A JOKE ON TWO OF THE CANDIDATES

Two of the candidates for sheriff (and both of them do not live a hundred miles from Holland) will have some explaining to do or the republican voters whom they have been talking to will question their truthfulness and not take them seriously in the future.

These two candidates have been industriously spreading the story that Hidding and Salisbury had formed an alliance, that Salisbury would drop out of the race, throw his strength to Al and as a reward would be appointed Under-Sheriff by Al. The story sounded good and the two candidates rolled it around under their tongues for all they were worth, for they both (although of course they talk otherwise) fear Hidding's strength.

The funny part of it all is that the copy of the ballots, which are being printed in this office, show Salisbury's name as big as life—and the roo-back falls to the ground. Al's opponents will have to think of something else.

But don't get excited boys. Stick to the facts. It pays in the end. When these voters whom you have told this ghost story to, go to the primary booths to cast their ballot, don't you think they will remember that you tried to give them the wrong steer?

Boys remember always that you are trying to be nominated on the Republican ticket, and do not say or do anything that may embarrass you in the future.

A large and representative body of voters gathered at the city hall last night to witness the promised fireworks that the petition asking the council to submit to the people the question of whether an ordinance licensing the maintenance of saloons in this city under certain restrictions, at an election to be held Aug. 27 would bring instead of the promised fireworks the aldermen however waded thru their work in short order and after a half hour's debate decided to submit the question at the fall election.

All of the aldermen with the exception of Ald. King were present at last night's meeting. The petition had 963 signers. After the reading of the petition by the Clerk Ald. Mersen was the first on the floor.

He took the stand that while the petition had a large number of signers and was the expression of a large number of voters never the less it was not binding upon the council. The members of the council are the representatives of the people of their respective wards and of the city and thought to be certain of the sentiment of the citizens. The present liquor question came up suddenly due to a new interpretation of an old law and as far as this city is concerned we are just where we were at the start. I am willing to be guided by the citizens and to stand by what they think is best and for that reason I move that the matter be postponed and voted on at the regular Fall election." Ald. Brower supported this motion.

Ald. Drinkwater then took the floor and said. When the license and ordinance committee met last Thursday evening we were all agreed that our report was the best move that would be made and all were willing to stand by it then and I think now that we were right and that the question should be submitted to the voters at the time named."

Ald. Hansen, chairman of the committee on licenses said "While I do not patronize the wholesale houses and would not patronize the saloons were we to have them nevertheless I feel that the people should be given a proper chance for the hearing and expression of their sentiments. The question is 'are we to have saloons' you say. License saloons, why we have saloons and have had them right along. All that has been done was to change the system under which liquor was sold. I am informed that there has been as much liquor sold under the whole sale system as before. If we are to permit the liquor to be sold why should we set the amount which each customer must buy and make him take that much? I tell you there is no sense in such changes and reforms. All that the former change did was to do away with a deal of money which the city annually received. I want all to understand that I am willing to abide by the result of the vote when submitted to the people no matter which side receives the majority."

Ald. Lokker said "I do not think it necessary for me to tell on what side of the liquor question I stand as I have said often enough that I am dry. This liquor question at this time came up so suddenly that the wets took us by surprise. While they have a large number of signers to their petition due to their early start I am confident that they could easily get as many to a counter one. I am willing to support Ald. Mersen's motion and submit the question to the voters at the Fall election and if the wets then have a majority over the dries I am willing to stand by the people's decision. If then they want saloons there will be plenty of time to frame an ordinance. As to Ald. Hansen's remarks that there is no difference now than from the time when we did have saloons I would like to say that when I walk Eight street I do not smell the same smell that I did in those days nor do I see empty beer kegs piled up on the street curb."

Ald. Van Drezer said "What would be the difference if the dries did present another petition. There are enough voters to this one to submit the question to the people and the council will abide by their decision that is understand of course. Why not give the people the same chance that they have always been given to decide their questions for themselves, and submit it to a vote August 27.

Ald. Mersen's motion was then voted upon which was carried by a vote of 6 to 3. Yeas—Ald. Lokker, Mersen, Dyke, Harrington, Brower and Sterenberg.

Nays—Ald. Van Drezer, Drinkwater and Hansen.

Names Secured Yesterday for Petition Asking Council to Take No Action.

Action of Council in Postponing Referendum Vote Made It Unnecessary to Act on Counter Petition

A petition to the common council known as the "counter petition" was presented last evening but because of the action of the council in postponing the vote till the November election it was not considered necessary to read it or to take any action on it. The petition was circulated yesterday as soon as it became known that there would be a special council meeting to consider the other petition. A number of names were secured.

The petition as circulated yesterday is printed in full below:

To the Honorable, the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Holland.

Gentlemen:—

We are informed that a petition is being circulated asking the Common Council to submit to the qualified voters of the City whether saloons for the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be licensed under certain restrictions and regulations to be prescribed by an ordinance, and that some members of the Common Council have expressed themselves as favorable to such proposition.

We as citizens, believing that we have at heart the best interests of this city, would earnestly advise your honorable body not to take any action at the present time by which the liquor question will again be an issue before the legal voters, and among others would urge the following reasons:

1. The citizens have heretofore repeatedly expressed themselves as not favorable to the saloon.
2. The occasion that brings about this present agitation is a decision of the Supreme court which simply restores and restricts the wholesale dealers rights and privileges to those he had under the law as it was when Holland first voted "dry"—the misconstruction of the law for the last two or three years has been condemned but no right have been taken away.
3. In our judgment the fact that the liquor interests have enlisted in its favor a large number of petitioners should not have any influence with the Council for a minority on any issue can always be found who are ready and willing to agitate—but such continued agitation is not for the best interest and the peace of the city.
4. We believe if any proposition is to be submitted—which we appreciate most strongly, it should be a saloon or no saloon without any coloring or white-washing, for such whitewashings and regulations are in the nature of the case only temporary and subject to change by every new council and thus become a permanent disturbing factor in every aldermanic election.

Respectfully submitted,

The petition asking to have the question resubmitted on August 27 contained 963 names.

A counter petition containing 33 names asked that it be not submitted. Prof. John Kutzenga, Prof. John Kiehnhekel had charge of this petition.

The prize bass of the season at Spring lake was killed by John T. Hiller near his boat house. While at work Hiller saw a big fish swimming in the shallow water near the dock and, thinking it was a dog fish, grabbed a club and stunned it with several well directed blows. He secured the fish, a fine specimen of tiger bass, which weighed five pounds and measured 21 inches in length and 15 1/2 around the body.

Before the ceremony Miss Marie Dykstra played Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

POOR RESORT SEASON

August has failed to fulfill the hopes of those interested in the resort business and in consequence this season will be the poorest in the history of the east shore of Lake Michigan.

The continued cool weather and the superabundance of rain has not only held thousands of vacation seekers at home but a large percentage of all summer sojourners that came early in July have been driven home. Many hotels in the more northern retreats have already closed for the season in fact some have been closed for good owing to unpaid bills.

Our local hotel have been doing the business this year as compared to other years still they have been more fortunate that resorts further north. Hotel Ottawa had 350 guests Sunday, Waukazoo is well filled and Hotel Macatawa has been holding its own nicely. Hotel Grand manager says they have no cause to complain considering the weather. None are discouraged and hope for better conditions next year.

EAST HOLLAND

The report of her death in a local paper has caused Mrs. Dirk Nies of East Holland a good deal of trouble. Mrs. Nies has been ill for some time and recently one of her limbs was amputated. It was believed that she would not survive this operation, and the report of her death was printed in one of the local papers. Since then people in Holland and vicinity who knew the East Holland woman intimately have made many inquiries in regard to the funeral. Mrs. Nies not only is not dead, but she is rapidly improving, and the prospects are that she will entirely recover.

FOREST GROVE

From Forest Grove the following story on A. E. Bonner has simmered through to Holland. Mr. Bonner was out on bloodhound business. He was not campaigning as he does not mix politics with business. In the middle of the day he reached Forest Grove and was delighted to clasp the hand of an old friend of his of days gone by. This friend has a boy in the family of whom he is justly proud, and the little chap was much in evidence around Mr. Bonner's automobile while Mr. Bonner chatted with pa. He was a clever little chap and impressed himself upon Mr. Bonner's notice as only Young America can. Therefore when the time came for departure the man from Coopersville dug down in his pocket and tossed the boy a penny. Then joy reigned supreme in Forest Grove—also in the automobile—until Mr. Bonner had occasion to feel around in the pocket from which he had taken the penny. There was a sense of loneliness in the touch of his hand to his pocket, for a pocket-piece that he had carried for years was missing, and as the car whirled into Holland a heaviness was in the atmosphere surrounding it for it dawned upon the bloodhound expert that the penny he had given the lad was a $5.00 gold piece. Not a pebbled five-dollar gold piece such as the gilded youths of the Golden West carry promiscuously but a gold piece that was presented to Mr. Bonner, years ago by the chief of police of an Ohio city, and that he had cherished on account of associations. Now what would you do in the matter? It is dollars to doughnuts that it cost Mr. Bonner a five dollar banknote to recover the memento of his friend from Ohio.

The checks were made out on the Washington Park National bank of Chicago but it was found later that Baker did not have and never did have an account with that bank. Baker is described as being about

When the farmer dropped to the steps, one of his neighbors who was standing near him at the time ran across the street and called Dr. Schaffer by telephone, but before the physician arrived Troost had breathed his last.

ZEELAND MAN IS SENTENCED TO SERVE TERM AT DETROIT

In circuit court in Grand Haven Tuesday Martin Hietje of Zealand was sentenced to serve six months in the Detroit House of Correction.

Hietje was convicted in circuit court a few days ago of the charge of administering a drug to produce miscarriage and his sentence was delayed for a few days to give Judge Cross a chance to look up the young man's record. Sentence was scheduled to be passed yesterday afternoon, but for some reason it was not pronounced till this forenoon.

Last night there was a rumor about the city that Judge Cross had given the young man a sentence of twenty years. Where the rumor originated is not known, but it was soon denied when it appeared that no sentence had as yet been passed.

Young Hietje figured in a grand jury investigation last spring and his trial at this term of circuit court lasted only a short time, the jury bringing in a verdict of guilty. He will be taken to Detroit immediately where he will spend the next six months.

HEART CONTINUES TO BEAT FOR FULL MINUTE AFTER BREATHING HAD CEASED

Andrew Hayden who was injured at Bangor last Saturday morning by falling from a log truck, which also ran over his body, injuring the spine and internally died at his home above the Nies hardware store Monday night at 12 o'clock.

Hayden was brought to this city yesterday morning and was attended by Dr. Williams of Bangor and Dr. Thomas of this city. The paralysis which from the time of the accident claimed his body from the hips down gradually spread over the entire body finally reaching the lungs making breathing impossible. He was conscious at times but never had a chance for recovery because of his internal injuries. A strange fact connected with Mr. Hayden's death is the fact that for a full minute after he had ceased to breathe the heart continued to beat.

Mr. Hayden is survived by a wife and two little daughters, the father who lives at Gibson, a sister Mrs. R. Sauers of Saugatuck and a brother Louis Hayden of Saugatuck.

ALPENA BEACH

The peach crop in this vicinity is a total failure as practically all the orchards are barren. George F. Getz proprietor of Lakewood farm on the Alpena Beach road harvested a crop of 30,000 bushels last year and he says his large orchard will not yield a single bushel this season.

Other fruit growers report similar conditions.

The crop of pears, however, promises to be on an average with other years.

At a meeting of the board of county road commissioners the contract for furnishing not less than 20,000 yards of screened gravel, to be delivered at points on Grand river, below Bass river, was awarded to Walsma & Van Toll of Grand Haven. The contractors will begin furnishing this material immediately and work on the roads which will be supplied from this contract will be started within a very short time.

Two bids for grading on the town line road adjoining Holland township were accepted and all other bids were declared high and rejected. All bids for the bridges to be erected in Crookery township were also rejected, and the board will either advertise for new bids or go ahead with the construction of the bridges by day labor.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES VANDERSLUIS OBSERVED ANNIVERSARY AT MACATAWA PARK

Mr. James and Mrs. Mianie Vandersluis of Grand Rapids commemorated the 50th anniversary of their marriage at their cottage at Macatawa Park Monday with their two daughters, Miss Rose and Frances J., their two sons died several years ago. Mr. Vandersluis is now in his 71st and Mrs. Vandersluis in her 72nd year.

In 1848, Mr. Vandersluis came with his parents to Holland, Mich. from the Netherlands while Mrs. Vandersluis came with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Van Anrooy in 1847, landing in Holland at what is now called Macatawa, where the bath house now stands, they having come by water from Chicago.

The Vandersluis family moved to Grand Rapids in 1885, where James was employed for a few years as a clerk in different stores. In 1889 he commenced to learn the printer's trade in the Daily Eagle. On the 6th of August 1862, he enlisted in Co. B, 21st Mich. Infantry and on August 12, 1862, he was married in Holland by the Rev. A. C. Van Raalte, at the residence of their brother-in-law, Mr. Gerrit Slenk. The only other persons present at the wedding who are now living is Mrs. Peter Zalsman, a sister of Mr. Vandersluis and Mr. and Mrs. James Westveer.

After the war in 1865, Mr. Vandersluis resumed his trade on the same paper.

When in 1860 the Grondwet was started, Mr. John Roost, the publisher came to Grand Rapids for Holland printers, engaging Mr. Vandersluis, together with Mr. John C. Vyn, to start his paper. Working for Mr. Roost about a year, he returned to work on the Eagle. After a few years, he bought the Xrijheids Banner, a Holland Republican newspaper published at Grand Rapids and was owner of it till he was elected on a Republican ticket for a city office, remaining in the city hall four years. When a change of administration took place. Since then he has worked at his trade more or less, but now is employed as a printer in the office of De Standaard.

Mr. Vandersluis has a brother, John and a sister, Mrs. A. Vischer residing in this city and a sister, Mrs. Jacob Van der Rooy in Chicago.

Twenty-five years ago the Vandersluis' celebrated their silver wedding at Macatawa with a large number of relatives and friends, but this anniversary will be commemorated without any public celebration.

The Vandersluis family, in the early years of Holland, were among the most prominent and active people here. The head of the family, Mr. Oswald D. Vandersluis, came here with some means and built the first steam saw mill, at the head of Black lake, later known as the Bailey mill. He was one of the board of trustees of the village, an organization which never had a legal existence, but existed some sort of supervision in the disposal of the village lots after the first plotting.

MAKING CALLS HUSBAND DOES NOT HEAR OF DEATH TILL HOUR LATER

Mrs. Oscar Baert, aged 38, wife of Dr. Baert, died suddenly Thursday morning at the residence in G. Rapids. Death was attributed to heart trouble. The Baerts lived for many years in Zealand.

Mrs. Baert was alone at home with her 12-year-old daughter. The doctor was making calls. The daughter was attracted to her mother's side by hearing her fall heavily to the floor, and after trying to arouse her, she called neighbors. They summoned Dr. John J. Rooks, but when he arrived he found that Mrs. Baert was dead.

Much difficulty was experienced in locating Dr. Baert and when he was notified about an hour after his wife's death, he was completely overcome.

The funeral of Mrs. Oscar Baert who died in Grand Rapids Thursday was held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home in Grand Rapids. The body then was taken to Zealand for burial. Opportunity was given to the friends in Zealand to view the remains at five o'clock at the home of Dr. Heasley.

The two occupants of the launch managed to reach shore without injury.

The boat is the same one in which Balus Perkins, Jr., of Grand Rapids recently was severely injured when his feet became caught in the propeller.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the home and at 2 o'clock from the Ninth street Christian Reformed church. The Rev. Mr. Tuuk officiated.

Tobyas Koffers was born at Wintersdyk, province of Gelderland, the Netherlands, on March 4, 1824. He left the country of his birth about the first of October, 1846, taking ship at Rotterdam, on a cotton freighter bound for New Orleans, La. The ship was a new one being on its first or second trip. After a rather tedious voyage, they ran into a storm near Key West, Fla., and were driven on the rocks, the ship becoming a total wreck; the crew and emigrants were finally rescued in small boats and landed at Key West from where they went aboard another ship and conveyed to New Orleans, reaching that city January 1, 1847. From New Orleans they took a river boat to St. Louis, Mo., where a number of Holland families already located. The party, Mr. S. Koffers, his brother, Gerrit J. Koffers and some others found shelter at the home of William Wiltterdink who arrived there shortly before. This Mr. Wiltterdink was the father of our ex-City Treasurer, Gerrit Wiltterdink.

Mr. Koffers and his brother stayed at the Wiltterdink home until spring of 1847. They left St. Louis the first part of April of that year, bound for Chicago and from there they came to the Holland colony in Michigan. The trip from St. Louis to Chicago was made partly by boat and partly by wagon, consuming two weeks. When at Chicago they found a schooner bound for Saugatuck, and from that place they made their way afoot to "the Mouth of Black lake" as it was then known and from there to Holland, arriving here the last part of April, 1847. Dr. VanRaalte's home (a log house) was being built; when they arrived here. Mr. B. Grootenhuis' log house was finished and occupied by the family; the entire number of log cabins that were already built at this time was seven.

After staying here a few days, they reached the conclusion that the best way for them to go was to seek work among the American neighbors at Allegan or Kalamazoo. Mr. Koffers and his brother, finally landed in Kalamazoo, and remained there about five years in the employ of an attorney by the name of Nathan Balch and a Mr. Hydenberg, being employed on the farms of these gentlemen. During the five years stay in Kalamazoo, they frequently made visits to their friends in the Holland colony as this settlement was then known. They finally purchased each a farm in our neighboring hamlet, Noordeloos and by hard work developed this land into five farms, which yielded crops as only the virgin soil could do. After living at Noordeloos a number of years they finally came to Holland, and Mr. S. Koffers engaged in the business of tanning leather in company with Mr. Lucas Sprietsma and John Eijferdink. Their tannery was located where now stands the Holland Brewery. Mr. Koffers now also took an interest in a grocery store with Gerrit Gringhuis. Both the tannery and the grocery business were swept away by the great fire of 1871, resulting in great loss to all concerned. Shortly after the fire the grocery business was re-opened, J. Duursma having joined them as a partner. After some time Mr. Gringhuis sold out his interest in the firm and purchased the Scholten farm at the so-called Scholten bridge. This farm is now owned by John Segeman. After some time Mr. Gringhuis moved to Grand Haven and Mr. Koffers sold out his interest in the grocery business and also moved to Grand Haven, where he and Mr. Gringhuis engaged in the clothing business for a number of years. By close application to business, and careful management, he had accumulated a little money and at the death of his brother, Gerrit J. Koffers, Mr. Koffers concluded to retire from active business.

Up to this time Mr. Koffers was a single man. He married Mrs. Albert Van Dyke, nee Jane Plasman, the sister of Mr. Fred Plasman living west of our city, about the year 1888. His wife died at his home 120 West Eleventh street, April 9, 1908.

Mr. Koffers has lived in Holland and vicinity a great many years, arriving here when all was unbroken wilderness; he has seen Holland grow from its very beginning, and the surrounding country developed into the most beautiful and fertile farms; he has shared the ups and downs of this Holland settlement and the hardships incident to Pioneer life. Physically he was not a strong man though always in fairly good health, reaching the age of 88 years and five months at the time of his death. He came from a good old Dutch stock, industrious, honest and peaceful and filled his place as a citizen in this, his adopted country very well. Indeed, he and his wife were for some time members of the Third Reformed church of this city. When the Dutch service was discontinued in that church they joined the 9th Street Christian Reformed church of this city of which body he has been a member to the time of his death.

J. W. Bosman Will Entertain Party of Friends At Meelebrink

To-day J. W. Bosman of this city is furnishing a day's outing for the members of the consistory of the Ninth Street Christian Reformed church and their wives. The old gentleman has made arrangements to take the party that is to consist of about 85 to Meelebrink, a private park owned by Mr. Bosman about two miles and a half north of Alpena Beach. The party will be taken there in automobiles and elaborate preparations have been made for their entertainment.

FARMERS PICNIC WILL HAVE A BABY CONTEST

Which family in Holland or vicinity owns the handsomest or prettiest or cutest or sweetest baby? That is one of the questions that will be decided at the annual farmer's picnic to be held at Jenison Park on Wednesday, August 21. For many years past the baby contest has been one of the most popular features of the picnic and great rivalry has marked this event in the past. For that reason the sport committee this year decided once more to put on this favorite pastime and the woman who thinks her baby is the cutest of them all, as all women are supposed to think, will be given an opportunity to see her child as others see it.

The committee has decided to spend five dollars and a good deal of time and honest effort to secure a verdict in this most important matter. The first prize will be $3 in cash and the second prize will be two dollars in cash. The cash of course will be welcome, but the greatest inducement will be for the mother to know that her baby is more cute than all others on the grounds.

There will be only a few conditions connected with the contest. One is that the baby must not be more than one year old. Another is that they must be on the grounds on the day of the picnic, since the judges will not take a mother's word for it that the baby she has at home has all others backed off the boards in point of beauty and prettiness. While the judges will not openly dispute any mother's word, still they will rigidly exclude all such cases.

The judges will be chosen from among the resorters so that there may be absolute impartiality. They will be men who are not acquainted here and who do not know the babies or their mothers. They will go about through the crowd on the ground and take a good look at the infants they find there. They will then tack numbers on them and later the three judges will compare notes. The numbers they decide on and the winners of the first and second prizes will then be announced and the proud mother will be given an opportunity to claim the money and give the crowd a glimpse of her infant.

There will be a number of other events at the big picnic including a balloon race and band concert. The sport committee is busy at work perfecting plans for the program of sports and their program will be announced later.

NEW TRIAL RESULTS IN CHANGING JAIL SENTENCE TO FINE.

In the case of the People vs. George Nash which was tried in the circuit court at Grand Haven Monday afternoon the jury brought in a verdict of guilty but recommended the clemency of the court. Nash who was charged with using indecent language was fined $15 and costs.

The trial was the outcome of a neighborhood squabble some time ago when Nash was arrested on the charge made by Mrs. John Homfeld, a neighbor. He was arraigned and pleaded guilty before Justice Miles who sentenced him to serve 15 days in the county jail. Nash admitted using the language but denied that it was illegal and demanded a new trial which was granted. The firm Visscher & Robinson were counsel for the defendant and Prosecuting attorney Osterhaus handled the people's side.

Reminiscences of SHERLOCK HOLMES

The ADVENTURE OF THE DEVIL'S FOOT

In recording from time to time some of the curious experiences and interesting recollections which I associate with my long and intimate friendship with Mr. Sherlock Holmes, I have continually been faced by difficulties caused by his own aversion to publicity. To his somber and cynical spirit all popular applause was always abhorrent, and nothing amused him more at the end of a successful case than to hand over the actual exposure to some orthodox official, and to listen with a mocking smile to the general chorus of misplaced congratulation. It was indeed this attitude upon the part of my friend, and certainly not any lack of interesting material, which has caused me of late years to lay very few of my records before the public. My participation in some of his adventures was always a privilege which entailed discretion and reticence upon me.

It was, then, with considerable surprise that I received a telegram from Holmes last Tuesday—he has never been known to write where a telegram would serve—in the following terms: "Why not tell them of the Cornish horror—strange case I have handled." I have no idea what backward sweep of memory had brought the matter fresh to his mind, or what freak had caused him to desire that I should recount it; but I hasten, before another cancelling telegram may arrive, to hunt out the notes which give me the exact details of the case, and to lay the narrative before my readers.

It was, then, in the spring of the year 1897 that Holmes' iron constitution showed some symptoms of giving way in the face of constant hard work of a most exacting kind, aggravated, perhaps, by occasional indiscretions of his own. In March of that year Dr. Moore Agar, of Harley street, whose dramatic introduction to Holmes I may some day recount, gave positive injunctions that the famous private agent should lay aside all his cases and surrender himself to complete rest if he wished to avert an absolute breakdown. The state of his health was not a matter in which he himself took the faintest interest, for his mental detachment was absolute, but he was induced at last, on the threat of being permanently disqualified from work, to give himself a complete change of scene and air. Thus it was that in the early spring of that year we found ourselves together in a small cottage near Poldhu bay, at the farther extremity of the Cornish peninsula.

It was a singular spot, and one peculiarly well suited to the grim humor of my patient. From the windows of our little whitewashed house, which stood high upon a grassy headland, we looked down upon the whole sinister semicircle of Mounts bay, that old death-trap of sailing vessels, with its fringe of black cliffs and surge-swept reefs on which innumerable seamen have met their end.

On the land side our surroundings were as somber as on the sea. It was a country of rolling moors, lonely and dun-colored, with an occasional church tower to mark the site of some old-world village. In every direction upon these moors there were traces of some vanished race which had passed utterly away, and left as its sole record strange monuments of stone, irregular mounds, which contained the burned ashes of the dead, and curious earthworks which hinted at prehistoric strife. The glamour and mystery of the place, with its sinister atmosphere of forgotten nations, appealed to the imagination of my friend, and he spent much of his time in long walks and solitary meditations upon the moor. The ancient Cornish language had also arrested his attention, and he had, I remember, conceived the idea that it was akin to the Chaldean. Our simple life and peaceful, healthy routine were violently interrupted, and we were precipitated into the midst of a series of events which caused the utmost excitement not only in Cornwall, but throughout the whole west of England. Many of my readers may retain some recollection of what was called at the time "The Cornish Horror," though a most imperfect account of the matter reached the London press. Now, after thirteen years, I will give the true details of this inconceivable affair to the public.

I have said that scattered towers marked the villages which dotted this part of Cornwall. The nearest of these was the hamlet of Tredannick Wollas, where the cottages of a couple of hundred inhabitants clustered round an ancient, moss-grown church. The vicar of the parish, Mr. Roundhay, was something of an archaeologist, and as such Holmes had made his acquaintance.

He was a middle-aged man, portly and affable, with a considerable fund of local lore. At his invitation we had taken tea at the vicarage, and had come to know, also, Mr. Mortimer Tregennis, an independent gentleman, who increased the clergyman's scanty resources by taking rooms in his large, straggling house. The vicar, being a bachelor, was glad to come to such an arrangement, though he had little in common with his lodger, who was a thin, dark, spectacled man, with a stoop which gave the impression of actual physical deformity. I remember that during our short visit we found the vicar garrulous, but his lodger strangely reticent, a sad-faced, introspective man, sitting with averted eyes, brooding apparently upon his own affairs.

These were the two men who entered abruptly into our little sitting-room on Tuesday, March the 16th, shortly after our breakfast hour, as we were smoking together, preparatory to our daily excursion upon the moors.

"Mr. Holmes," said the vicar, in an agitated voice, "the most extraordinary and tragic affair has occurred during the night. It is the most unheard-of business. We can only regard it as a special Providence that you should chance to be here at the time, for in all England you are the one man we need."

I glared at the intrusive vicar with no very friendly eyes; but Holmes took his pipe from his lips and sat up in his chair like an old hound who hears the view-hallo. He waved his hand to the sofa, and our palpitating visitor with his agitated companion sat side by side upon it. Mr. Mortimer Tregennis was more self-contained than the clergyman, but the twitching of his thin hands and the brightness of his dark eyes showed that they shared a common emotion.

"Shall I speak or you?" he asked of the vicar.

"Well, as you seem to have made the discovery, whatever it may be, and the vicar to have had it second-hand, perhaps you had better do the speaking," said Holmes.

I glanced at the hastily-clad clergyman, with the formally-dressed lodger seated beside him, and was amused at the surprise which Holmes' simple deduction had brought to their faces.

"Perhaps I had best say a few words first," said the vicar, "and then you can judge if you will listen to the details from Mr. Tregennis, or whether we should not hasten at once to the scene of this mysterious affair. I may explain, then, that our friend here spent last evening in the company of his two brothers, Owen and George, and of his sister Brenda, at their house of Tredannick Wartha, which is near the old stone cross upon the moor. He left them shortly after ten o'clock playing cards round the dining-room table, in excellent health and spirits. This morning, being an early riser, he walked in that direction before breakfast, and was overtaken by the carriage of Doctor Richards, who explained that he had just been sent for on a most urgent call to Tredannick Wartha. Mr. Mortimer Tregennis naturally went with him. When he arrived at Tredannick Wartha he found an extraordinary state of things. His two brothers and his sister were seated round the table exactly as he had left them, the cards still spread in front of them and the candles burned down to their sockets. The sister lay back stone-dead in her chair, while the two brothers sat on each side of her laughing, shouting and singing, the senses stricken clean out of them. All three of them, the dead woman and the two demented men, retained upon their faces an expression of the utmost horror—a convulsion of terror which was dreadful to look upon. There was no sign of the presence of anyone in the house, except cept Mrs. Porter, the cook and housekeeper, who declared that she had slept deeply and heard no sound during the night. Nothing had been stolen or disarranged, and there is absolutely no explanation of what the horror can be which has frightened a woman to death and two strong men out of their senses. There is the situation, Mr. Holmes, in a nutshell, and if you can help us to clear it up you will have done a great work."

We Looked Down Upon the Whole Semicircle of Mount Bay.

I had hoped that in some way I could coax my companion back into the quiet which had been the object of our journey; but one glance at his intense face and contracted eyebrows told me how vain was now the expectation.

"I will look into this matter," he said at last. "On the face of it, it would appear to be a case of a very exceptional nature. Have you been there yourself, Mr. Roundhay?"

"No, Mr. Holmes. Mr. Tregennis brought back the account to the vicarage, and I at once hurried over with him to consult you."

"How far is it to the house where this singular tragedy occurred?"

"About a mile inland."

"Then we shall walk over together. But, before we start, I must ask you a few questions, Mr. Mortimer Tregennis."

At His Invitation We Had Taken Tea at the Vicarage.

The other had been silent all this time, but I had observed that his more controlled excitement was even greater than the obtrusive emotion of the clergyman.

"Ask what you like, Mr. Holmes," said he, eagerly. "It is a bad thing to speak of, but I will answer you the truth."

"Tell me about last night."

"Well, Mr. Holmes, I supposed there, as the vicar has said, and my elder brother George proposed a game of whist afterwards. We sat down about nine o'clock. It was a quarter-past ten when I moved to go. I left them all round the table, as merry as could be."

"Who let you out?"

"Mrs. Porter had gone to bed, so I let myself out. I shut the hall door behind me. The window of the room in which they sat was closed, but the blind was not drawn down. There was no change in door or window this morning, nor any reason to think that any stranger had been to the house. Yet there they sat, driven clean mad with terror, and Brenda lying dead of fright, with her head hanging over the arm of the chair. I'll never get the sight of that room out of my mind so long as I live."

"The facts, as you state them, are certainly most remarkable," said Holmes. "I take it that you have no theory yourself which can in any way account for them?"

"It's devilish, Mr. Holmes; devilish!" cried Mortimer Tregennis. "It is not of this world. Something has come into that room which has dashed the light of reason from their minds. What human contrivance could do that?"

"I fear," said Holmes, "that if the matter is beyond humanity it is certainly beyond me. Yet we must exhaust all natural explanations before we fall back upon such a theory as this. As to yourself, Mr. Tregennis, I take it you were divided in some way from your family, since they lived together and you had rooms apart?"

"That is so, Mr. Holmes, though the matter is past and done with. We were a family of tin-miners at Redruth, but we sold out our venture to a company, and so retired with enough to keep us. I won't deny that there was some feeling about the division of the money and it stood between us for a time, but it was all forgiven and forgotten, and we were the best of friends together."

THE COLONEL AND THE NEGRO

Col. Roosevelt finds the negro problem in the South difficult. Some Southern Democrat, according to the gossip from the headquarters of the National Progressives, is to make a serious effort to carry some of the Southern States. The Republicans more than once have carried several of the old slave state of 1860—Delaware, Maryland, Kentucky and Missouri—for president and for state officers. All those states, however, clung to the Union in 1861. Although each had an element of sympathizers with the extremists of the states farther South, they supported the national cause, and contributed, in the aggregate, hundreds of thousands of men to the national armies.

The plan of the colonel however, is to make an active canvass in several of the eleven states which composed the Confederacy. Naturally, he could make no serious fight in any of them if he should show any favors to the blackman. And in a letter to a Georgia Democratic editor, who is a leader among the Progressives of his state, he makes it plain that he will not. Knowing the need of caution in utterance, however, he does this in a way in which he believes he will not offend the black who is a voter, and who is permitted to vote. In many of the Southern States the black man is kept away from the ballot box almost as rigidly as he was in the days of slavery. Theoretically he has the right to vote, but state enactments and practices shut him out from that right. The colonel shows that he does not intend to combat that practice of negro exclusion from the polls.

Thus in the South, the Progressives are to be a white man's party, just like the Democracy. While the colonel will appeal to the negroes as well as to the whites in the North and West, where the negro casts ballots, he will accept the idea of abolishing the negro as a voter in the South. In several of the states of the Middle West and in some of those of the East the black man holds the balance between the parties, and in those states the National Progressive party is to try to get all the black votes which it can command. It is pretty safe to say, however, that the number of these votes which it will get will be small. The Northern colored voter is not likely to be enthusiastic in the support of the candidate who assents to the exclusion of the colored voter in the South. The colonel makes an ingenious attempt to straddle the negro issue. This will be as difficult as straddling the silver issue was in 1896. A lily white party in the South can hardly get much support from the black voters of the heat of the country. The colored delegates in the Progressive convention from the North may have something to say on this issue before the campaign ends.

DR. WILSON'S "THEME"

"Omissions do not mean opposition. The things omitted did not happen to come in my theme," says Dr. Wilson.

The Democratic platform and Dr. Wilson's address of acceptance were both notable for omissions. But the good Doctor can't get away from the class-room habit. He calls his speech a "theme." A "theme" is an "essay." But the people want something besides "essays."

If free sugar works no better than free coffee and free hides consumers will get no benefit whatever from a changed schedule. Price will not go down and there will be a hole in the treasury to fill.

A Denver preacher says that it is a sin to kill a fly or break an egg. It surely is a sin to break some eggs....

Prominently attached to the third party will be a Jim Crow car. The idea struck the colonel the moment he decided that it might be of personal advantage to himself.

OUR PRIVILEGE AS A CITIZEN

Primary Election Day which is almost here is a day that gives every citizen of the State of Michigan a golden opportunity to exercise his rights and privileges as a citizen; a day when the common laborer and the farmer have the same right, privilege, and power as the millionaire or multi-millionaire if they will only come out and use that right by casting their vote; for men they prefer for the various county and state offices and for the man to represent them in Congress.

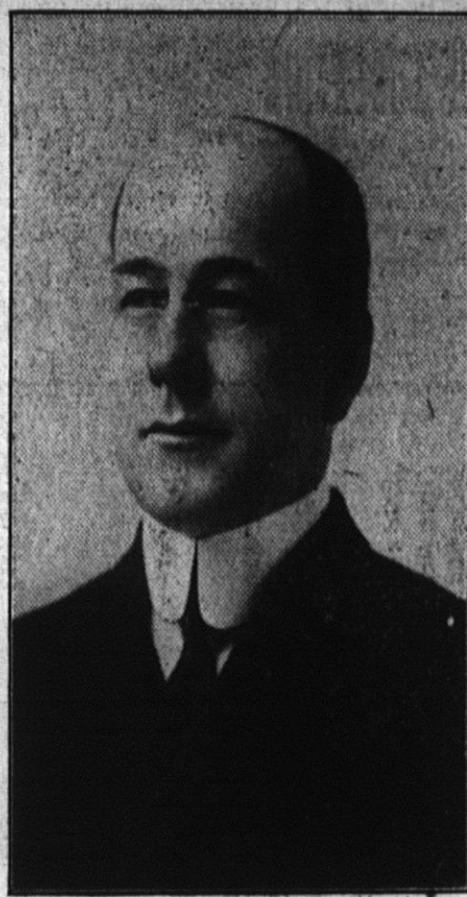

Our brotherly advice to you is "Don't think you are too busy, or don't let that indifferent spirit get the best of you thinking that it will turn out all right even if you don't vote.

Talk with your neighbors about it, study it up, and help your party to put up the best man to represent us in Congress, the best man as Governor of the State, as Sheriff, as Judge of Probate, as County Drain Commissioner etc., etc.

Politics are not rotten unless you allow it to become so by not doing your duty as a citizen.

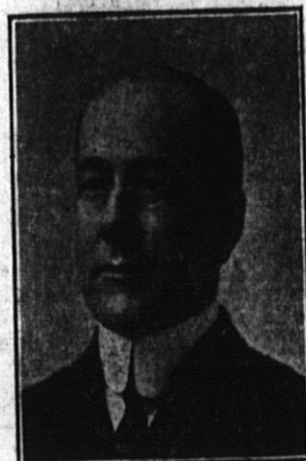

Remember the date, August 27, you can cast your vote at any time during the day from 7 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Yours for good citizenship,
 John S. Brower.

Senator Carl E. Mapes
 Republican Candidate
 For Nomination
 CONGRESS

In sizing up the Fifth District Congressional situation you've got to take into the reckoning Hon. Carl Mapes of Grand Rapids for this brainy and able senator from the Valley City appeals strongly to the people. In every line of public service he has made good, and in this busy political time, when the words Regular, Progressive and Democrat are on every tongue he stands out strong, clean and forceful for legislation of a progressive character for which the people have been clamoring for many years and the beauty of it all is that through his instrumentality much of this progressive legislation is law to-day. First as member of the state house of representatives, and then as state senator he fought in the open for much of the constructive and beneficial laws that have been written into the statutes of our state and if men are to be judged by their accomplishments in public questions and are to be called to higher place as a mark of recognition for these accomplishments then there is but one answer to be given at the Republican primaries and that answer is—Carl E. Mapes for Congress.

Regarding Mr. Mapes the Grand Rapids Press in an editorial April 2, 1911 had the following: "Senator Carl E. Mapes was floor leader of the progressives in the present legislature. 'Frequently Mr. Mapes has not been with the Senate majority, but he has been on the progressive side of almost every question which has arisen. He is about the most valuable asset Michigan has in the State Senate. To his ardor for reform he has brought a knowledge of conditions, gained not only by previous experience in law-making, but by close and faithful study of the problem which are uppermost today. It is so seldom that a man, without ostentation and demagoguery, expresses in his official life the spirit of the day that when one is found it seems a misfortune that his services ever should be lost to the people.'"

The Michigan Tradesman the leading Trades Paper of this country in a write-up of Mr. Mapes brings out the following pertinent facts: "Hon. Carl E. Mapes was born on a farm in Kalamo township, Eaton county, Dec. 26, 1874. He attended the country school in the township where he was born and afterwards spent three years in a public school at Olivet, two years in a preparatory school and four years in Olivet College. He then entered the law department of the Michigan University, where he remained three years. After completing his course at Ann Arbor, he came to Grand Rapids, in 1899, and hung out a shingle as a lawyer. For four years he was an assistant in the office of the Prosecuting Attorney. In 1905 he was elected a member of the Legislature, serving one term in the House of Representatives. In 1909 he was elected State Senator and he was re-elected many years. Two years ago the news advocated the nomination and election of Mr. Glerum and the record he has made in the past two years as a county officer shows that our judgement in this matter was correct. Grand Haven was sorry to lose him as their city Clerk to which office he was elected repeatedly until he refused to run longer for that office. Holland gave Mr. Glerum a substantial majority at the primaries two years ago and while he has no opposition for the nomination this year, Holland will give him a good majority on election day this fall, because the voters believe in Jake Glerum of Grand Haven. John Van Anrooy we all know can make leather because he has done so for several years. We know he can make out a tax role because he has been Holland's assessor repeatedly. But whether tanning leather or juggling figures John did his work well, as Register of Deeds his work has been a surprise to his friends and there is no doubt that he will be returned for a second term on election day.

A New Back for an Old One—How a Resident Made a Back Strong

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame that to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back if the kidneys are weak. You can not reach the cause. Follow the example of this Holland citizen:

Mrs. Sarah Kelley, 27 W. Sixth St., Holland, Michigan, says "Last winter I was all crippled up with my back and it was then that I used Doan's Kidney Pills. For a week or two I was unable to get about and I often thought my back would break. Mornings when I arose I could hardly stoop to tie my shoes. I had heard so many people speak favorably of Doan's Kidney Pills that I got a box and it was not long before they brought me relief. I have had no further need of a kidney remedy."

WHAT YOU SAW IN THIS PAPER

WHAT YOU SAW 35 YEARS AGO

Prof. I. P. Bangs, our new supt. of Public School arrived in town this week. He wears a red ribbon.

An exchange says. "The great scheme for draining the Zuyder Zee is now really begun. A dyke, twenty-five miles long, is to be built across the gulf, and then the water is to be deliberately pumped out. The scheme is now really begun; and if completed will form one of the greatest engineering feats of the world."

WHAT YOU SAW 30 YEARS AGO

Mr. Chas. Steffens of Zeeland left for Chicago last Thursday, where he goes to except a position as book-keeper in a foundry.

Wm. Van de Luister, of Zeeland a farmer aged 68 years, and one of old pioneers of this town, while driving from a field, with a load of fence posts, fell from the wagon. His son who was with him, hastened to his side but he never spoke after falling and died in his sons arms.

WHAT YOU SAW 25 YEARS AGO

Mr. C. J. De Roo, of the Stand 8rd Roller Mills, is making preparations for the erection of a fine residence on Ninth street.

Death removed an infant child Jennie from the family of Mr. L. Mulder, of De Groudwet, last week Friday afternoon. The funeral occurred on Monday, at the Ninth street Holland Christain Reformed Church.

WHAT YOU SAW 20 YEARS AGO

The democracy of Holland township was represent at the country convention by the following delegates: Dick Miedema, Bernard Kameras, H. Van Eyk, Jame Huntley, R. Van Eyk, H. Hazekamp, F. Heyboer.

WHAT YOU SAW 15 YEARS AGO

Wednesday night at about 11 o'clock two strangers appeared at the home of H. Boven, in the immediate vicinity of Graafschap, and commenced boring a hole through the rear door. His son Cornelius heard a strange noise and proceeded thither. He inquired what was wanted and they replied that they desired lodging for the night. They further asked whether Mr. Boven resided there and Cornelius responded in the affirmative. He thereupon unlocked the door, but simultaneously noticing the hole near the lock immediately re-turned the key, barring entrance. The plunderers sent two shots through a rear window, which entered the plaster near the chimney. Cornelius realizing the situation retreated to his room, procured a revolver and shot gun and returned fire. The strangers then proceeded to the barn where the horses were already harnessed, but the youth cleverly frightened them away, awoke his brother and followed in pursuit. They were detected near the place of Mr. Ensing soon after when another shot was fired by young Boven; with the result that one stumbled either through fright or wound. Since then no trace of them has been discovered.

WHAT YOU SAW 10 YEARS AGO

The oil well at Allegan has been abandoned and the tools will be shipped back east. Oil was found at about the same depth as in the other well, but not in sufficient quantity to encourage further work.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra of England were crowned this week Monday.

Senator James McMillan of Michigan died Sunday at his summer home in Massachusetts.

While a heavy surf was running on Lake Michigan, at Grand Haven, Sunday afternoon, the pavilion pier collapsed throwing about thirty resorters into the lake. The pier runs out about 200 feet into the lake and the water at its end is about four feet deep.

"Throw up your hands or there will be a dead nigger here," said Marshal Kamferbeek. He was escorting a colored gentleman by the name of Gus Richards to the city jail last night at about 12 o'clock and when about to open the door the prisoner broke away and ran. The marshal pulled his gun and gave the above order and Mr. Richards returned to the arms of the law with both hands aloft. Richards was arrested for assault and battery on a white girl working at Ottawa Beach.

Miss Julia Van Raalte started on a romantic trip last Monday. She is engaged to marry Prof. O. S. Riemold, who is in one of the far off Philippines, and is now on her way to meet him in Manila where upon her arrival they will be married. Her brother, B. Van Raalte, Jr., accompanied her to Chicago from which place she went to St. Paul and then to Vancouver over the Canadian Pacific line. The steamer upon which she will make her ocean voyage will stop at Yokahama, Nagasaki, Kobe, Japan, Hong Kong and Shanghai, arriving at Manila about the 15 of September.

TWENTY-NINE OF THEM TAKE

EXAMINATIONS AT GRAND HAVEN.

The regular August teachers' examination in Grand Haven has closed. There were 29 applicants for teachers' certificates, first, second and third grades being offered. Because of the fact that a number who intend to become teachers in the country, are either securing their certificates through the state schools or are taking courses in the county normal class, the number of applicants at the recent county examinations has been decreasing somewhat.

The examination was in charge of Nelson R. Stanton, county school commissioner and School Examiners De aer and Winter and the following took the examination:

Florence Ruth Meyers, Esther Lills, Goldie L. Platt, Mina Messengle, Mary Lull, and Nellie J. Kloosterhouse of Coopersville; Lucy H. Doane Middleville; Tena Lubbers, R. R. 2, Sena M. De Young, and Jennie H. Nyenhuis, R. R. 3 and Edward J. Leenhouts, Zeeland; J. F. Van Dyke R. R. 10, Henrietta E. Eskes, Henrietta M. Elferdink, Florence J. Dubbink, Mina Benhema, R. R. 2, Dora J. Heikje, Dora Wentzel, Beradine Vinkemulder, Julia M. Atwood, Etta-mae Atwood, Holland; D. H. Vande Bunte, R. R. 4 and Elva Arnold of Hudsonville; Doris M. Salisbury, Eunice M. Castle, of Grand Haven; Mabel Evelyn Stone, of Grand Rapids; Evah Van Sloten of Jenison; Vivia L. Easterly and Bessie Nehmer of Nunica.

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN RESTAURANT MAN CAUSED BY CANCER OF LIVER.

Lewis C. Bradford, aged 65 years, died at his home, 10 West Sixth street last Saturday evening. Death was caused by a cancer growth on the liver.

Mr. Bradford was born in New Orleans and came to this city in 1890. For a number of years he was a commercial salesman and is very well known throughout the state. He retired from the road a few years ago and conducted the Baltimore Lunch Rooms. Two weeks ago he went to Ann Arbor to submit to an operation but after an examination it was deemed best not to operate as it was thought that he would not survive the operation. Mr. Bradford was a member of the Masonic lodge and of the Knights of the Grip.

Besides the widow he is survived by two sons, Stephen of this city and Guy of Los Angeles, Cal. The funeral services were held from the home on Sixth street Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock under the Masonic auspices. The Rev. F. O. Grannis officiated interment at Pilgrim's Home Cemetery.

DELEGATES ARE ELECTED TO THE ANNUAL CONVENTION IN KALAMAZOO.

At the regular meeting of the Independent Order of Rodents, Burrow No. 1, held Friday delegates were elected to attend the annual convention of the organization to be held in Kalamazoo, August 17.

Many matters of importance will come up at the convention and these matters were carefully discussed last night. In the matter of rates the prevailing opinion was that slight changes would be made but no radical changes will be necessary as precautions were taken when the rates of the organization were fixed to steer clear of the necessity of readjustment. The delegates to Kalamazoo were instructed to keep a weather eye on the proposition and to stand for safety, permanence and sanity on the rate question.

It is likely that some time in the first week of September the annual picnic will be held. The date was not fixed owing to the fact that an invitation will be extended to Kalamazoo and the convenience of that burrow will be called immediately following the convention to receive the report of the delegates.

Those who will represent the burrow at Kalamazoo are: Delegates, N. J. Whelan, V. F. F. King, Gillis Boyenga, Ward D. Phillips and Arthur Van Duren. Alternates—Frank King, George Windeknecht, Orle Green, William Shoniker, Thaddeus Hadden.

RAILWAY MEN HOLD ANNUAL MEETING FRIDAY EVENING

The regular annual meeting of the Railroad Men's Relief association of America was held in the Pere Marquette offices across the track from the passenger depot. The following officers were elected for the coming year:

President—G. VanderHill. Vice-Pres.—P. Ver Schure. Second Treasurer—W. A. Cobb. Members of Board of Trustees—F. P. Locke, Lee W. Watson, P. Ver Schure.

Representatives to the Convention of the Supreme association to be held in Grand Rapids, October—W. A. Cobb; alternate, A. Maxim.

The officers were installed by Geo. R. Murray of Muskegon, the Supreme President of the Railway Men's Relief association of America. Mr. Murray last night made an eloquent address to the men assembled in the hall congratulating them on the success of the organization and showing the growth it had enjoyed since its organization about four years ago. The association has a membership of about one hundred in this city including many of the interurban railway men. During the past six months it paid out about $16,000 in relief funds for the Pere Marquette members alone.

TEAMS ARE ORGANIZED WHO WILL COMPETE FOR A SUPPER.

The Zeeland Civic club is trying a new plan to get new members. The plan is the choosing of two sides made up of the members of the club. One is headed by Leonard Kievit and the other by E. J. Mac Dermand. Each side consists of 27 members and each member is trying to get new members. The side which gets the least number of new members is to give a supper to the side getting the largest number. The contest closes on Oct. 14. Each member is doing his best to make his side win.

ARCHITECT OF NEW SCHOOL SCHOOL BUILDING EXPECTED TO ARRIVE IN CITY THIS WEEK.

Before the end of the present week the first steps will be taken toward beginning the construction of the new high school building the cost of which is to approach the hundred thousand dollar mark. This week the architect is expected to arrive in the city with his plans and specifications and the advertising for bids will begin. This will consume about three weeks since bids must be advertised for that length of time to fill legal requirements. Then another week will perhaps be consumed in closing the deal, ordering material and making other preliminary arrangements. It will be after the middle of September before ground for the new building will be broken.

As soon as actual work has started however it will be pushed vigorously and it is expected that the contractor will have made a very good start before cold weather comes on. The plans is to have the building completed before September 1913, and in order to do this the work will have to be pushed all the time. The building is going to be even more of an undertaking than the erection of the City hall and that took much longer than that to build.

Demure, but Determined.

FIFTY YEARS AGO YESTERDAY

COMPANY I OF 25TH MICH. INF. ENLISTED.

Some of Company Died on Battle Field and Others Dropped Out of Ranks Lately

It is fifty years ago yesterday that Co. I of the Twenty-fifth Michigan Infantry of this city enlisted as soldiers in the Union army. Last year marked the 50th anniversary of the beginning of the Civil war and during the early part of the great struggle the young men of this city and vicinity also heard the call from the front and responded in large numbers to President Lincoln's request for volunteers.

Company I of the 25th Michigan Infantry gave a good account of itself during the four years of war. Many of the members of the company gave their lives for the Union and many bore the marks of the struggles through which they passed all their lives.

The company mustered in with 48 members. Of that number 29 are still alive. Of the others some died on the battle field, while others have been gradually falling out of the ranks as old age came upon them. During the last two years of the Civil War some twenty members were added to the company. They are included in the list of survivors that is printed below. Of those whose names are given here the majority live in Holland or vicinity. Others make their homes in Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Spring Lake and a few in other states. The list of survivors follows:

John Kramer, Benj. Van Raalte sr., John Grootenhuis, G. Van Schelven, H. J. Te Slegte, U. De Vries, P. De Vries, John P. Oggel, J. A. Witterdink, John Pilon, Klaas Dykhuis, J. Naber, H. B. The wedding was performed in the presence of relatives by the Rev. P. P. Cheff of Zeeland city. A fine wedding supper was served and the young couple will reside on a farm near Zeeland.

ALMOST LOST HIS LIFE

S. A. Stid, of Mason, Mich., will never forget his terrible exposure to a merciless storm. "It gave me a dreadful cold," he writes, "that caused severe pains in my chest, so it was hard for me to breathe. I did so and two bottles completely cured me." Use only this quick, safe, reliable medicine for coughs, colds, or any throat or lung trouble. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free. SAVING PENNIES TO FREE HUSBAND

At the county farm at Eastmanville is a character who is always pointed out to visitors as the most pathetic figure at that place. Since she was shot by her drunken husband in Grand Haven last summer Mrs. Kulos a Greek woman, has spent most of her time at the county farm. The story of the shooting is still fresh in the minds of Ottawa county people. She was shot by her husband and for a long time she hovered between life and death in a hospital. When finally she recovered sufficiently to be discharged from the hospital it was found that she was paralyzed from her hips down by the shot, and that she would have to be treated almost as a helpless baby for the rest of her life.

Although she is still a comparatively young woman and would naturally feel bitter being thus crippled gave him and wept bitter tears at the trial when he was sentenced to serve a term in prison for his brutal act. And now an inmate of the poor house, she has not forgotten the man to whom she gave her heart back in her girlhood home across the sea. Although she seems to have little to live for, the one great ambition of her life is to help her husband out of prison.

To this purpose she is bending all her energies. During the trial she found that it was a big draw back not to be able to speak the English language. An interpreter had to be used and she did not know what the sentence of the judge was until it was interpreted to her. Because of this she reasoned that it would be a great help in getting her husband out of prison if she could speak and write the language of this country. Therefore every day she spends part of her time in learning to read and write, and she is said to be making rapid progress. The purpose that spurs her on seems to make her mental faculties keener and she is acquiring a knowledge of the language much faster than foreigners usually do.

But she also realizes that money will come in handy in her efforts to free her husband and so she is making "hair-pin" lace which she sells, thus earning about forty-five cent a day. These pennies she saves religiously. Some day she believes she can use this money in the campaign for her husband's freedom.

Though her lot is a peculiarly sad one her life has been given meaning and direction because of the great purpose she has formed. It keeps her happy and in spite of her physical handicap she has a sunny disposition and is a favorite among the inmates at the farm.

CHAUTAUQUA MEETINGS AT CENTRAL PARK TO COME TO AN END.

The series of Chautauqua meetings held at Central Park this week will come to a close this evening. Yesterday four addresses were delivered and today there will again be four speakers on the program. The forenoon meeting will be presided over by the Rev. G. Hekhuis of Overisel and addresses will be delivered by the Rev. H. J. Veldman of this city and the Rev. Alex. J. Brown of Grand Rapids. The former will speak on "The Literary Beauties of the Bible," and the latter on "The 'Ifs' of the C. E. Pledge."

At the afternoon meeting the Rev. G. Tyse of North Holland will preside. The first address will be by the Rev. E. J. Ekkink of this city whose subject is "The Thorn in the Flesh" and the final address of the series will be delivered by the Rev. John M. Vander Meulen, who will speak on "How to Get and to Hold the Young Men in the Church."

CLEVER CROOK IS FOILED BY HOLLAND BUSINESS MEN

A bogus check man Tuesday tried to play a smooth game on local merchants but they were too wise for him and his scheme failed. First he presented himself at the office of T. Keppel Sons and asked for a blank check. Being suspicious of a total stranger making a request of this kind they refused and the man went away grumbling.

Later in the evening he entered the City Grocery & Market and bought some groceries. He asked that the groceries be delivered the next morning at a certain number on Seventh street. In payment he produced a check for nine dollars and some cents supposed to have been issued by T. Keppels Sons. Mr. Huizenga, the grocer became suspicious and refused to cash the check. Later he found there was no such number in the directory as the man had given. Yesterday when he called up Keppel he learned that his suspicions were well founded. The police department was immediately notified and a search for the crook is being made. The Chief of Police of Grand Rapids informed Mr. Kamferbeek that a man of like description was wanted in Grand Rapids for similar jobs.

ZEELAND FIRM ATTRACTS ATTENTION THROUGH WINDOW DISPLAY.

DISPLAY.

A novel stunt in widow trimming is to be seen in the show-window of the Ted and Ed clothing Co., of Zeeland. It consists of a base ball diamond in miniature enclosed by a fence made of card board, containing the ads of the company! There is a grandstand, containing a ticket window and bleachers. Inside the diamond stuck up in the sand are small snap shot pictures mounted on cardboard of the members of the Zeeland Independent base ball team, playing in their regular positions. There is a score board and bats. This window has caused no little comment among the local people.

A very pretty porch wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. Hall of Farowe, when their daughter was married to Mr. Glenn Snyder of Grand Rapids. The ceremony was performed in the presence of immediate relatives by the Rev. P. Siegers. A fine wedding supper was served. The couple will make their home in Grand Rapids where the groom is employed as motorman. They left for a a short wedding trip thru the state.

Probate Office—Long Term

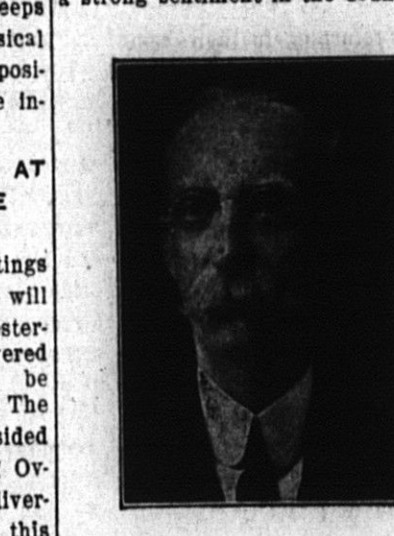

What chance has any voter, his brother, or his son, to run for any county office within the gift of the people if an office holder is to continue in office for years.

Governor Osborn said he could serve the state best by holding the office of governor for one term, two years. He made good and declined the second nomination.

The most responsible county office is that of county treasurer, where thousands of dollars are handled by the county treasurer each year. The probate court handles but little money as compared with the county treasurer's office. Where could there have been more obliging and efficient men to fill the county office than Elbert Lynn, William D. Van Loo, Henry Pelgrim and Walter Clark and yet the law demanded a change every four years. Not a question of how nice or how good county treasurers they were.

Sheriffs in the past like Boss Kerpel, Frank Van Ry, Henry Dykhuis, Jesse Woodbury could hold office only four years under the law. It was not a question of how nice or how good the sheriffs were.

For several years there has been a strong sentiment in the county that no man should hold office for a third term, and hence men like John Rutgers, Peter Brusse, Andrew Ward, C. C. Coburn and F. McEachron were all defeated for a third term. This proves that other good men could fill the offices.

Without saying one word against Mr. Kirby as judge of probate why should he be an exception to the rule and hold office for 15 years. He filled an unexpired term of Judge Goodrich for three years and was twice nominated in convention for two (2) terms of four years each—making in all 11 years. Judge Soule held the office two terms, eight years. Judge Goodrich held the office nearly nine years and resigned when Mr. Kirby was appointed to office while living in Duluth, Minn., in Dec. 1901. There is nothing hard about the office to fill. The office requires an honest, efficient and helpful man, who is conscientious, obliging and who is considerate in all his dealings with men, women and children. Such a man is James J. Danhof who is a candidate for said office. Mr. Danhof has practiced law since 1893 and is familiar with probate work. In former years, Mr. Danhof at the age of 14 years, worked at the tailor's trade. Holds degree of Master of Arts—Hope College. Was bookkeeper for H. C. Akeley. Worked four years for U. S. government. Graduated from Law department, Michigan University in 1893. Mr. Danhof understands both Dutch and German.

While Mr. Danhof has been active in Republican circles for years, he has never run for any county office. Should he be nominated and elected the public can be assured of prompt and impartial treatment in all probate matters. He cordially asks for your support. When you vote place an (X) before his name. Primaries August 27.—Pol. Adv.

PROGRAM OF SPORTS WAS OVER WHEN STORM CAME.

Two Ball Games, Tug-o-War and Many Contests Help to Make Picnic Enjoyable One

The program for the day given by the Merchants Thursday was practically ended when the heavy rain came and the only harm it did was to inconvenience the people on their return to the city. But all seemed to take it good-naturedly and the pleasure of the day was lessened very little by the rain.

Practically every store in the city was closed yesterday afternoon and there were thousands of people at Jenison Park. Two ball games added to the excitement of the afternoon.
The first game was between the Merchants and employees of the Michigan Tea Rusk Company. All who saw it declare it a wonderful game and the score was kept down to 25 and 15 in favor of the merchants. The feature of the game was a sensational home run by Klompereus. Dave McFall, who was the first man to bat tried to hit the atmosphere so hard that he stumbled and hurt his knee so that he will be out of the game for the rest of the season.

The second game was no less interesting. It was between the Main Street merchants and the Back St. merchants. Somehow the score was lost in the haze of figures and no one seems to remember what the exact figures were. Besides, the rain put an end to this game and at that time the Back Street team was ahead.
The Main Street merchants however, declare that if they had had the chance to play the full nine innings they would have won out. Naturally the Back street Merchants strenuously hold the opposite opinion. The feature of this game was a sensational catch by Herman Van Tongeren.

The Tug-o-War was another feature that caused a good deal of interest and created keen rivalry. Al Hidding was captain of one team and J.
J. Rutgers was the opposing captain.
Mr. Hidding's team won though both sides made a wonderful showing and for awhile each seemed invincible.
Some of the members of the losing team declare that it was supposed to have been a tug between the 8th street merchants and the River St.
merchants but that as a matter of fact it was a case of the Eighth Streeters against the rest of the city and they say they are not a bit ashamed of losing against such odds.

The winners only smile at this and say that the whole thing was fair and square and that the best men won.
The teams were composed of the following:
Albert Hidding, captain; Gerard
Cook, Louis Bouwman, Benjamin
Laterman, Gerrit Slenk, John DeBoer,
John Lampen, Benjamin Lampen, K.
Buurma James Koster, Wm. Mokma
and M. Dekker.

The Eighth street team was made up of John J. Rutgers, captain; Geo.
Steketee, John Van Tatenhoven, Albert Keppel, George Rutgers, John Glerum Edward Glerum, A. Hollander Mr. Dekker, Andrew Klompereus, Henry Zwemer and Jacob Heider.

All afternoon the committees were kept busy pulling off the various stunts and the large crowd was kept amused all the time. Most of the people had taken lunches and free coffee and lemonade were served by the association. Hundreds of farmers attended the picnic as the guests of the association and the outing was a most enjoyable one.

Following is a list of the prize
winners:

Pole Vaulting for Men—Ed Glerum
Jr., 1st; H. P. Zwemer, 2nd.

Boy's Pole Vaulting—Carrol Van Ark, 1st; Benj. Rutgers, 2nd.

tee and John Weersing, 1st; James

The Ottawa county convention of the W. C. T. U. will be held in Holland August 22 and 23. A fine program has been arranged for both days of the convention and features of especial interest will be offered. Mrs.
Lydia Newcomb Cummings of Fair-hope, Ala., formerly a well known Spring Lake woman, will be the chief speaker on the first night of the session. A silver medal contest will be the feature of the second night. Mrs.
A. S. Benjamin, national parliamentar-ian of the W. C. T. U. will be present during the entire session and Miss Margaret Bilz, national lecturer for the medical temperance department will give a demonstration of the 20th century medicine chest.

His Record is An Open Book

The work of the Probate Court in closer contact with the home than is true in the matter of estates of that of any other public office. This deceased persons, mentally incompetents, spendthrifts and minors, insane feeble-minded and epileptic cases, Delinquent, neglected and dependent children. Granting permits to minors to work. Adoption of minors, Anpointment of guardian for habitual drunkards. The home and you as an individual are vitally interested in these matters, and during Judge Kirby's administration of the office he has always been too considerate of the feelings of the people coming into court to give these matters out for newspaper publication. He has always made out practically all papers in probate matters free of charge, thus saving large expense to those dealing with the court. Life is uncertain. Your estate may have to be handled by the Probate Judge in the next four years. Judge Kirby solicits your vote on August 27.—Pol. Adv.

RUN FIRST NEWS STAND

Mr. Benjamin P. Higgins who has been living in this city since 1875 died at his home Friday evening. He has been attending a lodge meeting of the Old Fellows, and as he was coming home he was sized by an acute attack of heart trouble.

Friends noticing that something was wrong assisted him but he died soon after reaching the house. Drs. Dan Cook and T. Boot were hurriedly called but could give no aid. Mr. Higgins was in the U. S. Navy and was on one of the gun boats in command of admiral Farragut, who made that daring dash up the Mississippi during the civil war. Mr. Higgins came to Holland in 1875 and started a photo studio. He also had the first news stand in the city and for years he had the monopoly on this business owing to the smallness of this town at that time. He is survived by a widow and three sons Frank of Chicago, Orville of Holland, and George of Traverse City. Mr. Higgins was 77 years old. The body was taken to Chicago for burial.

TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-TWO WANT TO PREVENT TAKING AWAY GRAND STAND AND FENCE.

To counteract the petition that was recently presented to the common council asking that the base ball fence and grandstand be removed on the ground that they are a public nuisance, the lovers of base ball have gotten up another petition asking that the fence and grandstand be not removed. The petition is now complete and it contains 282 names.

The various petitions that were circulated have been pasted together and the whole makes a sheet exactly six feet long. There are two columns on the back of one of the sheets, the whole making a thirteen foot column of names. All of which shows that interest in base ball is not at all dead in Holland.
