FATHER 80-MOTHER 76

The aged father and mother of a prominent Boston lawyer safely carried through the last two winters by

Vinol

The son says: "My father and mother owe their present strength and good health to Vinol. During the last two trying winters neither of them had a cold, and were able to walk farther and do more than for years. I think Vinol is perfectly wonderful. It certainly is the greatest blood-making, strengthening tonic for old people I ever heard of."

We want every feeble old person in this town to try Vinol. We will return their money without question if it does not accomplish all we claim for it.

Rev. John H. Geerlings of East Holland has accepted a call to the Holland Christian church, at Chicago, Ohio. Mr. Geerlings was graduated from the Grand Rapids theological seminary in June.

Charged with the theft of $7 from Miss Dora Dickinson, Garland Smith entered a plea of guilty in justice court and was fined the costs. The girl was a passenger on the steamer City of Holland and Smith was a waiter on the boat.

Fire in King's basket factory caused damage to the amount of $250 Saturday. The blaze started in the roof of the engine room from a spark from the smoke stack, it is thought. A short time ago the saw mill of this plant was burned with heavy loss.

William J. Damson returned Wednesday from his unique "work your way" trip around the world. He left Holland four years ago and his itinerary covered the principal countries, including Japan, China, Australia, the Philippines, India and Europe. During his absence Mr. Damson worked at numerous trades and covered much of the territory on foot.

Armed with a warrant for trespass issued by Justice Miles, Deputy Sheriff John Kleis made a trip to Olive Friday to arrest Mrs. Bastian Trimpe. The warrant was sworn out by George Osborne, who charges that Mrs. Trimpe trespassed on his land and picked two quarts of blackberries, despite the fact that he had posted notices forbidding it in several conspicuous places about the property. She will be arraigned before Justice Miles later.

Otto C. Schaap, residing east of city, is in South Dakota to get a carload of horses. Horses are low in price there now as farmers do not have the feed to keep them, the drought having done a great amount of damage to crops. Jacob Ellen formerly here, who is now at Lemon, South Dakota, writes that the mercury registered over 100 degrees in the shade. Mr. Ellen is buying and selling stock and dealing in lands. John Rooks who formerly was in the grocery business here, is located on a claim near Lemon.

King Neptune's Carnival at Saugatuck

Monday evening after the council meeting the ball was started rolling for a water carnival here, Aug. 29, 30 and 31.

John Koning was made chairman of the meeting and H. H. Engle explained the plans he had in mind for the affairs which met with the approval of all who expressed their views on the subject. He stated that $400 had been pledged to make the affair a success but much more money would be needed for a three day's carnival would cost a good deal so a contest has been arranged for, to decide on who will be queen of the Carnival and wear the purple robe and jeweled crown besides wielding the sceptre. This will be decided by a vote. Each vote to cost 5 cents. This in itself will be a source of amusement.

King Neptune will also be represented and dozens of features not yet arranged for will be developed later. The village council has agreed to turn over the license fees for the three days to the committee and will give their moral support to the undertaking.

Probably the most interesting feature of the affair will be a yacht race that is being planned by three of the leading yacht clubs of Chicago. The Columbia, Illinois and Jackson Park clubs. A suitable prize will be given the winner and about thirty yachts will probably start from Chicago in the evening and arrive here as soon as possible in order to win the prize.

Clarence Wade has been elected as president of the Carnival committee, with H. H. Engles, manager. Committees have been appointed and all are now at work making plans which will lead to the greatest celebration Saugatuck ever had and which it is hoped will prove to be an annual affair.

At a special meeting of the common council held last evening a petition was brought up by some of the property owners on West Eighth street to pave that street with Westrumite instead of brick. The majority of the property owners had signed the petition but it is thought that, the property owners that constitute the most feet frontage are not on the petition. If the council decides on Westrumite their intention is to pave between the street car track and also one foot on the out side with brick owing to the fact that there the paving is constantly being torn up. The whole matter was held over until the next regular meeting.

The committee having charge of the West Eighth street paving on brick, recommend that the bid of C. Marsman be accepted at $1.65 for concrete filler and $1.79 for asphalt filler. The committee also recommended that. Between the street car track and one foot on each side, and also that portion of the street which covers the sewer pipes and water mains be laid with an asphalt filler and the rest with a concrete filler as it is easier to take up the asphalt filler where repairs are made. The committee's report was also held over until next regular meeting.

The city attorney was instructed to give the Gas Co thirty days notice in which to comply with their franchise relative to charges made for connecting with gas stove, and if they do comply, to take the necessary steps to revoke their franchise.

The Westrumite people were given $4,000 on their East 18th street paving contract. The street is completed and will be open for traffic Saturday.

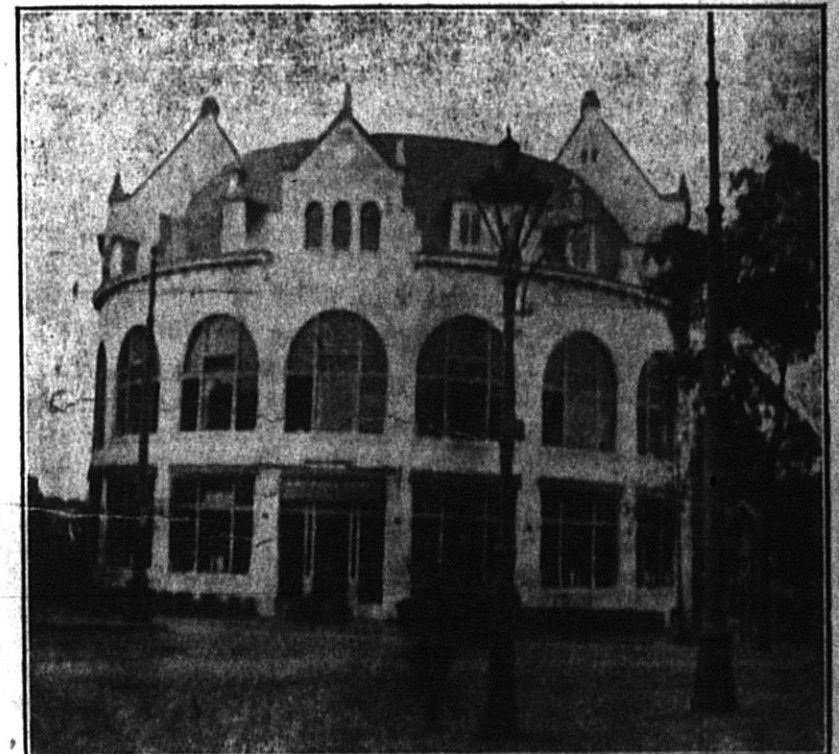

Ninth street Christian Ref. church will hold their annual picnic at Alpena Beach today. There will be at least twenty wagon loads of young folks.

Through the Netherlands on a Wheel

The following is a count of a trip through the Netherlands on a bicycle is written by Jean Vis, of Hope College, who is touring that most interesting of European countries this summer. Mr. Vis came here from the Netherlands several years ago, and graduated from Hope College last June, with high honors. He will begin a course in theology in September.

There is perhaps no more unique way, and certainly no more interesting way of getting a right conception of typical conditions of the Netherlands, than to take a bicycle trip. Be it said beforehand, that the bicycles are all of the most up-to-date type, and that the city streets and more especially the country roads are bicycle roads par excellence: Level, smooth, hard, no stones, no dust, no dirt. It need not surprise anyone, therefore, that here everybody and everything, lives, moves and has being on the 'fiets'. Off for one week's travel!

Leaving Cloudu with its famous church and city hall, we wish to see the real country, and soon ride down the dike into the 'polder.' A beautiful lane of heavy oak, more than six miles long, cuts the fertile 'Zuid' plas polder' into two halves. This is the lowest part of Holland, for we are about sixteen feet below the average height of the neighboring ocean. Naturally there is a constant fight to keep these productive fields from being flooded. A great number of windmills, (we counted twenty-five of them in one look) were formerly exclusively used to pump the surplus water into the higher canals and rivers, but now they are gradually transplanted by steam pumps, which work so rapidly that one engine took the place of thirty-three mills. However, the still picturesque view has no longer that typically Dutch aspect that Americans inseparably connect with a picture of Holland Tea Rusks, and of the Low Lands in general.

At Nieuwerkerk the water in the canal had reached such a height that the gig of the mainsail of a 'tjalk' reached over the dike, so that we had to stand aside to let the ship pass. Here we pass the first Co-operative Mill of the Netherlands. This plan is now imitated everywhere, and extended to the mutually buying of nearly every necessity of life.

Now we leave the low farm houses for the sluices and bridges of Overschie. All along the thickly shaded lanes of Hillegersberg beautifully beset with cottages snugly hidden behind dark foliage, and proud, white villas with sloping lawns and slender ashes we wonder if this is still the same country of a few minutes ago. Already the smoke-stacks and steeples of Rotterdam become visible. But we care not to visit that busy metropolis, for to the hunter of plain Holland home life it offers no satisfaction. Much rather, we paddle on to Vlaardingen, where the houses are down below the dike, so that one rides on a level with the chimneys, where the girls are repairing the nets on the green fields where the gay harbor, the queer signs and ancient gables speak of a life all unknown to us. On to Maassluis. Amidst the smell of herring, tar and other less definite but more unpleasant odors we stand in amazement as we watch the unceasing activity around the 'loggers' and travelers. The modern in aspect, this little city still preserves the old landmarks of centuries back, and he who 'rides' may read on some gray, decaying walls 'Anno 1597.'

Perhaps there is no part of South Holland so typically Dutch, so absorbingly simple as the winding gravel road from Maassluis to stately Delft. Past low, thatched farmhouses with white washed trees; past quiet canals reflecting in their motionless surface between snow white lilies and green waterplants the stately melancholy willows on the edge, past endless meadows with dreamy cattle worthy of Ruysdaal's canvas, and the lonely windmill lazily awaiting a livelier breeze, all this far outclasses the mediaeval streets and antiquated houses that Delft may offer. Yet a day spent in this city, where we get the impression that we are living two centuries ago, is immensely interesting. But our dream life is soon ended, for all too rude is the awakening when after a short ride we arrive at The Hague where dreaminess is over, and relics are only to be found in museums. Royal The Hague with its clean streets, electric cars, beautiful parks, and famous picture galleries forms with Scheveningen the most popular summer resorts of Europe. Just now the Exposition of Arts and Crafts attracts many visitors. To enumerate the remaining places of interest were to place Ossa upon Pelion. And who has not heard of 'Het Haagsche Bosch,' that imposing cathedral of stately trees?

Still we travel Northward. On to Leiden. Again we tread on sacred ground. Voices of the past are whispering of former grandeur and power. A feeling of deep reverence comes over us as there rise before us the majestic Pieterskerk, a massive structure of solid pillars and gothic windows. Here on the outside wall is erected the Memorial of the Pilgrim Fathers, part of which reads:

'The Mayflower 1620:

'In Memory of Rev. John Robinson, M.A., pastor of the English Church worshipping over against this spot 1609-1625 whence at his prompting went for The Pilgrim Fathers to settle New England in 1620.'

'In Memoria aeterna erit justus.'

The Leiden University is also of exceeding interest. The building is not located in a conspicuous spot, and the hasty passerby might give it small thought. Through the iron gate we gain admission to the little court and a guide leads us through the ancient corridors into the various departments of law theology, a. s. o. It does not look very inviting and even the common conveniences are not found. 'Het Zweetkamerje' where the student awaits his lot, is scratched with Latin phrases, of nearly uniform contents. If a student passes he remembers this little room by carving his name on the table or on the wall, with the words: 'Hic sudavi, sed non frustror'. The council room contains oil paintings of all the professors of more than three centuries ago. There they look upon us, with their wigs and togas, their reverend faces convincing us of our unworthiness. The wall paintings are very suggestive and humorous, and after having seen the University, and remembering dear Old Hope, I agreed with one of the cartoons, where the father blesses his son leaving for this university with these words: 'Heere, breng hem niet in Leiden.'

MONTANA GIRLS.

Relay and Tandem Races Starting Features at the West Michigan State Fair, Sept. 12-16th.

It has been the policy of the business committee of the West Michigan State Fair to bring special free attractions for the amusement of the public who attend the fair. This year will be no exception and in presenting to the patrons of the fair the "Fero Sisters," a high class novelty, original and up-to-date and full of the most startling features, will be presented. The exhibitions put on by the "Fero Sisters" are first class in every particular. Their feats are new and original, as well as spectacular and high class.

The young ladies taking part in these races are from 16 to 18 years of age; some of them hold records, one holding the world's record for 20 miles and for four miles, having received a gold medal for the same. Their act consists of relay and tandem races in which they ride the fastest thoroughbreds the land can produce. The young ladies appear in jockey suits and ride with light weight racing saddles. There are three riders in the relay race; the young ladies start at the wire and race four times around the half mile track, changing rapidly to a fresh mount each time around, in front of the grand stand. This relay race has been a feature attraction at the eastern state fairs for the past three seasons, and this is the first time that the "Fero Sisters" have been induced to come west of the Ohio river. In addition to the relay race, a thrilling dash race will be put on which is a distinctive feature by itself and will indeed be a race from wire to wire.

This is only one of the many free attractions that will be offered this year by the West Michigan State Fair, whose main object is to give to the people only the best and highest class attractions that money can produce.

RACING CARD.

Splendid Program Offered by the Speed Department of the West Michigan State Fair.

While there are no early closing events in the harness horse racing program for the West Michigan State Fair, which is to be held Sept. 12-16th this year, a big entry list is indicated by the unusual demands for the list of purses and entry blanks daily being received by the secretary, Mr. George S. Ward.

The 1910 racing program was given very careful consideration, and in view of the successful race meet held at Comstock Park the week of July 18th, and the fact that the mile track at Comstock Park is considered one of the best in the country, those that know the horse racing game and all its detail, prophesy that the 1910 races of the West Michigan State Fair will include more and better fast steppers than have ever been contested on the West Michigan State Fair track.

Enter Your Products at the Fair.

Every farmer and breeder in this locality should enter his choicest product at this year's West Michigan State Fair, which will be held in Grand Rapids, Sept. 12-16th and will be bigger and better than ever before.

The object of this fair, its main object, is to bring, for the convenient examination of the farmer, the latest models of labor saving devices in farm work and for the pleasure and inspection of the representatives of the cities, the various products of the farm, so that both may be made mutually acquainted with the possibilities of each others work.

In connection with the possibilities offered to the farmer and breeder by the West Michigan State Fair, we wish to suggest this thought: The farmer often feels that among so many entries he will stand but a small chance of successfully competing for and securing a prize. When he visits the fair, however, and sees his neighbor walk off with prizes on specimens which are inferior to what he might have entered himself, he feels chagrined that he did not have the courage and confidence in his own work to take an active part in this great exposition.

Take your specimens to the Fair. Make an exhibit.

It will pay you. If not in cash prizes and premiums, it will at least pay you in the knowledge of having been an integral part in making the fair a success and in having aided in adding to the respect that the city chap has for the tiller of the soil.

Fully Seven or Eight Scientists Shared in the Invention and Development of the Thermometer.

It would be impossible to ascribe the invention of the thermometer to a single scientist for the reason that no less than seven or eight of them shared in its invention and development.

Galileo was probably the first to devise a crude form of thermometer, about 1597; then Drebbel of Alcaer further perfected the instrument in 1609; Paolo Scarpi also contributed to the work in the same year, and in 1610 Sanctorio added to the instrument.

The Fahrenheit thermometer was invented in about 1726, and soon afterward Reaumur and Celsius came out with the so-called Centigrade. Fahrenheit's scale of reckoning is in general use in this country and England, while the Centigrade thermometer is used on the continent.

The thermometer contributed little to science in the early stages of its development. It was not until the eighteenth century, when Fahrenheit, Celsius and Reaumur measured off the tube into degrees so that the exact rise and fall of the temperature could be reckoned, that it came to be of any considerable value.

Celsius and Reaumur took the melting point of ice as zero, or 0, degrees on their scale, while Fahrenheit took his from a mixture of snow and salt, which produced the greatest degree of cold he knew how to produce. For this reason 92 degrees is the freezing point of water in a Fahrenheit thermometer, and his other divisions are different from those of Celsius and Reaumur.

Celsius' scale is the one in universal use in Europe, and scientists are endeavoring to introduce it into England and America, on the contention that it is much simpler than Fahrenheit's. It is called Centigrade, or a hundred steps, for the reason that the tube is so divided that there are exactly 100 degrees between the freezing and boiling points.

DOMESTICITY IN YEAR 1920

Emancipated Woman Falls Down on the Posting of Letters and Has to Square Herself.

"Laura," said the husband of the new woman, sternly.

"What is it, dear?" asked the latter, in a conciliatory manner, for she saw that trouble was coming.

"Laura, during the last three weeks I have given you three letters to post addressed to dear papa. What have you done with them?"

"Posted them, of course," replied the wretched woman, in a determination to bluff it out if possible.

"Laura," the husband went on, "that is not true. I received a letter from papa today, in which he says he has not heard from me for a month, and anxiously asking if anything is the matter. Now, you have got those letters somewhere about your clothes, if you haven't lost them. I know just as well as I know that I am standing here that you never posted those letters. Now go through your pockets and see if you haven't got them."

The emancipated woman commenced to look through her pockets, and soon turned out the missing letters, which she laid on the table, with the remark:

"Well, I could have sworn that I put those letters in the corner letter box."

The man sneered.

"You can't trust a woman to do anything," he retorted. "Hereafter I'll post my own letters, and I won't occupy your very valuable time with such errands. Before you go I want $25 for household expenses."

The emancipated woman meekly laid the money down on the table and went away with the remark that she would leave the office early in the afternoon and come for her husband to take him for a nice walk in the country.

Famous Lovers of Cats.

A few people of considerable mind have always known how to treat the cat with honor. It is, perhaps, hardly necessary to repeat the ancient story of Mohammed—how, rising from his seat and fearful of awaking the cat that was sleeping on his sleeve, he cut off that part of his garment and left her undisturbed. Richelieu also found pleasure and relief in the society of cats, yet he can be regarded as only incompletely a cat lover. As kittens they appealed to him, and as kittens only. He loved to keep a family of them in his study until they arrived at a certain age; but when they were three months old he had them taken away and replaced by others that were younger. Moncrieff also loved cats and wrote about them, as did Baudelaire and Hoffmann and Gautier and Edgar Allan Poe.—July Century.

Bright Brown, Dull Green.

Brown had married the prettiest woman in the town and Green had married the homeliest, but thought she was a beauty.

One evening they met and the conversation having drifted to their respective better halves, Green remarked:

"I say, Brown, I think you and I married the two handsomest women in the village."

Brown looked at him in surprise a moment, but seeing he was serious, replied cautiously, and with pride:

"Well, old man, I guess you are about half right."

But Green didn't see the point until he told his wife and she began to make a few remarks.

REAPING BENEFIT.

From the Experience of Holland People.

We are fortunate indeed to be able to profit by the experience of our neighbors. The public utterance of Holland residents on the following subject will interest and benefit thousands of our readers. Read this statement. No better proof can be had.

Mrs. W. Lawrence, 268 Van Raalte Ave., Holland, Mich., says: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and my experience has been so satisfactory that I can recommend them. I was troubled greatly by dull pains in my kidneys and a constant backache made me miserable. The kidney secretions were also unnatural. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Geo. L. Lage's Drug Store gave me prompt and lasting relief and improved my condition in every way. You are at liberty to continue the publication of the testimonial I gave in December, 1900 in favor of this remedy.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

FOR SALE—A six year old work horse, color, gray. Is city broke. A good sound animal, weight 1300 pounds. Enquire of Al Hidding, or A. Brower, 112 E. 22nd St. Citz. phone 1077.

CHAPTER XVI.

A CONDITION.

LORD RONSDALE seemed almost to forget caution—almost, but not quite. Perhaps he was deterred by the look on John Steele's face—scornful, mocking, as if half inviting him to cast all prudence to the winds. This bit of evidence that he had not calculated upon—it was hard to give it up, but no other course remained. Besides, another—Gillett—knew of its existence. Lord Ronsdale felt he could not depend on that person in an emergency of this kind.

The nobleman moved toward the desk. The paper fluttered from his cold fingers. When once more John Steele buttoned his coat the affidavit had again found lodgment in his waistcoat pocket.

What John Steele said was for Lord Ronsdale alone. After Gillett had gone he laid down a condition.

"And if I refuse to let you dictate in a purely private concern?" Lord Ronsdale, white with passion, had answered.

Kelley, Man of Experience.

One of the strong arguments that is constantly being made for returning men to office is their experience. It stands to reason that a congressman who has served several terms, and is on to the legislative ropes, can do more for his constituency than a green hand no matter what his natural abilities may be. He knows how to go after what his people want without loss of energy, because he knows the way. An honest official's efficiency increases every year and it is only when a congressman loses his sense of obligation to the voters of his district that it is time for the voters to name his successor.

This theory of increased efficiency applies in part at least to Lieut. Gov. Patrick H. Kelley, candidate for the nomination to the governorship on the Republican ticket. Mr. Kelley is the only one of the three aspirants for the honor who has acquired the efficiency which only experience can give. As Lieutenant governor he has served the state faithfully and well, and has through that service acquired a detailed knowledge of the routine of office not only but also of the broad lines of statesmanship which are necessary for the guidance of a great state like Michigan.

With due respect for the abilities of Messrs. Musselman and Osborne, they are after all "green hands," in the duties that will devolve upon the governor. Mr. Musselman knows all about the wholesale grocery business and Mr. Osborne as a wealthy mine owner knows a thing or two about that business. But knowledge of groceries or copper ore, will hardly suffice to bring about much needed legislation. We are not comparing the relative merits of the three men, but the point is that all other things being equal Mr. Kelley has the enormous advantage of experience.

But moreover Mr. Kelley is fit for the job. He is a big man cast in a large mould. As an educator he became intimately in touch with the theory of government and as a state official he has consistently tried to bring his theory of true statesmanship into practice. While Mr. Musselman was making money selling groceries and Mr. Osborne was piling up a fortune in mines Mr. Kelley was educating the youth of the State and later was serving it as lieutenant governor at a miserly salary. He is a man of small financial means but he is rich in the experience that statesmanship needs, and his chief asset is a wealth of executive ability.

Re-Foresting.

Those who visit the lake shore resorts, Ottawa Beach, Macatawa Park, and the others, can observe the interesting process of reforestation if they will but go into the woods back from the beach and look around them. The hills along the lake shore were once covered with heavy timber, pine, spruce and hemlock. When the lumbermen finished little was left of their growth. Gradually the trees have been coming back, where they have been given the chance, and the process has been so rapid and satisfactory that today the woods constitute one of the greatest charms of these resorts. Pine and hemlock will be found in this new growth, but the varieties found in greatest abundance are the hard woods, beech, maple, oak, wild cherry and some hickory and elm.

The hills seem to be pure white sand. How anything can grow is a mystery. But these lake shore forests seem to be wonderfully thrifty and growing rapidly. The trees are not large yet. The towering monarchs of noble girth are lacking, but it takes time for such trees to grow. Less than fifty years ago the original forests were destroyed. It will take at least fifty years more to restore them. The trees now are to be found in all stages of development from the seedling to a foot in diameter. Many of the trees are low limbed and spreading, showing that they had ample room for development, but the new growth is shooting up straight and slender, as trees grow in forests, and in time the struggle for light will make the strongest tower high above the ground. The conifers that are springing up are still small, except an occasional patriarch that the lumbermen left, but they are coming on finely and in time will assert themselves.

The Gen. Lee Statue Question.

Attorney General Wickersham finds nothing in the act of Congress relating to Statuary Hall in Washington that would prevent the admission of a statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee in Confederate uniform as a representative of the State of Virginia. President Taft agrees with this opinion on the law in the case. There will always be two points of view as to Gen. Lee's course between the years 1861 and 1865. He will have partisans in works of history, but in the light of accomplished national facts he was on the wrong side in the civil war, and it will always be wrong. A statue will not influence this point one way or the other. The Confederacy failed, and justly. Its failure was a benefit to the nation and the world. The evidence on this fact is too full and clear to need discussion. It is a closed debate unless as an argumentative abstraction that no longer applies to governmental affairs to the present or future. The principle of state secession appealed to the sword and was settled for all time. In no degree whatever can any statue or emblem revive it.

Before and after the civil war Gen. Lee deserved to be held in esteem as a citizen of the United States. His services in the Mexican war were of a brilliant nature and he accepted the results of Appomattox in admirable good faith. His capacity in generalship is not denied. No leader could have made more of the resources available. The purity of his personal character is admitted. Few distinguished soldiers have maintained as high an individual moral standard. With the exception of four years of his life he was a son of the great republic formed by a perpetual union of its states. His Confederate uniform did not cover all the work and aspirations of his career. His figure in Statuary Hall will excite no feelings of animosity.

It will be another sign of amity restored under the flag of an indissoluble Union. If Gen. Lee were alive he would take pride in the country as it now exists and in its unequalled prospects.

Road building is to be taught in the big colleges of the country. The obscure post of highway commissioner will eventually become a very important one.

Candidates were Pinched.

At the big merchants' picnic at Holland Wednesday, two Grand Haven candidates for office were arrested by the officers of the mock court which was in session all day. John Kelley of the Bush & Lane Piano Co. was appointed judge of the court. Cornelius VanderMuelen was clerk of the court and John Rutgers, former register of deeds, and John Dykstra, a prominent hardware merchant, were policemen.

Congressman Diekmann was one of the first victims of the court and was hustled before the court among the first victims on the charge of running for Congress. Judge Kelly announced that there was no fine for that offense and nothing was adequate to cover the offense but a jail sentence.

Jacob Glerum of this city was pinched and fined for being a politician. When court officer Rutgers objected and informed the court that the victim was up for county clerk, the fine was doubled. John Welch was also fined for being a candidate for sheriff against Abe Stephan.

The picnic was largely attended and every body had a big time.—Grand Haven Tribune.

John F. Van Anrooy of Holland, candidate for the Republican nomination of register of deeds was in the city today, looking over his political fence.

Richard Post Found.

After a silence extending over a period of nearly a year, following a hasty and mysterious departure, Richard H. Post, the former young real estate dealer of this city, has been located in Monterey, Mexico.

For several months Post has been employed by the Monterey News, and at the time of his being dug out of obscurity a few days ago was occupying the desk of telegraph editor.

Post is charged with having uttered a forged instrument, and extradition papers for his return have been secured by Prosecutor Coburn and Sheriff Andre. Post is said to be willing to waive extradition, and as soon as certain formalities can be complied with the sheriff will leave for Mexico and bring Post back to Michigan.

About a month ago Prosecutor Coburn received a letter from a Mrs. Post (not the wife of the real estate dealer), who resided in Lansing.

RICHARD H. POST

ing, saying that she had opened by mistake a letter evidently written by the Holland man who had disappeared and intended for his wife, and that it was dated at Monterey, Mexico.

The prosecutor took the tip and at once set in motion an investigation which revealed the fact that Post was located in Monterey, where he was employed by a news paper, and that in order to communicate with his wife he was in the habit of sending a letter to relatives in Big Springs, Texas, who in turn would send it on to other relatives in Lansing and they would forward it to the wife here. It was one of these missives which fell into the hands of the wrong Mrs. Post in Lansing and revealed the whereabouts of the husband of the real Mrs. Post.

For three weeks, while presumed to be looking after his political fences, Prosecutor Coburn spent much of his time in gathering the evidence against Post, and after he was satisfied that he had a case secured extradition papers with the required signatures of state and federal officers.

The arrest of Post in Mexico was made at the request of the American consul general stationed in Mexico City and for several days he was kept in jail and not allowed to communicate with any one until friends of his on the newspaper interceded and also notified his relatives here of his arrest, this being the first intimation they had of the fact.

The arrest of Post came like a bomb tossed into the midst of the office of the Monterey News. Post had at first accepted a minor position on the paper, counting out papers to news boys, but had worked his way up until he was night telegraph editor.

Some time ago the authorities of this county secured an inkling that Post had been working for a truck gardener at Big Springs, Texas, where he had relatives living. They investigated, but found that he had fled from there. At this time it was thought that he would probably land in Mexico within a short time.

The specific charge which Post must face when he returns to Holland is uttering a forged paper. He is alleged to have on July 31 forged the name of James Evans, a farmer of Waverly, to a deed by which a house and lot in Holland valued at $1,000 was sold to Chris Nibbelink.

After the departure of Post it was stated that his relatives had settled up all the matters in which he had mixed which might cause several charges of forgery, etc., to be made against him if he could be caught, but the discovery of the Evans matter seems to indicate that such was not the case.

While the authorities have been able to learn but little of the incidents pertaining to Post's flight across the continent toward the land of the cheap silver coins, they are inclined to believe that he went at once to Big Springs when he left here.

It is not thought that he will make any fight in court and his friends are said to have expressed a desire to have him come back and face the charges.

After the disappearance of Post his wife entered a business university and took a course in stenography, saying that she wished to be able to support herself. For a time she worked in an office, but recently she went to New York city to visit friends.

It was nearly a year ago that this staid, matter-of-fact Holland, a city which is not easily disturbed, was startled by the report that Richard H. Post, one of its most popular and best known young business men, had disappeared, that his affairs were said to be in a tangled condition and that he was suspected of being implicated in deals which might land him behind the bars.

On August 24 the First State Bank of this place discovered a mortgage which Post had handled which did not look just right. The young man was requested to explain and is said to have admitted that some of the signatures were forgeries.

That same day the handsome dealer in realty disappeared and except that he was traced as far as Grand Rapids no clue could be secured which would help the officers or his friends in their efforts to find him.

People began to look around a little after Post faded from view and discovered that he had mixed in a maze of questionable transactions.

Post is a product of Holland and his family, headed by his grandfather, Henry D., and later by his father, J. C., are said to have been the first white family which settled in the city. The family was always prominent in a social and business way, and Richard never lacked for funds.

His father established the real estate business which young Post has apparently put on the shoals.

He was a dreamer and a writer of short stories of some merit. He looked at things through a pink, mellow light and every real estate transaction was a winner when it was made to him.

He probably would have made good with his business transactions and remained a highly respected citizen if he had not attempted to plunge in investments in other cities, and this started his downfall.

When Post disappeared it was said that his shortage amounted to about $50,000, but this was never verified.

His wife was formerly Miss Edith Halbert, a Battle Creek Belle.

Sheriff Andre received a dispatch signed by H. L. Weison at Mexico City, notifying him that Richard H. Post was being held provisionally by the Mexican police. The telegram stated that the sheriff would be notified when to come after the prisoner. The sheriff is therefore preparing to start at a moment's notice.

Sunday Violators Arrested.

On the grounds that the concession men at Jenison park have not kept their promise to subdue the shooting galleries and other alleged obnoxious features on Sunday, Supervisor J. Y. Huizenga of Holland township today secured a number of warrants in Justice court. The warrants were all made out for John Doe and enough of them were secured to arrest every concessionaire at Jenison Park. They were served by Deputy Sheriff Kleis and the alleged violators were arraigned late Monday afternoon. Violation of the Sunday closing law was charged.

Supervisor Huizenga was at Jenison park Sunday and he declares that, following two Sundays of quiet at the resort caused by the threat of the Holland township board to cause arrests, the concessions all were running full blast Sunday. At Macatawa park, he says, almost everything was closed.

The resort men promised sometime ago that if they were allowed to operate on Sunday all objectionable features would be curbed on that day. Now, says Supervisor Huizenga, they have broken their promise.

As To Deep Water Ways.

The lakes to the gulf water way plan has met the ill favor of the Michiganders because men who have studied the proposition fear that the alteration of the contract thus caused would effect the climate of the eastern shore of Lake Michigan seriously. As the western section of Michigan is at present the great fruit section of the state, a change in the climate might destroy this great industry. It is claimed by some authorities that the bringing of the cold waters of Lake Superior into Lake Michigan would effect the conditions to such an extent as to greatly damage, if not utterly destroy the great fruit belt of the western part of the state.

Frank B. Wade of Traverse City, who has made a study of fruit and climatic conditions affecting it, immediately took up the matter when he learned that the fruit belt of Michigan was in danger and he communicated with the Michigan representatives in Congress.

Mr. Diekmann jumped into the fight against the scheme which threatened destruction to one of Michigan's greatest resources. In his reply to Mr. Wade he said:

"This subject is worthy of the most serious consideration on the part of the Michigan delegation in Congress. We are indebted to you for the careful study you have made of the subject and for the publicity you have given your investigations. This industry annually means millions of dollars to our people, and no diversion of the waters of the lake for deep waterways canal from the lakes to the Mississippi which would injure this greatest of Michigan industries should be allowed."—Grand Haven Tribune.

Harry Britt.

Mourned by a host of friends among both the wealthy and laboring classes of this city, Harry Britt, veteran liquor dealer passed away at his summer home at Macatawa Park last Thursday night. Death was not unexpected as Mr. Britt had been confined to his bed for several days.

For 10 years Mr. Britt was in business at 73 North Market street, Grand Rapids, Mich. Previous to that time he was agent for several years for the Toledo Brewing company in this city, with his place of business on West Division street. When Mr. Britt first took the location on Market street it was in as a wholesale liquor dealer.

About five years ago Amos J. Siegel became a partner in the business, which was then transformed to a retail establishment and a cafe added.

Previous to coming to this city Mr. Britt was in the confectionary business in Toledo, and before that time lived in Montreal, Canada. Mr. Britt was one of the pioneer members of the Toledo Traveling Men's association, and at the time of his death was a member of Daisy lodge Elks.

Mr. Britt was 56 years of age, and since coming to this city had resided at 222 Paris avenue. He is survived by a widow, two sons, Harry, aged 24, and Douglas, aged 8, and a daughter, Margaret, aged 5. All the members of the family were at Mr. Britt's bedside at the time of death.

The deceased was an active member of St. Andrew's church.

Must Give Bond

Cornelius Yeskees for whom the officials took a long chase into the Dakotas, was convicted in circuit court of wife abandonment. The judge gave him until next Wednesday to provide a bond of $1,000 to support his wife and four minor children and if he fails to do this, he will be sentenced by the judge. The man left his wife and family to shift for themselves in October, 1909. Daniel Fogelson appeared as his attorney and Prosecutor Coburn looked after the interests of the state.

John Hovenga and Arthur Hill, both charged with having given liquor to minors, were each sentenced to sign the pledge for one year, the costs and 30 days in the Detroit house of correction, the later to be suspended during the period they keep the pledge.

The court will reconvene next Tuesday to dispose of one more criminal case, after which civil matters will be taken up.

Largest Olive Ranch in the World

Very few Eastern people, comparatively know that the largest olive ranch in the world is located within twenty-five miles of Los Angeles, Cal. This wonderful orchard situated at Sylmar, is ten times larger than the finest olive ranch in Spain. There are over 125,000 olive bearing trees, and they average 50 pounds of olives to the tree. The Sylmar ranch consists of 12,000 acres, and each acre contains 110 trees, which produce 2,000 gallons of olives each season. This quantity of fruit makes 250 gallons of pure olive oil, valued at $2 per gallon, thus equaling $500 per acre profit.

The olive wood is highly prized by cabinet makers, as it is very hard and takes a high polish. The Italians consider an olive orchard as a perpetual source of wealth, as the older it grows the more valuable it becomes. The trees are supposed to live, under favorable conditions, about 4,000 years. There are some olive trees now on the Mount of Olives, in Palestine, which are computed to be no less than 3,000 years old. The olive industry has been growing steadily in California since its first introduction by the early Spanish mission fathers; and the olive culture in that State can never be outdone, since the olive can be produced on the American continent with any degree of success only in central and southern California, New Mexico and Arizona.

Deaths

Mrs. May Brown, daughter of Mrs. John De Boer of Fairbanks avenue passed away Tuesday afternoon at U. B. A. hospital in Grand Rapids, succumbing to the effects of a recent serious operation. The deceased who is well known here was 38 years of age and is survived by a husband, three brothers and one sister.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home, The Rev. H. J. Veldman officiating and interment will be at Pilgrim's Home cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. John Van Leeuwen who died Thursday morning was held Saturday afternoon from the home, 177 East Sixth street and from the M. E. church, Rev. Merrill officiating. She was 21 years old and is survived by a husband, six sisters and one brother.

Kolyn Selected

Rev. Matthew Kolyn, D. D., pastor of the Second Reformed church of Grand Rapids has been requested to act as professor of church history for one year at the Western Theological Seminary.

The Board of Superintendents of the seminary met Tuesday afternoon in the Semelink Family Hall to choose a professor to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. G. H. Dubbink. The board is not empowered to make permanent appointments, but it met to fill the vacancy until the synod can take action at its next annual meeting.

Dr. N. M. Steffens, professor of Church History at the seminary was asked to accept the chair of Didactic and Polemic Theology to succeed Dr. Dubbink, and he has accepted the position. The board then proceeded to request Rev. Matthew Kolyn to accept the position vacated by Dr. Steffens. Rev. Kolyn is spending his vacation in Orange City, Ia., and it is not known whether he will accept the appointment. He is one of the most able men in the Reformed church and in case he accepts the position will be a valuable member of the Seminary faculty.

The board will make its nomination for permanent professor next May, and in June the general synod will proceed to an election. If they so see fit the synod can make three nominations and from the four men one will be chosen.

Assaulted Conductor

For the first time since the assault on Al Brinkman at the Saugatuck Junction Saturday from the effects of which the popular conductor is lying at his home in this city in a serious condition, George Ellsworth has broken his silence and talked freely of the quarrel leading up to the assault. The Kalamazoo man, who returned home yesterday to await the outcome of the injuries to Brinkman and his trial, expresses the deepest regret at the outcome, declares that in striking Brinkman he acted in self-defense and the attorneys whom he has retained will follow this line in his defense on whatever charge he may finally be arraigned.

Ellsworth's story of the altercation is that the trouble arose when he and his step-father, George H. Maltz, were on their way back to Saugatuck and found it necessary to change cars at the junction. Ellsworth is lame as the result of a recent accident and could not move quickly, and he claims that Brinkman called to him very sharply. Ellsworth answered in kind, and his remark angered Brinkman, it is alleged, who made a motion as if to strike the doctor. In an effort to defend himself, the Kalamazoo man struck the conductor with his crutch, the blow falling on Brinkman's neck and shoulder, knocking him into the ditch and rendering him unconscious. Motorman Labardie of the car, it is said, then got off the car and took a hand in the affray, throwing Mr. Ellsworth to the ground and pounding him until bystanders separated the two.

"I deeply regret that the altercation took place," said he "as it has given me a notoriety wholly unsought for by me, and has been a source of great anxiety to my relatives. The conductor followed the length of the car as it to assault me, before I struck him. The affair took place on the ground alongside the car. Brinkman seemed angered because I did not move fast as he thought I should.

"I still bear the marks of the beating administered by the motorman of the car which also took place beside the track.

Attorney A. B. Titus and William Guiltyle, both of Kalamazoo, claim that the doctor was the aggrieved party, and Titus is to be one of the attorneys for the defense. Charles Mc Bride, who appeared for Ellsworth when the doctor was arraigned before Justice Miles almost immediately after the assault, will also represent him in the circuit court proceedings.

The third annual Mission-Fest of the Reformed churches of Western Michigan is being held to-day in Brown's Grove near Fruit Street Station, Jamestown Center, and an elaborate programme has been prepared. Special music will be rendered by the Zeeland Band and a male quartette. Interesting addresses upon missionary topics will be delivered by Rev. Albertus Pieters, a missionary in South Japan for nineteen years, Rev. John Van Ess, who has just returned to American on his first furlough after seven and one-half years of service in Arabia, Rev. Wm. Moerdyke of Zeeland, Mich., Rev. R. Bloemendal of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Rev. G. J. Hekhuis of Overisel, Mich. The chairman of the day will be Rev. A. Oltmans, D. D. of this city who is to return soon to his work in the Meiji Gakuin, Tokio, Japan.

The place selected for the fest is a delightful grove only a few minutes walk from the Interurban track, and this occasion will afford a splendid opportunity to combine a pleasant outing amid the beauties of nature with the enjoyment of a profitable and inspiring programme. Many should avail themselves of this opportunity.

The Interurban Co., has granted a special rate of 25 cents for the round trip from Holland, and special cars will leave at 8:35 in the morning, and will be ready for the return trip at Fruit Street station at 4:45 p. m. Tickets are on sale at the Ticket office and at G. L. Lage's on West Thirtieth street. This will be a basket picnic, although refreshments can be secured at the Canteen on the grounds. Games and sports have also been provided for, and interesting missionary books will be given as prizes to the winners in the contests.

De Molai of Grand Rapids, is one of the strongest commanderies of the Knight Templars, who were founded about 1172, and derives its name from Jacques De Molai, who was grandmaster in Normandy in 1314 and suffered martyrdom on account of his connection with the order.

Nearly 200 strong the Knights Templar Commandery De Molai No. 5, from Grand Rapids marched down Eighth street in full uniform Monday evening on their way to Chicago where they will attend the triennial convocation of the order. Shortly after 9 o'clock the company stepped off the Interurban and marched down the street four abreast. Proceeded by the Second Regiment Band of Grand Rapids, the procession was an imposing one. Tom J. G. Bolt

FOR STATE SENATOR

Senator Tom J. Bolt asks to be returned to the State Senate, as his right by long established precedent and custom

At the coming primary election to be held on Sept. 6th, Mr. Tom J. G. Bolt of Moorland, Muskegon County will be a candidate for renomination by the Republican party of the 23rd district, for his second term as a member of the State Senate.

As you no doubt are aware, party precedent has long established that "one good term deserves another," and that a public officer who has served his district well and truly during one term in office is entitled to the favorable consideration of the members of his party for his second term.

The argument of good political policy, called properly to the attention of the voters of this district, should in itself suffice to insure Senator Bolt's renomination, but there are other reasons, far more important to the people of his district, why Mr. Bolt should be returned to office.

In the first place it is a well recognized fact that in all legislative bodies new members find it harder to gain recognition than old ones. A first term never receives the important committee appointments that are laid before a second term. As in every other branch of work, experience counts strongly, and Senator Bolt's one term at Lansing will make him a much more valuable representative of his constituency than a new man.

Senator Bolt's record in the State Senate should satisfy the people of his district. On record, his vote stands in favor of the ad valorem taxation of telephone and telegraph companies, in favor of a state-wide primary law, in favor of measures aiding the conservation of the natural and unexpended resources of the state, in favor of the "home rule" measures, and in favor of every act that the people of Michigan endorsed when called upon so to do at the previous election.

Senator Bolt was a member of the Labor Committee of the Senate and aided in the deliberations of that body, which finally passed what is now considered by labor organizations the state over as the best protective measure for the workingman Michigan has ever had.

Through his efforts the City of Muskegon was placed in the list of cities of the state in which free employment bureaus are authorized to be established by the commissioner of labor.

He introduced what is known as the "Optometry Bill" in the Senate, which when it became a law created a new and successful state board.

In many ways was Senator Bolt a good order gave a sponsor to the march such as is seldom seen on the streets of this city.

To the accompaniment of the stirring band music the Knights marched down the street to the Graham & Morton docks where they took the boat for Chicago. Following are the local members of the order, all but three or four of whom accompanied the commandery to Chicago: Mayor Henry Brusse; L. E. Van Drezer, Dr. L. Thiele, Percy Ray, Frank Hadden, servant of this district in the last Senate, and nowhere can his opponents gain strength by pointing to his record.

In prospective legislation, Mr. Bolt stands for the interest of the people. He believes unequivocally in the tonnage tax upon ore; he stands ready to carry out the wishes of the people upon all important propositions as they become known to him, expressed or implied—including the popular vote for United States Senator at the primary election.

It has been a time honored and never violated practice of the two counties comprising the 23rd district, viz., the counties of Ottawa and Muskegon, proposed and inaugurated by local and public-spirited gentlemen, to give two consecutive terms to each of the two counties alternately, each making in convention the choice of a candidate for the two terms assigned to her, which action has always been endorsed by waiting county.

Mr. Bolt was the chosen candidate of the Republican party for four years, as shown by the action of the Republican Senatorial convention held in the city of Grand Haven, Sept. 9, 1908.

Mr. Bolt stands for a continuation of this practice and does not understand why the direct nomination system should in any way alter this eminently fair and equitable gentlemen's agreement of so long standing and prolific of so good result.

In case Senator Bolt is not returned to the State Senate for his second term, this district will suffer, as it will miss the value of that "second-time representation in the upper house at Lansing which comes every other two years.

As a proposition of business wisdom, Senator Bolt should be renominated. Good legislative policy urges it; good republicanism demands it.

Senator Bolt is the representative of the people. He represents no corporation. He has no connection whatsoever with any of the interests that are endeavoring to use the people's natural resources. His vote at Lansing during the last sessions shows him against the water power combine that is trying to control Michigan. Does this appeal to you?

The coming session of the legislature will be an important one. Do you want the people again represented in the Senate by Senator Bolt, tried and not found wanting, or will your support be for a new and untried man.

A Cold.

Is not necessarily serious, provided it is taken care of. It is frequently the starting point of many dangerous diseases. When it comes use Dr. Bell's Pine Tar-Honey. Look for the bell on the bottle.

A TYPEWRITER BUILT TO ORDER

If you could have a typewriter made to order, how would you have it? Built for show—or built for service? Loaded down with attachments, devices and mechanism—or simple, durable and efficient? Would you demand the most machinery—or the best, in materials, workmanship and results?

The ROYAL STANDARD TYPEWRITER has every quality that you would demand in a made-to-order machine. It meets every requirement of efficiency, durability and economy. The first thing you notice about the Royal is its simplicity. You see instantly that it is constructed on new and correct principles, with all needless attachments and devices eliminated.

The Royal is built for service. It has only about half as many parts as other standard machines. The simplicity thus secured works for your advantage in four ways: A saving in the original investment; low cost of maintenance; minimum of effort and maximum of convenience in operation; and the long life of the machine.

The price of the Royal is $65—a new standard price for a high grade writing machine.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE

BIBLE STUDIES

"GO YE ALSO INTO THE VINEYARD."

Matthew 20:1-16.—August 14.

"Many that are first shall be last; and the last shall be first."—Matt. 19:30.

GRAPE culture was one of the main industries of the days of the Great Teacher. The stony hillsides of Palestine were once terraced and extensively used as vineyards. On our recent visit we noted with particular interest the revival of this custom, as one of the evidences of the beginning of restitution of the Holy Land.—Acts 3:19-21.

The grapevine was honored of the Master, in that he used it in a parable, to symbolize himself and the Church, saying, "I am the Vine, ye are the branches;" "My Father is the husbandman;" "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit;" "Every branch in me which beareth fruit he pruneth it that it may bring forth more fruit;" "Every branch in me that beareth not fruit he taketh away."

Our present Study, the Parable of the Laborers, is in full accord with the foregoing, but shows the matter from a different standpoint. It shows how each one of the Lord's consecrated Church, each heir of the Messianic Kingdom shortly to be established, is privileged to be a co-laborer with his Lord and Master and with the Heavenly Father in the vineyard work—tending the vine, looking out for the injurious pests, keeping the soil in good condition, assisting every way in the production of "much fruit" and of fine quality. Evidently many Christian people do not appreciate the privilege of being laborers in the Church of Christ—"building one another up in the most holy faith" until we all come to the full stature of a man in the Anointed One.

St. Paul appreciated this privilege greatly, saying, God hath made us qualified servants of the New Covenant. So then we, as ambassadors for God, beseech men. Be ye reconciled to God. (2 Corinthians 5:20.) Whoever is negligent of his opportunities to serve others who manifest a hearing ear, a humble heart and a teachable spirit shows his own lack of appreciation of God's message. He thus indicates that he has not come to a knowledge of God nor to a knowledge of the Truth respecting the Divine Plan. And indeed the Scriptures declare that a deep knowledge of God, his Word and his purposes, is attained only as a gift of God, bestowed only upon those who are in a humble, faithful, zealous attitude of mind—"To you it is given to know the mysteries of the Kingdom of God."

The things pertaining to God's Kingdom, in its future operation toward the world for a thousand years, will be openly manifested to every creature, shortly. But now it is appropriate, and is the Divine will, that these things should be known only to the Church, the consecrated, the spirit-begotten sons of God. Likewise there are important truths pertaining to the Kingdom class, the Church, which is being prepared to be the Bride of Christ and his Joint-heirs in the Kingdom. And these things are likewise intended to be comparatively secret—to be clearly and full understood only by such as have made a covenant with the Lord by sacrifice. (Psalms 50:5.) "The secret of the Lord is with them that reverence him, and he will show them his Covenant." (Psalms 25:14.) All such in close sympathy with the Divine purposes will be anxious to serve the Lord, the Truth and the brethren. And such from time to time will be specially sent into the Vineyard, and will be specially used of the Lord for the assistance of his consecrated people in various ways.

The word "penny" here is from the Greek denarius, a silver coin of about 17 cents value. But the value of money has so changed in recent years that today a laborer's wage in proportion to other things would be considerable more. The denarius was the Roman standard of that time, as the lira is the Italian standard, the mark the German standard, the franc the French standard, the shilling the English standard and the dollar the American standard. It is worthy of note that in one of the fine old English cathedrals the records show that its excellent chisel work, superior to anything of today, cost "A penny a day and a bag of meal for each laborer." The parable of our lesson is evidently intended to teach that God will give all that he has agreed to all who labor—that he may in generosity give more than he has stipulated.

At the close of the day, we read, those first hired murmured against their lord. We cannot suppose that any who would be counted worthy of a share in the Kingdom would murmur against the Giver of all Good. The rewarding is to be expected at the close of the harvest day and the murmuring may be expected there also. The "penny" or reward would thus seem to be something of the joys, blessings, honors and privileges of God's people in the present life, at the close of this age. Those who murmur that they do not receive a sufficiency of honor and distinction and of Divine acknowledgment will be thereby proving themselves unfit for the future service "beyond the veil," as members of the Church inglorious. This would seem to point a warning to those of God's people who have been long in the Truth and who have had great privileges of service, that if they murmur against the blessings and rewards coming to them, it will mean that they were laboring for the reward merely and not appreciating the privilege of being laborers with Christ and with the Father; it would imply that they had failed to enter into the spirit of the wonderful privileges granted them of serving the Lord, the Truth and the brethren. The right spirit, the proper interest in the Father's work and in the brethren should prompt all to rejoice with every new laborer and to be glad that all such should receive of the Lord's favors, blessings and enlightenment as fully, as freely, as themselves. Surely any who have not this spirit have not the spirit of Christ on this subject.

The general lesson is that God is so just, so generous, so bountiful, in his dealings that all those who appreciate matters from his standpoint will rejoice in the blessings which overflow upon others. A failure to appreciate the Lord's generosity was one cause of stumbling to the Jews eighteen centuries ago—they were offended that the Gospel message should go out beyond them to the Gentiles. Similarly today some Christian people are stumbling over the fact that the Word of God shows that, whereas Divine blessings are now confined to the Church, "the elect," the servants and handmaidens of the Gospel Age, yet the time is near at hand when "God will pour out his spirit upon all flesh," and when all the families of the earth shall be blessed.

All who have the privilege of bearing the labor and heat of the day in the Lord's service must be glad of the privilege, in order to be worthy of participation in the Kingdom. Thus some who seem to be first in their promptness to respond to the Lord's call for laborers may be amongst the last to receive special blessings of grace and Truth and this may serve as a special test upon them—as respects their loyalty, and the motives which actuated them in engaging in the Vineyard work.

WHAT YOU SAW IN THIS PAPER

35 Years ago To-day.

The storm of last Friday, was a severe one, and we record the following items. The Scow Eagle, of Grand Haven early in the morning before day-light ran ashore south of the pier. She mistook this harbor for Saugatuck where the light is on the north pier, and instead of running in between the piers, she went straight for the beach. She was light and got off the next day.

The sch. Hero, 60 tons, stranded south of De Feyter's pier, and soon proved a total wreck. She hailed from Chicago and was bound for that place, loaded with cordwood; no insurance on vessel or cargo. A part of her stern is all there is left to mark the spot where she laid. The crew barely escaped; the yawl was lost in the lake. The captain was one-half owner.

The scow Banner, owned by De Feyter Brothers, got on the beach about 10 o'clock, a. m., eight miles south of Grand Haven. Her cargo consisted of wood and was owned by the same parties; the deck load was lost. On Saturday they lighted her and on Sunday morning the tug Twilight of this place went down there, and succeeded in getting her off the next day, reaching here at 1 o'clock p. m. She lost her ribs, but no damage was done to the hull.

The sch. Four Brothers on her way from here to Chicago, loaded with wood for Mr. Cornford, weathered the gale, but sprung a leak and lost about 10 cords of her deck load. She is hauled out at Anderson's ship yard.

The steamer Huron was caught in South Haven on her way here, and could not get out.

At Grand Haven, at about 9 o'clock, Capt. Harry Smith, the light house keeper at that port, discovered a schooner off the pier with her mainmast by the board. She drifted a half-mile south of the harbor, was beached, and immediately commenced breaking up. Through the rain, mist and spray, five men could be distinguished clinging to the wreck. Boat No 1 of the Amazon, had been brought down the beach by team. After most strenuous efforts they reached the vessel and as the men one by one were helped on board, the great crowd which had almost held its breath for fear, burst into hearty cheers.

The rafts of logs which the propeller New Era was obliged to let go adrift in the gale of Thursday night has arrived safely in Grand Haven. A few sections are still adrift, but it is expected they will all be recovered.

At a caucus held at Squire Fairbanks office on Monday evening last, G. Van Schelven, Esq. was elected chairman of the City Committee, vice K. Schaddelee, declined. The caucus then elected the following delegates to the county convention:

W. J. Scott, J. Spijker, 1st ward; E. Vanden Berge, 2nd ward; L. T. Kanter, W. Van Putten, 3rd ward; J. Van Putten, 4th ward; G. Van Schelvan, at large.

WHAT YOU SAW 25 YEARS AGO

The people of America are mourning today. Memorial services in honor of General Grant are being held all over the land. At Holland the committee appointed by the common Council last week have been actively engaged in making all the necessary preparations for befitting services to be held here. The program arranged by the committee is a most excellent one. The services will be held in the grove on the college campus among the sighing pines, which trees surrounded the General's last dwelling place on earth. Hon. M. C. Burch, of Grand Rapids, will deliver the oration. The procession will be formed at Lyceum hall at 1 o'clock, in charge of Lieutenant J. Kamer, and will march to the grove in the following order: A. C. Van Raalte Post, G. A. R. and ex-soldiers, Chaplain and Speaker, Mayor and ex-Mayors, Common Council, City Officials, Board of Education, President and Faculty of Hope College, Clergy, Press and Citizens. The various bells of the city will begin to toll at one o'clock. A salute of thirteen guns will be fired at sunrise, followed by half hourly guns at sunset. Mayor Kanter will be president of the day. The order of exercises at the grove have been arranged to take place as follows: Prayer, Rev. Charles Scott, D. D.; Music, vocal, "Sleep Thy Last Sleep," choir; Address, Hon. M. C. Burch, of Grand Rapids; Music, vocal, "Nearer, My God to Thee," choir and assemblage; Address, (Holland,) Rev. John Vander Meulen, Ebenezer; Music, vocal, "Peace at Last," choir; Benediction, chaplain. The music for the occasion will be under the direction of Mr. D. Gilmore, and will be rendered by a special choir of twenty voices. It is hoped that all business will be suspended during the hours of the funeral and that all citizens will pay homage to America's illustrious dead General by attending the services. In case the weather should not permit of holding the exercises in the grove, they will be held in the Ninth street Holland Christian Reformed church.

Elias Becker, while at work on a scaffolding at the new warehouse near the mill on Thursday afternoon fell to the ground, a distance of 25 feet, and broke his ankle, besides sustaining other painful injuries. He will be confined to his home for some time.

On Sunday night burglars succeeded in effecting an entrance to Harry Tindell's cigar and confectionary store on Eighth St. by cutting through a screen door. Both Mr. and Mrs. Tindell had retired and were either chloroformed or slept very soundly as they knew nothing about the burglary until morning when Mr. Tindell came to look for his pants. The thieves succeeded in securing two gold watches, a chain and about 35 in gold coin. The purse containing the money was taken from beneath Mrs. Tindell's pillow and she says she has a slight recollection of some one lifting her head up during the night but thought it was her husband. No capture of the criminals has yet been made, although the police are of the opinion that, two colored men who were seen on the streets during the evening by night watchman Sakkers acting in a very suspicious manner are responsible. An effort was made the same night to enter the house of B. Steketee but the latter and his wife frightened them away before they could accomplish anything.

WHAT YOU SAW 10 YEARS AGO

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Abe Japin-ga, Wednesday.—a son.

Jan Luidens, one of New Holland's oldest settlers, died Saturday evening at the age of 74 years.

John Groulx the daring young aeronaut of Grand Rapids, was killed last Tuesday afternoon in the presence of thousands of horrified spectators who had gathered at the resort to see him make a balloon ascension and parachute drop at Macatawa Park.

The ascension was made from the beach a little north of the Macatawa dock. It was just before 5 o'clock in the evening, the weather was fine, scarcely a breath of wind was stirring and everything was favorable for a safe ascent.

As the balloon left the earth the clever young athlete performed gymnastic feats and gaily waved a good-by salute to the crowd. Never was a finer ascension witnessed. Every move of the man showed that he knew not the meaning of the word "danger." When he reached a height of about 2500 feet the crowd watched in breathless suspense while he left the balloon and started down the parachute. A sudden jerk caused him to lose his grip on the bar and to the horror of the spectators he fell to the water a distance of nearly half a mile. He came whirling through space, his arms and legs dangling and twisting. Then his body bent and he started to turn over and over with frightful rapidity, presenting a terrible spectacle as he plunged to death. He struck in about two feet of water a few rods east of the Pere Marquette freight dock. His body bounded in the air and a shower of water was dashed in the air about ten feet.

The marriage of Henry Meengs and Miss Mamie Bosman took place last Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bosman. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Egbert Winter, of the seminary, in the presence of the immediate relatives.

Saved from Awful Peril.

"I never felt so near my grave," writes Lewis Chamblin, of Manchester, Ohio, R. R. No. 3. "As when a frightful cough and lung trouble pulled me down to 115 pounds in spite of many remedies and the best doctors. And that I am alive to day is due solely to Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. Now I weigh 160 pounds and can work hard. It also cured my four children of croup." Infallible for Coughs and Colds, its most certain remedy for LaGrippe, Asthma, desperate lung trouble and all bronchial affections, 50c and $1.00 A trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Walsh Drug Co. H. R. Doesburg.

President Helps Orphans.

Hundreds of orphans have been helped by the President of the Industrial and Orphan's Home at Macon, Ga., who writes, "We have used Electric Bitters in this Institution for nine years. It has proved a most excellent medicine for Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. We regard as one of the best family medicines on earth." It invigorates all vital organs, purifies the blood, aids digestion, creates appetite. To strengthen and build up pale, thin, weak children or rundown people, it has no equal. Best for female complaints. Only 50c. at H. R. Doesburg, Walsh Drug Co.

Present: Hon. Edward P. Kirby Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Mary A. Keefer, deceased.

Fred R. Keefer, having filed in said court his petition praying that a certain instrument in writing, purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, now on file in said court be admitted to probate, and that the administration of said estate be granted to himself or to some other suitable person.

Farmers Picnic

The Holland Interurban will have special rates in effect for the Farmer's Picnic at Jenison Park Wednesday, June 17th. The rate from Grandville will be $.50, from Jamestown $.40, from Vriesland $.40, from Zeeland $.25 and from Saugatuck $.20. Special service will be maintained throughout the entire day and evening.

The plans are now made for the whole day's program. There will be a big barbeque served at 11:30 A. M. with the roast oxen, roast sheep and coffee. Music will be furnished by the Zeeland and Drenthe bands. In the afternoon there will be a program of speaking, presided over by Congressman G. J. Diekema. The speakers will be the Hon. Philip Padgham, judge of the Circuit Court and the Hon. Edward L. Hamilton, Congressman of the 4th District of Michigan. In the afternoon there will be sports and games and another service of the barbeque at 5:30 p. m. There will be a special program in the evening.

This Farmer's Picnic is an annual event and has been attended more and more year by year. The residents of Allegan, Kent and Ottawa counties plan to meet each other at Jenison Park on this day every year.

Knocks Ellis Personally.

As was expected, Congressman Diekema is being opposed for re-nomination to congress by Mayor Ellis of Grand Rapids who is going about the district making disparaging remarks about Mr. Diekema's political record and advocating some desirable reforms in much the same way that the devil sometimes puts on the livery of heaven. There is one thing, if no other, which should defeat George E. Ellis, and that is his thoroughly detestable personable character; but this will not stand in the way of some thousands of Kent county Republicans voting for him on grounds of "local pride"—though just where basis for pride in Ellis comes in is not perceptible to anybody outside of Kent county.—Allegan Gazette.

Political Notes

The Democrats of Ottawa county have framed the following slate for the submission to the voters of that county at the coming primaries: Sheriff E. B. Thurston, Chester clerk, Wm. Baumgartel, Holland; register of deeds, Wm. Buck, Wright; treasurer, Alle Toppen, Holland; probate judge, Herman Van Tongeren, Holland; circuit court commissioners, Peter J. Danhof, Grand Haven and Cornelius Struik, Jamestown; coroners, D. Chappel, Wright and Dr. A. Van der Veen, Grand Haven; county surveyor, Gerrit Hesselink, Holland; First district representative, Mayor Henry Brusse, Holland; second district representative, John F. Wilde, Wright.

Mr. Ellis will find it hard work to break very largely into the Diekema sentiment in this part of the county and especially in the city of Belding. Mr. Diekema's record in congress will bear the closest scrutiny, he is already counted as one of the strong men of the house and certainly there is no reason or necessity for making a change in the Fifth district representative at this time.—Belding Banner.

"I feel that Congressman Diekema has made us a splendid congressman. Ionia county has been looked after by him in an A. No. 1 shape. He has made a splendid record in the national house of representatives, we have tried and he has not been found wanting. He desires to return and I know of no reason why we should 'swap horses' at this time. I am saying nothing whatever against Mr. Ellis. It is not necessary to do so, but when we have a man in congress like Gerrit J. Diekema, the voters in this county cannot afford to make a change and he ought to and I believe will receive 90 per cent of the votes at the primaries. I trust that every Republican will go to the polls on Sept. 6th and see that our present congressman receives the majority to which he is justly entitled."—F. C. Miller.

The contract for the remodeling of the John Nies Hardware store has been let to A. Postma.

GREAT RUN WITH THE GRAND PIANO

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEER TELLS HOW HE WITNESSED THE MACHINE GO SOME.

GETS EXCITED AT A CONCERT

Professor Knew His Business, and the Way He Tore Through the Yard and Down the Line Was a Caution.

Chicago.—"I was loitering around the streets one night," said Jim Nelson, one of the old locomotive engineers running into Chicago. "As I had nothing to do I dropped into a concert and heard a sleek-looking Frenchman play a piano in a way that made me feel all over in spots. As soon as he sat down on the stool I knew by the way he handled himself that he understood the machine he was running."

He tapped the keys away up one end, as if they were gauges and he wanted to see if he had water enough. Then he looked up as if he wanted to know how much steam he was carrying, and the next moment he pulled open the throttle and sailed onto the main line as if he was half an hour late. You could hear her thunder over culverts and bridges and getting faster and faster, until the fellow rocked about in his seat like a cradle. Somehow I thought it was old 935 pulling a passenger train and getting out of the way of a general manager's special. He worked the keys on the middle division like lightning, and then he flew along the north end of the line until the drivers went around like a buzz saw and I got excited.

About the time I was fixing to tell him to cut her off a little he kicked the dampers under the machine wide open, pulled the throttle 'way back in the tender, and how he did run! I couldn't stand it any longer, and yelled to him that she pounding on the left side, and if he wasn't careful he'd drop his ash-pan. But he didn't hear. No one heard me. Everything was flying and whizzing. Telegraph poles on the side of the track looked like a row of cornstalks, and trees appeared to be a mud-bank, and all the time the exhaust of the old machine sounded like the hum of a bumble-bee. I tried to yell out, but my tongue wouldn't move. He went around the curves like a bullet, slipped an eccentric, blew out his soft plug—went down grades fifty feet to the mile and didn't touch the air once. She went by the meeting point at a mile and a half a minute, and calling for more steam. My hair stood up straight, because I knew the game was up.

Sure enough, dead ahead of us was the headlight of a "special." In a daze I heard the crash as they struck, and I saw cars shivered into atoms, people smashed and mangled and bleeding and gasping for water. I heard another crash as the French professor struck the deep keys away down on the lower end of the Southern division, and then I came to my senses. There he was at a dead standstill, with the door of the fire-box of the machine open, wiping the perspiration off his face with a hunk of waste, and bowing to the people before him. If I live to be 1,000 years I'll never forget the ride that Frenchman gave me on a piano."

Dog Buried in $150 Casket.

Joplin, Mo.—It remained for "Babe," a little yellow cur puppy, to have the most expensive burial ever given a dog in this section. Once a canine walt, the dog was picked up on the street by nine-year-old Martha Odell, daughter of O. M. Odell, formerly commercial agent for the Missouri Pacific railway. After several months of prosperous life, the pup died and it was buried with ceremony in a $150 rosewood casket in the Odell family lot at Nevada, Mo.

Chick Has Three Eyes.

Queensdown, N. J.—A chicken with three eyes and two mouths was hatched upon the premises of Mrs. Frank B. Anthony.

$10,000 WORTH —OF— HARDWARE MUST BE SOLD!

We have let the contract to entirely remodel our store. The wall between the two rooms will be taken out, a new addition built on the rear, and a new plate glass front is to be put in. When completed we will have one of the roomiest and best hardware stores in Michigan.

Now, in order to do this work the contractors MUST HAVE ROOM; and to make room we will sell the goods at prices which have never before been offered and may never be again.

SALE NOW ON!

If you need anything in the hardware line now, or will need anything soon, don't fail to come and see what we have to offer.

JOHN NIES HARDWARE

43-45 East Eighth St., Holland, Mich.

Mrs. Ben Mulder and daughter, Lucile were in Grand Rapids yesterday.

The three year-old son of Fred Dorgelo strayed away from home yesterday and several hours later when found by the police he was about two miles from home. Unable to speak his name he was identified by a letter carrier and returned to the custody of his parents.

At a meeting of the board of education last night two new teachers were engaged for the coming year. Miss Kinney of Remus, Mich. will teach the fourth grade and Miss Williams of Battle Creek was engaged as teacher of the fifth grade.

Jamestown and Zeeland farmers have been victimized by a swindler who has a new game. One of the victims was Hilbert DeKliene, a brother of Dr. DeKliene of this city. The stranger secured the farmer's signature to some papers which enabled him to carry out the legal formalities incidental to receiving money at a Zeeland bank.—Grand Haven Tribune.

The members of the A. C. Van Raalte W. R. C. presented their president, Mrs. Florence M. Boot, with a handsome souvenir spoon yesterday as a slight appreciation of her splendid work during G. A. R. convention. The presentation was made by Miss Nellie Thompson. Mrs. Boot, although very much surprised, responded saying how much she liked the corps and its members.

John Nies, the hardware man, will make a gigantic change in his store at 43 45 E. 8th street, and when completed will have one of the best hardware companies in western Michigan. The building now consists of two stores with a wall separating them. The wall will be taken out thus making a large roomy store out of it. An addition will also be built to the rear of the building, and the new plate glass front that will be put in will show the large beautiful interior to good advantage. They are now conducting a large sale in order to make room for the remodeling.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Vander Meulen of Fairview, Ill., are spending a brief vacation at a cottage at Macatawa.

Miss Martha De Jonge, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. De Jonge of the First Reformed church of Zeeland, has signed a contract to serve for another year as instructor in the Memorial academy at Cedar Grove, Wis. Miss De Jonge has held this position for the past three years and has become one of the strongest members of the academy's faculty. She graduated from Hope college. Miss Mae Brussee of this city another graduate of the same class has accepted a position in the North western Classical academy at Orange City, Ia. Miss Brussee has been teaching in the public schools here. Miss Brussee and Miss De Jonge were the only young ladies in their class and have since proved to be highly successful teachers.

Notice to Contractors

All bids must be in by the 21st to be opened the 22nd of August. All bids must be mailed to H. Hesselink West Olive, R. No. 1, Mich. The district board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. 2w 32

Fire at Ottawa Beach.

Fire originating in a defective chimney in the cottage home of Ralph Dutton at Ottawa Beach caused a general conflagration there Tuesday afternoon, four cottages being completely destroyed and several others scorched before the fire fighters were able to bring the blaze under control.

A high southwest breeze aided the flame in their work and the loss will be about $15,000.

The fire broke out about 1 o'clock, and in a few minutes the Ralph Dutton home, which is the next to the last cottage on the Black lake shore toward Holland, was a mass of flames. A few minutes later Mrs. Anna M. Steinhart's cottage, just to the east, blazed up and the inmates were able to remove only a few of their most valued possessions.

The Henry J. Ross cottage, to the westward, caught fire and was a total loss. The cottage owned by Florence T. Bates did not catch fire until there was time to remove most of the furniture. The McGregor cottage, next west, was badly scorched, but was saved.

The life savers were the first to respond to the alarm and took charge of the fire fighting, being soon reinforced by the crews of the ferries, which were backed up close to the fires and stretched their hose to the blaze. A line of hose was also run down from the Ottawa Beach power plant and in about an hour and a half the blaze was under control. Had the wind been from the east, the entire stretch of cottages along the Black lake shore would undoubtedly have gone.

Society

Mrs. Mary Ballard of Woburn, Mass., who has been visiting relatives in the city has returned to her home, accompanied as far as Detroit by Mrs. George Hunt.

The M. E. Aid society will meet this afternoon at 2:30 with Mrs. Beens, 34 E. 14th street.

Peter Vermeulen, a senior medical student at Ann Arbor, has taken a position in the office of the West Michigan Steam Laundry at Macatawa.

Miss Marguerite and Irene Van Alsburg left yesterday morning for Chicago where they will spend a week with friends and relatives.
