Allegan County Social Welfare Fund Runs Low

Allegan, Aug. 11(Special)—Allegan county's social welfare fund probably will go into the red about the middle of August, with no relief until sometime in September, Director Ted Hicks said today.

The fund pays hospitalization, supports the county farm and infirmary, some medical services, and administration salaries.

The deficit is a result, Hicks said, of the general funds' shortage which the county expects to make up with a $63,000 loan. Social welfare funds are transferred from this fund quarterly, and none was available when due in July. Proceeds from cashing the county's last $50,000 bond have been earmarked for social welfare department to the amount of $25,000 and $6,000 for direct relief, Hicks said. But this money isn't expected until next month.

The department expects to make out on the state's share of direct relief costs until the county's portion comes in.

Meanwhile, County Treasurer James Boyce said at least three weeks will be required before negotiation for the county's loan can be approved and advertised for bids.

No checks on the general fund will be written until the money is actually available, which will result in at least two payless paydays for county employees. With transfer of about $9,000 by the supervisors last week, the fund's deficit Monday stood at about $11,000.

Local merchants and clerks today were warned to be on the alert for counterfeit $20 bills which have been appearing in this section.

One local clerk Thursday refused such a bill after noting that the engraving on the back was offset, putting the flag and shrubbery out of line in the White House picture.

The purchaser was definitely the innocent victim since she had just received the bill from her pay envelop from a Detroit firm. She planned to return the bill to her employer.

The current counterfeits have no connection with a flurry a week or two ago when some persons questioned the new balcony on the White House engraving.

The local clerk was particularly on her toes since a caller earlier in the week had pointed out the differences in the $20 counterfeits.

George Van Pearsen, Zeeland attorney, is the new justice of the peace for Zeeland. He was appointed this week by City Council to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Jarrett N. Clark July 10. Van Pearsen also is city attorney. Isaac Van Dyle is another justice in Zeeland.

Norm Scholten Hailed As New Soap Box Champion

Holland hailed a new Soap Box king today in the person of Norman Scholten, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scholten of 90 East 20th St. Norman ran the Columbia Ave. course Wednesday in an official count of 13.1 seconds, 6 second better than last year's record of 13.7 seconds. In one trial run he was clocked at 12.9 seconds.

Running a close second—so close that judges figured a difference of six to nine inches—was 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Buis of 166 West 15th St. Winning first place in the second classification was Billy Buis, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Buis of route 4. Contestants were divided into two groups according to construction and timing as determined in trial runs.

Both Scholten and Buis received bicycles for first prizes.

Bill Kolean, 12, who won the races last year, placed third in the class A races and Bob Bouwman, 12, won fourth. George Becker, 12, won second in the class B races; John Cook, 10, third, and Gary Vandenberg, 10, fourth.

Several hundred spectators gathered in shady spots along the two blocks of the race course for the sixth annual race. Although contestants were timed at the end of the first block, the cars often went well beyond the second block. Crowds carefully picked the shady spots to escape the 90-degree heat.

Soap Box cars offered some new ideas in design over the last five years. One enterprising youngster designed his car of tubular steel to keep the weight down. Another added bricks to increase the weight. Although the sponsoring organization, the Optimist club, laid down certain requirements on size of wheels, length and height, there was enough latitude to produce a variety of models.

William J. Meengs acted as master of ceremonies. Leon N. Moody was official starter, assisted by Ken Zuverink on the ramp. Timers were C. C. Wood, Orle Bishop, Russ Breen and Ernie Phillips.

Second prize in class A group was a radio and third, $3. Second prize in class B group was a $20 pen and pencil set and third prize, tennis shoes. Awards were made by H. A. Triesenberg, Robert Topp was general chairman.

The nine contestants were Ray Vinstra, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Vinstra, Chicago drive; Jim Vande Poel, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russ Vande Poel, 166 West 15th St.; Norman Scholten, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scholten, 90 East 20th St.; Gary Vandenberg, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Vandenberg, 115 East 19th St.; John Cook, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cook, 256 West 16th St.; Bill Kolean, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Buis, route 4; George Becker, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Becker, 121 East 30th St.; Bill Kolean, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Kolean, 125 West 29th St.; Bob Bouwman, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marinus Bouwman, 280 West 20th St.

Little Hope for Relief Seen in New Heat Wave

Forecasters offered no relief today from the hot, humid weather which has plagued the section all week.

The mercury rose to a high of 90 Wednesday, and although it registered only 84 at 11 a.m. today there was no relief because of high humidity.

Coast Guardsmen Mark Anniversary Of Their Service

The United States Coast Guard observed its 159th anniversary Thursday. This week has been set aside as "Coast Guard Anniversary Week" by all stations.

History of the sea arm dates back to Aug. 4, 1790. Alexander Hamilton, then Secretary of the Treasury, founded the Coast Guard as the Revenue Cutter service. The name has been changed to United States Coast Guard since time and includes former lighthouse services and the former bureau of marine inspection and navigation.

Ranking officer is Joseph F. Farley, a four-star admiral.

There are 12 districts, including the Hawaiian Islands and Alaska, with headquarters at Washington. At present there are 23,000 officers, enlisted men and civilians. The force mounted to 180,000 during World War II.

During the crucial days of World War II, the Coast Guard's forces fanned out to most invasion fronts in the world. In the postwar world, it is going into one of the most extensive programs in its history. Ocean weather station vessels in the Pacific and Atlantic oceans provide trans-ocean ships and aircraft with vital meteorological and navigational assistance. The service patrols thousands of miles of shoreline to enforce federal navigational laws and execute rescues.

Throughout the nation's harbors and inland waterways, the service maintains 40,000 aids to navigation. Lifeboat and light stations are strategically local to assist stricken boats and persons.

In the Holland area, the Coast Guard has performed many rescues, including drowning victims and stricken boats.

Legal Opinion Upholds Miles

A ruling by the attorney general's office upholds an opinion issued by Wendell A. Miles, county prosecuting attorney, that the board of supervisors has the power to permit or prohibit branch offices of the secretary of state's department for distribution of license plates in a courthouse by a county officer or his employees. The Miles opinion was made at the time the board met in Grand Haven in June for consideration of the matter.

The attorney general's office also ruled that the board has similar power in relation to the maintenance of a photostatic machine in the office of the register of deeds, which Miles also recommended.

The board of supervisors ruled in June that the Ottawa county license bureau could operate in Grand Haven in the county clerk's office at no cost and denied a request from a branch operator in Holland that the county contribute to the rental of an office and clerk hire here.

Vandals Smash Cottage Contents

Sheriff's officers are continuing their investigation into a vandalism case at Waukazoo in which Camp Jeanette, an old frame cottage owned by Jeanette Nichols of Chicago was entered by boys and contents virtually ruined.

The vandalism was reported Wednesday afternoon by the owner when she found windows, mirrors, pictures, dishes and lamps smashed in wild abandon.

Sheriff Jerry Vanderbeek and Deputy Clayton Forry questioned some boys shortly afterward. At least one boy admitted having a hand in smashing things.

All windows but two were broken and all mirrors but one were smashed. Window screens were slashed, pictures smashed and lamps broken. Not a dish remained intact. Even spindles of the stair rail were smashed. In the officers' words, it was the biggest mess they had ever seen.

Officers plan to contact the parents to make restitution. Most of the items broken were old but had sentimental value.

Flying Dutchmen Trounce Muskegon In Rubber Game

Mike Skaalen Scatters
Hits and Runs; Locals
Make Timely Bingles

Fireball Mike Skaalen scattered 12 hits and four runs through nine innings Thursday night to give the Flying Dutchmen a 9-4 win over Muskegon's Cottage Inns in the "rubber" game of their three-game series.

The potent Muskegonites piled up 12 hits to 10 for the Dutchmen. However, the locals hit in the "rubber" game of their three-game series.

Frankie Wlodarczyk put the Dutchmen in the lead with a home run over the right-center field fence in the last of the first with Ron Fortney aboard. The ball bounced back into the field, but it was a home run. The visitors had racked up one run in the top of the first on two hits and some shaky fielding by the Dutchmen.

Muskegon pushed across another run in the top half of the third to knot the score at 2-2. Two singles, two errors and a passed ball did the trick.

A two-run uprising in the last half of the fifth put the locals ahead for the second time in the ball game. George Czerkies walked and went to second after Fortney walked. Both runners advanced on a passed ball and Czerkies scored and Fortney went to third on a wild pitch. Fortney scored two plays later when the Muskegon first sacker missed a put-out.

Holland added two more runs in the bottom of the sixth on hits by Fortney and Loren Wenzel, and two walks.

Muskegon tallied its third run in the top of the seventh on two hits.

However, the locals iced the game in the bottom of the seventh with a three-run uprising. Harry DeNeff, Gene Schrotenboer and Whitey Witteveen sparked the attack with singles.

The die-hard Muskegon team tapped Skaalen for two hits and its final run in the top of the eighth.

In brief between-inning ceremonies, Russ Vander Poel presented a baseball, autographed by the entire Dutchmen team, to Pete Hiemenga. Hiemenga voluntarily solicited $157 from local merchants and private individuals to help the local ball team's treasury.

With the expense of new uniforms this season, it was explained, the ball club is having trouble "making out" and Hiemenga's efforts will help considerably.

Festival Songs
Psalms 105-107; 111-118
By Henry Goerlings

There are eleven Psalms in all allotted to our study today. They are listed under the general title of Festival Songs. The reason for this is that these Psalms were used by the Israelites in their services of worship and praise when they gathered in Jerusalem at their annual feasts.

Many of these Psalms are of a historical character and so were admirably suited for large congregational services. The eyes and minds of the people were directed to the things the Lord had done for Israel in the past; and from this they were exhorted to put their trust in Him for the future.

The feasts of the Lord were instituted at Mount Sinai when God gave His law to Israel. There were seven of these feasts in all. The feast of the Passover, the feast of Unleavened Bread, the feast of First Fruits, the feast of Pentecost, the feast of Trumpets, the Day of Atonement and the feast of Tabernacles. There was also the Sabbath. This would make eight altogether; but it is very obvious that the Sabbath occupies a unique place.

There were three great feasts at which each Israelite was bound to appear before the Lord. These were the feast of the Passover, the feast of Pentecost and the feast of Tabernacles. Those men who might happen to be unable to attend at the proper time kept the feast the same day in the succeeding month. On the days of holy convocation all ordinary work was suspended.

The feast of the Passover was the first and the foundation of all the other feasts. It was celebrated in Egypt and it was established then to be an annual event. The central fact of this feast was the unspotted lamb and the sprinkling of the blood upon the lintel and doorposts.

The second feast, the Feast of Unleavened Bread, was an integral part of the Passover. Leaven is always a type of evil, corruption and sin. At the time of the Passover all leaven had to be put out of the houses of the Israelites and none put into their bread. Unleavened is a type of holiness.

This feast was a type of the character of the life and conduct of the believer. He is to live in the energy of the new nature, walking in the Spirit.

The feast of First Fruits is the third. This feast was celebrated at the beginning of the harvest. A sheaf of the first fruits was to be brought to the priest who was to offer it unto the Lord on the morrow after the Sabbath. This was a type of the resurrection of Christ. He rose from the dead on the morrow after the Sabbath. And as the sheaf of first fruits was a pledge and assurance of a full harvest, so our Lord's resurrection is a pledge and assurance of our resurrection.

The fourth feast is the feast of Pentecost, or as it is called, the Feast of Weeks. It was celebrated 50 days after the feast of First Fruits. There were special offerings made at this time. One offering, a meal offering, that was to be offered at this time, contained leaven. That was because it typified the believers during this church age. While they are saved and indwelt by the Spirit, the old nature needs to be reckoned dead.

Fifty days after Christ's resurrection, when the day of Pentecost had come, the Spirit descended out of heaven, baptized and filled the disciples as they were gathered in the upper room. That was the beginning of the church age. It is significant to notice that in connection with this feast as it was ordained, the Gentiles were mentioned.

The fifth feast was the feast of Trumpets. The student will notice that a considerable time elapsed between the last feast and this one. We are back, too, upon Jewish ground. The blowing of trumpets on the first day of the seventh month, precedes the great day of Atonement. It is a call to gather together, to hear and to learn.

The sixth feast is the day of Atonement. This was the great day in Israel when atonement was made for the sins of the nation. It typifies the time when the Lord shall return and Israel will repent, believe and receive Christ as their Messiah and King.

The seventh feast is the feast of Tabernacles which typifies the millennial kingdom of the Lord. Israel was brought into being that she might be a singing nation. From the songs of Moses in Exodus, to the song of Moses and the Lamb in the Revelation, the Holy Spirit has given wings to the hearts of His chosen people.

The Psalmist exhorts all the nations and all the people to praise the Lord. This is a good exhortation for truly the merciful kindness of God is great toward those who know Him.

HERBERT CLARK HOOVER

Herbert Clark Hoover, our thirtieth and only living past president, marks his 75th birthday today. Observances, simple and elaborate, will be held throughout the nation and in many parts of the world.

Few of our young people today know very much about the facts surrounding Mr. Hoover's election to the highest office in the nation 20 years ago. He went into office with the greatest landslide of votes of any president to that time. Four years later he was re-elected by an even greater number of votes. Since that time Mr. Hoover has devoted much of his time to the good of his fellow Americans and to his country.

Herbert Hoover first came to the public notice of this country during World War I, when as food administrator he taught Americans to eat less, something that wouldn't hurt us now. Food thus saved by Hoovering went to feed the hungry of the world.

His career follows a favorite American story—a rise to prominence from humble beginnings. His blacksmith father died when Mr. Hoover was eight years old. He lived with an uncle on a farm in Iowa. Later with another uncle, he lived in the Indian Territory of Oklahoma and finally a third uncle took him to live in Oregon. He was educated in the public schools of Iowa and Oregon and was graduated from Stanford university as an engineer.

He married a college sweetheart and worked throughout the world as a mining engineer, amassing a personal fortune. At 40 he had all the money he wanted and retired to Palo Alto until the call came to serve as food administrator. From then until now, his life has more or less been public property.

His latest achievement is the Hoover commission report on governmental reorganization and he is fighting the fight of his career to remodel the government to save money and increase efficiency.

Friends have arranged a big celebration at Stanford for the former president, who promised a major speech on government waste. We would do well to mark the words of this great American, who was repudiated by his electorate, only to earn a new niche in public favor by his unrelenting adherence to personal principles.

And the former head of his party isn't about rebuking partisans who would use him for their own ends. He stands above partisan politics as he reaches the crest of his life and his latest contribution may well be his greatest.

Congratulations, Mr. President!

Wildlife Survey Would Assay Use Of Lakeshore Land

Wildlife experts may conduct a survey of resources of game and cover on a 4,000-acre tract of lakeshore property in order to advise owners on best methods of encouraging wildlife.

P. J. Hofmaster, conservation director, told 60 owners and friends he would recommend the project to H. D. Ruhl, director of the game division, that the survey be conducted. Ruhl also attended the meeting at Castle park Friday.

W. A. Butler, former conservation commission member and a Castle park summer resident, conducted the meeting and introduced the two conservation experts.

The visitors advised against creation of a sanctuary, because under law the area would be closed by statute for five years, during which time owners would have no control over wildlife. The conservation men recommended that interested owners organize to post their lands and admit hunters on an individual permit basis.

Land owners had advanced the idea of creating a game sanctuary that would extend from the pier at Macatawa park to the pier at Saugatuck. It was proposed that the area extend in width from the lake to the north-south road, half a mile inland. These boundaries would include more than 4,000 acres—roughly three times the legal limit of 1,500 acres for game sanctuaries.

The game men expressed considerable doubt that a sanctuary would accomplish the aims for which the Castle park people are striving.

The meeting was preceded by the showing of two conservation films, showing how excess animals are harvested to prevent starvation.

Carter Brown and E. P. McLean of the Castle were hosts. The meeting was held in the Amphitheater.

Memorial Airpark Ready for Use At Grand Haven

Impressive Dedication Attracts Huge Crowds; Boat Parade Is Climax

Grand Haven, Aug. 11 (Special) —Saturday afternoon, with the sun shining brightly, Grand Haven's Memorial Airpark, which, according to Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr., and verified by Mayor Martin Boon, is "60 hours from any place in the universe" was dedicated with appropriate and impressive ceremonies. Many dignitaries of the Coast Guard and other branches of the armed services were present.

Under command of Lt. Cmdr. Soule T. Bittling, former local boy, the U. S. Naval Reserve squadron staged a spectacular air show with a squadron of 12 planes, together with two "Hell Cats."

Stephen Mead, chairman of the Grand Haven Airpark board, which was formed and organized under direction of the late Mayor Edmund Wilds, opened the dedicatory ceremonies and introduced platform guests. Tom Walsh, vice president of the State Board of Aeronautics, Grand Rapids, master of ceremonies, introduced Noel Fox, special counselor to the governor, who expressed the governor's regrets in not being present; Lester J. Maitland, director of the State Board of Aeronautics, Lindall D. Hale, District Airport Engineer, of the Capitol Airlines, who each gave greetings preceded ing the introduction of Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr.

The dedication of the Airpark was made by Mayor Boon, who introduced two Gold Star Mothers, Mrs. Henry Donker, oldest mother of a deceased veteran of World War I, and Mrs. Edwin D'Oyly, mother of a World War II veteran, who each placed a huge wreath at the plaque. Representatives of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Civil Air Patrol 1, participated in the flag raising ceremony, followed by a salute given by the firing squads of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The Rev. Bernard Brunsting, pastor of the First Reformed church, gave the closing prayer. Small "bombs" were exploded as a closing part of the dedicatory program.

Later spectators witnessed a Coast Guard helicopter demonstration, repeat performance of the Naval Reserve Air Show, and glider demonstration by John Long and the Civil Air Patrol.

Saturday night huge crowds covered the water front for a Venetian parade of cruisers, yachts and other small craft, all elaborately decorated.

His foot was burned, officials said, from battery acid. The car was demolished.

Taken first to Allegan Health Center, the man was removed to Kalamazoo for treatment of the eye injury.

Same Outcome, Different Score Is Dutchmen's Tale

Holland's Dutchmen were flying Monday night, all right—but their aerial tactics were confined to low levels for the most part. Oh, yes, the Dutchmen defeated the Zeeland Chix, 2-0, but the victory wasn't along customary Holland-Zeeland lines.

In the first place, Benny Batema's lads were outthit, 10-4. Then too, they were outfought and, at times, outsmarted by the neighboring nine. But all's well that ends well, and for the sixth straight time this season things ended well for the Dutchmen.

The local crew has handed Zeeland a half dozen setbacks without a defeat. Each game, however, seems to bring the score down and the competitive spirit up. Next time, vow the Chix, the outcome will be different.

In Monday's contest, it took the Holland crew six innings to score a run. Up till then the Dutchmen posted only two hits off the offerings of C. O'Connor and M. Warner.

But in the sixth, Lou Borgman singled to left and took second on an error.

Harry De Neff came through with the necessary punch at that point and Borgman scampered across the plate with the first run. Gene Schrotenboer then scored Larry Wenzel from third on an error.

Borgman provided what little hitting power the Dutchmen possessed. He collected two hits in four times at bat. Mike Skaalen was on the mound for the Flyers, and as usual was up to his strike out best. Skaalen whiffed nine opposing batsmen.

Thursday, the Dutchmen take on Kalamazoo Sutherland for the second time this season. The first contest was won by the out-of-towners, 3-0. Finally Monday will find the localites squaring off against the Cleveland Buckeyes of the Negro American league.

Padnos Dealer in Scrap Material

The Louis Padnos Iron and Metal Co., whose offices are at 120 River Ave., are dealers and brokers in all types of scrap material. One of the functions of the firm is buying and selling premium grades of waste paper.

By producing the highest quality packing, (that is eliminating all dirt and foreign material from the pack) this firm has been able to absorb all the waste paper produced locally. This is quite the exception, for the larger cities are currently experiencing considerable difficulty with the disposal of waste paper due to the quality standards.

The Padnos firm, because of its reputation has expanded its trucking fleet so as to better serve its sources and its mill customers in the Michigan, Indiana and Ohio region.

Padnos Iron and Metal Co., besides their paper business, are active in the iron and steel business. They are principal suppliers to foundries in the southwestern Michigan district, covering a territory from Ludington south to the Chicago district. It is through such direct connections that the Padnos firm is in a competitive position, paying high prices for all scrap material.

Wiping rags, used machinery, used pipe and steel, used electric motors and surplus items are some of the additional lines which this company stocks in its Holland plant. The Eight St. yard, located at 190 East Eighth St., operates as the retail outlet for the used and surplus items for sale to the public.

Slamming Brakes Costs Driver's Life In Ottawa Crash

Nunica Railroad Man Killed as Car Swerves And Tips Over in Ditch

Grand Haven, Aug. 11 (Special)—Slamming on brakes too hard while driving an unfamiliar car proved fatal Thursday, Aug. 4, for 62-year-old Bert Schrader, route 1, Nunica.

Schrader was driving a '37 model car he was contemplating purchasing, accompanied by the owner, Gordon Lachmann, 23, Coopersville. As they approached the Coopersville-Ravenna road while riding four miles north of Coopersville, Lachmann told Schrader to slow down for the turn. Schrader, who was used to driving a much older car, slammed on the brakes, causing the car to go off the road on the right and tip over in a ditch. Schrader was pinned underneath.

He died of a fractured neck and internal injuries, according to Coroner Joseph B. Kammeraad. Undersheriff William Snyder investigated.

Lachmann was treated for bruises at St. Mary's hospital in Grand Rapids and released. Both he and Schrader were employees of the Grand Trunk railroad.

The deceased was born in Abbotford, Wis., and lived in Nunica several years. He was a farmer before working for the railroad. Surviving are the wife, Marie; two brothers, Henry and Robert of Grand Rapids; and three sisters, Lena, Ida and Elizabeth.

The body was taken to the Posthumus funeral home in Coopersville.

Christian Alumni Have Lawn Party

The annual lawn party and program of the Holland Christian High School Alumni association was held Friday night at the high school. The program was presented in the school gymnasium.

Howard Koop was master of ceremonies for the event. The Alumni choir, under the direction of Marvin Baas, sang six numbers. A play, "Indian Giver," was presented by the Alumni Dramatic society. The play was directed by Miss Helen Van Vels. Taking part were the Misses Marcia and Belva Van Tatenhove, Jeanne Kalkman, Sylvia Blystra, Alverne Mast and Norma Piers, Lloyd Wolters and Gary Kaasboer.

Ray Van Hemert, president of the Alumni association, presented a bronze memorial plaque to Dr. Bert P. Bos, superintendent of Christian schools. On the plaque, a gift from the Alumni association, are the names of the four Christian high graduates who gave their lives in World War II, Marvin Lamer, Leonard Vos, Henry Blacqueiere and Kenneth Klansen. The plaque will be placed in the high school hall.

During a business meeting, the group voted to accept as members of the association, persons who attended Christian high school for one year or more but who did not graduate. It was also decided to have a member of the Alumni choir and dramatic society present at the association board meetings.

Dykemas Win, Lose In League Action

The erratic Dykema Tailors won one and lost one the past week in City Softball league competition.

Tuesday night the Needle men were nosed-out by Holland Furnace, 3-2. Then two days later they came back to shut out Baker Furniture, 3-0.

In the early week contest, the Tailors never got started. They were held hitless and scoreless until the sixth inning. Then a single and a pair of walks knotted the count at two-all.

However, Russ Wolfing, Furnace club center fielder, blasted a home run in the eighth inning to ice the game for the Heaters. Herk Cramer, who was on the mound for Dykema, gave up six hits.

Furnace pitcher F. Vanden Belt, meanwhile, gave up but one single to Tailor batsmen.

Thursday's game was a different story—for Dykema, anyway. The Tailors marked time until the fourth inning, but then they exploded with a three-run attack that proved to be more than the needed run total.

The uprising was initiated by Tony Westerhof who walked to open the frame. Walt Wlodarczyk singled him to third and Cramer cleared the sacks with a triple.

Cramer, incidentally, issued only two hits while walking three and striking out four. Elmer Ribbens was on the mound for the Furniture club. He gave up three hits.

Rotary Club Speaker Discusses Geopolitics

C. Freeman Lattimer, Muskegon attorney, spoke to the Rotary club Thursday at the Castle. Speaking on "Geopolitics and the Western Hemisphere," he explained that geopolitics is the strategic study of men, space and materials, and involves climate, geographic location, resources and political and social make up.

Until today, Lattimer explained power politics has been based on the teachings of Gen. Hansofer and Sir Halford MacKinder. They taught that whoever controls eastern Europe, controls the heartland, which consists of most of Russia, Afghanistan, Iran and West China; and whoever controls the heartland, controls the world island—Europe, Asia and Africa. Then, who rules the world island, rules the world.

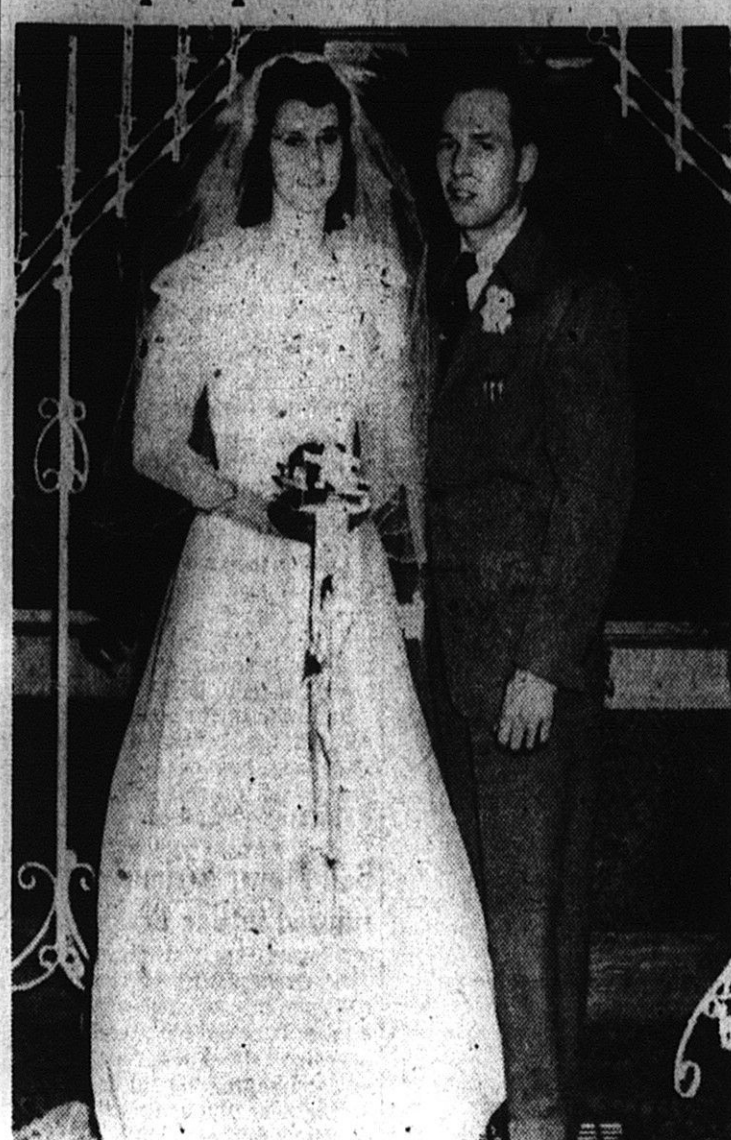

The heartland concept is now giving way to a new concept that the world island is North America, with the Arctic area as the heartland, the speaker said. However, this concept is valid only if we hold Western Europe and Pacific bases; arming the United States alone will not do it. This new concept must form the basis for our foreign policy, he concluded.

Lattimer was a lieutenant colonel with the fourth and seventh armored divisions with Gen. Patton's Army during the war.

Dykema Tailors Overpower VFW In City Softball

Hapless Baker Men Baked by Heated Rays Of Holland Furnace

Dykema Tailors waded into VFW Tuesday night in the first of two City Softball league encounters. The score book read: Dykema 7, VFW 1.

The Tailors posted two runs in the third to open game scoring. Gil Bos, after singling, got a base path push to third on three Veteran errors.

Chet Johnson's fielder's choice and Wes Vryhof's one base blow accounted for the other inning marker.

Again in the fourth the Stitch men added a run, this time thanks to Walt Wlodarczyk and his timely single.

Finally, Dykema shoved over three tallies in the sixth on a single by Bos and a triple by Ben Jansen. Jansen, incidentally, got credit for the win. He gave up five hits and fanned a like number.

In the other league matching, Holland Furnace and Baker Furniture took the Fourth St. field. If the score is any indication, however, it was some time before Baker was able to leave the pastures. The Furnace crew turned in a withering 18-0 setback.

The tirade of runs didn't begin until the second inning. Then five markers were recorded along with six in the third, one in the fourth and fifth, three in the sixth and two in the seventh.

F. Vanden Belt, on the mound for the Heaters, turned in a sparkling performance, striking out nine and allowing but one hit.

Farmers Anxious To Lower Costs

With lower milk prices, dairy farmers are naturally looking for ways to cut costs on their farms. Ottawa County agricultural agent, L. R. Arnold has some information from C. R. Hogland, Michigan State college agricultural economist, on housing costs.

Under four major topics, the economist list ways to lower costs. They are: improved forage production, more efficient feeding, better work methods, and more economical housing.

Housing, the last item, is an item which agent Arnold believes offers an opportunity for money saving.

The cost of housing a dairy cow has averaged about $10 a year in recent years. This includes repairs, depreciation, and an interest charge on the investment. This figure obtained from a study carried on the Detroit Milk Shed, is conservative, the economists point out, since very few barns have been built in recent years and repairs have been kept at a minimum. The inventory values of barns on the farms studied averaged about $3,500 or slightly over $200 invested per cow.

New barns are costing from $400 to $600 per animal for the conventional stanchion barn. Pen-type milking parlor barns are often being constructed for less through the use of new building techniques.

Some of the same new techniques which apply to the construction of pen-type barns can be adapted for stanchion barns. While a barn should be sturdy enough to stand weather and normal use, agent Arnold believes farmers should investigate the opportunities of using different construction methods or materials when building new or remodeling old barns.

Citizens' Group Will Co-operate In School Election

The Citizens' School committee will be revamped for the coming school election in November, the Board of Education was informed at its monthly meeting Monday night.

In keeping with a suggestion of Dr. Lester J. Kuyper, previous chairman of the committee, the revamped committee will consist of three representatives of each of the five PTA's as well as three representative parents of Junior high and Holland high schools. The committee on schools was authorized to appoint three other persons as members-at-large. The election will be held Nov. 2 requesting 4 mills for seven years for elementary buildings.

The appointment of Mrs. Dale Klomparsen of Holland, the former Lois Chateau of Binghamton, N. Y., as elementary teacher for the coming term was approved. She attended high school in Rochester, N. Y., and Brockport State Teachers' college and University of Rochester. She taught at Interlaken, N. Y., two years and at Binghamton two years.

The board approved action of the buildings and grounds committee to award contract for erecting a storage building with sanitary facilities at the 26th St. athletic field to John Van Dyke for $9,786.

The board also approved a recommendation to buy bath towels and furnish them for a fee to those students taking physical education. As a start, 150 dozen towels will be purchased at an approximate cost of $1,400. Exact fee to student has not been determined. The fee will cover laundry service and a small amount toward replacement.

A tentative "philosophy of education for Holland public schools" was submitted to board members for discussion and suggestions. It was compiled by a committee consisting of Joan Vander Werf, Minnie Butler, Carolyn Hawes, Bernice Bishop, R. E. Chapman, J. J. Riemersma and Supt. C. C. Crawford.

Announcement was made that because of discharges and low enrollment of the orthopedic program, the orthopedic room will be combined with the lowered vitality room for the new term. Martha Bird will be the teacher. Four years ago, the orthopedic department operated two rooms.

Ottawa Important As Agricultural County in State

Great Production of Livestock and Crops Overlooked by Many

Most residents of Ottawa county fail to realize its importance as an agricultural county, remarks L. R. Arnold.

Ottawa county is a comparatively small county with only 17 townships, some of these having much non-agricultural land. Despite this, the farming area shows tremendous production of farm products.

In 1948 there were 35,800 head of livestock on Ottawa farms, 22,000 of these milk cows. Farmers have almost discontinued the raising of sheep with less than 1,000 reported for the year. A total of 1,810 sows farrowed giving a production of thousands of pigs.

In crops, hay takes the lead in acres harvested—42,000 acres. Most of this is needed to feed the livestock. In grain crops, corn is king with 41,000 acres, 1,288,000 bushels. Oats come next with 32,000 acres, 1,152,000 bushels. Many farmers have felt that wheat is too good in the rotation. However, most Ottawa farmers do raise wheat. Acreage in 1948 was 28,000 with almost 700,000 bushels harvested. Winter barley is grown in small amounts, only 600 acres.

Records show only 60 acres of soybeans. Ottawa is too far north to get good results with this crop. The poultry enterprise is important with over 600,000 laying fowls. Over 50 hatcheries operate in the county, putting out chicks and poults by the millions. The turkey enterprise has developed rapidly with a few growers who produce upwards of 10,000 turkeys per year.

Over 2,000 acres of cucumbers are grown annually. Such truck crops as celery, onions, spinach, asparagus, head lettuce help to diversify the industry. Many acres are used for production of flowers.

Several townships are important tree fruit sections. Several cold storage structures have been built in recent years. Small fruits help to add to the farmers' income. Blueberry production has now increased until about 500 acres are planted.

Ottawa ranks about 10th in Michigan as an agricultural county. The industry is well diversified so that farmers are pretty well protected, a much different situation than is found in some sections.

Fillmore's Rally Dumps Meyer's

Meyer's North Shore Cubs spluttered and coughed threateningly last week, but that didn't fool Fillmore Creamery. The Dairy-men won the Wooden Shoe league contest, 5-4.

The North Shore crew looked like a sure bet until things started popping in the fifth inning. They uncorked a three-run attack in the third frame to hold a lead going into the "fatal fifth."

In that stanza, however, Fillmore posted five tallies in an up-rising led by Walt Wodarczyk who tripled with the bases loaded. Meyer's came back gamely in the seventh inning to score one more run. However, the Miller's margin was too much to overcome.

Czerkies and Kool shared battery duties for the winners, while C. Reimink and H. Waterway were on the hill and behind the plate respectively for Meyer's.

Reimink gave up six hits and two walks, at the same time striking out nine. Czerkies, meanwhile, allowed five safeties, three walks and struck out seven.

Merchants Bow To Main Auto

A four-hit, five-run uprising in the fourth inning gave Main Auto a 6-4 victory over Holland Merchants Friday night.

Until the bottom half of that frame, however, the Merchants had been riding a three-run lead. Three walks and a wild pitch in the first provided the Retailers with one marker.

Then in the top half of the fourth, the Merchants cooked two more runs, led by Paul Cook's single, another wild pitch and a pair of errors.

Main, however, hitless until then, suddenly came to life in its half of the inning. Roddy Maat singled along with Howie Glucker, G. Van Langevelde and Marv Tubbergen to produce five big runs.

The Auto men scored again in the sixth on an attack led by Tubbergen's second single. The Merchants posted another run in the seventh.

John Bos was on the mound for the winners. He limited his opposition to three hits while striking out nine, including all three men in the fifth inning.

Vern Sikkema led the tossing for the Merchants. He was touched for nine safeties.

Inspectors Protecting State Cherry Orchards

For several seasons official Howard tests have been made by Michigan department of agriculture inspectors on fruit of the pincherry. Often the pincherries are found to be heavily infested with cherry fruit fly maggots, according to C. A. Boyer, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry, who says that sometimes as many as 20 maggots are found to a pint of the fruit.

The pincherry, besides being in right-of-ways of the highway, is frequently found on the farmers' properties, and its prompt removal is urgently recommended to eliminate the hazard of the cherry fruit fly infesting the state's valuable cherry orchards.

It has also been found that the common chokecherry is a favorite host plant for X-disease of cherries, which is gradually going from the wild chokecherry to the cultured sour cherry trees.

Bangs Program Begun in County

The Bangs program in progress in Ottawa county started July 6. The laboratory is located at Zeeland at the County Garage.

W. F. Waddell of Grand Rapids, is in charge of the program. One full-time technician with assistants handles the laboratory work and nine practicing veterinarians do the field work.

To date, over 4,000 samples have been run. In some localities the prevalence of the disease is more pronounced than in others. Every farm in the county is to be visited.

At present, veterinarians are concentrating on the east side of the county.

This program was instituted through action of the board of supervisors which requested such action years ago but due to the fact the state program called for work in northern counties first, Ottawa and other southern counties could not be handled.

Holland Vets Fall To Muskegon Nine

Holland's VFW of the City Softball league ran afoul Friday night of two things. One was its non-league opponent Muskegon VFW, the others the Vets pitcher Portinga. The Holland crew lost 7-3.

This Portinga didn't help one bit. In the first place, he gave up only three hits. In addition, he slammed out a three-run homer in the fourth innings that all but cinched the game for his mates.

The local club broke into the scoring column first, in the second inning. De Young singled, took second on a pass ball, third on an infield out. Then an error that put Allen on first scored the Holland first baseman.

The community nine tallied twice more in the sixth frame on Wehrmeyer's single, a pair of wild pitches and an error.

Muskegon, meanwhile, posted a pair of markers in the second, four in the fourth and one in the fifth.

Botsis and Berkompas shared pitching duties for Holland, giving up a total of eight hits. Wehrmeyer led local batters with a perfect two for two.

Dutchmen Notch Another

Holland's Flying Dutchmen journeyed to South Haven Saturday to take on the Independents there. Manager Benny Batema's lads staged a free-scoring attack that downed the neighboring club, 10-5. Harry De Neff collected three hits to aid Lou Humbert, on the mound for the Dutchmen, in getting credit for the win.

An Englishman named Walton is credited with having invented linoleum in 1860.

Keep Laying Flock Supplied with Water

Keeping plenty of water before the laying flock is important on summer days, says extension poultrymen at Michigan State college.

High egg production increases the need for water since eggs have a large water content. Pullets are known to increase their water consumption when the temperature climbs.

Because water is so necessary in a good poultry program and because it adds to the labor when carried to the hen house, the poultrymen advise running water where it is possible. A number of fountains and watering devices are on the market or the farmer handy with tools can construct his own.

First Aid Hints For Sunstroke

With high temperatures during the rush of the harvest season, Ottawa county agricultural agent L. R. Arnold, warns farmers to guard against heatstroke and sunstroke.

Sunstroke results from prolonged exposure to the rays of the sun. Heatstroke may result from excessive heat without exposure to the sun. The effects are the same in both cases. Some of the symptoms that may appear are: hot and dry skin, face red and flushed, high temperature, intense headache, breathing hard and loud, and pupils enlarged but of equal size. Unconsciousness may follow in severe cases.

The following suggestions are recommended for treatment when an individual is stricken with sunstroke or heatstroke.

1. Move to a cool shady place, strip to the underclothing, lay on back with head and shoulders raised.

2. Apply ice or cold cloths to head, cool the body gradually. Gently rub limbs toward the heart.

3. After several minutes treatment observe patient. If skin becomes hot again, resume treatment.

4. If conscious, give cool drinks, not ice cold. Do not give stimulants.

5. Get the patient to a physician as soon as possible. Continue treatment on the way.

With heat exhaustion, the patient is cold and clammy, unlike sunstroke. With heat exhaustion, he should be kept in a reclined position, given salt, and made warm.

Frozen Meals Cut Time in Kitchen

Wishing you had more free time to spend in your yard and garden these nice warm days? One way to find it is to cut down on the amount of time spent in your kitchen.

Saving time on food preparation is one of the easiest ways to get out of your kitchen. Mary Katherine Knight, frozen foods researcher at Michigan State college, suggests the use of your home freezer to simplify meals.

Preparing cooked or baked foods for freezer storage is not difficult and your freezer can be a treasure house of ready-to-eat meals. You'll find it helpful to freeze foods that require long preparation, and need little more work to prepare in quantity than in small amounts.

Combination dishes are ideal for storage and can be served quickly from your freezer. Stews, chicken a la king, baked beans, and meat balls in tomato sauce are good for freezing. Cook the meat and vegetables until barely tender. This avoids overcooking when reheating. Do not use potatoes or rice for they do not freeze well.

Cool the foods quickly and put just enough for one meal into moisture-vapor-proof packages. Freeze immediately. Keep a record of what you have frozen and when you froze it. Don't keep it frozen too long.

For freezing oaked goods, select a reliable recipe and use the best ingredients. Double action baking powder may give you a product with greater volume.

Purchase Contract Offers Advantages To Wheat Raisers

Farmers harvesting wheat and placing it in storage on their own farms should consider loan or purchase agreements with the Commodity Credit Corp., Michigan State college agricultural economists advise.

Farmers needing ready cash may want to obtain a government loan after the wheat is in farm storage. However, if cash is not needed, economists believe the purchase agreement is less costly and does not prevent the farmer from selling or feeding his grain.

Clarence Prentice, MSC grain marketing specialist, says farmers may obtain the purchase agreement from county AAA offices. It costs the farmer one-half cent a bushel or a minimum of $1.50. Under this agreement, the government simply promises to buy the grain next May 1 at the support price. The grain remains the property of the farmer and he can sell it or feed it at any time without even notifying the government. He can also borrow on the grain through regular lending agencies.

The farmer may wait until Jan. 31, 1950, to complete either the loan or purchase agreement. Most farmers who want loans, however, are expected to make application as soon as possible, which is 30 days after the wheat has been placed in farm storage. If the farmer wants only a purchase agreement, MSC economists see no need for immediate action as the farmer has until Jan. 31, 1950, to place it under purchase agreement.

Prentice says his surveys show that very little space is available in commercial storage this year and that farmers would do well to contact their county AAA offices for information on loan or purchase agreements.
