Hope Awards Contract For Van Zoeren Library

WATER SKIERS THRILL CROWD — Nearly 5,000 persons stood in the rain for two hours Wednesday at Kollen Park to view the Tommy Bartlett Water Ski Show. Spectators were offered plenty of thrills and spills, including a runaway boat which headed toward the crowd but was stopped short when it crashed into the fence holding back the spectators.

Weather was blamed for keeping thousands from attending the show. Holland police said only about half of the streets which had been reserved for parking were used. Four skiers are shown skimming close to shore in one of their many colorful acts. Part of the crowd lining the shore may be seen in the background. (Sentinel photo)

Begin Work On Building At Once

Structure Will Go Up Facing Graves Place; Ready in Fall of 1961

Hope College officials Wednesday accepted the $641,800 bid of C. D. Barnes Associates, Grand Rapids, to build the Van Zoeren Memorial Library on Graves Pl.

Total cost of the project is estimated at $1,000,000 which includes cost of the land, furnishings, interior fittings, parking lot, landscaping and other equipment and outside work.

Hope President Dr. Irwin J. Lubbers said the library will be erected on the former site of the old Froebel School and will face Graves Pl.

Construction will start immediately with a June, 1961 completion date and the building will be ready for use at the opening of the fall semester in September, 1961.

Money for the building construction was a gift from a Holland native and 1912 Hope alumnus G. J. Van Zoeren, retired chemist and industrialist. Van Zoeren gave in excess of $500,000 for the library in memory of his late wife, Anna Elizabeth.

Ralph Calder of Detroit is the architect of the new library. He also has drawn plans for several other projected buildings which are part of a $3,000,000 development program at Hope College.

The library will be a tri-level building constructed mainly of stone and glass. An outstanding feature of the building will be liberal use of tinted glass.

These large amounts of glass will be shaded by a curtain wall which will allow light to enter but will cut down glare from sunlight.

The seating capacity of the structure will be 325. There will be room for 135,000 books.

The entire interior will be flexible with no fixed wall. All seating and book shelving will be movable to meet changing conditions.

Find Surfacing Hard to Remove

Holland Street Department crews have run into difficulty in removing the existing surfacing of streets which are to be paved.

Laverne Serne, city engineer, said today that in many spots the surface cannot be removed without also taking up the base. Since it would be too expensive to furnish new base material, the new surfacing will be laid over the existing pavement.

Workers will begin Friday morning to place a 1 1/2-inch bituminous concrete surfacing on the streets which are to be repaired. These include 10th St. between River and Pine Aves., Seventh St. between Pine and River Aves., Pine Ave. between 19th and 20th Sts. and Washington Ave. between 16th and 20th Sts.

Serne said the project will probably be completed in slightly more than a week.

Estimate Cost Of New Home At $100,000

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Plans moved ahead today for the construction of a $100,000 county juvenile detention home after the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors approved the purchase of the recommended site Wednesday.

The five-acre site is located west from Ferris St., and new US-31 in Grand Haven township, about five miles south of Grand Haven.

An option on the land was secured from Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bierman for $2,500 which is subject to the parcel being re-zoned.

The action passed 26-1 with Herb Holt, Holland City Manager, dissenting. A special committee of Henry Slaughter of Tallmadge Township, Herman Windemuller of Grand Haven Township and Clarence Reenders of Grand Haven Township recommended the proposed site.

Holt asked the committee why the site was selected and Reenders said, "It is as good a site as we have looked at and very accessible to US-31 and there won't be any problem getting there, even in the winter time."

"There are no trees on the land, no grading, no hills to take down and it was the most desirable place we have looked at and the fairest price," Reenders said. He reported that the committee had looked at a number of places but always received a "no" answer when it came to price and purchase.

Holt asked who the committee had consulted about the "good" site and Reenders replied that Probate Judge Fredrick T. Miles felt it was a fine place and is not too far from town. "The judge is very happy with the site," Reenders said.

The committee felt that the 21-acre site at Camp Pottawatomie, which the county owns, should be kept in reserve in case the camp expands. There was a question raised as to using the area for the juvenile home.

City Attorney James E. Townsend of Holland inquired about educational programs and felt that having education necessary for the mentally retarded child should be considered when selecting a site.

Holt suggested that consulting engineering advice should be obtained.

Dr. D. C. Bloemendaal of Zeeland moved the passage of the recommendation subject to the rezoning. The firm of Vander Meiden and Koteles of Grand Haven was authorized to proceed with detailed plans and specifications for the building.

A request from Judge Miles for a facility to store duplicate copies of microfilm in the proposed building was referred to the buildings and grounds committee.

A letter from Hendrick Stalseth, engineer-manager of the Ottawa County Road Commission, was presented by William Oser of the road commission suggesting the development of two sections of land in Port Sheldon Township for a new county park. This matter will be studied.

The board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

BPW, Council Review Utility Development

Members of City Council and other officials were guests of the Board of Public Works Wednesday night at Castle Park to hear a review of the status of the city's utility developments.

It was reported that work is proceeding according to schedule in the $5,400,000 power plant expansion, that water mains are being rapidly extended into annexed areas and that plans are well underway for the new sewer improvements.

Guy E. Bell, superintendent of the BPW, gave the background information on the various projects.

Harold Karsten, assistant BPW superintendent, told of the improvements completed on the power distribution lines and of the extension of water mains. He said that half of the $250,000 water program, involving 45,000 feet of pipe, has been completed. Karsten also said that 87 fire hydrants have been installed this summer in the annexed areas.

Thomas Robinson and Dan McKim of Black and Veatch, consulting engineers for the BPW, said plans for the new sewer treatment plant and additional sewer lines are being readied for approval of the State Board of Health by Dec. 1. Bids on the sewer projects will probably be taken in Jan. 1961, with the mains scheduled for completion next summer and the treatment plant the following year.

The engineers also reported that application is being made to the State Water Resources Commission for federal funds, upward of $250,000, which might be allocated to the local project. James Pollock, financial counselor, said that the prospectus on the $1,600,000 sewer bond, will be submitted to the Municipal Finance Commission before the end of August.

During discussion of the additional sewerage load of the new Phelps Dormitory at Hope College, it was explained that check-ups would be made twice daily and that a special stand-by pumping service will safeguard sewer users. The affected area includes 10th St. from Columbia to Central Aves.

Council members present were Mayor Robert Visscher, John Beltman, Ernest Phillips, Nelson Bosman, John Van Eerden, Henry Steffens and William Heeringa. BPW members at the meeting were President Randall Bosch, Adrian Klaasen, Henry Maentz, Don Vink and William De Long.

Board Maintains Past School Bus Plan; Bonds Rated High

Monday night decided to maintain its past policy of providing bus transportation only for pupils in special education and for physically handicapped children.

The board this year was committed to fulfill transportation contracts of the annexed Apple Ave. and Montello Park school districts, but in the future all children, except those mentioned, will be responsible for their own transportation to schools.

It was announced that word was received Monday of a AA rating given by the Moody Statistical Service to Holland's 1960 school bond issue. This is the second highest possible rating, and is exceptional in view of the fact that the bonds have not yet been sold.

The board approved the plans for the academic classroom units, the gymnasium-fieldhouse and the library of the new high school. Brush has been cleared from the 24th St. and Van Raalte Ave. site, and bids have been authorized for The Holland Board of Education grading and soil compaction of the property. This work is to be completed by Sept. 15, so that construction may begin.

Board member Wendell A. Miles told the board he had viewed the models of the new high school in the architect's Detroit office, and was very favorably impressed by them. It was noted that the models will soon be in Holland and will be publicly displayed.

The board approved a recommendation to use the Bohn Aluminum Building at 24th St. and Harrison Ave., which it is purchasing, as the heating plant for the new high school. A study has shown that an estimated $28,100 can be saved by using this building rather than constructing a new one.

The proposed expansion of Building Consultant Arthur Read's office, at a cost of not more than $1,000, was okayed. Added space is necessary for the high school construction program.

Supt. of Schools Walter W. Scott and his assistants were authorized to devise and operate budgeting and accounting control procedures for the $3,250,000 school expansion program.

The board allocated $5,000 to the City of Holland for the improvement of city recreation facilities, and transferred $41,500.56 from the General Account for payment of July expenses, and agreed to fulfill its obligation to pay off the debts of Montello Park school district.

The two-hour meeting, which was conducted by the new board president, Dr. Harry Frissel, was attended by all members. The invocation was given by Bernard Arendshorst.

Allegan Delays Plan

ALLEGAN (Special) — With one member—Dan Conroy—on the sick list, the Allegan City Council has voted unanimously to advise the recently-formed planning commission to seek counsel of the state highway department's planning office before taking further action on a traffic plan for the city.

The council's action was its reply to a unanimously approved planning commission request for the city to re-engage Michigan Associates, the Lansing engineering firm which prepared the master street plan which proved so controversial last year. The commission resolution asked to have the engineers return to Allegan for another look at the situation and have some preliminary plans ready by Aug. 29.

City Manager P. H. Beauvais said the planning commission, which met recently with two representatives of Michigan Associates for a question-and-answer session on traffic planning, had been prompted to pass the resolution because of an early deadline for plans to be included in the state highway department's current five-year construction plan.

Visitor From Argentina Talks With Tulip Festival Planners

An Argentine who is interested in forming tourist organizations in his country recently visited Holland and talked with Chamber of Commerce officials and with several men who helped build the Tulip Time Festival.

Juan Mario Duhalde Kelly of Mar del Plata, Argentina, made Holland one of his stops in a four-month tour of the United States under the State Department's Foreign Leader Exchange Program.

Mr. Kelly, whose Irish name comes from his grandfather who emigrated to Argentina, is interested in the promotion of tourist facilities principally for his city Mar del Plata. This city of 300,000 is famous for its beaches and casinos which attract as many as 500,000 people during the summer months.

Kelly, and other progressive young men, hope to see their local, state and national governments work with private enterprise and with individuals in building the tourist industry, as has been done in this country.

The Latin American, whose Michigan itinerary was planned by Len Stutman of East Lansing, recognized the name of Holland as soon as he was told he would visit here. He immediately asked Stutman if this was the town with the tulip festival which he had seen many years ago in a movie called "Seven Sisters."

While in Michigan, he also visited Michigan State University, East Lansing, Detroit and Grand Rapids where he studied the West Michigan Tourist Association. He completed the tour of the state by attending a seminar for international visitors at Boyne Mountain.

Kelly, in addition to his work in the field of tourism, is a correspondent for a Buenos Aires newspaper, honorary correspondent for the United Nations Information Center in Buenos Aires, and artistic director of a Mar del Plata radio station.

GROWING PAINS

This is a common expression that most people have heard quite often today. Out in California great plans are taking place to move the people back into the city. They have found, according to the stories that we read in the newspapers, that with the growing population it does not seem to be possible to design transportation facilities to handle the people moving into and out of the city of Los Angeles.

Many people have heard people say that they are going to move out into Suburbia and enjoy the open spaces. Well, when they get out there their problems just grow and grow. "The pumps broken, the kids have colds, my wife's sick in bed, there's no supper started, we need groceries and — here he sneezes. Pardon me, I guess we will need to do something about the rag weed — the season is upon us. Then there is the Dutch Elm Disease. We do not have money or the proper regulations to handle the many problems. On yes, there is supposed to be a meeting of the board tonight concerning sewer, water and sanitation problems. We are having trouble with the pumps."

These are just some of the problems of suburbia. There are many problems in the cities as well. Areas are changing and some of the older neighborhoods will either have to have some face lifting or they will run down. Many of our older school buildings may be in the wrong place, and this will mean using school buses for children. If you do not think that people all over the country are running in to some of these same problems, then you should make it your business to read some of the newspapers that are printed in other areas and listen to the people as you travel around on your vacation trips.

We think that you will come back home and say we have problems but this is still a rather fine place in our great state of Michigan to live.

Water is one of the commodities today that we must all think about. We must remember that more people make more problems and it is time that we all look about us and see if we can not solve some of the problems before it is too late.

Our neighbor city has just found that they are once again the second in size in Michigan and are about to do something about their downtown area. This should be a great help in many ways. We, here in Holland, are making progress. We still have our problems. The time is now to start doing some long range thinking about making some changes. Don't forget to cut the rag weeds as well as some of the other pollen producing vegetation.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, Aug. 14
Isaiah's Vision of God
Isaiah 6:1-10
By C. P. Dame

Some chapters of the Bible are more familiar than others. Our lesson text is taken from Isaiah 6, which is one of the best known chapters of the Old Testament. The lesson tells us how a young man met and heard God call him — and how he responded!

I. It is a great moment in life when a man meets God. The prophet Isaiah lived in the eighth century and was active as a prophet during the second half of that century. He has been called the greatest Christian of the Old Testament because he said so much about the suffering and atoning death of Christ. During his ministry the kingdom of Judah was declining morally and spiritually. Wickedness was bold, religion formal, living by leaders was marked by excesses of all kinds, and sin was proudly practiced by the nation as a whole. The words of the prophets were disregarded.

The death of Uzziah the king who had ruled Judah for 50 years impressed Isaiah deeply. The king wanted to be a priest and perform priestly functions. The priests objected, the king got angry, and was smitten with leprosy and eventually died. It was in the year of the king's death that Isaiah saw "the Lord sitting upon a throne." He lost one king but saw another. We can readily see how Isaiah associated the two events. Isaiah saw God in the Temple. Moses met God in the desert. Amos got a call on the farm. Paul heard Jesus on the road to Damascus, and others have met the Lord in homes, hospitals, in places of work and on the streets of cities. It is important to meet God!

Isaiah saw seraphim — "burning ones" — angels standing about God. Each seraph had six wings, with two he covered his face, with two he covered his feet, with two he used two wings for flight and four for worship. These angels sang antiphonally and praised God for His holiness.

II. A vision of God makes a person conscious of sin. After looking up to God Isaiah looked at himself, looking within, and realized his sinfulness, saying, "Woe is me: for I am undone, because I am a man of unclean lips." Contrition was followed by confession. He realized that his lips were unclean because he had an unclean heart. Observe too that the first became conscious of his own sins and then he saw the sins of others. Too often people see the sins of others first and then, if ever, their own. "I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips." People who are very critical of others seem to be blind to their own sinful condition.

Contrition was followed by confession and confession by cleansing. An angel, with a burning coal in his hand, which he had taken from the altar touched his mouth and his guilt was taken away and his sin was purged. God only can cleanse and take away sin and give us pardon when we plead upon the merits of Jesus Who died for us.

III. God can use cleansed people. After the cleansing God called, "Whom shall I send and who will go for us?" When God calls to service a person who hears the call can do one of two things—he can respond or refuse. Today, God is calling and some respond but many seem to have deaf ears. The young man Isaiah, some one said he was then only twenty years of age, responded and said, "Here am I; send me." The Lord then told Isaiah to go. The little word "go" and the other little word "do" appear a number of times in the Bible. God needs people who will go and do. The divine call is followed by human commitment and then there followed a divine commission.

Holland's Ambassador Enjoys Trip to Stockholm and Resort

By Carl Tidd

Community Ambassador to Sweden

On July 19, I left Amal, my home town, and the Nils Soderstrom family with my 14-year-old brother Goran. We met the remaining members of the Experiment in International Living group and their Swedish brothers and sisters aboard the train headed for Tallberg.

July 19 through 26, the first week of our informal trip, was spent at a resort called Siljansgarden located near Tallberg. Siljansgarden is situated in the heart of the unique old-world province of Dalecarlia in northern Sweden.

The extensive grounds around the resort include fruit, flower and vegetable gardens, playgrounds and bath places along Lake Siljan. We lived in a large log cabin with the girls upstairs and the boys downstairs. Most of our time was spent playing football and tennis, swimming and hiking. One whole day was spent climbing a mountain, which, according to the Swedes, was only three miles high. We thought it was more like six.

The remainder of our time was spent on sightseeing buses, visiting old churches, museums and homes; and watching boat races. July 26 to Aug. 1, the second half of our trip, was spent at Stockholm, the capital and largest city of Sweden. Here, the group stayed at a youth hostel, an inexpensive hotel for young travelers.

The hotel was a melting pot of people with Italian, Swedish and American students plus a few bearded French Benitkins.

While at Stockholm, the group visited King Gustav's Palace and viewed the colorful changing of the guard. We also visited Drottningholm Palace, the king's holiday home; Sigtuna, the second oldest city in Sweden, and Uppsala University which was founded in 1477. We went shopping, visited the historic city hall and viewed the stage play "My Fair Lady" in Swedish.

Several of us spent half a day looking for a self service laundromat. However, after walking for hours and asking for directions from many people, we concluded there are no self service laundromats in Stockholm and visited the nearest dry cleaning establishment.

Our group is led by Miss Elina Holst, a graduate student at the University of Kansas. The other Americans in the group are from North Carolina, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Vermont, Virginia, Delaware, Missouri and Illinois.

With each of us accompanied by a Swedish brother or sister, I am sure this trip did much to strengthen understanding and friendship between our respective countries.

LARGE NEW FAMILY ARRIVES — Barby (left) and Carl, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Wedge of 1587 Perry St., probably have more pets than any two boys in town. Their dog "Penny" recently had a litter of 13 pups.

Although one of the pups died shortly after it was born, there are enough of the fuzzy creatures left to make the two boys the envy of all other boys in the neighborhood.

Wheat Loan Requirements Are Listed

ALLEGAN (Special) — Wheat of the 1960 crop to be offered as security for a farm-storage price-support loan must have been stored in a satisfactory granary at least 30 days before it is inspected for measurement, sampling and sealing, chairman John H. Meyering of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said today in a harvest time reminder to wheat growers.

Other principal farm - storage wheat loan requirements were listed by Mr. Meyering as follows: 1—Ownership of the wheat must rest in the producer who is seeking the loan or in him and a former producer whom he succeeded before the wheat was harvested. 2—Wheat must grade No. 3 or better, or grade No. 4 or No. 5 on the factor of test weight only, or be classed as mixed wheat provided the mixture is a natural product of the field. 3 — Wheat grading "tough," "weavily," "ergoly" or "treated" is ineligible for a farm-storage loan.

The basic price support rate for farm-stored wheat in Allegan County is $1.81 per bushel for No. 1 wheat. High protein content brings a premium. Discounts range from 1 cent a bushel for No. 2, to 15 cents a bushel for garlicky. In addition there is a discount of 20 cents a bushel for 37 specified varieties which are classed as undesirable because of interior milling or baking qualities.

Application for a wheat loan should be made at the county ASC office, located at 205½ Hubbard St., Allegan.

Kathy Stroop ... Holland's youngest tennis player

Ability of Four-Year-Old Girl Amazes Local Tennis Players

"Not even Hamtramck has come up with anything like this," says Reg Plagenhoef when he talks of his youngest tennis pupil, four-year-old Kathy Stroop.

Kathy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stroop of 531 Pine Ave., lives only a block from the 21st St. tennis courts, and apparently the activity there seemed too intriguing to resist.

This tiny athlete who weighs 37 pounds and stands three feet, eight inches tall; is the youngest child to ever pass the beginners test given in the Holland Recreation Department's tennis program.

Plagenhoef said he was simply amazed when Kathy passed the test the first time she tried it.

Kathy began trying her luck on the courts at the beginning of the summer. Since then, by practicing several hours every day, she has become familiar with both the backhand and forehand strokes.

Although there are no other children Kathy's age playing at the courts, she never lacks opponents, for the older netters are more than happy to play with her.

Plagenhoef says that, although it is too early to predict Kathy's tennis future, she does show promise. "The important thing," he adds, is to sustain her interest.

Kathy will be five years old on Saturday, Aug. 13.

John Vogelzang Honored on His 83rd Birthday

John Vogelzang Sr. of 168 West 32nd St., who for 38 years has been in the hardware business in Holland, was honored by his children Saturday evening when they gathered at his home in observance of his 83rd birthday anniversary.

Children of Mr. Vogelzang are John Jr., William, Abraham, Leonard, Mrs. Peter Tuls and Miss Geraldine Vogelzang of Holland, the Rev. Nicholas Vogelzang of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Mrs. Bernard H. Kuipers of Grand Rapids.

Mr. Vogelzang came to this country from the Netherlands in 1907 with his bride, making the trip their honeymoon. Before going into the hardware business he worked in several Holland factories including the West Michigan Furniture Co., the Holland Furnace

John Vogelzang

Co. and Western Machine Tool Works. He opened his own contracting business in 1919 and later was joined by Warner De Leeuw. After World War I he opened a small hardware business on Washington Square. The business expanded and he later was joined by his sons.

Mr. Vogelzang is a member of Sixteenth Street Christian Reformed Church and each year attends the Christian Reformed Church synod meetings in Grand Rapids. He served as alderman of the city for two terms, the first from 1936 to 1938 under Mayor Nicodemus Bosch and the other from 1938 to 1940 under Mayor Henry Geerlings.

Fairy Tale Given By Young Players

Resorters in the Castle Park area were treated to an original production by a group of young people Monday night at the Little Farm theater at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Raphael on the Castle Park Rd.

"Rapunzel," the fairy tale adapted by Nanalee Raphael and Greg White was given for a standing-room-only audience. It had been scheduled for three nights, but the Prince had to go out of town, so the cast put the play on at 3 p.m. in the afternoon and in the evening.

Every bit of the work in fixing an old chicken coop-barn, making costumes, painting scenery, writing scripts in long hand and the actual rehearsals were done by the children themselves.

Dick Candee directed the play as the "senior" member of the group. The cast included Greg White, King; Vicki LaMar, guard; Melodie Wise, Queen; Ross Zoerhof, Prince; Vicki Lamar, Constantine; Greg White, husband; Bonnie Raphael, wife; Nanalee Raphael, witch and Jane Allen, Rapunzel.

Play acting comes naturally to many of the children in the play. Several have taken part in the Red Barn productions and have a flair for theatricals. They formed a corporation and take no money as salary. They may repeat the play later to accommodate those who could not be seated in the Little Theatre in the barn.

Nab Youths After Chase

Two Hamilton youths and one from Holland appeared before Laketown Township Justice Gordon Van Putten Saturday night following their arrests by Holland police cinaxing a high-speed chase south of the city. A 15-year-old Holland juvenile involved was turned over to his parents.

Dick R. Van Dam, 17, of 250 East 24th St., driver of the car, pleaded guilty to reckless driving, being a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. He paid fine and costs of $39.30 for reckless driving and $14.30 for being a minor in possession. Fine and costs of $14.30 for contributing to the delinquency of a minor were suspended.

Melvin Sterken and Howard Buscher, both 17, of Hamilton, each paid fine and costs of $28.60 on

ELM DISEASE TAKES ITS TOLL—Another large elm tree in Holland falls, victim of the dread "Dutch Elm" disease. This tree, located at the corner of 34th St. and Central Ave., was felled by city employees Bernard Hibma (left) and Ed Kraai, standing at the base of the tree as it starts to topple. According to Jake De Graaf of the City Parks Department, 45 privately owned elms and 27 city-owned trees have been condemned this year as a result of the disease. De Graaf said that this total is about on a par with the 1959 total. Once the deadly fungus strikes a tree, it is doomed, De Graaf said. (Sentinel photo)

Parks Department Fighting To Save City's Elm Trees

The city of Holland is engaged in an all-out war with a seldom-seen, sinister enemy who relies on germ warfare.

The enemy is the European bark beetle. The beetle's weapon is a deadly fungus which is attacking and destroying the city's elm trees.

For several years, men from Holland's Parks Department have been spraying elm trees in the city in an effort to wipe out the beetle which makes its home in elm trees.

The European bark beetle carries a lethal fungus which is the cause of Dutch Elm disease. As the beetle roams from tree to tree, it spreads the fungus.

According to Jacob De Graaf, Parks Department Superintendent, once a tree is infected with Dutch Elm disease, it is doomed. The only thing that can be done is to destroy the tree to keep the disease from spreading, De Graaf said.

So far this year 45 privately owned elms and 27 city-owned trees have been condemned as a result of the dread disease.

Whether the people of Holland are winning their war against Dutch Elm disease remains to be seen, but at least there has not been an increase over 1959, De Graaf said.

Spraying is at best a long-range program. According to C. A. Boyer, chief of the plant industries division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, it takes about five or six years for an effective spray program to become established.

Local governments in Michigan spend about $6 million a year on spray programs and the state puts in another $70,000. Michigan has the best spray program in the United States, but it's not enough, Boyer said.

The state will work with any community in carrying out a tree sanitation program, which includes spraying and removing infected trees. The state is involved with disease control programs in about 400 communities.

The state will not condemn a tree unless it has been diagnosed as infected by laboratory people working for the Department of Agriculture.

State law requires that if a tree is diseased it must come down.

On public property, Holland city employees will cut down and destroy diseased trees. On private property, the owner must take care of the removal and destruction.

Spray programs started in Lansing and Detroit nearly 10 years ago are paying off. Ted Haskell, Lansing city forester, said the spray program in Lansing has been effective for about two or three years. It was started in the early fifties.

In Detroit, Chief forester Frank Vaydik, said that for the past three years it appears that the disease is on the decline. Detroit's program against the disease began in 1950.

Vaydik said that since the start of the program in 1950, about 5,000 trees have been destroyed. He said that this figure represented about one-quarter of one per cent of the trees in the city.

In parts of the state where disease control programs are not yet as effective, Dutch Elm disease is killing up to 10 per cent of the elm trees each year.

Spraying trees is expensive, but not nearly so expensive as destroying them. Only a mist blower or hydraulic type spray apparatus can be used in the program because of the need to saturate the tree. The tree must be hit from all sides to be certain of getting rid of the beetles.

charges of being minors in possession and contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Police spotted the youths traveling at a high rate of speed on the US-31 bypass and followed them east on 32nd St., after they turned off the bypass, to 52nd Ave. The chase led south on 52nd Ave. to 144th Ave., where the youths were apprehended after speeds up to 85 miles per hour, police said.

Couple United in Marriage At Faith Reformed Church

Spiral candelabra with bouquets of white and pink gladioli and ferns formed the background for the marriage of Miss Marcia Lou Wiersma and Jack Van Eden which took place Friday at 8 p.m. in Faith Reformed Church of Zeeland.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel George Wiersma of 9816 Wiersma Ave., Zeeland, was given in marriage by her father. The Rev. Edward Tanis performed the double ring rites. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. John Van Eden of 428 West Lawrence St., Zeeland.

For the occasion Miss Wiersma selected a floor length gown of organza over taffeta. The basque bodice was complemented by a Venise lace scoop neckline and banded butterfly sleeves. The full circular skirt was accented with Venise lace flower appliques and a flowing aisle sweeping train enhanced the back. A crown, trimmed with pearls held her shoulder length veil and she carried a cascade of white roses.

For her maid of honor the bride chose her sister, Judith K. Wiersma, who was attired in a gown of light blue silk over taffeta featuring a sabrina neckline, white lace bodice and a full skirt. Ottawa County Farm News

By Richard Machiele

Ottawa County Extension Director

We have had word from John Trocke that he will be starting on his new job in the county on Sept. 1. John has had considerable experience as county agent in two different counties in the state and we are very happy he has taken the job in horticultural specialties.

Ottawa county cattle feeders will be interested in the 37th annual Cattle Feeders Day on the campus at M. S. U. on Aug. 18. There will be some interesting experimental results to be shown and discussed on high moisture corn, hay pellets, corn silage, protein supplements, tranquilizers and antibiotics, and others. Dr. Robert Kramer will discuss the outlook for beef cattle feeders, and Ralph Schramm will give some observations on feeding cattle. There will also be a question and answer session on your problems. The meeting starts at 10 a.m. in Anthony Hall, Michigan State University.

It has been called to our attention that the weed problem in Ottawa County is becoming more serious each year. Part of this situation may be due to idle land that has been placed in the soil bank. I feel that if weeds are not controlled but allowed to go to seed, this will become a more and more serious problem each year. Each farmer in the county should make an effort to control weeds on his farm. I'm sure no one wants to jeopardize the man who is trying to grow cultivated to the problem, and I'm sure the condition will correct itself.

The Department of Agriculture informs us that their men are working in Ottawa County at the present time checking for common barberry. This will be going on through October. Common barberry is a host for wheat rust. The department has been working on the problem for years and most barberry has been eradicated. If you know of barberry growing in your area, I'm sure the department will be real pleased to hear from you. You can send word through our office, and we will relay your message to them.

Burglars Loot 2 Businesses

Thieves looted two Holland businesses Thursday night, one for the 15th time.

Holland detectives said thieves made off with a money bag containing $80 to $90 from the Wooden Shoe Texaco service station on East 16th St. Owner John De Graaf said this was the 15th time in five years the station had been broken into. The last break-in occurred in October 1958.

About $10 in small change and a table radio were taken from Russ Plasmans' barber shop on West 17th St. in the second break-in.

Detectives said the burglars broke into the service station by prying a front overhead door open. The money, part of the day's receipts, had been hidden.

Thieves broke a small window in the back door at Plasmans' barber shop and reached in to unlock the door, detectives said. The money taken was in pennies, nickels and dimes.

Pair Injured in 2-Car Intersection Crash
