CONTINUE WORK ON ELECTRICAL PLANT PROJECT

Survey Reveals Work on Plant Is Now Ten Per Cent Finished

Does Not Include Building of Power Equipment
in Factories

After slightly more than seven months of construction, Holland's new $1,500,000 electrical power plant, being built on filled in land on the east end of Lake Macatawa, is approximately 10 per cent "physically complete."

However, this percentage figure does not include the work being done by manufacturers on the plant's equipment, such as turbines, heaters, boilers and stokers.

Actual construction on the plant began Dec. 22, 1938. As work continued, common council received various bids and upon recommendations of the board of public works, has allowed six different contracts. The PWA, which is furnishing 45 per cent of the cost of the plant, has approved the awarding of these contracts.

Total amount of money involved in the six contracts totals $1,177,722. One contract which calls for the furnishing of pipe remains to be let, date of which has not been set.

The six contracts are: No. 1—Lake States Engineering Co. of Chicago, piling, dock, sub-structure for the screen house for the circulating water system, railroad siding and road construction to the site of the plant, $97,353; No. 2, (2a)—Allis Chalmers Co. of Milwaukee, turbines, $340,000; (2b)—C. H. Wheeler Co. of Philadelphia, condensers, $57,900; (2c)—Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing Co. of Pittsburgh, closed heaters, $23,874.

No. 3—Edge Moor Iron Works of Edge Moor, Del., steam generating units, $216,780; No. 4—Strom Construction Co., building contract, $310,700; No. 5—Dearborn Electrical Co. of Chicago, electrical work, $101,270; No. 6—General Conveyors Corp. of Detroit, coal handling equipment, $29,845.

Three of the major contractors are at work on the project, in addition to two sub-contractors. They are the Lake States Engineering Co., the Strom Construction Co. and the Dearborn Electrical Construction Co. The sub-contractors are Gould and Cross, route 4, Grand Rapids, and the Pulte Plumbing and Heating Co., Grand Rapids, working under sub-contract of the Strom company.

Approximately 125 workers are now being employed by the various contractors.

The Lake States Engineering Co., which holds contract No. 1, and was the firm to start work on the project last December, is about 90 per cent finished with its contract.

This firm is completing its work on the dock extension that

ARNOLD MULDER ON STAFF AT WRITERS' CONFERENCE IN U.P.

Dr. and Mrs. Arnold Mulder, who are spending the summer at their cottage, "Carcassonne," at Maple beach, left this morning for Escanaba where Dr. Mulder will give courses in the novel and literary criticism in the Nahma Writers' conference.

The Nahma Writers' conference will bring together in the upper peninsula a considerable group of American creative writers and journalists, and students are enrolled from a wide area, many of them semi-professionals. Among the writers who will constitute the faculty are Robert Gessner, author of "Massacre," Louis Adams, author of "The Native's Return," Frank Gruber, Edwin Baird, Mary Hastings Bradley, Wallace Kirkland, Howard Thomas, Anne Campbell, and others.

The writers' conference is to be held in the heart of the upper peninsula lumbering section, that location having been chosen in part because it is also the Hiawatha country and hence has perhaps more literary associations than any other section of Michigan.

When Large Lake Freighter Unloaded First Cargo of Coal at Dock on New Black River Channel

The 511.1-foot lake freighter, Consumers Power, is pictured above in the process of unloading the first of its 7,400 tons of coal at the Neitring Coal Co. dock on the new Black river channel. The long conveyor arm, used for unloading the coal, facilitated rapid unloading. The boat began unloading operations at 2:30 p.m. Monday and was able to leave the dock at 10 p.m. Monday. The big boat arrived here from Toledo, O. Another cargo is expected here about Aug. 15. The boat was the first to enter the new channel, constructed when the east end of Lake Macatawa was filled.

CHILD HURT WHEN STRUCK BY TRUCK

Beverly Israels, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Israels, 77 River Ave., suffered bruises to her legs about 5:15 p.m. Wednesday when she was struck by a truck driven by Tim Smith, 38, 110 East Eighth St., at 3rd St. and River Ave.

The child was treated by a local physician. She was bruised when thrown upon gravel on the street.

Local police were informed that Smith was driving the truck south on River Ave. and was attempting to make a left turn. The child was crossing from the southeast to the northeast corner. Smith told police that he did not see the child until he hit her. Police were informed that Smith was working for the park department on tulip lanes.

Await Word from Tampa On Lake Michigan Victim

Officials Advised Charles
Lloyd Is Resident of Florida City

Having learned that the address of Charles Lloyd, whose body was taken from Lake Michigan last Thursday at Eagle Crest, is Tampa, Fla., Deputy Sheriff William Van Etta today was awaiting an answer to a telegram he sent to Tampa police late Wednesday.

Lloyd's address was learned through a set of fingerprints on file with the Michigan state police department at Lansing. The fingerprints disclosed that Lloyd had spent the night of June 15, 1939, at the transient camp at Kalamazoo. Persons who stay at transient camps are fingerprinted, Deputy Van Etta said.

Lloyd also left a request at the camp that in case anything should happen to him that J. A. Upchurch, 1114 Florida Ave., Tampa, Fla., be notified. Deputy Van Etta requested Tampa police to notify Upchurch of Lloyd's drowning.

Lloyd's fingerprints were taken Monday by Police Officer Ernest Bear. The officer was prevented from taking the fingerprints earlier than that time because the fingers, badly shriveled from being in the water, did not return to normalcy until Monday. Deputy Van Etta today praised Officer Bear for his work in obtaining a good set of fingerprints of the dead man that enabled authorities to learn his address.

The fingerprints were taken to Grand Rapids Tuesday where they were photographed and later sent to the state police department at Lansing.

Lloyd's body was buried in Pilgrim Home cemetery after authorities had been unable to learn his address or the identity of any relatives. His name was learned only through a dry cleaning mark found on a trouser pocket.

Police here had no information on why Lloyd was in Michigan.

RIVER CHANNEL IS 'CHRISTENED'

Large Freighter Greeted by Holland Whistles and Citizens

To the accompaniment of whistles from local factories, the lake freighter, Consumers Power, sailed into Holland harbor Monday afternoon and the new Black river channel and moored at the new dock of the Neitring Coal Co., located just north of the site of the city's new electrical plant.

The boat entered the harbor about 1 p.m. Monday but it was nearly 2:30 p.m. before she docked. Unloading operations got under way at once and were completed early this morning. The boat left Holland harbor and entered Lake Michigan at 12:50 a.m. Tuesday.

She brought a cargo of 7,400 tons of coal for the Neitring Coal Co. and experienced no difficulty in negotiating the Black River channel. This channel was constructed when the east end of Lake Macatawa was filled up with the deepening and enlarging of the turning basin. It provides an outlet into the lake for the waters of Black river. The filling in of the lake provided considerable dockage along the river channel.

The Consumers Power is the first large lake freighter to enter the channel since its construction. The coal was the first shipment to be received here by the Neitring company.

Harbormaster Henry Vander Schel boarded the freighter at the harbor entrance, being taken out to the freighter by Capt. E. J. Clemens of the Holland coast guard station. Mr. Vander Schel pointed out the way up Lake Macatawa to Captain Heffron of the freighter.

He also was aboard to help the boat "dock out." The freighter left her dock about 10 p.m. Captain Heffron took extra precautions in turning the boat around in the turning basin with a result that she did not start down the lake until about 11:45 p.m.

The boat is 511.1 feet long. It was reported the boat is due here again about Aug. 15 with another load of coal. The first consignment was taken aboard at Toledo, O.

A large crowd of Holland citizens was on hand to welcome the boat. E. P. Stephan, secretary-manager, represented the Holland Chamber of Commerce.

TRUCK PLUNGES THROUGH WALK

Many Soft Drink Bottles
Broken in Accident on River Ave.

The right rear wheel of a large truck, owned by the Seven-Up Bottling Co. of Western Michigan, 99 River Ave., and loaded with approximately 15,000 bottles of the soft drink, plunged through the sidewalk which covered a storm sewer at 15th St. and River Ave. at 3:45 a.m. Saturday, causing the truck to overturn and breaking between 1,000 and 2,000 bottles.

The truck was in charge of Lloyd Cobb, 199 East Sixth St., who holds a four-year record of no accidents. Phillips Brooks, owner of the bottling company, said the driver was not to blame for the accident.

The truck was en route to Benton Harbor and had stopped in the gasoline filling station on the southeast corner of the intersection for gasoline. As the truck was leaving the station, a car passed north on River Ave.

The driver suddenly applied the brakes to halt the truck but the application of the brakes shifted the truck's load to its rear wheels which were on the sidewalk. The heavy load caused the concrete sidewalk over the storm sewer to give way under the right rear wheel.

A large truck from the Ford motor caravan which was exhibiting here Friday and Saturday chanced to pass by shortly after the accident occurred. The load was shifted to this truck which returned to the bottling company's plant and left shortly afterward for Benton Harbor with a new load.

City Engineer Jacob Zuidema reported today that the old drain extends under the sidewalk from 15th St. to 19th St. and along Michigan Ave to 21st St. In normal times, it is dry but it carries off surface water during rains.

The sidewalk was built over the drain years ago by property owners, Mr. Zuidema said, but was not constructed strong enough to withstand the weight of heavy trucks.

C. of C. Secretary Again Warns on Solicitations

Urges That No Support Be Given to Unapproved
Projects

E. P. Stephan, secretary-manager of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, today issued another warning to members of the organization that they should ignore solicitors unless they exhibit their card, showing that their project has been approved by the secretary-manager.

Mr. Stephan said his office is constantly contacted by various organizations or individuals for approval of requests to solicit funds "for this, that or the other thing." "Some of these are worthy causes but in most instances they are of a personal interest. Invariably they are refused approval. We have two drives in this city, the Community chest and the Chamber of Commerce, and we try in these drives to cover any and all worthy causes that the city is interested in.

"We are constantly asking our members to inquire of solicitors if they have the approval of the Chamber of Commerce and if so to show them the document," said Mr. Stephan.

"However, in many instances the merchant or manufacturer donates and then, after thinking it over, calls the Chamber of Commerce office about the proposition. It is then too late as the solicitor has the money and nothing can be done about it, unless it should be something of a fraudulent nature which in most instances is not.

"We have had several calls during the past few days in regard to a ticket campaign that has been carried on in our city, asking us what they should do. Our answer is the same as it always has been: require them to show their Chamber of Commerce approval."

VISSER TAKES HOLLAND CALL

Meredith, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist church who recently resigned his charge here and accepted a teaching position at the Wesleyan college in Marion, Ind., has announced that the Rev. G. Visser of Coldwater, formerly pastor of the local church, has accepted the call extended to him recently by the local congregation.

Rev. Visser's appointment will be confirmed at the annual conference in Hastings this week. He will arrive here on or about Aug. 24 and will preach his first sermon the last Sunday in August. Rev. Meredith will preach his farewell sermon Aug. 20 and will leave with his family for Marion Aug. 22.

Rev. Visser served the local church as pastor from 1924 to 1929. After leaving Holland he spent two years in evangelistic work and then went to Coldwater. Rev. Meredith has been pastor here for the past ten years.

GRAND HAVEN LIGHT PLANT SETS RECORD

Grand Haven, Aug. 10—An all-time peak of electric generation at the municipal light and power plant here was recorded Tuesday with 3,150 kilowatts, equal to 38,500 kilowatt hours. The output broke a record of 37,000 kilowatt hours generated only a week previous.

The output is believed to have been boosted because of the extension of power lines in the resort sections north and south of here and the heavy usage of power by campers in trailers at Grand Haven state park.

The municipal light department will collect state sales tax on electricity bills, J. Brian Sims, superintendent said, but no returns will be made to the state until a decision is reached in the suit to determine the constitutionality of the tax on municipal plants.

If the tax is found unconstitutional, the amount collected from customers will be credited to their accounts.

In connection with the coming 1940 presidential election, a group of supporters has launched a move to draft Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg as the Republican nominee for president.

TEST CASE SET OVER DANCES IN LIQUOR PLACES

Ottawa Hearing Expected to Be Appealed Finally to High Court

Prosecutor Parsons Holds
State Law Prohibits
Both Activities

A test case to determine whether the holder of a license to sell alcoholic beverages can conduct public dances in their places of business had its beginning in the court of Justice Raymond L. Smith this Thursday at 2 p.m.

Prosecutor Elbert Parsons said Mrs. Harry Bronkhorst, operator of the Yellow Jacket, located on M-50, east of the US-31 junction, was to report to the court house in Grand Haven for arrest on a charge of operating a dance hall where alcoholic beverages are sold. She was to be arraigned on the charge and, upon her plea of not guilty, trial will be held. Prosecutor Parsons said that in all probability the verdict of the court will be appealed to the higher courts, first to circuit court and then to the supreme court.

It was learned that the action will be a "friendly" case in an effort to gain an interpretation of the state law and its outcome likely will be watched with interest throughout the state.

On last March 14, Prosecutor Parsons sent out memorandums to all township supervisors of Ottawa county in which he advised that "in my opinion it is the duty of all township boards forthwith to revoke, in accordance with the provisions of this statute, all dancing permits where intoxicating liquors are sold or consumed on the licensed premises."

"In my opinion the law does not permit the operation of a dance hall on the same premises where intoxicating liquors are either sold or consumed," wrote Mr. Parsons.

LOCAL GUARDSMEN NAMED TO ACADEMY

Grand Haven, Aug. 10 (Special)—Adrian O'Beck, 21, son of Capt. and Mrs. Martin O'Beck of Grand Haven, who has been a surinam at Holland coast guard station the past two years, has received an appointment to the coast guard academy at New London, Conn. He will report for physical examination at the academy Aug. 10 and if he passes will begin his cadetship immediately. O'Beck was a member of the picked Lake Michigan east shore coast guard crew which raced the west shore fete at Grand Haven.

He was a graduate of Grand Haven high school and attended Muskegon Junior college.

Members of the projects committee are Harold Niemi, Harold Klassen and Herbert Ten Have. The committee's report was accepted.

Grassmid Examination Delayed for One Week

Grand Haven, Aug. 10 (Special)—The examination of Chester Grassmid, 18, route 1, Zeeland, charged with negligent homicide, which was tentatively set for Friday at 10 a.m. before Justice George V. Hoffer, has been adjourned for one week.

Grassmid is being held in connection with the death of Roy Hineckley of Hartford, which occurred July 7 on M-50 near Allendale, resulting from a collision of automobiles, driven by the two men.

ACTIVITY LISTED IN CITY NURSE'S ANNUAL REPORT

Examinations of Children in Year Total Nearly Two Thousand

Mrs. Wolfert Urges Early Immunization Against Smallpox

Mrs. Alma Koertge Wolfert, public health nurse of Holland, today released her annual report, covering her activities of the past year.

In her report, she advises that the work of Holland's nurse is connected with many agencies working for the health and welfare of the city.

"Working with the city health department, our school children were protected against smallpox and diphtheria. It is hoped that this protection will be given by parents in the early months of life and thus protect the children over their most dangerous period, the first five years," her report reads.

Mrs. Wolfert reported that in her work with the Exchange club, 56 children were provided with tonsil and adenoid operations and milk was supplied to a group of needy children.

Through the Junior league, 30 children were supplied with glasses and several mothers with obstetrical kits.

The Rotary club has made many trips to Grand Rapids, transporting children and aiding them in many other ways. The Women's Literary club supported the weekly baby clinic, pre-school clinics and also supplied cod liver oil where parents were not able to buy it. In each of these, the nurse helps to bring the people who need help and the helpful agencies together.

Mrs. Wolfert reported that she made 110 calls, representing nursing care; delivered 180 birth certificates; made 852 home calls for other reasons; made 248 school calls for observation and care; and attended 157 conferences with other workers.

She conducted two clinics for crippled children, five pre-school clinics, 10 chest clinics, one x-ray clinic for the Michigan Tuberculosis association, one speech clinic and one hearing clinic.

Her miscellaneous work consisted of 30 hours spent in her office; one trip to meeting in Lansing; one trip each to Muskegon and Ann Arbor with patients; four trips to Grand Rapids for conferences with judge and county unit; two days spent at a health meeting in Grand Rapids; one day spent in teachers' institute at Grand Rapids; two talks at meetings outside of school; six classes taught in child care; eight committee meetings attended; assisted Dr. Frost in dental survey for the Couzens' fund; assisted high school physical education teacher for four days; took six patients to doctor's office and two to the dentist.

All grade children were given nurse's inspection and parents were notified of needed care. The number of children examined was 1,897.

As Newlyweds Left Chapel

Mr. and Mrs. William Wichers are seen leaving Hope Memorial church following their marriage, which was performed at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the presence of 200 guests. Hope Chapel Scene of Impressive Marriage

In an impressive ceremony performed Wednesday afternoon in Hope Memorial church, Miss Lois Alvina De Vries, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. De Vries of this city, was united in marriage to William Alan Wichers of Newark, N. J., son of Dr. Wynand Wichers, president of Hope college, and Mrs. Wichers.

The late afternoon sun, shining through the beautiful stained glass windows, cast a soft glow on the interior of the chapel, which was artistically decorated in green and white. Baskets of white gladioli against a background of palms and ferns were used on the altar. The aisle was marked with palms, and sprays of ferns were used as wall decoration.

The single ring ceremony was performed at 4 p.m. in the presence of approximately 200 guests by the Rev. William Van't Hof, pastor of Third Reformed church, assisted by the Rev. A. Luidens of Rochester, N. Y., uncle of the groom.

Appropriate organ music was played by Mrs. W. Curtis Snow preceding the ceremony, and immediately before the entrance of the wedding party, Stanley DePree of Lansing and Detroit, sang "Because," by d'Hardolet.

Entering the chapel to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, the bride party formed an attractive picture, the bridesmaids dressed alike in light length chiffon gowns of a light wisteria shade cut on Grecian lines, with oval neckline, fitted waist, full skirt, and tiny puffed sleeves. They wore real flowers in their hair, and carried arm bouquets of gladioli in shades of wisteria and white. The men wore white linen.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was lovely in a classic gown of traditional white satin, fashioned with long pointed sleeves, high neckline, tiny satin buttons down the back, the skirt fitted at the hip-line and flaring in a slight train. Her veil of illusion tulle was caught with a coronet of real flowers, and she carried a bridal bouquet of white lilies. Her only ornament was a string of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Betty De Vries, the bride's sister, was maid-of-honor, and other bridesmaids were Miss Dorothy Wichers, sister of the groom, Miss Betty Miller of Detroit and Miss Josephine Finlin of Fowlerville.

John Hyma of St. Louis, Mo., the groom's cousin, performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Victor Noyer, Willard Wichers and Ekdal Butts, the latter of Grand Rapids. The Rev. James Nettling of New York city, and Harold De Jongh, who were to have assisted as ushers, were unable to attend the wedding because of illness.

Following the exchange of vows, Mr. DePree sang "Carrie Jacobs Bond's 'I Love You Truly,'" and the wedding party left the chapel to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march, played by Mrs. Snow, who also accompanied Mr. DePree.

After the service, a reception for the immediate relatives and a few friends was held in the De Vries home, 71 West 19th St. Summer flowers were used in profusion to decorate the rooms, where the bride couple received with their parents. Music during the reception was furnished by the Misses Josephine and Frances Finlin of Fowlerville, Mrs. D. Peterson of Portland, and Mrs. W. Miner of Lansing.

A wedding repast, which featured a decorated wedding cake, was served by Miss Alice Busby of Detroit, Misses Della and Edith Wenzel at St. Louis, Mo., Miss Mary Jane Vaupell and Miss Thelma Kookler of Holland, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wichers were master and mistress of ceremonies, and Miss Busby was in charge of the gift room.

Later in the day the couple left on a motor trip east to their new home in Irvington, N. J. From there they plan a trip by air to Brownsville, Tex., and into Mexico, making other stops in the south before returning to New Jersey. For traveling Mrs. Wichers chose a black redingote ensemble trimmed in white with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

A graduate of Holland High school and Hope college, where she was a member of Sorosis society, the bride has taught for the past two years in Fowlerville. The groom was graduated from Holland High school, attended Hope college, and was graduated from the Boeing Aeronautical school at Oakland, Calif. FOUR ARE HURT IN THREE LOCAL CAR ACCIDENTS

Two of Those Injured Are Children, Struck by Passing Autos

Two on Motorcycle Are Thrown Under Vehicle at Airport

Four persons were injured, two of them being children who were struck by passing automobiles, in three accidents which occurred in and near Holland Tuesday, local police and Deputy Sheriff William Van Etta reported today.

John Troost, 24, and his wife, Mrs. Fannie Troost, 20, 947 Leonard St., NE, Grand Rapids, suffered injuries when the motorcycle on which they were riding skidded out of control at the intersection of the Ottawa beach and short cut roads opposite the Park township airport and threw them under an oncoming automobile about 9:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Troost suffered head injuries and cuts about the body. After being admitted to Holland hospital, he was transferred to Butterworth hospital in Grand Rapids. His wife was confined in the Holland hospital suffering with facial cuts, lacerations on the abdomen and bruises on her legs. Her condition was reported as "good."

John Van Duine, 66, 25 Colonial Ave., Zeeland, was driver of the oncoming car.

Deputy Sheriff Van Etta said he was informed that Troost failed to see the stop sign at the road intersection as he was driving his motorcycle west on the short cut road and that when he applied the brakes, it skidded, throwing him and his wife under Van Duine's car which was being driven east.

Kenneth Moomey, 1642 Delwood Ave., Grand Rapids, and Louis Dalman, 127 West 21st St., who chanced to pass by shortly after the accident, took the injured to Holland hospital.

Joyce Bacheller, 4-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Bacheller, route 4, Holland, was confined to her home suffering with injuries which she sustained about 4 p.m. Tuesday when she was struck by an automobile driven by Egbert Meyer, a Chicago school teacher, while crossing the road in front of the nearby home of Clarence Jalving.

The girl was believed to have suffered a slight brain concussion together with glass cuts on her scalp and bruises on both legs. She first was treated at Holland hospital and then removed to her home.

She suffered the glass cuts when the car's headlight struck the child's head. The child was thrown under the car but the wheels did not pass over her body.

Witnesses said Meyer was driving his car at a slow rate of speed as he had noticed a five-year-old boy standing on the opposite side of the road who was indicating that he wanted a ride.

As Meyer prepared to halt the car to ask the boy if he wanted a ride, the girl suddenly darted across the road in the path of his car.

The accident left Meyer in such a nervous condition that he requested an unidentified man to drive his car to the hospital with the injured girl. After striking the girl, the car did not continue its full length, first arrivals on the scene pulling the girl from under the rear end.

Dennis Minnema, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Minnema, 102 West 13th St., was treated at Holland hospital for bruises on his left arm, shoulder and leg after being struck by a car driven by Mrs. Lillian Price, 48, of Cincinnati, O., at 13th St. and Pine Ave. about 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Local police were informed that Mrs. Price was driving her car south on Pine Ave. and the child was crossing the street from the southwest corner to the southeast corner.

Mrs. Price's car is reported to have skidded 10 feet. She informed police that she did not see the child until it was too late to avoid an accident.

Witnesses were listed as Paul Brouwer, route 1, Holland, and Mrs. William Zonnebelt, 102 West 13th St.

CATCHES BIG BASS BY LIGHT OF MOON

Moonlight bass fishing might be something at that.

At least that's the conclusion reached by Bud George at Castle park last week when he hooked a four and a half pound black bass in Tibbe's lake by the light of the moon.

In the company of Phil Frye, young George cast a Bassarino across the moonlit waters of the small lake near Castle park last Friday morning early and at 1:30 a.m., after 45 minutes of fishing, hooked what he termed a "beauty." "Beauty" or black bass, anyway. It weighed 4½ pounds, and was 19 inches long.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

By CORA ANTHONY
Director of A&P Kitchen

ALL meats but top grade veal are lower and reasonable in price. The drop in lamb prices is quite noticeable. Poultry prices are especially attractive including broiling and frying size chickens, fowl, ducklings and new crop turkeys. Eggs and butter are plentiful and unusually reasonable. Mackerel, the most popular summer fish, continues to slide the fishing fleet. The catch to date is only about a quarter of normal.

Fruits and vegetables are plentiful and low in price. Apples, peaches, plums, pears and melons are the outstanding fruits and all kinds of beans, beets, carrots, corn, eggplant, spinach and the squashes the cheap vegetables. Salad greens, cucumbers, tomatoes and avocados keep the salad bowl full at low cost.

FALL OF TANK WRECKS PUMP

A water problem confronted residents at the Henry Boersma and the H. S. Colth cottages at Cardeau beach this week for the water tank which supplied the cottages "gave up the ghost" late Sunday night.

The tank, which was supported 20 feet above a pump house on stilts, crashed through the pump house as its supports gave way Sunday, and both tank and pump house were demolished.

The full water tank fell directly through the roof of the house, tearing as it fell, and crushing the sides of the house on landing. The pump was broken by the weight of the fall.

A SENSE OF PROPORTION

The amount of space given to an event, or the size of the headlines devoted to it, does not by any means always indicate its true importance. This was illustrated the other day when at almost the same moment the news "broke" of the state department's abrogation of the 1911 treaty with Japan and the news of the fact that John L. Lewis, CIO leader, had called Vice President Garner a "labor-baiting, poker-playing, whisky-drinking, evil old man."

In most American newspapers the Lewis attack received as much space and as impressive an array of headlines as the treaty abrogation. Quite properly so, from a journalistic standpoint. For it is a fundamental in journalism—determined not by arbitrary rules but by the very nature of life itself—that amount of space and size of headlines are determined very largely by reader interest, not by intrinsic importance. In a country where murders are committed every day, no single murder is ever very important. Yet local reader interest will always demand that the preference of space and size of headlines be given to any garden-variety of local murder over the death of a distant great man, no matter how important his life may have been.

So with Garner and Japan. The break with Japan is important. In all probability it will mark a turning point in the relations of the two countries; it has strong possibilities even of marking a turning point in the relations of two continents. It is not unlikely that at the close of the twentieth century historians will still be putting down in their records the fact that in the summer of 1939 the American state department turned an important corner in international relations. Even if it is not that important, the treaty abrogation affects over two hundred million people at this moment and the event gains importance from the mere number of people involved.

The Garner episode is just that—an episode. It may have political repercussions in the campaign of 1940 and its importance may therefore be greater than the actual physical event would seem to indicate. But even when it is given the benefit of every doubt, it still remains a mere incident in a mere fractional wrangle, involving a mere politician and a mere labor leader. It is fundamentally worthless in social significance. It is merely picturesque, not truly important.

But the one event gets as much attention as the other. The person who would truly understand the times in which he lives will make some effort, for himself, to sift the insignificant from the important. Both deserve the same space in the evanescent record of contemporary journalism but not in the card-index of the mind of anyone who aspires to be a citizen of the world.

Elisha
2 Kings 5:1-10, 14
By Henry Geerlings

Elijah is succeeded by Elisha. God's work must be carried on. Death must not and cannot stop it. Sometimes it seems as if when the worker dies the work will cease, but God is not entirely dependent upon one man. He finds successors. He found Elisha at the plow doing work in the fields.

As we see it, it does not look as if this farmer has the stuff in him of which prophets are made. But we must not forget that the farm has furnished many of the world's greatest men. Brain and spiritual capacities are not limited to any particular geographical locations or special callings. An out-of-the-way place is quite as liable to hold and house a potential prophet as a throbbing metropolis. New England rock-ribbed hills and Kentucky backwoods furnish a Webster and a Lincoln. Let us not belittle the man who plows. God may be after him for a great place in his kingdom.

Elisha was different from Elijah and that is good, and according to God's order of things. However much alike men may be, the fact remains that they are different. One of the great things about human personality is individuality. We speak about stepping into another man's shoes. Well, we don't. They would not fit. We would look ridiculous in them. We must step into our own.

The mantle of Elijah fell upon Elisha, but he was still Elisha. He was not the moral whirlwind that Elijah was. He was possibly not as daring as Elijah was. He did not go after his task with the abandon with which Elijah prosecuted his, but he was nevertheless brave and wise and spiritually keen sighted. He had as great a sense of God and of his presence in the affairs of men as had Elijah. He spoke with the same conviction and out of the same certainty that things would come to pass as did Elijah. He never doubted that God could or would fail him. Possibly Elisha understood the common people a little better than did Elijah, and it may be that he touched common life at more points than did Elijah. He had a little patience with wickedness in high places as his predecessor and he was as fearless of kings as was Elijah. He bearded human lions in their dens and was never frightened at their roaring. He sought to show supremacy of the spiritual over the material and he walked with God.

Elisha was a kind and helpful. He is a man of miracles in private and public life. With one exception his miracles were works of mercy and kindness. The lesson story exalts these two characteristics. Naaman was a captain. There is much to admire in him. He deserved his position. His reputation grew from his own life. His malady dulled his prospects. He could not see far ahead. He could not plan for a long future. As a leper, his public life was limited to but a few years at most. And there was no known cure for him. Though a distinguished servant of his nation, he faced a slow death as would the commonest slave.

Among the captives in Syria just one maid provided Naaman's chance to be cured. The consensus of whatever medical men there were was that leper Naaman was incurable. His days were numbered. His fate was dreaded. The last place to look for any real help was the servant girl in his house. But she was his one chance. It came to Naaman's wife and king and to himself as a sudden discovery so strange and withal so complicated as to appear doubtful. But it was his part to follow the suggestion, lest he be found missing his one more chance. He used the maid's suggestion, others helped, the messenger to the king helped, the king helped, Naaman helped. It was a fine example of cooperation. Back of it all was the maid's religion, her kindness of heart, her willingness to help in any way she could.

This is an extreme case to be sure. Not many Naamans can be similarly helped now. But the spirit of kindly help can prevail in all of us. In fact it should if we are followers of Christ. One of the fine things said about Christ was that he went about doing good. We can emulate him in this respect. Our profession ought to have better backing than our say-so. It should have the undeniable proof of kindness and helpfulness. Unless we do our good turn often, not for some mark of merit, but as the natural fruit of his love in us, we need not get ruffled if people express doubts about the sincerity of our religion.

Repair of Connections to Breakwaters Is Planned

Chamber of Commerce Is Told Work Is Set for 'Next May'

Word has been received here by E. P. Stephan, secretary-manager of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, that the United States engineers office of the war department at Milwaukee, Wis., plans to improve next May the pile structures which connect the breakwater and the piers at Holland harbor.

The information was contained in a letter which was sent by W. H. Holcombe, lieutenant colonel, corps of engineers at Milwaukee, to Rep. Carl E. Mapes who sent a copy of the letter to Mr. Stephan.

Mr. Mapes wrote Mr. Stephan that he recently received a letter from Everett Meurer, route 4, Holland, relative to the condition of the north pier at the Holland harbor. Mr. Meurer's letter was then sent to Colonel Holcombe, district engineer, at Milwaukee. Although a copy of Mr. Meurer's letter was not included with Mr. Mapes' letter to Mr. Stephan, the nature of Mr. Holcombe's letter indicated that Mr. Meurer had written regarding the condition of the pile structure which causes fishermen difficulty in reaching the breakwater from which they fish.

The first part of Mr. Holcombe's letter contained a description of the harbor entrance which is of the small, arrowhead type. "The diverging breakwaters being about 800 feet long."

"They extend to within about 600 feet from shore. Their inner ends were originally connected to the inner piers with pile structures filled with stone."

"The breakwaters and the connections at the inner ends were built low so that a large amount of the wave action passing the harbor entrance would pass over the connection into the lake and dissipate itself on shore. The purpose of these connections is also to prevent cross currents around the inner ends of the breakwaters and the resultant filling of the entrance channel with sand," Mr. Holcombe wrote.

The district army engineer also advised Mr. Mapes that for about 25 years after their construction, the connecting piers were not maintained. The piling and walls deteriorated so that the stone filling washed out and considerable portions of the structures were washed down to considerable depth below water surface.

"In order to restore the original purpose of these connections, they were converted into low rubble mounds during 1935-1938 at a considerable expense. The work involved the placing of core as well as large cover stone in an effort to prevent damage."

"However, the heavy seas last winter washed out parts of the upper portions of both the north and south connections. As they serve all necessary purposes, as far as the interests of navigation are concerned, no effort was made to replace the stone this year."

"It is proposed to obtain the necessary large stone from a rubble mound which is now being removed at Muskegon," Mr. Holcombe said. The large stone will not be available in time to do the work this season, he added.

Thus, it was indicated that both north and south connections to the breakwaters would be improved.

BLAZE CAUSES LOSS TO DAIRY

Holland firemen responded to two alarms Friday afternoon, the first shortly after 3 p.m. and the second about 6 p.m.

The first alarm resulted from a fire at the Lake Shore dairy at Montello park, operated by Willis Mulder. It was the second alarm this week from this dairy, firemen having been called there last Monday afternoon.

Fire Chief Cornelius Blom, Jr., estimated damage at $100. Most of the loss was confined to the roof. The fire, breaking out on the roof near the chimney, was believed to have been caused by the boiler, the top of which is only a short space from the roof. Considerable smoke resulted from the fire which was discovered by Floyd Taylor, residing nearby, who was working in his yard at the time and first noticed smoke issuing from the roof.

Firemen laid nearly 800 feet of hose from the fire plug near the Georgian Bay dock. The recently-improved road through Montello park was reported to have been cut by the tires of the heavy fire truck.

The second alarm was sounded when a box of straw in a garage at the home of John Hellenenthal, 297 West 22nd St., caught fire. Chief Blom expressed belief the fire started from the backfire of an automobile motor. He said the damage was slight.

LEGION BAND IN CHICAGO FETE

Local Organization Plans Drive to Raise Funds for Trip

The Holland American Legion band which has placed near the top in many contests in the past 18 years, will compete for honors in the 1939 annual Chicago-Land Music festival on Saturday, Aug. 19, at Chicago.

A drive to finance the trip will be opened. This year, as in the past, the band refuses to spend funds appropriated to it by the city for any outside activities. Harold J. Karsten, president of the band, said today.

Four years ago, the band went to Chicago to take part in the festival and placed fourth in Class A and experienced some of the keenest competition in the band's history.

The festival includes contests in vocal, choral, both men and women in both, bands, both adult and juvenile, violin, cornet, accordions and baton twirling for adult, junior and juvenile. There have been eight preliminary festivals held throughout the middle west, including the one at St. Joseph.

During the past nine years, 45,000 musicians have participated in the festivals and the annual attendance is about 100,000. Following the various events during the day, there will be a mass program that night on Soldiers field.

LEGION BAND IN CHICAGO FETE

Local Organization Plans Drive to Raise Funds for Trip

The Holland American Legion band which has placed near the top in many contests in the past 18 years, will compete for honors in the 1939 annual Chicago-Land Music festival on Saturday, Aug. 19, at Chicago.

Four years ago, the band went to Chicago to take part in the festival and placed fourth in Class A and experienced some of the keenest competition in the band's history.

The festival includes contests in vocal, choral, both men and women in both, bands, both adult and juvenile, violin, cornet, accordions and baton twirling for adult, junior and juvenile. There have been eight preliminary festivals held throughout the middle west, including the one at St. Joseph.

Karl Bolander, artist and lecturer of 25 years standing will address members of the Holland Arts and Crafts guild and Waukazoo Inn residents in lectures at Waukazoo Inn Friday evening.

Friday's program has been arranged by S. E. Paulus, manager of the Waukazoo Inn, with the committee of the local guild, Mr. Paulus, during the winter months, directs Mr. Bolander's lecture tours through the S. E. Paulus management services.

Members of the arts guild committee are Mrs. Charles Sligh, Mr. Mrs. Verne C. Hohl, Mrs. Kenneth Campbell and Miss Alice Kivaker.

They plan an extensive salon program for the local north shore resort, and will follow Friday night's lecture with a sketching class, among the shade trees at Waukazoo Inn.

Their exhibit, which has been shown at Castle park and Macatawa, will be increased from 35 to 50 pieces Thursday when the show opens. Water colors, pastels and graphics, which represent the best in that line contributed by guild members will be added.

These pieces have been hanging in the exhibit at Saugatuck for the past two weeks. The salon is entirely the work of the guild. Mr. Bolander is well qualified to talk on the translation of art.

He has taught 42 different phases of art in his career as a public school, college and art institute instructor. His philosophy on art is that there is no difference between fine art and industrial art—that almost any object can be just as beautiful as the finest painting because the same principles are involved.

MANY ATTEND SCHOOL EVENT

About 100 people attended the afternoon session of the eighth annual reunion of the New Groningen school and about 300 were present at the evening session. The reunion was held at Lawrence Street City park in Zeeland Thursday, Aug. 3.

The afternoon program was opened with a song service led by Peter De Vries and devotions led by Bernie Vander Heide. John Maas gave a Dutch reading. The prize for the oldest woman present was awarded to Mrs. Van Oterloo of Holland and the prize to oldest gentleman present to B. Koolvoord of Hamilton. Both formerly attended the New Groningen school.

The evening session was opened with music by the New Groningen school band. Bert Brandt directed the music. Community singing was held by Gerald Jekel and Mrs. L. Meengs was accompanist. A piano solo was played by Miss Angeline Geerts. A feature of the evening program was stereoscopic pictures shown by Walter Van Haisma.

Officers elected were: John A. Hartgerink, president; Jacob Geerts, vice-president; Mrs. Helen Schaap, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Kate De Boer, corresponding secretary; and Egbert Boone, historian.

The history of New Groningen dates back many years. Not many years after the settlement of this village, in 1847, the first meeting of the qualified voters of this district was called at Robbers sawmill on May 21, 1953. At this meeting officers elected were A. Steketee, moderator; Jan H. Stegink, assessor; and Hendrick Van Eyck, director. The voters decided to construct a school building at a cost of $200 and to have terms of three months.

On Sept. 10, 1853, the job of building the school was let to Marnes Stegeman and Kasper La Huis for $52 and the timber contract was given Lamme Huizenga of Holland and Albert Bongers of Zeeland, for $48.

The plans for this first building called for a building 30 by 20 by 12 feet.

In 1882, the school was in a flourishing condition with seven school board members as follows: H. Van Eyck, B. J. Veneklasen, John Westerveld, H. Hendrik, Mr. Mass, A. J. Hillebrands and R. Veneklasen.

The first school teacher of this district was John Boer who taught for $12 and his board per month. Thomas C. Kenworthy was the second teacher and Cornelius Doesburg the third. The term of school shortly after this was lengthened to six months, three in winter and three in summer.

It is interesting to know the distribution of school money collected at this time, tuition, building materials, teachers salary, brick, stove pipe, etc., totaled $216.77. The total tax money collected was $244.13. School books used were Webster's Elementary Spelling, Sanders Readers, Davies Arithmetic and Mitchell's Geography.

The early history of the school shows repeatedly board members named Van Duine, Stegeman, Geerts, Schouten, La Huis, Boone, Huizenga, Veneklasen, Van Eyck, names which are still associated with New Groningen.

Bouwkamp's car struck the parked car of Joe Vargo, 18, also of Polkton township, the accident occurring in Coopersville. The right side of the Bouwkamp car struck the left side of the Vargo automobile, throwing Pippel to the pavement, causing fractures of both hips, skull fracture and multiple lacerations about the body. Pippel was riding on the right running board.

The boy's parents formerly resided in Coopersville and had moved to Central park in the late winter or early spring of this year, but Ivan continued attending school and had been helping Ted DeMaagd, route 1, Coopersville, on the farm. He made his home with the DeMaagds.

The boy was born Dec. 11, 1924, in Zeeland but had lived with his parents 13 years on a farm near here.

He was a member of the Coopersville Reformed church Sunday school.

Surviving are the parents; one sister, Mrs. Robert Gordon of Holland; three brothers, Melvin of Grand Haven, Gordon of Holland and Chester of Coopersville; and one half-brother, Bernard DeWitt of Holland.

RABIES TREATMENTS GIVEN TWO PERSONS

To prevent possible contracting of rabies, Dr. James E. Cook, Virginia park veterinarian, and his assistant, Paul Henigen of Virginia park, have concluded a series of Pasteur treatments with vaccine furnished by the Ottawa county health department.

While treating a dog more than a month ago, Dr. Cook was bitten on the right hand. The dog died July 3 of what appeared to be dumb rabies, described as being paralysis of the lower jaw and hind quarters.

It was not definitely determined that the dog had rabies as its head was somewhat decomposed when it reached Ann Arbor because of a delay in Grand Rapids and could not be thoroughly examined.

Henigen was not bitten by the dog but he was given treatments because he had come in close contact with the animal through handling it in giving it medicine. Dr. Cook explained that the saliva is the main source of the rabies germ and a person having a fresh cut or bruise can become infected.

Dr. Cook and Henigen each took a "shot" daily for 14 days as part of the Pasteur treatment. S. P. Nelson, county sanitary engineer, brought the vaccine here when he came to investigate the case. The dog was a beagle bound, owned by a Zeeland resident.

NET FINALS FEATURE CLOSING OF GROUNDS

The closing week of the summer tennis schedule at local play centers was featured last week by the final matches of the play-ground tennis tournament, conducted by Gordon Pleune, under the direction of the city recreation commission headed by Leon N. Moody.

Gene Barnes, of the Washington school playground, defeated Paul Klomparsen of the Lincoln school grounds, 6-3, 6-0, in the final match.

The two 12-year old youngsters put up a fine exhibition of tennis, according to Pleune, who directed the tourney. Barnes had the benefit of three years of experience, and Klomparsen is playing his first year. Barnes proved his ability against the smooth playing of Klomparsen by coming from behind in the first set to win.

Pleune applauded Allean "Pee Wee" Fraam, a vest pocket scrapper from the Lincoln school grounds, who was beaten by Barnes in the second round. Fraam defeated Dale Grissen in the first round, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5, but lost to the champion. He has a good forehand stroke and lots of spirit to overcome his small stature.

In the early rounds of the tourney, Barnes, 6-0, 6-1; and Earl Borr, the Lincoln school champion, 6-1, 7-5. Tirrell then lost to Gene Barnes, 6-2, 6-0.

FIRE DESTROYS BUILDING

Firemen were called Friday noon to the farm home of A. F. Owen, north of Saugatuck, where a fire of unknown origin had broken out in the building in which Mr. Owen and son had stored a quantity of the choice woods used in their wood-working business.

The building and its contents were destroyed, but the fire was kept from spreading to other buildings although the paint on the residence was blistered from the severe heat of the blaze. The loss was estimated at about $1,500, with insurance of only $150.

It was thought spontaneous combustion must have caused the fire.

Announce Marriage of Macatawa Couple

Roy Nelson Wood, member of the coast guard at Macatawa, and Miss Irene Elizabeth Albrow of Macatawa were married by the Rev. Paul E. Hinkamp in the parlors of the Methodist church. Their attendants were William J. Schmidt, also of the coast guards, and Mrs. Katharine Hallett.

C.G. FESTIVAL IS BIG SUCCESS

Four members of the Holland coast guard station were in to Grand Haven Saturday to participate in the final day's program of the annual coast guard water fete which was a complete success.

They included Capt. E. J. Clemens, Forrest Flaucher, Edwin Feddick and Stanley Loyer. They were to participate in the breeches buoy drill.

A sham battle between land and navy forces ended the fete, commemorating the 149th anniversary of the service. This was staged at Grand Haven State park at sunset and took the form of a naval "invasion" by a "foreign" power and successful "defense" of the land by infantry, machine gun and Howitzer companies.

Word that this year's water fete would be the last because of the removal of the coast guard office from Grand Haven to Chicago was classed as "rumor." High officials said Grand Haven has the best opportunity to maintain the coast guard water fete because of past fets. It was said Cleveland, O., was endeavoring to obtain the festival for next year.

The Holland entry was defeated by Muskegon in the picket boat race Friday.

A coast guard crew from the west shore of Lake Michigan won the lake championship in the pulling boat race from an east shore crew of which Carl Walters of Holland was a member. The west shore crew covered the two-mile course in 17 minutes and 15 seconds.

R. J. Peters and W. J. Caron of Old Chicago station, pulling in the west shore boat, collapsed after the race and were taken to Hatton hospital.

Mrs. Mabel Vanden Berg, 254 West 16th St., went to Grand Haven Friday to attend memorial services which were held for her father, Capt. Charles Morton.

Schortinghuis in Sioux Center, Ia., and Mr. Derksen near Boyden, Ia. Through friends in Battle Creek Mr. Schortinghuis learned of his old friend's residence in Kalamazoo.

Mrs. G. H. Boeve has been confined to bed for the last few weeks. She is suffering of a painful ailment (sciatic neuralgia).

The Reimolds, making their summer home on their farm on East 16th St. had an experience they will not soon forget. Mr. Reimold burned some rubbish considerable distance from the buildings. However, the grass caught fire and burned furiously toward the farm buildings. No longer able to combat the flames alone, a nearby threshing crew was summoned for aid, and conquered the flames a few feet from the barn.

Heat and over-exhaustion seems to have affected Mr. Reimold's heart, and he was therefore ordered to bed by his physician.

BIG PROJECTS ARE LACKING

Forty Residences, Though, Are Erected in City During Year

Lacking a major project for the past month, the value of the building permit applications in Holland for the first seven months of the current year is lagging behind the values for the same period of the past two years, unofficial figures on file in the office of City Clerk Oscar Peterson revealed.

Total value of the permits up to Aug. 1 for this year amounts to $197,945. For the same period last year, their value amounted to $201,936 and for 1937, it amounted to $264,523.

This year is $3,991 under that of 1938 and $66,578 under that of 1937.

Value of the permits for July, 1939, amounted to $21,045. This is $54,100 less than for the same month last year which totaled $75,145 and $20,131 less than for July, 1938, which was $41,176.

New home construction continued to lead building activities in Holland last month. Four applications for new homes, amounting to $12,400, were filed with Clerk Peterson. This brings the number of applications for new homes in Holland since Jan. 1 to 40, applications for 36 new homes having been filed previously.

Twenty nine applications for building permits were filed with Clerk Peterson during July. In July of last year, they totaled 44.

Nine of last month's applications called for exterior repairs to homes at a cost of $1,040. There were five applications for interior repairs at a cost of $725.

Two applications call for asbestos siding for homes at a cost of $475. Three applications for new garages were filed at a cost of $210.

There was one application each under the following classifications: New kitchen in church, $3,000; remodel residence into funeral home, $3,000; build cupola on home, $30; move garage, $15; remodel garage, $100; and new roof on home, $50.

Value of the building permits by months for the current year follows: January, $18,660; February, $18,900; March, $76,010; April, $18,357; May, $20,235; June, $24,738; July, $21,045.

Local Group Conducts Castle Park Vespers

Sunday evening, in a lovely setting of trees, shrubs and flowers, the combined choirs of Grace Episcopal church, Holland and St. Paul's church, Muskegon composed of about 50 voices sang the familiar and lovely evening hymns that were part of a service at the Castle Park amphitheater.

Arthur C. Barnhart of Grace church conducted the service and gave the address; Jane Jepson of Muskegon read the lesson, and the Rev. J. K. Coolidge of St. Paul's church gave the blessing.

After the blessing, as the congregation was leaving the amphitheater, the choirs gathered around the piano to sing "Now the Day is Over." Mrs. Leonard Kulte, organist and choir director of Grace church accompanied the group at the piano.

The young people took their basket suppers to the beach at Macatawa and finished the meal with a marshmallow roast.

VISITING AIRPLANES UNABLE TO LAND AT AIRPORT NEAR CITY

The longer way would have been quicker when four aviators, one of them a friend of L. J. Harris, flew in three airplanes to Holland to visit Mr. Harris.

Mr. Harris today solved the puzzle of the three airplanes which circled Holland at 5 p.m. Saturday during an apparent attempt to land at Park township airport.

The three Northrop A17A planes, which were flown here from Barksdale, La., flying field in less than six hours, could not be landed because the Park airport runways were too short for the highpowered craft, Mr. Harris explained.

Unable to land here, the fliers, Lieutenants Adams, Champagne, Voorhes and Wright, flew to Grand Rapids and landed at the airport there. Wright, Mr. Harris' friend, called Mr. Harris who drove to Grand Rapids and returned the four to Holland where they were guests at the Harris home on Van Raalte Ave.

SAYS ECONOMIC CURBS BRING ON TROUBLE IN U.S.

Government and Business Control Hit by Editor of Muskegon

Return to Free Enterprise Urged in Address to Rotary Club

When the freedom of American economy is gone, the freedom of American politics is gone with it, Archie E. McCrea, editor of the Muskegon Chronicle told members of the Holland Rotary club at their meeting in the Warm Friend tavern last Thursday noon.

Mr. McCrea, who was introduced by C. A. French, publisher of the Holland Evening Sentinel, discussed "What's Wrong with America." He listed the weakness of the American economic setup in a condemnation of controlled economy.

Pertinent in his talk was the point that American businessmen will have to look farther than their governmental "goat" to find the seat of the trouble. Mr. McCrea pointed out that business itself is in developing a system of monopolistic business, first brought about a controlled economy which forced the consumer of America to go to the government for help.

"Business needs a new evangelist with a doctrine of freedom of economy from government and from business itself," Mr. McCrea said. "We've got to shake off the shackles of stabilized prices and reach the new frontier of business—the old style free economy."

Mr. McCrea amusingly pointed out that the Hebrews have systemed out each year, the Hebrews would gather to hear their sins upon the head of a goat, he said, and the businessmen of today have followed suit. "Their goat is the government."

"And there is no question but what they are right in choosing the government, which has brought excessive taxation, regulation of business and government competition."

"But we've got to go farther back than that. The government was forced to its procedure by business which blocked progress by its own controlled economy."

Mr. McCrea pointed out that technological development in industry allows progress in business to produce with but 75 per cent of the old cost. "Therefore, the price for the products will be 25 per cent less, and buyers have that 25 per cent for the development of new frontiers in business."

"That was the system of the old free economy," he declared. "Now government is stifling business. Controlled economy has caused stabilized prices."

He quoted Brookings' Institute figures, which declared several years ago that although the United States has but 6 per cent of the population of the world, and 7 per cent of the world's area, it has 42 per cent of the world's wealth.

The Brookings' conclusion was, on a basis of extensive study, that America's tremendous prosperity was the result of free economic enterprise going forward as fast as its operators would let it.

To demonstrate the early stifling effect of great overhead corporations, Mr. McCrea cited the steel industry as an example.

The great steel era—called the Carnegie era—followed this formula, Mr. McCrea told Rotarians. "Under the system of free economy, progress was made in the industry until 1901 when the United States Steel Corp. was formed. The war interrupted it in 1914, but after the war, while technological progress continued in the industry, there was no change in price."

"After the war, from 1922 to 1929, there was still the same rate of technological progress, but the price remained stabilized."

"The same thing happened in other lines of business. In those same periods, wholesale prices increased 5 per cent but the retail prices didn't change. Where did the saving go?" Mr. McCrea asked.

"During 1922 to 1929, three or four billions went into new plants and new equipment, but the savings to capital industry, however, were several times that. While three or four billions went into machines, the rest went into stock for organization of holding companies, controlling old organizations. The investment was in old securities, and the bubble finally burst."

He said that because it was hard to market all that was produced, indicating a poor consuming ability, the savings were put into capital stock. "Consuming ability was weak because the benefits of increased technology did not go to the consumer. The prices were controlled, and we no longer had a free economy. The result is the same whether accomplished by business or government."

Mr. McCrea prefaced his talk by pointing out that businessmen talk to businessmen, and form their own opinions. Workmen talk to workmen and form their own opinions. He said that businessmen talk to other men on relief and develop their own economic philosophy. "So no matter how sincere you are about tackling the problem of what is wrong with America, one is bound to be called a traitor."

Mr. McCrea said he had tackled and given up the subject, but that his interest was revived by reading an article in a June issue of a national weekly. It started his trend of thought to the faults of controlled economy.

The article stated that figures published each week on the excess reserves held by member banks of the federal reserve system reveal that in 1929, the excesses averaged 43 millions. At the time the article was written in June, excesses had reached all time high of $4,120,000,000. Since that time, the excesses have reached $4,490,000,000.

"It means that that much money is lying idle instead of forming a basis for several times that amount of credit."

In consulting the Brookings' Institute figures for 1929-1936, Mr. McCrea found that construction during those years lagged from 20 to 25 billion dollars.

"Let us say that since then, there has been a lag of 15 more billions. It is logical to say that now there is a lag of $40,000,000,000 in heavy construction."

"There are 11 million men unemployed," he said, "and if we started to catch up on the lag in construction, three million men would be employed, and another nine million would be needed in auxiliary services. That would happen if we'd go to work and do what we need to do to keep up the normal rate of progress."

He reached these conclusions: We are not using our present capacity for construction—not even in normal times. Americans can consume tremendously more than they ever have, and their "capacity is insatiable and illimitable." The standard of living is entirely in the amount of products we are able to consume.

He cited the Brookings' report which stated that during the early days of the industrial revolution, prices went down as the skill of the manufacturer increased, and it resulted in expansion of the market and the rise of the standard of living.

"Economic freedom of this sort produced progress, and resulted in our acquiring 49 per cent of the world's wealth. The conclusion is that tremendous prosperity is a result of free economic enterprise going forward as fast as its operators will let it."

ARNOLD PROPOSES FALL RYE SEEDING

Grand Haven, Aug. 10—Thousands of Michigan dairymen are laying plans for fall rye pasture to take up some of the dent that summer heat and drought have made in normal feed supplies.

It's time now to make plans so that seedbed preparation and seeding are completed in August, suggests L. R. Arnold, Ottawa county agricultural agent. By lengthening out fall pasture with rye the year's feeding costs usually are lowered.

Permanent pastures are deteriorating rapidly, Arnold finds. Additional grain will have to be fed the balance of the summer, and protein content of the ration will have to be adjusted so that production remains satisfactory.

In 84 dairy herd improvement associations now operating in Michigan the average cow in June produced 1.05 pounds of butterfat daily. More than 1,800 cows are represented in the testing reports received now in headquarters at Michigan State college.

Culling in June on the basis of low production exceeded that in May by 10 per cent. Among animals discarded for disease, under trouble remains the most serious of the various causes. Other shifts in dairy animals, the reports indicate, are due to the high number of animals being sold for dairy purposes in other herds.

BUOYS ARE ORDERED FOR LAKE BEACHES

Twenty ring buoys and a similar number of "lemons" or floats have been ordered from the national headquarters of the American Red Cross at St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Mabel Vanden Berg, executive secretary of the Ottawa county chapter, reports.

The move for installation of ring buoys was launched recently after an appeal by Dr. O. Vander Velde, physician, when three persons would have been drowned in Lake Michigan had it not been for a privately-owned ring buoy at Tennessee beach.

In the "Good Old Days"

Following is the 4th in the series of weekly articles based on news which appeared in the Ottawa County Times published in Holland nearly a half century ago.

The March 16 issue of the Ottawa County Times published in 1894 by M. G. Manting contained an article concerning the eighth annual convention of the Christian Endeavor society of Michigan. The article was as follows:

The eighth annual convention of the Christian Endeavor society of Michigan will be held in Detroit March 21-22. Preparations are being made to entertain, free of charge, fifteen hundred delegates. These, with two thousand Christian Endeavors in Detroit, will make the largest convention of young people ever held in Michigan. The Auditorium, which will hold 5,000 people, will be used for these meetings.

An interesting program, covering all lines of Christian Endeavor work has been prepared by the state committee. Several noted speakers will be present, among them are Revs. Francis E. Clark, president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor; J. A. Rondthaler, D.D., of Indianapolis; Judge Grant, Justice of the Supreme Court of Michigan; Rev. C. H. Beale, Lansing; Rev. J. L. Jackson, D.D., of Grand Rapids and others.

A new industry is about to be started at Vriesland about eight miles from here, another article stated. Some Grand Rapids parties, one of whom is a gentleman lately from the Netherlands, are going into the manufacture of roofing tile. This tile as used in the Netherlands, makes a very fine roof, water proof, fire proof, cheap and does not wear. It is claimed that they are as cheap as good shingles and cover more surface. The ground which they have bought has clay beds of just the right quality for the manufacture of tile. The lumber for the building is already being placed on the ground and operations are expected to be commenced in a month. When once fairly introduced and tried they are confident that there will be a good demand for the tile and that a good business can be built up. It is probable that a few brick will also be manufactured in connection with it.

Among the locals were: The Waverly Stone Quarry opened up for the season Monday. Orders are beginning to come in and F. C. Hall the manager expects that they will be ready to ship in a very short time.

Last Friday evening the Sunday school class of Miss Mattie Werkman surprised their teacher by calling on her and presenting her with a couple very fine volumes of the latest literature.

A house and barn near Central Park belong ing to Mrs. John Lucas of Grand Rapids were burned last Saturday afternoon at about 2 o'clock. The farm was occupied by John Ter Hoeve and family. The fire started in the barn and sparks drifted through an open window into the house and the house was in a blaze before it was noticed. It is not known how the fire started in the barn. The cattle were saved but grain, hay, straw, tools and implement and all household goods were destroyed. The buildings were insured for $500.

TO ARREST BOYS WHO FIRE GRASS, CHIEF DECLARES

Boys who kindle dry grass in vacant lots here and then turn in fire alarms "for a thrill," are scheduled to find another kind of excitement before a judge in circuit court, Police Chief Ira A. Antles warns.

He said it had been determined that boys started the two grass fires in Holland Monday, one within 20 minutes of the other.

He declared setting of grass fires, with potential danger to adjoining property, could be interpreted as incendiarism, a circuit court offense.
