Only Want Canal Revenue, Egyptian Student Tells Club

"It's not butter we want, it's bread," an Egyptian journalist told a Rotary Club luncheon at the Castle Thursday.

Saad El-Dine Abdou, in this country on grants from the University of Michigan, the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the Michigan Press Association, is spending three months on the news staff of The Holland Evening Sentinel. He is a graduate student at the University of Michigan.

Abdou told the group that Egypt seized the Suez Canal only after the United States had withdrawn its offer of financial aid, and wished only to secure the revenue the canal can bring.

The canal was not considered important by the British when it was evacuated, he said, and now, as it has always been assumed, it is Egypt's responsibility to defend the canal. Abdou said that Premier Nasser would respect that obligation.

Speaking of Communism, Abdou said there is no danger of Egypt turning Communist. He said that Communist propaganda reaches only 25 percent of the people, and that the teachings of Islam, the Egyptian religion, opposes Communistic principals.

United States policy in the Middle East, he added, is based on the policies and actions of the Soviet Union, and is divided into two elements, the external and internal.

At the external level, he pointed out the 14 bases the Western allies have constructed for the defense of the area.

The internal element is more humanitarian, he said, designed to help the peoples of the Middle East to help themselves.

He described the Egyptian attitude toward the influences of Communism and the West as merely a desire for peace and for the raising of the Egyptian standard of living.

Commission Will Request $200,000 to Fix Roads

The Ottawa County Road Commission will request appropriations of $200,000 from the County Board of Supervisors in October to meet demands for greater load carrying capacity on county roads and other improvements, Henrik E. Stafseth, engineer-manager of the road commission has announced.

All state trunklines in the county are permitted to carry weight up to 6,000 pounds for one tandem axle on a truck, Stafseth said, but the primary and local roads permit normal loads only.

Most county roads are so constructed that they could be improved to allow heavier loads to be carried, without having to completely rebuild the roads, but Stafseth said that there are about 50 miles of primary roads in the county that should be blacktopped before any consideration is given to improvements permitting the heavier loads.

It was also pointed out that some county bridges need replacing and that some of the primary roads need widening. For these reasons Stafseth said that the road commission will ask for a continuing program of improvement rather than a one-year plan.

Expert Checking For Elm Disease

The State Department of Agriculture is sending experts all over the state to inspect elm trees in urban areas for signs of Dutch elm disease.

Lyman McLouth, is checking elm trees in five counties, Ionia, Montcalm, Kent, Ottawa, and Muskegon. He is now visiting Holland and will be in Muskegon next week.

McLouth surveyed the city yesterday to select the areas he intends to check. Five areas in the city will be checked today. Elm disease, however, cannot be fully identified except by taking species from suspected trees, pending other scientific examination.

Elm disease can be detected by making a culture which is examined closely under the microscope to indicate definitely whether there is any evidence of disease. Experts, however, would suspect any tree carrying yellow or brown leaves in this time of the year, or trees having brown discoloration and streaking under the bark of branches or spots in the back of the bark.

Dutch elm disease hinders the circulatory system, cutting water and food supply from branches. It is a fungus disease.

According to McLouth, Holland never had infection in previous years because the city is doing a thing which no other city does. Trees are always sprayed before disease starts.

McLouth will send samples from five areas in the city to the laboratory at Michigan State University although he said only one tree on 29th St., is a suspect. A yellow tag is placed on the trees inspected.

Girl Without License Charged After Accident

Kathy Ring, 15, of 1112 Center Dr., St. Louis, Mo., has been charged by Ottawa county deputies with driving without an operator's license after the car she was operating hit a parked car in front of Jesiek's Shipyard's last night.

The car, owned by Reemer Boersma of 566 Lawndale Ct., was damaged to the extent of $300, investigating officer Len Ver Schure said.

Election Sidelights

Broadcasting election returns direct from The Sentinel newsroom was a happy innovation Tuesday evening. WHTC listeners got the latest reports faster than ever before, and they shared in the hustle-bustle of election activities in one of the busiest nights of the year for any newspaper.

Besides that, it cut down on direct calls to The Sentinel and left telephone lines open for persons calling in the vote. There have been occasions when reporters were stymied in getting through.

All in all, such service on election night is likely to be repeated.

Voting got-off to a slow start Tuesday, but picked up shortly after 5 p.m. when for the first time lines began to form. One election worker described it thus: "Things were so slow all day and we were hoping to hit 200 by the end of the day. Then the people surged in after 5 and when we were done we had 325 voters!"

Most everybody agrees that voting machines are a big improvement over the mountains and barrels of ballots, but there's still considerable public education needed. Of the total vote cast in Holland of 3,172, some 300 to 400 votes are missing in totals of the top positions. Best guess is that some people think they are voting a straight ticket when they pull down the Republican or Democratic lever at the bottom of the machine, and fail to pull down the other levers. The straight ticket as such is voted only in final elections. Wait for November for that.

The first ward with John Kempker as competent top man on the election board was first to report the vote to City Clerk Clarence Grevenoged Tuesday night sometime after 8:30 p.m. First precinct of ward five was the first to turn in complete reports and supplies to the city clerk's office at 9:25 p.m.

Returns were just a little later than usual Tuesday night, mainly because new laws require that all absentee ballots be transferred to voting machines AFTER the polls have closed. Previously, election inspectors were allowed to do such work during off periods of the day.

Another twist requires that all reports and supplies be turned in to the county clerk's office in Grand Haven at the close of the election.

Two Are Arraigned In Municipal Court

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Municipal Court today suspended a $15 fine and $5.10 costs levied against Mrs. Gloria Washburn, 22, Pontiac, who was charged with simple larceny. Instead the court put Mrs. Washburn on probation for six months.

The defendant, an expectant mother who lives with her four children in a 1951 car at the oval while her husband is working on a construction job in Grand Haven, allegedly took a 39-cent box of candy and a 25-cent chalk board plate from a Grand Haven store Wednesday.

Walter Iwaniec, 40, route 1, Alendale, was arraigned in Municipal Court today on a rape charge, and Prosecutor James W. Bussard requested an examination which was set Aug. 20 at 2 p.m. Bond of $1,000 was not furnished. The alleged offense involving a 17-year-old girl occurred about March 29 in Tallmadge township. Sheriff's officers made the arrest.

Former Holland Man Named to School Post

GOBLES (Special) — Robert Vandenberg former superintendent of schools in Baroda, has been appointed as Gobles superintendent, Glenn T. Miller, secretary of the Gobles board of education, announced today.

Vandenberg replaces Victor Pearson, whose contract was cancelled by the board last month. The new superintendent took office Tuesday and has contracted to remain through 1958.

A 1939 graduate of Hope College, Vandenberg received his master's degree at the University of Michigan in 1951 and has done additional work toward his doctorate at Michigan and Harvard.

Building Proposal Margin Down to 35

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — The Ottawa County canvassing board which has been canvassing Tuesday's primary vote announced today that the building proposal passed by 35 votes, six short of the unofficial count Tuesday night.

The official vote listed for proposal No. 1 follows: yes, 4,131; no, 4,096. The vote on proposal No. 2 remains the same with 4,756 in favor and 3,393 against.

election. That meant that City Clerk Clarence Grevenoged had to make a trip to Grand Haven after he had checked in all local supplies.

City election workers were profuse in their praise of new election supplies this year which included compact new cases, special pencil boxes and other equipment which included ballpoint pens for listing names of voters.

The new metal boxes replaced old, old "telescope" boxes complete with straps which one inspector said belonged in a museum. He had contended with the same broken strap for as many years as he could remember.

Only casualty of the evening was Larry Wade who skinned a knuckle on a sharp edge.

There's nothing like a good pot of coffee in a newsroom to keep the spirits going fine on election night. This was balanced beautifully by a luscious cake baked by Ardeane Geerlings, wife of Senator Clyde H. Geerlings.

Notice the election chart in today's issue? That convenient little chart is being clipped by more and more persons interested in politics and political trends. Politics is getting to be more and more of a science, and a complete report of a county vote is a valuable asset.

Ottawa county takes pride in that it is one of the few counties in Michigan to be fully mechanized for elections... and what a blessing that is when you begin to fill in charts. Allegan has a good start with 13 out of 34 precincts having voting machines. These include Allegan city, Plainwell, Otsego and Gunplain and Fillmore townships.

County Clerk Anna Van Horssen had all praise for the election workers throughout the county. She said complete unofficial returns were all in by 11 p.m., a near record for the county. All she could say was "thanks to everyone."

During the busy few hours after the polls closed, a resident called and wanted to know about the Antique Show at Grand Haven. It was quite a refrain from the "How's the sheriff's race coming" and "How's the Cobo - Leonard race" routine.

Sheriff Outdraws Foe by a Margin Of Almost 2-to-1

Sheriff Jerry Vanderbeek emerged victorious in his fight for the Republican nomination for sheriff in Tuesday's primary election by defeating his lone opponent, Clayton W. Forry, Sr., by a majority of almost 2 to 1. The unofficial vote in the county's 43 precincts gave Vanderbeek 6,212 votes and Forry 3,608.

The county proposal for raising one mill on equalized valuation for four years to build new buildings squeaked through by the unofficial margin of 41 votes. It was this vote which see-sawed throughout the evening as votes were tabulated for the county's 43 precincts. The total vote listed 4,131 yes and 4,096 nos. A companion proposal to shift some $81,000 in available funds to the sinking fund passed 4,756 to 3,393.

In the only other contest on the county ballot, Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo defeated Donald S. Leonard by much the same 2 to 1 ratio which existed over the state. Ottawa's total vote listed Gerald Vanderbeek, 6,054 for Cobo and 3,288 for Leonard.

All in all, Tuesday's vote was higher than what many a seasoned politician in the county expected, and when the final tally was in, more than 11,000 had gone to the polls in the county. But throughout the day, the vote was slow and the upsurge came after 5 p.m. when for the first time lines formed at many precincts.

U. S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford led the ticket in both the county and the city, a favored spot he has held in many elections. He polled 2,134 votes in Holland city and 8,222 in the county.

As expected, Gov. G. Mennen Williams led the Democratic ticket in both county and city, polling 1,459 in the county and 280 in Holland city. There was no opposition of any kind on the county Democratic ticket.

The canvassing board started work today at 11 a.m. in the court house, and Chairman Peter Damstra of Holland said the work would proceed slowly and deliberately, particularly on the canvass of the vote on the county proposals. Other members of the county canvassing board are Kent Hastings of Coopersville and Hilmer Dickman of Zeeland. The work is expected to be completed in two or three days.

Total vote in Holland city was 3,172, compared with a primary vote of some 2,500 in 1954 and about 3,300 in 1952. The breakdown in Holland's nine precincts follows: first ward, 305; second ward, 448; third ward, 401; fourth ward, first precinct, 294; fourth ward, second precinct, 401; fifth ward, first precinct, 320; fifth ward, second precinct, 325; sixth ward, first precinct, 275; sixth ward, second precinct, 405.

The county proposal for new buildings involves raising one mill on equalized valuation for four years. This amount plus the $61,000 transferred to the sinking fund in a companion proposal will provide some $705,000 over the period. Plans call for a $140,000 addition to the court house in Grand Haven, a $90,000 branch office in Holland, a $75,000 detention home for the county, and a new $400,000 jail.

Voters will face another proposal in the November election to clarify a limitation question. Some school officials have questioned the constitutional 15-mill limitation, and the November proposal involves raising the limitation.

Tuesday's voters also voted on county delegates for both Republican and Democratic parties. Final results were not immediately available today.

Mrs. H. S. Dwight Spending 55th Summer in Old Waukazoo Cottage

Because her father caught a huge muskie in Lake Macatawa in 1902, Mrs. H. S. Dwight of Pasadena, Calif., is spending her 55th summer in a Waukazoo cottage.

Dr. Derrick Vail, a Cincinnati eye doctor, rented a boat to go fishing that day, and when he caught the giant fish, he decided to buy the cottage near what he called "the best fishing spot in the whole lake."

The cottage, one of the oldest on Lake Macatawa, was built by Gerrit Post more than 60 years ago. It is a three-story building, located on Gold's Point and is complete with an ice house, a pump house and a boathouse, although none of these smaller buildings now is used for its original purpose.

The ice house, where Mrs. Dwight remembers storing ice chopped from the lake in sawdust, is now a garage.

The pump house has been converted into a tiny "hermitage" where Mrs. Dwight's son, Edward, used to study art while his friends were engaged in more rowdy kinds of fun. Edward, who is now 37, is the Director of the Milwaukee Art Institute, one of the youngest men in the country to hold such a position.

The boathouse had to be moved five feet closer to the house in 1952, when the lake rose higher and threatened to wash it away. Now it is a cottage in itself, with bunk beds and dressers, where Mrs. Dwight's grandson, Mike, spends his time. The large old doors have been altered so they swing conventionally instead of overhead, and the place opens directly onto the lake.

The main cottage was remodeled by Dr. Vail shortly after he purchased it. The work was done by William Rottschaefer of Central Park, who commuted across the lake to do the job. The thick walnut beams they put in are still brand new, as far as their appearance goes.

Mrs. Dwight recalls that there were five other places on the North Side when she first came here. Then, the present lobby of the Waukazoo Inn was the only part built.

She said she remembered rowing across the lake to Central Park where she would wait for the mailman to come riding up on his horse. There was no postal service on the North Side then, and apparently no stores either, as she also had to bring back the milk.

When it was time to go to Holland, they would get into the "Rosalind," named for Mrs. Dwight, and motor to the Harrington coal dock. The "Rosalind" was a two-cylinder launch, and its flag still hangs in the old boathouse. Its bell calls the grandchildren to supper from its place on the front door, one of the six doors into the cottage.

Inside the cottage are the accumulated treasures of Mrs. Dwight's 55 years of resorting. On the third floor, which is half bedroom and half attic, there is the cradle in which her late husband was rocked as a baby, and an ancient, complicated-looking wicker baby buggy.

Since Mrs. Dwight and Edward are artists, as are many other members of the family, there are paintings all over depicting scenes around the cottage, still life, and imaginary works, both in oils and water colors.

One of Mrs. Dwight's possessions is a map of Holland and the Holland Harbor drawn in 1908 by Maj. Charles Keller of the Army Corps of Engineers. She would like to find someone interested in the framed map, as she can't take it to Pasadena with her, and has no place for it in the cottage.

One of the most humorous incidents in the cottage's history happened many years ago when it was being wired for the first time. Mrs. Dwight said the workers came running out of the house crying, "There's been a murder in here!" The electricians had uncovered a skeleton used by Dr. Vail in his medical work.

VFW Wins 19th Game; Mobilgas Edges Moose Nine

The VFW pounded out 12 hits for 18 runs Thursday night to easily chalk up win No. 19 in 20 starts in City Softball League play at Van Tongeren Field.

The Vets trampled Bareman's Service, 13-2 to leave the Service nine with a 13-8 record, good enough for third place.

Mobilgas handed the Moose a one-run loss, winning 2-1 in the other contest.

The VFW jumped on Bareman starter Rog Lamar for four runs in the top of the first inning on two hits, including a double by Al Glupker.

One more VFW run crossed in the second on a single and error combination and another scored in the third on a similar combination.

They turned the game into a rout with seven runs in the fifth inning. Five hits, including a triple by Howie Glupker that brought home three runs, were made in the inning plus three Bareman errors.

Bareman's scored its two runs in the fourth inning on three singles and an error.

Six hits were made by Bareman's with Lou Borgman, Ron Bekius, Ted Schreier, Lamar, Joe Berens and Norm Bos getting the hits.

Single runs in the second and third innings proved enough for Mobilgas to win over the Moose.

However, the Moose threatened in the seventh with a single run and had a man on third, but Mobilgas pitcher John Van Iwaarden got the side retired without further damage.

Don De Vries scored the first run. He was safe on an error, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and home on a wild pitch.

Gord Sluiter walked to lead off the third. He moved around to third on infield outs and home on a single by De Vries.

Ed Stille singled to lead off the Moose seventh. He was pushed to second by a Les Doorneweerd's single and moved over to third when Bill Zych was hit by a pitched ball. Stille scored on a walk to Stub Wiersma, after Jim Doorneweerd had popped out.

Then Van Iwaarden bore down and got the next two men to fly out.

Mobilgas made only two hits off Matt Numikoski, singles by De Vries and Ron Bulthuis.

The Moose made three hits. Stille had one and Les Doorneweerd had two.

Inn Guests Entertained In Hawaiian Atmosphere

Waukazoo Inn held one of the most successful and colorful parties in a long line of parties Friday night. Motif for the evening was Hawaii and it was carried out both in decorations and menu.

A simulated gang plank took guests from the lobby into the dining room where the pillars had become palm trees and fish nets were hanging from walls and ceilings to make it a true Polynesian atmosphere. Exotic statues brought to Waukazoo by Mrs. Judge Everett from her many trips around the world were used on the fireplace and Hawaiian flowers were used in profusion.

Syl Paulus had these lovely anthuriums and birds of paradise flown in from Honolulu especially for the party. Lucian Paulus, a former Hollander, and brother of Mr. Paulus, handled the selection from the Honolulu end.

As a crowning touch, each guest was presented a colorful vanda, delicate orchid so popular on Oahu.

Waukazoo youngsters dressed in Hawaiian costumes to vie for the prizes. Jill and Ricky Koehler, children of Lt. and Mrs. Frederick Koehler of Dayton, Ohio, tied for first prize.

During the dinner which featured special fruit salads, rice and other Hawaiian delicacies, guests were served by the Inn's waitresses appropriately dressed in Hawaiian costumes. The proverbial beachcomber was Merwyn Elliott of Lapeer who was busboy for the evening. Manager Paulus was costumed in a Polynesian play suit in his role of greeter.

More than 100 diners and some special guests enjoyed the party. Hawaiian music was played throughout the meal.

After dinner guests returned over the gang plank to the ballroom where they danced to the music of Tompkins' Tunesmiths. Mrs. Dorothy Daggett, the Inn's hostess, and her daughter, Leslie, were in charge of arrangements. They were assisted by Mrs. Mary Louise Taylor, who is at the desk, and the entire Waukazoo Inn staff.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Gold, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Diekema, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kirchman and Mrs. Jerry O'Shea of Holland, Mr. and Mrs. William Telling of Hinsdale, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Benson of Chicago, Major William Grunby of De Ray, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Aves of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Irene Noonan of Cincinnati and Mr. and Mrs. John Eaton of Phoenix, Ariz.

Walter Runkel

Cobo and Runkel Lead in Allegan

ALLEGAN (Special)—Allegan county's 34 precincts had a rather average election Tuesday which attracted just under 6,000 voters, described by seasoned politicians as slightly below average.

Allegan Republicans pretty well followed the lead all over Michigan by favoring Albert E. Cobo over Donald S. Leonard, 2,673 to 1,724, in the nomination for governor.

Only other Republican contests left Sheriff Walter Runkel victorious over Clayton Brenner of Monterey, 3,769 to 659. In the drain commissioner race, Earl Jennings won over Joe Roeboum, 2,108 to 1,966. Incumbent Bill Teed did not seek reelection.

There were several Democratic races. The hottest contest was for nomination of U.S. Representative for the fourth district in which Arthur M. Young received 799 votes and Stanley O. Clark, 777. The winner of the district will oppose Rep. Clare E. Hoffman in the November election.

In the state senator race, Major W. Seery polled 809 and Tom Surprise, 741. The victor will oppose State Senator Edward Hutchinson. For state representative, Carl Winslow defeated R. W. Vander Hoff, 858 to 678, and will oppose incumbent Ben Lohman.

South Haven's 'Smoky' Homer Defeats Dutchmen

South Haven pushed across four runs in the eighth inning and crushed a three-run Holland lead to take a 6-5 win in Southwestern Michigan Baseball League play at Riverview Park Monday night.

The win puts South Haven back in first place in the league with a 6-1 record and leaves Holland in third with a 2-6 mark.

In the South Haven eighth, McCoughan led off with a walk and Palanca followed with the same. Hamlin singled to score McCoughan.

Behind 5-3, then came a "smoky" home run that turned the trick.

Bud Campbell pinch hit for Manager Sherm Stone and lofted a high fly to left field.

Morris Witteveen, Dutch left-fielder, lost the ball as a heavy cloud of smoke covered the outfield caused by a fire at the City Dump, and Campbell scampered around the bases behind his two teammates before Witteveen found the ball.

Prince got the side retired on three infield plays and that was the ball game.

The Merchants opened the evening with two runs on one hit in the first inning. Payson led off with a walk and after being advanced to third scored on an error that left Hamlin safe on first. Wenban singled Hamlin home.

The Dutchmen came roaring back in the third inning and made five runs on three hits. Dwayne Teusink and Norm Witteveen walked and then Bob Van Dyke singled.

Whitey Witteveen cleared the bases with a triple. Tony Wentzel walked and Dick Plagenhoef singled to score both runs.

But after that the Dutchmen couldn't buy a run.

Kristen the South Haven starter, was replaced by Wally Wilt in the third with two men on.

After the two-run first inning, Gerry Prince settled down and pitched shutout ball for the six innings, allowing only two innings.

By then came the fateful eighth. South Haven made six hits off Prince with Palanca leading with two.

Holland also had six safeties with Plagenhoef leading with two hits. Teusink, Van Dyke, Whitey Witteveen, and Wentzel had the other hits.

Line score:

South Haven . . . 200 000 040 — 6
Holland 005 000 000 — 5

Batteries: Kristen, Wilt (3) and Hamlin; Prince and Van Dyke.

Ambassador Fascinated by Changes On Trip Through Southern Europe

By Larry Sledentop

This letter has been delayed several days because I have been on a journey with my French family, and I felt that the account would be far more interesting if presented in its entirety.

Grenoble, as you probably know by now, is essentially the gateway to the French Alps, and, although one of the flattest cities in France, its city limits consist of a range of mountains with certain peaks exceeding a height of seven thousand feet. To demonstrate the variety of geography and life in France (which, they claim, is one of the reasons why no true Frenchman can bear to be separated from his "patrie") my family decided to take me into the Midi, 150 miles to the southwest, for a week. Never, in my experience, was a week better spent!

Traveling from Grenoble into the Midi is traveling from northern Europe into southern Europe from one civilization into another. There exists an unbelievably distinct, tangible line which marks this division, one which I became aware of as we drove through the last of the Alpine passes and entered the relatively flat plains of Provence. The colors change—as the deep, often sombre, blues and greens of the inescapable Alpine forest and sky give way to a sparkling world of pastels which pays homage to a superb silver-blue sky. It does not take long to understand why Van Gogh, Cezanne, and other painters of the Impressionistic School chose Provence, and particularly its sky, as their subject.

The people change too—for the pensive, sober attitude of the northern European gives way to a vivacity, wit and joy in living which distinguishes the Latin and which seldom fails to seize the visitor. This gay, free attitude is echoed in the chant of the cigale, an insect which thrives in the Midi and which is an unforgettable mark of home to every Provencal. This is all, I suppose, only a way of saying that the culture is no longer that of northern Europe, but is rather related to that of Italy and Spain. For the people of Provence are deeply conscious and proud of their heritage from antiquity, from Greece, Carthage and Rome, and the relatively dry climate has aided their memory by preserving innumerable remains of Graeco-Roman civilization. The native Provencal tongue similarly retains many evidences of its Latin origin, and it can scarcely be understood by the ordinary Frenchman. These people truly enjoy the present by living with and reveling in their past.

We traveled first, to Aix-en-Provence, where we stayed for three days. Aix is the nearest thing to a 17th or early 18th century town that I have discovered to date. Dominated by several broad, tree-lined avenues, it is nevertheless composed largely of narrow, winding streets with innumerable little squares, each of which boasts a fountain with no little history behind it. Binding this network together and giving to Aix its unique charm is the presence everywhere of Louis XIV town hotels and roccoco villas—they are the rule rather than the exception! It is understandable, then, why Aix was chosen as the site of an annual summer music festival.

Aix is only an hour from Marseilles, the second city and first port of France, and a trip into the city is the same as moving from a placid baroque world into the troubled contemporary scene. The approaches are marked by posters and writing on the walls in opposition to the war in Algeria which become increasingly numerous as the port itself is reached. This can be accounted for, I think, because Marseilles is the chief port of embarkation for both human and non-human war materials and because the working class is politically dominant in this area. Despite its commercial character and the occasional violent aspect of its strikes, Marseilles is surprisingly attractive, and I found that its five-mile walk along the shores of the Mediterranean is an educational experience.

My French mother is a native of the Midi, and, upon leaving Aix-en-Provence, she directed our route through some of its richest and most characteristic sections. It was an unending source of pleasure for her to point out the landmarks of the Midi of which she is so proud. Certainly it was no less rewarding for me as we drove through towns which were often a mixture of Roman ruins and Louis XIV villas, which were always characterized by red tile roofs and avenues protected from the hot, dry sunlight by rows of spacious trees which form an arch.

Les Baux, the ruins of a former Protestant refuge—The Windmill of Daudet, the incarnation of the Provencal love of storytelling—Pont du Gard, the overpowering aqueduct built 50 years before the advent of our era. These are things I shall relate to you personally in the fall.

Happily, the last point of our tour of the Midi was also its climax: Avignon, the residence of the Popes during the Babylonian Captivity of the thirteenth century, is now from a cursory examination of the map little more than a minor provincial city situated on the left bank of the River Rhone. Yet the first view of the city, particularly if it is in the pink twilight of a Provencal sunset, suffices to dispel any such illusion. Still completely surrounded by its medieval, fairy-like walls, Avignon is humbled before the imposing bastion-palace of the Schismatic Popes. The courtyard of this palace is the home each summer of the National Popular Theatre of France. Recognizing the intimate tie between art and everyday life in the Midi, and desiring to satisfy the passion for drama in all classes of society, this organization produces six plays each summer and stages one every night, selling tickets at perhaps one-quarter of the American price. It is a festival which, unlike some others in Europe, has not been spoiled by commercialism, and there exists a visible bond of sympathy between actors and audience. All rehearsals are open as workshops to students of drama, and a veritable colony materializes every summer at Avignon. Sensible of this admirable spirit and captivated by the magnificent backdrop, we were fortunate enough to see presentations of Beaumarchais' "Le Mariage de Figaro" and Shakespeare's "Macbeth."

An account of my experiences in the Midi would not, however, be complete without an explanation of our mode of travel. The French have absorbed an English word which describes it—camping! Hotels are far too expensive for most Europeans, and, unwilling to part with their taste for travel, middle-class Europeans have evolved a new style since the war. The prime requisites, apart from an automobile or motorcycle, are a tent (the proportions of which vary with the size of the family budget), sleeping bags, and portable cooking utensils. In virtually every town of any size or any area of minimum attraction, there have sprung into being camp sites, where, for perhaps 30 cents a person, a family can pitch its tent and rest overnight. As for food, each morning the mother makes a trip to the town market where she buys fresh vegetables and occasionally meat, which, together with bread, cheese and wine composed the average European's diet. These she prepares over a gas burner in the tent, and dinner is scarcely less an event while camping than at home! More and more French vacations are spent in this manner, and, at the same time, French camps are often half-filled with visiting Belgians and Germans.

But enough for the moment. Au revoir, Larry Sledentop, Holland's Community Ambassador, 1956.

200 Attend Reunion of Holland High Class of '36

The Holland High School Class of 1936 held a successful reunion Saturday, when 200 graduates, their wives and husbands and teachers gathered at American Legion Country Club house.

A buffet supper was served at 6:30 p.m., followed by an informal program introduced by Miss Althea Raffenaud and Andrew Spyk, Jr. John Huff opened with prayer. Mayor Robert Visscher welcomed guests, many of whom came from other states.

Principal J. J. Riemersma spoke briefly, paying tribute to classmates, particularly to Harold Borchers, now a missionary in Japan. He also explained planning of the new curriculum and how the new high school is being planned for it.

"Prof" Ervin Hansen, class patron and host for the evening, led the reminiscing and challenged the class as "parents of the greatest generation yet." Mrs. Edward Donivan, class patroness and hostess, brought greetings from former Superintendent E. E. Fell and continued to recall incidents and escapades from the class's high school career, including senior play practices, class sessions, football and the collection of lead tooth paste tubes to help finance the Boomerang.

Mrs. Donivan and Prof. Hansen were presented gifts in appreciation for their leadership. Letters were read from out-of-town class members unable to attend.

Prizes were donated by class members in business and professions and were presented to those married the most and least years.

Grandstanding...

By Randy Vande Water
Mickey Mantle equalled his 1955 home run mark in the marathon contest in Briggs Stadium Sunday.

It was No. 37, and swung from the left side of the plate and hit the facing of the press deck of the park.

This puts him 11 days ahead of Babe Ruth's pace with exactly 51 games to play.

We watched the Yankee slugger slam out No. 35 and No. 36 Saturday.

He pounded both from the left side. He walked while batting right.

Watching the 5'10", 180 pounder swing, it looked to us, as though his portside swing, is natural and that its just plain work from the other side.

His first homer appeared to be golfed as he met the ball and lofted it with "the greatest of ease."

While the other saw him taking a much stronger cut at the ball. Watching his swing, we feel that his tremendous power rests in his forearms.

His forearms put a lot of guys upper arms to shame.

As the balls fly up against third decks and break scoreboard lights, scribes will report where he stands in the derby to beat the magic 60.

The three over the weekend in Detroit, equalled by Al Kaline, sent a lot of fans home with a pleased expression.

They'd come to see Mickey hit and like the same crowd that came to see Ruth, he didn't let them down.

A BILL THAT TOUCHES HOLLAND

In the closing hours of the session of congress a bill was passed and sent to the White House authorizing the Chicago Sanitary District to draw 2,500 cubic feet of water a second from Lake Michigan. That represents an increase of 1,000 cubic feet per second, the amount authorized up until now being 1,500 cubic feet.

If the President signs the bill it will mean the beginning of a new day in lake levels for every city on the shores of the Great Lakes, including among them Holland.
The President vetoed a similar bill in 1954, but his objections are supposed to have been met in the present measure.

On the very day when the bill was passed by the Senate the PCE 877 carrying 70 Navy reservists and crew members got stuck on a sand bar in Lake Macatawa and was helpless for eight hours. If the diversion of the additional 1000 cubic feet of Lake Michigan water will lower the lake level as much as opponents of the measure charged during the debate, how many vessels will get stuck? For of course the level of Lake Michigan governs the level of Lake Macataw and of every other harbor along the shore.

The propaganda for the water diversion began more than a generation ago. The city of Chicago has long wanted the additional water to solve its sewage problem;
it has always been a battle between one city and all the communities along the lakes for which the maintenance of the water level
is important.

At last Chicago seems to have won. There has been singularly little of a fight, and perhaps most people were unaware that the bill was up for consideration. It seems likely that the high lake levels of the past few years, causing damage to the shoreline, caused the average citizen to let down his guard. But that was an abnormal condition, a condition that is rapidly losing its force, and the people of several states are likely to find soon that higher lake levels are desirable to keep their water commerce going. If the fears of opponents of the bill come true, scores of ports will have to spend millions of dollars to maintain the water depths they need for their shipping.

Fortunately the bill will have an end if it does the harm it is expected to do; as passed, it runs for a test period of three years.
But you can depend on it that Chicago will put up a titanic fight even if after three years the extra water diversion is shown to be all bad for the other cities. At the very least the experiment bears close watching. And Holland should be one of the watchers.

The Way of Fellowship
I John 1
By C. P. Dame

(International Bible Lessons of Christian Teaching, lesson material based on International S. S.
Lessons, Christian Education Dept.
of National Council of Christian Churches, used by permission.)
The Apostle John wrote three epistles, one gospel and the book of Revelation. He was the son of Zebedee, the brother of James, and a member of the inner circle of apostles and much beloved of Jesus. For a time he was an exile on the island of Patmos. He spent the last years of his life in Ephesus. He outlived all the other apostles and was held in great esteem.
Our lesson stresses the importance of fellowship in the Christian Church.

I. Christians need each other.
John writes about his relationship and experience with Christ. The positive note he reveals is refreshing. Observe the words, "we have heard" and "we have seen with our eyes" and "we have looked upon" and "our hands have handled"—words that speak of personal experience. John not only wrote of his experience with Christ but he includes his fellow apostles.
He and all the apostles had heard Jesus speak and seen him serve and touched him with their hands.
They had learned to know him as being both human and divine.

People with experiences have something to share. John had something to share. "That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you." The word "declare" is a positive word. John had something to declare and he declared
it. Through Jesus Christ the apostles had learned what it is to have true fellowship with God. The apostles were eager that others should enjoy this fellowship. Mark the fact—fellowship with God leads to joy. The more fellowship we have with God the less we care about the pleasures of this world.
A jobless Christianity is not biblical Christianity.

II. Sin always hinders Christian fellowship. In order to have fellowship with God we must have something in common with God. The Bible says that "God is light and in Him is no darkness at all."
"Darkness in Scripture stands for sin and ignorance. People who live in sin cannot have fellowship with God and walk in darkness lies. The proof of fellowship with God is conformity to God. All who walk in the light fellowship with believe-ers and with God.

Christians commit sin and sin creates barriers and hinders fellowship. How can sin be removed and fellowship restored? John tells us how—"the blood of Jesus Christ
his Son cleanseth us from all sin."
It is through the atoning death of Christ that we obtain forgiveness.
However, before we are forgiven
we must repent. Sin is universal and there is a universal remedy for sin—Jesus Christ.

People are inclined to excuse sin. Some blame heredity, others environment and some even deny the existence of sin. The only way to secure pardon is to make confession of our sins and then turn away from sin. John tells us that God is faithful and just to grant forgiveness. The value of a promise depends upon the character of the person who makes the promise.
God is dependable—he will forgive if we confess and in addition he will renew us and fill our hearts with peace.

1. Fellowship among Christians
is important.
2. The apostles were sure of Jesus Christ.
3. People with sound convictions are heard.
4. Sin hinders fellowship.
5. It is commendable to take the Christian attitude to sin.
6. Confession is good for the soul.

Pools of Healing
II Kings 5:9-14; John 5:1-9, 9:6, 7
by Darrell Franken

To the leader: The healing power
we receive through faith in Christ and through prayer to him has not diminished in two thousand years. The Bible has many stories of the healing power of God. This topic seeks to have us recognize the source of healing power.

It is quite possible that you are wondering how you can present this topic. Listed below are some scripture passages about healing.
Plan to have Bibles on each chair
so that you can ask different members to read the stories or stand up and tell them.

Presenting the Topic Assign one of the following to each member, (or put slips of paper in each Bible with a scripture passage on it.) Matthew 8:14-17,
Matthew 8:28-34, Matthew 9:1-8,
Matthew 9:18-26, Matthew 9:27-34,
Matthew 15:29-31, Matthew 17:14-
21, Matthew 20:29-34, John 9:1-41.

Explain to the group that you want each one to tell the story they have read. Then give them about 5 minutes to read and study these stories. When they have spent the time in preparation let each one tell the story.

After they have told the stories about the different healings, be prepared to tell the story of the healing of Naaman (II Kings 5: 9-14) and the healing of the lame man at the pool of Bethesda (John 5:1-9). (You can get help for the telling of these stories from the Christian Endeavor World, 1221
East Broad St., Columbus 16, Ohio.)

Be sure to point out that these two people were healed at places where there were pools of water and a great deal of faith. Jesus Christ can heal today too. But is it necessary for people to go to "pools of water" to be healed? No.
There are pools of healing all around us. By that we mean that there are several places where we can receive the healing power of Christ.

For Example

1. The Bible is one channel of God's healing power. Through it the Holy Spirit can speak words of advice, comfort and cheer. In this sense the Bible is a pool of healing.

2. Another Christian can also be an instrument of God's Spirit. He can be the angel of peace and comfort so that going to him is go to a pool of healing.

3. Religious poetry is another source of healing. Christian poems have calmed many a troubled heart and soul. They have been the pools of healing for countless believers.

4. Christian singing also helps us. It can revive a broken spirit.
It can stimulate our weakness and our laziness. It is the pool to which we can come to have our spirits awakened.

5. Literature in the form of novels or short stories can also be the mouthpiece of God's voice.
Millions have been stirred to action by reading the testimonies of others.

6. A kindly word at the proper time is also a pool of healing. Undoubtedly, we all know of someone to whom we can turn for words of comfort and cheer when the going gets rough.

7. A helpful sermon is another source of healing. It is the surgeon's knife to cut out many a diseased and inflamed part of our sinful nature.

These and many more are the "Pools of Healing" for our world today.

Despite Weather, Scotland Offers
Tourists Many Old, Beautiful Sights

By Karel-Mari Kleinheksel
EDINBURGH, Scotland, Aug. 1

—And the rain came down! Sometimes in buckets, sometimes in drizzles, (at least there has been some variety) but it's been bad weather for touring ever since we landed in Liverpool, England on July 27.

Since that date we have managed to see a bit of the seashore and lake district of England, and also the lochs and highlands of Scotland, ending up in the beautiful city of Edinburgh.

I had always imagined Liverpool
as a dirty port city, with nothing to offer the tourist. We were pleasantly surprised, however, as we drove through several large parks right in the city on our way south to the town of Chester.

The trip to Chester was not on our itinerary, but we heard so much about this little town from fellow travelers on the ship that we decided to visit there for a day, as it is only 30 miles southeast of Liverpool.

Going into Chester is like going back into 14th or 15th century England. The old city wall still stands, and is used as a promenade by visitors and residents alike.
Houses, and business establishments are built in tudor style.

Streets are narrow and winding and the River Dee wanders through the city, making lovely
"views" for the tourist.

Four places were counted in the first flight because of more entries, and the 66-77-143 fired by Don Lubbers and John Ver Huist was good enough for first place.

A pair of 148's by Ted Sasamoto and Ted Kouw and by LaVern De Vries and Charles Knooihuizen resulted in a tie for second place. Sasamoto and Kouw had a 75-73 while De Vries and Knooihuizen put together rounds of 70 and 78 for their total.

Only a stroke behind in fourth place were Tom Klaassen and Bob Klaassen with a 76-73-149.

When the ambulance arrived the car and injured were gone. Passing motorists had helped right the car and the injured were reloaded and driven to Douglas Hospital where the ambulance finally caught up with them.

Allegan, Ottawa Lead in Poultry

Allegan and Ottawa counties rank one-two in the state in the production of poultry and poultry products, according to the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The department has conducted a survey to determine the top 100 counties in the nation in poultry and poultry products sold, turkeys raised, turkey hens kept for breeding, chickens on farms and chickens egg sold during 1954.

Ottawa County was among the top 100 in each of the five categories, and Allegan County was among the leaders in four divisions.

The only other Michigan county mentioned was Antrim, which ranked 80th in the number of turkey hens kept for breeding with 5,324. Ottawa was 21st with 16,926 and Allegan 35th with 10,239.

In poultry and poultry products sold, Allegan was 55th with $4,484,000 and Ottawa 82nd with $3,331,000. Ottawa placed 70th in turkeys raised with 158,853. That was the lone category in which Allegan County failed to place.

But Allegan was 14th in chickens on farms with 1,055,100 and 15th in chicken eggs sold with 10,103,545 dozens. Ottawa was 35th in chickens on farms with 670,900 and 55th in chicken eggs sold with 5,317,324 dozens.

Co. D Upsets Hulst Brothers

Co. D upset Hulst Brothers, 3-2 in City League softball Saturday night at Van Tongeren Field.

The single game contest was necessitated because the Guards will be leaving for summer camp and will not be able to play four regularly scheduled games.

The win gives the Guards a 7-14 record, seventh in the league while Hulst Brothers now has a 14-7 mark, second place in the league.

Two runs in the fifth matched single Hulst runs in the first innings and then another Guard run in the sixth told the story.

Harv Berens scored the winning run. He walked and came around on a catcher's error.

Singles by Gene Immick and Irv Boersma, plus a hit batsmen and a wild pitch brought in the other Guard runs in the fifth inning.

Jud Gebben walked and went on to score the first Hulst run in the bottom of the first. He came home on an infield out.

Al Velthuis homered in the second for the other Hulst run.

The winners made a total of five hits with Gene Immick and Jay Berens getting two each. Boersma got the other hit.

HERE IS AN AIR VIEW of Holland Hospital showing the new addition which is well on the way to completion. The two lower floors will be ready for use Oct. 1 and other floors later. When completed, the hospital will have 128 beds, compared with the present 72 beds. H. E. Beyster and Associates of Detroit are architects and Martin Dyke and Sons of Holland are general contractors. About two years ago Holland city voted a $500,000 bond issue toward expense of the new addition which is estimated at $1,300,000. Over 40 percent comes from federal funds. Surrounding townships cooperated with fund raising drives. (Penna-Sas photo)

Hospital Addition Well on Way to Completion

Just a year ago today, ground was broken for the new addition of Holland Hospital.

And today, with construction well on the way to completion, hospital leaders announced plans for moving into the basement and ground floors by Oct. 1. Previous plans had called for moving into the basement earlier but it developed that taking over two floors at once would be a more efficient operation.

The schedule calls for opening the first floor by Nov. 1 and the second floor by Dec. 1. After that, remodeling of the present hospital will take another three to four months. This involves making four rooms out of the present lobby, two rooms on the ground floor and two rooms on the first floor.

Open house will not be held until everything is complete. This might even coincide with National Hospital Week in May.

The basement of the new building, which is a level below the present building will contain the new kitchen, cafeteria and dining room and new central storeroom. The new kitchen will have many unique features including a moving belt on which patients' trays are assembled and guided directly into a vertical tray conveyor which carries each tray to the proper floor for fast delivery to the patient. Other features include the walk-in refrigerators, deep freeze, a separate bake shop, an area for vegetable and salad preparations, new ranges, broilers and steam kettles and a segregated dishwashing area.

The ground or main floor has the new entrance on Michigan Ave. There are two coordinated elevators for fast service. Business and administrative offices occupy the east half of the main floor while the x-ray and laboratory departments share the west half.

Included in the x-ray suite will be the new 250 MA deep therapy equipment made possible by gifts of Mrs. Kathryn Nyström of the Kresge Foundation, an ample waiting room for x-ray and laboratory patients, and a small quiet room off the lobby for families. The hospital shop off the lobby is a new innovation. This will be operated by the hospital auxiliary and will feature a snack bar and possibly a small gift counter.

The first floor, which is expected to be ready by Nov. 1, has an air conditioned suite with three major operating rooms and one minor room, a fracture room and a cystoscopy room with adjacent facilities. All floors, electrical fixtures and equipment in the operating suite will be explosion proof for the safety of patients. A large and well equipped recovery room considerably larger than the present one will adjoin the surgical suite.

A new central sterile supply room occupies one-fourth of the first floor. Here will be processed all the sterile and medical supplies for the entire hospital. Here too all special equipment such as oxygen tents, inhalators and suction apparatus used by patients is cleaned and checked. A dumbwaiter in central supply delivers supplies to all patient floors. The central station for the pneumatic tube system also is located here. This system connects with all departments for fast delivery of messages and small items.

Completion of the second floor is scheduled for Dec. 1. This floor has the new maternity department with its three delivery rooms, three labor rooms, the new nursing station and 23 beds. All patients' rooms have individual toilets, and a spacious shower will service the entire section.

When all work is completed, the hospital will have 128 beds, compared with present facilities of 72 beds.

Persons visiting Holland Hospital will be inconvenienced next week when work starts Monday morning on blacktopping the parking lot. Most of the circle drive in front of the hospital will have to be reserved for visiting doctors. Since no parking is allowed on Michigan Ave, visitors will have to park on side streets at perhaps considerable distances.

Hospital Director Frederick S. Burd anticipates complications for a few days, but he said these inconveniences will be forgotten when the new surfaced and well lighted parking area is completed accommodating 125 cars. The parking area will be accessible both from a drive which cuts off from the circle drive and from the regular 26th St. entrance.

The 26th St. drive will remain open for ambulances and emergencies during the paving construction.

Holland Escapes Cellar With 13-8 Win at Fennville

FENNVILLE (Special) — The Holland Flying Dutchmen came from behind twice to defeat Fennville, 13-8 in a slugfest here Friday night. The win was Holland's second straight and moved them into third place in the Southwestern Michigan Baseball League.

Holland jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a pair of doubles by Bob Van Dyke and Tony Wentzel, but a single and two walks brought in two Fennville runs in the bottom of the first.

In the third, the Dutchmen added three more on walks to Wentzel and Plagenhoef and singles by Norm Witteveen and pitcher Lefty Westenbroek. They made it 5-3 in the fourth on Jerry Prince's triple and Morrie Witteveen's sacrifice fly.

Fennville came back with a single run in the fifth and three in the sixth to take a 6-5 lead.

Then the roof fell in. With one out in the seventh, Bob Van Dyke hit a home run. Wentzel's double, a single by Plagenhoef, another triple by Prince; singles by Morrie Witteveen and Westenbroek and a triple by Dwayne Teusink gave the Dutchmen an 11-6 margin, and, for practical purposes, the ball game.

A triple, two singles and a double by Fennville in the eighth made it closer, but the Dutch scored once in each the eighth and ninth.

In the eighth, Tony Wentzel walked, stole second and scored on Max Doolittle's single. A single by Morrie Witteveen, two walks, and a fielder's choice brought in the final Holland run in the ninth.

Line score:

Holland	Fennville
103	100
611	13
15	3
Fennville	200
013	020
8	14

Batteries: Westenbroek and Bob Van Dyke; Macleak, Bale (4), and Coxford.

Cooperation Sought In County Road Count

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — County Engineer Henry Stafseth Friday sought the cooperation of persons and children in getting proper traffic counts at various points in the county.

He said the road commission has placed counting devices at several locations and there has been considerable vandalism and tampering. He said some people think the equipment in a radar speed check and tubes have been cut and tampered with.

Moreover, some youngsters think it great fun to trounce on the tube and upset the count.

"We must have the proper facts if we are to do the best job on roads in the county, and we need your cooperation," Stafseth said.

Planning Group To Restudy Zone

The Holland Planning Commission Thursday night agreed to do further study on zoning matters for a large area of residential property bordered by 28th and 32nd Sts. and Central and Maple Aves.

Eugene Maurina and Henry Johnson represented property owners living in the area. Maurina presented a petition requesting that the area be limited to single family dwellings which generally would mean a change from A-2 to A-1 zoning in the general area. He also produced facts and statistics bearing out that lots were large enough to warrant A-1 classification rather than the proposed A-2.

The new zoning ordinance as yet has not been passed by City Council.

The commission approved a contract with its planning consultant for another year, and also reviewed a redraft of the zoning ordinance as compiled by Attorney George Sidwell of Lansing on C-2 business and B-1 industrial sections.

The commission decided to invite the Board of Public Works and the Board of Education to attend the October and November meetings with City Council to study secondary school district boundaries.

Mayor Pro Tem Laverne Rudolph presided. Others attending were Mayor Robert Vischer, W. A. Butler, City Engineer Laverne Serne, Stuart Boyd, Mrs. William G. Winter, Jr., City Manager Herb Holt, Consultant Scott Bagby, Building Inspector William Layman.

Twilight Tour Set for Friday

A twilight tour of the Southwestern Michigan Vegetable and Small Fruit Experiment Farm will be held 6:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 10, according to Ray Brush, Vegetable Specialist for Berrien County.

The farm is located eight miles southeast of Benton Harbor or one mile west of Sodus and ½ mile south on the River Road. Since it was first started in 1954, the farm has expanded in the acreage used for plant work and the number of crops with which research is being done. Despite the hail damage of July 19, many interesting things are to be seen which will appeal to southwest Michigan growers.

Those plots that have had foliar application of fertilizer are making the fastest recovery. Variety plots of tomatoes, peppers, sweet corn, snap-beans, sweet potatoes, broccoli, cauliflower and summer squash are to be viewed on the tour. The cucumbers, pickles, muskmellons, and watermelons make recovery from the hail. Moisture testing equipment, trellis will be viewed if they continue to listing of tomatoes, and black plastic mulch trials are to be seen.
