Blendon Man Is Named to Farm Security Board

Andrew Hoffman Takes
3-Year Appointment
Replacing John Wichers

The appointment of Andrew Hoffman of Blendon township as a new member of the Ottawa Farm Security Administration committee was announced today by Jay C. Hansen, Ottawa FSA supervisor. Appointed by State FSA Director Roswell G. Carr of East Lansing, Hoffman will take office for a three-year term replacing John Wichers of Zealand whose term expired. A present regulation prohibits the immediate reappointment of a committee member, but Wichers will continue in an advisory capacity.

Everett Collar of Conklin and Harold Kragt of Holland are the holdover members of the committee. The board passes on all applications for loans to buy machinery, livestock, and other farm operating expenses. Such loans are limited to $2,500 in one year, draw five per cent interest and are repayable within five years. They are essentially character loans and are granted if, in the opinion of the board, the proposed farm operations have a reasonable chance of success.

Loans are granted to underfinanced operating farm owners who cannot get adequate credit elsewhere as well as to farm tenants and veterans wishing to become established in farming and are made contingent upon the family's acceptance of practical guidance in farm and home management, Hansen explained.

In addition to duties in connection with operating loans, the board is also responsible for selection of eligible families and approval of farms for purchase under the Bankhead-Jones farm tenant act. These particular farm purchase loans can be made only to veterans with satisfactory farm experience and successful farm tenants who are in a financial position to provide a substantial equity in necessary operating goods. Farm purchase loans bear a 2 per cent interest rate and provide a variable repayment plan extending to 40 years, if necessary. Hansen stated that current inflation in farm prices is making land purchases increasingly difficult.

Committee members meet regularly in the Farm Security office at Grand Rapids to review loan applications and to assist farmers in planning their operations for maximum production and efficiency. Since the start of FSA activities a decade ago, nearly 300 farm families in Ottawa county have been assisted with operating goods and farm purchase loans.

Two More Instructors Added to Hope Faculty

Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers, president of Hope college, today announced the appointment of two additional instructors to the college faculty, effective next semester.

Jay E. Folkert, discharged last December after nearly four years with the AAF, will be an instructor in mathematics. Upon his graduation from Hope college in 1939, he received a regent's scholarship to the University of Michigan where he received a master's degree in 1940.

He entered the service in February, 1942, and received a commission in May, 1943. He served as an expert in meteorology with the 8th AAF in England. Since February he taught in Christian high school. He and his wife live in Holland. His parents live in Overisel.

Henry E. Schoon of German Valley, Ill., a graduate of Hope college in 1916, will teach German. Of German parentage, Schoon received his early training in Mission Houses college in Wisconsin where all instruction was given in the German language. He was graduated from the New Brunswick Theological seminary in 1922 and for many years has been serving as principal of Pleasant Prairie academy at German Valley, Ill., an institution of the Reformed Church in America.

Mr. and Mrs. Schoon have been spending summers for many years at Waukazo and plan to make their home there.

Removal of international hide allocations in June opened hides and leather to competitive bidding with foreign markets, sales being made consistently at prices ranging from 25 to 30¢ a pound. Price control limits American operators to the 15¢ ceiling and thus removes them from a competitive position, Andreasen said.

Trade reports received by the local factory indicate that 90 per cent of the shoe factories in the Milwaukee and St. Louis areas have been closed for lack of materials.

Committees representing shoe manufacturers and retailers have met with Price Administrator Paul Porter in an attempt to restore normal leather shipments but OPA has remained firm on the June 30 price levels and countered with an "investigation" into the activities of packers and leather tanners.

Cattle slaughter has continued at record heights and shoe manufacturers feel that either complete decontrol or satisfactory adjustment of hide ceilings will enable the industry to continue the production schedule which seemed destined to establish a record output of 550 million pairs during 1946.

Leather Shortage May Close Shoe Manufacture Here

OPA Ceiling Prices
Blamed for Halting
Supplies of Hides

Shutdown of the shoe industry threatens, unless immediate action is taken to stimulate distribution of hides and leather, according to C. C. Andreasen, president of Holland-Racine Shoes, Inc. Re-establishment of the 15¢-cents per pound ceilings on hides by OPA was blamed by Andreasen for choking off leather supplies to the local plant.

"Immediate restoration of the regular flow of materials is essential to maintain operations," Andreasen said today.

Removal of international hide allocations in June opened hides and leather to competitive bidding with foreign markets, sales being made consistently at prices ranging from 25 to 30¢ a pound. Price control limits American operators to the 15¢ ceiling and thus removes them from a competitive position, Andreasen said.

156 Attend Religious Conference in Holland

A total of 156 persons had registered at noon today for the sixth annual summer conference for ministers and Christian leaders of the Reformed church which opened Monday at Hope college.

The delegates, most of them Reformed ministers and their wives, represent states as far east as New York and west to Nebraska. Hope Memorial chapel serves as headquarters for the event which will close Friday noon. Delegates are housed in Voorhees hall and Zwemer hall.

Three addresses by Dr. George A. Buttrick of Madison Ave. Presbyterian church in New York city opened the conference. He spoke Monday afternoon on "Christ in Gethsemane." Monday night on "Baptism of Jesus" and this morning on "A Person and Christ."

Dr. Buttrick today demonstrated that living can be an art because it is small. "All art works within a small compass. A poem is meter and rhyme, and a painting is within a canvas. A canvas as large as the Sahara would be only a desert. Life becomes great when it dedicates itself to a worthy cause or again it becomes great in the measure in which it endeavors to meet human needs. We magnify greatness but Christ appears to have magnified littleness."

Delegates planned a picnic this afternoon at Tunnel park. They said they would be glad to settle for the badly needed rain, but went ahead with plans when the cloudy weather cleared.

Dr. Bela Vasady, president of the theological faculty and professor of systematic theology at the University of Debrecen, Hungary, will address a public meeting Thursday in Hope Memorial chapel. He is the author of seven books, editor of two church papers and is chairman of the Society of Theologians in Hungary. He also will speak at the closing conference meeting Friday at 10 a.m.

Injuries Received In Zeeland Crash Fatal to G.R. Man

Car Hits Guy Wire; Companion Escapes With Minor Bruises

Zeeland, Aug. 8.—Edward M. Grose, 34, Grand Rapids, died at 11:30 p.m. Sunday in Huizenga Memorial hospital of a skull fracture and internal injuries received Friday night when his car left the road on M-21 three miles east of Zeeland, hit a guy wire and overturned.

His companion, Ben Hesselink, about 60, former Holland resident now living in Grand Rapids, received face cuts and body bruises and was discharged 2:30 a.m. Saturday after treatment at the hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Louis Vis of Zeeland said the Grose car was demolished. It had apparently landed against a guy wire in a gully, tipped over and slid on the top for a considerable distance. All doors and the top were torn off.

Hesselink told officers he had fallen asleep and knew nothing of the crash which occurred about 11:40 p.m. Grose regained consciousness Saturday but could not be questioned.

Coroner Gilbert Vande Water gave a verdict of accidental death. There will be no inquest.

Grose who resided at 944 Godfrey Ave., Grand Rapids, is survived by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Andree; four sisters, Mrs. Clara Killa, Mrs. Sylvia Morris, Miss Blanche Grose and Mrs. William Beltz; and three brothers, Donald David and Louis, all of Grand Rapids.

The youth had just completed high school and was about to enter university at St. Louis in the fall. He had left St. Louis last Tuesday with three other youths to spend a few weeks at a cottage on the lake shore at Douglas. The three youths returned to St. Louis Saturday.

'Scooter' Death Driver Pays Fine

County Prosecutor Howard W. Fant of Grand Haven Wed. announced that after a thorough investigation of facts surrounding the death of Robert Post July 26, "it has been determined by investigating officers that there is insufficient evidence to justify holding Clarence Van Voorst, 22, driver of the car responsible for the death."

Young Post, 17, who was riding a motor scooter was instantly killed in the accident on the Port Sheldon beachline.

The investigation, however, disclosed that the lights on the Van Voorst car were not sufficient to comply fully with the statutes and he was accordingly charged with driving with insufficient lights.

Arraigned before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith today, Van Voorst was assessed fine and costs of $13.90.

The investigation was carried on by the prosecutor, sheriff's office and Coroner Gilbert Vande Water.

MIKHAILOVITCH:

A MODERN TRAGEDY

When the former Yugoslavian
leader, General Draja Mikhailovitch, faced the firing squad in his native town of Belgrade, what were the thoughts running through his mind? In the nature of things, no one can ever know.
When an executioner's bullet came tearing through his heart, darkness descended upon that mind
and vetoed all further communication.

We are too far away from the politics of Yugoslavia to be able to pass judgment on the verdict of the court that condemned the former leader. In the complicated pattern of the events of a war
that overwhelmed small countries
like Yugoslavia, it is next to impossible for an outsider to come to any confident conclusion as to the "right" and the "wrong" of the acts of many men.

Was Mikhailovitch the victim of the interplay of international and Yugoslavian politics? Was the sentence of death meted out to him because he leaned politically to the Right instead of to the Left? Was he executed because for the moment the forces of the Left are in power in Yugoslavia?
Did the bullet find his heart because he had failed to read correctly the Yugoslavian election results?

Whether they are justified or not, such questions are being asked by many people the world over.
And those questions will continue to be asked by history itself. Inevitably historians will try for answers, and it may be expected that they will be more objective
in arriving at their conclusions than we can be at a distance or than the Yugoslavians can be on the spot. The world at least is not convinced as yet that this execution was a case of clearcut justice such as would be the shooting of men like Goering.

History may hold that Mikhailovitch died in some such way as our own John Brown died just before the Civil war. That execution was technically just—John Brown had engaged in insurrection. Yet history has insisted on turning the man into a hero. Doubtless the execution of Mikhailovitch also was technically just, but it is not at all certain that history will not classify him among the heroes of our global war.

Unfortunately, if that should happen, it will do Mikhailovitch no good. If a hero is shot he is as dead as if he had been a villain. Dead men tell no tales, but neither do they engage in rejoicing. There is about the execution of Mikhailovitch a strong odor of tragedy.

Jesus and Home Relationships

Exodus 20:12; Mark 7:9-13;

Ephesians 6:1-4

By Henry Geerlings

The home is a divine institution.
It has pleased God to set the solitary in families. Whatever assaults the integrity of the home is an enemy of the Lord. All through the Scripture He is defending the sanctity of the family circle. All through history, its holiness has been invaded, but not often without the severest penalty.
No nation can rise above the character of its families. When we keep the place we call home in-vulnerable every other institution will prosper. He who builds a true home multiplies goodness.

The Jewish home was a religious institution, dedicated to the high task of passing on through the children the noblest traditions of godliness. The home was constantly aware of God, and there was a belief that He dwelt particularly in the home.

Of the home influences that affected young life, the first was that of the mother. Religious training began early for the children. Both the Old and the New Testament abound in illustrations of women worthy of honor. The zeal with which Jewish women performed their religious service is suggested by the description of young Timothy whose mother was Jewish. The lad had from an infant known the Scriptures.

The father, as the priest of the family, began to impress himself upon the children also in their early years, but increasingly after the boys were about five or six, the father took active charge of their education. His duty in this matter was specific and binding. No other engagements could take precedence over these. Indeed, no matter how he may have succeeded otherwise, it was a disgrace for any man to fail in the duty of bringing his sons in a knowledge of, and reverence for the law. In brief, both the father and the mother were charged with an inescapable obligation. The whole nation looked toward them and did them honor. It was natural for children to fall into the same spirit knowing that they themselves would some day be in the honored position.

Jesus' attitude toward the fifth commandment was shown in His final act upon the cross, of making provision for His mother's comfort. The fact that Mary and Jesus were together at the Cana wedding probably means that there was a close bond between them.
And Mary's attitude of confidence
on that occasion suggests a well-trained faith on the part of this middle-aged mother that her now famous Son could be counted upon to meet any emergency. The further fact that she joined with her other sons at a later date in what seems to have been an attempt to get Him to come back home, leads one to suspect that she missed Him in the family circle.

This attachment of son for mother started very early. No doubt. The earliest glimpse we have of Mary is that of a sincere Jewish girl who took motherhood very seriously. The annunciation scene is striking, not alone because a miracle of God was being performed, but also because Mary was prepared to enter upon the adventure of childbirth willingly and courageously, and with high idealism. The stories of Jesus' birth in Bethlehem, of the flight to Egypt, and of the return to Nazareth continue the same fascinating picture of mother devotion.

Significantly, in the story of Jesus' visit to the temple at twelve, Mary is again the central figure. It was she who anxiously interrogated Jesus when at last they found Him in company with the wise men of the nation, and who caught something of the deep meaning of His words. Out of such a rich experience of filial devotion the boy grew to manhood.

His growth was well rounded—
physically, mentally, devotionally, and socially. Such growth, then as now, serves as a guarantee that the most immediate of moral and social relations—attitude toward parents—shall ever be above reproach. That emphasis is greatly needed today.

When the apostle Paul urged children to obey their parents, he no doubt was thinking of the home as an achievement in cooperative Christian living. And he was not afraid to claim for such a home the blessings that attend proper family attitudes. It would probably not be wise to press the claim that such right relationships in the home will invariably result in prosperity and long life
for all individuals entering earnestly in them. But history will support the claim that the home will usually get along better and last longer if Christian consideration and respect flow from children to parents, and also from parents to children.

So the apostle advises fathers
not to provoke, irritate, or exasperate their children. He is using a very strong word, which refers to an unjustified and arbitrary act
of violence, and also a continuous nagging.

Phil Rich Finds Living on Boat Just Like Town

Beautiful Portland Canal, Fine Companions Make Enjoyable Voyage

(This is another of Phil Rich's articles about his current tour of Alaska with Reardon J. Nehl—Editor.)

By Phil Rich

ON THE PORTLAND Canal, Alaska—We chug along at eight miles an hour up this great and beautiful waterway with mountains rising abruptly into the clouds; waterfalls too numerous to mention; snowcapped peaks everywhere; rocky shores with occasional green flats or coves with grass growing as high as your head; through an untamed wilderness—a rugged country.

But on the boat, we have deluxe, modern accommodations. She's 48 feet long, diesel-powered with 50 horsepower, has oil for the cook stove and for fuel; electric lights, refrigeration, running water and marine toilet—four comfortable beds with sheets, wireless sending and receiving. On the boat we carry two small craft and one outboard motor.

It's odd to be sailing up through 110 miles of canal where we haven't passed a single boat—where it's really rough and yet we're living just like in town.

BESIDES WE'RE traveling with two of the finest men one would want to meet. The skipper (Lyle Blodgett) has been running boats up here for 40 years—35 with the U.S. Forest Service. He knows every island and bay in this part of Alaska. He stands around six feet, two and is as rugged as the mountains. He's quiet and yet friendly and interesting and he gets off some good cracks about his "green cooks." Then there's Arthur Hodgman—forest ranger who has 14 years with the service and eight of them in Alaska. He's just taken charge of the cooking and can be put in it! He is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and knows his stuff whether it's a survey line on timber or a homestead for lease, scaling logs or building a shelter cabin.

COMPANIONS make a trip like this. It spoils it if men are grumpy or irritable or don't get along or shirk their part of duties. We've a jolly, working team and our interest in seeing it and telling about what we see and hear are all about the same. Lyle "Hodg" and Reardon and I are having fun.

On the way up the canal today, Reardon spied a bear through his glasses. We could see him plainly as he strolled out on a patch of snow way up the mountain—about two miles as nearly as we could estimate.

We pulled out of Hidden Inlet about 6:45 a.m. Skipper Lyle came down to say "you don't need to get up until you get ready" but we couldn't miss anything so we popped up, had breakfast and feasted our eyes on scenic splendor such as would be hard to beat anywhere on this earth. For instance, mountains that range from 5,050 to 6,240 feet and there's one here at 7,600 which is a fairly good pile of rock.

WATERFALLS—what kind would you like? We saw all kinds—some falls and cascades coming down from the snowcaps that we estimated to be one to one and a half miles long. In one view we counted 17 waterfalls on one small stretch of mountain—come zig-zagging down with drops of 100 or 200 feet at a time; others splitting into half a dozen channels and falling from the high rock like tattered white ribbons. It was gorgeous.

Arriving at Hyder at 3 p.m., we docked at the American Smelting and Refinery Co. Premier mine dock just over the Canadian border in British Columbia.

First thing we did was to "glass" the great mountain across from us. We could see two white goats moving on the high rock.

AFTER DOCKING, we went uptown and decided to have dinner there. The old town—mostly built on piling—is now falling apart. There is no housing shortage here. Lots of houses—some in fair condition and a lot of old stores, hotels, etc., abandoned. Some places still have dressers, beds, springs, mattresses, etc., in them. One old bar-hotel had hundreds of cases of old beer bottles—too expensive to ship them out.

"Casey" Williams, former chief of police at Ketchikan, and Mrs. Williams were old friends of Lyle and Hodg and we had dinner in their bar-restaurant. Had braised beef, select peas, potatoes, two kinds of bread, butter, lettuce and tomato salad topped off with fresh blueberry pie. The price, $1.25 each.

This town is about 75 to 100 population including those adjacent and living in the hills. It's a "gold" town. But we'll get into that story later.

Kiwanians Hear Mail Supervisor

Sipp Houtman, superintendent of mails in Holland, spoke Monday evening before local Kiwanians in the Warm Friend Tavern. Dr. Henry Masselink, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

Speaking on Penny's Worth Plus, Houtman pointed out the activities of the postal service not ordinarily known by the general public.

Houtman traced the growth of the postal service in Holland, stating that it had its origin in 1847 when the first local mail service came out of Manlius by carrier. At the present time the Holland post office employs 50 men, utilizing 18 vehicles. The government spends annually $200,000 through the local post office. Holland also boasts 2,500 investors in postal savings with an average investment of $1,000.

Houtman concluded by stating that the International Postal Union, comprised of all nations, has been operating successfully for years and is an excellent example of international goodwill and understanding, and that an international organization for peace should work out equally well.

President William Meengs conducted the meeting. The following guests were introduced: C. N. Finley, New Orleans, La.; William Curtis, Farmer City, Ill.; J. A. Hixon, St. Louis, Mo.; Kenneth C. Dean and Roger E. De Vries of Holland.

Service Reigns At Shell Station

Driving in hot weather is hard on any car and several things to keep your car in running condition must be taken care of regularly, according to Carl Tasker, owner and manager of the Uptown Shell Service station. The station is located on the corner of Seventh St. and River Ave.

Mr. Tasker stresses the fact that the motor runs cool when clean and the case needs flushing. Fresh oil must also be put in regularly and transmission and differential need special summer greases. The radiator, too, needs cleaning and flushing.

The station has two hydraulic hoists as well as a wash bay, "where service and more service reigns supreme."

"For instance, a customer coming in for a specialized Shell lubrication job also gets his car windows washed inside and out, the floor cleaned and door latches lubricated," Mr. Tasker said.

This is just a sample of the service the Uptown station strives to give. At the pumps Mr. Tasker insists on the same service for his customers.

Shell oils, gasoline and anti-freeze are handled at the station. The manager also holds a Firestone dealer franchise and Firestone tires and batteries and auto accessories are sold.

Miss Erma Hop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob W. Hop, 149 West Main Ave., Zeeland, and Robert J. Kalmink, son of Mrs. Henry Kalmink, 92 West 16th St., spoke their marriage vows Friday night in an impressive ceremony in Third Christian Reformed church, Zeeland. Dr. J. H. Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was held in place by an illusion bonnet and she carried a white Bible topped with white roses and white satin streamers.

The maid of honor's gown was fashioned with a white tissue tulle bodice and full skirt of white net. She carried a bouquet of red roses with a matching headdress. The bridesmaid's gown was identical.

Mary Louise Hemmes, Harvey Koop Are Wed

Leon Kleis Takes Local Golf Title

Leon Kleis, the odd-on favorite, did not disappoint dopsters in the Memorial Golf course championship finals Saturday afternoon as he swept top honors from Gerald Kramer.

Kleis did give Kramer many opportunities to assume a lead in the first eight holes but every time Kleis got into trouble Kramer did likewise. If either had been sinking putts he could have run away with the match.

First blood was drawn on the par three number two hole. Both failed to reach the green with their tee shots, but Kramer's approach was short and when he needed two putts, he was one down. Kramer had a chance to break through on number four, but three-putted to halve the hole with bogey fives.

Kleis made it two up on number seven with a bogey five when both had trouble. Kleis' drive was in the rough and Kramer's second shot strayed but Kleis' recovery beat Kramer when both needed two putts. Kramer was three down on number eight when Kleis sank a 30-foot putt for a birdie. Neither reached the green with their first on number nine and Kleis went four up with a par the hard way.

Kleis' par took number ten and a five up lead as Kramer pitched short. Kramer won number 11 for his first counter with a birdie four and cut the lead to four up but Kleis came right back with a birdie two to win number 12.

Kramer's last win was number 13 which he won with a par as Kleis had tree trouble with his tee shot. This left Kleis four up with five to go and he quickly ended the contest on number 14 when Kramer's second failed to reach the green. Kleis two-putted and the month long tournament was over with Kleis the winner five up and four to go.

First prize was a dozen post-war real rubber balls while Kramer received six balls for runner-up honors.

Negro Atlanta Team Triumphs Over Holland, 7-3

Lefty Van Wieren Nicked for 12 Hits; Seventh Loss for Dutch

The Holland Flying Dutchmen dropped their seventh game in 27 starts Monday night in River-view Park, 7-3. Brenner King, tall Negro curveball pitcher of the Atlanta Black Crackers limited Holland to six hits, divided evenly between Russ Woldring, Juke Van Huis and Pitcher Clare Van Wieren.

Billy Cooper's two-run homer in the second gave Atlanta a lead. The Dutchmen got two in their half of the second but when Atlanta came back with three hits and three runs in the next inning they gained a lead which the Dutch could not overcome.

Harry De Neff's walk, Woldring's double and Van Huis' single accounted for Holland's two runs in the second and they added another in the sixth. Van Huis singled and was forced at second by Harold Van Wieren. Frank Bagladi grounded out to the shortstop, Van Wieren going to second. Clare Van Wieren singled to center but his brother was held out at third. When Third Baseman Charley Byrd muffed Wayne De Neff's bouncer, Van Wieren came home.

Atlanta found the southpaw slants of Van Wieren none too baffling. After blanking Lansing VFW on two hits last week, Van Wieren gave up 12 safeties. A four-run, four-outburst in the seventh was the clincher.

They took no chances however and when King, who had trouble with his control at various times, threw two balls to Don Van Lente to start the ninth, they inserted their ace, Sam Haynes. He got Van Lente on a fly to rightfield and then fanned Loren Wenzel and Woldring.

Many Attracted to Graafschap Fire

Graafschap, Aug. 8—The entire countryside turned out to see a fire Wednesday night which destroyed a barn on the Harold Sterenberg farm three miles south of Graafschap.

The blaze lighted the sky and was seen more than 15 miles away. Traffic jammed up roads and many motorists had to walk more than a mile.

The Graafschap fire department kept the fire from spreading to a milk house and other farm buildings. The fire was fought with water brought in milk cans from nearby farms.

It was understood some cattle were lost in the blaze. Some cattle were saved.

Semi-Finalists in Golf Announced

Emerging as semi-finalists in the American Legion Golf club tournament are Larry Lamb, Gerald Kramer, George Slikkers and Leon Kleis, according to Tournament Director Paul Camburn.

George Slikkers defeated Walt Reagan two up and one to go. At the end of five, Walt had a two-hole lead but George took the next four holes with three pars and a birdie to lead two up at the 18th.

When Slikkers started the second nine with a birdie and a par it was just a question of time. One of the low handicappers was eliminated when Larry Lamb defeated Joe Chamberlain two and one. Larry had four pars and five bogies for a one up lead on the inside nine but Joe was one up at the end of 11 holes. Larry's par five on the 16th hole was good for a win and the match, which was tough all the way.

Leon Kleis downed Clarence Javling in a "ding-dong" affair that was really settled when Javling three putted number 14. This lapse gave Kleis a three up lead which Javling pared to two on the 16th. However, Kleis' birdie on the 17th gave him a three and one win.

Gerald Kramer, who was doing some sort of marathon when he had to play 36 holes each to eliminate J. J. Riemersma and Jim Hallan, found his entry into the semi-finals a simple matter. His opponent, Dr. Walt Hoeksema, is out of the city and had to default.

Mrs. Ray Metzger of 81 East 22nd St. provided the Memorial Park course with its first hole-in-one of the season when her tee-shot on number nine found its way into the cup. A par three, 140 yard hole, her shot hit just short of the green and rolled straight and true to the pin.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors in charge of Mrs. Della Boonard of Grand Haven. Miss Esther Van Dyke of Holland and Mrs. Gil Van Wieren presided at the punch bowl.

For traveling the bride wore a pink and black striped silk suit, with black accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Highfield was graduated from Hope college in 1944 with an A. B. degree and is a member of Delphi sorority. In 1945 she received her master's degree in history at the University of Michigan.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception were from Greenville, Ala. Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Detroit, and included the following from Holland: Miss Esther Van Dyke, Harvey Mulder, Mr. and Mrs. John Hietbrink, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Janssen and Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Mullenberg.

Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Kleinheksel, Corinne Ann and Helen Jane of Long Island, New York and Karel Mari and Sara Jo Kleinheksel of Holland will be guests at the home of their father and grandfather, Mr. Bert Kleinheksel, on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Harold Leestma and Mary Alyce of Muskegon will spend a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Voorhorst while Rev. Leestma will be at the Conference in Saugatuck as one of the instructors.

New Names for County Roads Are Fascinating

What's in a name?

This age-old question—or is it a quotation—can be answered by any postal employee with one simple but potent word—CONFUSION!

Similarity or duplication of names of patrons, streets or towns is a major source of trouble in the post office system.

Just now, local postal clerks are concerned with the new names for all rural roads and highways in Ottawa county. The county board of supervisors recently voted $18,000 to place street name posts on county roads after Consumers Power Co. promised to provide residents with the necessary metal house numbers free of charge.

The power company was instrumental in naming all roads in Ottawa county and numbering all houses. The names and numbers are a continuation of a program in Kent county.

Sipp H. Houtman, superintendent of mails at the Holland post office, conferred with power officials and succeeded in having conflicting or confusing names eliminated from the proposed list in the Holland delivery area. Here the responsibility of the post office ends. Houtman explained.

Secretary-Manager William H. Vande Water of the Chamber of Commerce, is concerned about the reaction of those residents who may find themselves forced to use undesirable or inappropriate street names in case extended city mail delivery makes the use of street and number instead of rural route numbers compulsory.

Vande Water has maps in the Chamber office and would like to have interested residents stop in and file opinions and suggestions so that the county road commission may have guidance from the public in making final choices. This applies particularly to those living along the south shore of Lake Macatawa, Vande Water said.

Among other names utilized are Quincy, Riley, Greenly, Byron, Gordon, Felch, Mason, Barry, Van Buren, Blair, Crapp, Baldwin, Taylor, Begole, Winans, Leonard, Buchanan, Lincoln, Johnson, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Cleveland, Roosevelt, Van Wagoner, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, Oak, Truman, Sherman, Bagley, Polk, Bingham, Ransom.

Then there are angling roads known as Edison drive, Beeline road, Cedar drive, Oriole drive, Juniper drive, Elder drive, Harrisburg road, Wildwood drive, Hiawatha drive, Mercury drive.

There's even a Lover's Lane. It's in Tallmadge township.

Allegan, Aug. 8—One case of malaria in Plainwell, and five cases of whooping cough in Saugatuck were reported today by the Allegan County Health department for the week ending July 27.

Dr. Nathaniel H. Cooper, acting director, said the department believes more cases of whooping cough exist than were reported. He pointed out that patients with the disease must be isolated from contact with others for three weeks after the characteristic cough develops.

Exposed children who have had the disease or who have been vaccinated against it are not quarantined. Other children in contact with the disease must avoid contact with other children and must stay away from school the same length of time as the patient.

The department said the highest death rate from whooping cough is in children under two years. Infants should be protected against it by whooping cough vaccine injections beginning at three months of age. Re-immunization by a "booster" injection should be done before a child enters kindergarten or first grade, Dr. Cooper said.

School and community surveys during the past year show the general level of protection of school children against diphtheria and small pox varies from 15 to 25 per cent of children protected. The level in pre-school children is even lower.

The occurrence of many cases of diphtheria in children of school age emphasizes the importance of giving a stimulating or "booster" injection to raise the protection again before a child enters school, the department said.

The Friday night Youth for Christ rally at Zeeland park will also feature the Rasmussens and they will be heard at two services Sunday at the City Mission beginning at 3 p.m. and 7:15 p.m.

A hymn sing will be held at Kollen park at 9 p.m. on Sunday with Gilbert Van Wylen song leader. The Rasmussens duet will also be heard at that time.

A group of 125 persons attended the Camp Fire sponsored by Youth for Christ, at Veurink's grove Tuesday.

Mrs. Robert Parkes, worthy matron, presided at the regular meeting of Holland chapter No. 429, OES, Tuesday night when a letter was read from the Holland Shrine club, thanking the chapter for its voluntary life membership contribution to the crippled children's hospital sponsored by the Shrine.

A picture was received by the group of the little Belgian boy to whom the chapter's contribution was allotted through the "Save the Children" federation.

Mrs. Arthur Goodes, chapter officer who has been ill and out of the city the last six months, was welcomed. Visitors were also present from Chicago.

Chapter members and their guests enjoyed a social hour following the meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. Goodes, Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. U. Frank De Vries.

Members of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary went to Douglas Wednesday night where the office, assisted in the institution of the Jones-Woodall auxiliary.

Department officers participating in the ceremony were President Marie Proctor of Flint and Past Department President Clyda Trngmar of Detroit. They will also be guests of the local auxiliary at their meeting tonight.

Local VFW post members attending were Shud Althuis, H. G. Knapp, Lester Vander Meulen, John Sals, Ray Tice and Paul Wolahn.

Dr. Bela Vasady, president of the theological faculty and professor of systematic theology at the University of Debrecen, Hungary, will be featured speaker at a public meeting in Hope Memorial chapel at 8 p.m. tonight held in conjunction with the Christian Workers' conference at Hope college.

Guest soloist will be Mrs. Alvin Neveel, the former Cornelia Nettinga.
