MISSIONARY FAMILY RETURNS — Rev. Arthur Brower and family of Zeeland recently returned home from strife-torn Congo. The family was evacuated from the Congo two weeks ago and arrived back in Zeeland last week. The Browsers were among the last white missionaries to flee the turbulent young nation. Rev. and Mrs. Brower and two of their seven children, Timothy (left) and Elizabeth, are shown at their home in Zeeland.

Zeeland Missionary Family Among Last to Leave Congo

ZEELAND (Special) — A Zeeland missionary recently returned from the Congo, today views his leaving with a certain amount of regret.

Rev. Arthur Brower and his family, among the very last white missionaries to be evacuated from the Congo in the face of native atrocities, said that he sometimes felt as though he had abandoned a work which had taken 15 years of his life. Rev. Brower's brother, Angus, and his family, also missionaries, had left the Congo earlier.

It was exactly two weeks ago today that Rev. Brower sent his family out of the Congo via a U. S. Air Force plane. Rev. Brower said he had determined to stay, but a warning from the U. S. government that this would be his last chance for escape caused him to reluctantly change his mind.

The Browsers praised highly a "very gracious" U. S. Air Force which arranged their transportation as far as Brussels. After leaving Brussels by jet liner, the family arrived in Zeeland one week ago.

Rev. Brower explained his reluctance to leave the Congo. He said he felt at first as though he was deserting his long work in the mission field and letting down both his church and the United States.

He added that his decision to leave at the very last minute was prompted out of regard for the native Christians of the Kikwit territory. Armed with bows and arrows, the natives would stand no chance against Congolese soldiers, he said. And because of the soldiers' hatred of white people, Rev. Brower said he felt that to stay in Kikwit would endanger the lives of friendly natives as well as his own.

Rev. Brower said that the forced evacuation of the white men from the Congo leaves that new nation open to communism. "But," he added, "What could one man do?"

A close friend of the Browsers elected to stay. He had lived all his life in the Congo. He knew the natives and their ways and could live like the natives, Rev. Brower said. But the Browsers have not heard from him since their departure.

Rev. Brower said there had been no serious trouble in Kikwit territory, but he said that a few days prior to leaving the Congo, a neighboring mission had been raided by Congolese troops. One missionary had been severely beaten and his wife raped.

Increasing incidents of violence prompted the missionaries in Kikwit to prepare their exodus. Some 35 missionaries from Kikwit began their trip to Brazzaville by car with helicopters hovering over the mechanized caravan to protect against native attacks. Rev. Brower said some missionaries have remained in bordering Angola in the hope of returning to their Congo missions.

Rev. Brower said he believed much of the current trouble in the Congo has been communist inspired. He said he had no confidence in Premier Lumumba, whom he called "a second Fidel Castro."

Rev. Brower said he thought the only reason for Lumumba's recent visit to the United States was to obtain economic aid. He said that the present chaotic economic condition in the Congo demands that the Congolese obtain immediate aid.

Rev. Brower said that the expulsion of all whites from the Congo has resulted in mass unemployment. Over 70,000 unemployed in Leopoldville alone attest to the fact that by getting rid of the whites, the Congolese have also rid themselves of the source of employment.

Commenting on the internal strife caused by impending secession of the Katanga province, Rev. Brower said that should Katanga secede from the Congo, the results would be "disastrous." Katanga contains and produces most of the mineral wealth of the new nation.

Because of its ill-planned demands for immediate independence the Congo must now cope with rising prices and increasing scarcity of consumer goods, Rev. Brower said. Before the Browsers left the Congo, the price of kerosene, an important commodity to Congolese, had risen about 10 cents per liter.

Rev. Brower cited as an example a missionary friend who owned a diesel-powered truck. He said the scarcity and high cost of fuel made it impossible to operate the truck.

Disease and plagues have risen sharply since the evacuation of the whites, Rev. Brower said. The only doctors to be found in the Congo were Belgian physicians or mission doctors. Belgian doctors were forced to flee for their lives and the mission doctors were later forced out of the country, leaving no one to look after the health of the natives.

Rev. Brower said Congolese demands for immediate independence were premature and irrational. Belgium would have granted independence within a few years, he said. Natives were being given key positions by the Belgians who were working toward a gradual independence. Had the Congolese waited, they would have been equipped for their independence, Rev. Brower said.

Rev. Brower said that the average native in the Congo is one of its most effective anti-communist forces. The Congolese are an indolent people, he said, and would dislike the idea of living in communes such as those existing in Red China.

Rev. Brower said that the U. N. can help to halt Russia and Russian influence in the Congo. But, he said, if Russia ever gets into the Congo apart from the U. N. it will be bad.

Rev. Brower said that his chances of ever going back to the home he left in Kikwit territory depend on the Russian role in the Congo. He said the family had left their home and nearly all of their possessions when they left. They had no way of knowing if anything was still intact.

Mrs. Brower, with true feminine concern, remembered she had not locked the door.

Bathers Are Asked to Heed Safety Rules

Visitors at Ottawa Beach Monday were reminded of the danger of swimming past the safety markers by Holland State Park Manager Lou Haney.

He cited the example of four local teenagers Friday who ignored the lifeguard's warnings and tried to swim from the beach out to the breakwaters. When the group was brought back in by the lifeguard boat, Haney said, they were unruly.

This causes not only a disturbance for other park visitors but also serves as a poor example for younger children who might be tempted to follow the swimmers past the markers.

The number of camping permits and season's attendance is slowly catching up to last year's total, Haney said. There were 485 permits issued last week bringing the total count up to 3,404 for the season. This is 48 behind 1959 at this time.

The park officials turned away 180 campers last week and park's 377 sites were completely filled Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. A total of 84,000 visitors were at the park last week with 14,995 on Saturday and 15,145 Sunday. This increased the year's total to 788,000 which is approximately 48,000 behind the 1959 figure.

Attendance at the Grand Haven State Park topped over the million mark last week with an excess 80,654. The week's total was 101,579 on Saturday 17,610 bathers were at the beach. Sunday's figure was 18,191.

The 324 camping permits issued last week in Grand Haven brought to year's total to 1,315.

Power Line Hit in Storm

The storm which brought a wild booming and crackling of thunder and lightning to Holland about midnight Tuesday dumped .35 inch of rain on the city and caused a power failure on the south side of town.

Board of Public Works officials said that several blocks in the area of 25th St. and College Ave. were without power after lightning hit a primary power line at 12:30 a.m. It took BPW crews about two hours to locate and repair the line which was burned through.

The storm also knocked branches onto power lines in various parts of the city, and burned out a compressor motor at Ideal Dry Cleaners, 148 College Ave.

About 15 or 20 telephones in the vicinity of Butternut Dr. were out of order Wednesday because of cable failures, according to Harold Vander Veer, Michigan Bell Telephones Co. repair foreman.

The Pilgrim Holiness Church of Pullman is sponsoring camp meetings beginning Friday through Aug. 14 at the Pilgrim campgrounds, located one and one-half miles north of Hopkins. Three services are held daily, at 10 a.m. and 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The church is located several blocks from the summer school's headquarters and has an average Sunday attendance throughout the year of 100. Since 90 per cent of the city's nearly two million residents are Catholic, there are few Protestant churches available.

Rev. Ziebell, who was graduated from Elmhurst College and the Eden Theological Seminary, came to the Vienna Community Church July 1 under the sponsorship of the Overseas Union Churches, a department of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America.

He is an ordained minister of the United Church of Christ (Evangelical and Reformed Church) and for three years he taught religion and Greek at Elmhurst where his wife also was graduated.

Naturalized South African Citizen Visits, Tours Holland

A naturalized citizen of the Union of South Africa used his 12 years in Africa as a basis for observations about his new country and the Dark Continent Friday.

Jaap Van Nimwegen spent the weekend with James Bradbury of 75 Lyndon Rd., Holland before beginning his tour of the United States. They met while attending a paint lacquer school at the Hercules Powder Co. in Wilmington, Del. this spring.

The local visit has included a tour of the Holland Color Chemical Co. Van Nimwegen owns a lacquer plant in Capetown, the legislative capital located on the tip of the Union of South Africa.

The Union of South Africa, he began, eventually wants to become a republic, but also to remain within the British Commonwealth of Nations. At present, he said, the country is guided by a high commissioner who directly represents the Queen of England.

Van Nimwegen commented that when the prime minister Henri Verwoerd was shot this spring, the members of both political parties were deeply upset. He said that the parties, which pretend not to agree on principles but follow similar policies, were equally disturbed by the violence.

"We feel and the tribal leaders agree," he said, "black people are peace loving and contented with what they've got." The Union of South Africa's Negroes definitely favor segregation, he continued, and each wants to retain his own way of living.

The government, however, is stressing education, housing developments and hospital care. An equal, but separate, policy is being followed. Although the Negroes pay only a small tax (approximately one dollar) they are offered extensive educational and other opportunities supplied by the white minority.

He said, that this equality is, of course, not 100 per cent, but called it a working aim. When working with human beings, he added, there can be no time limit set to reach the South African concept of equality.

As to the Congo, he commented that it was simply a case of the Negroes' incapability to lead themselves. "I don't know," he said, "but judging from self government in Ghana, better education on a higher plane is needed."

In South Africa the government is doing its best to keep Communism out of the country as is Rhodesia, northeast of the Union, he said. There is a danger, he continued, because the blacks don't realize the menace.

As to predictions of the Union of South Africa's future, he said that it looks good because the country has resources (a world's leader in gold, diamonds, and uranium) and the needed manpower. With the government's fostering of selective immigration of artisans, doctors, industrialists and teachers, the white population will increase, he added.

Van Nimwegen emigrated from the Netherlands to the British-ruled country with his parents and other relatives in 1948. They settled in Kullis River about 20 miles from Capetown.

Traffic Light To Be Removed

The State Highway Department will remove the center island flashing traffic light at the intersection of Eighth St. and the US-31 bypass as a result of a public hearing at City Hall in Holland Thursday night.

According to County Safety Director Avery D. Baker, "yield right of way" signs will be left in the traffic islands. Motorists will be able to cross both traffic lanes after the first stop if traffic is clear.

Persons interested in restoring the light to a "stop and go" basis learned at the hearing that there have been no accidents at the intersection since the light was changed to a flasher on a trial basis last April.

Twenty persons attended the Thursday night hearing. Included at the meeting were James Brower and Paul Vannette of the Holland Township Board of Supervisors in whose area the intersection lies.

Ralph Shoemaker, District Engineer of the State Highway Department, and Charles De Witt of the Ottawa County Road Commission answered questions asked by the group.

Baker, who served as moderator, said another hearing will take place in about two months when the new changes have had a chance to be studied.

Proposed New First Presbyterian Church

First Phase of Presbyterian Building Program Begins Soon

Members of the First Presbyterian Church of Holland recently approved preliminary plans for construction of a contemporary church building based on triangular forms. The proposed new church facility will be built in three phases on a triangular-shaped site bounded by State St. on the west, Columbia Ave. on the east and 28th St. on the south.

Dr. Bernard Vanderbeek is pastor of the church, which was organized in June of 1958. The 218 member congregation is currently meeting in a house located on the existing site of the proposed new building.

The fellowship hall, located to the left on the above photo, will be built during the first phase of construction and is to be used initially as a chapel having a seating capacity of 270 plus the choir. This phase of construction is expected to begin following a fund-raising campaign later this summer.

Based on the plans presented by the J. & G. Daverman Co. Grand Rapids Architects and Engineers, the low roofed educational wing serving 350 people will be constructed following completion of the fellowship hall. Included in the third and final construction phase will be the main sanctuary, with a seating capacity of 420 plus choir, a small chapel seating 70 people, and a lounge for informal activities.

According to Everett Hart, Building Committee Chairman, "The triangular, contemporary design of the new building has been carefully planned to suit the shape and location of the immediate site."

At the recent congregational meeting the architects pointed out that "the pyramidal spire will rise out of the triangular shaped chapel of the small chapel. Two sides of the spire will be constructed of brick and the other of glass. This glass face of the spire will be the only source of light for the chapel. Light streaming down the spire will brilliantly illuminate the chancel and gradually diffuse to a very low level at the rear of the chape, creating a warm and reverent atmosphere for worship and meditation."

Other members of the building committee in addition to Hart are William H. Hoffmeyer, secretary, Robert Abbe, Alvin Dyk, Forrest Gibson, Melvin Kail, B. B. Patterson, La Vern Rudolph, Bert Schuitema, E. D. Wallace and William Bennett.

Veteran Carrier Makes Last Downtown Deliveries

If people downtown got their mail just a wee bit late Friday, there was a reason.

It was the last day on the route for Henry De Boe, veteran mail carrier who retired after 38 years with the Holland post office, 10 of them on the downtown route.

Henry was halted at City Hall, one of his earlier stops, and escorted to the third floor for a coffee kletz in his honor. City Hall employees gathered round as he cut a special cake and opened a gift, appropriately enough for retirement in the form of a folding lounge chair.

As word spread of Henry's last day, well wishers up and down the route halted him for brief farewells and handshakes. His colleagues at the post office earlier serenaded him with "He's a Jolly Good Fellow!"

At 62 years of age, De Boe is far from being consigned to easy chair status. Light of step, he probably gets more mileage out of a pair of postman's shoes than any of his colleagues. He says he can wear a pair of shoes for a year and a half—and not resoled either. The uppers wears out before the soles, he contends.

De Boe, with his familiar blue uniform and mail pouch, is a familiar figure around town. He probably has been exchanging greetings with more persons than everybody else. Yet, when he doffs the uniforms and appears in public in street clothes people fail to recognize him.

De Boe, with his familiar blue children and 16 grandchildren. One son, Albertus, is a mail carrier in Holland, serving nearly eight years.

The veteran carrier earlier delivered mail for years in the southwest section of Holland. He lives in that section at 357 West 18th St. Once he had to deliver mail in the east end. It was a strange experience, almost like a foreign land.

On earlier routes, he walked 15 to 18 miles a day. He estimates his two trips a day in the downtown area is the equivalent of 10 miles. When he started with the Holland post office April 15, 1922, the post office employed 11 men. Now it has around 50.

De Boe has no particular plans for his retirement. He has a garden. And, of course, he can always take walks.

Tells of Town In Sweden

By Carl Tidd

Community Ambassador to Sweden
After now having lived in Sweden for a while I would like to tell you something about the country. Sweden is the largest of the Scandinavian states. It is almost one and a half times as large as Great Britain and slightly larger than California.

In southern Sweden there are open, rolling plains and sandy beaches, while in the far north the vegetation is almost arctic, with high mountains and glaciers. Tying between are wide expanses of forests broken only by rivers and thousands of lakes. It is in this latter section that Amal, my home town, is located.

Amal is a small, quiet town of 8,000 people. It is idyllically situated on the Amal Bay, one of the many bays of Lake Vener. Through the town runs a little river. On the Church Hills, with their delightful view over Lake Vener, stands a church built in 1806.

Amal is very hilly and dense forests of pine trees surround the town. The climate is rather cool and rainy. Daytime temperatures average 58 degrees Fahrenheit and nighttime temperatures are in the 40's. July is a very wet month and it rains daily. My first purchase in Sweden was that of a rain coat.

THE FAIR

August is the time of fairs and there are several in the surrounding community. There also is the Michigan State Fair which this year will have a major change. For the first time in 111 years the State Fair program will be extended one night. This year the fair will open with a parade Thursday night, Sept. 1, with a ribbon cutting and early Friday morning Sept. 2, the fair will operate for 10 full days. We here in Holland will be well along with the Ottawa County Fair that is now in its second year and appears to be doing well. Many people in the area and over on the north side of Lake Macatawa have been doing a lot of work for many weeks.

If any of the people who are interested in fairs want to enter in the competition of the Michigan State Fair in Detroit, we would suggest that you get your entry blanks forwarded to Michigan State Fair, Detroit 3, Mich. The Official Michigan State Fair 1959 Annual Report carries the information that over the past five years from 1955-1959, it has made money for Michigan taxpayers with a total profit of $106,236.62 for an average yearly profit of $21,247.32 that was turned back to the State General Fund.

This sounds good as fairs go. We are sure that the great State of Michigan can use any profit they can dig up. Some people recently stated that fairs had outlived their usefulness and that the State Fair Grounds should be subdivided. From the hand-outs that we have received from the Michigan State Fair it would seem that they have been doing alright the last five years.

Our local fair is easy for people to get to on the North side. We hope that you have gone to the fair. If you like fairs then tell the people who are responsible for the operation. We are sure that they would like to have your opinions.

God's Love for His Children
Hosea 11:1-9
By C. P. Dame

No Old Testament writer says so much about the love of God as Hosea. In the eleventh chapter of Hosea the love of God is portrayed in a vivid manner, in touching language. Only a man like the brokenhearted Hosea was able to tell about God's marvelous love.

1. There is much that is mysterious about God's love. Why did God love Israel in a special manner? A casual reading of the Bible is enough to make a person conclude that there was nothing especially attractive about the Old Testament Jews. They were often disobedient, forgetful of what God had done for them, and wayward times without number. God delivered the nation from the bondage of Egypt. God called the nation His son. The deliverance from Egypt was an act of love. Israel was a called nation just as Christians are a called people. The nation ought to have shown gratitude to God for delivering them from slavery.

Instead of worshipping their Deliverer, they "sacrificed unto Baalim, and burned incense to graven images." "Why did they do that? Israel's God is holy and called His nation to holiness, the idols were not holy and made no high demands upon worshippers and so the nation yielded to the lowest rather than the highest. It was much easier.

The prophet portrays God as a Parent. Note the words, "I taught Ephraim (Israel) to walk," and "I took them on My arms" and "I healed them" things which parents do for their children. God was also a Husband to the nation as the words, "I drew them with cords of a man, and bands of love" indicate. Besides all of this, God was a Herdman to Israel—this is taught by the words, "I was to them as they that take off the yoke on their jaws, and I laid meat unto them." These relationships express love but the nation did not respond.

II. We all need discipline. We ought to use that word more today. Hosea said Assyria would rule Israel, which happened, because of Israel's sinfulness. Since God's kindness wrought no results and the nation was getting worse, it was necessary to purify the nation by punishment. God loved the nation too much to let it go to ruins without doing anything about it. The people were bent upon backsliding, in other words, they were so determined to do evil that it became second nature to them. Some people when tempted put up a fight but others tumble head over heels into sin.

III. God was broken hearted about a sinful nation. The words, "How shall I give thee up, Ephraim?" reveal God's anguish. It hurt God to even think of yielding the nation to destruction. Admah and Zeboim, two smaller cities that were destroyed with Sodom and Gomorrah are mentioned—but God felt much disinclined to punish Israel like those two cities although the nation deserved it. God decided not to destroy the nation but to discipline it with restraint. God's patience far exceeds that of man—the words, "for I am God, and not man" consider.

We who have the New Testament and know about Jesus and His cross know more about the love of God than Hosea. We ought to be glad that there are other books in the Bible besides that of Hosea which tell us that God "can be just and the Justifier of the sinning soul." God revealed His great love in the crucifixion of Jesus Christ for our sins.

Grysen, Van Til Renominated

Two Republican incumbents were renominated for State Representative and Ottawa County sheriff in Tuesday's primary election in a fairly good turnout of voters.

Sheriff Bernard Grysen easily won renomination over Leonard Ver Schure by 8,984 to 2,243 votes. Rep. Riemer Van Til rolled up a nearly 2 to 1 margin over Avery Baker with 7,097 votes to Baker's 3,800.

In a three-way race for the Re-

Riemer Van Til publican nomination for Drain Commissioner Roscoe DeVries defeated his two opponents, Albert Hilbrand and Julian Aukeman. DeVries polled more votes than the combined total of his opposition. There was no opposition among the Democrats on any of the county races.

As usual the county voted heavily Republican. U. S. Rep. Gerald Ford again led the candidates with 10,513 votes followed closely by Paul Bagwell with 10,298 votes who was unopposed in his bid for the Republican nomination for governor.

While Ottawa County Republicans favored Edward Hutchinson for Lt. Governor his opponent Clarence Reid won the nomination in the state.

The county Democrats preferred James Hare for governor and Richard Vander Veen for Lt. Governor. Both lost in the state-wide race. A complete tabulation of the unofficial returns can be found on page 8.

Ottawa County 4-H News

By Willis S. Ross
County Extension Agent, 4-H

The Holland Fair is being held this week at the North Shore Community fairgrounds where several 4-H clubs are exhibiting winter projects and some of the summer clubs are exhibiting dairy and livestock cattle, and home economics.

We were pleased with the number of exhibits, but we felt that more winter clubs could have exhibited. Judging was on Tuesday, final results will be published later.

Ten members are representing Ottawa County in the dairy, livestock, and swine judging contests held at Michigan State University today and Tuesday. They judge in competition with 50 other counties in the state. The best members from this contest will be asked to come back to take part in the contest at State House.

The district elimination talent contest will be held at Fremont on Aug. 9. Carol Lanning and Carole Blink will be performing in this contest.

A county contest in public speaking will be held at the Hudsonville fairgrounds the week of Aug. 22. Members will be selected for the state contest at this time.

A poultry judging school will be held in August, previous to the Hudsonville fair, at which time, outstanding contestants will be selected for the state contest the week of Aug. 29.

In consultation with the vegetable leaders and because of limited number of enrolled members this year, there will be no vegetable judging contest. There will, however, be educational demonstration showing how to fill vegetable baskets and arrange flowers for the fairs.

Dairy members had the opportunity during this past week to find out how to fit and show their animals at the fairs. If any clubs were not represented, we request that they get in touch with us so that we may give them direction.

Hudsonville Fair will be held on Aug. 23-26, with entries brought in between 1 and 8 p.m. on Aug. 23; judging on Aug. 24; beef and horse judging on Aug. 25; fat stock sale on Aug. 26.

The Marne fair will be held on Aug. 29-Sept. 3, with exhibits brought in on Aug. 29 between 1 and 8 p.m.; judging on Aug. 30; release of exhibits on Saturday, Sept. 3.

We received club news from Sarah Mulder, reporter for the Wrightway 4-H club and Dale Van Kampen, reporter for the West Ottawa 4-H horse club. We compliment them for their fine work and urge the other clubs to send in their club news also.

Miss Beukema Becomes Bride of Warren Fought

Mr. and Mrs. Warren L. Fought

The marriage of Miss Patricia Beukema, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Beukema, 140 Walnut, and Warren L. Fought, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Fought, 654 East Lakewood Blvd., was solemnized Friday evening in Sixth Reformed Church.

At 8 p.m. the wedding party gathered before an altar decorated with two bouquets of gladioli and white pompons with touches of blue, palms and candelabra for the double ring ceremony read by the Rev. Henry A. Mouw. The pews were marked with white bows and greens.

Preceding the ceremony Gary Beukema, brother of the bride, lit the candles and Robert Van Voorst sang "O Promise Me" accompanied by Mrs. Henry Slager who also played appropriate wedding music. While the couple knelt, Mr. Van Voorst sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. Her floor length gown was made of candlelight satin with overskirt of net and lace trimmed with lace medallions and tiers of ruffles ending in a chapel train. The lace bodice featured a sweetheart neckline, trimmed with sequins, and long lace sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a lace crown trimmed with pearls and she carried an orchid and carnations on a white Bible.

Miss Margaret Fought, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, wore a ballerina length gown of blue chiffon over taffeta, featuring a boat neckline coming to a V in the back with blue bow and long streamers, and a bouffant skirt with cummerbund.

In identical attire was the junior bridesmaid, Miss Mary Ann Beukema, sister of the bride. Both wore veils attached to net half-hats and carried net fans with pink carnations.

Kenneth Fought attended his brother as best man and Roger Beukema, brother of the bride, assisted as groomsmen. Donald Bronkema and Norman Overway seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding Miss Beukema selected a gown of figured nylon and the mother of the groom wore a pink brocade dress with matching jacket. Both had white accessories and wore white carnation corsages.

About 100 guests at the reception held in the Fellowship Hall were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Donald Essenburg who served as master and mistress of ceremonies.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest De Jonge presided at the punch bowl and Miss Shirley Van Noorden and Ralph Brookhouse arranged the gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Robert De Jonge were in charge of the guest book. Waitresses included the Misses Joyce Smith, Norma Korterling, Gladys Piers, Gloria Drost and Gloria Raterink.

A brief program included a solo "Bless This House" by Mr. Van Voorst accompanied by his wife, a Yankee-Dutch reading by Mr. Essenburg and remarks by Rev. Mouw.

For a wedding trip to Niagara Falls the bride changed to a blue ball dress with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will make their home at 591 Midway.

The groom's parents entertained at a rehearsal luncheon in the Fellowship hall.

July Unemployed Hit Mark Reached in June

A total of 997 unemployed persons have registered for employment for the second consecutive month at the Holland office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Students accounted for 175 of the applications. The duplication of the unemployment figure is probably accounted for by recent hiring and recalls by local employers being offset by temporary seasonal layoffs and vacation shutdowns, head of the local office G. N. Vins said.

New and additional claims totaling 482 were filed from June 26 through July 25. The local office paid out $62,345 in unemployment compensation benefits during the month of July.

Faces Two Charges

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Donald Glover, 37, of Ferrysburg, who was picked up by the Grand Rapids Police Department there last Friday on two warrants, charging him with abandonment, and desertion of his wife and four children, as of June 10, 1960, waived examination on both counts when arraigned in the Grand Haven Municipal Court Monday and was bound over to appear in Circuit Court Aug. 16. Bond of $250 on each charge was not furnished and he was committed to the county jail to await arraignment in the higher court.

Plans are complete for the annual State Farm Management Tour in Jackson County on Aug. 3. The morning stop is at the Lyle Cunningham farm where 350 steers and 300 hogs are being fed at the throw of a switch. Cunningham started in the cattle business in 1930 with 30 head, and with the intensive livestock program his farm income is 90 per cent above average farm account keepers in his area. Labor income, income per man, crop values per acre, crop yields and labor efficiency are also well above average.

Following a chicken barbecue, and an address by Herchel D. Newsom, master of the National Grange, the tour will move to the Carlton Prime and Sons farm. The Prime's 90 cow dairy herd is the center of a 500 acre farm business.

With the weather conditions we have had this season there may be damage from black rot on grapes. Symptoms have been found on the foliage this past week. It is recommended that ferbam be used at the rate of 1½ tablespoons on one gallon of water. We will be happy to send you extension folder F-256, "How to Recognize and Control Black Rot of Grapes" — if you are interested.

Dr. George Whitehead of the Michigan Department of Agriculture reports that dairymen who follow the basic principles of sanitation and good herd management and practice calfood vaccination on all heifer calves, can expect to have at least 90 per cent protection if the herd should come in contact with the Brucella germ. If the herd is not vaccinated and it should contact the germ, losses may exceed 60 per cent.

The calfood vaccination program against brucellosis in Michigan is not a do-it-yourself project. It is unlawful for any licensed veterinarian to sell the Strain 19 vaccine to anyone except a licensed veterinarian. Further, the Michigan law clearly states that the official vaccination must be done by a licensed veterinarian. Improper handling of the vaccine, use of outdated and poor vaccination technique could lead to loss of faith in the calfood vaccination program.

With grain harvest on the way, farmers can take a few precautions to insure good storage for the new wheat crop. Some tips are offered here for getting ready for the combining season and avoiding trouble from pesky insects. It is suggested that grain should be stored in insect-free granaries, and have less than 14 per cent moisture.

Mixing a "wheat protectant" with the wheat as it is stored and fumigating the bins six weeks after harvest can also stop insect contamination. Clean the granary now and use methoxychlor or a pyrethrum-piperonyl butoxide mixture to spray the floor, walls and ceiling. This should be done at least two weeks ahead of harvest. After treatment the granary should be left undisturbed, then thoroughly swept out to remove all traces of the insecticides and the dead "bugs."

A "wheat protectant" of malathion or the pyrethrum-piperonyl butoxide dusted or sprayed into the new crop can also prevent insect damage. The use of this method can protect wheat, but it will not control insects once they become established in the grain. Fumigating six weeks after harvest is a good way to keep the wheat in good shape for market and kill any insects that may infest the crop. The material to use is an ethylene dichloride-carbon tetrachloride mixture.

Fumigation can also be used on other crops such as corn, oats and rye to control storage insects. Keeping the moisture content at 14 per cent or below helps in controlling the grain insects. Good ventilation two weeks after harvest will help dry the wheat and keep the grain temperature down. A fan may be needed where moisture is above the safe storage point. Extension folder 134 "Prevent Damage to Stored Wheat" is available in our offices and gives full directions on getting ready for storing the new wheat crop.

Netherlands Visitor Is Guest in City

Mrs. D. Dedel of Bussum, the Netherlands, a former resident of Holland, who has been spending the past six weeks visiting friends here, plans to leave Wednesday on her return trip to the Netherlands.

She is a sister of C. C. Zwaan of Detroit who painted the portrait of Queen Juliana for the local Netherlands Museum. Mrs. Dedel and Mr. Zwaan were present at the unveiling ceremonies of the portrait held some seven or eight years ago in Durfee Hall.

Mrs. Dedel was honored last Thursday at a luncheon given by Mrs. Gerrit Van Zyl of 824 Central Ave. and later at a tea also at the Van Zyl home.

Seventeen years ago the Dedels moved to the Netherlands. Her husband, Direk, who died seven years ago, was the carpenter who carved the cradle in which Queen Juliana as well as the queen's four daughters slept.

Mrs. Dedel will visit her brother in Detroit before leaving for The Netherlands.

Academy of Friendship Group Begins Season

A trio of hostesses, Mrs. Nett Ver Hoef, Mrs. Blanche Oonk and Mrs. Sena Lanning, arranged for a picnic held Wednesday for the 13 members of the Academy of Friendship committee of the Women of the Moose.

The group met at the home of Mrs. Ver Hoef on South Shore Dr. for the first meeting of their new season. The next meeting will be held Sept. 28 at the home of Mrs. Tony Hellenhal.

Mrs. Florine Berker, chairman of the committee, conducted the business session during which a scholarship fund for nurses was discussed. Hostesses for the monthly meeting were also picked.

Others attending were the Messdames Peter Botsis, Ruth Smith, Tony Hellenhal, John Essebagger, Catherine Miller, Len Rummier, George Den Uyl, Jeanette Dwyer and David Gordon.

Mad Hatters Win Prizes At Second Annual Ball

Hats of all sizes, shapes and descriptions made by their appearance at the Mad Hatter's Ball, No. 2 at the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club Saturday night. About 150 members and guests attended the affair. Dinner was served at 8:30 p.m.

Judging of the hats was a difficult task with so many to choose. The judges were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pickel, David Swank of Chicago, Mrs. Chester Van Tongeren and Mrs. L. W. Schoon. Mrs. Van Tongeren and Mrs. Schoon were co-chairmen.

Decorations were cleverly interpreted by Mrs. Jay H. Petter, who used driftwood with a boat and tiny hats suspended from the driftwood in one arrangement; a commodore's hat with an anchor and a flower arrangement and a large straw hat with flowers for another.

Table decorations were the ceramic heads made by Mrs. Schoon and decorated with hats and flowers by Mrs. Pickel. These were given as table prizes. Even the dessert followed the theme with tiny colored hats topping the dessert.

Frank Kleinheksel served as master of ceremonies for the event and lost his topper in the excitement of the judging.

Success of the second Mad Hatter's Ball was attributed to the committee with Mrs. Van Tongeren and Mrs. Schoon, Mrs. Pickel, Mrs. Petter, Mrs. H. E. Morse, Mrs. R. A. De Witt, Mrs. Ward Hansen, Mrs. Leonard Zick and Mrs. Howard Hamm and Mrs. Kenneth Peirce.

Mrs. Phillips Brooks won the grand prize for her hat showing the birds and bees with flowers, the winner in the women's hobby category. Arthur Harrison took the grand prize for the most original in the men's division with a large fish. Mrs. Harrison was the most original in the women's section with a chimney and the legend "smoke too much." Mrs. Donna Gier was second with a hat showing every category represented by many tiny hats. Jay Petter took second in the men's division.

Mrs. Carl Andreasen won the current events category for the women and Paul C. Meyer of Sikeston, Mo. for the men. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dazy were hobby winners with their bird watcher hats. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Thomas took second with "the south will rise again." Mrs. Frank Kleinheksel took second in the hobby group for women and Chester Van Tongeren, first in men's hobby class with John Kleinheksel, second.

Two couples portrayed the nursery rhyme "Cat and the Fiddle." They were Mr. and Mrs. William Veazey of Oklahoma City and Mr. and Mrs. Huger Burnham of Holland. They won prizes, also.

Many members of the club entertained at parties for the dinner.

Mystery Play At Red Barn Well Received

"Ten Little Indians" and then there were almost none at the Red Barn Theatre Monday night provided a suspenseful opening performance of Agatha Christie's thriller that kept the audience on the edge of their seats.

Played low key throughout, the cast skillfully managed to keep the outcome a secret until the last few minutes of the play. For all the amateur detectives in the audience, it was a toss-up as to who was the murderer.

An unusual situation was created in the beginning—an absent host and hostess on isolated Indian Island off the coast of Devon, England, and the guilty consciences of all the 10 people involved playing tricks on each other.

James Dyas, the director and producer, chose his cast wisely for the best effect. Major parts were taken by Majel Swishelme as Vera Claythorne, attractive secretary to the "hosts"; Bruce Hall as Philip Lombard, adventurous ex-captain; Robert Minford as Sir Lawrence Wargrave, the judge; and William Cain as William Blore, blustering ex-Scotland Yard man.

Also playing important roles well were Robert Schauweker as Dr. Armstrong; Dorothy Lee Tompkins as Emily Brent, do-gooding spinster; and John Le Grand as General McKenzie. Minor roles, as important as the leads, were played by Don Bonnevich; Lee Speich; Barry Manheimer and Ross Easty.

Al Hayes created an appropriately spooky set and lighting and the sound effects were not overdone. Guns that don't fire are always a hazard in the theater, but added to the fun Monday night.

Each of the characters in Agatha Christie's play has a past to live down in one way or another and the solution to the mystery is anybody's guess. Keep the end a secret for the audiences that will see the play during the week.

Hamilton Children Hurt In Car, Tractor Mishap

Two Hamilton children were slightly injured Monday night when the car they were riding in, driven by their father, struck the rear of two trailers being pulled by a farm tractor on M-40, one-half mile south of the Holland city limits.

Patricia Rigerink, 8, and her brother, Rodney, 11, children of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Rigerink of route 1, Hamilton, were released from Holland Hospital after treatment of lacerations suffered in the crash.

Allagan County deputies said trigger apparently did not see the tractor and trailers in time to avoid the crash. Deputies said both trailers were loaded with wheat and that they had reflectors but no tail lights. The trailers were demolished, deputies said.
