Dial-A-Ride Millage Set In November

City Council at a meeting which lasted over three hours Wednesday night agreed to present to the voters at the general election in November a half-mill proposal to continue Dial-A-Ride service in Holland next year. The millage would run three years.

Holland's Dial-A-Ride demonstration project terminates Dec. 31, 1974 and City Manager William L. Bopf estimates the program would need a $73,000 subsidy in order to operate next year. Fares would provide about $21,900 and state operating assistance is estimated at $24,300 for a total revenue of $19,200.

Bopf submitted a one-year budget of $119,200 listing drivers at $51,600, dispatchers at $16,100, administration at $4,400, direct management at $6,600, vehicle maintenance at $7,200, insurance at $1,300 and service improvement fund at $15,000.

The one-half mill amounts to about $2.80 per resident on a per capita basis. Bopf said Ann Arbor has passed at 2 1/2 mill levy and Ludington is requesting 1 1/2 mills.

The Dial-A-Ride proposal was one of about 20 reports presented by the city manager at the regular meeting after a lapse of three weeks.

Another report advised that on July 26 Dial-A-Ride ran a free day in conjunction with the Downtown Sidewalk Sale, and that the sidewalk sale itself was unusually successful. Slides were shown on how the sale fitted into Downtown Beautification program, a program Bopf said is progressing nicely and is gaining recognition. He said the merchants did an excellent job of planning and coordination, and Peoples State Bank financed free parking at meters.

Another report dealt with estimated overtime needs for the remainder of the year, in keeping with the new federal law, and by a 5-3 vote council approved transfer of $11,700 to cover overtime needs. This includes engineering department, $2,200; Environmental Health, $4,000; city clerk, $700; computer services, $2,000; Civic Center and recreation department, $1,800. Bopf said he was forwarding a copy of the report to Congressmen to demonstrate how expensive the new wage-hour provision is.

Another city manager report informed Council that the Planning Commission had held a public hearing on the request of Peoples State Bank for an extension of time in temporary use of its branch at 16th and Waverly Rd. and recommended an additional two years under provisions of the ordinance. The report was accepted as information.

The city manager recommended removal of three parking meters on the north side of Eighth St. east of College Ave. to provide for better traffic movement, and the report was tabled for two weeks. John K. Vander Broek of T. Keppel's Sons Hardware protested removal of the meters.

A gift of $75 for the Windmill Island benevolent fund from Fashion Wagon, a division of the Minnesota Woolen Co., was accepted with thanks. Fashion Wagon had used the Windmill Island setting in a color illustration.

Contract for reconstruction of greenhouses on Windmill Island went to low bidder, John Mulder, for $10,008.70. The works includes an addition to the present storage shed and a boiler room to serve the new greenhouse as well as foundation walls, floor and walkways for the greenhouse.

Hospital Associate Leaving for Miami

Announcement of the resignation of Donald E. Strange, associate director of Holland City Hospital, was announced today by Frederick S. Burd, hospital director.

Strange left Wednesday to join the Hospital Corporation of America and will become executive director of the University of Miami's Bascom Palmer Institute and the University's newest and largest hospital, the new Ophthalmology Hospital in Miami.

This institute has a long established international reputation in ophthalmology and attracts patients from all over the United States, Europe and Latin America.

Donald E. Strange

As chief executive officer of the hospital, Strange, at 29, will be one of the youngest heads of a university hospital in the United States.

The University of Miami is world renowned as the center of vitreo-retinal surgery. Patients suffering from a variety of such diseases have been referred to the institute for surgical treatment utilizing the VISC (vitro-infusion suction cutter) instrument developed by Robert Machamer, M.D., of the Bascom Palmer staff.

The technique has converted previously inoperable problems into operable ones with resultant restoration of vision. The institute's research faculty has directed its principal energies toward an understanding of a wide variety of diseases that affect vision at the retina, optic nerve or its higher connection within the brain.

Burd said Strange has received a number of job opportunities the last two years from hospitals, consulting organizations and private corporations. Strange's contributions are many. He came to Holland Hospital in 1968 as assistant director for administration, fiscal and general services. In 1972 he was promoted to assistant director for professional, administrative and general services and from there to associate director in the same year.

"He currently is chairman of the board of the West Michigan Shred Hospital Laundry in Grand Rapids and chairman of the West Michigan Comprehensive Health Planning Unit's task force on emergency medical facilities which is responsible for reviewing medical facilities and planning a regional system of emergency care in a 12-county area.

In addition to the shared laundry corporation, Strange has been instrumental in shared services with nearby hospitals for pharmacy, therapeutic nutrition, purchasing and housekeeping to contain rising costs of health care via greater economies of scale. In 1968 he participated in organizing a shared data processing center for the city of Holland, Holland Hospital, the Board of Public Works and Herrick Public Library. For two years he served as the original chairman of the Computer Services Center of Holland.

Locally, he is a member of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club and has served as a member of the Grace Episcopal Church vestry. In both 1972 and 1974 he was designated as one of the Outstanding Young Men in America.

Swimming Pool Uses Reviewed

A total of 3,168 persons used the new Bouws Recreational pool at Smalburg park during its first month of operation, City Council was informed Wednesday night.

Average daily use of the pool, City Manager William L. Bopf reported, was 130 children and 17 adults. The city swim team of some 50 members has been having daily workouts in the pool.

Receipts for the period including advance sales total $1,884.20. Appreciation was again expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bouws for their gift of $100,000 toward the outdoor swimming pool. The report covered the period ending July 11.

Council approved an agreement with the Ottawa County Road Commission to construct a sanitary sewer service to serve property along M-21 and Waverly Rd. It was indicated this project will be handled in concert with a similar petition from Holland township. The service district is included. A cost not to exceed $19,000 as the city's share of the design effort in the event the project fails to mature was included in the agreement. The vote was 6-2, with Councilman John Bloemendaal and Mayor Hall dissenting.

A city manager report on proposed sidewalks on the west side of Fairbanks Ave. from 11th to 16th Sts. was accepted as information. The report pointed out that if Council wishes to proceed it will be necessary to notify all property owners of the proposed public improvement, conduct a hearing of necessity and subsequently confirm a special assessment roll.

A recommendation to change yield signs currently posted at 24th St. and Maple Ave. to stop signs was tabled two weeks, and consideration was urged for similar action on the 28th St. intersection. The recommendation calls for traffic on 24th St. to stop for Maple.

Another recommendation to replace sidewalk on 10th St. adjacent to Centennial Park between River and Central Aves. was tabled for two weeks. The cost including concrete fill between curb and walk would be $5,000. Cost of identical fill between curb and walk on Central Ave. would cost an additional $5,000. Meanwhile further study will be given to a different kind of fill, possibly sodding.

Council approved retaining two engineering firms for capital improvements approved by citizens in the May 7 bond election. Moore and Bruggink will draft plans for the Central Ave. sewer and HEDCOR lift station and Prein and Newhof will design the 40th St. sanitary and storm sewers.

Approval was given a maintenance agreement for IBM equipment used in the computer center.

First reading was given a new amendment to the electrical ordinance.

No action was taken on a request for vacating Pioneer subdivision. It was requested that the owner consult an attorney for legal requirements and assume expenses of such a study which would have to be reviewed by the city attorney.

Approval was given a recommendation to remove some parking signs on 24th St. between Van Raalte and Ottawa Aves.

In other business, Council approved a recommendation of the Hospital Board and its long range planning committee that the architectural firm of Caudill, Rowlett Scott of Houston, Tex., be retained as the hospital's architect on its building project. This firm currently is working on building projects for Bloedgett Hospital in Grand Rapids and Hackley Hospital in Muskegon.

The action keeping with a 10-year plan for Holland Hospital, listing two proposed stages of construction of some $6.7 million in five years and another $4.5 million in 10 years. However, expenditures will be limited to amounts determined in a feasibility study. The architectural issue passed 7-1, with John Bloemendaal dissenting.

One Injured In Zeeland Disturbance

ZEELAND — One person was injured and 29 others were ticketed Sunday night when an estimated 300 to 400 persons milled along Main St. as bumper to bumper traffic clogged the road in what police said was a planned gathering.

Police chief Lawrence Veldheer said many young people from the Holland, Hudsonville and West Ottawa areas were given traffic citations during the four hour period which began at 7:30 p.m.

"We had solid cars along Main St. for two blocks in both directions," said Veldheer. "Some persons walked on the canopies downtown and some tossed firecrackers."

Injured was Peter Vander Jagt, 12, of 9724 Perry St., who was struck by a car while standing in a crosswalk tying a shoe. He was treated in Community Hospital and released.

Veldheer said some of the motorists told him Zeeland was the gathering place this week because the Holland beautification project blocked off traffic along Eighth St. in Holland.

Sunday was the second weekend in a row that traffic was heavy in downtown Zeeland, Veldheer said. Sunday's event had been promoted in the area, the police chief added.

Ottawa County deputies sent two cruisers to assist Zeeland police who called out all available officers and reserves. Veldheer said the downtown area was quiet by 11:30 p.m.

Two Sewer Proposals Approved

City Council devoted 40 minutes of its three-hour session Wednesday night to public hearings on sewer installations in Heather Dr. (also Old Orchard Rd.) and Hope Ave. in Holland Heights. Both projects were approved.

The Heather Dr. hearing brought communications from four residents supporting the move and from four residents in person, also supporting the installation. Councilman Hazen Van Kampen introduced a substitute motion to direct the sewer over Black Bass Ave. instead of Old Orchard Rd. but withdrew his motion after City Manager William L. Bopf said such an arrangement would be poor engineering requiring a 25-foot cut and would cost an additional $37,000.

The Old Orchard Rd. route was in question since it is a boundary street and the township would not be required to pay half the cost. Bopf said route for the best normal flow and said township participation could be negotiated at a later time. The issue passed 7-1, Van Kampen dissenting.

The Hope Ave. project had been in question because of Holland Heights Elementary School which has a large site on the street. Installation on a front foot basis would cost the school system an estimated $17,000. School officials indicated consideration would be given in next year's budget. It passed unanimously.

In other business, Council scheduled a hearing Sept. 18 on a petition from Holland Hitch Co. requesting vacating 19th St. from a point starting 315 feet west of Ottawa Ave. west to Homestead Ave.

An application for a permit to remodel a service station at 755 East Eighth St. was referred to the city manager for report.

Transfer of classification of a tavern license at 234 River Ave. was approved 7-1. Councilman Al Kleis Jr. dissenting.

Oaths of office for Burton Borr to the Tulip Time board and Harold Langejans to the Human Relations Commission were filed.

Councilman John Bloemendall was named delegate to the annual meeting of the Michigan Municipal League with the city manager as alternate.

Following a committee-of-the-whole session, Council passed a new sign ordinance amendment allowing one display sign for the promotion of special events or activities by churches or non-profit educational institutions, provided the sign be displayed no more than two weeks prior to the event or activity and be removed within 48 hours of the conclusion of the event. No sign shall be within 25 feet of the right of way unless it is flat against the building. Action was unanimous.

A petition from Alpha Group and Kammeraad and Strop that their property in Holland township be annexed to the city of Holland was okayed by Council. Similar action is pending in Holland township. If the township does not approve, the petition is expected to be forwarded to the State Boundary Commission.

Disabled American Veterans were granted permission to solicit funds for forget-me-nots. Aug. 23 and 24.

A card of thanks from the Chester Wissink family thanked Council for its thoughtfulness in the death of Chester Wissink, a brother of Councilman Elmer Wissink.

Council unanimously approved a Board of Public Works interconnect agreement with Consumers Power Co.

Council approved the following bids: spreader for street department, Miller Equipment Co., $3,116.59; front-end loader for street department, Miller Equipment Co., $31,000; Washington School play area, Lake-wood Construction Co., $21,439 (two bids submitted after 39 contacts); new car for city manager's office, R.E. Barber Ford, $2,800 (only bid submitted); relocation of air conditioning unit now located in Council chambers, Peerbolt's Inc., $5,238. The relocated equipment will serve other areas of City Hall when Council room is not in use.

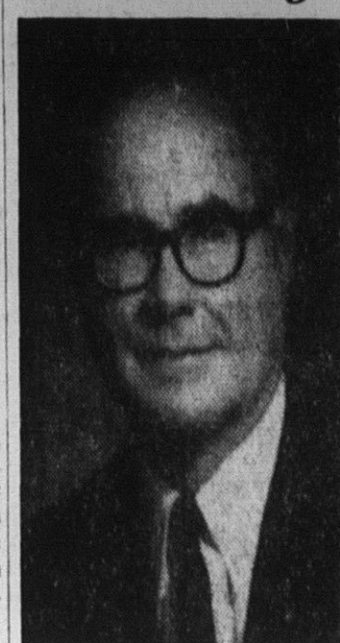

Mayor Lou Hallacy welcomed two Japanese students currently at Hope College to the meeting. Councilman James Vande Poel was absent. Invocation was given by the Rev. Ronald Noorman of Niekirk Christian Reformed Church.

Neighbors Fill Sky With Welcome Home Greeting

The strange lights overhead along Ottawa Beach Rd. Friday around 11 p.m. were a novel welcome home surprise for Mrs. Ralph (Mary Ann) Hensley, 998 Ottawa Beach Rd., who returned home Friday after being in the hospital since May 12, following a car train accident on Ottawa Beach Rd.

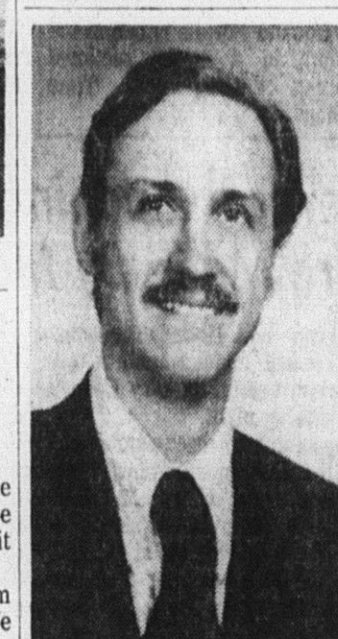

Three neighborhood families, friends of the Hensleys arranged for the flyover in Mary Ann's honor. The lighted sign on the low-flying aircraft said, "Welcome home, Mary Ann, you fracture us." The latter is in reference to the fact that Mrs. Hensley is still wearing a cast from the accident.

Water Plant Sets Monthly Record

Holland's water treatment plant set two pumping records in July, one for the month and one for a 24-hour period.

During the month, 314,596,000 gallons were pumped, the most in the 17-year history of the water plant, according to F. J. Palecek, plant superintendent. The previous high was set in Aug., 1969 when 305,750,000 gallons were pumped.

The peak for a 24-hour period was July 16 when 16,507,000 gallons were delivered to customers. The rated capacity of the plant is 14,000,000 gallons a day.

BPW officials attributed the record water pumpage to a continued dry spell during the month.

Fifth Annual 'March to Hope' Slated

The out of doors will become the classroom for 50 college age students and a like number of Holland area elementary age youngsters later this month as the Hope College education department sponsors its 5th annual wilderness learning project.

"The March to Hope" is a weeklong trek around Beaver Island in northern Michigan and is designed to assist youngsters, ages 11-13, in adjusting physically and emotionally while providing college students an opportunity to gain field experience in human relations.

"We think learning can be fun and that a college education should be a balance between theory and practice," notes March to Hope coordinator Dr. Carl Schackow of the Hope education faculty.

This year's March to Hope will be divided into two separate one week hikes. The first, from Aug. 10-16, will include 20 students from Thornorton Community College in South Holland, Ill. while the second, from Aug. 18-24, will be comprised of all Hope students.

Each March to Hope group will travel to Charlevoix by bus where they will board the ferry to Beaver Island. For the next five days the students will around the island's perimeter, live fully out of doors and in general "rough it."

The cost of the first hike has been assumed by the students from Thornorton Community College while the second has been supported through contributions from Holland area businesses.

Participating in the hikes will be Dr. Schackow; Dr. Lamont Dirks, chairman of the Hope education department; Michael Vanderploeg of the Hope education faculty; Kenneth Burns, special education teacher for the West Ottawa public schools system; and Bailey Magruder, professor of sociology at Thornorton Community College.

BE MY VALENTINE — It's a blow to the morale when your dog, Snoopy gets more Valentines than you do, if your name is Charlie Brown. Here, Gayland Spaulding as Charlie Brown tells Patty, played by Julie Bellisle that one Valentine is for him. The delightful Peanuts characters from the Schultz comic strip opened a two-week run of the musical Tuesday night at the Red Barn Theatre. The audience loved every minute of the musical.

'Happiness' Prevails In Red Barn Musical

By Lorraine Hohl

"Happiness" is going to the Red Barn Theatre on opening night Tuesday and thoroughly enjoying one of the funniest and best musicals of the season, "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown."

It is easy to see why the hardened New York critics raved about the play and said it was almost embarrassing because they couldn't find any faults. The fact that it ran on Broadway for four years is ample evidence that it is a MUST this season for Red Barn fans.

Add to the excellent cast, the director and the singable tunes the affection that almost everybody has for the Peanuts characters the fact that it is also a great show for the children. The rounds of applause, the delighted laughter throughout the show from those small voices as well as those of their elders predicts capacity audiences for the two weeks the musical will appear.

The six-member cast has such a wonderful time going through the antics of the Peanuts characters. Each one in his own role does an outstanding job.

Charlie Brown, played by Gayland Spaulding, actually has the most difficult role of all because he is the serious one. He is so pathetic at times it almost breaks your heart.

But you don't stay unhappy for long, with Snoopy, delightfully portrayed by David C. King, providing some of the most laughable segments of the musical. In "Supper Time," Snoopy's solo brings down the house.

Paula Dewey is almost too good to be true as Lucy, who heckles Charlie Brown and dotes on Schroeder, the Beethoven-loving little character who is played by Tim Davidson with marvelous manipulations on the piano to the music of Martha Dewey, accompanist and musical director.

Linus and his blanket provide

Kirk Swenk with a fun role as the worldly little moppet and brother of the hard-as-nails Lucy.

Julie Bellisle is the uncomplicated little Patty who is happy about everything and just loves to jump rope.

All the songs can be hummed and the diction of each member of the cast can be understood way back in the theatre. The book, music and lyrics by Clark Gesner make "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" a real hit.

It's a real treat to hear songs like the title song, "The Book Reports," "The Red Baron," "Glee Club Rehearsal," "Supper Time" and "Happiness."

Take the children, take Grandma and Grandpa, uncles and aunts and go to see the Red Barn show this week or next week. It is not a long show, only an hour and a half, with curtain time at 8:30 p.m. and two matinees on Saturdays. Make those reservations early, because this can be a sellout.

West Ottawa Millage Needs Unchanged

After thorough re-evaluation of needs for the coming school year, the West Ottawa Board of Education has concluded that an additional 3.1 mills are needed to meet increased costs, and the special election on Aug. 26 will list a total of 22 mills for one year, 3.1 mills more than the 1973 levy of 18.9 which expired this year.

Absentee ballots for the Aug. 26 election will be available beginning Monday, Aug. 5, at the superintendent's office at 294 West Lakewood Blvd. The election will be held in West Ottawa High School.

The 22-mill levy was defeated in the June 10 election.

Supt. Lloyd Van Raalte said evaluation revealed the additional millage is needed to meet increased costs. Among the increases, he said the district will pay $21,000 more in gasoline next year, based on the old gas price of 13.9 cents a gallon increased to 31.5 cents. Paper for classroom use has increased from 60 cents to $1.15 a ream. Heating and lighting will cost $14,000 more.

Miss Barbara Dekker, Miss Maria Ribbens and Miss Sharon Ribbens bridesmaids were attired similarly to the honor attendant.

Michael Rhoda was best man with Charles Ribbens, Daniel Dekker and Andrew Ribbens as groomsmen.

MUSICAL FAMILY — Members of the Gerrit Van Ravenswaay family of Holland meet in the shade of a tree at Interlochen's National Music Camp for an informal rehearsal. The family is attending the eight-week session where Van Ravenswaay, Music Department Chairman at Holland High School, is spending his sixth year on the Music Camp teaching staff. The Van Ravenswaay children are attending the camp and are (left to right) Tim, 11, string bass; Gary, 14, cello; Tom, 10, violin; Stephen, 15, cello, and Julie, 13, viola. Standing behind the children are mother Judith, who plays piano and organ, and Van Ravenswaay, conductor of the Intermediate Cadet Orchestra and beginning strings teacher.

Monopoly in Strings at Camp Belongs to Van Ravenswaays

(Editor's Note: This article on Interlochen and the National Music Camp is one of several written by Paul Van Kolken of The Sentinel staff with photographs by Craig Wennersten, who were there on assignment.)

By Paul Van Kolken
INTERLOCHEN — Five of the 12 string players from Holland attending the eight-week session at the National Music Camp this summer are from the same family whose father is the music department chairman of Holland High School.

Mild-speaking Gerrit Van Ravenswaay is spending his sixth summer on the faculty of the National Music Camp and appears not to have lost his love for the program.

He is conductor of the Intermediate Cadet Orchestra and teaches beginning strings at Interlochen. His five children, all string players, are at Interlochen including the two youngest who received their first lessons on the string bass and violin from their father while at Interlochen.

Sitting on a bench beneath a tree outside one of the many rehearsal buildings on the 1,400-acre campus taking time out from his busy schedule, Van Ravenswaay said Tim, 11, took his first string bass lessons at the camp when he was 9 while Tom, 10, took his first lessons on the violin when he was 8.

The Holland public school system does not start instrumental lessons until students are ten-years-old, Van Ravenswaay explained.

"We've always had instruments around the house and it was natural they would play," said Van Ravenswaay referring to the younger sons. "They decided to try the strings at Interlochen."

Brothers Stephen, 15, and Gary, 14, play the cello while sister Julie, 13, plays the viola. Mother Judith plays piano and organ and often accompanies the family in concerts at home and in churches.

Stephen, who has played cello since the fourth grade, is a member of the high school concert orchestra at Interlochen where he is 13th of 29. Gary and Julie are second chairs in the intermediate cadet orchestra while Tim and Tom are members of the junior orchestra.

Lessons at home from father are not readily available, Van Ravenswaay conceded.

"It's like the old saw of the carpenter's house falling down. After all day teaching music to other children I have little time left to teach my own at home," Van Ravenswaay said. "They study under other teachers."

He does, however, have his own children in his classes in school and admits his children have pressure to excel in music.

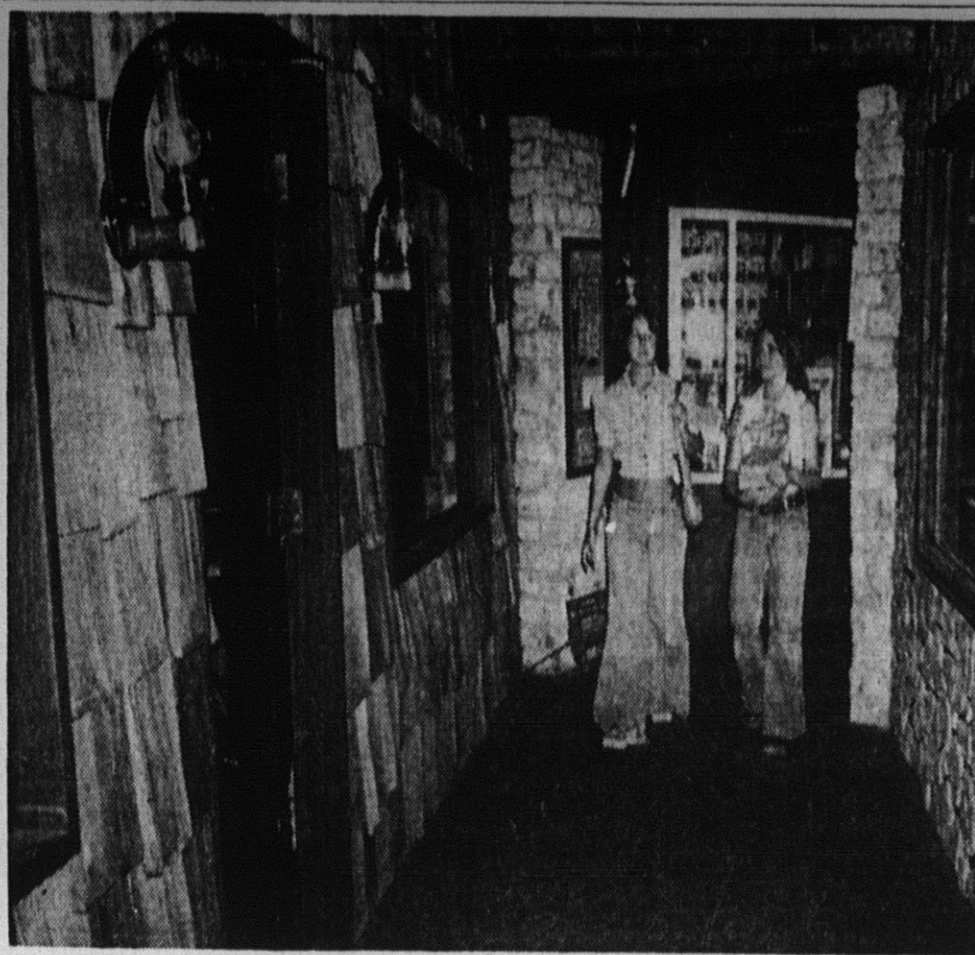

Teaching at Interlochen is much more concentrated than high school music programs and Van Ravenswaay said it makes the Interlochen experience more meaningful for him.

"The musicians are interested in music only and you work with them daily," he explained. "There are few events to compete for their interest in music at Interlochen."

Generally those in high school tend to consider music as a hobby, he added.

"There are a lot of talented musicians in Holland and I have never been disappointed in Holland," Van Ravenswaay said.

When asked about the musical ability of the individuals he teaches at Interlochen today compared to west of the Holland Theatre, she returned the next day with her cousin, Jennifer Lewis, 12, of Holland, to do a little more shopping. The stores are open Monday and Friday nights to 9 and 5:30 p.m. the other days.

Brownstone: An Alley With Distinctive Shops

By Ann Hungerford

The industry and determination of two local young men has succeeded in converting a deteriorating section of town into an attractive mall with diversified, well-stocked shops. But the work on Brownstone

Alley, located west of the Holland Theatre, continues.

Originally Don Lubben and Doug Van Oss had projected that the remodeling would take two months. It took a year, they admit.

But for the ever-increasing number of shoppers, their hard work has paid off in a beautiful collection of stores which can take several hours for the serious shopper to scout.

While the alley has been redecorated with junk, as Doug calls it, the total effect is one of quality workmanship and appealing atmosphere.

The two young men credit Doug's father-in-law, Earl Vander Kolk, a carpenter, with saving them more money in more ways and concede the project couldn't have been done without his assistance.

Most of the shop owners are first time retailers who are eager to get and keep new customers with quality merchandise, guarantees and service.

Following their theory of utilizing everything in the building, old boiler bricks from the basement of the Cobblestone

Craft shop were used in decorating the shop, one of three that Van Oss and Lubben own jointly.

The Craft shop is one of the most complete in the area with an unusual and wide selection of African beads available. Cobblestone Hobbies is the only hobby shop in the area and the Paintin' Place handles a large selection of art supplies.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Smith, owners of the Staircase, decided Holland needed a contemporary clothes shop dealing exclusively in junior sizes.

Despite the size range (juniors) the styles are geared to all ages with fashions for older women (whose figures are still contoured to junior measurements).

A family held corporation, the Staircase sells clothes of over 70 fashion companies with only two labels duplicated elsewhere in the area. The two-level store has everything from sportswear and accessories to coats and jackets and evening wear.

The Highwheeler, featuring bicycles by Fuji and Batavus, has been in operation for one and a half years, according to owner Paul Van Drunen, a bicycle enthusiast himself.

Van Drunen boasts that his shop is the only place in midwest Michigan to purchase a highwheeler. The shop offers expert service, a complete selection of accessories and touring equipment for the enthusiast.

Bursting with unique gift items almost all products of local artists is Jean Stiver's shop, Expression. Focal point of the new shop is a wide variety of house plants amidst walls hung with water colors, lithographs, photos, etchings and displays of macrame, pottery, hand blown glassware, sculpture and leaded glass.

Holland is geared more to crafts than arts Mrs. Stiver believes, and her shop includes leather items, candles, decoupage, handmade dolls, jewelry and numerous other items.

Rusty Wood, owner of the Woodmark Shop, promises good service on special record orders, and plans to move more into vintage records and country records, a large selection of which he already carries. Wood also markets a good selection of cut out merchandise.

Quality stereo components are sold by Charles Sligh IV, owner of Stereo Sounds, who also allows trade-ins and will purchase used stereo systems. His versatile service includes custom installations, wiring systems, taping and servicing all merchandise sold.

The Clothes Closet, owned by Don Ter Horst, will open soon and will market traditional men's clothes.

The Party Palace, with cake decorating supplies of all descriptions, is owned by Grace Novak.

Many of the present shops have already asked for additional space and Lubben reports that everything possible will be done to accommodate their tenants and utilize every possible inch of space.

Already plans are being made to add five or six shops in the basement with work beginning in the fall. The owners hope to further the diversification of the mall by adding a cheese and cracker shop, book stores and others.

SUSPICION PROVES TRUE

In the first six months of 1974, inflation romped along at an annual rate of 12 per cent. The dollar that was worth 100 cents in 1969 is now worth 75 cents and headed down fast. The American people are apparently worried and want something done.

That "something" quite plainly is going to have to be a cut in the rate of federal spending. It took 185 years for the federal budget to reach $100 billion, nine years later it hit $200 billion and four years after that topped $300 billion — its present level. The federal debt, which has grown by nearly $90 billion in just the past five years, has been the chief inflation booster.

Stopping the number one killer of the American people's personal financial security will mean chopping back on the goodies from government, painful as that may be. It turns out these favors weren't free after all — something a lot of people suspected all along.

James Boutwells In Glen Dale Hts. After May Rites

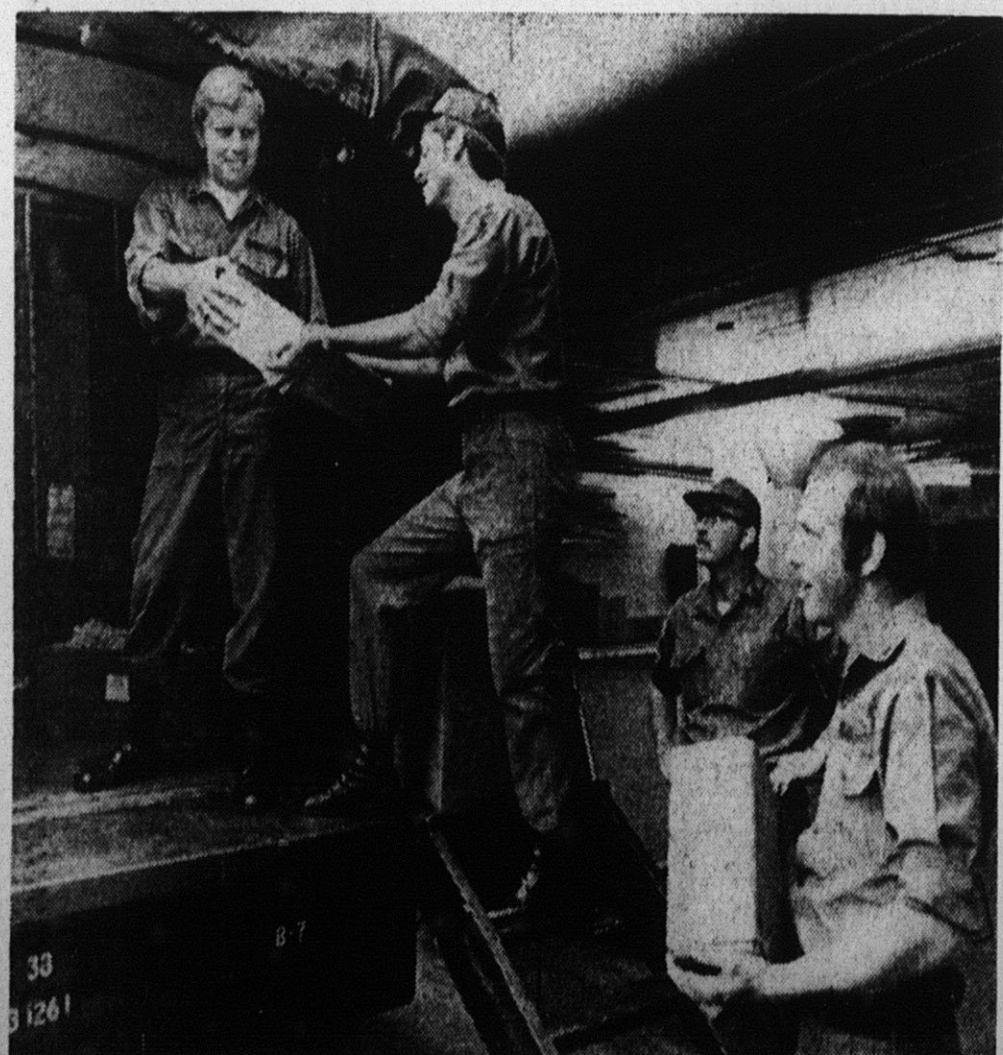

Mr. and Mrs. James Carl Boutwell have returned from their wedding trip and are now at home in their newly purchased home in Glen Dale Heights, Ill.

The bride is the former Susan Elizabeth Shepard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Shepard of Wheaton, Ill., and the groom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. William S. Boutwell, 967 South Shore Dr. The candlelight ceremony was held in the Church by the Side of the Road in Wheaton on May 28.

Attendees included Mrs. Jon Paist, sister of the bride, as matron of honor, Linda Boutwell, Linda Waters and Deborah Wolgemuth. Stephen Boutwell was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were college friends, Daniel Anderson, Jon Lederhouse, Curt Almqvist, David Speck and Robert Shepard.

Several couples from Holland were among the 325 guests at the reception in the church hall.

Mr. Boutwell will be teaching and coaching at Wooddale Junior High School. The new Mrs. Boutwell will be working at United Airlines at O'Hare.

PACK FOR CAMP — Holland's Company B of the Michigan National Guard left for two weeks at Camp Grayling early Saturday in a 12-vehicle convoy. The 125 men and five officers will be staying in tents this year and the first week will be devoted to general tactical training. The second week

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, Aug. 11
Christ Above All
Colossians 1:15-27
By C. P. Dame

No one thinks enough of Christ. This lesson magnifies Him, tells us that He is able to meet every person's deepest need. The church can present Him everywhere.

I. Christ is supreme. Three passages specially teach the deity of Christ, John's gospel 1:1, 18; Hebrews 1:3-8 and Colossians 1:15-20, our lesson text. This lesson portrays the greatness of Christ, the changed church members at Colossae and Paul's call and ministry. It is worth noting Christ's relationships to God, nature and the church.

Christ is the image of the invisible God, He reveals God, is God and represents Him. Only through Christ do we fully know God. Christ is related to nature, is God's agent in creation and is the goal of it. By Him all things are held together in their place. As man is trying to master nature he is learning that there is originally a symmetry and balance in nature. The word "firstborn" means not that He was first created but that He is before and above creation and sustains all.

Christ is also the head of the church which is His body — God's new creation. All members are related to Him. Headship means direction and guidance. Christ is active both in creation and in the church which is composed of new people, the redeemed of the Lord.

II. Christ is the Reconciler. The Colossian churches had once been hostile but they had become holy, that is set apart by the Lord. Although once estranged they had become reconciled through the death of Christ on the cross. If they would continue in the faith then they would one day be presented holy, blameless and irreproachable before the Lord.

III. Christ commissions. He set Paul apart to preach which involved suffering. Christ's suffering was substitutional; Paul's suffering contributed to the p-biding of the church. He looked upon this suffering as a privilege because of his devotion to Christ, the head of the church.

A messenger needs a message. Paul had a divine call to preach — his theme was a person, Christ, his method was warning and teaching and his scope was both personal and universal. The words, "every man" refer on the one hand to personal work, presenting the gospel to individuals, and it also suggests reaching people everywhere, all kinds and in all parts of the world. Paul's aim was to "present every man mature in Christ" and to do this he used all his powers. Phillips' translation note: "This is what I am working at all the time, with all the strength that God gives me."

A total of 91 merit badges were presented to 25 scouts.

STUDIES CONTROLS — Sen. Gary Byker (R-Hudsonville) at right visits the waste treatment plant in Holland Thursday as part of a tour of the utilities operated by the Board of Public Works. Byker has been active in pollution control legislation and aided smaller utilities in expansion plans by spearheading legislation allowing power plants to sell more power to areas outside their municipal limits. Holland's waste treatment plant, one of the few in the nation meeting phosphorus removal standards, is providing the only cost data available to the federal government on this type of operation. Shown left to right are Mrs. Ronald L. Rains, wife of the general manager of the BPW; Mrs. Byker, Rains and the Senator. (Sentinel photo)

A collection of items related to snakes is located in the 13th Street display case. Included in the display are skins shed by a gopher snake, a Burmese python and the Brazilian Red-tailed Boa Constrictor. The display was arranged by William Ferry and Joe Kamphuis.

Summer Reading Program Completes Ninth Year

By Margaret Van Wyke

The Summer Reading Program of the Holland Public Schools completed its ninth year, Friday. This program has been financed under Title I provision of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Six elementary sections were held beginning June 24 at Federal, Lincoln, Longfellow, Montello Park, Van Raalte, and Washington schools. One section was also held at E. E. Fell for junior high students and those entering junior high.

Two teachers held classes at each school, each teacher meeting two separate groups. Almost 300 children were enrolled in the program under the guidance of 13 teachers.

The summer program uses an individualized approach so that each child is taught at his level. Varied materials and books are used, including audio-visual materials and teaching machines. Field trips, used as a basis for writing experience stories, are also taken. This year the classes visited "Where Art Begins" in Douglas, and Teusink's Farm.

On Friday the students and staff gathered at Lincoln School gym where Don Hillebrands, local junior high student, entertained with a magic show. Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Hillebrands.

Demonstrations of work done in the summer program were given by students. Kim Holmes read a favorite poem; Richard Cates read his original book and Tom Anderson read the book he had written. Students from Dennis Van Haitsma's enrichment class gave an adaptation of "Three Billy Goats Gruff" as a puppet show. A STRIKE! — Bowling is one of the nation's favorite sports and it makes no difference if you're in a wheelchair, as Bonnie Bazan (left) and Gary Voss show here Tuesday that no matter what the handicap, bowling is a sport for all. Both keggers would like to see a wheelchair handicap bowling league formed and if you out there would like to participate, contact Northland Lanes. By the way, Miss Bazan rolled a strike on this shot.

Seek Wheelchair League

Every sport has its thrills but for Bonnie Bazan and Gary Voss both of Holland, their top sport skill is bowling a strike.

A strike means something special to both Bonnie and Gary, who just recently started bowling from their wheelchairs and would like to get other handicap wheelchair people interested in forming a league.

We watched both keggers do their thing, Tuesday rolling off a ramp at Northland Lanes and every time they picked up a spare, got a strike or even "were robbed" for the 10 count, you could just see the excitement accelerating in their faces.

Both bowlers insisted they love bowling and wanted very badly to see a league of wheelchair handicap bowlers started and so would we.

In bowling only in his eight game, Voss rolled a blistering 168 Tuesday. Not to be outdone, Miss Bazan came up with her highest score of 180 in also her eighth contest.

The wheelchair bowlers use balls without any holes and the way they control the ball is with their finger.

It's really something watching both line up their first shot (how involved they get), and how happy they are when they get a strike and how downhearted they look when maybe they don't do as well as they had hoped on that particular frame.

League handicap wheelchair bowling consists of rolling two frames at a time and bowling two games instead of the traditional three.

Bonnie's mother explained, "the reason they bowl two frames in a row is because it takes too much time to remove the ramp and bowling two games like this compares to bowling three as far as time goes."

Voss has been dead in picking up some tough splits, as he has already knocked down the 4-7-10 and 6-7-10 in his brief bowling career.

Miss Bazan, 24, has Muscular Dystrophy while Voss, 17, who attends West Ottawa High School, has Cerebral Palsy. Both were born with this handicap but one wouldn't even have known they had a handicap by the performance they put on Tuesday at Northland Lanes.

Interested participants who would like to join the wheelchair league should contact Northland Lanes immediately.

Bonnie Bazan and Gary Voss are having a lot of fun since they took up the fine sport of wheelchair bowling and we're sure all of you out there would too, if you gave it a try.

$22,491.82 Collected At Square

Grey skies certainly didn't dampen the spirits of the thousands of visitors to the 18th annual Hope College Village Square Friday.

Mrs. George Steining, Village Square treasurer, reported a gross income of $22,491.82 which will be used to furnish Hope College dormitories.

Chaplain William Hillegonds spent the day at the microphone informing persons of the change of booth locations and also conducted tours of Dimnent Memorial Chapel.

The famous bratwurst sandwiches were served in the Pine Grove and could be seen cooking most of the morning.

The auction was held in the De Witt Cultural Center lobby with many Holland merchants donating new items for sale.

Members of the Holland Chapter of the American Society of Women Accountants worked on cash verification along with the Village Square treasurer. Donating their time were Miss Cecelia Ver Hage, Miss Ann Brower, Mrs. Gertrude Van Spyker, Miss Jean Volkers, Miss Estella Karsten, Miss Lois Kaasboek, Miss Bonnie Stoltz, Miss Erma Walker, Miss Ruth Kronmeyer, Miss Shirley Baas, Miss Mabel Boss, Miss Gert Vander Vliet, Miss Esther Bareman and Miss Geneva Janssen.

Mrs. J. Norman Timmer, 1974 general chairman, felt the Square was "very successful with a great spirit of co-operation prevailing amongst everyone."

Traffic, Parking Back on Eighth St.

Traffic along the second block of Holland's Eighth St. beautification project was restored Friday afternoon along with angle parking at the curbs.

One-way traffic eastbound now extends the length of the two-block beautification project from River Ave. to College Ave. Work on the River to Central block was completed earlier.

During the next few weeks sprinkler systems will be installed in the Central-College section and Park Department personnel will begin sodding and planting the green areas.

Remaining items such as street furniture and bicycle racks will be installed later.

Construction work remaining includes brick planting areas and minor sidewalk repairs.
