CITY AND VICINITY.

It is said that the big marsh near Robinson is alive with huckleberries.

City Surveyor Sipp was busy this week in re-setting the iron stakes at street intersections.

Barnum exhibited in Grand Rapids Tuesday, and Holland was fairly well represented on the occasion.

P. Koning has nearly completed his contract of laying the sewer pipe from the City Hotel and First State bank to the marsh.

A flock of 38 sheep was killed by a single bolt of lightning at Three Rivers. The customary ball looked like a spray from a sprinkling can.

We have been requested to give notice that the regular weekly meetings of the Young Woman's Christian Association of this city have been discontinued until the second Monday in September.

The common council has taken notice of the infringements made upon the streets by the depositing of building material and ordered builders and contractors to remove the same within certain reasonable limits.

It has been stipulated between counsel in the electric light injunction suit, with the consent of Judge Hart, that the case will be heard in this city some day next week, in chambers. The official records and the evidence being all here, it will greatly facilitate matters and lessen the expense for both parties.

Waverly is being supplied with a complete system of sewerage and water supply, and a considerable length of pipe for both purposes is being laid down. The new depot also is nearing its completion. It is not built of Waverly sandstone, as contemplated, but nevertheless it promises to be a very slightly structure.

The attention of the public is called to the Farmers Mutual Insurance Company of Ottawa and Allegan Counties is again directed to the call for a special meeting of the society, to be held at Zeeland, on Wednesday next, for the purpose of a liberal revision and amending of the constitution and by-laws. A general attendance is urgently requested.

Tuesday morning, as David Osborn, one of the workmen on the new bank block, was about to commence his day's work he lost his balance and fell from the scaffold. Although the fall was not high he landed with his head on a stone, cutting a gash in his head, and was carried in an unconscious condition to Dr. Van Putten's drug store, where the wounded man received prompt attention.

Coopersville lost one of its prominent citizens, Michael R. Griffin, by drowning, Sunday. In company with a brother-in-law he was bathing in Crocker lake, Chester, when in some way Mr. Griffin got tangled in the weeds. His brother-in-law went to his assistance and done all in his power to save him, but could not, and it was a miracle that he himself escaped from death. Mr. Griffin was 55 years of age and leaves a son and daughter. During the war he served as a lieutenant in one of the Michigan regiments.

Fruitport was visited by a cyclone Monday. Says the G. H. Tribune: Its path was not over 40 feet wide. A low black cloud was first seen coming from the west, tearing off limbs of trees and even the trees themselves. A boat house which was unroofed stood at the base of a large hill, and one would suppose would be protected from any storm, but the wind swept down and tore off the roof, carrying it many feet away into the lake. Some fifteen years ago a similar kind of a wind tore through Fruitport almost on the same path as Monday's.

Messrs. J. & A. Van Putten of the Holland tub factory will shut down their plant to-day and lay still for about two weeks. They have long been contemplating, in connection with their present establishment, to also manufacture staves and headings, and have finally decided to do so. Their present engine will be taken out and replaced by one of double the capacity, not less than one hundred horse power. Steam boxes are also being fitted up and sheds constructed to carry on the additional business. The firm has the advantage of owning and controlling a large amount of timber along the Kalamazoo river, which will be cut into bolts and shipped by rail to their mill in this city. They have also contracted with parties at Milwaukee for all the stuff they can manufacture. When once started this additional industry will give steady employment to about 25 more hands.

Plenty of rain and crops booming.

The steam barge H. A. Root was in port Sunday.

Lansing's water works are out of order. And that too, while the Legislature is in session.

James Barden, of near South Haven, had a flock of six Jerseys instantly killed by lightning. His loss is $4,800.

Capt. Wm. A. Gavett, the irrepressible Gavett, is talked of as a Republican candidate for Congress from Detroit.

The number of passengers on the stmr. McVea, Sunday evening, exceeded the ordinary cabin accommodations.

Sunday morning Rev. W. D. Westervelt of Chicago will preach in Hope church. Sabbath school as usual. No evening service.

Says an exchange: God speed the day when we shall have that good old Southern barbaric institution, known as the whipping post, restored for the punishment of men guilty of acts of cruelty to a faithful horse, during these days of excessive heat.

Orcutt Post, G. A. R., of Kalamazoo, has arranged for a grand excursion over the Lake Shore and C. & W. M. railways to Ottawa Beach and Macatawa Park for Wednesday, Aug. 25th, at a very low rate for the round trip, starting from White Pigeon.

The building boom has struck the First ward and Dr. F. J. Schouten will be the first to break the monotony in those quarters. He contemplates at an early date to move the building at present occupied by him as a drug store to some vacant lot, and replace it with a two-story brick building.

CHURCH ITEMS.—The H. C. R. church of Overisel has extended a call to Rev. H. Douwstra of Chicago, Ill. — Rev. H. Boer of Coopersville has accepted the call from the Ninth Ref. church at Grand Rapids. — Rev. W. H. Frieling of Spring Lake has declined the call from the H. C. R. church at Vriesland.

Circuit court opened Monday, Judge Hart presiding. Several minor cases, civil and criminal, were disposed of. James Maxwell, the Coopersville pickpocket, arrested July 4, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to Jackson for six months. The greater part of the calendar has gone over to the October term.

The papers reported the steamer Pilgrim in another collision last week. At the port of Buffalo she collided with and sunk the passenger steamer Gypsy which was attempting to cross her bow. The Gypsy carried twenty passengers, which together with her crew were rescued by a tug. The Pilgrim seems to be on the warpath this year. —Commercial.

Until Saugatuck harbor is sufficiently dredged out to admit of her entrance, the stmr. Saugatuck is running regularly between this place and Chicago, thus forming a daily line with the stmr. McVea. The passenger traffic between Holland and Chicago is unusually good this season, rendered so especially by the increased patronage of our resorts by Chicago people.

Tuesday evening, Aug. 9th, the Apollo Quartette of Greencastle, Ind., will give a concert at the Hotel Ottawa. The stmr. Macatawa will remain at Ottawa Beach until after the close of the concert. This promises to be the best concert of the season. Admission 25 cents, reserved seats 50 cents. This Quartette halls from the School of Music, De Pauw University.

We have received a copy of the premium list of the Thirteenth Annual West Michigan Fair, to be held at Grand Rapids, Sept. 19-23. A special feature this year will be the Bench Show, held under the rules of the American Kennel Club. It has been arranged with all the railroads leading to Grand Rapids, that the transportation of dogs to and from the show will be practically free. The premiums offered in all departments, and particularly for speeding, are very liberal. For a copy of the premium list address C. L. Withey, secretary, Grand Rapids.

The veterans from here that attended the re-union of the 25th Mich. Inf. at Three Rivers last week, report a very enjoyable time and cordial reception by the citizens of that place. The register showed an attendance of 100 members. It was the unanimous desire of the "boys" that the re-union next year be held at Holland, and with that in view the following were elected as the officers of the regimental organization for the ensuing year: President, Benjamin Van Raalte; vice-president, J. Grootenboer; secretary, G. Van Schelven; treasurer, John Kramer. The date to be fixed later.

Wheat 74 cents, old and new.

The recent rains will put corn on 1 a ear and make the potatoes open their eyes.

The remnant of the democratic pole in Zealand village was struck by lightning, Monday morning.

A lot of Muskegon carpenters have gone on a strike because their boys bought Carnegie nalls.

Mrs. B. H. Scholten of Graafschap died Thursday morning, aged 59 years, leaving a husband and nine children.

The stmr. Lorain, of the Glenn-Chicago line, came down with a large number of excursionists to the resorts, Sunday.

Julius F. Weckler, of the Holland Life Savings crew, has resigned, and Austin I. Fairbanks been appointed in his stead.

Hotel accommodations are not over-abundant in Holland, this summer. But just wait until the new City Hotel is completed.

Secretary C. Verschure of the Board of Education has designated C. Steffens to take the annual school census in this city.

Auctioneer G. D. Schilleman will conduct a public sale at the residence of S. G. Potgieter, sec. 25, Allendale, on Wednesday, Aug. 17.

The twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Birkhoff, Jr., is in a fair way of recovery from an attack of typhoid fever. The family is spending the summer in this city, occupying the residence of Mrs. S. G. Alcott, on Ninth street.

While threshing at Manus Nierhuis place, Overisel, Thursday, the straw stack caught fire from a spark. Fortunately the flames were extinguished before much damage was done. The loss was only about 10 bushels of grain.

Democratic city caucus on next Tuesday evening, at Fairbanks' office. The same kind of a caucus in Holland Town on Saturday afternoon, the 6th inst., at 2.30 o'clock, at the Townhouse, to elect delegates to the Democratic County Convention.

The examination of Bram Van Vuren, on the charge of rape, has been continued until after the adjournment of the special session of the Legislature, which his counsel G. J. Diekema is forced to attend. In the mean time "Bram" is out on bail.

We have received a copy of Mail Notes, a semi-weekly commercial bulletin, published at the Island of St. Thomas, West Indies, and among its local items we noticed the following: "Col. S. B. Horne, U. S. Consul, tendered an elegant dinner, on American Independence day at the Hotel du Commerce. The Consul extended a hearty welcome to his friends and spoke to the toast: "The day we celebrate." Mrs. Dr. Ayres, of Cincinnati, on her way to join her husband, the American Consul at Para, spoke to the toast: "The Republic of Brazil," while the toast: "The president of the United States," was responded to by the Rev. Dr. Oggel. The occasion was a most delightful one to all present."

Saturday evening Marshal Keppel met with a cowardly and brutal assault at the hands of a trio of roughs, employed at the Waverly yards. He had previously warned them not to obstruct the sidewalk, when at an unexpected moment, later on, one of them dealt him from behind a terrible blow in the neck which came very near knocking him out. He rallied however and succeeded in knocking his man down. The other friends of the assailant came to his assistance and M. Astra, nightwatch, pitched in in behalf of the marshal. After a serious skirmish two of the roughs were landed in jail and will have to answer to the criminal charge of assaulting an officer, before Justice Post, Saturday morning.

Defeated Presidential Aspirants.

No man ever took his defeat so philosophically as John C. Fremont. His impulsive and sanguine temperament enabled him to forget the past and to look into the future with enthusiasm and hope. He spent some time after his defeat in 1856 in New York city, and he seems to have had the ambition to develop great plans and to secure an enormous fortune, not because he was particularly fond of money, but because he delighted in the excitement of projecting and executing great enterprises.

When the war broke out he was early in the field, and his appointment as Major-General gave great joy to the stronger anti-slavery element in the Republican party and something of offense to that old Whig element which hoped to see the Union preserved without interference with slavery. Fremont attracted attention and caused great excitement by his proclamation of emancipation of the slaves in the military department which he commanded. It preceded Lincoln's proclamation by a little over a year. Lincoln himself believed Fremont was right, but too soon, and it was the President's idea that emancipation, if it were proclaimed at all, should be so proclaimed as to include the entire territory then in control of the Confederate government.

Fremont took Lincoln's annulment of his proclamation far more seriously to heart than he did the loss of the Presidency, and his resentment was so great that he accepted a nomination for President in 1864, tendered by a convention of radicals which met in Cleveland. However, Fremont's good sense was sufficient to teach him that his candidacy could only imperil the Union cause, and soon thereafter he withdrew in favor of Lincoln.

After the war Fremont plunged impetuously into business enterprises. He had vast schemes for development of the Western country. He revealed in gigantic ideas. There were times when his enthusiasm seemed almost of that kind which in fiction is typified by the character of Mulberry Sellers. He was not an astute business man, not even a good financier, and his rashness and impetuosity brought him to the verge of a scandal in connection with some Western mining property. It was shown afterward that Fremont was guilty of no moral offense, but was himself a victim, while he made others a victim of his own misplaced confidence.

He lived in New York city and on Staten Island for a number of years, and even when he became an old man his business enthusiasm was conspicuous, and he delighted to tell men with whom he came in contact of his great schemes. While his name was not forgotten his face was known to but few. It did seem like the irony of fate that this man, who was the idol of the young Republicans in 1856 and made a splendid canvass for the Presidency, should be trotting about, his head filled with visionary schemes, jostling elbows with men who thirty years before had shouted his name, and that of Jessie, too, till hoarseness overcame them. Fremont died in poverty in New York city four years ago.

Both John C. Breckinridge and Stephen A. Douglas, who were added to the list of the great defeated in 1860, revealed after defeat something of the strength of character which enabled them to obtain conspicuous political honor. Breckinridge went over to the Confederacy, commanded an army in the field and served for a time in Jeff. Davis' cabinet.

Breckinridge grieved bitterly over the secession movement, and when that was ended he felt that his career was ended. He returned to Kentucky, expecting to take up the practice of law, but did not live long after he retired to private life.

Mr. Seward once told some of his New York friends that Mr. Lincoln grieved deeply over the death of Stephen A. Douglas. As soon as the Confederate States arrayed themselves in arms against the federal government Mr. Douglas ceased to be a partisan and became conspicuous in his devotion to the Union. He consulted much with his successful opponent for the Presidency, and Lincoln, who had always respected him, became touched by Douglas' manifestations of friendship and his capacity to rise above partisanship. It was in Lincoln's mind to avail himself in some official way of Douglas' aid, believing that his great popularity with the masses of the Northern Democrats would powerfully strengthen the Union cause in the North. But the opportunity did not come. Douglas had been ailing for more than a year, and the mighty strain of the Presidential canvass of 1860, coupled, perhaps, with his disappointment, not so much at the loss of the Presidency as at the rupture of his party, undermined his constitution. He sank rapidly, and died in June, 1861, in the Tremont House, Chicago.

After Douglas died, the manifestations of respect revealed the mighty hold which he had upon his party, and the admiration which his great opponents had come to feel for him because of his splendid stand for the Union.

After his defeat for the Presidency General McClellan retired, as he supposed, permanently to private life. He spent some years in Europe and then took a country place in Orange, N. J., living in the winter months in this city. His life would have been a happy one had he not nursed the disappointment which the failure of his military career entailed. His defeat for the Presidency never gave him a moment's sorrow, for he had no expectation of being elected. He had determined to write a book of memoirs, in which he would be able to give his version of his campaigns and to indicate the causes of his failure, due, as he claimed, not to himself, but to political influences centering in Washington.

In 1877 the New Jersey Democrats met in State convention to nominate a candidate for Governor. The contest centered around three men, and the fight was a hot one. While the convention was in session somebody in the gallery called for three cheers for "Little Mac," and in an instant the convention was at the white heat of enthusiasm. It was a veritable stampede. There was no resisting this tremendous demonstration, and when a last it had quieted down it was found that McClellan had been unanimously nominated Governor of New Jersey. This was the only political office McClellan ever held, and when his term was over he returned to his summer place in Orange, completed his memoirs, led a delightful life of retirement, being greatly entertained and entertaining much, and died suddenly, without the warning of illness.

Some ten days after Mr. Greeley, in an announcement made on the morning after the election of 1872, had said that he had resumed the editorial control of the N. Y. Tribune, there appeared in the New York papers a report which startled the community. It stated that Horace Greeley had gone insane and was dying. The report was true, his mind had given way; there had been a sort of paralysis of the brain, and he expired in less than a month after his defeat.

His death was not due exactly to disappointment. He knew six weeks before the election that the tide had set strongly against him, and he looked forward with joy, which he could scarcely restrain from showing, to the day when he should again take up his pen as editor of the Tribune. Even before election he made arrangements to resume his post on the morning after election day, and did so, but it was made manifest speedily that his hand had lost its cunning and his intellect was not within control. Greeley's death was due to the exhaustion of the campaign, followed as it was by the tender nursing of his wife, who fell ill and died a few weeks before election day. Night after night Greeley sat by her bedside, getting no sleep, while he spent the day in vigorous campaign work. The strain was too great. Insomnia seized him with all its horrors, and it seemed to those who knew him as if he, realizing that he had dangerously strained his mental and physical powers, gave up at once without making a struggle for life.

AREN'T YOU GOING?

To the Great Grand Rapids Races,
August 9, 10, 11, 12, 13.

The programme for the races at Grand Rapids next week is the greatest ever presented in the history of the turf. The association has hung up $50,000 for stakes and purses and for grand special attraction. These liberal sums of from $1,000 to $10,000 each, together with the fame of the Grand Rapids track, have attracted there all the fastest living horses. There is no man with soul so dead that he does not love a splendid horse, and when he has such an opportunity to see the greatest horse races of a lifetime he is not going to miss them. Neither will you.

Among the special attractions are the great pacing champions, Direct, 2:06, and Hal Pointer, 2:09 1/4, in a match race for $5,000, and the Nonpareil 2-year-old stallion Arion, record 2:10 1/4, the first day. The second day Sunol, 2:05 1/4, the queen of the turf, and Nancy Hanks, 2:09, against time the third day.

Friday, August 12th, the fourth day of the meeting, is the great $10,000 stallion race, with the following horses entered: Allerton, 2:09 1/4; Pat Downin, 2:13; Bonnie Wilmore, 2:14 1/4; Alvin, 2:14 1/4; Harry Noble, 2:17 1/4; Sprague Goldust, 2:18 1/4; Roslyn, 2:20 1/4; Steve Whipple, 2:19 1/4; Charleston, 2:15; Labasco, 2:18 1/4; Fred S. Wilkes, 2:15; and Senator Conklin, 2:16 1/4.

Saturday, the last day, Bell Hamlin and Globe, the fastest team of horses in the world, go to beat their record of 2:13. Mr. Hamlin, their owner, writes he expects them to trot as fast as 2:10 that day.

The program calls also for three regular races each day. The first day is the three minute trot, the 2:40 pace and the 2:40 two-year-old trot. The 2:40 pace have among others Cleveland S., 2:19 1/4, Loafer, 2:19 1/4, Killarney Maid, Sam Pedro and Merry Chimes.

The second day is the 2:19 trot, 2:30 trotting, $5,000 stake and the free-for-all three-year-old stake. The 2:19 trot has ten fast horses entered, the slowest entered with a record of 2:30 1/4. There are eleven entries in the 2:30 stake, several of which have already beaten 2:30.

In the three-year-old stake are all the very fastest colts of that age: Monbars, 2:16 1/4; Cecilian, 2:22; Belleflower, 2:24 1/4; Dignar, 2:26; Goff O'Neer, 2:24 1/4; Quickstep, 2:27 1/4; Sabina, 2:27 1/4, and Beautiful Chimes.

The third day is the 2:27 trot, with seventeen entries. The 2:30 pacing $3,000 stake, with twelve entries; among them Robert J., 2:19 1/4; Flying Jib, 2:14; Atlantic King, 2:19 1/4; Cleveland S., 2:19 1/4; Sadie H., 2:23 1/4, and others. The great three-year-old 2:30 stake also comes off this day.

The fourth day, besides the $10,000 stallion race is the 2:23 trot, with fourteen entries, some of which have beaten 2:30 this season, and the free-for-all pace. This will be a great horse race, for among others entered are Roy Wilkes 2:08 1/4, Manager 2:11 1/4, Guy 2:11 1/4, Major Wonder 2:13 1/4 and Rupee 2:14 1/4.

The last day Saturday, the regular races are the 2:40 trot, 2:15 trot and 2:30 pace. In the 2:15 trot, among others entered: Martha Wilkes 2:15, Honest George 2:15 1/4, Hazel Wilkes 2:16 1/4, Charleston 2:15, Alma 2:17 1/4, and others. Among the 2:30 pacers are Expert Prince 2:13 1/4, Joe Jefferson 2:19 1/4, Killarney Maid, Merry Chimes, Billy the Kid and others.

Cheap excursion rates with admission coupons are to be sold on all railroads during the meeting. Arrange your business affairs so as to go and see all the great horses driven by famous drivers, whose names are household words in Grand Rapids, August 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13.

THE PLOT THICKENS.

STRIKERS WILL ARREST MANAGER FRICK.

Supreme Justice Somerby Says the Iron Hall is All Right—Oregon's Pride Gets a Bad Scolding—Arizona's Fight Like the Kilkenny Cats.

At Washington. The House committee on the 2d finished investigating Mr. Watson's charges of drunkenness and a not guilty majority report will be presented. Another deadlock day was passed in the House, but the friends of the Fair promise to take a more aggressive stand. In the Senate a select committee of seven was appointed to investigate and report the facts in relation to the employment of armed bodies for private purpose.

ORDER OF THE IRON HALL. Supreme Justice Somerby Declares That He Can Refute the Charges.

Indianapolis, special: Supreme Justice Freeman D. Somerby, of the Order of the Iron Hall, is in town. He is apparently as calm and pleasant as if he were not one of the most-talked-about and written-up men in the country. Mr. Somerby says he came here last evening and was met at the depot by his chief clerk, Rowland Evans, who took him to his home. They remained there a short time and then came downtown and until a late hour were consulting with their attorneys. This morning at 9 o'clock Mr. Somerby was in his office looking over papers and answering dispatches that were coming in by the score. "I have just got in," said he, "and have not had time to look matters over. As soon as I do I am willing to give to the public any information that will be of interest concerning the Order of the Iron Hall. I can say that the order is solid in every way and will be vindicated in the courts." The application for the appointment of a receiver for the Order of the Iron Hall has created great uneasiness among the members of the order throughout the country. Hundreds of dispatches are being received by the local officers asking for particulars and demanding to know the exact condition of the order. The gravest reports are current involving the funds which are or ought to be in the hands of the Supreme officers.

FRICK TO BE ARRESTED. The Amalgamated Files an Information Against Him.

Pittsburg special: About one hundred and fifty men are working in the upper union mills of Carnegie's and the eight, ten, and twelve inch mills and the plate mill are in operation. Superintendent Dillon says these second plate mill will soon be started. The best of order prevails in the vicinity of the works. The strikers are not interfering in any way with the workmen and no trouble is apprehended. A large force of police still guard the plant, however, as a precautionary measure. The anarchists, Bauer and Knoll, made application for release on bail and Judge Ewing fixed the bail at $5,000 each. Attorney Friedman expects to secure bondsmen and have the two men out. It is rumored that an information will be made against H. C. Frick on a charge of conspiracy and that he will be arrested. The information will be made by the Amalgamated Association.

THIRTY LIVES IN TWO YEARS. Cost of the Tondo Basin Feud in Arizona, Ended by Assassination.

The Tondo basin feud, which has endured near Tempe, Arizona, for two years and has cost thirty lives, is ended by the fatal injury of Tom Graham, the last of his family, shot from ambush Tuesday morning by Ed Tewksbury. The feud between the two families sprang from the Tewksburys bringing sheep into the Tondo basin, which was claimed as cattle-grazing ground by the Grahams. The latter shot the herders and stamped the sheep. Since then, every few months, fighting has occurred, in which the Grahams always were worsted. They lost twenty-seven men, and the Tewksburys twenty. Only six of the Tewksbury gang remain. Several times the sheriff has been unable to arrest the murderers.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $400,000. Two Large Wholesale Houses Burned Out at Portland, Oregon.

Fire originated in the third floor of Whittier, Fuller & Co.'s wholesale paint store, at Front and Pine streets, in Portland, Oregon. An explosion followed, breaking the fire wall between Whittier & Fuller's and Wadham & Co.'s wholesale grocery. Both places were completely gutted. The losses are: Dolph, Thompson & Dolph, on building, $35,000; fully insured; Whittier, Fuller & Co. (estimated), $200,000; fully insured; Wadham & Co. (estimated), $150,000; insured for $125,000.

James Goes to Law. Informations have been made in Pittsburg before Alderman Kelly by ex-Pittsburg Iams against Colonel Hawkins, Lieutenant Colonel Stretcher, and Assistant Surgeon Grim, of the Tenth Regiment, for aggravated assault and battery.

Warrants were issued. The charge of aggravated assault was for tying Iams up by the thumbs and the charge of assault and battery for shaving his head.

Ducked and Flogged an Old Man. At Dover, Ky., R. M. Owens, 60 years of age, was taken by White Caps and ducked in the river until he was nearly drowned, when he was taken out and given fifty blows on the bare back with a board.

He was released more dead than alive. Owens has always borne a good reputation, and the outrage is generally denounced. He says he knows the perpetrators, and will have them arrested.

Blaine to Take the Stamp. The campaign in Maine will be opened by the Republicans on the 17th inst., and Chirman-Manley is busy arranging for meetings to be held in every section and corner of the State. Ex-Secretary Blaine will take the stump and appear all along the line. Mr. Manley left Augusta for Bar Harbor Tuesday afternoon to arrange when he will speak.

CAL WOOD ELECTROCUTED. Death Was Apparently Painless and Instantaneous—His Crime.

At Dannemora, N. Y., Joseph, otherwise known as "Cal," Wood was executed by electricity at 11:52 o'clock Tuesday morning. Death was apparently painless and instantaneous. Wood was convicted of murdering his father-in-law, Leander Pasco, a farmer of Warren County, May 10, 1890. The defendant pleaded not guilty, alleging temporary insanity. The jury, after a trial of several days, found him guilty, and Gov. Flower refused to interfere.

INTERNAL REVENUE REPORT.

The Year Shows an Increase in Collections of $7,822,128.

John W. Mason, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, has made a preliminary report of the operations of that service for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1892. The more important features are as follows: The total collections from all sources of internal revenue for the fiscal year just ended were $153,857,543, an increase of $7,822,128 over last year. There was a decrease in the receipts from the tax on snuff, tobacco and the special taxes relating to tobacco of $1,795,777, occasioned by the repeal of the special taxes relating to tobacco under the provisions of the act of Oct. 1, 1890. The cost of collection for the fiscal year just ended will aggregate about $4,284,000, exclusive of the amount expended for printing internal revenue stamps, an increase of about $78,800 as compared with the previous year. The percentage of the cost of collection is about 2.78. The percentage of cost of collection for the previous fiscal year was 2.88.

MICHIGAN'S GERRYMANDER. The Legislative Apportionment Acts Declared Unconstitutional.

The Michigan Supreme Court has handed down opinions declaring unconstitutional the two legislative bills reapportioning the Representatives and the Senators in the State Legislature. The bill of the case involving the Senatorial gerrymander was "Giddings vs. The Secretary of State," and that involving the Representative redistribution "Supervisors of Houghton County vs. The Secretary of State." The mandamus asked for in each case, and the Secretary is ordered to issue notices of election in accordance with the acts of 1881, the acts of 1885 being held to be equally defective with that of 1881. The opinion follows the lines of the celebrated decision in the Wisconsin gerrymander. The court is unanimous in its opinion.

CHECKED FIRE WITH DYNAMITE. A Building Blown Up in a California Town Prevents the Spread of Flames.

For two hours Thursday afternoon fire raged in Slason, Cal., which lies at the foot of Mount Shasta. Slason is a lumbering town, with one main street lined by cheap wooden buildings, which melted under the flames like houses of cards. One building was blown up by dynamite and this checked the flames. Otherwise the town would have been destroyed. As it was, one-third of the village, including the principal business houses and a dozen or more dwellings, was burned, entailing a loss of $75,000. Slason is full of idle men in winter, for it is the headquarters of the laborers in three great sawmills, which employ 600 men. In summer it is a favorite tourist resort, as from it parties set out to climb Mount Shasta, fourteen miles away.

MET AN AWFUL FATE. Mrs. D. Pickett Crushed to a Shapeless Mass by a Train.

Through the culpable carelessness of a switchtender and the failure of a railroad company to provide sufficient force to handle its traffic Mrs. D. Pickett, of 742 51st street, Chicago, suffered a horrible death Thursday morning. She was caught between a derailed moving passenger car of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Road and a frame building contiguous to the tracks, and was crushed and killed. Her head was torn to pieces and only a small fragment of the skull remained attached to the almost headless trunk. The train to which the car was attached was thrown from the track by an open switch which was left entirely unattended.

Death of Three Children. At Medford, Mass., after the townsfolk had searched for three hours for four little children who had been missing since morning, they were found cooped up under a sink in a new house.

Three were dead and the other was barely alive. Their names were: Blanche Barrows, aged 4; Roland Cushing, aged 5; Edward Randall, aged 5; and Albert Lewis, aged 6. The boys were dead, but the girl was resuscitated after repeated efforts. She said they had crawled in there to hide and could not open the door. It had a spring lock on the outside and the little ones had locked themselves in.

The Swiss Legation Angry. The arrest of Dr. Albert Georg, an attaché of the Swiss legation at Baltimore, upon a groundless charge of larceny, and the subsequent ignominious search of his pockets, has caused great indignation at the Swiss embassy.

The minister, M. de Chaparode says he will exhaust all the privileges of his position to punish the persons who put such an indignity upon a member of his legation.

Hanged by Masked Men. At Oaks Crossing, a few miles below Dalton, Ga., Lee McDaniels, colored, while en route to jail was taken from his guards by a mob of thirty masked men and hanged in full view of passengers on a train and people on the highway.

His crime was an attempted assault on Clemmie Woods, a young white lady. McDaniels had just served a five-years' sentence in a convict camp for a like offense.

Chinese Tired of Extortion. The Canadian Pacific Company's steamship Empress of India brings news of a serious insurrection in Fatsien, China, caused by the extortions of the Chinese customs officers. It seems that customs officials have recently been imposing fresh exactions from time to time until the capacity of the people became exhausted and a general anti-customs war was declared.

Mangled by an Explosion. A fearful boiler explosion took place at a saw mill belonging to Short & Pickering, near Stanley, I. T., in which two men were killed outright and four others badly injured, three of whom are expected to die at any moment. The explosion was caused by low water.

Fend Results in a Tragedy. At Chatham, N. Y., James Reilly, about 60 years old, a Boston and Albany flagman, shot and stabbed Thomas Kildray, a neighbor, aged 70 years, and then went to his own house and committed suicide. An old family feud is the cause.

Brick Buildings Collapse. At Nevada, Mo., two brick buildings collapsed from weakened walls. Frank Meade, conductor on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Road, was carried down in the collapse and instantly killed. The buildings were valued at $15,000.

Tanner Will Not Serve. It is reported that Sub-Treasurer Tanner is to resign from the National Republican Executive Committee in order to escape criticism for holding a public office at the same time.

Four Lives Lost. The boiler in the shingle mill of Hartnell & Smith, on Otsego Lake, Mich., blew up, killing four men, fatally injuring one, and demolishing the mill.

HIS A FEARFUL TRADE.

TERRIBLE TALE OF A SCOTCH PRISONER.

Forced to Kill a Crazy Man—Bad Wreck on the Big Four—A Bull and Cow Each Score Victims—His Cranium Too Thin.

Came of a Paper-Skulled Family. George H. Maynard, a San Francisco saloon-keeper, was killed Sunday in a drunken brawl. What makes his death noteworthy is that nearly a year ago his brother was killed by a blow on the head. An examination showed that his skull was the thinnest that ever came into the hospital. The police then warned the victim of Sunday's fight to keep out of quarrels, as he came of a paper-skulled family. Maynard's skull was fractured and, he also had very thin protection for his head.

FIGHT WITH A MADMAN. Killed by a Constable After Frightening People and Destroying Property.

Los Angeles special: Arthur Strobel, an insane German from New York, was shot and killed yesterday by Constable E. P. Hardie of Garvanza while resisting arrest. Strobel applied at the residence of Mrs. Ramson for lodging, and on being refused put the family to flight. From there he proceeded to the railroad crossing, and made an assault with a revolver on Thomas Wilson, a one-armed flagman. A bystander interfered and Strobel chased him down the street with a revolver at his head. Hardie was notified and found Strobel at the Ramson residence, whither he had returned and where he was demolishing the furniture. The officer called on him to surrender, but Strobel fled from the house, at the same time drawing his revolver on the officer who fired, the bullet taking effect in an artery of the right leg. Strobel bled to death in ten minutes. Hardie surrendered himself.

MORE TO BE PROSECUTED. Those Who Assaulted the Pinkertons Will Be Arrested.

Those who participated in the disgrace at Homestead after the surrender of the Pinkertons on July 6 will be prosecuted for aggravated assault and battery, highway robbery, larceny, pocket-picking, and other crimes and misdemeanors. The work of securing the necessary evidence to convict those engaged in the assaults on the Pinkertons and the robbery of the surrendered men has been going on for some time, and it is now so far advanced that informations will be made in a few days and the persons arrested. Among them are several women who were particularly active and aggressive during the time the men ran the gamut and after it in taking the property of the men and hiding it. Assault and battery and receiving stolen goods will be the charges against these women. The attorney for the prosecution is preparing informations in these cases, and as soon as they are completed the warrants will be issued.

ROASTED IN NAPHTHA. Four Men Burned Fatally by an Explosion Resulting From a Train Wreck.

One of the worst wrecks the Big Four has experienced in recent years, occurred Monday afternoon at Cold Springs, four miles west of Springfield, Ohio, to the first section of west-bound freight No. 65, in charge of Conductor Mara and Engineer Smith. While the train was running at the rate of twenty-five miles per hour, a truck or some part of the running-gear of one of the cars broke. In an instant thirteen cars, all loaded, were piled up in indescribable confusion. The wreck occurred in the line of miles where the road runs for a couple of miles in a small canyon and the track was completely blocked. Of the cars, four were loaded with naphtha, which caught fire, and soon the entire wreck was blazing. The financial loss is estimated at $75,000 or over. Four persons were burned fatally.

MURDER HIS PROFESSION. Says He Had a Hand in Three Irish Political Assassinations.

A man who is confined in prison in Glasgow has confessed to the authorities that he has implicated in the murder of Lord Leitrim who was shot and killed on April 2, 1878, while driving near his residence in County Derry, Ireland. The prisoner also stated that he was concerned in the killing of Lord Montmorris at Rusheen, County Mayo, Ireland, Sept. 25, 1880. He further says he was hired to assist the man who killed the informer, James Carey. The prison commissioners are carefully investigating the story of the man, whom they have subjected to a most searching examination, and are endeavoring to secure proof of his statements.

IN THE SUN'S HARVEST. No Diminution of the Fearful Death Rate in Chicago.

Another scorcher, another long list of heat victims to add to the mortality column and the prolongation of the misery that goes with a protracted season of equatorial heat in these latitudes. Such was the record of Chicago on Wednesday. Those who gave up their lives numbered thirty-four and the injured were sixty-seven. Other cities east and south had the same experience, but sections of the Northwest report a drop in temperature of from 20 to 40 degrees.

Killed by a Violent Bull. Martin H. Smith, a Schenectady, N. Y., farmer, aged 64, was gored to death by a vicious Durham bull. Smith had gone to the pasture to give the cattle some salt when the bull attacked him. The old farmer made a desperate fight, but was finally overcome by the animal. He was rescued while yet alive, but died two hours later.

Poor Crops Around Northfield. The crops near Northfield, Minn., are in very poor condition. In many places the spring wheat is not more than eight inches high and will never be harvested. Well-matured grain cannot be cut with a machine because of the mud, and old-fashioned cradles are being used.

Two Inches of Rain in an Hour. An almost unprecedented rainstorm, accompanied by wind and lightning, passed over Columbus, Ohio, at noon Monday. Nearly two inches of water fell in an hour. Dilley Mulvey, aged 15, son of a brick-maker, was struck by lightning and killed as he was walking on the street.

Killed by the Kick of a Cow. At Green Ridge, Mo., Mary, the 5-year-old daughter of John Ridenour, a farmer, was kicked on the head by a cow that she was driving and killed.

Cholera in Poland. The cholera has made its appearance in Poland and several cases are reported at Warsaw. It continues to rage with virulence in the southeast of Russia.

THE WESTERN RECORD BROKEN.

Remarkable Run of the Steamer City of Paris Across the Atlantic.

The Inman Line steamship City of Paris, which sailed from Liverpool on the 20th instant and from Queenstown on the 21st for New York, has arrived, beating the record for the western trip across the Atlantic. The time of her passage across the ocean was 5 days 15 hours and 58 minutes. On July 24 519 miles were run, and on July 26 520 miles, both runs beating the record. The best average time has hitherto been held by the White Star steamship Majestic, when she made the record of 20.41 knots an hour. The officers of the City of Paris are jubilant over their steamer's feat. The record for fast western voyages across the Atlantic from Queenstown was held until now by the White Star steamer Teutonic, her time being 5 days 16 hours and 31 minutes. The City of Paris beats the record by just 33 minutes.

JAY GOULD IN IDAHO. The Little Wizard Enjoying Himself Fishing for Trout.

Jay Gould and party are still enjoying Idaho's health-giving climate and fishing. The magnates were run up to Tikure, on the branch line leading from Shoshone and Ketchum, and slide-tracked. There is a fine trout stream near by, and Mr. Gould was soon whipping it with good results. The party's tent is a marvel of luxury, being fitted up in style befitting a prince. Each day a special car arrives from the coast, containing all the delicacies. The Gould party will remain in Idaho a week or two yet and then will move, but in what direction has not yet been decided.

COUNTING THE COST. Twelve Lives Have Been Sacrificed and a Million Dollars Dissipated.

Thursday ended the first month of the lockout in Homestead. The cost in money, as nearly as it can be told, is not less than a million dollars. Of this the workers in Homestead and Pittsburgh have lost not less than $250,000. The company has lost in the neighborhood of $400,000, and it has cost the State about as much as that to furnish the necessary military protection. Besides the money loss there have been two human beings sacrificed. More than seventy persons have been wounded.

Deadly Duel in Kentucky. A desperate fight occurred at Flat Rock, Ky., between Deputy Sheriff Grant Sellers and John Coffey, in which both were killed. Coffey had been arrested the day before and fined $20. Thursday, when Sellers went to Coffey and served the capias, the latter shot him through the breast. Sellers then drew his pistol and shot Coffey four times, and both men fell and died almost instantly.

Killed with a Pitchfork. Jesse Mote and John Price—the latter a respected farmer—quarreled at Osgood, Drake County, Ohio. Mote grabbed a pitchfork and thrust it into Price's body, three of the prongs entering his breast and inflicting injuries from which he died. Mote was arrested and after a desperate struggle with the officers was lodged in jail. Threats of lynching are made.

Aged One Hundred and Fifteen. Maria Reed, colored, who is said to be the oldest woman in Kentucky, died at Louisville. She was born in Virginia in 1777. She moved to Louisville nearly a century ago, and has lived there ever since. Her children claim that she was intimately acquainted with George Washington and a number of other historical characters.

Frost at Fort Assiniboine. Signal office reports from Fort Assiniboine state that there was a frost in that vicinity Wednesday night, the thermometer sinking to 30, and it is thought vegetation has been killed. The cold wave is going throughout British Columbia and is moving eastward.

A Double Tragedy. A dispatch received from Philadelphia says that Mr. Charles Page, of the banking house of Page & Co., doing business on Fourth street, in that city, was shot in his office by one of his customers and killed. The customer then shot himself dead.

Washed Up by the Waves. At Long Island City the bodies of Robert and Ernest Soltan, who were drowned the night of July 19 while trying to enter Hog Island inlet in the naphtha launch Rob, were washed up near the scene of the tragedy Thursday morning.

Deed of an Enraged Husband. William Bushendorf, a well-to-do farmer residing at Clark Station, Ind., shot and fatally wounded Henry Werkmeister. Werkmeister was paying too much attention to Bushendorf's wife. Bushendorf is now in the county jail.

Many Die in the East. New York reports ninety-four deaths from heat Friday, and Philadelphia twenty-eight. The mercury has fallen at both cities.

THE NATIONAL SOLONS.

SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Our National Lawmakers and What They Are Doing for the Good of the Country—Various Measures Proposed, Discussed, and Acted Upon.

Doings of Congress. On the 27th the House passed the $5,000,000 House Fair appropriation bill by a vote of 117 to 105.

Mr. Holman moved that the House non-concur in the Senate amendment increasing the appropriation for the Government's exhibit from $310,500 to $500,000 and demanded the previous question. The previous question was ordered and the motion to non-concur was carried by a viva voce vote. The same action was taken in all the Senate amendments for the government exhibit by a viva voce vote. This means that there will be another conference and, unless the Senate conference recede, another fight in the House. It is understood the Senate will recede.

The vote by which $5,000,000 was appropriated to the World's Fair was, upon motion of Mr. Holman, up for reconsideration on the 28th, and filibustering, led by Mr. Bailey, of Texas, was the order. Nothing else was done except to pass a joint resolution to adjourn upon the 30th; this motion, it is freely stated, is but a part of the programme of the opponents of the appropriation to defeat it, and was made by Mr. Holman.

The time of the House, the 29th, was again taken up by the World's Fair bill, the filibusters successfully opposing a vote. An incident of the day was a tilt between Gen. Wheeler, of Alabama, and Mr. Watson, of Georgia, who had been carrying on a personal altercation for several days. Wheeler read from Mr. Watson's campaign book a virulent attack upon the present House of Representatives, and Watson got up and declared that every word he had said in his book was true. Among other things, he charged that members had been drunk upon the floor during transaction of business. Mr. Bonner offered a resolution ordering an investigation. Nothing of interest occurred in the Senate.

On the 1st, action was taken by the House to supply funds to several departments which were at a standstill, and then filibustering was resumed upon the World's Fair bill. Mr. Holman endeavored to have the whole matter laid over until December, but failed. Both the friends and opponents of the bill are leaving the city rapidly, and it is an open question whether the matter will not be left with no quorum. At present the whole business of the present Congress is blocked by two men. No business of importance was transacted in the Senate.

KENTUCKY'S BLOODY TRAGEDY. Two Officers Shot and One Torn to Pieces by Dogs.

Lexington, Ky., special: Yesterday afternoon Kavanaugh Tipton, the jailer of Montgomery County; Thomas Howard, a Constable, George Rayburn, a special Deputy Sheriff, and two other men went to the mountains to capture John Sherrell, a horse-thief who stole a horse from Madison County last week. Tipton heard he was at the house of George Pippas, on Cedar Trace Creek. He arrived there this morning and upon the appearance of the posse two fierce dogs set up such a loud barking that Tipton concluded he would go in and make the arrest at once instead of waiting until daylight, as he first intended. He went to the door, closely followed by the other members of the posse. He rapped and Pippas said "Come in." "Who is that?" he asked. "It is Kavanaugh Tipton and I am on electioneering spree," was the reply. "All right," said Pippas, "I will get up and light the lamp." He struck a match and Tipton sat down on a chair and asked him who that was in bed with him. Sherrell, who had been sleeping with Pippas, leveled his pistol on the foot-board and before Pippas could reply to Tipton's question, shot the latter in the center of the forehead. He fell to the floor and died within two hours. While the match was yet burning Howard entered the room only to receive a bullet in the temple from the horse thief's pistol, and he fell dead in his tracks. Rayburn was right behind him, and just before the match burned out Sherrell shot him through the right arm and shoulder. In the darkness he made his escape through a back door, but Rayburn went out after him, only to be caught by dogs and almost torn to pieces. The animals wounded him so severely that he is not expected to live.

PLENTY AND CHEAP. Dun Reports an Abundance of Money and Collections Good.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade follows: The weather has been extremely favorable for the growing crops, excepting in limited districts where damage has been done by violent storms, and the crop outlook is on the whole decidedly improved. Money has been abundant and cheap and collections generally good for the season, and there are no signs of threatened disturbance. Finished products of iron and steel are stronger and $3 to $5 per ton higher, but greater demoralization is expected in pig-iron unless more of the consuming works start speedily. Bar and sheet iron are very active and manufacturers of plate and structural iron have more orders than they can well handle, but no improvement is seen in rails. In woollens there is a better demand and more activity is seen in purchases of wool, while the cotton mills continue to do well. Boot and shoe shops are running, full of business, and shipments exceed last year's every week.

Dates of Fairs—Drug Store Fire at Lansing—Jackson Jail Birds Tamed Out—Thatched the Hired Man for Swearing at Yellow Jackets.

From Far and Near. ADDIE ROBERTS, aged 18, of Franklin, fell from the hayloft upon a short pitchfork, and one of its tines passed directly through her heart. Another penetrated the breast and a third passed through her neck. She was killed instantly.

MAYOR LINTON, of Saginaw, wired Mayor Jackson, of Bay City, extending the stricken people of the burned district the sympathy of Saginaw and offering help. Mayor Jackson replied that when outside assistance was needed the kind offer would be accepted.

At Lansing, fire broke out in G. L. Wright's drug store, from supposed spontaneous combustion, utterly destroying a stock of drugs valued at $6,000, upon which there is an insurance of $5,000. The building was damaged to the extent of about $1,500. It was the most destructive fire which has occurred in Lansing for several years.

THE case of John A. Brooks vs. The Detroit, Lansing and Northern Railway Company, which was recently instituted in the Supreme Court to compel the company to sell 1,000-mile tickets good for any member of the purchaser's family, as required by the statute of 1887, was discontinued by stipulation. This is interpreted to mean that all Michigan roads will hereafter sell such tickets to all who apply for them.

At Jackson, four tough Parma burglars and George Bench, a highway robber who was brought back from Pennsylvania, made their escape from the county jail. They dug through a wall in the upper tier into a ventilator stack at the rear, dropped down, and crawled through a small hole at the bottom. They were discovered by a domestic and an alarm given, and after a chase of a mile, two were captured. Bench was overhauled half a mile further on, but the other two, Sullivan and Smith, are still at large.

Republican County Convention.

At a meeting of the Ottawa County Republican Committee, held pursuant to due notice, at the court house, in the city of Grand Haven, on June 17th, a Republican county convention was called to meet at the court house in said city of Grand Haven on Thursday, the 25th day of August, 1892, at 11 o'clock a.m. for the purpose of nominating candidates for the various county offices and members of the Legislature, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the convention.

The several townships and wards are entitled to delegates, based upon the Republican vote for Governor at the last state election, as follows:

| Township | Ward | Delegates |
|------------------|---------------|-----------|
| Alendale | First ward | 4 |
| Blondie | Second ward | 3 |
| Chester | Third ward | 3 |
| Crookery | Fourth ward | 3 |
| Georgetown | Fifth ward | 3 |
| Grand Haven Town | Sixth ward | 3 |
| Grand Haven City | Seventh ward | 3 |
| First ward | Eighth ward | 3 |
| Second ward | Ninth ward | 3 |
| Third ward | Tenth ward | 3 |
| Fourth ward | Eleventh ward | 3 |
| Holland Town | Twelfth ward | 3 |

The township and ward committees are requested to call caucuses in due time and see that full delegations are selected.

A meeting of the county committee will be held immediately after the convention adjourns.

By order of Ottawa County Republican Committee.

Dated Grand Haven, July 30th, 1892.

GEORGE D. TURNER,
Chairman.

Republican Senatorial Convention.

The Republican convention for the fifteenth senatorial district of Michigan, composed of the counties of Muskegon and Ottawa, will be held at the court house in the city of Grand Haven on Thursday, Aug. 11th, 1892, at 10 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for State Senator from said district. The counties composing said district will be entitled to representation as follows:

Muskegon county 14.

Ottawa county 13.

By order of Senatorial committee.

J. B. PERHAM,
JOHN W. CORNELIUS,
C. L. BRUNDAGE.

Muskegon, July 26, 1892.

The People's Ticket.

The state convention at Jackson, Wednesday, placed the following ticket in nomination:

For Governor—John W. Ewing, of Eaton.

For Lieutenant Governor—G. H. Sherman, of Wayne.

For Secretary of State—Frank M. Van der Cook, of Grand.

For State Treasurer—J. W. Welton, of Kent.

For Auditor General—Carlton Peck, of Lapeer.

For Attorney General—Adolphus A. Ellis, of Ionia.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—M. O. Graves, of Emmet.

For Commissioner of Land Office—William L. Hagan, of Houghton.

For Member 8 State Board of Education—Willbur F. Clout, of Bay.

The contest on governor was spirited. Kent county decided unanimously not to support Geo. F. Richardson, which action was based upon his declining to run for congress last fall.

His name however was presented to the convention by the Ottawa delegation and warmly endorsed by John C. Blanchard of Ionia. The ballot stood: Ewing 372, Richardson 61, Cole 8.

The following platform was adopted:

Resolved, That in order to vouchsafe to the people liberty of thought and conscience, of speech and press, we demand: First—The absolute and continued separation of church and State.

Second—That there shall be no appropriation of either state or municipal funds or property to any religious, sectarian or religious institutions.

Third—That all schools for the general education of the young shall be under the supervision and inspection of the state.

Resolved, That a private army is a standing menace to the liberty of the American people, and we denounce that band of mercenaries, known as the Pinkertons.

Resolved, That the system of employing convicts in our penal institution in any industry that enters into competition with free labor should be abolished.

Resolved, That our convict labor should be employed in improving our rural highways.

Resolved, That all manufactured articles should bear the name of the manufacturer and that the destroying,

defacing, or covering up in any way of the name of the manufacturer shall be deemed a misdemeanor.

Resolved, That as the proprietors of manufacturing institutions and mines are attempting to make inoperative the Australian or secret ballot system by compelling their employees to work on election days, we demand that all election days be made legal holidays.

Resolved, That mine inspectors should be elected by the people, instead of by the Board of Supervisors, who now are controlled by the mining corporations.

Resolved, That all lands sold for delinquent taxes shall be purchased by the state, the title after a reasonable time if not redeemed to become absolute and held for actual settlers in limited quantities.

Resolved, That the people should have the right to propose laws and to vote upon all legislative measures of importance; and we demand the initiative and the referendum.

Resolved, That we are in favor of equal suffrage with an educational qualification.

Resolved, That in all cases of difficulty between employers and employees, we favor its submission to arbitration.

The convention followed the precedent of Illinois, and placed in nomination its man for U. S. Senator, to be elected by the next legislature. His name is Eugene H. Belden.

Mr. Ewing, the nominee for governor, has lived in Michigan for 30 years. He has been 10 years supervisor of Oneida township, Eaton county, two years chairman of the board of supervisors and eight years justice of the peace.

Mr. Ellis, the nominee for attorney general, is the only present incumbent of any state office, who is re-nominated by the People's party. The opinion is fully expressed, that in his efforts to secure both nominations, People's and Democratic, Mr. Ellis has overreached himself, especially by his utterances of indifference towards the Democratic party, and that there will be a strong sentiment against his nomination at the Grand Rapids convention.

B. A. Blakeney of Ottawa was added to the state committee as an additional member for the Fifth district.

At a formal gathering of the leaders of the party, on the evening before the convention, there was a discussion as to just what the attitude of the party shall be toward the old parties, and a resolution was introduced and carried providing that no man should be nominated for an office on the People's ticket who does not renounce all connection with the old parties, and who does not come out squarely endorsing all the principles of the People's party and platform and promising to vote and take the stump for Weaver and Field.

The Legislature of Michigan has been convened in special session by Gov. Winans, and opened to-day (Friday), at noon. The object is to re-apportion the state, honestly, into senatorial and representative districts.

Beyond this, it is said, no other business will be transacted. If the majority present fair apportionment bills, there is every probability that the session will be very short, and that an adjournment may be had even as early as Saturday evening. If not, there is no telling how long the session may drag. The special object of the session, and that too at this particular time, at the opening of the campaign, has a tendency to draw to the capital the leading politicians from all over the state, and they are gathering there in large numbers.

Ex-Speaker Reed's parliamentary rulings are being nobly vindicated now, adays by the troublous floundering of a Democratic House. It is the redemption of justice that the very men who one short year ago were insisting that Reed was right in rules, are proving by their conduct to day that he was all right.

Wm. Alden Smith, Judge M. C. Burch, Fred A. Maynard, E. Crofton Fox, Sybrant Weselius and L. McKnight Sellers, all of these, in addition to the present incumbent, Cha's E. Belknap, are mentioned as candidates for the Republican Congressional nomination.

The five-year-old son of Henry Van Kampen, the dairyman, residing on the North Holland road, fell from a work bench Friday morning, and in some way or other received a serious cut along his right leg, several inches in length. Dr. O. E. Yates was called in to attend the young sufferer.

At Ed. Harrington's livery and sale stables there will be an auction sale, by M. F. Thompson, of Idaho and Oregon horses, on Saturday afternoon, the 6th inst., commencing at one o'clock. This lot of horses numbers nearly 100 and is the best drove of western animals ever brought to this city, their weight averaging from 900 to 1200 pounds.

There is no necessity of making a special plea, nor of touching upon the immediate needs of the institution.

Holland knows what HOPE wants and merits, and it cherishes the best of feeling for the interests of its College.

Only a statement of what has been accomplished:

Already some $75,000 of the contemplated $100,000 has been secured.

Eastern friends have given to the fund between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars.

What their special benefactors have done in the line of buildings and books, the $30,000 Library Hall and Chapel will soon tell most eloquently.

The "Colony" outside the city has taken nearly a $9,000 share in this work.

Distant localities have also proved their appreciation of the good work of these institutions.

We "sample" a few instances: In Illinois, Roseland gave $6,700 and Chicago $2,400. In Wisconsin, Alto paid $1,000.

The pledges in Grand Rapids aggregate to-day between 6 and 7 thousand dollars. Even the far West has excellent representation in this work, one church in Nebraska raising $1,800, and another small church in Iowa $1,200.

The best feature of this movement is that it is a General Endowment, enlisting the co-operation of every one, according to each one's ability.

Napoleon said to his soldiers, standing under the shadows of the Pyramids: "Twenty centuries are watching you." Thus this work and its many friends are hopefully looking to Holland for a royal response to the plea of its HOPE.

JAMES F. ZWENER, Endowment Agent.

The Resorts.

The Assembly, which closed its series of meetings Wednesday, has been a complete success. The large auditorium, with its attractive surroundings and perfect acoustic properties, is all that can be desired. The services have been duly appreciated by the resorters and cottagers, and the attendance at the meetings has been exceptionally good. The "population" of Macatawa Park alone which is estimated at 1,500, besides the visitors and the guests and excursionists from Ottawa Beach, gathered daily into the spacious auditorium and by their presence testified that this new departure, on the part of the Park Association, was duly appreciated. Those present have greatly enjoyed this opening session of the assembly, which is destined to become one of the great assemblies of the country and a leading attraction of our growing resorts. The music has been under the direction of Prof. Watson, a member of the famous Apollo club of Chicago, assisted by a number of fine singers, and this feature has added much to the success of the affair.

The closing day was devoted to the "Grand Army," and the veterans of Holland turned out in large numbers to listen to a War Lecture by Rev. Dr. Philip Krohn of Chicago, formerly adjutant of the Fifth N. Y. Cav., and chief of staff of Gen. McIntosh. His address, which consisted largely of reminiscences and personal observations, was forcible and graphic, and at times rekindled the fires of patriotism among his former comrades.

Prof. G. J. Kollen was among those that occupied the rostrum Tuesday, the topic for that day being "Christian Endeavor."

The pharmacists of this state, who were assembled at Grand Rapids this week in annual convention, came down en masse to the resorts Wednesday afternoon, many accompanied by their lady friends. A special train on the C. & W. M. brought them to Ottawa Beach, between 300 and 400 strong. The stmr. Saugatuck had been chartered for an excursion on Lake Michigan, for which the evening was extra delightful. A banquet at the Hotel Ottawa, a dance in the pavilion, and the many other allurements of the resorts kept the party until a late hour, before they again returned to the Valley city.

Not less than 24 large excursions to the Holland resorts have been planned by the C. & W. M. officials during this month.

Gray, the missing cashier of the Hotel Ottawa has not yet been heard from. Musical Director Robinson has taken his place in the office.

A fine concert was given at the Hotel Ottawa Wednesday night, the music being furnished by the Schuman quartette of Grand Rapids.

Black bass fishing has been very good in the Bay, this week.

A party of cottagers were poisoned by eating canned salmon last Sunday evening. Dr. J. A. Van der Ven of Saugatuck arrived in time to prevent serious consequences.

The hotel and cottages at Macatawa Park are all filled. A large number of tents dot the grounds and add to the picturesque features of the scene.

The visitors this year come from greater distances and more new places than ever before. While Grand Rapids is well represented, as usual, Chicago, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, South Bend, Joliet, Springfield, Bloomington, Louisville and many other cities are also represented at the hotel and in the cottages.

Commodore C. C. Lamos of the "Steamship Mamie L." returned from his cruise of the northern lakes on Tuesday afternoon, having stopped at every point between Macatawa Park and Mackinaw. A number of Chicago friends accompanied him, on the voyage. The Commodore reports that there are more people at Macatawa Park than at any of the resorts he visited. He also says that the "wooden shoe" town, known as Holland, is without exception the most enterprising and progressive city on the east shore of Lake Michigan.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. G. C. Jones and daughter, Mrs. Kate E. Pratt, were the guests of Mrs. J. C. Post at her Macatawa cottage.

Mrs. S. B. Guyot and family of Allegan spent a few days at Macatawa Park.

L. D. Randall and wife of Grand Rapids have arrived at the Park and will stay during the month of August.

Rev. J. Meulendyk and family of Grand Rapids are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. H. Kremers in their cottage at Macatawa Park.

Miss Martin of the firm of Swift & Martin of this city, Mr. and Mrs. A. De Kruijff of Zeeland, Wm. Bangs of Grand Rapids, and A. E. Eckerman of Muskegon were among those that attended the excursion of the State Pharmaceutical society at Ottawa Beach, Wednesday.

Ben Bosman, John Oxner and Dr. C. E. Lemley are rusticationing on Griswold Ave., Macatawa.

J. N. McKay, Jr., Abe Cappon and O. B. Wilms are spending a few days at Macatawa Park.

Capt. L. B. Upham spent Sunday at his home in Saugatuck, his father taking his place on the stmr. Macatawa meantime.

Ja's Van der Sluis, publisher of the Danier, and family, of Grand Rapids, arrived Wednesday and are occupying their cottage at the Park.

B. Dosker and family of Grand Rapids have returned home from a two weeks' outing at the Park.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES. The committee on streets and bridges, to whom was referred the petition of Scott & Schuurman for an extension of time until January 1st, 1893, to build the sidewalk in front of their premises on River street, reported that they deemed the time asked for not reasonable, but recommended that an extension of 60 days from date be given.

The same committee also, to whom was referred the petition of E. P. Stephan and 14 others asking for the grading, graveling and otherwise improving of West Eleventh street, reported, that in their opinion said improvement was not necessary during the present year and recommended that the petition be not granted, and laid upon the table. The committee further recommended that the street commissioner be instructed to construct a temporary fence or railing along the edges of the embankment and culvert across tannery creek on said Eleventh street.—Adopted.

To the Honorable the Common Council of the City of Holland.

GENTLEMEN: Whereas the present litigation between the stockholders of the Wolverine Electric Light Co., and the city of Holland, has not been legally decided, we would therefore recommend not to enter into contract with the Globe Light and Heat Co., for another year, but to continue the lighting with the same lamps now in use for the sum of sixteen dollars per annum per lamp. All of which is respectfully submitted. R. H. HABERMANN, Committee on Lighting. L. SCHOON, J. LOKKER.

Adopted. The committee on poor reported, presenting the semi-monthly report of the director of the poor and said committee, recommending $23.50 for the support of the poor for the two weeks ending August 17, 1892.—Approved.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM CITY OFFICERS.

The clerk reported oath of office of P. Koning as Pound Master on file in the city clerk's office.—Accepted.

The following claims approved by the board of water commissioners were certified to the common council for payment, and allowed, viz: P. Witter, sal. as engineer $50.00 G. W. Ter, sal. as engineer 50.00 A. Doozer, wiping rags .98 Boot & Kramer, oil, rope, brooms etc. 6.78 C. Blom, firing at water works 2.40 M. Jansen, tapping mains, etc. 6.90

The street commissioner reported for the month of July 1892.—Filed. The city surveyor reported profile diagrams, as follows: Estimates for grade, gravel, and otherwise improving Fourteenth street, between the centre of Land street and the west line of Hope College Addition.—Accepted and deposited with the city clerk for public examination, and the clerk was directed to give notice thereof, and of the district to be assessed, by publishing the same two weeks in the Holland City News, and that Tuesday the 23rd day of August, A. D. 1892, is designated as the time when the common council will meet at their room to consider any objection thereto, that may be made.

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

On motion of Ald. Habermann the city attorney was requested to draw up the necessary contract and bonds between Peter Koni g and the city of Holland, for the improvement of Fourteenth street.

The mayor and clerk were instructed to issue and negotiate West Ninth street special street assessment district bonds.

The city surveyor was instructed to superintend West Ninth street improvement.

Ald. Habermann moved that the city marshal be and is hereby instructed to notify James Huntley, contractor for the construction of the Holland City State Bank, owner of Eighth and River streets, to keep the south one-half of Eighth street and the east one-half of River street clear from all obstructions to travel, and to construct either temporary or permanent side walks along River street, and keep open for travel all crosswalks, and that said sidewalks be constructed within 5 days from the date of service of said notice.—Carried.

Ald. De Spelder moved that the city marshal be and is hereby instructed to notify James Huntley, contractor for buildings now being constructed on lot 6 and 7 block 5, fronting on the north side of Eighth street, to open up within 5 days from the date of service of said notice the sidewalk in front of said building, for travel.—Carried.

Geo. H. Sipp, City Clerk.

Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Heber Walsh Drugist.

Proposed Improvement of Fourteenth Street Special Street Assessment District.

CITY OF HOLLAND, MICHIGAN. City Clerk's Office, August 2nd, 1892.

Notice is hereby given: That the Common Council of the City of Holland have caused to be made and deposited with the City Clerk for public examination, profile, diagrams and estimates of the expense for the proposed grading, graveling, and otherwise improving Fourteenth street, from the centre of said street to the west line of Hope College Addition in said City of Holland, to be in the manner following, to wit:

That the said part of said Fourteenth street be graded the entire width thereof pursuant to grade and profile to be established by the Common Council as hereafter further directed.

That the strips be removed from the street. That all shade trees, wherever the grade to be established may require the same, be lowered and reset with as little damage as possible to such shade trees.

That all sidewalks and crosswalks that are found in the way in grading said street be taken up and relaid after the grade is finished.

That after the grade is completed a road-bed be constructed along the centre part of said Fourteenth street as follows:

The average thickness of gravel to be nine inches to spread that the same will be twelve inches thick in the centre and six inches thick on the sides. The road-bed to be twenty-four feet wide, and the gravel of the kind used on Ninth or Tenth streets.

That the cost of said improvement and work be defrayed by a special assessment upon the lands and lots abutting upon said part of said Fourteenth street.

That the lands and premises upon which said special assessment shall be levied shall include lots four, five and six in block sixty-one, lots nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen and sixteen in block sixty, lots seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven and twelve in block fifty-nine, lots one, two, three and four in block fifty-eight, lots four, five and six in block fifty-seven, lots one, two, three, four, five and six in block fifty-six, in the then village of Holland.

Also lots one, two, three, four, five and six in block thirteen, lots one, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight and nine in block fourteen, lots one, two, three, four, five and six in block fifteen, in the South West Addition to the then village of Holland.

Also lots four, five, six and seven in block six, lots one, two, three and seven in block seven, lots one and seven in block ten, lots five and six in block eleven in Hope College Addition to the then village of Holland.

And also the several street intersections where said part of Fourteenth street crosses Land, Fish, Cedar, Market, River, Pine, Maple, First Avenue and Van Rensselaer streets.

And the said lands and premises shall be designated and are hereby declared to constitute a special assessment district for the purpose of improving, grading and graveling said Fourteenth street, as aforesaid; said district to be known as Fourteenth Street Special Street Assessment District.

That said improvement was determined upon by the Common Council August 2, 1891.

That on Tuesday the 23rd day of August 1892, at 7:30 o'clock p. m., the Common Council will meet at their room to consider any objections to said assessment district, improvement, estimates, plans and profile, that may be made.

GEO. H. SIPP, City Clerk.

THE WIND'S SUMMONS.

The Wind came whining to my door,
Across the uplands from the sea,
With plaintive burden o'er and o'er,
"Oh, will ye roam the world with me?"

The wintry skies were all too chill,
The wintry lands too stark and gray;
I would not do the wild Wind's will,
I barred the door and said him nay.

But when the night crept, vast and black,
Up the long valleys from the sea,
The cold Wind followed in his track,
And swift and stealthily followed he.

The mad Wind clamored at my door;
His voice was like the angry sea
That booms in thunder on the shore,
And still he cried: "Come forth to me!"

The casements shook and shuddered sore,
He raged the high walls round and round;
My chamber rocked from roof to floor,
And all the darkness throbbed with sound.

The wintry dawn rose faint and slow,
He turned him to the frozen sea,
And aye he moaned and muttered low
Along the uplands to the sea.

Sullen and slow the Sea-wind sped;
"Oh, never doubt the day shall be
When I shall come again," he said,
"And you come forth and follow me."

And fast and far your ghost shall flee,
When you are one with all the Dead
That roam the wide world round with me."

Jarvis Murray's Campaign.

BY WILLIAM J. HENDERSON.

Some people would have said it was Florence Craven's own fault that she had lost her faith in men. Perhaps some people would have been right, and perhaps they would not. However, that has nothing to do with this story. The fact is what concerns us and the fact is that Florence Craven did not believe much in women, either, but that also has nothing to do with this story. When Florence was eighteen years old she had ideals. Her idea of a man was not that he should be like Virgil's Dame Rumor, with his feet on the earth and his head among the stars. All she asked was that a man should be tall, handsome, strong, kind of temper, patient, humble, forgiving, earnest, sincere, affectionate, industrious, clever with his hands, intellectual, and passionately in love with her. It was not much for a young girl to ask, and so Florence demanded it with all her soul, with all her strength. And the first thing she knew the man arrived.

He had the whole of the above catalogue of qualities excepting one. He was not in love with Florence. That, however, did not discourage her. She set out to make him love her. It was at a summer resort that she met him. At first he regarded her sprightly allurement with a sort of patronizing good nature, which stirred Florence's spirits to their depths. She vowed with a deep determination that she would bring him back to her feet. Several times he seemed to be on the point of saying something very earnest to her, and then the amused look would come into his eyes and he would say something else. This happened so often that Florence became, fiercely hungry for that earnest utterance which always refused to come. One night she even went up to her room and wept bitter tears of vexation, of course, because he would not say it. The next day she fished more vigorously. They walked, danced, rode together. The gossip of the hotel married them regularly every day, still he did not say it. And Florence wished more than ever to hear him say it.

Finally the end of the season came. The September breezes whispered around the corners of the hotel and the September stars looked down on piles of trunks ready to be taken away the next morning. That night he spoke. He said he had been trying to tell her something all summer, but his courage had failed him every time. He felt that he had not been quite right in keeping it to himself so long, but she had made his summer so pleasant that he had really been unable before that minute to tell her that he was going to be married that winter. His sweetheart was in Europe and would be home in about two weeks.

And that was the earnest remark of the man who was tall, handsome, strong, kind of temper, et cetera.

Florence took it bravely as far as outward appearance went. She laughed in his face and told him that she had known it all along. Then she wished him joy and ran upstairs. In the inviolate secrecy of her own room she fell flat on her face and staid there for two hours. At the end of that time she arose, looked at herself in the mirror, and smiled a miserable smile. At that moment her ideals went out of the window and were blown out to sea by the west wind. The next day Florence Craven was a man-hater and a flirt of the most desperate character. For two years she cut a swath. Her change of heart was most sincere. She simply despised men. She took pleasure in transfixing them with the arrows of love and seeing them writhe. She had no more pity than a seal hunter, and she was as devoid of sentiment as Butler's Analogy. She never made the slightest pretense. She treated all men with sarcastic contempt, and they seemed to like it. She counted her victims by the dozen. She made engagements by the dozen. She played Venus Victrix to perfection, and had all the mothers in society wild with a desire to cast her into the bottomless pit.

All except one. Mrs. Chasby Soden had a daughter who didn't go off. She hung fire dreadfully. The only man who had ever shown a disposition to gather her to himself had been switched off by the insatiable Florence Craven, who wrung his head dry and then sent him packing. Then Mrs. Chasby Soden rose up and said:

"That Craven girl has got to be married."

The only question was who was to marry her? Mrs. Chasby Soden studied that problem long and carefully, and finally she came to the conclusion that she knew the man. Then she ran down to study out a plan by which he could be led to devote himself to Florence and to conquer her. She spent a whole morning in deep thought. At luncheon she appeared with a severe headache and a written letter.

"If that does not bring him," she said to herself, "I must simply give up."

It did bring him. He was Jarvis Murray, Mrs. Chasby Soden's nephew, the son of her oldest brother, now dead. Jarvis Murray was thirty years old and not pretty to look at. He had a knife scar just above the bridge of his nose, and the rest of his face was corrugated with small pock-marks. He was not tall, but his deep chest and long arms indicated his strength. He was not especially bright or cheerful in conversation, having been close enough to death on several occasions to make him rather serious. Jarvis Murray had begun life as a naval cadet. He had been shipwrecked once and had two desperate fights with pirates. He got that cut over the nose in one of them. Then he resigned from the navy to accept the command of a merchant vessel. A collision, fire, and five days on a raft finished his career there, though he was honorably acquitted from all blame. He decided that dry land would suit him thereafter. He secured a position with an electric company, and was now in a fair way to become a millionaire. But he was not an attractive man. He knew it, too, and as a rule steered clear of the fair sex. But Mrs. Chasby Soden succeeded in setting him after Florence, and he opened up a campaign that for variety and movement has seldom been equaled in the history of love.

It began with some masterly inactivity. The first thing that Jarvis Murray did was nothing, and he did it well. He was introduced to Florence, looked at her critically, and then walked away. That made Florence angry and filled her with a deep determination to make him notice her—and to his sorrow, of course.

Jarvis watched her. He saw her deliberately draw young Forrest Burney into a proposal and then treat him with a measureless contempt that sent the young fellow away heartbroken. If Jarvis had not been let into the secret of Florence's lack of faith in men he would have called her heartless. As it was, he understood that her heart was exceedingly active and was feeding on its own fires. He decided that Mrs. Soden's plan of campaign was a wise one.

The next day Jarvis Murray treated Florence Craven with deliberate indifference all day. He took the trouble to keep within sound of her voice and sight of her eyes, so as to let her see that he was indifferent. She tried several times to draw him into conversation, but he answered in monosyllables and then turned to speak to another girl. That night one of the full dress hops took place. Right in the middle of it Jarvis Murray shouldered his way through the crowd of moths around Florence and said:

"The next is our waltz, I believe."

You can't put the assurance of his manner on paper.

"I think not," she said.

"You are mistaken," he replied, lifting her dance card. The dance was not taken.

He calmly wrote his name and showed it to her.

"You see, it is my dance."

At that moment the music began, and before Florence could recover her breath he had her floating over the floor.

"Mr. Murray," she said angrily, "your impudence!"

"My what?" he asked, looking intently into her eyes.

He knew how to look hard. He had once looked a mutiny out of countenance.

"Your impudence," she began again, but he interrupted her.

"A man would dare anything for you," he said. Her face flushed and her eyes sparkled. Jarvis Murray waltzed like a feather-weight angel. He did not say another word to her till the end of the dance. Then he said:

"Have you another dance left?"

She had. She had been saving it for a purpose; not this purpose, but she thought now she would let the other one go. Do you know what Jarvis did? He put his name down for that dance and went upstairs to bed. She did not see him until the next day. She was weak enough to take him to task for not appearing to claim his dance. He told her he was sorry she had missed him, and assured her it should never occur again. That made her so angry she would not speak to him again. Then Jarvis Murray turned his attention to making himself agreeable to the ladies. He knew how to do it, too. He had two dozen ideas in as many seconds, and every one of his ideas was fruitful in pleasure to the women. All but Florence, of course. She wouldn't speak to him, so she was left out of his plans. She sat around the hotel all afternoon with three or four tall, handsome men, who made love to her to the best of their ability, while the other girls went out sailing with Murray and had a glorious time. Somehow or other her favorite sport palled on her that afternoon, and, of course, she blamed it all on Murray. He met her face to face in the corridor as she was going to her room to dress for dinner. She was going to pass him in dignified silence, but he stopped and held out his hand.

"Won't you forgive me?" he said, looking hard after her.

When he looked like that you would have thought that his soul was leaking out of his eyes.

"Since you are so humble," she said, "I will; but I think you were very rude."

"So do I," he said, touching his lips to the end of her fingers with a manner almost reverential.

He passed on, leaving her flustered and elated. The man had acted as if he thought her a female deity. After that he went on all the evening making things pleasant for all the other girls and leaving her out. It was enough to exasperate a saint. Florence was not a saint, and when she retired to her room for the night she was about as thoroughly vexed a woman as ever lived. She actually broke down and had a good old-fashioned cry.

"I'll fix him," she said. "I'll not allow him to treat me in that style."

The first attempt he makes at impudence to-morrow ends our acquaintance."

But on the morrow he was not impudent. That was because he had carefully observed her face when she left the drawing room the previous night. No, he was anything but impudent. He devoted himself to her for the whole day. "Vanquished at last!" exclaimed Florence triumphantly when she had reached the seclusion of her apartment that night.

But he refused to stay vanquished. The next day he devoted himself in precisely the same manner to Mrs. Chasby Soden's half-fire daughter. The finest expert from a medieval court of love couldn't have discovered a shade of difference in the devotion of this day and that of the previous one. That made Florence wild; what could she do? That is not the sort of thing that a girl can notice. So she had to swallow her rage and content herself with flirting more desperately than ever with a tow-haired gentleman who was possessed of a T-cart and a hyphenated name. She over'd it, however. She had one or two outbursts of temper which frightened the young man, and he ran away. About that time she overheard Mrs. Chasby Soden saying to one of the old Noms on the veranda:

"Oh, yes, Jarvis always had a penchant for his cousin. I shouldn't be surprised if the unexpected happened in that quarter."

"So," thought Florence, "that old bundle of gossip thinks he's going to marry her Nellie. Well, rather than that I'd marry him myself, and I hate him."

The next day she went in bathing just as every one else was going out. Murray stood on the end of the pier and watched her dive off. She was an expert swimmer. She swam straight out from the shore, and when she was forty or fifty yards from the end of the pier she turned over on her back and floated like a nymph. Murray started to walk away. She threw up her arms, uttered a scream and went down. Of course Murray bit. He wasn't going to stand by and see her drown. He must have cleared twenty feet in his flying dive off the pier. He was at her side in a few seconds.

"I'm all right now," she said, panting.

"It was just a momentary cramp."

"You're not all right, and you're coming ashore with me. Float."

She floated, and with one arm under her head she swam toward the pier with her.

"What made you jump in after me?" she said.

"Do you think I'd see anything happen to you while the breath of life was in my nostrils?"

A great thrill of joy swept through Florence. It was the first time a great thrill of joy had been caused in her by a man since the era of the tall, handsome, strong, et cetera. She did not like it, on second thoughts. It frightened her. She escaped from him as soon as possible when she reached the shore. That night Mrs. Chasby Soden played her right bower. She watched till she saw Florence sitting on the veranda just outside a window. Then she went up to one of the old Noms, who was sitting just inside the same window, and said:

"Do you know, I really believe that Jarvis has just proposed to Nellie! I saw them in a corner and he was holding her hand and talking passionately to her. I stole away, and they didn't see me."

Florence did not know just how she got out of her chair, but she was some distance away from that window when she recovered her self-control. Then she stood still and clasped her hands. Great Heaven! Why did she feel that way? What difference did it make to her whether Jarvis Murray proposed to Nellie Soden or not? At that moment the miscreant came to her.

"I've been looking for you," he said.

"I don't believe you," she answered.

He calmly took possession of her arm and walked away with it. She tried to free herself.

"Don't be ridiculous," he said.

"I won't stand it!" she exclaimed.

"You are insufferably impudent. You treat me as if I were your property."

"After pulling you out of the water I feel a sort of personal interest in you."

"You did not pull me out of the water," she answered, losing her mental balance. "There was not anything the matter at all."

He stopped short and looked her in the eyes.

"Honor bright?"

"Honor fiddlesticks!"

"And you did that just to see whether I would try to save you?"

"Yes, I—no, what nonsense! I did it just—just—for fun."

He let go her arm and took both her hands. "Florence, will you be my wife?"

"How dare you, sir! How many girls do you propose to in one evening?"

"Some one has been slandering me. I have never proposed to any other woman, and I never shall."

Oh, wasn't she glad to hear that! And she believed it without a moment's hesitation.

"You haven't answered my question," he said; "will you be my wife?"

"What for?"

"Because I love you."

"No."

That was her little triumph. He had made her feel miserable so often, and now she had her chance to be even with him. So she said "No," and then waited. And what do you think he did? Dropped her hands and walked away without another word.

The next day he met her and treated her as if no word of love had ever passed between them. It was simply incomprehensible. Any other man would have gone away, or hung off in the distance and looked miserable, or proposed again, but this one did none of these things, and he never left her side. He did not sigh. He did not look miserable. He looked rather contented than otherwise. And he was simply knightly in his attentions. He not only fathomed her thoughts and executed her commands before she uttered them, but he frequently knew just what she wished when she was not quite sure of it herself. The result was inevitable. There never was a girl who could be comfortable in the presence of a newly rejected suitor, and the peculiar conduct of this one was enough to set a girl mad. Florence was so upset by it that she wanted to drive him away. But he would not be driven. He staid. And before night she actually felt ashamed of herself. He divined that, too, and told Mrs. Chasby Soden about it. Again she went off into a corner and patted herself on the back.

Jarvis Murray kept it up for a week. He was gentle, kind, tender, and manly in his treatment of Florence. He neither said nor did any more rude things. He enfolded her in his protection. He perpetually fanned her nostrils with the incense of his devotion. But of love he spoke no word and made no sign. At the end of the week he told her he was going away the next day. He regretted that he could not remain longer, as it gave him great pleasure to think that his humble efforts had contributed to her enjoyment, and he flattered himself that they had so contributed. Was it not so?

Yes, that was so.

Well, then, he said, he should feel that his summer had been put to the highest use. Good-bye. He hoped she would spare him a kindly remembrance once in a while when she had nothing better to occupy her thoughts. At that she gave a little sob.

"Oh!" she said, "I've been so wicked!" "Wicked!" he replied, "not at all. You mean in regard to me, of course. Well, well, it certainly is not wicked for a woman to refuse to marry a man she does not love."

He made a sudden movement as if to leave her, the villain. She seized his hand convulsively.

"But," she cried hysterically, "but—but—I—" Then he took her in his arms, and that evening Mrs. Chasby Soden kissed her daughter twice.

AN ERRONEOUS NOTION.

Wrecks and the Drowned Sink to the Bottom of the Ocean.

There is a rather common, but erroneous notion, to the effect that a human body, or even a ship, will not sink to the bottom of the profounder abysses of the oceans, but will, on account of the density of the waters at great depth, remain suspended at some distance above the surface of the earth. This is an error. No other fate awaits the drowned sailor or his ship than that which comes to the marine creatures who die on the bottom of the sea; in time their dust all passes into the great storehouse of the earth even as those who receive burial on the land.

However deep the sea, it is but a few hours before the body of a man who finds his grave in the ocean is at rest upon the bottom; it there receives the same swift service from the agents which, in the order of nature, are appointed to care for the dead, as comes to those who are reverently inhumed in blessed ground. All save the hardest parts of the skeleton are quickly taken again into the realm of the living, and even those more resisting portions of the body, in time are, in large part, appropriated by the creatures of the sea-floor, so that before the dust returns in the accumulating water to the firm set earth it may pass through an extended cycle of living forms.

The fate of animal bodies of the sea-floor is well illustrated by the fact that beneath the waters of the Gulf Stream, where it passes by southern Florida, there are, in some places, quantities of bones, apparently those of the manatee, or sea cows, a large herbivorous mammal, which, like the seal, has become adapted to aquatic life; these creatures plentifully inhabit the tropical rivers which flow into the Caribbean Sea, and are though rarely, found in streams of Southern Florida. At their death they drift away into the open water and are swept away to the northward by the ocean current. For some weeks, perhaps, the carcasses are buoyed up by the gases of decomposition which are retained by their thick, oily skins; as these decay and break the bodies fall to the bottom. —[Scribner.

Horse-Breeding in India.

Mr. Rayment of the Veterinary Department of the British Army read a curious and interesting paper the other evening before the Asiatic Society of Bombay, in which he showed how the business of horse-breeding in many districts practically had been destroyed by the tremendous increase in the export of wheat and cotton. He said that in places where formerly one could easily find fifteen or twenty mares in a village, now none or only one or two exist, the reason being that more money is to be made out of grain, cotton, etc., than out of horse-rearing. The zemindar, alive to his own interests, sells his mares and puts his money into bullocks, well-digging, etc., to raise what will pay him best. If he could be induced to use his mares in the plough, in drawing water for irrigation, and the like, instead of his non-productive bullocks, an immense step would be taken in the right direction. For various reasons, the chief of which is his intense conservatism, nothing will persuade him to do this. The zemindar keeps his mare simply to breed from, and with the exception of leading her in a wedding procession, or occasionally riding her at a walk from one village to another, never uses her. So the sale of her produce has to cover the expenses of her keep and leave a margin of profit. As long as the grass costs nothing and grain but little, this is all very well, but now there is not sufficient fodder to be got off the land for the plough-bullocks, and grass must be bought. Grain too, has gone up in price. Thus, as the mare does nothing for her own keep, she becomes an expensive luxury instead of a remunerative animal, and is disposed of, and the zemindar, finding he has lost money, is very chary of breeding horses again. Hence horse-breeding is on the decline in India, owing mainly to economic causes.

A Queen's Present to San Francisco.

The Dowager Queen Kapiolani of Hawaii has presented to Golden Gate Park a fine Hawaiian coconut tree. It is about thirty feet high, the largest tree of its kind ever brought to this country. It is filled with fruit, and, as great care was taken in transplanting, it is hoped the tree will not share the fate of all its predecessors. It was placed inside the conservatory in which a tropical temperature is maintained. —[New York Tribune.

A DETROIT MIRACLE.

A GREAT TRIUMPH FOR CANADIAN MEDICAL SCIENCE.

Particulars of One of the Most Remarkable Cures on Record Described by the Detroit News—A Story Worth a Careful Perusal.

[Detroit News.]

The following paragraph, which appeared in the News a short time ago, furnished the basis of this information—a case that was so wonderfully remarkable that it demanded further explanation. It is of sufficient importance to the News' readers to report it to them fully. It was so important that it attracted considerable attention at the time. The following is the paragraph in question:

"C. B. Northrop, for twenty-eight years one of the best known merchants on Woodward avenue, who was supposed to be dying last spring of locomotor ataxia, or creeping paralysis, has secured a new lease of life and returned to work at his store. The disease has always been supposed to be incurable, but Mr. Northrop's condition is greatly improved, and it looks now as if the grave would be cheated of its prey."

Since that time Mr. Northrop has steadily improved not only in looks but in condition, till he has regained his old-time strength.

It has been hinted to the writer of this article, who was acquainted with Mr. Northrop, that this miraculous change had been wrought by a very simple remedy called Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

When asked about it, Mr. Northrop fully verified the statement, and not only so but he had taken pains to inform anyone who was suffering in a similar manner when he heard of any such case. Mr. Northrop was enthusiastic at the result in his own case of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It was a remedy that he had heard of after he had tried everything he could hope to give him relief. He had been in the care of the best physicians, who did all they could to alleviate this terrible malady, but without any avail. He had given up hope, when a friend in Lockport, N. Y., wrote him of the case of a person there who had been cured in similar circumstances by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The person cured at Lockport had obtained his information respecting Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from an article published in the Hamilton, Ont., Times. The case was called "The Hamilton Miracle," and told the story of a man in that city who, after almost incredible suffering, was pronounced by the most eminent physicians to be incurable and permanently disabled. He had spent hundreds of dollars in all sorts of treatment and appliances only to be told in the end that there was no hope for him, and that cure was impossible. The person alluded to (Mr. John Marshall, of 25 Little William street, Hamilton, Ont.) was a member of the Royal Templars of Temperance, and after having been pronounced permanently disabled and incurable by the physicians, was paid the $1,000 disability insurance provided by the order for its members in such cases. For years Mr. Marshall had been utterly helpless, and was barely able to drag himself around his house with the aid of crutches. His agonies were almost unbearable and life was a burden to him, when at last relief came. Some months after he had been paid the disability claim he heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and was induced to try them. The result was miraculous; almost from the outset an improvement was noticed, and in a few months the man that medical experts had said was incurable, was going about the city healthier and stronger than before. Mr. Marshall was so well known in Hamilton that all the city newspapers wrote up his wonderful recovery in detail, and it was thus, as before stated, that Mr. Northrop came into possession of the information that led to his equally marvelous recovery. One could scarcely conceive a case more hopeless than that of Mr. Northrop. His injury came about in this way: One day, nearly four years ago, he stumbled and fell the complete length of a steep flight of stairs which were at the rear of his store. His head and spine were severely injured. He was picked up and taken to his home. Creeping paralysis very soon developed itself, and in spite of the most strenuous efforts of friends and physicians the terrible affliction fastened itself upon him. For nearly two years he was perfectly helpless. He could do nothing to support his strength in the least effort. He had to be wheeled about in an invalid's chair. He was weak, pale, and fast sinking when this timely information came that veritably snatched his life from the jaws of death. Those who at that time saw a feeble old man wheeled into his store on an invalid's chair, would not recognize the man now, so great is the change that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have wrought. When Mr. Northrop learned of the remedy that had cured Mr. Marshall in Hamilton, and the person in Lockport, he procured a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through Messrs. Bassett & L'Hommedieu, 95 Woodward avenue, and from the outset found improvement. He faithfully adhered to the use of the remedy until now he is completely restored. Mr. Northrop declares that there can be no doubt as to Pink Pills being the cause of his restoration to health, as all other remedies and medical treatment left him in a condition rapidly going from bad to worse, until at last it was declared there was no hope for him and he was pronounced incurable. He was in this terrible condition when he began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills; and they have restored him to health.

Mr. Northrop was asked what was claimed for this wonderful remedy, and replied that he understood the proprietors claim it to be a blood builder and nerve restorer; supplying in a condensed form all the elements necessary to enrich the blood, restore shattered nerves and drive out disease. It is claimed by the proprietors that Pink Pills will cure paralysis, rheumatism, sciatica, palpitation of the heart, headache, and all diseases peculiar to females, loss of appetite, dizziness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, and all diseases arising from overwork, mental worry, loss of vital force, etc.

"I want to say," said Mr. Northrop, "that I don't have much faith in patent medicines, but I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The proprietors, however, claim that they are not a patent medicine in the sense in which that term is used, but a highly scientific preparation, the result of years of careful study and experiment on the part of the proprietors, and the pills were successfully used in private practice for years before being placed for general sale." Mr. Northrop declares that he is a living example that there is nothing to equal these pills as a cure for nerve diseases. On inquiry the writer found that these pills were manufactured by Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., and Brockville, Ont., and the pills are sold in boxes (never in bulk by the hundred), at 50 cents a box, and may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams Medicine Co., from either above addresses. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment with them comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment. This case is one of the most remarkable on record, and as it is one right here in Detroit and not a thousand miles away, it can be easily verified. Mr. Northrop is a very well known to the people of Detroit, and he says he is only too glad to testify of the marvelous good wrought in his case. He says he considers it his duty to help all who are similarly afflicted by any word he can say in behalf of the wonderful efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Proving His Identity.

Nathaniel Hawthorne was a kind-hearted man as well as a great novelist. While he was consul at Liverpool a young Yankee walked into his office. The boy had left home to seek his fortune, but evidently hadn't found it yet, although he had crossed the sea in his search. Homesick, friendless, nearly penniless, he wanted a passage home. The clerk said Mr. Hawthorne could not be seen, and intimated that the boy was no American, but was trying to steal a passage.

The boy stuck to his point, and the clerk at last went to the little room and said to Mr. Hawthorne:

"Here's a boy insists upon seeing you. He says he's an American, but I know he isn't."

Hawthorne came out of the room and looked keenly at the eager, ruddy face of the boy.

"You want a passage to America?"

"Yes, sir."

"And you say you're an American?"

"Yes, sir."

"From what part of America?"

"United States, sir."

"What State?"

"New Hampshire, sir."

"Town?"

"Exeter, sir."

Hawthorne looked at him a minute before asking the next question.

"Who sold the best apples in your town?"

"Skim-milk Folsom, sir," said the boy with gleaming eyes, as the old familiar byword brought up the dear old scenes of home.

"It's all right," said Hawthorne to the clerk, "give him a passage."

Law Against Hypnotism.

Belgium is the first country to make hypnotizing an offense against the law of the land. The law recently approved by the Parliament in Brussels is as follows:

1. Whoever exhibits an individual hypnotized by him or by another shall be punished by imprisonment for from two weeks to six months, and by a fine of $5 to $200.

2. Any person, not a physician, having hypnotized an individual under 21 years, or one not in full possession of his mental powers, shall be punished by a fine of $5 to $200, even when the hypnotized individual has not been exhibited publicly.

3. With imprisonment shall be punished, moreover, every person who, with the intention of cheating, or otherwise injuring, causes a hypnotized individual to sign a paper containing a contract, disposition, obligation, release, or declaration of intention. The same punishment shall be inflicted, also, upon the person deriving benefit from such a paper.

Saracens, in Africa, it frequently happened that knights on either side would fight in single combat for the honor of their respective armies. The Saracens had been,
for many years, the scourge—the dreaded invaders—of Europe, and all waged war against this common enemy.

But in these days the worst scourge that threatens us, is that dread invader, Consumption.

Consumption fastens its hold upon its victims while they are unconscious of its approach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured thousands of cases of this most fatal of maladies. But it must be taken before the disease is too far advanced in order to be effective. If taken in time, and given strict trial, it will cure, or money
paid for it will be refunded.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Asthma, severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an unequalled remedy.

For all diseases that arise from a torpid liver and impure blood, nothing can take the place of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Nothing will, after you have seen what it does. It prevents and cures by removing the cause. It invigorates the liver, purifies the blood, sharpens the appetite, improves digestion, and builds up both strength and health, when reduced below the standard of health.

DR. TALMAGE'S SERMON.

THIS ONE WAS PREACHED IN SCOTLAND.

Jesus; the Name High Over All.—The Wonderful Word—A Revelation of Human Sorrow—Dying Testimonies of Many Eminent Men.

Pre-eminent Jesus.

Since his return to London from Russia Dr. Talmage has been literally flooded with invitations to address congregations and lyceums on the subject of his journey to the land of the Czar, whither he went with Mr. Louis Klopsch to direct the distribution of The Christian Herald relief cargo. While expressing his high appreciation of the cordial welcome and splendid hospitality extended by the officials of St. Petersburg and Moscow, of the civic honors heaped upon the American visitors and of Russia's national gratitude to America, as personally expressed by the czarowitz at Peterhof,
where he entertained them as guests,
Dr. Talmage has been compelled to adhere to his original program. During the week he has been preaching in the leading Scottish cities. His arrangements for next week include services at Newcastle and Sunderland, and thereafter he goes to the Isle of Man for a few days. The sermon selected for this week is entitled "Pre-eminent," the text being John III, 31, "He that cometh from above is above all."

The most conspicuous character of history steps upon the platform. The finger which, diamonded with light, pointed down to Him from the Bethlehem
sky, was only a ratification of the finger
of prophecy, the finger of genealogy,
the finger of chronology, the finger of events—all five fingers pointing in one direction. Christ is the overtopping figure of all time. He is the vox hu-mana in all music, the graceful line
in all sculpture, the most exquisite mingling of lights and shades in all painting,
the acme of all climates, the dome of all cathedrals grandeur and the peroration
of all splendid language.

The Greek alphabet is made up of twenty-four letters, and when Christ compared Himself to the first letter and the last letter, the alpha and the omega.
He appropriated to Himself all the splendors that you can spell out either with those two letters, and all letters between them. "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last." "Or, if you prefer the words of the text, 'above all.'"

It means, after you have piled up all Alpine and Himalayan altitudes, the glory of Christ would have to spread its wings and descend a thousand leagues to touch those summits. Pelion, a high mountain of Thessaly; Ossa, a high mountain, and Olympus, a high mountain; but mythology tells us when the giants warred against the gods they piled up these three mountains and from the top of them proposed to scale the heavens; but the height was not great enough and there was a complete failure. And after all the giants—Isaiah and Paul, prophetic and apostolic giants; Raphael and Michael Angelo, artistic giants; cherubim and seraphim
and arch-angel, celestial giants—have failed to climb to the top of Christ's glory, they might all well unite in the words of the text and say, "He that cometh from above is above all."

First, Christ must be above all else in our preaching. There are so many books on homiletics scattered through the world that all laymen, as well as all clergymen, have made up their minds what sermons ought to be. That sermon is most effectual which most pointedly puts forth Christ as the pardon of all sin
and the correction of all evil, individual, social, political, national. There is no reason why we should regard the endless changes of a few phrases. There are those who think that an exhortation or a discourse have frequent mention of justification, sanctification, covenant of works and covenant of grace, that therefore it must be profoundly evangelical,
while they are suspicious of a discourse which presents the same truth, but under different phraseology.

Now, I say there is nothing in all the opulent realm of Anglo-Saxonism or all the word treasures that we inherited from the Latin and the Greek and the Indo-European but we have a right to marshal it in religious discussion. Christ sets the example. His illustrations were from the grass, the flowers, the spittle,
the salve, the barnyard fowl, the crystals of salt, as well as from the seas and the stars, and we do not propose in our Sabbath school teaching and in our pulpit address to be put on the limits.

I know that there is a great deal said
in our day against words, as though they were nothing. They may be misused, but they have an imperial power.
They are the bridge between soul and soul, between Almighty God and the human race. What did God write upon the tables of stones? Words. What did Christ utter on Mount Olivet? Words.
Out of what did Christ strike the spark for the illumination of the universe? Out of words. "Let there be light," and light was. Of course thought is the cargo and words are only the ship, but how fast would your cargo get on without the ship?

What you need, my friends, in all your work, in your Sabbath-school class, in your reformatory institutions, and what we all need is to enlarge our vocabulary
when we come to speak about God and Christ and heaven. We ride a few old words to death when there is such limitless resource. Shakespeare employed fifteen thousand different words for dramatic purposes. Milton employed eight thousand different words for poetic purposes; Rufus Choate employed over eleven thousand different words for legal purposes, but the most of us have less than a thousand words that we can manage, less than five hundred, and that makes us so stupid.

When we come to set forth the love of Christ we are going to take the tenderest phraseology wherever we find it, and if it has never been used in that direction
before, all the more shall we use it.
When we come to speak of the glory of Christ, the conqueror, we are going to draw our similes from triumphal arch and oratorio and everything grand and stupendous. The French Navy have eighteen flags by which they give signal,
but those eighteen flags they can put into sixty-six thousand different combinations. And I have to tell you that these standards of the cross may be lifted into combinations infinite and varieties everlasting. And let me say to young men who are after awhile going to preach Jesus Christ, you will have the largest liberty and unlimited resource. You only have to present Christ in your own way.

Johnathan Edwards preached Christ in the severest argument ever penned, and John Bunyan preached Christ in the sublimest allegory ever composed. Edward Payson, sick and exhausted, leaned up against the side of the pulpit and wept out his discourse, while George Whitefield, with the manner and the voice and the start of an actor, overwhelmed his auditory. It would have been a different thing if Jonathan Edwards had tried to write and dream about the pilgrim's progress to the celestial city or John Bunyan had attempted an essay on the human will.

Brighter than the light, fresher than the fountains, deeper than the seas are all these Gospel themes. Song has no melody, flowers have no sweetness, sunset has no color, compared with these glorious themes. These harvests of grace spring up quicker than we can suckle them. Kindling pulpits with their fire, producing revolutions with their power, lighting up dying beds with their glory, they are the sweetest thoughts for the poet, and they are the most thrilling illustration for the orator, and they offer
the most intense scene for the artist, and they are to the ambassador of the sky all enthusiasm. Complete pardon for direct guilt. Sweetest comfort for chastest agony. Brightest hope for grimmest death. Grandest resurrection for darkest sepulcher.

Oh, what a Gospel to preach! Christ over all in it. His birth, His suffering,
His miracles, His parables, His sweat,
His tears, His blood, His atonement, His intercession—what glorious themes! Do we exercise faith? Christ is its object.
Do we have love? It fastens on Jesus.
Have we a fondness for the church? It is because Christ died for it. Have we a hope of heaven? It is because Jesus went ahead, the herald and the forerunner.

The royal robe of Demetrius was so costly, so beautiful, that after he had put it off no one dared to put it on; but this robe of Christ, richer than that,
the poorest, and the wane, and the worst may wear. "Where sin abounded grace may much more abound."

"Oh, my sins, my sins," said Martin Luther to Staupitz; "my sins, my sins!"
The fact that the brawny German student had found a Latin Bible that had made him quake, and nothing else ever did make him quake; and when he found how, through Christ, he was pardoned
and saved, he wrote to a friend, saying:
"Come over and join us great and awful sinners saved by the grace of God. You seem to be only a slender sinner, and you don't much extol the mercy of God; but we who have been such very awful sinners praise His grace the more now that we have been redeemed."

Can it be that you are so desperately egotistical that you feel yourself in first rate spiritual trim, and that from the root of the hair to the tip of the toe you are scarless and immaculate? What you need is a looking glass, and here it is in the Bible. Poor and wretched and miserable and blind and naked from the crown of the head to the sole of the foot, full of wounds and putrefying sores. No health in us. Add then take the fact that Christ gathered up all the notes against us and then paid them, and then offered us the receipt.

And how much we need him in our sorrows! We are independent of circumstances if we have His grace. Why, He made Paul sing in the dungeon, and under that grace St. John from desolate Patmos heard the blast of the apocalyptic trumpets. After all other candles have been snuffed out, this is the light that gets brighter and brighter unto the perfect day, and after, under the hard hoofs of calamity, all the pools of worldly enjoyment have been trampled into deep mire, at the foot of the eternal rock the Christian, from cups of granite, illy rimmed and vine covered, puts out the thirst of his soul.

Again, I remark that Christ is above all in dying alleviations. I have not any sympathy with the morbidity abroad about our demise. The emperor of Constantinople arranged that on the day of his coronation the stonemason should come and consult him about his tombstone that after awhile he would need.
And there are men who are monomanical on the subject of departure from this life by death, and the more they think of it the less they are prepared to go.
This is an unmanliness not worthy of you, not worthy of me.

Saladin, the greatest conqueror of his day, while dying, ordered the tunic he had on him to be carried after his death on a spear at the head of his army, and then the soldier over and anon should stop and say: "Behold, all that is left of Saladin, the emperor and conqueror!
Of all the states he conquered, of all the wealth he accumulated, nothing did he retain but this shroud!" I have no sympathy with such behavior, or such absurd demonstration, or with much that we hear uttered in regard to departure from this life to the next. There is a commonsensical idea on this subject that you and I need to consider—that there are only two styles of departure.

A thousand feet underground, by light of torch toiling in a miner's shaft, a ledge of rock may fall upon us and we may die a miner's death. Far out at sea, falling from the slippery ratlines and broken on the baltars we may die a sailor's death. On mission of mercy in hospital, amid broken bones and reeking leprosy and raging fevers we may die a philanthropist's death. On the field of battle, serving God and our country, the gun carriage may roll over us and we may die a patriot's death. But after all there are only two styles of departure—
the death of the righteous and the death of the wicked, and we all want to die
the former.

God grant that when that hour comes you may be at home! You want the hand of your kindred in your hand. You want your children to surround you.
You want the light on your pillow from eyes that have long reflected your love.
You want the room still. You do not want any curious strangers standing around watching you. You want your kindred from afar to hear your last prayer. I think that is the wish of all of us. But is that all? Can earthly friends hold us when the billows of death come up to the girdle? Can human voice charm open Heaven's gate? Can human hands pilot us through the narrow of death into Heaven's harbor? Can an earthly friendship shield us from the arrows of death and in the hour when satan shall practice upon us his infernal alchemy? No, no, no, no! Alas! poor soul, if that is all! Better die in the wilderness, far from tree shadow and fountain, alone, vulture circling through the air waiting for our body, unknown to men, and to have no burial, if only Christ could say through the solitude,
"I will never leave thee, I will never forsake thee." From that pillow of stone a ladder would soar Heavenward, angels coming and going; and across the solitude and the barrenness would come

the sweet notes of heavenly minstrelsy.
Gordon Hall, far from home, dying in the door of a heathen temple, said,
"Glory to Thee, O God!" What did dying Wilberforce say to his wife? "Come and sit beside me, and let us talk of Heaven. I never knew what happiness was until I found Christ." What did dying Hannah More say? "To go to Heaven; think what that is! To go to Christ, who died that I might live! Oh, glorious gravel! Oh, what a glorious thing it is to die! Oh, the love of Christ, the love of Christ!" What did Mr. Toplady, the great hymn maker, say in his last hour? "Who can measure the depth of the third Heaven? Oh, the sunshine that fills my soul! I shall soon be gone, for surely no one can live in this world
after such glories as God has manifested to my soul."

What did the dying Faneway say? "I can as easily die as close my eyes or turn my head in sleep. Before a few hours have passed I shall stand on Mount Zion with the one hundred and forty and four thousand, and with the just men made perfect, and we shall ascribe riches and honor and glory and majesty and dominion unto God and the Lamb." Dr. Taylor, condemned to burn at the stake, on his way thither broke away from the guardsmen and went bounding and leaping and jumping toward the fire, glad to go to Jesus and to die for Him. Sir Charles Hare in his last moment had such rapturous vision that he cried, "Upward, upward, upward!"

And so great was the peace of one of Christ's disciples that he put his fingers
upon the pulse in his wrist and counted it and observed it; and so great was his placidity that after awhile he said,
"Stopped," and his life had ended here to begin in Heaven. But grander than that was the testimony of the worn out first missionary when in the Masmatine dungeons he cried: "I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand; I have fought the good fight,
I have finished my course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will give me in that day, and not to me only, but to all them that love His appearing!" Do you not see that Christ is above all in dying alleviations?

Toward the last hour of our earthly residence we are speeding. When I see the sunset, "One day less to live." When I see the spring blossoms scattered I say,
"Another season gone forever." When I close this Bible on Sabbath night I say,
"Another Sabbath departed." When I bury a friend I say, "Another earthly attraction gone forever." What nimble feet the years have! The roebucks and the lightnings run not so fast. From decade to decade, from sky to sky, they go at a bound.

There is a place for us, whether marked or not, where you and I will sleep the last sleep, and the men are now living who will, with solemn tread, carry us to our resting place. Aye, it is known in Heaven whether our departure will be a coronation or a banishment.
Brighter than a banquet hall through which the light feet of the dancers go up and down to the sound of trumpeters
will be the sepulcher through whose rifts
the holy light of heaven streameth. God will watch you. He will send His angels to guard your slumbering ground until,
at Christ's behest, they shall roll away
the stone.

So also Christ is above all in Heaven.
The Bible distinctly says that Christ is the chief theme of the celestial scripture, all the thrones facing His throne,
all the palms waved before His face, all the crowns down at His feet. Cherubim to cherubim, seraphim to seraphim, redeemed spirit to redeemed spirit shall recite the Saviour's earthly sacrifice.

Stand on some high hill of Heaven, and in all the radiant sweep the most glorious object will be Jesus. Myriads gazing on the scars of His suffering. In silence first, afterward breaking forth into acclamation. The martyrs, all the purer for the flame through which they passed, will say, "This is Jesus, for whom we died." The apostles, all the happier for the shipwreck and the scourging through which they went, will say, "This is the Jesus whom we preached at Corinth, and at Cappadocia, and at Antioch, and at Jerusalem." Little children clad in white will say, "This is the Jesus who took us in His arms and blessed us, and when the storms of the world were too cold and loud, brought us into this beautiful place." The multitudes of the belief will say, "This is the Jesus who comforted us when our hearts broke."

Many who had wandered clear off from God and plunged into vagabondism, but were saved by grace, will say: "This is the Jesus who pardoned us. We were lost on the mountains, and He brought us home. We were guilty, and He made us white as snow." Mercy boundless, grace unparalleled. And then, after each one has recited his peculiar deliverance and peculiar mercies, recited them
as by solo, all the voices will come together in a great chorus, which shall make the arches echo and re-echo with the eternal reverberation of gladness and peace and triumph.

Edward I was so anxious to go to the Holy Land that when he was about to expire he bequeathed $100,000 to have his heart after his demise taken to the Holy Land in Asia Minor, and his request was complied with. But there are hundreds to-day whose hearts are already in the holy land of Heaven. Where your treasures are there are your hearts also.
John Bunyan, of whom I spoke at the opening of the discourse, caught a glimpse of that place, and in his quaint way he said: "And I heard in my dream,
and lo! the bells of the city rang again for joy; and as they opened the gates to let in the men I looked in after them, and lo! the city shone like the sun, and there were streets of gold, and men walked on them, harps in their hands,
to sing praises with all; and after that they shut up the gates, which when I had seen I wished myself among them!"

Electricity in the Human Body.

Accidents often occur in mining from the electricity that accumulates in the human body. On a dry winter day in the high altitudes one is likely to be surprised at any time by a spark darting from his finger when the member is brought in contact with a good conductor. The process of writing with a lead pencil on rough paper will give rise to peculiar electrical phenomena. When a man has walked home swinging his arms in a heavy coat there will often be a snap when he reaches out to grasp the door-knob. Woolen under-clothing also acts as a generator, and, on every hand,
there are agencies charging the body with the electrical fluid. A miner wearing woolen clothes will walk out to where his ammunition is stored, and, reaching for a detonating cap, cause a mysterious explosion by which he may lose his life or be seriously crippled.—Idaho Statesman.

Dragonage Won't Do!
Not with the liver. Violent choleragues, like calomel and blue pill, administered in "heroic" or excessive doses, as they often are,
will not permanently restore the activity of the great hepatic organ, and are productive of much mischief to the system generally. Instigate a healthful reform, if inactivity of the liver exists, with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which insures a regular discharge of the secretory function of the liver, and promotes due action of the bowels without griping or weakening them. The discomfort and tenderness in the right side, nausea, fur upon the tongue,
yellowness of the skin and eyeballs, sourness
of the breath and sick headache, which charac-terize chronic biliousness, disappear, and digestion—always interfered with by biliousness—resumes its former activity. The Bitters antidotes malarial complaints, rheumatism, kidney trouble, and is a promoter of healthy repose.

The Suicidal Mania.
It is worthy of note that the greatest number of suicides are committed by the Germans. The form of death they choose is usually poisoning. In every country three-quarters of all the suicides are of the male sex. It is almost impossible to realize the readiness with which the Chinese commit suicide. It requires the merest trifle to induce a Chinaman to hang himself. The first instance of suicide recorded in scripture is that of Samson (B. C. 1117). The second is that of Saul (B. C. 1056).
Rather than fall into the hands of the Philistines, when hard pressed in battle, he drew his sword and fell upon it, and so died. Judas Iscariot, through remorse, went and hanged himself.—

Dahomey Natives at the Fair.
Several Amazons of the King of Dahomey will probably be seen in the Dahomey village, which will be established at the World's Fair. Sixty or seventy natives and their manner of living will be shown.

Our readers will remember the particulars of some remarkable cures published some weeks ago in these columns.
These articles attracted widespread attention, for the reason that medical science had hitherto held that the diseases in question were incurable. In this issue will be found the particulars of another equally remarkable case, the person who thus miraculously recovered being one of the best-known merchants of Detroit, Mich. The article appears under the heading "A Detroit Miracle," and is worth a careful perusal.

There are few people who do not at some time shy when they run suddenly upon the truth.

DYSPEPSIA.

DR. RADWAY'S PILLS are a cure for this complaint. They restore strength to the stomach and enable it to perform its functions. The symptoms of Dyspepsia disappear, and with them the liability at the system to contract diseases. Take the medicine according to the directions, and observe what we say in "Value and True" respecting it.
Observe the following symptoms resulting from derangement of the digestive organs: Constipation,

Pure Water.

Chicago is at the present time making a tremendous hubbub over its drinking water. Some inventive genius tied a muslin rag over a faucet of his water-pipe, and after allowing the water to run for an hour discovered in it a large assortment of striddle-bugs that under the microscope astonished him, and greeted his nostrils with a very powerful and sickening odor. Since then every person who could afford it has patronized the soda fountain. If you feel that you have taken too much ice water, or any other that is bad, go and get a box of the LAXATIVE GUM DROPS, and take them according to directions, from four to six every night. This will remove all the

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

We learn that the lemon trade suffered a heavy squeeze during the month of July.

A copy of "Harper's Geography" has been found on the College campus and left at the News office, to be restored to its rightful owner.

At the Grand Rapids Fruit Growers' Association, which met last week, Messrs. C. L. King & Co. of this city made a very creditable sample display of the various kinds of fruit baskets manufactured by them.

Three Grand Rapids & Indiana sleepers rolled into the ditch near Grand Rapids, Wednesday. The cars were full of passengers from Mackinaw, and nobody can imagine how all escaped being killed. It was caused by a wash-out.

Prof. G. J. Kollen was in Chicago this week, on business connected with the new College Library building. We learn that the committee in charge are meeting with great success in their efforts to so reduce the figures on material and labor, that no radical changes will have to be made in the plans as originally designed.

List of letters advertised for the week ending August 4, 1892, at the Holland city P. O.: Mrs. M. Adams, H. Van den Barg, Miss Sadie Bush, Miss Mary Burnes, Mr. E. Brodwaile, Riley Gnoenen Daal, Mrs. J. A. Dallas, Mr. C. E. Redner, Mr. H. Turner, G. J. Van Duren, P. M.

Kalamazoo was visited by a destructive hail storm, Wednesday afternoon. The hailstones that fell in the city were two and three inches deep after the storm passed over and were gathered up by the basket. The largest measured three inches in length and some were eight inches in circumference.

The amount of the damage from window lights broken is estimated at from $5,000 to $10,000. Every greenhouse and every skylight was riddled as though they had been bombarded with grape shot. At the asylum 4,000 lights were broken, and in all fully 50,000 lights were broken, scarcely a house in the city escaping. With the hail came a terrific wind storm, which leveled hundreds of shade trees in the city. In the country the damage was almost total to what crops there remained standing, and it cannot easily be estimated. Every cornfield within a radius of ten miles square is a complete loss. The stalks are stripped of leaves, and the oats which were standing are thrashed and lie on the ground. The storm was rough on horses and all beasts which could not get to shelter. One horse was struck on the head with a big hailstone and killed. Two hours after the first storm a second one came, which broke a large number of lights of glass which had been put in the place of those previously broken.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

Port Sheldon.

Monday, July 25th, some person deliberately set fire to two piles of lumber, in the field of T. B. Sheahan on the Beach Road, near the Johnsville schoolhouse. The fire was discovered by Michael Donahue, who tried to put it out, but found he could not; so he jumped upon his horse and notified Mr. Sheahan. Upon investigation they found tracks of a person over the ploughed land which led to the vicinity of the Lake Shore road. As this is a repetition of what took place nine or ten years ago, when Jerry O'Brien's barn was burnt down so mysteriously, it becomes the citizens of "Ireland" to investigate and find out who the fire bug is, for they know not who next may suffer for an imaginary wrong. The two piles contained 25-150 feet of lumber, valued at $300. Mr. Sheahan contemplated putting up a house and barn in the fall.

Messrs. Peck and Bacon had a Harvest dance in the "old bowery" on the night of the 29th. There was a grand turn out and the young folks enjoyed themselves keenly. Several teams came out from Holland, and departed for home about midnight. At the request of the young folks, Mr. Peck will not pull down the bowery, but will give them another dance on the evening of Aug. 12th, which will be the last of the season.

The improvement of the roads in the west part of Olive has assumed active shape at last, and we hope all the people that are benefited will now respond with a good heart and help to push matters through. Thursday, July 28th, there was a meeting at Smith's school house, district No. 7, and a goodly number were there, although no notices had been posted up. Commissioner Miedema and Supervisor Kerkhof of Holland township were there. Mr. Cook was called upon to preside and Mr. Johnson was secretary. A vote was taken as to which would be the best road to improve, the flat road, the quarter-line, or the Grand Haven road; and the meeting was unanimous in favor of the quarter line road. It was the opinion that 25 or 30 dollars worth of labor would make the road passable, winter and summer. A committee of three was appointed to circulate subscriptions among the people and merchants of Holland, to help and make good roads, before fall trade sets in. The committee consists of Mr. Cook for the region north of Port Sheldon bridge, Albert Mum for the region south of the town line to the bridge, and Mr. Henry Vanderowder for the township of Holland. After a vote of thanks to Messrs. Kerkhof and Miedema for their kindness in assisting us in getting good roads, it was voted to adjourn until Monday evening, Aug. 15th, at 6 o'clock, when the committee will report. We expect to have a rousing meeting then, and all those interested in good roads, are cordially invited. Let us keep the ball rolling.

July 23rd Wm. Richards and Wm. Bourton, Jr., of Chicago, paid Mr. Cook a visit and returned by steamer McVea Tuesday night. They came by way of St. Joseph and then to Ottawa Beach per steamer Bradshaw.

Farmers are busy cutting rye. Wheat is all cut. Oats look well. The splendid rain of Thursday night done corn and oats good, for the heat and drought were beginning to be felt, by vegetables and cereals.

PSEUDONYM.

Olive Centre.

A nice shower of rain, Monday. Wheat and rye are nearly all secured, and threshing has begun.

Olive Centre Grange will move in the near future from its present quarters into the upper room of the Town Hall, and will picnic at Macatwa Park, Aug. 24th.

Crops of all kinds are now looking nicely, a few cases of drowning out excepted.

J. Vinkemulder is still providing for the people at the Jones' store.

Not long since an amusing incident occurred in a prominent family, not many miles east of Ottawa Station. The lady of the house packed a jar partly full of nice sweet butter in the morning and late in the day sent her boy of about 12 years to bring it up from the cellar. The boy returns, but without the butter, and declares there is none there. The mother knows better and starts after it, herself, and to her astonishment finds instead thereof what she pronounces as old sour cream, which some one had exchanged for her butter. The story spread through the whole neighborhood, when suddenly it was followed by another: The butter had been found, it was in the jar under the cream, where the lady herself had placed it when she skinned her milk.

Grand Haven.

The work of extending the C. & W. M. to their frontage on the river below the gas house is completed.

Bishop Gillespie and L. C. Storrs of the State Board of Correction and Charities made an official visit at the county jail last week.

The examination of Norman Sweeney, the horse thief, has been postponed for two weeks.

The new river boat "Valley City" made its maiden trip from Grand Rapids Saturday, in 4 1/2 hours. The steamer is 145 feet long and 29 feet beam and is drawing 11 inches of water. When loaded she will draw from 18 to 20 inches. Her wheel is 18 by 20.

The C. & W. M. warehouse near the depot was struck by lightning and many shingles were torn off during Monday night's storm.

During the storm early Monday morning the air seemed full of electricity. Three times the lightning entered the electric light plant, all within ten minutes, putting the lights out twice and coming over the wires while they were out once.

Capt. Harry Smith says this long hot spell promises a very cold winter. — Tribune.

Lightning struck the farm house of William Farr, lying six miles south of Grand Haven, Wednesday afternoon. The bolt entered through an open door and struck Mr. Farr's son Frederick, a four year brother, and their mother. Mr. Winkley was summoned, but before he arrived Frederick was dead. The deceased was twenty five years old.

A burglar climbed upon the back porch of the Norris hotel Saturday night, took the screen out of the window and entered a room which was occupied by Mrs. C. Cuthbert and child of St. Louis, Mo., who was awakened and gave the alarm before the thief had secured any plunder.

Allegan County.

Evening Herald: Early peaches are coming into bearing, the first shipment from this point being made Monday evening by Alva Hoover. Twenty baskets of the Waterloo variety composed the shipment and they sold in Chicago at sixty cents a fifth basket. Buyers from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, have been here and have purchased about 20,000 bushels of peaches at $1.50 a bushel. Several of the orchards are so well loaded with fruit that much thinning has to be done, but these are exceptions and in most of the orchards the crop is not too great for the trees.

Gazette: Some Saugatuck people are desirous of a passenger steamer on the river between that town and New Richmond. The passenger traffic is said to be large this season, and the route abounds in pretty scenery, good accommodation would probably increase the present rate and make a permanent boat line desirable.

Commercial: It is expected that the dredge will be engaged at Saugatuck harbor for at least two months yet, but boats will probably be able to get up the river in the course of a couple of weeks.

A terrific electrical storm accompanied by rain visited Allegan and vicinity early on Friday morning. In the village lightning struck the house of Edward Bensley, going down the chimney into the sitting room where Mr. Bensley, his wife and two children were. It tore a hole under the chair that Mrs. Bensley was sitting in, and threw her on the floor. She screamed and Bensley said he knew then that she was not killed. The boy Bensley was thought dead as he was motionless when picked up, but in about two hours he showed a sign of life. Bensley and the girl escaped with slight shocks, but it shattered the house badly.

The barn of Mrs. Ruth Dibble in Trowbridge was struck and burned; loss $200, insured.

The barn of John Wilson, three miles out on the Monterey road, was struck and burned. It contained forty tons of hay, 600 bushels of wheat, a binder, and all farm implements. Loss $2,000; no insurance.

The barn of Mike McGinty in Monterey was struck and burned with all its contents. Loss $1,500.

The horse of Hugh Maron in Watson was killed. A valuable colt owned by Mr. Robert Campbell was struck and killed.

Another barn struck was that of W. Martindale, of Trowbridge, a large new one containing 1,000 bushels of wheat. Loss from $1,500 to $2,000. Insured.

What is

CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osmond, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kitchener, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Archer, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
