Truck Crash Kills Driver On M-50

Henry Martinie, 45,
Dies of Broken Neck,
Other Driver Bruised

ALLEDALE (Special) — A Zeeland man was killed and Grand Haven man injured as two trucks crashed together Wednesday at 8:45 a.m. on M-50 at 84th Ave., about two miles west of Allendale.

Dead is Henry Martinie, 45, of route 1, Zeeland. Medical Examiner Dr. Jay Post of Allendale said Martinie died of a broken neck and multiple fractures.

Donald C. Schmidt, 23, of route 2, Grand Haven, was treated at Zeeland Hospital for bruises of the right shoulder and released.

Ottawa County deputies said Martinie was headed east on M-50 in an empty dump truck. Behind him, deputies said, was a car driven by David Haughey, of Grand Rapids, with Schmidt behind Haughey, driving a semi-trailer loaded with 12 tons of sand for a Grand Rapids foundry.

Haughey told deputies that when Martinie slowed down and signaled for a right turn onto 84th Ave., he pulled out to pass on the left. Schmidt told deputies he could not slow his semi down in time and, blocked on the left by Haughey's car, he took to the right shoulder.

As Martinie turned right, the two trucks smashed together at the intersection, and ground on side by side down the shoulder for another 110 feet before stopping, and sideswiping a tree on the way.

Deputies said Martinie was thrown out of his truck on the right side, and crushed between the two vehicles. Both men were rushed to Zeeland Hospital, where Martinie was pronounced dead on arrival.

The fatality was the seventh recorded in Ottawa County traffic this year.

Deputies estimated the damage to the 1956 model dump truck driven by Martinie at $400 and the damage to the 1954 model semi tractor driven by Schmidt at $500. Martinie was driving for the Ralph Meyers Trucking Co. of Allendale.

Deputies said they will confer with Ottawa County Prosecutor James W. Bussard on possible charges to be lodged in the case.

Surviving are the wife, Henrietta; one daughter, Janice; two sons, Kenneth and Ronald, all at home; and three brothers, Ben, Edward and Richard all of route 1, Zeeland.

Saugatuck Boy Drowns As Motorboat Tips Over

Swecker, 15, of Saugatuck, who drowned Sunday evening in the Saugatuck channel about a hundred yards in from the end of the piers. Medical Examiner Dr. James

Hayes of Saugatuck pronounced death due to accidental drowning. Swecker drowned as he and a brother, Richard, 12, riding in a 14-foot outboard motorboat, attempted to pass a larger craft and were overturned by the wake. The accident happened at 6:20 p.m., and the body was recovered about an hour later by dragging crews. (Sentinel photo)

Bystanders Rescue His Brother, 12

Harold S. Swecker, 15,
Was Dead on Arrival
At Douglas Hospital

SAUGATUCK (Special) — A 15-year-old Saugatuck boy Sunday evening drowned in the Saugatuck channel as the 14-foot outboard motorboat in which he and a 12-year-old brother were riding flipped upside down in the wake of a larger boat.

The victim was Harold Everett Swecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Swecker, of 548 Hoffman St.

Medical Examiner Dr. James Hayes of Saugatuck pronounced death due to accidental drowning.

Saugatuck Police Chief Russell Colling said Harold and his brother, Richard, were heading into the channel, about a hundred yards in from the end of the pier, when they attempted to pass the 24-foot yacht "Wina Lee," owned and operated by Lawrence Goff, of Otsego. The accident happened at 6:20 p.m.

As the boys hit the wake of the Wina Lee, Colling said, the nose of the Swecker's 14-foot aluminum outboard, powered by a 35-horsepower motor, went straight up into the air, and the boat tipped over.

Colling said Harold, who could not swim and was not wearing a life preserver, disappeared immediately. Richard, wearing a life preserver, came to the surface, and Goff's 16-year-old son, Bernard jumped in and helped Richard hold on to the overturned boat.

A passing boater, Kenneth Cavanaugh of Kalamazoo, saw the overturned boat and anchored his boat where bystanders indicated Harold had gone down. Cavanaugh then called to a large passing yacht, the Stereo II of Holland, operated by Charles F. Murphy, and Murphy radioed the Coast Guard at Holland. Others called Saugatuck and state police.

Coast Guardsmen, Saugatuck police, Saugatuck firemen and others were dragging and state police skin divers of the South Haven post were preparing to go down when the body was recovered at 7:30 p.m. Saugatuck Fireman Harold Whipple and Harry Newnam and Saugatuck Policeman Jim Boyce were manning the boat which recovered the victim, in about 15 feet of water.

The body was transferred to the Coast Guard boat, and the resuscitator and artificial respiration were applied in an attempt to revive the boy as the Coast Guard, with siren screaming, raced in to Saugatuck.

The victim was pronounced dead on arrival at Douglas Hospital.

Surviving are the parents, the brother Richard, a sister Susan and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H.A. Swecker, of Ithaca. The victim was a member of the Saugatuck Congregational Church and the Saugatuck Sea Scouts.

School for Allegan Retarded Children Now in Third Year

ALLEGAN (Special) — Twenty-five to 30 Allegan County youngsters who, just 25 years ago would have been sheltered in shame, will be able to attend school this fall. And just three years ago they would have had to stay at home and watch their luckier brothers and sisters leave for school each morning, denied the privilege of an education.

These youngsters owe their privilege to Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Douglas of Allegan, who started the ball rolling for the Allegan County Retarded Children's Association two years ago. The Douglases are the parents of a seven-year-old daughter named Ellen who is retarded due to spinal meningitis which she contracted while in flight from Germany to her new home six years ago. Believing that something could be done for Ellen and other retarded children, the Douglases talked interested parents into forming the association.

The association has expanded from its original small group of ten families who felt that they could best help their children by helping other retarded to one of the most active associations in Michigan. With a new school located just south of Allegan on M-40, the non-profit organization was formed in June of 1957, with William Billings of Allegan as first president. In September of that year a school for trainable retarded was started in the basement of the old north ward elementary school. The association also promoted a class for grade school age educable children in the public school system. The same programs were continued in 1958, with the addition of 25 regular volunteer teachers to assist the full-time teacher in the trainable program.

The biggest problem that the association faced in its first two years was lack of space for meetings and the school for trainable youngsters. A building fund drive with a goal of $17,000 was begun in November to purchase their "ideal home." With $6,000 yet to raise, the association moved into the new school July 8.

Mrs. Marie Carlson has been hired as director of the new school and will divide her time between the Allegan and Kalamazoo associations. Mrs. John Porebski of Allegan will be full time teacher.

This year's plans for the trainable program include the purchase of a new building for the school. The association is also planning to purchase a new building for the school. The association is also planning to purchase a new building for the school.

able retarded school include the continuation of the 22-woman volunteer teacher force, in addition to the volunteer drives committee to man the nine-passenger station wagon for picking up children on the eastern side of the county.

In addition to their other activities, by sponsoring a 48-person cottage at the Coldwater State Home, the association feel that it is indirectly helping to care for Allegan county's 50 people at the home. The cottage is made up of two divisions one of teenage girls and the other of older women who are physically, as well as mentally, disabled.

The organization chose the slogan of the National Association, "No Less Precious," for a theme song, written by Allegan songwriter and former state senator H. D. Tripp. The song was presented at a recent state convention held at Calvin College by the Douglas' oldest son, Fred, a Western Michigan University student who wrote the arrangement.

A report from the Central Board of the Pine Rest Association showed that receipts taken in at the annual sale of all Pine Rest Circles held in June on the hospital grounds at Cutlerville so far have amounted to $13,776.66. More is expected as complete returns were not available.

This amount, together with yearly moneys brought in by the various circles, will more than pay the $15,000 still due on the Nurses' Home at Cutlerville, an obligation taken over by the Pine Rest Circles. The last payment is due in August.

Many members of the various Circles and friends attended the annual event and officers of the Central Board have expressed their appreciation to merchants and business firms who generously donated to this cause at that time.

No definite plans have been made as to the next project of the circles, however it is likely they may assume the debt of one of the units in a three-unit new Mulder Therapy Center which is being contemplated by the Pine Rest Association.

Morse Smashes Black Sox, 16-10

Manager Ted Rasberry and his Grand Rapids Black Sox provided the comedy for some 200 fans Thursday night in Riverview Park but the baseball power was supplied by the Holland H. E. Morse club, who recorded a 16-10 victory.

The win pushed the Dutchmen into a second place tie with the Black Sox. Each team has a 3-2 second half league mark.

It was the fourth straight victory for the Dutchmen. They dropped their second-round opener to the Black Sox, 19-5, on July 6.

All eyes were on Rasberry when he came in to relieve starting pitcher Curtis White in Holland's big eight-run first inning.

Four walks, an infield error and a line single to centerfield by Gene Van Dongen gave Holland four runs before Rasberry called time and walked to the mound where he began warming up.

He threw several pitches over catcher Jim Anderson's head but finally got a pitch low enough for Max Doolittle, the first batter he faced, to slap a single to right field, driving in two runs.

He walked the pitcher, Ned Freriks, on four pitches to load the bases before Thomson, up for his second time, hit a sacrifice fly to deep right field. Jack Kemper followed with a line double to left, scoring Freriks, and that was all for Rasberry.

The sore-armed comic resumed his duties in the third base coaches' box only to see the Dutchmen score six more runs in the third inning off Ralph Palmer, the third pitcher used by the Black Sox.

A walk to Kemper, singles by Thomson, Bob Van Dyke and Ron Boeve, and doubles by Van Dongen and Jim Kool accounted for the runs.

Leroy Davis, former star Grand Rapids South athlete, was struck on the head by a Freriks pitch in the third inning. X-rays at Holland Hospital revealed no injury and he returned to watch the rest of the game.

Grand Rapids scored three runs in the fourth inning. Manager Russ Wolring sent in Larry Dykstra to relieve Freriks, who walked four batters to force in a run. Ruben Smartt greeted Dykstra with a single through the box, scoring two more.

The Black Sox scored six unearned runs in the sixth on two errors, a walk, and singles by Jim Baker, Palmer, Al Jackson and John Walker.

Two errors and singles by Dave Bonnette and Kemper gave Holland two unearned runs in the bottom half of the sixth inning to complete the scoring.

Dykstra was credited with his first victory in relief and White was charged with the loss.

Chix Defeat Braves, 10-5

ZEELAND (Special) — The Zeeland Chix stayed in the win column by taking a solid 10-5 win in a return engagement with the Eberhard Braves of Grand Rapids at the Zeeland Athletic Field Thursday night.

Manager Marinus Scheele, faced with a heavy three-game schedule next week, started Ted Boeve on the mound. Boeve held the Braves scoreless until the third when four straight singles, a hit batsman and a walk scored three runs and left the bases loaded.

Boeve moved to right field in favor of strikeout artist Merle Berens and Berens struck out the first batter to face him. The next man grounded the ball to Berens but Vern Hoeksema dropped the ball on the throw to first and two more runs scored. Berens then struck out the next batter to end the inning.

From then on the Braves were totally handcuffed as Berens held them hitless while striking out 12. The game ended after eight innings because of the 10 p.m. curfew and Berens was the winning pitcher.

Zeeland pounded out 10 hits and Jack Faber and Art Klamt led in five at bats and Klamt had three for four. Howie De Jonge connected for a pair of singles and Art Olson and Merle Human got the other two hits.

HIGHWAY SAFETY

By Al Hauger
Editorial Writer

Port Huron Times Herald
Safety is one of the prime prerequisites which researchers, draftsmen and engineers seek to incorporate in the highway construction program today.

How well are they succeeding? The Michigan State Highway Department reported recently in a brochure, "These Highways Are For You," a startling 73 per cent reduction in accidents and a 62 per cent reduction in personal injuries on 80 new miles of Michigan expressways in the first six months of 1958, compared to a like period in 1957 on old roads they replaced.

That is a strong endorsement for modern express highways on which access is controlled strictly. With this controlled access, hundreds of lives may be saved each year.

Another argument for these super highways is that cost of motor vehicle operation are materially reduced. Also, the public investment in the highway is protected.

The highway Department said that experience in Michigan, as elsewhere, shows most conclusively that fatal accidents on controlled access highways are only one-third to one-sixth as numerous as on roads with uncontrolled access.

More than that, the number of injuries is far less, and the number of accidents per million miles of travel is much lower when the hazards of random access are eliminated.

Michigan currently is in the midst of a five-year road building program which seeks to keep trend with the State's rapidly growing population.

Right now, the State has 9,400 miles of State trunklines, 85,300 miles of county roads, and 14,000 miles of city and village streets. Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said the immediate needs for improvements, modernization, and entirely new streets and highways are far greater than the State's capacity to finance.

By 1960, it is predicted the State's population will be about 12,000,000. By the time the surveys show, there will be close to 54 million vehicles owned by Michigan residents. Also, by that time it is expected the annual vehicle miles traveled by that 12 million population will be in excess of 60 billions a year.

The Automotive Safety Foundation, in connection with the 1954 Michigan highway needs study, estimated the economic loss on Michigan roads to be in excess of $270 million per year from accidents, wasted time and extra operating cost of travel on an inadequate highway system.

The economic loss of not having a modern highway system is greater, per year, than the money we spend each year to improve the system.

What then are the methods of meeting the increasing needs in the years between now and 1975? All the methods of increasing highway capacity are expensive.

One approach is building new roads, such as the expressways. The State can add lanes to existing routes. The Highway Department already is doing this, adding two lanes with a median divider strip to separate the new roadway from the old.

Where the full expressway standards are not required, this method provides additional capacity at fairly reasonable cost except in highly urbanized areas.

Another approach is widening older, narrow highways, modifying sharp turns, and reducing excessive grades on hills.

Channeling traffic at intersections sometimes helps to increase the traffic flow. One-way street system add greatly to the capacity of city routes, where the one-way operation is feasible.

Thus, it is not difficult to see that these improvements which need to be made greatly exceed revenues. Still, the expenditures for streets and roads in Michigan represent a smaller percentage of the total cost of government today than was true prior to World War II.

In 1930, highway expenditures were 22 per cent of the total cost of government in Michigan; in 1925 the percentage reached a high of 32 per cent; by 1940, the cost dropped to 24 per cent.

Since 1946, all expenditures for streets and roads in Michigan have averaged about 15 per cent of all government costs.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, Aug. 2
The Testing of Faith (Job)
Job 19:19-25; 42:1-6
By C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.)

There are many great books for us to read. Many people think that the book of Job is the greatest book of all. We do not know who wrote the book neither do we know when Job lived and where Uz was. The book throws some light upon the problem of human suffering.

I. Some people suffer much more than others. In the first chapter of Job the author tells us about the prosperity of Job. He had ten children, many sheep, camels, oxen, she-asses and many servants "so that this man was the greatest of all the people in the east." He not only had wealth but he also had piety. He is portrayed as a man who "was blameless and upright and one who feared God, and turned away from evil."

When his sons and daughters feasted, Job "would rise early in the morning and offer burnt offerings according to the number of them all; for Job said, 'It may be that my sons have sinned and cursed God in their hearts.'" His wealth did not wear him away from God.

Suddenly this man lost everything—his children were killed and his possessions were lost. Job's three friends came to him and sat silently beside him for seven days and seven nights and then they spoke in the language of their time and said that Job must have sinned because of the calamities which had overtaken him. In those days men thought that prosperity was a sign of God's favor while adversity was considered coming from sin. It was this charge that hurt Job and made him say, "All my inward friends abhorred me; and they whom I loved turned against me."

II. Faith gives strength. The book of Job teaches a truth we must by all means grasp namely that faith makes it possible for a person to bear adversity. The charge made by Job's friends, made him appeal to history. "Oh that my words were now written! Oh that they were printed in a book!" He wished that his story might be recorded so that other generations would be able to read it.

Job first mentions a book and then expresses the wish that his words would be "graven with an iron pen and lead in the rock for ever"—that would be more lasting than a book. Things that excite us today may not be considered worth much years from now. Time has a way of putting things in their proper place and of rating them properly.

Centuries have gone since Job uttered the words, "For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that He shall stand at the latter day upon the earth" but these words still remind us of his strong faith. These words mean much to us for they turn our minds to Jesus Christ our risen Redeemer.

III. Humility becomes us all but we do not always reveal it. Job acknowledged the greatness of God and realized his own insignificance. The words, "Thou canst do all things" and, "No purpose of thine can be restrained" reveal Job's appreciation of God's greatness. And when Job told God that he had uttered things too wonderful for him, which he could not understand, he confessed his blindness.

It is good for us to confess our ignorance now and then. Job showed his humility when he spoke in such a fashion. The experiences which came to Job deepened his religious convictions. Once he had heard of God "by the hearing of the ear" but he changed and learned to say that His "eye seeth thee." His second hand religion had become a matter of personal experience. Job became penitent as his words, "Wherefore I abhor myself, and repent in sackcloth and ashes" show. He fully repudiated his former position. The suffering of Job made changes in his life. God uses suffering.

There were 22 per cent of the total cost of government in Michigan; in 1925 the percentage reached a high of 32 per cent; by 1940, the cost dropped to 24 per cent.

Since 1946, all expenditures for streets and roads in Michigan have averaged about 15 per cent of all government costs.

What are the future costs? Expected costs for needed construction, on the basis of the report prepared by the Highway Department and given the U. S. bureau of roads in 1957 show the expected costs of Interstate highways in the State to be $1,457,322,000. Cost of primary roads is paced at $1,699,343,000, for secondary roads at $284,774,000, and for non-federal aid roads at $25,584,000. That adds up to a whopping $3,467,023,000!

Property taxes do not go into road construction. Motorists provide the funds, along with Federal aid, to build and maintain roads. The Federal Aid Highway Bill, passed in 1956, provides considerable aid.

Currently, continuance of this Federal Aid is periled by indecision on the part of the Congress in raising the Federal gas tax from 3 to 4 cents.

In the final analysis, it is fair to assume much—if not all—of the State's ambitious highway program will attain fruition in the years between now and 1975.

Allegan Approves Ordinances Restricting Use Of Air Guns

ALLEGAN (Special) — Three new ordinances went into effect in Allegan Thursday. They provide restrictions on the use of air guns, sling shots, controls on construction, maintenance and use of private swimming pools and control of unsafe buildings. They were unanimously approved at a meeting of Allegan City Council Wednesday night.

Ordinance No. 43 gives the city authority to order a dangerous building vacated, repaired or demolished when it threatens to become a public nuisance, endangers the public health or safety or is considered a fire hazard. If the cost of repairs to a building equal more than 50 per cent of the property's assessed valuation, it can be condemned. Repair estimates would be obtained from independent contractors.

The ordinance also provides for semi-annual inspection of all public buildings and inspection at any time of any building about which complaints have been filed with the city. The cost of any building demolished under the ordinance would be assessed against the property owner. Owners would be given 30 days to comply with orders to vacate, make repairs or demolish an unsafe building.

Ordinance No. 44 governs the construction, maintenance and use of private swimming pools. Both a construction and operation permit are now required. Rules for filtration, control of bacteria, fencing in the pool area and the use of city water lines for filling pools and city sewers for draining also are included in the ordinance.

Ordinance No. 45 prohibits the sale of air guns or sling shots to those under 16 years of age and makes the shooting or carrying of such weapons anywhere but on a proper rifle range under adult supervision by the same age group illegal. The ordinance provides for fines up to $100 for violation.

City Manager P. H. Beavals told councilmen at the meeting that a new chemical is present in the Kalamazoo River which causes unusual pitting and scaling of metal exposed to water at the city dam. He said nearly an eighth of an inch of metal is lost when the scale is removed.

Samples of the scale have been sent to a Chicago testing laboratory for analysis and Milton P. Adams, executive secretary of the Michigan Water Resources Commission has indicated that the case is possible evidence of new chemical pollution in the Kalamazoo River.

Council members adjourned the session to next Wednesday night for public hearings and bids on the various paving projects planned for this year. Also set for Wednesday, August 5, is an informal report meeting with the city's four representatives on the county board of supervisors.

League Managers Feel Kaat Has Best Chance for Majors

Jim Kaat has his sights set on closing out the season with the Washington Senators and Southern Association managers think he has a fine chance of doing just that and have said so.

Kaat, the Zeeland southpaw now pitching for the Chattanooga Lookouts in the Southern Association, has been named the top major league prospect in the Class AA league.

The fact became known when a poll of managers of the eight teams in the league was made at the annual league all-star game. The poll was conducted by Fred Russell, sports editor of the Nashville Banner, and author of the well-known autobiography "Bury Me in an Old Press Box."

The 20-year-old Kaat has overcome three obstacles this season, a throat infection, an injured ankle and a shoulder injury, and continues to mow down the Southern Association batters. His last time out, Kaat fanned eight batters, gave up four hits and two earned runs to record his eighth win of the season. He has seven setbacks.

Kaat tied the Southern Association record for strikeouts when he fanned 19 against the Nashville Volunteers on May 16 this season. He leads the league with 119 strikeouts.

The managers also voted Kaat the fastest pitcher in the league with Phil Regan of Birmingham, the former Wayland prep star and the property of the Detroit Tigers, the second fastest hurler. Lou Klimchick, the 20-year-old

Jim Kaat

... named top prospect Shreveport second baseman and Gordon Coleman. Mobile first baseman, were the second and third choices of the managers as top major league prospects. Klimchick is the property of Kansas City and Coleman of Cleveland.

Kaat is being watched closely by the Washington club. Officials conferred with him several weeks ago when he was bothered with the muscle injury in his shoulder. The major league clubs increase their rosters to 40 later in September and some of the promising minor league players are promoted to the parent club.

And Kaat is expected to prove the Southern Association managers were right.

Well-Known Designer Dies

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Burrill Alton Parks, 74, well known former Grand Rapids mechanical engineer who designed the heating and ventilating equipment for the Civic Auditorium and many other West Michigan buildings, died at Blodgett Memorial Hospital, Grand Rapids, Monday afternoon where he had been a patient for 69 days.

A resident of Grand Haven at 111 Poplar Trail, since his retirement in 1950, he designed the mechanical equipment at many buildings in Grand Haven including the Municipal building, the heating plant at the county building, the enamel plant at the old Challenge Refrigerator Co., Story and Clark Piano Co. and the Eagle Ottawa Leather Co.

He was born in Ferrysburg where his maternal grandparents, the Pearsons, owned a shipyard. His father, Byron, was a consulting engineer. His wife is the former Miss Helen Eastman of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Parks served in World War I as a captain and major of engineers, served on the City Commission in Grand Rapids from 1929 to 1931 and the city planning commission from 1932 to 1935. In 1935 the Parks family moved to Chicago where he was plant engineer for the Crane Co.

His two children, Paul and Mrs. Miller G. Sherwood, reside in Grand Haven. He was one of the organizers of the yacht club at Spring Lake, and was a member of the Grand Haven Rotary Club and the York Masonic Lodge Grand Rapids.

Besides the wife and children he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Virginia Cutler of Grand Rapids and seven grandchildren.

Rev. Lam Speaks At Rotary Club

The Rev. Donald A. Lam, pastor of the St. Thomas reformed Church at St. Thomas of the Virgin Islands, West Indies, spoke to Holland Rotary Club members Thursday noon.

Rev. Lam, formerly from Holland, a graduate from Hope College in 1949 and the Western Theological Seminary in 1952, has spent the last 18 months in St. Thomas. He is also a Rotarian there and two weeks ago he presented the local club with a Rotary Banner from his club.

Title of his address Thursday was "Living in the West Indies". His talk covered the social, economic, political and religious conditions in the Islands. During a question and answer period, questions seemed to center around the vacation possibilities at St. Thomas. To any and all from Holland that are able to visit St. Thomas, Rev. Lam extends an invitation for all to contact him and visit with his church.

President Charles Cooper announced that Mr. and Mrs. Dick Miles will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, July 25th. Mr. Miles was given a standing ovation by his fellow Rotarians.
