills totaling $84.76.

A communication from the Michigan Municipal League regarding membership in the Good Roads Federation was ordered filed. Holland's dues which would be independent of League assessments would be $7.50 a year.

Council passed a resolution, which was part of a resolution passed June 8 on wage adjustments, amending wages for BPW employees as follows: seven cents per hour for employees receiving $1.51 to $1.80 per hour; and eight cents per hour for employees receiving above $1.81 per hour.

The oath of office for Mrs. Margaret W. Steffens as member of the Library board for a term ending June 30, 1960, was filed.

Holland Shades Kazoo in Tennis

KALAMAZOO (Special)—It took a 5-4 margin by the girls to give Holland a 16-15 inter-city tennis victory over Kalamazoo Wednesday.

Twenty-one players participated in the under 15 competition, 15 boys and 6 girls.

Nine-year-old Ken Harbin of Holland lost to Kurt Spaulding, also 9, of Kalamazoo, 7-5, in an extra match.

When the boys singles and doubles matches were tallied it was all tied up at 11-all.

But the girls won all three doubles matches after losing for of six singles tests to give Holland a one-point edge.

Boys winning singles matches were: Ted Pitt, Jim De Vries, Bob Teall, Terry Pott, Tom Buursma, Bernard Evink, Ken Harbin.

Harbin beat John Hilliard, 6-0, before his loss in the extra match.

Holland boys won four out of seven doubles matches.

Girls getting singles victories were Judy De Zeeuw and Barb Kuite.

Participating in the doubles sweep over Kazoo were the teams of Sharon and Judy De Zeeuw, Stevie Goodes and Vickie Ziel and Barb Kuite and Marilyn Teal.

That ended scoring for the night as Bob Ebels chalked up a fourth hit win. Lou Borgman was tagged for 10 hits in losing.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brewer of route 4, and their granddaughters, Ruth Ann and Bonnie Bredeway, returned Wednesday night to their home after spending a few days in Northern Michigan. While there they visited the Locks at Sault Ste. Marie and other places of interest.

Doctor to Lepers Resumes Work

Dr. C.J. Stauffacher, who has been representing the Holland Leprosy Federation at Inhambane, Portuguese East Africa, for 31 years, has recovered sufficiently from his recent serious illness to resume his work in the mission, according to word in a letter to a colleague in Chicago several weeks ago.

Dr. Stauffacher was so seriously ill last spring that it was feared he would not recover. Public prayers were offered for him at local meetings. The letter which he wrote May 31 to Miss Lulu Ervin of Chicago, secretary in charge of the office of the American Leprosy Mission (Midwest branch), said he had undergone two major operations for gastric duodenal ulcers.

The first one did not prove successful and he lost 60 pounds in a short time. "But now I am feeling well and just a little weak. I attend to my work again but am taking it a little easier." He had been in a semi-conscious condition for 10 days.

The missionary-doctor wrote that the leper camp is doing nicely. There are about 250 lepers and a number of untainted children.

The new missionaries who have been assigned to the Inhambane post, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Mikulaschek, arrived in May, but when they were presented to government officials, they were informed they did not have sufficient qualifications to practice medicine and must have at least two more years of study in Portugal. Dr. Stauffacher had planned to come to the United States, but does not know how the situation will work out. He hasn't had a furlough in more than nine years.

During the past year, the Holland federation raised $7,558, all of which is administered by Dr. Stauffacher. The federation is an interdenominational organization of church women in the local area. Mrs. Peter Slenk is president of the federation.

Fords, VFW Notch City Loop Wins

Vern Vandewater homered in the first inning for the Vets Wednesday night in City Softball play, setting the pace for the VFW in a 3-1 win over Holland Moose.

Moore stubbornly tied up the game in the first frame after Don Hulst was safe on an error, went to second and third on wild pitches, and scored on Walt Hudzik's single.

But in the fourth the Vets came back with another run to again take the lead. Key to the run were singles by Jay Hoffman and Lum Veelman.

An insurance tally was added in the fifth frame, mainly on singles by Bob Schutt and Jim Slag.

Schutt scored on an infield error. Case Velderman gave up only two hits to the Moose batters—the first inning single and a third inning safety by Stu Baker. Matt Numikoski absorbed the loss with seven hits.

Barber Fords had a good night at the plate as they pounded out 10 hits in a 7-3 win over Barenham's Service in the nightcap.

D. Overbeek singled to lead off for Fords in the first inning. Junior Hop's single and a couple of Barenham errors accounted for three runs.

Ford pounded out another score in the third frame on singles by Howie Schutt, Warren Plaggemars and Bob Hop.

Barenham got another hit in the fifth without getting a run.

But a three-run rally in the fifth gave Fords a safe margin. Plaggemars, Wayne Hop, Bob Hop and Silve Disselkoen singled and Jay Ferricks doubled. Total: three runs.

That ended scoring for the night as Bob Ebels chalked up a fourth hit win. Lou Borgman was tagged for 10 hits in losing.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brewer of route 4, and their granddaughters, Ruth Ann and Bonnie Bredeway, returned Wednesday night to their home after spending a few days in Northern Michigan. While there they visited the Locks at Sault Ste. Marie and other places of interest.

Local Bank Among Winning Bidders In Sale of Bonds

First National Bank And Two Other Firms Lowest of Seven Bids

City Council Wednesday night approved the sale of $500,000 in hospital bonds in a joint low bid entered by Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Bacon, Whipple and Co., and First National Bank of Holland.

The low bid has an interest rate 2½ percent from 1956 through 1965 and 2½ percent from 1966 through 1975, plus an $87 premium. This bid lists a total interest cost to the city over this period of $133,020.29 or a rate of 2.302716 percent.

It was the lowest of seven bids entered, which according to one of the bankers present was quite a compliment to the city of Holland in view of the present market in bonds. Other bids, all of them entered on joint bid by three or four participants, ranged from 2½ to 3 percent.

Earlier on Wednesday, ground was broken for the new hospital addition which is expected to cost approximately $1,200,000, financed by the city bond issue, federal funds, and contributions from adjoining townships.

Council also adopted a special resolution preparatory to issuing bonds for the 1955 paving program and for the paving of Fairbanks Ave. carried over from the 1954 paving program. The work of printing the paving special assessment bonds was awarded to Northern Bank Note Co. for low bid of $185 plus $12.50 per interest rate change.

Council okayed the city attorney's recommendation that the firm of Berry, Stevens and Moorman of Detroit be retained to provide the approving opinion on the bond issue for the 1955 paving program plus Fairbanks Ave.

City Clerk Clarence Greveneged presented a report from City Manager Herb Holt indicating that the 1955 paving program has been completed and recommended that inasmuch as a letter was received from the Michigan Colprovia Co. certifying that all bills for labor and material for the project have been paid, the final payment for $11,950.83 be made. Council concurred.

A petition for paving 27th St. between Central and College Aves. was referred to the city manager for report.

Permission was granted William Mokma for moving a double garage from the rear of 42 East Ninth St. to 24 West 16th St.

Clerk Greveneged presented a letter from Col. Arthur C. Nauman of the Corps of Engineers acknowledging receipt of council's action on deepening and widening the turning basin and extension of the federal project channel into Black river at Holland harbor. Assurance was given that the project will receive careful consideration in the preparation of budget estimates.

Council granted permission to Holland charter No. 14, Disabled American Veterans, to sell forget-me-nots for a 24-hour period starting Friday, Aug. 26 at 5 p.m.

A public hearing was scheduled Aug. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in connection with an application from Jacob Bierema for a variance in remodeling a building at 190 East Eighth St. to continue its use as a store on the first floor and a residence on the second floor.

Approval was given a request from the Board of Public Works on the purchase of 2-318 percent U.S. treasury notes maturing June 15, 1958, for a face value of $300,000 along with a resolution placing these bonds in the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago for safekeeping.

The meeting lasted an hour and 25 minutes. Mayor Robert Visscher presided and City Attorney James E. Townsend gave the invocation. Councilman Raymond Holwerda and Bernice Bishop were absent.

That's Not Funny!

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—Two Spring Lake young men will be arraigned before Justice Fred Workman Friday on charges of littering the highway.

The pair, Robert Rutter, 18, and Gene Swift, 18, both of route 1, Spring Lake, were arrested by state police after they threw a dummy stuffed with newspapers onto old US-31 in Ferrysburg, causing cars to slam on brakes and veer into the other lane.

TRY SOMETHING NEW—Girard Villiers of Paris, France, (standing, left) chats with Heidi and Margerth Schaeck of Switzerland about the comparative forms of snow skiing and water skiing. All three snow ski in their native lands and this is the first time any of them have tried to water ski. Nancy Jackson of Dallas, Tex., who brought the girls to Lakeshore, is seated on the dock. Foreign Visitors Enjoy Holland Area Hospital

Holland seems to be the mecca for foreign visitors this summer.

During the past week alone there were guests from England, Switzerland and France visiting friends here and just resorting.

Girard Villiers, son of Georges Villiers, president of the French National Association of Manufacturers, of Paris, France, spent the weekend as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Sligh, Jr. The Slighs were guests of the elder Villiers two years ago when they were in Paris.

Villiers is enrolled in the Harvard Graduate School of Business and will leave New York on Aug. 29 for the Harvard orientation period. During the summer he is working in New York for Coty.

After a term in the French Army where he served in Morocco and Indochina, Villiers attended law school for three years. He says that the Harvard school of business is well-known in France.

During his stay here, the young (24 years old) Frenchman had a taste of the casual social life. He went to dinner with a group of young friends Saturday night, attended a performance of the Lowell Showboat Friday night and tried his hand at water skiing.

He is delighted with the informality here and looks forward to returning to Holland again while he is in the United States.

At the dock at Lakeshore Cabins he met the two young ladies from Switzerland, Heidi and Margerth Schaeck of Au St. Gallen, Switzerland, who were vacationing at the resort with a friend, Nancy Jackson of Dallas, Tex.

The four visitors found much to talk about. The Swiss girls also tried their luck on the water skis and all agreed it is quite similar to snow skiing which they all do proficiently.

On a three-month vacation in the Midwest, Canada, and a return through Colorado, the sisters have been here in the United States for seven months. They are employed in Texas by a wealthy Italian who met them in Switzerland. He invited them to come here to work for him. They intend to tour as much of this country as they can, working their way as they go.

The Schaeck sisters and Miss Jackson, who has resorted here before, are eloquent in their praise of Holland and Macatawa. They will return again "if we have the opportunity." The English visitor, Harold Thomas, who was here last week agreed with them.

Holland City Will Have Three More Voting Precincts

Fourth, Fifth, Sixth Wards Will Be Split; Each Exceeds 1,400

Holland will soon have three more voting precincts, according to action taken by City Council Wednesday night.

Because registration is over 1,400 in the fourth, fifth and sixth wards, each of these three wards will be split into two precincts. The changes were recommended by the election commission, headed by City Clerk Clarence Greveneged, after reviewing requirements of new state election laws. The provision states that when registration in any precinct using voting machines exceeds 1,400, such precinct shall be divided or rearranged. This work shall be done by ordinance.

Plans call for dividing the fourth ward in the middle of 20th St. and the fifth and sixth wards in the middle of 22nd St. Voters in the north halves will be in the first precinct and in the south halves in the second precinct.

The fourth ward currently lists 1,520 registered voters, and the split at 20th St. would put 715 voters in precinct No. 1 and 805 voters in precinct No. 2.

The fifth ward currently has 1,536 registered voters, and the split at 22nd St. would put 805 in the first precinct and 73

August Promises More Heat After July Sets Record

Temperature Hit 90 16 Days During Month; No Relief Predicted

August steamed into Holland Monday and brought July's record heat wave right along with it. By 11 a.m. Monday it already was 90 degrees. Sorry to say, there's no relief in sight, either, as the weather bureau across the Midwest predicted more of the same. But if it's any consolation, you just survived one of the hottest months in a long, long while. Weather Observer Charles Steketee says the 16 days on which the thermometer showed 90 or above during July must be some sort of a record. As if the 16 days weren't enough, Steketee's charts showed that on five other days, the temperature pushed up to 89. And the average maximum temperature was 90 right on the head. Hottest temperature reached was 96, which was recorded on July 21, 26 and 27. Lowest reading was 55 on July 24.

The 90-degree average maximum is extremely high and beat last year's 81.9 figure by almost 10 degrees. Only recent year that came close was 1952 when July averaged 85.6.

July of 1955 deviated from the normal average temperature of past years by a plus-6.6 degrees.

With all of the heat, last week's one-shot rainstorm far outdistanced other recent years for the greatest precipitation in 24 hours. Steketee computed a rainfall of 2.88 inches for Wednesday night and early Thursday morning.

Last July, the greatest rainfall for a 24-hour period was 1.32 inches.

Both Saturday and Sunday were hot and humid and people flocked to the beaches for relief again. The temperature reached 94 Saturday and 91 Sunday.

Almost 44,000 selected Holland State Park on Friday, Saturday and Sunday as total attendance for the season hit 888,606. Friday's recording was 12,124; Saturday, 16,167; Sunday, 15,600.

Park Manager Clare Broad said the park was jammed all week and that swimmers were out late—often until midnight or after.

Because the park's facilities are taxed to the limit, Broad asked everyone's continued cooperation when they use the equipment. The park issued 378 camping permits last week with Saturday's 109 setting an all-time record for a single day. Total permits issued this year are 2,501, way ahead of last year. Both tent and trailer spaces are still available, however.

All across the state, cities were chalking up heat records for July. In Detroit, 17 days of 90-plus days cracked a 21-year-old record by a mile. Previous mark was seven in July, 1934.

Previous record for August in Detroit was 14 days in 1947.

The heat wave also touched off a controversial question which the Detroit City Council is scheduled to take up today—how short should shorts be.

Council President Louis Mariani contends it's a "disgrace" the way some women—and men too—stroll around the city's downtown area in abbreviated shorts.

He said an ordinance should be drafted to put shorts of both sexes at knee length. The council meets in air conditioned chambers. Michigan cities reporting high 90-plus readings Sunday included Battle Creek and Flint, 97; Traverse City and Saginaw, 96; Detroit and Jackson, 95.

Child, 7, Injured In Three-Car Crash

A Holland youngster received minor injuries Tuesday afternoon when a car in which she was a passenger was involved in a three-car bumper-to-bumper collision on Gordon St. near Beechwood School.

Diana Van Huis, 7, of 980 Columbia Ave., was treated for head lacerations by a local physician and released.

She was riding in a car driven by Doris Van Huis, 31, of 980 Columbia Ave., which was sandwiched in between cars driven by Albert Blackburn, 18, Fennville, and Arloa Sprick, 23, of 308½ West 17th St.

Blackburn was given a ticket for failure to keep an assured clear distance ahead. Ottawa County deputies estimated a damage to Blackburn's '54 model car at $500, to the Van Huis '52 model car at $150 and to Sprick's '50 model car at $75.

Mrs. Agnes Staal Dies at Age of 70

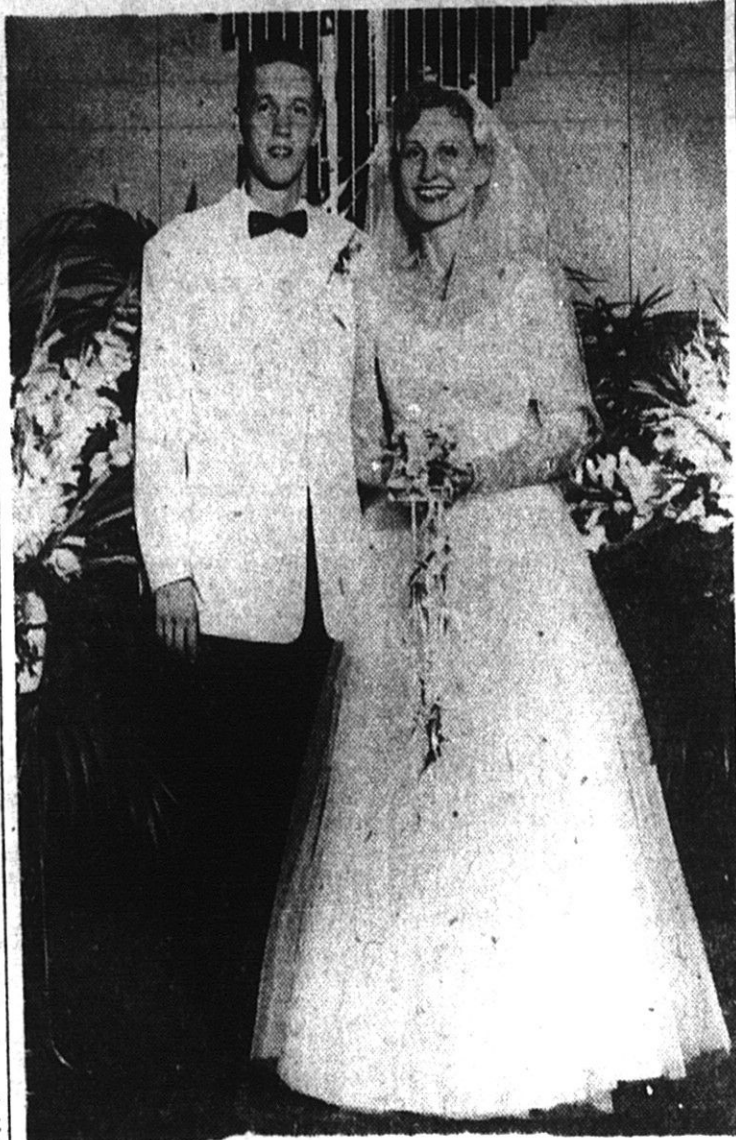

ZEELAND (Special) — Miss Staal, 70, of route 2, Zeeland, died at Pine Rest Sanatorium Friday evening.

Newhouse-Boeve Rites Performed

Mr. and Mrs. Dole R. Newhouse

Arrangements of yellow and white gladioli against a background of palms and candelabra formed a setting for the marriage of Miss Rosalie Boeve and Dale R. Newhouse solemnized Friday, July 22, in Ebenezer Reformed Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by candlelight by the Rev. Donald Brandt.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Boeve of route 5 and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newhouse, 277 East 12th St.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. Donald Kragt, matron of honor; Miss Delores Mulder, bridesmaid, and Miss Carol Steggerda, niece of the bride, junior bridesmaid. Assisting the groom as best man was Harold Franken and seating the guests were William Strong and Lloyd Boeve, brother of the bride. Candle bearers were Spencer Lee Boeve, brother of the bride, and John Steggerda, the bride's nephew.

Little 22-month-old Beth Marie Boeve, sister of the bride, dressed in yellow, carried a pink basket with rose petals. She wore a flowered headpiece. Gary Van Rhee, nephew of the bride, as ringbearer carried the rings on a white pillow trimmed with lace.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Alfred Brown. Clarence Oosting sang "Together" and "I Love You Truly" and while the couple knelt, Rev. Brandt sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of double nylon tulle and rosepoint lace over taffeta. Fashion features were a full bell skirt and snug bodice of hand clipped rosepoint lace with scoop neckline and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a rhinestone and pearl cap. She carried a white Bible with a cascade corsage of white carnations, pink roses and streamers.

The matron of honor wore a yellow floor length gown. Her bouquet and headpiece featured yellow roses, and white carnations tipped with green. A light green floor length gown was worn by the bridesmaid who carried a corsage of yellow roses and white carnations tipped with yellow. Her headpiece consisted of matching flowers.

The junior bridesmaid's gown and flowers were identical to the matron of honor's.

A reception for 125 guests was held in the Van Raalte room at the Hub Restaurant in Zeeland. Assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Boeve, uncle and aunt of the bride, master and mistress of ceremonies; Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Steggerda at the punch bowl; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Boeve and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Van Rhee in the gift room and Jo Ann Van Rhee, niece of the bride, in charge of the guest book.

Organ music was played by Mrs. Earle Tellman during the reception. Mr. Oosting sang "Bless This House" and Rev. Brandt spoke briefly. Entertainment was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Len Eiland.

For an eastern wedding trip, the bride changed to a light blue princess style dress with white accessories and a white and pink corsage. The couple are at home at 2179 Le Tarte St., Muskegon, where the groom is associated with the Meyer Music House. Both Mr. and Mrs. Newhouse are graduates of Holland High School.

The groom's parents entertained at Bosch's Restaurant in Zeeland following the wedding rehearsal on Thursday evening.

The groom's only brother, Pfc. Donald Newhouse who is stationed in the Hawaiian Islands, telephoned his congratulations just prior to the wedding day.

Raphael Squeaks Past Moose, 3-2

Like we said, if Raphael had gotten a better league start...

Tuesday night Raphael scattered three runs, including a third inning home run by Herb Maatman, to whip Holland Moose, 3-2. But they had to come from behind to do it.

Moose led most of the early innings after Don Hulst doubled in the initial frame and scored on a similar blast by Bill Zych.

Raphael's Maatman was again the key to the scoring column as he singled, went to third on an error, and scored on a wild pitch.

Highway Survey Crew in Allegan; Checks Traffic

ALLEGAN (Special) — Whether or not future highway construction will bypass the city of Allegan was being decided last week by a 17-man traffic survey crew from the state highway department.

The study, conducted in Allegan Wednesday, is similar to many others being made in small towns throughout the state this summer. The crew in Allegan, directed by Milton Lamb, of Lansing, is one of four operating in the state, manned largely by college students supervised by experienced highway department men.

In Allegan the crew was broken up into four units stationed where M-118, M-40 and M-89 enter and leave the city. Each station halted drivers for 30-seconds as they entered the city to hand them a colored card which would indicate to the crew at their exit point which route they came in on.

Object of the study, according to Lamb, is to determine how many cars are "just passing through". Results will be tabulated for use in planning the state's future highway building program, especially as it affects the construction of by-passes around small towns.

Cards given drivers ask only two questions. "Did you stop in town? For how long?"

Although results are not tabulated in the field, the four crews working here estimated that more than 13,000 cars passed through their stations during the day.

A state police car stands by at each check station to handle the occasional irate driver who objects to the 30-second delay. Oddly enough crew members say they average two or three "tough guys" a day. Usually it is because they fail to understand the reason they are being asked to stop. The sight of a six-foot state trooper usually settles the question, however.

Pair Sentenced On Larceny Charge

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Robert De Witt, 18, of route 1, Holland, and James Van Huis, 17, of 686 Saunders Ave., Holland, were put on probation for two years and ordered to pay $100 fine and $5 a month oversight fees Friday on charges of larceny from an automobile.

De Witt, who previously was on probation had his operator's license revoked for one year. In pronouncing sentence, Judge Raymond F. Smith said De Witt could expect no further consideration. "It has got to stop sometime and it had better be right now."

Van Huis will be allowed to use his license for going back and forth to school and for employment, but not for pleasure driving.

James Van Duren, 16, of 176 West 26th St., Holland, also was sentenced to three years probation after pleading guilty to attempted armed robbery of a Zeeland service station June 25.

Terms of Van Duren's probation include $100 costs and $5 a month oversight fees, a midnight curfew and revocation of operator's license. Louis De Kraker, Jr., and Wayne Lee Strong received similar sentences Wednesday on the same charge.

Two Ask That Driver's Licenses Be Restored

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Two petitions for restoration of driver's licenses have been filed in Ottawa Circuit Court.

Henry V. Filkins, Holland township who pleaded guilty July 1 to drunk driving, said in his petition that he is in charge of production control at Crampton Mfg. Co., Holland, and his duties as such necessitate traveling to other plants in Grand Rapids. He had paid a $100 fine and $70 costs in Holland Municipal court and his license had been suspended for 90 days.

Marvin C. Prince, 30 of Grand Rapids, a paint salesman, who travels in five counties also petitioned restoration of his license. He had been arrested for drunk driving July 18. He pleaded guilty the following day.

Exterminators Kill 800 Rats In Holland Dump

An eight foot circle of dead rats was testimony Friday to the effectiveness of the first venture in Holland city dump by professional exterminators.

City Health Inspector Ben Wiersma estimated that more than 800 rats were killed in an all-night session by workers from Arwell, Inc. of Waukegon, Ill.

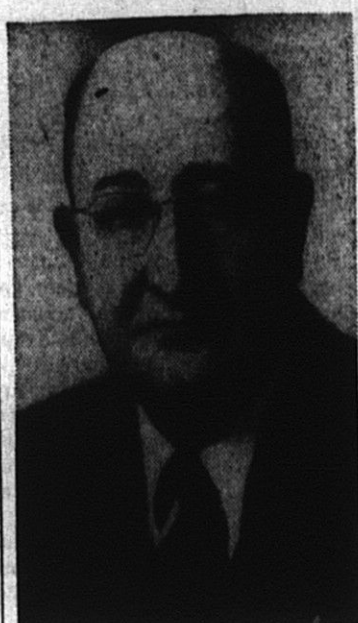

According to Wiersma, the city has contracted to have the men return monthly for a year.

Driver Issued Tickets

Walter L. Jenkins, 28, Flint, was issued tickets for running the red flasher at Seventh St. and River Ave. and failure to have an operator's license following an accident at 12:30 a.m. Saturday. Driver of the other car was James Sebright, 22, of 620 West 29th St. Damage to the two cars was estimated at $250, police said.

Ground Gives Way Under Big Truck

A heavily loaded redi-mix concrete truck was partially buried early Friday when the ground suddenly gave way underneath it as it was being backed up.

The Brewer City Coal Co., Inc. truck dropped into a 10-foot hole on the Julius Kleinhessel property adjoining a Peoples State Bank parking lot, now under construction, on Ninth St. near College Ave.

The entire rear end of the truck fell into the hole raising the front high into the air. Workers were forced to unload part of the 10-ton load of concrete by hand.

A bulldozer and men wielding shovels finally dug out enough earth to drop the front wheels back to the ground before a winch truck operated by Bill Mokma was able to free the truck.

The truck owner said he did not know how much the truck weighed although nearby workmen estimated the weight of the concrete and truck at 24,000 pounds.

Kleinhessel said the truck apparently broke through an old cistern which had been dug by the former owners of the property.

GOING TO EXTREMES — It may be a tough way to make a living, but workers in a foundry and those in a freezer say it's really not so bad. Above, Jake Kraai and Joe Kolean handle 2,800-degree molten iron. Below, Wilbur Kleis, Fran Francomb, Rich Francomb and Leland Balsley stack ice cream at 15 below zero. (Sentinel photos)

Some Places They Don't Complain About Weather

The temperature was back up near 90 in Holland today, but some men in town weren't complaining. It really didn't make much difference.

Normally, most of them wouldn't think of going to extremes. Their working conditions, however, are just about as extreme as you'll find as far as thermometers are concerned, anyway.

Two Sentinel reporters certainly found it so Wednesday when they went from the hottest to the coldest spots in town in less than an hour.

First stop was the foundry of the Holland Furnace Co. where more than 100 workers sweat it out in 125-degree heat every day.

Then a trek to the Swift Ice Cream Co. hardening freezer where a worker can truly say that his job "makes the blood run cold."

But the five who spend almost all of a 10-hour day in the freezer say the 15-below - zero doesn't bother them. They work in insulated suits, gloves and hats which cover their ears.

At the foundry, the boys are handling some pretty hot stuff. It's molten iron that rolls out of the furnace at about 2,800 degrees.

The iron is transported around a large room and poured into individual buckets, each manned by a pair of "molders." Using long handles, they pour it into the individual molds to harden.

Pouring is done in the afternoon and the molds are broken open the next morning.

The current heat wave that is blistering the area has a different effect on the foundry and freezer laborers.

A 14-year veteran of the foundry said the 90-degree heat doesn't bother him when he leaves the foundry. That seemed to be the general consensus of all the foundry workers.

"We get used to it," he said. "But it's a different kind of heat that we work with and we can't stand a lot of intense sunlight."

He said he remembered trying to work out on a farm for a day when the sun was blazing and that he just couldn't take it.

For those who work in the freezer, however, the heat has a definite daily effect.

"It makes you sleepy as soon as you leave work," one remarked. The rest agreed with him and added that the drowsiness usually wears off after an hour or so.

During the day, they never take the insulated suits off, even when they leave the freezer for lunch periods. Other than that, they really don't have to leave since a conveyor brings the ice cream products in to be hardened and out again to the loading dock. One thing can be said of all the workers of both freezer and foundry. You don't hear them complaining about the weather.

WORKING WITH DR. NATURE

If it had not come from the typewriter of Delos Smith, United Press Science Editor, the story would not be worth noticing. But coming as it does from scientists who wait years before making a claim, and being reported by a science specialist who is as conservative as the men he represents, it would seem to be worthy of the layman's attention.

The Sentinel the other day published a report of a new medical discovery whose object is no less than that of making every doctor a true health engineer in prolonging human life.

In brief, the hope, even the expectation, is that the new medication will prevent the hardening of the arteries. If that turns out to have real substance, its revolutionary character in medicine will be somewhat the same as that of the discovery of the atom bomb in military science.

It will not merely mean the cure or prevention of any single disease, as is true of some of the so-called "magic drugs"; it will mean a basic prevention and cure of numerous diseases. In many, many diseases it can be the hardening of the arteries that finally is the killer or the contributing cause.

In a very large number of diseases Dr. Nature can take care of the invading phalanxes of disease germs if he can only get at them. But the hardened arteries make that difficult, and often impossible. As a result the patient dies of some specific ailment, and his hardened arteries may not even be considered in the report.

It is far too early for the general public to send up a cheer; in the true sense there is no magic in medicine, only long-continued and patient trial and experimentation. The explosively dramatic character of this most recent tentative speculation in medical science lies in the fact that it is a direct attack on old age itself, not on a mere detail in the process of living. But wise men will keep their fingers crossed for a while.

OBSERVING ELECTION LAWS

Neither Ottawa nor Allegan county was listed by State Attorney General Kavanagh among the violators of the Michigan election laws by failing to report last year's campaign collections and expenditures. That fact is one that should make for local pride.

The violations appear to have been more technical than in any sense criminal. The attorney general calls them violations of the "letter" of the law. The departure from legality was not so much a matter of morals as it was of extent. How little attention county political organizations seem to pay to the statutes their own representatives have placed on the books is indicated by the fact that, according to Kavanagh, 54 Democratic and 31 Republican county organizations did not bother to make the necessary reports.

Yet the state law governing the report of campaign collections and expenditures was passed for a purpose. It was for the purpose of plugging up holes through which political crooks could take unfair advantage. It was therefore for the protection of average citizens, the type most of the county committees in both parties represent.

But political bodies at the grassroots, no matter how honest they may be, are not going to retain protection for themselves and their equally honest constituency if they act as if a law does not exist. Self-seeking politicians never sleep; they are on the lookout at all times to catch honest men napping.

At the very least, there is no sense in passing laws that are not observed. That law covering campaign collections and expenditures should be repealed forthwith, unless the county committees of both parties will comply with it honestly and intelligently. Laws that are not observed do far more harm than good by bringing all law into disrepute.

A dog will die from lack of sleep before it will die from lack of food.

The Exiles in Babylon Psalm 137; Daniel 3:13-17

By Henry Geerlings

As we read the first verse of this Psalm we feel with the psalmist the deep sorrow of soul experienced by a company of Hebrews in Babylon. The writer was most likely a captive. A group of exiles was seated on the banks of a river in the city. Evidently the captives had their leisure hours, and they found the river banks a pleasant and attractive place to spend them. Now, however, their hearts were filled with sorrow as they remembered Zion and they wept together. On the branches of the willow trees overhanging the stream they had hung their harps; the musical instruments they had so often used to accompany their voices in joyous songs of praise.

As though their sadness were not enough, Babylonians spoke to them, requesting them to sing one of the songs of Zion. The language suggests that the request was roughly made as a demand. The oppressors, possibly taskmasters or overseers, asked for a merry song which would provoke loud laughter. Perhaps they had heard of the joyous songs and music of the Hebrews and they wanted a specimen. The demand was denied, for the captives could not sing in merriment one of their joyous songs of praise, with hearts so heavy with sorrow and sadness.

Now, the captive writer expresses earnestly and frankly the deep feeling of his heart. His strong devotion to God and country involved intense love and intense hatred. The psalmist ends with the negative note of hatred for the enemies of God and of his country, especially two, Edom and Babylon. These were a little, hateful, mean, hostile neighbor, and a big, powerful, ruthless world empire. The psalmist implores the curse of a just God upon these evil foes. We must remember that centuries of time and the full revelation in Christ of God's love for all mankind lie between us and these Hebrew captives. Even at that, one wonders how captive Christians today would feel about their Russian captors who asked them, while sitting on the banks of the Volga, to sing a Christian hymn. These Hebrew captives were suffering deep emotional pain but were finding strength and courage in the reaffirming of their devotion to their God and their country.

The incident narrated in Daniel involves the three Hebrew captives who had been associated with Daniel at the court of Nebuchadnezzar. Their names had been changed at their induction into training for royal service. A short while before and at Daniel's suggestion they had been placed on the affairs of the province of Babylon by the king. The incident begins with the making of an image, the assembling of the people, and the issuance of a command. The scene is laid in the plain of Dura. An image of gold was erected. It was extremely tall, ninety feet for its breadth of only nine feet. A human body seventy inches tall but only seven inches wide would be in the same proportion. It was set up in the plain.

A royal decree assembled all the rulers, great and small, of the provinces. When they had gathered before the golden image, the herald cried aloud the king's command, which called upon all to fall down and worship the image at a musical signal from the orchestra. And who refused or neglected to obey would be cast into a fiery furnace. When the signal was heard, the people fell down and worshipped. Everybody obeyed except the three young Hebrew captives so recently elevated to high office in the province. Their failure to worship was noted by certain Chaldeans who reported the matter to the king.

Nebuchadnezzar was infuriated and ordered the young men to be brought before him. The king inquired if their refusal were true. The response contains one of the noblest defiance of a false religion ever uttered as well as the declaration of a great faith in God. The king was so utterly beside himself at this complete but respectful defiance that his face was distorted. At his fierce command the three men, bound and clothed, were cast into the furnace. From his throne nearby the king saw the three figures in the flames. Then he started in amazement and asked the chamberlain if there were three cast in, for he saw four men walking in the midst of the fire unharmed. The narrative ends with another royal decree, that the God of the Hebrews be respected and any failure to respect Him would be punished by death. Here is the truest of faiths producing an unconditional loyalty to God.

Out Before Win

George Zuverink pitched eight full innings for the Baltimore Orioles as they edged the Kansas City Athletics, 4-3, in Baltimore Wednesday night, but he didn't get credit for the win.

Manager Paul Richards decided to send Ted Gray to the mound in the top of the ninth after the Orioles had scored two runs in the bottom of the eighth to trail by only a 3-2 margin.

When the Orioles came up with two runs to win in the bottom of the ninth, Gray got the victory.

It was the first game of a two-night doubleheader. Baltimore lost the second game, 5-1.

Zuverink, who gave up nine hits during the eight innings, was charged with only one earned run as the Orioles made three errors behind him.

His won-lost record remains at 0-5.

The marriage of Miss Phyllis May Keane daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keane, 631 Michigan Ave., to Dale Joseph Oswald was solemnized last Saturday in the First Methodist Church. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Oswald of Indianapolis, Ind., formerly of Niles.

A large heart of solid pink gladioli, banked on either side with white gladioli and Oregon fern, formed the background for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. John O. Hagans at 3 p.m. Bridal attendants were Miss Kathleen Keane as maid of honor, Miss Patricia Houtman and Mrs. Theodore Knopf, Jr., as bridesmaids and Cindy Funkes, a niece of the bride, flower girl. The groom chose Philip A. Parker of Niles as best man and Richard H. Ross of St. Louis, Mich., Allan Jontz of Benton Harbor, Frank Fendt and Ronald Myrick of Holland as ushers.

For her wedding the bride selected a gown of Belgian shadow lace, fashioned with an Elizabethan bodice, portrait neckline and petite sleeves. The bodice was embellished with organza daisies and rhinestone hearts as was the neckline and sleeves. Her tiara of Belgian lace appliqued with daisies and rhinestones secured the fingertip length veil of illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of white gladioli centered with a white and pink gladioli corsage and showered with ivy.

A ballerina length gown of petal pink dotted nylon marquisette was worn by the maid of honor. The sleeveless elongated bodice featured a square neckline banded with white Venice lace. A full gathered skirt with repeated lace banded at the hipline, fell over matching net and taffeta petticoats. She wore a picture hat of white horsehair, white gloves and carried a cascade arrangement of light pink gladioli.

The bridesmaids wore similar gowns, hats and gloves and carried cascade arrangements of bright pink gladioli. The flower girl was gowned in a white dotted nylon dress with sweetheart neckline.

Hot Spell Has

Crops Panting

Reports today showed Western Michigan's corn, bean, pickle and other field crops were suffering severe damage from the prolonged hot and dry spell that has state residents panting for relief.

Farm experts in Oceana, Muskegon, Newaygo, Mason and Ottawa counties reported a severe lack of rainfall and heavy crop damage from the intense, prolonged heat spell which has driven temperatures into the high 90s.

Assistant agricultural agent Eugene Dice in Ottawa County said his area hasn't shown severe signs of heat and drought damage as yet. Dice said corn is rolling more than usual, but he said "the hot sun is doing more damage than the drought."

Paul Brower, president of the Michigan Blueberry Growers Assn., said the blueberry crop "won't come up to predictions of 80 per cent of last year's harvest."

Brower said the harvest now is at its peak, but is being shortened by the heat and lack of rainfall.

Sheriff Runkel said that up to the present it has been necessary to take action in only one case. In Plainville, he said husbands of bingo-playing wives complained

Service Clubs Decide

48 Tallies Are Plenty

Nothing was settled but everything had a good time.

And somewhere between the hinks and hollerins, Holland's six service clubs completed the Inter-Service Club All-Star softball game is at Riverview Park Wednesday night.

When it was all over a team composed of Exchanges, Jaycees and Kiwanians had piled up 24 runs—a big bunch, to say the least. But the other team, composed of Rotarians, Lions and Optimists, also had 24.

The "Roloos," the name coined for the Rotary-Optimist-Lions aggregation, scored two runs in the bottom of the ninth to tie the contest.

Right there, plate umpire Jack Grasmeyer called a conference and a few minutes later this was an announcement that the game had been called due to "bruises, darkness and other things."

The "darkness" reason came despite the fact that the Riverview Park lights were still burning brightly.

There were undertones, however, that the clubs should quit to save the extra-inning light fee charged by the city.

Besides, Grasmeyer had gone a full nine innings behind the plate and that probably took a lot more energy than required of most players.

Grasmeyer made sure he conserved his strength by handing the whisk broom to any player who demanded that the plate be brushed off. Seldom did he bend down himself.

A benevolent act for Grasmeyer was performed in the fourth inning when Gabe Kuite rushed out and applied a coat of white paint to home plate. That helped for a while, but not for long, the players thought.

Despite the abundance of runs, the game stayed fairly close throughout the nine innings.

The "Jekyls," or the Jaycee-Exchange-Kiwanis team, knotted the game at 5-1 in the top of the fourth and from then on it was a pretty wild affair.

It got so wild, in fact, that those who were delegated to keeping score, figured it just wasn't worth it since so many men paraded to the plate.

Therefore, no accurate count was made of the hits and at times it was difficult for announcer Avery Baker to keep track of the runs. And if these two tallies were difficult, it was utterly impossible to compute the errors.

Captaining the Jekyls was Dick Martin, of the Exchange Club. He arrived late, but that didn't bother the Jekyls. They all thought they could do a better job of managing, anyway.

Lew Hartzell, of the Rotary Club, was pilot for the Roloos. When he entered the action late in the game as catcher the Jekyls grumbled because they thought it was unfair for Hartzell to possess so many "natural qualities as a backstop."

You would have never known that the players were performing for a worthy cause because they were having such a good time. But all of the proceeds went to furnish service club signs on the three highway approaches to Holland.

The Jekyls went ahead, 16-12, with 10 runs in the top of the sixth, but the Roloos made it 19-16 with seven markers in the bottom of the sixth.

Next big inning for the Jekyls was the eighth when they scored six runs for a 24-22 lead.

Everyone, including the Roloos, hoped the Roloos wouldn't score anymore runs so all could go home. But the Roloos were obstinate and extended the game five minutes while the umpires were deciding to call it a tie.

Club officials announced this morning that they would probably stage another game in early fall to play off the tie.

If they could get their players back in shape by that time.

Rat Population at Holland Dump Slashed in One Night Project

"Rats are the most disease ridden creatures on earth," explained Charles Hubbell as his men literally shoveled together a pile of the dead rodents at Holland dump Friday.

Hauling out a report by the United States Department of Public Health, Hubbell pointed to a list of diseases transmitted by rats: typhus, tularemia, trichinosis, bubonic plague, rat-bit fever and spirochetal jaundice.

"And the simple bite, regardless of disease, can be dangerous," he added.

Hubbell, area supervisor for Arwell, Inc., exterminators, had just spent all Thursday night with his men in a mass poisoning that killed an estimated 800 to 1,000 rats.

Using a variety of poisons and different methods of applications more than 250 dead rats were found lying on the surface alone. The rats were later burned.

But the battle is just beginning at Holland dump. The city has contracted to have the men return monthly, and in addition bait will be maintained at all times in feeding stations.

According to Public Health figures, rats have 8-to-10 litters a year—about 10 rats to a litter. This means that without any deaths, an adult pair of rats could multiply to 359,000 in three years.

The big danger, according to Hubbell, is that the rats are forced to migrate for lack of food. "Rats are excellent swimmers, and can easily cross Black River," Hubbell said.

The rats will migrate in colonies of 50 or 100 for distances up to a mile or more. With the city dump so close to Holland's business district, this becomes a real problem.

With the new control methods, Holland Health Inspector Ben Wiersma's attack is simple. He merely wants to keep the rats—if they escape the poison—in the dump.

Only way this can be done is to keep the population down so food supplies are adequate.

"And if they eat our poison—so much the better," comments Wiersma.

More Blueberry Pickers Needed

A plea for blueberry pickers was made Monday for harvesting the crop in Holland area.

James M. Bielby, farm labor representative for Ottawa county, said the crop has matured a week to 10 days earlier this year because of the heat and dry weather, and he could place 100 or more pickers Tuesday.

Men, women and children 14 years and over interested in picking blueberries are asked to meet in Centennial Park at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday opposite the post office. Bielby will be present to make assignments and some growers will be present with transportation. There are many other jobs available in which transportation is not provided. Therefore, wherever possible, persons who can provide their own transportation are encouraged to do so.

Bielby said migrant workers already have arrived for the blueberry season and housing provided on the farms is all taken. He pointed out that blueberry farms in Ottawa county have always used large numbers of local pickers and the migrant workers make up less than one-half of the necessary work force to harvest the crop.

The blueberry fields in this area are located three to 12 miles north of Holland both on Lakeshore Dr. and on M-50.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Bielby at the local Employment Security office at 6-6509.

Wins 1st-Half Tilt Over Fennville; Chix Here Monday

The Southwestern Michigan Base ball League rolled into its final regular week Monday with the Holland Flying Dutchmen still holding a slim chance of sharing the second-half title.

They got only a piece of the first-half championship since South Haven clipped Fennville, 10-7, Saturday night in that delayed first-half contest. The victory moved South Haven into a tie with Holland at 5-3 for first place in the final first-half standings.

South Haven has an excellent opportunity to take the second-half title with no such blocks as ties. The Merchants have a 4-2 mark and play cellar-dwelling Fennville tonight and Saturday to finish out their schedule.

The Dutchmen finished up their league schedule Monday at River-view Park at 7:30 against the Zeeland Chix, who are in third place with a 3-3 record.

The Dutchmen hold a 2-1 edge on the Chix for the season, winning 10 days ago, 6-3, to go along with an earlier 18-12 conquest. In the first meeting, Zeeland won, 4-2.

Resorters Applaud Summer in Michigan

Michigan has just about everything in the way of summer entertainment for resorters, and the Holland area is one of the high spots for any tourist, whether he is taking a long look at the state or just passing through.

The resorts situated near Holland, most of them on Lake Macatawa or Lake Michigan, offer just about anything a vacationer could desire.

Swimming and sailing come high on the list of summer entertainments in Holland. Other sports that need a little more skill are golf and horseback riding, and of course tennis is a favorite on many lists. Facilities for all these sports are available in abundance.

Lake Macatawa saw the birth of water skiing in the United States and is a center for the sport, which is growing rapidly in popularity. Beginners and professionals alike ski along in the wakes of motor cruisers, runabouts and just plain putt-putts.

And of course there is, always a tramp along the lake shore, through the dunes or in the woods, if less active recreation is what appeals to the visitor.

There is always room for more campers, too, but if the rough-it type of life doesn't appeal, tourist accommodations are comfortable and cool. Guests are never at a loss for activities as evidenced by the weekly resort schedules.

Castle Park

Big news of the week at the Castle is the Fall Fashion Show, being held on the front lawn of the hotel Wednesday, beginning at 3 p.m. Clothes in this first fall showing, by a Grand Haven shop, were modeled by Castle Park residents and professional models. Thursday evening's Little Ravinia high fidelity concert will be held on the Dune Top. Favorite symphonies are featured at these musical gatherings. Friday's schedule includes a one-act play, "The Valiant," to be presented by the Castle Park Players in the Amphitheater.

Vesper services Sunday evening will be held on the Dune Top with Dr. Marion de Velder of Hope Reformed Church in Holland as speaker.

Guests leaving the hotel are the Allens, the Bonnies, the Suzozs, the Vanderwegs, the McNairs and the Davises.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross W. Beatty and son, Bobby, will be in the C.J. McLean cottage at the Castle through Labor Day.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Avent and family of Cincinnati are at the Cleveland cottage for the remainder of the summer.

Spending some time at the Burton cottage are the Cincinnati's Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Burton, and Mr. and Mrs. Julian De Pree and family of Louisville, Ky., are in Mrs. Clark's cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Thatcher W. Rea and family of Detroit are vacationing at their summer home, and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Goodspeed are with their family at the Pennington cottage. The Goodspeeds are from Grand Rapids.

Maple Shade With the continuing warm weather, guests at Maple Shade Resort are spending most of their time swimming and playing shuffleboard. Fishing parties are constantly being formed, and good catches are almost always reported.

Activities planned for the week include a potluck supper for all the guests. A treat for the children will be the chance to make ice and outdoor grills, the baseball diamonds, refreshment stand, and the Lake Michigan beach.

The park, with its tunnel through the sand dunes to the beach, is one of the most popular recreation places in the Holland area.

Macatawa

Resorters staying at Macatawa Hotel have a full schedule ahead this week with activities planned for every evening.

Thursday's movie will be "Mississippi Gambler", starring Tyrone Power and Piper Laurie. The big afternoon attraction Friday will be a water ski show in front of the Mac dock, with Mary Gronberg and Dick Bradford on their educated skis. That evening, local talent will entertain at the weekly variety show in the hotel ballroom.

Saturday's ballroom dance will be the main evening attraction and on Sunday a concert, featuring Chicago soprano Jane Kohler, will be held at the hotel. Also appearing on the Sunday concert program will be Miss Genevieve Alekunas, pianist and violinist David Martin.

On Feb. 10, 1953, Taylor who had been convicted of embezzling $26,169.67 from Carl Berg of Grand Haven, was sentenced to serve three to 10 years at Southern Michigan prison at Jackson. Taylor was jailed under an old law called the "debtor's law" in which a person who owes money may be held in jail providing the complainant pays his bond.

To be released, Taylor appeared before Circuit Court Judge Raymond L. Smith and took an oath of a debtor and swore to his inability to pay the sum.

Previously Taylor had petitioned the court for release on the basis that Circuit Court had no jurisdiction over him while he is on parole.

Zeeland Defeats Holland; Fennville Nips South Haven

Everything is topsy-turvy in the Southwestern Michigan Baseball League today and there's a possibility that all five teams may finish the second half tied up with 4-4 records.

When the Zeeland Chix clipped the Flying Dutchmen, 6-3, Monday night, it wasn't so much a surprise since one never knows what will happen when these two teams collide.

But over in Fennville, it was a different story.

The lowly cellar-dwelling Fennville Merchants pushed over the only run of the game in the bottom of the 11th to nip league-leading South Haven, 1-0.

That changed the entire complexion of the second half and left the following:

1. Zeeland and South Haven are tied for the lead with 4-3 records. Both have one game left, Zeeland vs. Grand Haven Friday night and South Haven vs. Fennville Saturday night.

2. If both win their final games, they will tie for the second half title. If only one team wins, that team will take the championship all alone.

3. If both teams lose their final contests, all five teams will end up tied at 4-4.

The Dutchmen, who could muster only seven scattered hits off Zeeland's Marv Goorhouse, already have a 4-4 record and are in third place.

But Holland has already clinched a share of the first-half title with South Haven. Officials of both clubs announced this morning that the first half playoff game would be Saturday, Aug. 13, in South Haven.

Monday night, South Haven was the victim of a beautiful three-hitter by Fennville's Jack Turner, who singled and scored on Sonny Marse's double in the bottom of the 11th. Lefty Kriesten lost a six-hitter.

While Goorhouse was holding the Dutchmen in check, the Chix were pouncing out 10 hits off starter Jack Kemper and his successor, Duane Westenbroek.

A double by Goorhouse and three Dutchman errors helped the Chix to a 2-0 bulge in the second, and Howie De Jonge's bases-empty home run stretched it to 3-0 in the top of the third.

Holland came back with a singleton in the bottom of the third on singles by Kemper and Ron Fortney, a fielder's choice and an infield out.

Four walks and De Jonge's single pushed the Chix to another pair and a 5-1 lead in the sixth. In the top of the eighth singles by Ted Boeve and Tony Diekema along with a fielder's choice produced the final Zeeland tally.

Bob Van Dyke went to first on an error, then scored on Ron Boeve's single and an infield out in the bottom of the eighth. Ken Van Tatenhove tallied the final run after singling in the bottom of the ninth.

Goorhouse put both rallies down with a minimum of trouble.

SALK ANTI-POLIO SHOTS—Contorted faces and wry grimaces were in order Monday as second round inoculations of Salk anti-polio vaccine were given. More than 115 rural area youngsters paraded through the line at Holland Armory, with the count expected to go up rapidly this afternoon as city children get their shots. Meanwhile over in Zeeland Lincoln Elementary school another "good" turnout was reported as 200 kids got their shots

—more than 50 percent of those eligible. Also today a make-up clinic in Hudsonville for those who missed shots last week attracted another 60 youngsters — 75 percent of those eligible. Only children inoculated in the first round in April are eligible. At the Holland Armory clinic a dozen Holland mothers assisted in soothing hurt feelings and drying up tear-soaked faces. Dr. Ralph Ten Have, Ottawa County Health Department director, conducted the clinic. According to Ten Have, there is enough vaccine remaining to hold a special make-up clinic in Holland all day Friday for Holland area youngsters who fail to get shots today. Parents were asked to watch The Sentinel for further announcements of the make-up clinic. All vaccine used in county clinics is certified by state and national agencies.

3-Day Festival Planned to Mark Saugatuck's Birth

Hopping Championship Harks Back to Contest Held There in 1870

SAUGATUCK (Special) — A "world's champion hopping contest" will be among the highlights planned for the three-day celebration of Saugatuck's 125th anniversary which will culminate Friday, Aug. 5, in the Old Saugatuck Ball in the Big Pavilion.

The contest will consist of two preliminaries, set for 5 p.m. both Wednesday and Thursday, with the finals, in which the world's champion will be named, set for 5 p.m. on Friday.

The idea for the contest came from an account in the local paper of an event held in the village during an 1870 celebration. A man by the name of Wilkerson, described as a "renowned hopper" gave a demonstration on Butler St. and established a record of hopping a half-mile in 7½ minutes. Several local residents have been practicing to try and top that mark.

The Old Saugatuck Ball will be unique in the fact that it will not have a king and queen. Presiding over it, however, will be "Ma and Pa Saugatuck," chosen from among the older residents of the village.

They will lead the grand march, together with Secretary of State and Mrs. James Hare and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bayless, co-chairman of the ball. Many of those attending plan to wear costumes of the period of 125 years ago.

Arranging the anniversary program, the committee headed by Arch Burns dipped into the past for several other features in addition to the hopping contest. These events include a "horse race" down the river on barrels and a canoe tilting contest.

The week's program will open Tuesday night when several old-timers will be featured on the Saugatuck talent program in the Big Pavilion.

Wednesdays program will include a children's parade at 1 p.m.; the "horse race" on the river at 2 p.m.; canoe tilting at 3:30; hopping contest at 5 p.m. and dancing starting at 8:30.

Another "horse race" on the river will open Thursday's program at 2 p.m.; followed by canoe tilting at 3:30 and the second preliminary of the hopping contest at 5 p.m. Wrestling in the Pavilion at 8:30 p.m. will feature an event between "Methusalem and Time."

Friday's program opens at 11 a.m. with the "Saugatuck Derby" horse race on the river, followed by the Old Saugatuck parade at 2 p.m.; the world's championship hopping race at 5 p.m. and the ball at 8:30.

The Saugatuck high school band will lead the children's parade Wednesday while bands from neighboring schools have been invited to march Friday in the Old Saugatuck Parade. Charles Gilman, Dick Hoffman and Jack Knipper are working on the parade plans.

Other chairmen include Mrs. Henry Dorn and Mrs. Henry Brady, children's parade; John Janis, horse races; Andrew Hanaek, canoe tilting; Donald Martz, hopping contests; Marion Bale, decorations and Fred Davis his historical displays.

—Arnold Mulder

Since our entry into the first World War most of us have become used to thinking of America and England as international twin brothers. When we celebrate Independence Day we remind ourselves that the cause of that celebration harks back to the eighteenth century. To err is human, to forgive divine, and all that was long ago and far away. The late Ernest Bevan of Great Britain struck a responsive chord in American hearts some years ago when in a Fourth of July oration, he said:

"Thank God that you defeated us." Most of us do not remember that at least the ruling classes of Britain continued for three quarters of a century to do us all the harm they could without risking their own skins. There are any number of illustrations. One of the most recent is found in a new biography of Gladstone, by Phillip Magnus.

Magnus is an Englishman, and he misses no chance to speak such good words for his own country and its statesmen as facts will permit. So he cannot be charged with prejudice in our favor.

In 1844 Gladstone, who was then a young man, reflected the strong prejudice against Americans among England's upper classes, when he called Americans "dishonest, unprincipled people." Says his biographer: "He felt an especial contempt for the money-grubbing Northern Yankee tradesmen and farmers, and he shared the view held generally by the English upper class, that the Southern planters, with their cultivated drawl, were the nearest approach to gentleness that America could show."

Lord Palmerston, for many years Prime Minister, "held the secret opinion," according to Magnus, "that a permanent division of the American Union would be greatly to the advantage of Great Britain."

Gladstone, as the American Civil War progressed, begged Lord Palmerston and Lord Russell to mediate, but they were afraid they might burn Britain's fingers. So Gladstone appeared directly to the British people. "There is no doubt," he shouted, "that Jefferson Davis, and other leaders of the South have made an Army. They are making, it appears, a Navy. And they have made—what is more than either—they have made a nation."

That statement by England's best known spokesman "reverberated round the world," according to Gladstone's biographer, "and caused a profound sensation." It and statements by other British leaders made it seem likely for a while that America would break

Pumping Station Blast Puts Crimp In Water Supply

Grand Rapids Clamps Down on Water Use; Cops Patrol Areas

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. Sprinkling and all other "non-essential" uses of water were banned today following an explosion at a pumping station which injured two workmen and cut 11 million gallons of water off the daily supply.

The water ban was put into effect late Wednesday for an "indefinite" period after a conduit exploded in the basement of the Coldbrook pumping station. City water superintendent Spencer Ferriss said the 45-year-old pipe had crystallized through long use.

He said it would be two weeks before a replacement pipe would be available.

"The break and subsequent tie-up are doubly bad now because maximum water need naturally comes with hot weather," Ferriss said.

Two workmen above the conduit on the main floor of the pumping station were tossed into the air by the explosion. Walter Smith, 44, and Leon Vanderkuy, 21, were under observation at Butterworth Hospital. Extent of their injuries were not immediately known.

The City Commission met after the explosion and passed the ordinance prohibiting "non-essential" use of water. The ban was invoked on sprinkling, washing sidewalks and driveways and operating swimming and wading pools not equipped with recirculating systems.

Police cruisers equipped with sound systems were sent to areas where sprinkling normally is heaviest, warning residents that violators of the ordinance face maximum penalties of $500 fines or 90 day jail sentences.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. City Manager Donald Oakes today eased the ban on "non-essential" use of water despite the city's second water crisis in as many days.

The crisis came this morning when electrical circuits failed, overflowing the automatically operated, unmanned Franklin reservoir and flooding the intersection of Franklin Park and Fuller Ave.

The overflow spilled out nearly 500,000 gallons of water. Harold Chapman, general foreman for street lighting, said today's crisis was an aftermath of an explosion Wednesday at the Coldbrook pumping station.

The station was rocked by an explosion when a pipe burst and cut 11 million gallons of water off the city's supply.

Chapman said the automatic warning system to the Coldbrook station was knocked out of operation and the excess water pumped into Franklin poured out an overflow pipe into the surrounding area.

Workmen succeeded in correcting the situation several hours later.

Despite the disaster, Oakes eased the ban on sprinkling. Effective at midnight tonight, sprinkling will be permissible on an odd-and-even house number system.

Scores Public Apathy Toward Farm Economics

Ottawa Farm News

Richard Machiele
County Agricultural Agent

We are glad we have a number of certified seed growers in the county at the present time. Notice has come from the Michigan Crop Improvement Association that three fields of wheat have been approved: Lester Antonides of Alendale has 19 acres of Genesee; Floyd Ter Haar of Zeeland has 13½ acres of Genesee and John Van Wyke of route 1, Alendale has 7 acres of Yorkwin. The Genesee wheat is a comparatively new variety, a soft red wheat. The Yorkwin, as you know, is one we have grown here successfully for some time. I am sure any of these farmers would be glad to either sell this wheat right from the farm or give you information where he may have sold it.

We also have a number of certified oat growers. Jackson, a new variety released last year, has been passed on the Lee Fein farm, route 5, Dor; Floyd Ter Haar, route 2 Zeeland; Clarence Carlson route 5, Grand Rapids; Louis Kosturik, route 2, Grand Haven. The only field of Clinton oats grown today is the 20 acre field by William J. Aukeman, route 3, Hudsonville.

We had many calls on damage to elm trees. As far as we can see, some of this damage goes back to the late frost in May, especially those areas in the trees that have dead leaves. Aphids have been busy this summer causing a stickiness on many of the trees. This, of course, has a tendency to hold dirt and the leaves have a dull appearance at the present time. We need not be too concerned about this.

If areas of limbs of the trees die, you might be a bit concerned about Dutch elm disease. We would like to be notified if there are any elm trees with dead areas. Drop us a line or give us a ring. We'll be glad to take a look.

A good suggestion comes from the Michigan State University Economics Department saying to check your fire insurance policies, as almost all of this year's income is at present stored in barns and granaries. Don't gamble when your stakes are more than you can afford to lose.

There is a new federal law in regard to keeping the wheat clean. The Michigan Department of Agriculture bureau of foods and standards is cooperating with this program. We have some bulletins available, Extension F 196 that tells what the requirements are as far as the wheat is concerned. We'll be glad to send you a copy upon request. Another bulletin in regard to keeping wheat in good condition is Extension Folder 134 entitled "preventing damage to stored wheat."

The current report from the Agricultural Economics Department shows that the labor income on area 4 farmers which includes Ottawa County has decreased substantially since 1951. In 1951 labor income was $3,752 and the 1954 income was $916. In breaking down these figures it finds that the great factor affecting this is lower prices for farm commodities with higher cost. With low figures such as we have today it is rather hard for the average farmer to make ends meet. The only apparent way that we can expect to realize more profit on the farm is by cutting our costs on those items where cost can be cut. On crop production the best way to cut cost is by increasing yields through the use of good seed, good culture practices and increased yields per acre. In the field of dairy, by using more foliage, better pastures, will increase the yield per cow. Good pastures have been proven to pay off for the farmer. If you are at the present time planning to pasture only bluegrass, you might consider making a summer seeding of alfalfa-brome to be seeded sometime during the last part of August. We will be glad to help any that are interested in making a summer seeding.

Farmers living south of highway M-20 can act now to take advantage of the Michigan Conservation Department's offer of free trees and shrubs for wildlife planting this fall. The stock offered without charge includes pines, spruces, multiflora rose, bush honeysuckle, coralberry and others.

At the request of the landowners, a farm planner from the Conservation Department will inspect the farm and determine what can be planted to improve the land for wildlife.

The planner's recommendations generally tie in with soil and water conservation practices. Trees and shrubs may be planted on eroded hillsides, in gullies, along pond or marsh borders or along edges of woodlots.

Qualifying farmers who would like to take part in the program can get additional information by writing to the Game Division, Michigan Conservation Department, Lansing 13.

Lineman Falls, Impaled On Handle of Shovel

PLAINWELL, Mich.

A 30-year-old lineman was impaled on a shovel handle Wednesday when he fell off a power pole.

The victim, William Speicher, was working 35 feet up when he touched a power line and fell. The shovel had been stuck into the ground at the foot of the pole.

The shovel handle entered Speicher's chest and came out his back. He was rushed to Bronson Hospital at Kalamazoo and then transferred to Blodgett Hospital at Grand Rapids for further treatment.

Doctors said the shovel handle missed Speicher's heart, lungs and other vital organs.

Professor Gives Tips on Fishing

ANN ARBOR—Fish lose their zest for food during hot spells, but since they have to eat to live a fisherman can make his catch by being in the right place at the right time.

So says a University of Michigan fisheries expert, Prof. Karl F. Lagler. And he has some hints to offer about best times and places for making that hot weather stroke.

"Don't switch from one lake or stream to another constantly," he advises, pointing out that it is better to know two lakes extremely well than 10 vaguely. And the most logical times to catch fish during hot weather are near sunrise and sunset, and sometime between 10 p.m. and 2 a.m., he adds.

Once you've decided on time and place the question is, what to offer them? And Professor Lagler has some words here too: When the water is calm give them a top-water lure, working it lazily.

"You've got to convince them that this is an easy meal, some small creature that's hurt and can't get away," he says. And you can use the same strategy after dark, he continues, but wait almost twice as long before retrieving your lure.

"Fish can be expected to have a hard time seeing in the dark, too, and they'll have to come searching where they heard it fall," he explains.

If you don't have any luck near the surface, try a lure that'll go through shallow cover, and then one that'll plumb the depths. Professor Lagler suggests—as a last resort attaching a small, live frog, with a weight, to your line and trolling slowly while it bumps the bottom of the deeper holes.

Junior Officers Helping Cops Curb Juvenile Crimes

HARPER WOODS, Mich.

—More than 30 children from 10 to 15 years of age sporting official police badges patrolled the streets of Harper Woods today to help city police curb juvenile delinquency.

On June 1 this Detroit suburb became one of the first communities in the nation to inaugurate an official staff of young junior policemen. Since then, at least one other Michigan city has adopted the plan, and another plans to put it into operation this fall.

"These youngsters have done wonders in keeping other children their age out of mischief during the school vacation," Capt. C. H. Glosser of the Harper Woods police department reports.

"Other cities have reported success in using teen-agers to augment the regular police force, but Harper Woods is one of the first to let even the 10-year-olds take such a leading role in the community."

The children are assigned regular police beats, each serving one hour a day. Their junior police badges bear the official shield of Michigan and the youngsters carry identification cards stating they are authorized to issue "tickets" to other children.

At present, 31 boys and girls serve as junior policemen.

Tickets may be issued for "traffic" violations such as jaywalking or double-riding on bicycles, or for any neighborhood mischief in which they may be caught. But the tickets aren't handed to the violators themselves; they are delivered to the parents.

"We leave it up to Mom and Dad to take any necessary corrective measures," Glosser says. "That takes another load off our over-burdened shoulders. We no longer have to lecture the kids for such things as carrying sling shots or for playing ball in somebody's petunia patch."

Harper Woods' neighboring city of Roseville plans to inaugurate a similar program this fall, raising the age bracket slightly to 12 to 15 years.

The Association of International Police Chiefs recommends one and a half uniformed policemen per 1,000 population. On that basis, Roseville would need 50 full-time patrolmen, although it actually has only 24.

Dearborn is also using teen-agers as an auxiliary police force. Chief Lawrence J. Shaefer of the Dearborn police reports a definite downturn in juvenile delinquency since the plan was put into effect earlier this year.

In Harper Woods the police hope to reduce delinquency by teaching the younger children that they owe it to the community to stay out of trouble.

"That's why our junior policemen are so young," says Capt. Glosser. "The children feel they have a real part in the community before they grow into teen-agers."

Scouts Describe 'Bout' With Moose

ISLE ROYALE, Mich.

Boy Scouts emerging from a camping trip in the Isle Royale wilderness brought a tale of adventure with them today.

The youngsters excitedly told how Tommy Simmons, member of a Dearborn Boy Scout troop, tried to get a few extra merit points for his physical fitness report by running one mile along the shoreline of Rock Harbor.

While running his course, Tommy noticed that he had a partner—a small moose calf that was keeping perfect pace. The boy was so surprised in seeing the calf that he stopped, but when the baby moose also tried to stop running it fell to the ground in a heap.

It was then that the calf's irate mother came charging out of the woods, sending Tommy scrambling up the nearest tree.

Attracted by shouts from the onlookers, the mother moose then charged the entire troop of scouts, scattering them in all directions.

Tommy descended from the tree only after mama moose and her young ambled off into the woods together. It was agreed that Tommy had run his mile.
