Navigator, Missing Over Year, Is Declared Dead

Second Lt. Arne Peter Hanson, B-24 Liberator navigator, who was reported missing in action over Linz, Austria, July 25, 1944, has officially been declared dead on that day, according to a war department telegram of Washington received in Holland Thursday.

The message was forwarded Thursday afternoon to the navigator's wife, the former Lorraine Wright of Holland, who is at present visiting his family in Hibbing, Minn. Mrs. Hanson and her son, Dale, now three years old, have been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, route 4, since Lt. Hanson went overseas in March, 1944.

Mrs. Hanson who received word last Aug. 9 that her husband was missing learned subsequently that his plane was hit at 22,000 feet by enemy aircraft and descended in flames near Linz, Austria. Lt. Hanson who was 23 years old at the time was one of five who were missing. The other five members of the crew were taken prisoners. A letter received from the co-pilot of the plane revealed that Hanson was in the tail of the plane taking pictures when it was hit.

Lt. Hanson, holder of the Purple Heart and the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf clusters, had written previously of an accident when his plane was forced down in France. Repairs were made there and the ship returned to its Italian base four days later. He had completed nearly 50 missions and had expected to return home.

2nd Lt. Arne Hanson

Lt. Hanson, who attended Hibbing college, was employed in the office of the Donnelly-Kelley Glass Co. before he entered the service in March, 1943. He received his commission as a navigator at Ellington field, Tex. Dec. 24, 1943.

He was declared dead a year and a day after he was reported missing. Surviving besides the wife and son are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arne Hanson, Sr., of Hibbing; two brothers including Lawrence in the navy, and six sisters including Mrs. Clayton De Feyter of route 2, Holland.

Dr. Lubbers Takes Over As President at Hope

Happy to be back in Holland which he describes as "the same old place it always was," Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, new president of Hope college, Tuesday spent his first official day in the president's chair and took care of accumulated mail as well as making a tour of the campus with former President Wynand Wichers.

President Lubbers indicated he would continue the policies of his predecessor at the college and said, "Prospects for the future are very bright." Hope college will open for the fall semester with the annual convocation on Sept. 19.

President and Mrs. Lubbers and their son, Don, who will enroll in Holland Junior high school this fall, have moved into the president's home on the campus. Their other son, Bob, an ensign in the navy, spent two weeks with his family in Pella, Ia., and came with them as far as Chicago. He will leave Washington, D.C., soon for the China-India theater where he will be engaged in naval intelligence work.

Mrs. Lubbers, charming "first lady" at Hope, has served in that capacity before while her husband was president of Central college in Pella from 1934 until the present time. Both are well known in Holland. Dr. Lubbers was graduated from Hope college in 1917. Mrs. Lubbers in 1922. She is the former Margaret Van Donselaar.

Dr. Lubbers attended Western Theological seminary here from 1917 to 1919 and from January to December of 1918 in World War I he was an air service cadet with the U.S. army. He left in 1919 to serve as principal of Hope high school, Madanapalle, India and in 1923 returned here and spent six years as professor of English in the Hope college faculty. In 1930 he went to Carroll college, Waukesha, Wis., where he spent four years as professor of education and psychology before becoming head of Central college. He also served as instructor at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., for a time.

He received his master of arts degree from Columbia university in 1927 and his doctor of philosophy degree from Northwestern university in 1931. A member of the American Legion and a Rotarian, he also is author of the book, "College Organization and Administration," published in 1932.

Driver Given Summons Following Accident Here

Cars driven by Susanna Overway, route 3, Holland, and Leon Moody, 237 West 11th St., were involved in an accident at the corner of 16th St. and Cleveland Ave. yesterday at about 5 p.m. Moody was driving west on 16th St. when the other driver was going north on Cleveland Ave. The latter was given a summons for failure to yield the right of way. Damage to the cars was not serious, and nobody was injured.

Fifty Penalized Here for Lacking Stamps on Cars

Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue Charles K. Van Duren, estimated Tuesday that nearly 50 persons have paid penalties at his office for failure to have the federal auto stamp on their cars.

"The offices of the collector of internal revenue are strenuously enforcing the motor vehicle use tax law," he said. Local collectors are "tagging" cars, directing violators to appear at the collector's office in the post office building.

"The penalties for not having purchased such a stamp are $25 and for not displaying it on the car another $25.

"In cases where the violations are not willful, offers in compromise for lesser amounts are now being accepted (generally $5) but in all cases, whether through ignorance or neglect, the offers must be made in addition to the purchase price of the stamp which is $5.

As yet outside federal men have not been here, as they were last year, to stop traffic and "tag" every car without a stamp, but Van Duren indicated they may arrive before long.

Following Tuesday's disclosure over 100 motorists flocked into the collector of internal revenue's office here up to noon Wednesday to comply with the federal law.

With a couple of exceptions, those drivers whose cars had not been "tagged" were directed without penalty to the post office window where the $5 stamps are still on sale. The collector's office is on the second floor of the post office building.

Those with tagged cars, of course, were assessed penalties. It was pointed out by Deputy Collector Charles K. Van Duren that drivers whose cars have been tagged will not escape the penalty by purchasing a stamp and failing to answer the summons to the collector's office. The records show just what cars have been tagged and whether the drivers have appeared. It was explained.

Violators whose cars have not been tagged may yet purchase the stamps direct at the post office.

To assure the gradual filling of the Pine Ave. dump, the dump at the north end of College Ave. and Central Ave. has been closed.

With the area from Seventh St. to Madison place, east of Pine, between the old lake shoreline and Pine Ave., to be filled, the College-Central dump likely will be closed for several years, Zuidema said.

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Dr. William F. Kendrick

Dr. William F. Kendrick, 76, resident of this community since 1942 when he retired as superintendent of the Clark Memorial home, a Methodist institution in Grand Rapids, died unexpectedly in his home on route 3 early Sunday morning of a heart attack.

Long prominent in the Methodist church, holding several pastorates and administrative offices, he continued his service even after his retirement, acting as pastor of the Methodist church in Saugatuck.

Dr. Kendrick was born in Dryden, May 3, 1869. He attended Albion college, graduating in 1896. He later received his Doctor of Divinity degree from the same school. On Oct. 27, 1896, he married Miss Elita Bliss of Albion. He served pastorates in Battle Creek, Ganges, Greenville, Kalamazoo, Ionia and Grand Rapids.

In recognition of his executive ability, Dr. Kendrick was named district superintendent of the Grand Traverse, Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo areas and was appointed superintendent of the Clark Memorial home in 1935. He was a former chairman of the Methodist hospital board, the board of the Methodist publication, the Michigan Christian Advocate. He also served as member of the board of directors of Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo.

Dr. Kendrick was an interested member of the Holland Rotary club and was elected last spring as regent of Holland chapter, Sons of the Revolution.

Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Mrs. Milton L. Hinga; and two grandchildren, Miss Connie Hinga and Bill Hinga, all of Holland.

Rev. J. Kenneth Hoffmaster, church pastor, was in charge of the service and paid personal tribute to Dr. Kendrick. Dr. E. H. Babbitt of Grand Rapids, district superintendent, read scripture and offered the closing prayer. Prayer also was offered by Rev. Marion De Velder of Hope Reformed church.

Mrs. W. Curtis Snow of Hope college presided at the organ, and visiting Methodist ministers formed a choir, singing two hymns. Extensive floral tributes decorated the church.

Hakken Family Is Happy to Return After Eight Years

Grateful to be back in America, because "it's still the most wonderful country in the world," Rev. and Mrs. Bernard Daniel Hakken and their two sons, Danny, 18, and Jim, 15, returned for the first time to a war-time United States after serving as missionaries in Iraq for eight years.

Now home on a year's furlough from the mission field, the Hakken family is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Riemersma, 339 River Ave.

They made the return trip by freighter, the only possible means of transportation except for special ships. Mrs. Hakken came on a freighter which took only 16 passengers, nine women and seven men.

There was not enough room for all the men, so Rev. Hakken and his sons had to wait for the next available ship. They left two days later on another freighter which took them to the United States in 19 days. Mrs. Hakken's ship took 19 days. She slept in a gunner's cabin but was lucky to get that because passengers were accepted at all only because of war emergencies, she said. The other passengers were missionaries or government workers and their wives.

Compared with warring European countries, Iraq is very well off in spite of the war, the Hakkens said. They always had plenty to eat, but seldom saw any American goods. Because of transportation difficulties, it was almost impossible for materials to be shipped into Iraq. However, they were able to get plenty of potatoes and they ate one meal of rice each day. The cost of living there went up 700 per cent.

Upon arrival here, and after seeing the many things that Americans are able to get and that they had to do without, the Hakkens decided that rationing would not affect them in the least. Their absence from the United States, they said, has made them realize how much Americans should appreciate the many things they have. The boys, who were very young when they left here, do not remember very much about life in the States, although Danny, the elder, at nights he once knew well, can recollect things that happened while he was here before.

At their station in Baghdad, Rev. and Mrs. Hakken maintained a girls' school and carried on evangelistic work. The people in Iraq are almost strictly on a double standard and men and women do not share equal rights as in the United States. Schools are never educational, therefore, Mrs. Hakken ran a school for girls only.

It was much like an American school but with a slightly different curriculum. Everything was taught in the Arabic language, although a course in English was stressed, along with Bible. About 235 girls attended the school in grades one through high school.

Rev. Hakken did mostly personal work among the men of Baghdad. He preaches in Arabic and conducts the singing of Arabic versions of hymns. He also kept a Bible shop and reading room where all kinds of books and newspapers were sold. The shop was for only the men of Baghdad.

The Hakkens were not together as a family since 1940, as the boys were at a school in southern India which is attended by missionaries' children from all over India and Arabia. Lack of transportation prevented them from seeing another more than twice.

Danny was graduated from the school a year ago and then joined his parents in Baghdad. He has been classified 1-A and is subject to induction into the armed forces but will possibly attend Hope college for a while. Jim will attend Holland High school.

Wherever they went — Egypt, Syria, Iraq or elsewhere — the Hakkens saw American soldiers. Although they saw many servicemen from Michigan, they never ran across any from Holland.

Both Rev. and Mrs. Hakken have many speaking engagements to fill and will speak at churches throughout the United States about their work in the mission. Despite their busy and interesting schedule during their comparatively short stay here, both are eager to return to their work in Iraq.

Senior Medical Officer Is Home From Okinawa

Lt. Comdr. Carl S. Cook, who served as senior medical officer aboard a navy transport which has just returned to this country after nine months of overseas service in the Pacific, is spending a week's leave in Holland with his wife and three children who reside at 25 East 26th St.

As senior medical officer, Comdr. Cook directed the work in the medical department of the ship which participated in landings at Iwo Jima and Okinawa during the nine months at sea. The ship served as a transport in taking troops into the beaches on the invasion and as a hospital ship in removing casualties on the return trip. The transport was not hit by any of the battles, he said.

"The nurses did a sweet job on Iwo and Okinawa, but everybody knows all about that," he said. He also explained that work aboard a transport at sea is largely routine, but during invasions and landings, everything happens at once and there is plenty to keep the medical department on the jump.

Comdr. Cook, who entered the medical corps of the naval reserve in October, 1942, met Dr. William Winter of Holland at Pearl Harbor around Christmas time and also met Dr. Nelson H. Clark in this country before Cook left for overseas. Dr. Clark is now in the Pacific area.

Comdr. Cook will report back to his ship on the west coast on Aug. 3. In all he was granted a 12-day leave.

Before going overseas he was on duty at Seattle, Wash. A native of Zeeland, he was graduated from Zeeland High school in 1922, from Hope college in 1926 and from the University of Michigan in 1931. He spent four years residency in obstetrics and gynecology at Harper hospital in Detroit which included seven months' training at Lying-in hospital in Chicago. He was engaged in general practice for six years on Mackinac island before coming to Holland to open his office Oct. 1, 1942, limiting his practice to obstetrics and gynecology.

SOCIALISM WITHIN CAPITALISM

England is now making the experiment of a system of socialism within the general system of capitalism. It is possible that the time has come over there for this new prop against disaster; at least the vast majority of the voters think so. The time may come in America when the vast majority of the people of this country will think so. For the time being, perhaps for another generation, we are appearing to be in reaction from the forced socialism that the New Deal has been trying to fix upon us. But with a debt of some 300 billion dollars, with a continued disposition on the part of our statesmen at Washington to give our wealth away to the very nations, like Russia and others,
where the turn toward socialism
has been greatest, it seems probable that we too will presently arrive where England is today—or perhaps even where Russia is today.

Meanwhile England will of course have a limited form of socialism. Britain will remain a capitalist country for some time to come, unless of course there should be a sudden bloody revolution.
The Labor government is pledged to take over the railroads, but most of the capitalist countries owned the railroads and no one has thought anything of it. In the same way our own capitalist country has since the very beginning owned the postoffice and we have thought nothing of it; it was a bit of socialistic machinery
within the capitalist system.

The English Labor government
is pledged to take over the coal mines, but that hardly makes it a socialist state in the true sense.
We too have for short periods operated coal mines through an arm of the government, and there is every reason to expect that we will do so again. We may even have to nationalize the mines.
The American people are going to get the necessary coal mined, and if the operators on the one hand and the unions on the other will do it, the government will presently do it; the government will have no choice in the matter; people are never going to be reconciled to freezing to death.

The English Labor government
will take over other services that hitherto have been furnished by private enterprise. But it remains socialism within the framework of capitalism. All countries have such enterprises within capitalism; England will simply have more of them than the people there have been used to.

It is to be hoped that the experiment will be reasonably limited in its extent, for the government is always inefficient in business; that is the very nature of government. And that goes for America also. The New Deal has demonstrated to millions how wasteful and inefficient government is. The longer we can postpone government in business the better.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Premier Smuts of South Africa
says: "Fundamentally the world has no need of a new order or a new plan, but only of the honest and courageous application of the historical idea. Our Christian civilization is based on eternal order, an endless plan in the message of Christ." Let us follow the light which once shone before us, the greatest light that has ever shined on the human horizon and which can surely lead us to that better world for which we are longing.
The Man of Galilee is, and remains, our one and only Leader.
The Church is the carrier of the message of Christ. Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

Isaac's Testimony to God
Genesis 26:19-33
By Henry Geerlings

There is quite a striking difference between Isaac and his father Abraham. The latter was daring and adventurous and strong and resourceful and full of initiative.
Isaac was rather passive and submissive and mild. He was not calculated to be a founder of a nation and a leader of men. He never would have gone out from his country nor knowing where he was going, for the sake of a great idea. He could not have laid foundations, inspired followers,
discovered new territory, built cities and made a name for himself in the constructive process of making a civilization. But then the world has never been made up of that kind of people. We do not need them. We could not use so many. We must have men who live quiet and meditative lives.

Isaac could cause trouble for the rest of the world by his striking out into areas where he did not belong. He was a man who could mind his own business and do it well. However, it does seem rather strange that he should be so pronouncedly different from his father, that he did not by a great vigorous personality carry down
the name and fame of his father.
But great men do not always have great sons. There are few families like the Adamans in this country. There was not a second Abraham Lincoln.

We have a very interesting incident in this lesson in the life of Isaac. He really does appear here to great advantage, if we have the right point of view. He was largely blessed in the ancient sense with great flocks and herds.
In the country of Gerar he became quite prosperous as a wheatgrower and herdsman enough to provoke the jealousy of the Philistines. They did what all envious people seek to do. They began to try to make it uncomfortable for Isaac. They inaugurated methods of irritation, things that would start friction in the hope of getting rid of him. They stopped up the wells which his father had dug and which his own servants had reopened. This was serious business in that country where water was scarce and where it was so much needed by man and beast.

Here is where Isaac rises to real greatness, a greatness that is all too little appreciated even in our day. He refused to quarrel. He refused to fight for his rights.
There are times, we have no doubt, when we must fight for our rights, but then there are times
when it is better not to do so.
Peace may be infinitely better than war even though we may have to sacrifice some of our rights and some of our property for the sake of peace. We can afford sometimes to be imposed upon. War is a frightfully expensive operation. It costs a vast deal more in every way than the world ever can afford to pay.
Peace is always profitable even though there may be some loss.
Surely our modern civilization should know that now. We need to do only a little thinking to see the mess the whole world is in now and who knows when we are ever going to get out of it.

Isaac set the world a good example in his attitude toward and action with respect to the Philistines. If he could not live in peace with them he could move on and find peace. He could dig more wells. It would be a strange case if we could not always dig more wells and so save trouble with our neighbors.

We have in this incident of Isaac with the Philistines a suggestion of the causes of war.
These causes seem to persist through the ages. We have the overpopulation cause and the property cause and the envy cause.
We have difficulty with debts and financial obligations among the nations. We have great jealousy among the nations so that we scarcely know what nation is a friend of another nation. We are living on the edge of fear and we do not know what is around the corner. And yet we are comforted in the fact that there is a determined peace-mind in our country. We are persuaded that there are enough great leaders of thought and government to make us feel that they are vitally interested in peace.

We have in our day a great need of peacemakers. We all will do well to study the mind of Isaac in his attitude toward the Philistines. He might have started a little tribal war and so made a different kind of name for himself, but he followed the better part. We honor him, though a mild man, yet as a man of peace
who had the good sense to surrender some of his rights for what proved to be the larger good.

Clothing to Be Sent Overseas by Winter

Clothing contributed by the American people will reach millions of war victims overseas before winter sets in, according to a report from Henry J. Kaiser, national chairman of the United National Clothing collection, made public today by C. Neal Steketee, Jr., and Willard C. Wichers, chairman of the collection in Holland.

Kaiser pointed out that the first large shipments of contributed clothing left America for war-devastated lands within 30 days after the campaign ended. A total of 29,397,427 pounds was baled
as of July 23. Clothing already shipped or specifically scheduled for shipment to nine countries include: Belgium, 1,816,284 pounds;
Czechoslovakia, 2,022,276 pounds;
Yugoslavia, 4,233,687 pounds;
China, 50,000 pounds; Russia, 1, 000,000 pounds.

Used clothing collected in this city totaled 79,854 pounds or approximately 40 tons, a record
which Kaiser has given nationwide recognition.

Muskegon Whips Flying Dutchmen, 10-7, in Slugfest

You'd think that with Ken Little, outstanding curve-baller, on the mound for Holland and Don Richardson, a lefthander with a sneaking fast-ball, opposing him for the Muskegon Sun Beams, there would be a limited number of hits in a regulation baseball game, but the opposite was true Monday night in Riverview park as the Muskegon outfit defeated Holland, 10-7, getting 12 hits while Holland secured 11.

Both teams had their hitting clothes on, especially Harry De

Neff of the Dutch nine and Bo Larson of the Muskegon crew. De Neff belted out two doubles and a triple and Larson cracked out two sizzling singles and a long homer over the rightfield fence.

Scores were made in every inning but the first, sixth and ninth. In the second Muskegon got one and Holland two. Singles by Juke Van Huis, Wayne De Neff and Stu Baker accounted for the runs.

Muskegon got two more in the third, taking a lead which they never relinquished. They added another in the fourth and two more in the fifth before Holland came back with one in the bottom half of the same inning. Doubles by Al Van Meeteren and Harry De Neff accounted for those runs. Van Meeteren's double hit the fence on the first hop and De Neff's skipped over first base and down into the rightfield corner.

In the seventh Muskegon got three more runs on three hits and two errors in the Dutch infield. Holland added two in the same inning when Lloyd Driscoll singled to center, H. De Neff tripled into right-centerfield, and Mike Van Oort was safe on an error by the shortstop.

In the eighth Muskegon got their 10th run when Larson poked a homer. Holland secured their sixth and seventh runs in the same inning. Little singled, Baker singled, Driscoll walked, loading the bases and H. De Neff doubled, the ball hitting a foot from the top of the rightfield fence.

The Sun Beam team compared with the Ft. Custer outfit as far as pepper and will-to-win were concerned. They were rough on the baselines and were going all out to win. Little's curve-ball wasn't working at all and in about the fifth inning he and Catcher Juke Van Huis decided not to straighten it goes," Little said.

The more I twist it the H. De Neff took the batting lead from Van Oort last night, Mike, hitting 333 until last night, failed to get a hit in four trips to the plate. De Neff, hitting .324 until last night, had three for four. De Neff is now hitting .346 and Van Oort, .316. Best defensive

KEEP SOIL COVERED

"Keep your soil covered," says Sam Rhymer shown above in one of his cornfields in Ottawa county which has been seeded to rye to provide winter cover.

"You won't find any bare soil on my farm during the winter. I already have 75 bushels of rye on hand that will be seeded on 50 acres of land as soon as I can get it done. A good cover crop ties down the soil so it will be there to farm next spring," Rhymer says.

Plant food which the cover crop keeps from leaching away will produce crops next year instead of being lost in the drainage water. Organic matter is added to the soil to help keep it productive.

The use of cover crops is one of the practices recommended by the west Ottawa soil conservation district as a part of a complete farm conservation plan.

Cover crops, to reduce soil and water losses in cultivated orchards, should be seeded within the next few weeks in order to obtain as much fall growth as possible, says L. W. Kellogg, farm conservationist of the west Ottawa soil conservation district in Grand Haven. Growers should obtain seed immediately so that orchards will not be left bare because of lack of seed as occurred in many cases last year, he adds.

Rye has been used more for winter cover than any other crop. However a faster growing crop such as oats or sudan grass will provide quicker protection against erosion. Vetch may also be included since, when properly inoculated, this legume fixes atmospheric nitrogen, thus supplying this expensive plant food at little cost.

Domestic rye grass is another cover crop being used by more and more fruit growers who like it better than ordinary rye. This grass thrives well on fertile soil and provides better ground cover than rye alone.

Other crops may be used to provide cover if growers are unable to obtain rye or domestic ryegrass seed. Kellogg suggests. Some of these crops are oats, barley, speltz, wheat or sudan grass.

Farmers Hold Crop Insurance

Of 2,430 wheat farms in Ottawa county, 1,072 are insured by federal crop insurance, according to Peter Van Eyck, route 3, Holland, agent in Park and Holland townships.

In 1943, latest period available for figures, 494 Ottawa farmers received payments totaling $49,336.85 for losses of 29,555 bushels due to natural hazards, he added. Losses in bushels in 1942 totaled 12,985. The insurance was not provided in 1944 as funds were not appropriated that year.

Explaining that contracts on the 1946 crop will be available until Sept. 15 through the various township agents, he said protection is included against weather up to 50 or 75 per cent of the average crop yield. Drought, flood, hail, wind, frost, winter-kill, lightning, fire, excessive rain, snow, wildlife, storm, insects, plant diseases and such other unavoidable causes of loss are covered. There is no protection against neglect, theft, use of defective or unadapted seed, over-pasture, failure to properly seed, care for or harvest, breakdown of machinery or equipment, or war shortages.

The coverage also is available in Michigan county where Glenn E. Taylor is county AAA chairman.

Ganges Flier in 'Bombing Club'

Eleventh AF Headquarters, Afton, Second Lt. Robert B. Wolbrink, Ganges, Mich., now officially listed as "missing in action" has earned a membership card in the "I Bombed Japan club," an organization composed of 11th air force combat personnel who have bombed Jap positions in their home territory in the Kurile island chain.

Wolbrink obtained membership in the enviable club by virtue of participation in raids over Nakagawa, Shimushu, target of a recently stepped-up aerial drive against the Kuriles from the Aleutians. Wolbrink was a pilot.

Members of the "I Bombed Japan club" from the Aleutian theater have good reason to be proud of their membership as they become eligible by bombing the Kuriles in one of the most hazardous missions of any combat zone, due to the long flights over water so cold life can be sustained only a short time if forced down.

The "club" was originally formed following the first 11th air force mission over Paramushiro islands in the Kuriles group, July 10, 1943, the first time the Jap home islands were bombed since the famous Tokyo raid of Doolittle's army on April 18, 1942.

Wolbrink has served with the 11th air forces in the Aleutians for six months and has participated in six combat missions. He has received awards including the Bronze Kurile Star in addition to the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon.

Flying Dutchmen Wallop Red Seals Of Muskegon, 13-3

The Holland Flying Dutchmen won their fourth game in their last five starts Thursday night, topping a ball club, 13-3, that had been their main nemesis during the 1944 season—the Muskegon Red Seals. Ken Little was credited with the victory for Holland while George Elmquist, who was knocked from the box in the second inning, was given the defeat.

It was Holland's eighth victory against 11 defeats. The Dutchmen opened scoring in the second inning. Sonny De Witt walked. Van Huis singled and Mike Van Oort singled, sending De Witt home. Van Oort advanced to second and Van Huis to third when the rightfielder juggled the ball. Wayne De Neff then singled over third base sending the two base runners home and giving the Dutch a three-run lead.

Muskegon got back in the game with two runs in the fourth and a lone run in the fifth. A single by Jim Lindale, a long triple to right-centerfield by Hank Petrovski and a sizzling double to left-center by Jack Weisenburger made the score 3-2 at the end of the fourth and an error, a stolen base and a single made it 3-3 at the end of the first half of the fifth.

From then on it was all Holland and Little set the Seals down with little trouble. The Dutchmen scored five runs in their half of the fifth with singles by Harry De Neff, Van Huis, W. De Neff and Little; walks to De Witt and Van Oort and a double over the leftfielder's head by Stu Baker.

Holland added four more in the sixth which included an inside-the-park home-run which Ken Little plastered up against the fence just past the grandstand in centerfield. Little's homer drove in two runners ahead of him and Van Huis also batted in a run in that inning. Holland scored once more in the eighth frame following an error and then a single to rightfield by Van Oort.

Loren Wenzel caught a fly tip on the end of his second finger in the sixth inning, breaking it and forcing him out of the Dutch lineup for at least three weeks. Juke Van Huis, regular leftfielder, took over the catching assignment for the remainder of the game. When the Dutchmen started plastering Lefty Dude Pelon around in the fifth inning the morale of the Muskie crew fell apart. Pelon, who came in to relieve Elmquist in the second inning, is one of Muskegon's top pitcher. He plays with the All-Stars there and has twirled against the best teams Muskegon could bring in. He also was important in the three wins the Red Seals scored over Holland last year. Van Huis, still on the way out of a batting slump, got three singles last night. Baker, H. De Neff, Van Oort, W. De Neff and Little each got two safeties. It was Little's third win against one defeat and he has had, thanks to the Dutch bats, plenty of room to work in each of his victories. Holland's team batting average jumped from .273 to .278 last night as a result of 15 hits.

Holland All-Star Teams Win Two From Muskegon

Gaining revenge for two victories Muskegon All-Star teams scored over Holland here about a month ago, Holland's American Legion All-Stars took an 11-inning, 6-4 victory over Muskegon's American Legion stars while Holland's Junior League Stars conquered Muskegon's League Stars, 4-0, in a double-header at Muskegon's Marsh field Saturday afternoon.

Lou Humbert's single in the top half of the 11th inning drove in Stu Baker from second base with what proved to be the winning run in the American Legion game. Baker had singled and stole second. Mike Van Oort added a sixth run for Holland when he doubled to leftfield, scoring Humbert.

St. Johnson, who went in to relieve Carl Reimink in the seventh, was given credit for the victory.

Ken Van Tatenhove secured three hits for Holland while Baker, Humbert, and Van Oort had two apiece. Dick Japunga of the local Hart-Conley team managed Holland, assisted by John Mills of North Shore.

In the first game of the afternoon, Holland's Junior League stars, managed by Carroll Norlin, did not have any trouble with the Muskies. Clyde Kehwecker set the Reds down with two hits while his batterymate, Bunco Japunga, blasted out two hits for the best hitting in that game.

Bob Bronsema and Bud Yonker formed the losing battery for the Junior League Stars.

Outing at Keewano for Local Camp Fire Girls
Approximately 225 Holland Camp Fire girls and their guardians will have a two-day outing at Camp Keewano on Lake Michigan Aug. 24-25. Mrs. Albert Timmer, local executive, announced today. The outing comes at the close of the regular summer scheduled at the camp and takes the place of the customary spring week-end at camp which was postponed last June because of cold weather.

Mrs. Timmer stated today that the regular staff at the camp will be retained for the evening so as to make possible a complete schedule of sports, including swimming. The program will begin with breakfast at 9 a.m. on Friday, Aug. 24, and will continue all day Friday and Saturday, the girls returning home Saturday night.

ON FURLOUGH
Pfc. John J. Mokma is spending his 30-day redeployment furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Mokma of 147 Central Ave.

Mokma, who landed in northern Ireland in October, 1943, traveled in England and in Scotland before going to a marshaling area in Wales shortly before the invasion. He is with the medical battalion of the second infantry division which landed on Omaha beach on D-day plus 1. Since then he has seen action with this division in France, Belgium, Germany and Czechoslovakia.

Fighting in France was not new for this division as in World War I the second division won more decorations than any other division. It captured one fourth of the entire number of prisoners taken by the A.E.F. and fought 56 consecutive days without rest, the longest period for any American unit, and was decorated by the French government.

Again in this war it holds the record for consecutive days of battle. Its men did not leave the line for 217 consecutive days and except for traveling from St. Lo to Brest and from Brest to the Siegfried line, this division has never been out of action since D-plus 1.

Mokma wears the good conduct ribbon, the ETO ribbon with five bronze campaign stars and on his right sleeve the gold wreath with a star denoting two unit citations. He will return to Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 24. He was inducted April 21, 1943.

TRY THE NEWS CLASSIFIEDS

'Whip Me Up a Masterpiece Sometime!'

No, they're not a group of imported "Bohemian" refugees! The oddly-garbed creatures in old aprons, sunshades and blue jeans who have that far-away look in the eyes and smack strongly of turpentine and oil or sport a charcoal smear on the nose, are merely members of Hope college's summer art classes who have turned "artist" for a six weeks' period. Summer school classes concluded Friday.

The art courses, an innivation at the summer school, have proved popular not only with class members but have attracted outside attention as well. Consider the case of Dr. Teunis Vergeer of the Hope college faculty who was approached by a woman at the Grand Haven bridge where he was painting a swamp scene and asked the price of the finished work so she might purchase it. (Happy ending to the incident is this—he sold the picture.)

Talent and ability in the painting and drawing classes ranged all the way from professionals who have held positions in the field of art to those who have never seriously tried to draw and signed up "just for the fun of it."

A more motley crew is difficult to imagine. College professors, including Dr. Vergeer and Dr. Clarence De Graaf, Mildred Schuppert, college secretary, alumnae, college and high school students squatted informally on the grass deeply engrossed in their work, squinting purposefully at a gnarled tree or a lofty building.

A total of 37 students were enrolled in the morning and afternoon drawing classes and 10 students were registered for the painting course. Some of the students enrolled for both painting and drawing.

Bolton-Yonkman Vows Spoken in Coldwater

Of interest to local friends and relatives is the marriage of Miss Barbara Grace Yonkman, daughter of Mrs. Floyd Martin of St. Louis, Mo., and N. F. Yonkman of Cadillac, to Dr. Wesson D. Bolton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ray Bolton of Cabot, Vt. The ceremony was performed Sunday at 5 p.m. in the home of the bride's grandparents, Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Hadley of Coldwater.

Rev. Russell King, assisted by Rev. W. S. See, read the double ring service before a background of palms, ferns and tall baskets of white gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, S. Sgt. Kenneth N. Hadley, was lovely in a gown of pale pink chiffon fashioned with full skirt, narrow ruching trim on the slightly off shoulder neckline and short sleeves and worn over tulle of a deeper shade. Bows of hair braid trimmed with pearls held her matching waist length veil and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweetpeas.

Bride attendants were Miss Mary Kathryn Yonkman, sister of the bride, and Miss Betty Jenks of Niagara Falls, N.Y., the bride's college roommate. They wore identical dresses of white dotted swiss with a double ruffle at the round neckline and a deep ruffle at the hem. Mixed garden flowers formed their arm bouquets.

Attending the groom were his brother, Pfc. Foster Bolton of Chanute field, Ill., and Dr. Bruce Klotz of Peru, Ind. A reception for 50 guests followed the ceremony. Guests were present from Lapeer, Lansing, Holland, Grand Haven, Pittsburgh, Pa., Chicago, Ill., Peru and South Bend, Ind. Guests from Holland were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. F. N. Yonkman and daughter, Fritzi. Grand Haven guests were Mrs. Fred Cook and daughter, Louise. Misses Jean and Norma Jean Chapman, Margaret and Hazel Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Mead and Marilyn and Jack Mead.

The bride is a graduate of Grand Haven High school and in June received her bachelor's degree in home economics from Michigan State college and was graduated from Sparrow Hospital school of nursing in Lansing, Dr. Bolton received his doctor's degree in veterinary medicine from Michigan State in 1944 and was honorably discharged from the A.S.T.P. at that time.

The couple left on a short wedding trip and will make their home in Cabot, Vt., where Dr. Bolton has established a practice.

Church Group Holds Picnic at Miles Home

Judge and Mrs. Fred Miles entertained members and friends of the Builders' class, Methodist church, Friday night at their home. A lawn supper was served and games were played. Prizes were awarded to Linda Ruemerma, Susan Range, Sue Eastman, Connie Range, Kenneth Cady and Beryl Bowen.

Group singing was held and souvenirs from Europe which Lt. Wendell Miles sent home, were shown.

Former Local Man Weds Girl in Pennsylvania

Of interest here is the marriage of Miss Ruth Hosteller of Charlevoix, Pa., and Rev. Laverne Sandy of Glenashaw, Pa., formerly of Holland, on Aug. 1. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Hosteller and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sandy of Holland.

The wedding took place in the Glenashaw Valley Presbyterian church of which Rev. Sandy is pastor.

Attending from Holland were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sandy, Mrs. Theodore Knoll, Mr. Neil Sandy and Dorothy Sandy.

DISCHARGED FROM ARMY
Sgt. Charles R. Kirchen, having completed 104 points, has returned to Holland with an honorable discharge from the army. Sgt. Kirchen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kirchen, route 4, Holland. He holds the Purple Heart and numerous ribbons which are for service before Pearl Harbor and in Panama, North Africa, the Middle East and Europe.

Classes were taught by genial Richard Yonkers, assistant to the director of the Grand Rapids art gallery and director of the Grand Rapids art gallery school of fine arts. Class instruction and individual help is given.

Since no complete course in art could even be attempted in so short a period, the courses offered something of an introduction to art history, given in weekly lectures with the aid of colored slides and reproductions of fine paintings, and actual work in various techniques.

Purposes of the courses was to instill in the student an appreciation of fine arts through actual work and the facing of the same problems which masters have solved.

Drawing classes have worked in charcoal, pencil and ink turning out drawings of trees, animals, campus buildings and fellow class members, as well as studying a bust of Alfred Lord Tennyson, their "bugbear."

Painters were divided into two groups, those working in oil and those working with water color. The Hope college campus, Ninth Street Christian Reformed church, local street scenes, the tannery and Windmill park with picturesque Black river all fell victim to the brush of these workers.

Mrs. M. Reed, the former Wilma Meyer of Holland who has done commercial art work in Grand Rapids, and Paul Robbert, talented Holland High school student, have turned out several lovely paintings in oil of local scenes as has Dr. Vergeer. Dr. Vergeer has for years been pursuing his painting hobby in spare moments.

Probably the hardest working student in painting class was Dorothy Vander Bie of Holland who does good oil paintings despite the fact that she has no fingers. She wields a brush skillfully and takes care of her own materials, producing work of a better quality and in less time than most of the other class members.

Listed in the drawing classes were Winifred Andreasen, Angelina Chandler, Dan De Graaf, Maxine Den Herder, Esther Everse, Sandra Lanning, Phillip Luth, Shirley Nienhuis, Ruth Pieper, Lois Por, Paul Robbert, Angelyn Van Appledorn, Nancy Van Hartesveld, Dr. Teunis Vergeer, Frouwina Vergeer, Joy Ver Plank, Marian Warner, Thomas Boslooper, Doris Eash, Dr. Clarence De Graaf, Iva De Graaf, Lena Hibma, Marcia Hubers, Dorothy Huizenga, Mildred Schuppert and Fritz Jonkmann.

In the painting class were Ruth Bartholomew, Esther Everse, Sandra Lanning, Phillip Luth, Paul Robbert, Mrs. M. Reed, Angelyn Van Appledorn, Dr. Vergeer, Joy Ver Plank, Mrs. James White, Fritz Jonkmann and Dorothy Vander Bie.

Drawing and painting are not discouraging sessions, popular opinion to the contrary. Tom Boslooper, discouraged over his attempts to show the subtle folds in a length of thin silk drapery material, was urged by Mr. Yonkers to keep on working determinedly and salvage the picture. As an illustration the teacher told of a famous sculptor who after the age of 60 became world renowned as the result of steady, patient effort. Boslooper struggled for a few more minutes, jumped up and threw his paper in the basket.

Walking out, he paused at the door and said with a whimsical smile: "I think I'll wait till I'm 60."

October 10, 1900, will be long remembered in Holland as the day our city welcomed William Jennings Bryan, the people's candidate for president of the United States, began a story in the Oct. 12 issue of the Ottawa County Times published in 1900 by M. G. Manting. The Bryan train had been scheduled to reach Holland at 3:30 p.m. Long before that hour, thousands of sturdy farmers arrived in town by electric cars, railroad and their own means of transportation, carriages and wagons. The following members of the Holland reception committee had gone to Allegan to accompany the party to Holland: Heber Walsh, Dr. Henry Kremers, Henry Brusse, George P. Hummer, Jacob G. Van Putten, James Whelan and J. C. Post. The audience numbered fully 10,000 persons when Bryan spoke and it was much the largest assemblage which ever attended a political gathering in Ottawa county.

On Monday the first meeting of the Century club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Post. Plans for course to be pursued during the ensuing year were discussed. G. J. Diekema was elected president; Dr. J. W. Beardslee, vice-president; Mrs. L. Thurber, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Kraai rejoice in the birth of a daughter.

All schools were treated to dixie cups, purchased with money earned in the children's ragweed drive and a donation from the recreation committee. Winners received a special treat in the form of a malted milk. In the drive, conducted from Monday through Thursday, a total of 330,000 ragweeds were collected.

The two freight cars of a west-bound freight train which were derailed on the Pere Marquette track 14 miles east of Holland Saturday at 8 a.m. were back on the track at noon Saturday, shortly after a derrick from New Buffalo was put to work.

Pere Marquette officials had no estimate of damage and, with almost the entire Chris-Craft company on vacation, no one was available to determine what is to be done with the Chris-Craft landing boat which was aboard one of the derailed cars.

The boat was moved to the Chris-Craft Co. yard. The second derailed car contained salt.

The accident held up three freight trains during the morning and also held up two passenger trains for about an hour.

There were 37,817 railway passenger cars in the U. S. in 1940, compared with 61,332 in 1916.

Ms. Boer was thrown out and her daughter, Frances, who accompanied here, was thrown in to the buggy top and dragged along. Had it not been for L. W. Gloomy Week for Dutchmen; Lose Two .300 Hitters

The Holland Flying Dutchmen could have been dealt no more serious a blow to their chances of ending the season above the 500 mark when events during the week revealed that two of Manager Benny Batema's most outstanding players would not be able to play after this week.

Second Baseman Harry De Neff leaves for army service Tuesday and will play his last ball game this evening and Catcher Loren Wenzel has a broken finger which will keep him out of action for at least the rest of this month and probably for the two or three final games in September.

It means the Dutchmen will be stripped of two .300 hitters besides losing two colorful defensive players. Wenzel just last year, was offered a contract to play in the Southern association.

The records of these two boys to date is as follows:

Harry De Neff is leading the team at bat with an average of .346, 25 points better than Stu Baker's second-place, .213 average. He has scored the most runs, 19; has batted in the most runs, 17; has the most doubles, 9; triples, 3, and homers, 2. He has handled 80 plays in the infield and committed five errors. He has walked seven times, fanned 10, and stolen five bases.

Loren Wenzel's batting average stands at .302, with 19 hits in 63 times at bat, which includes 14 singles, four doubles and a homer. His catching has always been tops. He has five walks, five strikeouts and a stolen base.

Despite these events Manager Batema was going to work today figuring out a way to offset the loss as best he can. He claimed one major achievement this summer when he obtained the services of Grand Rapids' Ken Little to bolster the Dutch hurling staff, which was seriously depleted when Lefty Van Wieren signed to play professional baseball in the Southern association.

Batema said he would bring in Bob Altana from the American Legion league to fill out the loss to the infield. Altana did a good job at third base twice this season and Batema will use him there shifting Wayne De Neff to second.
