Dump Fee Plan Starts Sept. 1

Starting Sept. 1 the city dump will operate under a fee system as part of a new garbage and refuse ordinance which City Council passed Wednesday night at the conclusion of one of the longest meetings in recent years, adjourning at 10:45 p.m. after more than 3 1/4 hours dealing with a host of varied subjects.

The four-page ordinance, which will be published in its entirety later in The Sentinel, is changed but little from the previous ordinance except to operate a land fill at the dump under a fee system, plus a few changes in the burning section which has been "liberalized" to reflect existing practices. No refuse may be burned inside or outside in any mitter to create nuisances.

Along with the ordinance, Council also passed a resolution setting up fees at the dump. Both proposed passed by an 8 to 1 vote. Donald Oosterbaan dissenting in both cases. Oosterbaan was a member of the original study committee on garbage and had favored a city-wide collection program.

Dump fees follow:

A passenger vehicle of a Holland city resident who subscribes to a licensed garbage and refuse collection service for his dwelling will be admitted without charge upon identification (details not worked out).

Such identified passenger vehicles with trailer, 25 cents.

Other passenger vehicles, 25 cents.

Other passenger vehicles with trailer, 50 cents.

Trucks (pickups, panels, vans) up to 4,000 pounds, 75 cents.

Trucks up to 4,000 pounds with trailer, $1.50.

Trucks over 4,000 pounds other than packers, $1.25.

Trucks over 4,000 pounds with trailer, $2.50.

Packers, $2.50.

An annual fee for a passenger vehicle of a Holland city resident who does not subscribe to a licensed garbage and refuse collection service, $5.

The resolution also provided for hours of operation. On Mondays through Saturdays, the dump will be in operation from 7 a.m. to two hours before sunset. The dump will be closed on Sundays, New Years Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

No logs, tree stumps or car bodies are to be dumped, and no scavenging is to be permitted in the landfill.

Eugene Vande Vusse, chairman of the study committee on garbage, felt that Council is making a grave mistake in adopting a weak ordinance. Vande Vusse had favored a city-wide garbage pickup. Bertal Slagh, third member of the committee who had opposed a compulsory program, termed this a "sour grapes" statement and Mayor Pro Tem Henry Steffens who was presiding at the committee-of-the-whole meeting quickly rapped for order.

Garbage collection has been a hot issue since the study committee submitted alternate recommendations last spring. A city-wide pickup was abandoned in favor of continuing the present voluntary program but establishing a landfill under a fee system at the dump.

A series of arrests on outdoor burning violations early in April whipped public indignation to fever pitch. Council held its first reading of the garbage and refuse ordinance June 17 and then held a special study session late in July.

Decision to purchase a tractor with a bulldozer blade and a tilt top carryall trailer to transport the tractor for landfill operations was made June 17. The tractor for $22,540 is being purchased from Earle Equipment Co., of Grand Rapids, lowest of four bids submitted, and the carryall trailer from the E.K.S. Equipment Co. of Grand Rapids for $3,059.38, lowest of eight bids submitted.

Grand Haven Child Dies In Home Fire

GRAND HAVEN — Five-year-old Dirk Ryther died when fire destroyed the family home at 407 Lafayette St. shortly before midnight Tuesday, and his mother suffered severe burns in rescuing another child.

Mrs. Glenda Ryther, 23, was in shock Wednesday in Grand Haven Municipal Hospital. She had managed to save her three-year-old daughter Kelley but was unable to save the boy.

Two firemen were injured in the fire, one suffering from smoke inhalation and the other from back injuries received when he fell from a ladder. Both were taken to Municipal Hospital and released after treatment.

Mrs. Ryther, the former Glenda Vanden Brand, had gone to a neighbor's home for a fuse after the Ryther home was plunged into darkness and returned to find the house on fire. With the aid of a neighbor she rescued her daughter from the top of the stairs, but was unable to return for Dirk who was farther away. Dense smoke and a burning carpet held the mother back.

Firemen said the boy was burned but probably suffocated from the heavy smoke which filled the house. An autopsy was scheduled.

Mrs. Ryther's husband, David, was at work at Brunswick - Balke-Collender Co. in Muskegon at the time of the fire.

The children were sleeping in an upstairs bedroom.

Damage to the house is estimated at $8,000 plus $3,000 to $4,000 for furnishings.

The child is survived by the parents, the sister; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Vanden Brand of Grand Haven, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ann Ryther of Owosso.

3 Proposals Face Voters In November

Pay Raises for Mayor, Councilmen Included In Propositions

Holland voters will face three city propositions on the Nov. 3 ballot, according to action taken by City Council Wednesday night. The proposition are subject to approval by the governor and attorney general.

One proposal calls for boosting the mayor's pay to $1,500 a year and councilmen to $500 a year. Currently, Councilmen are paid $5 a meeting but not to exceed $180 a year, and the mayor is paid an extra $100.

Councilman Morris Peerbolt, chairman of the special charter study committee explained that no changes would be made during current terms, and the new salaries, if approved, would be effective only at the start of new terms. Half of the councilmen's terms run to 1967.

Another proposal calls for changing the limitation on library operations in the city budget. The present charter states appropriations may not exceed 1 per cent of the total assessment. The new revision calls for "transferring a sufficient amount from unencumbered balances within the budget."

The third proposal calls for limiting the terms of members to Library Board, Hospital Board and Board of Public Works to two terms. The revision provides that no person shall be eligible for reappointment to either of the three boards if he is serving his second consecutive full term on such board.

Peerbolt said this would encourage more citizens to participate in public service. "I'm not saying that experience does not count. It does. But five-year terms are long, and 10 years' service on a board constitutes quite a contribution. We fully recognize the importance of these boards and the great contributions of their members," he said.

All measures require a three-fifths majority for passage.

Fr. Francis Branigan will be the celebrant and burial will be in Lake Forest cemetery.

The grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Vanden Brand of Grand Haven who were on a vacation trip in Canada were contacted by the border patrol Wednesday morning at the borderline of Minnesota and Canada and returned to Grand Haven by plane late Wednesday afternoon.

In other business, Council considered a communication from Municipal Judge John Galien submitting the name of Gerald J. Van Wyke for appointment as associate municipal judge. Judge Galien suggested Council appoint a committee to study per diem remuneration of the associate judge. The communication was received for study.

Mayor Bosman was designated official representative and Eugene Vande Vusse alternate to the annual meeting of the Michigan Municipal League to be held in Lansing in September. Since the regular meeting of council Sept. 16 falls during the League meetings, Council will meet instead on Sept. 23.

Council granted a request from Taylor Produce Co. to use water at its plant at 449 Howard Ave. for 30 days because of the emergency condition due to the shortage of water for compressors. The request is to use water from a hydrant on the property of Holland Color and Chemical Co. for 30 days during the present fruit season for which Taylor Produce is willing to pay twice the regular rate. The request had come through the Board of Public Works.

There were three bids.

A list of delinquent utility bills remaining unpaid as of July 31, 1964, were ordered placed on the fall tax roll of 1964. The list had been compiled by the city auditor. Councilman Eugene Vande Vusse suggested that the Board of Public Works do a better job of policing unpaid bills in the belief that more effort at the source would reduce work on tax bills.

Council approved transfer of $15,000 of balances in special assessment accounts which have matured to the revolving public improvement fund, as commended by the city manager and city auditor. A transfer of $575 also was approved from the contingent account to repair check writing equipment in the city auditor's office.

Unanimously approved was a proposed culvert agreement between the city and Mr. and Mrs. Don Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit De Leeuw and Mr. and Mrs. Warner De Leeuw in sharing costs up to a 36-inch pipe for the tiling of 94 feet of open storm sewer between lots 32 and 33 in Wildwood subdivision.

The oath of office of John Sternberg as a member of the Board of Appeals was placed on file.

A letter from Gerald J. Kruef Sr., 300 West 28th St., expressed the opinion that posted speed limits in many places in the city are not realistic. He also expressed favor for a city-wide garbage collection program. His letter was referred to the Traffic and Safety Commission for study.

Communications from Sen. Philip Hart and Rep. Edward Hutchins relative to closing the Internal Revenue Service office in Holland were read. Both gave information on the workload of the Holland office.

Councilman Bertal Slaghe referred an offer he had received from a local citizen to provide shuffleboard courts in Centennial Park to the city manager for study and report.

Councilman Harold Volkema referred to the city manager a proposal to establish angle parking in the city parking lot near Mills store. The city manager was given power to act. Volkema also referred to the manager a proposal to allocate parking space for boat trailers at Kollen Park leaving it to the discretion of the manager how large such an area should be. He suggested areas at both parking lots, one on the lake and the other at the higher level.

Councilman Richard Smith asked about some safety measures for bicyclists on Lincoln Ave. between 16th and 24th Sts. in the vicinity of the South Side Swimming Pool. He felt some identification should be put up in recreational neighborhood and also pointed to possible improvements in street lighting. The matter was referred to the city manager with power to act.

Councilman John Van Eerden commented that bicycles used at night should be equipped with lights and suggested that parents should insist either on lights or that youngsters not ride in the dark.

Mayor Nelson Bosman presided at the 3 1/4 hour meeting. Councilman Volkema gave the invocation.

Pumping Station Sets New Record

Holland's pumping station again pumped a record supply of water to the city and to Zeeland according to Guy E. Bell, superintendent of public utilities.

The new record is 11,996,000 gallons. The old record of 10,285,000 gallons was set at the station last Tuesday, Bell said.

The new overall record for the station does not equal the record amount used by the city, however, because 2,574,000 gallons of the total were sent to Zeeland. The record for water use in the city is still 9,942,000 gallons set June 24, 1963.

Bell said the station will probably set more records unless the hot weather and drought conditions are eased in the near future.

Holland also set a record Tuesday for the highest demand on the electric plant in an hour's period. Bell said that the demand hit 28,500 kilowatts per hour at one time Tuesday.

Hope Student Enjoys Trip To Vienna

VIENNA — A Michigan student is very glad to have a chance to see Europe with his own eyes "because this trip helped me a lot to broaden my outlook on world affairs."

William C. Poppink, Muskegon, Mich., is one of 61 students to join the summer school of his college here in Vienna. Hope College of Holland, Mich., has staged summer schools in Vienna for eight consecutive years in which students have a chance to deepen their knowledge of European history, art literature and music in a seven weeks study course and at the same time travel across nearly all of Europe.

Good-looking Bill said that it is ideal when Europeans and Americans come into contact with each other "because they can influence each other so much."

Bill's parents are William A. Poppink and F. Coma Poppink.

Describing his experiences in Europe Bill said that Europe seems to go on a slower pace, "sometimes at a pace too slow for me." He added that on the other hand Europeans "seem much more conscious of history than we are."

"History seems to mean much more for Europeans than it means to us," Bill said.

The tall Michigan student said that he enjoys his stay in Vienna very much, especially the many opportunities to attend concerts.

One of the deepest impressions of Bill was a visit across the Iron Curtain to Communist Czechoslovakia. Hope College staged a weekend visit to Prague last month.

"I cannot understand how people can live under a Communist system, when they have an opportunity to compare with it the West," Bill said. He was also shocked by arguments with Czech Communists "who twisted everything we said around." He added that their only slogan is, "Socialism is right, capitalism is wrong."

Bill was very enthusiastic about the whole program, "because it gave an opportunity to travel around and at the same time study the background."

Work Starts On Bridge

GRAND HAVEN — L. W. Lamb Co. of Holland started work Tuesday on the new $1,000,000 fixed span bridge over the inlet to Spring Lake from Grand river on M104.

Only a small crew started working Tuesday for the Lamb firm but a full crew will soon be transferred from a job the company is completing at Grand Rapids.

Officials of the Michigan state highway department and the Lamb firm have erected offices on the site and the four-lane bridge is to be ready for traffic Oct. 1, 1965. It will be erected 100 feet south of the present two-lane jackknife bridge.

Water under the bridge will be 108 feet and the normal water level overhead clearance will be 35 feet. Plans call for the crew to begin driving steel sheeting today for one of the four piers that will support the five-span bridge. The bridge will be supported by four piers and an abutment at each end.

Memoirs of Vogelzang Sr. Put Into Booklet Form

A surprise feature of an open house Tuesday honoring John Vogelzang Sr. on his 87th birthday anniversary was the presentation of his memoirs in booklet form.

The open house was held in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Peter Tuls, Chicago Dr., and some 125 friends and relatives paid calls.

Vogelzang's son, the Rev. N. Vogelzang of Lansing, Ill., had prevailed upon him to write something of his early life and history for pursuit by family and friends.

This resulted in painstaking writing on about 100 rolls of shelf paper 18 inches wide and 25 feet long. The booklet presented to him on his 87th birthday represented the first three rolls which were edited and put into book form entitled "Two Worlds of Mercy" with subtitle of "A story of God's covenant mercies toward one of His children — an immigrant from the old world of Europe to the new world of America."

This booklet tells of Vogelzang's birth and the origins of his family. One early remembrance was hunger in early childhood . . . his mother firmly believed in "fast days" on Sunday. His grandfather who lived in the home held that periodic fastings were according to scripture and old and young should participate.

Vogelzang describes his grandfather as "a much beloved man by his church for he was a pious man and devoted to the 'Agescheide' (separated) church, a very young church which was an outgrowth of the state church."

He continues: "My grandfather was a veteran of the war between Belgium and the Netherlands during which time Belgium won its independence from the Netherlands. He would regale us with tales of adventure, the long night marches, the violent battles and the hard life of the army. Through it all, grandfather kept his faith and became a man who could recite whole chapters of the Bible by heart."

The booklet also contains chapters on "Brother's Severe Illness," "The Lord Saves Me from the Falling Beam," "Early Dutch Writers and Poets," "Our Family Tree," "Stories of the Napoleonic Wars," "The Visits of the Cossacks," "Napoleon and Us," "How We Got Our Surname," "My Great Grandparents Lose Their Home," "Sir Lubbers and Our Land," "The Large Landowners," "Baron van Pol and His Castle," "Making Over the New Land," "School, Father and the Circus," "Fun With the Sheep," "The Theft of Our Animal, The Thief Apprehended (and his punishment of Grinding Lime to His Death)," "Falling Through the Ice," "Of Doctors and Different Things," "Mother's Illness," "Christian Day School Education" and "My Brother and I Make Confession of Faith."

The initial booklet is being enlarged for further use by family and friends. No attempts are being made at this time to find a publisher.

Review Plans For Hospital Addition

The Hospital Building committee is currently reviewing preliminary plans for a new hospital addition as drawn up by Schmidt, Garden and Erikson, Chicago architects.

General plans call for a four-story wing to extend westward from the present building in the vicinity of the rear emergency entrance. This wing would parallel the 1967 addition with basement and ground floors given over to services and the two upper floors to patient rooms. Patient rooms on the first floor of the original building also would be given over to services, and bed capacity would be increased from the present 143 beds to approximately 195 beds.

The committee has also considered proposals to add another two floors to the 1967 addition and limit new construction to two floors, but this arrangement would result in 31 fewer beds at a cost of $113,000 less than the four-floor addition. In general, the committee is thinking of a $2,000,000 building program. Split construction (building in two areas) is more costly than a single unit, architects point out.

Plans call for financing the new addition through an increase in hospital rates. A $3 to $4 boost went into effect July 1. This figure may be adjusted as plans progress.

The committee hopes to take bids by June 1, 1965, with construction starting shortly thereafter. Construction will take 1 to 1 1/2 years.

William J. Brouwer of the Hospital Board heads the building committee which consists of the board and representatives of the medical staff and city officials.

Other members are Clarence Becker, John H. Van Dyke, Mrs. Richard Oudersluis, Clarence Jalving, Dr. W.J. Winter, Dr. J.K. Winter, Dr. J.B. Kearney, Dr. S. Walter Kuipers, Dr. William Rotschafer, Mayor Nelson Bosman, City Manager H. Holt, City Clerk D.W. Schipper and Hospital Director Frederick S. Burd.

Vacating of Dykema Court Is Tabled

After spending 1 1/2 hours on a public hearing on vacating a portion of Dykema Ct. west of Fairbanks Ave. in the vicinity of Home Furnace Co., City Council Wednesday night tabled action on the proposal for a month to allow time for the Traffic and Safety Commission to study traffic safety in the neighborhood.

The original request was for closing a portion of the 13-foot wide court lying west of a line 258 feet west of Fairbanks Ave. Main objections came from Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gamby, 138 Fairbanks Ave., who were accompanied by about a dozen residents of the neighborhood. Mrs. Gamby presented two petitions opposing the closing, one signed by 23 residents of the neighborhood and the other signed by 17 non-residents.

One of the main objections to closing the court was that residents use a trail through the area to cut across the C and O tracks to the depot and then to points west, a route they consider far safer than proceeding south on Fairbanks Ave. to Eighth St. where there is no walk on the north side of the road.

Vernon D. Ten Cate, attorney for Home Furnace Co. as well as an official of the industry, said the situation was one of expanding business versus inconvenience to residents. He said the company is expanding and has added more than 100 employees in the past year. He was sympathetic to the residents in the neighborhood on wear and tear on an inadequate road, but pointed to the ever growing need of broadening the city's tax base if jobs are to be provided for an exploding population.

The situation became confused at times, jumping from subject to subject highlighting the rights of individuals, industrial expansion, crossing private property, dangers of crossing railroads at places other than public crossings, heavy semis passing within six feet of bedroom windows, roaring hotrods, and dust, dirt and grime.

Finally, Councilman Henry Steffens moved that the safety angle be referred to the Traffic and Safety Commission for study in the belief that citizens of Holland should be able to walk the streets of the city in safety. Councilman Morris Peerbolt made the motion to table action on the subject for a month.

Holland Woman Impressed With Traditions of Vienna

By Marion A. Stryker

The Hope College Vienna Summer School with its 61 students is a very exciting and busy place this year. Excursions are planned almost every day by some professor. Today (July 23) for instance, I viewed the remains of all the early Viennese.

A tour through the catacombs in the St. Stephens Cathedral took us past the bins of bones of those who died of the black plague in the 15th century. Seventeen hundred thirty-five citizens succumbed so rapidly to this horrible disease that there was no time to build coffins for them. Therefore they were placed in paper bags and interred in a common grave. Years later convicts were given the order to exhume the bones and pile them neatly in the bins in the catacombs of St. Stephens, (this is evidence of the reverence Europeans feel for all people, things and events of the past).

Other bones in such bins are of those who were buried in the original churchyard where the Cathedral was built. To provide space for the edifice and to take care of the dead, the remains were exhumed and "fired," often with the name of the person on the skull, plus the cause of death; i.e. a snake bite illustrated with picture of a snake. These are the lowly buried in common bins.

Other Austrian great deceased are standing around in coffins, the bones, that is, the entrails being in containers on shelves with the hearts in still other places.

One particularly interesting item on such a shelf is the entailed of Napoleon II draped neatly with red, white and blue ribbons. His bones, however, were returned to France by Hitler, circa 1940, as a generous gesture, but his heart (in another church) and his entailed remains in Vienna.

From the underground catacombs the professor of German Civilization piloted us to the Kapuzinergruft where all the Hapsburgs (the former ruling family of Austria) are at rest in baroque, pewter coffins of which the Austrians are very proud.

One of special significance is that of Empress Maria Theresa (who died in 1780) and her husband, Emperor Franz Stephan Lothringen (1765). Twelve of their 16 children are interred here also, the others, including three who entered the Church and Marie Antoinette who was beheaded in France, are buried elsewhere.

The coffins here are ornately decorated with the Crucified Christ, the subject's crown, the Eagle emblem of Austria, and friezes of skulls. The latter signify to the Austrian the futility of power. No matter how great one becomes, death makes all equal. Perhaps living with these symbols of life and death promotes the Austrians' contentment with moderate living—no desire or effort to "get ahead."

Philosophies I have come to know here, which are practiced and enjoyed, include "happy is the man who can forget about a matter he can do nothing about," and "why do a thing the simple way if you can do it complicated." The first may account for the young Austrian's lack of interest in things political, and the second I run into every day on the strassenbahn (streetcar). It seems they have different tram tickets to apply for each half hour of the day. At least that is true before 8 a.m., from 8 to 8:30 and after 8:30 a.m. I have lots of tickets, but the one I show is never right when I get on.

The Austrians, however, are so very charming about everything that all one can do is try to be charming in return for every frustration. In fact one feels happy to say "danke schon," (thanks very much), "entschuldigen sie, bitte," (excuse me please) and "auf wiedersehen," (till we meet again) and all the formalities they employ with so much feeling.

Vienna is a good place to slow down, reappraise one's "system" and start enjoying everything leisurely. I must say I like it.

"THE FACTS ARE AGAINST ME, BUT"

David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America, recently stated that within the next twenty years computers would set up a revolution in the social sciences comparable to that which has happened in the physical sciences. This means, if Mr. Sarnoff is correct, that even if a man has reached the "middle age" category, he may live through this new period of change and invention.

The time will come when every man will have his number, which will be related to all the pertinent information one will need about him, whether that be his credit rating, his physical status, his social status, or what have you. When this time comes, work in the usual sense in which we describe it will have to be redefined.

To most of us the whole picture of a computerized society seems filled with dread as it shows the depersonalization of human beings. But when one sees man as more than factual information, the picture changes.

We can well imagine Washington at Valley Forge hearing from his computer analyst that all hope of victory has vanished, and surrender is inevitable. But the colonists had more than facts, and fought on. When England, after its defeat on the continent, returned to the island in a thousand little boats, computer sense would have called for an end to the war. But the British fought on, held on, and refused to give up the fight.

We suppose in every life there are stories of situations, which judged by factual data, spelled doom and failure. Yet the doom and failure was turned into victory because men refused to accept such a verdict. Man is more than a bundle of information. He has a soul, a destiny, a purpose, and God. Computers will certainly have their place in life and civilization, but they must never replace the man who has a heart and a soul.

Sunday School Lesson

God's People Learn to Worship
Exodus 25:1-2,8; 35:20-22;
40:12-15

By C.P. Dame

God trained the Israelites during their wilderness journey. They needed it much for they had been slaves and consequently had a slave mentality. God was training the nation so that it in turn could teach other nations.

The people had received the Ten Commandments. The people needed to know how to worship and gain spiritual power to keep them.

I. People need to learn to give. "Speak unto the children of Israel that they bring me an offering." God did not need it but the people had to be taught to give to God.

We should remember that God has the right to demand an offering. All we have comes from him. Those who do not give to God disobey him. Generous giving shows spirituality.

II. God believes in church buildings. "And let them make me a sanctuary; that I may dwell among them" — so God said. The people were told to build the sanctuary of the finest and best material.

God wants people to worship him for their own good. Many people forget to worship God on Sundays — especially in August when the weather is hot.

Golf, boating, fishing, driving appeals much more than worship to millions but not to those who love the Lord and his House. It is in accord with God's order that there are churches in which people can worship the Lord of all.

III. Generous, thankful people give. "And they came, every one whose heart stirred him up" and they brought their gifts cheerfully. They gave for the building of a tabernacle and for things that were connected with worship.

These people brought personal things which no doubt had sentimental value — "bracelets and earrings, and rings, and tablets, all jewels of gold." It is an inspiring sight to see a whole congregation get stirred up and do something big for the Lord.

Usually only about a third of a congregation get stirred up — how to get the two-thirds in the congregation stirred up to do something is the problem.

IV. Spiritual leadership is important. God told Moses to set Aaron and his sons apart for spiritual service. Moses was told to put holy garments on Aaron and to anoint him and sanctify him as priest. The tribe of Levi was set apart for spiritual leadership.

Paul writes about apostles, prophets, evangelists, pastors and teachers — all spiritual leaders. In the Roman Catholic Church there is a limited priesthood. Protestantism believes in the universal priesthood of all believers. Most churches have pastors, elders and deacons to manage the affairs of the congregation.

God led Israel in a special manner. God led them by a cloud — when it moved the nation moved, when it did not move the people rested. Well, we need God's direction today in the Christian Church — not the guidance and direction of a hierarchy — this is not good. God's Spirit will lead — will we follow?

Install New Lighting Downtown

A greater section of downtown Holland Friday was being equipped with new, brighter fluorescent street lights.

During the next two months, Board of Public Works servicemen will install a total of 56 of the new 39,000-lumen units, replacing the older 6,000 to 10,000-lumen incandescent lights.

Plans call for installation of the new lights on Eighth St., between River and Maple Aves.; on River Ave. from Sixth St. to 10th St., and on Central and College Aves., between Seventh and Ninth Sts.

The double-unit fluorescent lamps were installed on Eighth St., between Columbia Ave. and River Ave., two years ago. The new lamp provides three to four times the light output of the older incandescent lamp, BPW Superintendent Guy E. Bell said.

Cost of the street light replacement project is $25,000, about the same as the installation of original fluorescent lighting in the three-block section of Eighth St. between River and Columbia Aves.

A total of 44 replacement units are being installed in the downtown area, and 12 lights, with new poles, will be placed in the two-block sections of Central and College Aves.

Bell said it was necessary to replace wooden poles along Central and College Aves. with poles similar to those being used on Eighth St.

No rigorous schedule exists for replacing the older lights, Bell said. BPW servicemen are installing the new lights between other routine jobs and are expected to complete installation at a rate of two or three units a day. Bell said he expected the current replacement would take until about Oct. 1.

Pair Shoots Record 127 For 36 Holes

Chuck Taylor of Spring Lake and Harold Brink of Grand Rapids fired a record 127 to win the seventh annual Tulip City Best Ball golf tournament Saturday at the American Legion Memorial Park course.

After shooting a blistering eight-under par 62 Friday, the two veteran amateurs came back with a fine 65 Saturday to slash the 129 score set in the 1963 tourney by Jack Van Ess and Dick Norton.

A record 86 teams played in the 36-hole tournament and received a total of $1,195 in merchandise certificates. Taylor and Brink each received $100 in merchandise certificates.

There were playoffs for second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth places. Dick Przybylek, playing with Bob Przybylek, sank a birdie putt on the second hole to win second place over Barry Dean and Doug Hankey, Michigan amateur king. Both teams finished with 130. The Przybyleks each received $80 in certificates and Hankey and Dean received $70.

In a three-way playoff for fourth place between Carl Herrud and Bob Petchauer, Dick Marr and Bob Meyer and Tom Sasamoto and Wyn Vandenberg, Herrud and Petchauer won when Petchauer sank a birdie putt on the second hole. Herrud and Petchauer each received $60 in merchandise awards.

The playoff for fifth and sixth continued until the fifth hole when Sasamoto of Holland dropped a 35-foot birdie putt. Sasamoto had also birdied No. 4 but Meyer knotted the play-off with a birdie on a 20-foot putt. The three teams finished with 131.

It marked the fourth year the Holland duo of Sasamoto and Vandenberg were in a playoff for one of the top five places in the tourney. They each received $50 in merchandise certificates.

Taking the next three places were Frank Skestone Sr. and Ted Kolenda, Frank Skestone Jr., and Al Dimavicius and Ed Gregas and Jim Grady. All finished with 132. Defending champions Van Ess and Norton fired 133 for 10th spot.

The real story of the day was the performance of 15-year-old Mike Page, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Page of 58 Birchwood. The 5'5", 106-pound Holland High sophomore played with his father and they finished with a 69-69, two under par 138. On Mike's own ball he had a 72-71 143, only three over par, including a four under par 31 on the back nine Saturday.

Mike had birdies on the 315 yard 11th hole and on the 415-yard 14th hole, considered the toughest hole on the course. He also birdied the 467-yard 17th hole.

Added to his performance was an eagle two on the 275-yard 16th hole. He punched a 50-yard second shot that ran up the side of the elevated green and into the cup. This hole is popularly called the "wedding cake."

Other merchandise awards were given for each 10th place finish and Holland teams took three of the prizes. Gerald Kramer and Milt Vandenberg finished 20th with 136. They won on a draw over three other teams including Tom Eastman and Ken De Waard of Holland. Curly Dorn and Jim McKnight of Holland took 50th winning on a draw over six other teams including Ted Sasamoto and Ted Yamaoka, and Dave Hanson and Cecil Helmink of Holland. Two Firms Aid Success Of Ranger 7

The success of the Ranger 7 moon shot Friday was of particular interest to many persons in Holland.

The amazing accuracy finally attained on the Ranger space trip is the result of millions of hours of testing electronic parts and materials. Thousands of test chambers are in use for this type of research effort. More than one hundred men are working full time in Holland designing and building the testing chambers. Since 1951 several thousand test chambers have been manufactured here.

Conrad Inc. a subsidiary of Crampton Mfg. Company (now Gulf and Western) is one of the larger organizations in the country engaged in this work. Some of the test facilities from Conrad Inc. were used at the Jet Propulsion Laboratories in California for testing of the Ranger spacecraft during its development.

Thermotron Corporation in Holland also manufactures specialized test cabinets, and systems. These too are used by many of the nation's electronic equipment, missile and spacecraft manufacturers for quality control and development work on their products.

Test chambers for the successful Mercury space flight program, the Gemini and Apollo, development programs were or are presently being made here. Equipment for the TFX supersonic fighter is also being proof tested in chambers made in Holland.

Guests View Local Firm's Operations

An open house was held Friday evening at the Thermotron Corp., 937 Washington Ave., for the firm's 41 employees and their families and friends. About 200 persons viewed the company's operations.

Charles Conrad, owner of the firm which designs and builds temperature humidity test chambers for testing the operation of electronic equipment under various weather conditions, said it was the first time an open house was held since the company began operations in 1962.

Conrad said it was held primarily to allow the employees the opportunity to show their families and friends not only the operations of the company and the equipment it produces, but the jobs and responsibilities of the firm's employees as well.

Guests of the company were treated to coffee and cake and the children at the open house were given balloons.

Conrad said the firm's test chambers are distributed all over the United States and Canada to corporations such as North American Aviation, Sylvania and Westinghouse, as well as to the National Aviation and Space Administration which operates much of the U. S. space program.

The firm's latest project, a test chamber to be sent to Israel, is scheduled to be completed in about two weeks.

Kroll Wins State PGA With 3-Under Par 141

John Barnum Finishes One Stroke Behind

SAUGATUCK — Balding Ted Kroll, playing in his first Michigan PGA tournament, fired a three-under par 141 here Friday to win the state crown and $750 at the Hamilton Lake Golf and Country Club.

After being on the pro tour for more than 15 years, the 44-year-old Kroll took a post this year as head pro at the Franklin Hills Country Club and was eligible to play in the Michigan PGA.

Kroll, who won more than $70,000 when he copped the rich World's tourney at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago in 1956, shot a three-under-par 69 on his final nine Friday after scoring an even par 72 round Thursday.

He had nine-hole totals of the 36 and 33 Friday and parred the first, second, third, fourth and seventh hole while he scored an eagle three on the par five 495-yard No. 5 hole and took birdies on the sixth and eighth holes. He finished his round with a bogie on the ninth hole or 18th hole under the Hamilton Lake setup of two sets of tees for each hole.

This was Kroll's third tourney this year. He also played in the Buick Open and in the National PGA.

Kroll just nipped first day leader John Barnum of Blythe-field Country Club who was going for his fourth PGA title. The 52-year-old Barnum, after carding a 67 Thursday, had a three-over 75 Friday including nine hole scores of 37 and 38 and a 142 total.

Barnum, shooting for a birdie on the final hole, missed the shot by inches as the ball stopped short of the cup. He was putting about 25 feet from off the edge of the green.

He parred the hole and also parred the first, third, seventh and eighth but he had bogies on the second and fourth and took a double bogie on the fifth hole.

Mac McMurray, tournament chairman, estimated Kroll's winnings would be about $750 of the $3,000 purse while Barnum would get about $450. He said prize money would be distributed about down through the 153-154 scores.

Finishing third was lanky Bill Zylstra, Grand Rapids golf equipment salesman, with a 143 on rounds of 70-73 while Glenn Stuart of Cascade, Jack Clark of Mt. Clemens, Chuck Matlack of Cadillac and Tom Rosely of Silver Lake tied for fourth with 145.

Stuart had 74-71 and a 36-35 round Friday while Clark shot 72-73; Rosely, 71-74 and Matlack, 73-72. Gene Bone of Grand Blanc and Norm Collins of Sturgis finished with 147 on respective cards of 71-76 and 70-77.

Larry Tomasino, who shot a 32 on the second nine and carded a 68 Thursday, skyrocketed to an 80 Friday and finished in a five-way tie at 148 with Cliff Settergren, Eldon Briggs, Robert Bell and John Dalrymple.

Other 36-hole scores included Max Evans and Hal Whittington at 149 while Tom Shannon was 150. Eddie Kirk, Bob Nodus, Bill Mattson and Dale Grieve, 151 and Mac McMurray, 152.

Host pro Bill Hamilton shot rounds of 75-78 for 153 tied with Ray Struba, Jim Scott and Reggie Myles. Other shooters included George Spencer, 154; Ron LaParl, Sam Drake and Ray Bolo, 155; Duane Gunther, Cliff Good, Brian Charter, Bob DuShane, Frank Metzger, Ray McGuire, Ben Lula, Ken Judd and Bill Wingo, 156; Frank Herbert, Paul Van Loosen, Tom Watrous, John Monitz, Gerald Priekskorn and Harry Popham, 157.

Also finishing were Ed Abel, Wayne Hendrickson, Tom Kingsley and Steve Isakov, 158; Bill McDonald and Don White, 159; Barry Laur, 160; Jerry Townsend and Walter Laskey, 161; Tom Talkington, 162; Harry Brown and Stan Koziatek, 165; Don Soper, 166; Elmer Fazeke, 167 and Jim Chapman, 172.

This is the third straight year the Michigan PGA has been held at Hamilton Lake. Dick Bury, 1963 champion, is on tour and didn't defend his title while Lula was the 1962 king.

Village Square Profit Approximately $12,000

An approximate $12,000 profit was realized at the eighth annual Hope Village Square held Friday on the Hope College Campus and acclaimed the greatest success ever by those attending.

An accurate statement of profits awaits complete reports from all booths and projects, it was announced by Mrs. Ernest Slotsema of Grand Rapids, treasurer, who was assisted during the day by members of the Holland Chapter of the American Society of Women Accountants.

Mrs. A. C. Beukema, general chairman of the 1964 event, sponsored by the Hope College Women's League, said that a complete accounting of the successful Village Square will be available in the near future. The proceeds will be used for furnishings of Van Zoeren Library.

Well over 7,000 persons visited the campus to shop, browse, eat, visit and meet old friends. The weather, despite threatening clouds at times, held perfect all day with sunshine coming through for the chicken barbecue at 5 o'clock.

All booths were well attended; 29 women who came from Wisconsin with 1,200 pounds of cheese and sausage reported they were sold out by 2 p.m. Mrs. Donald Thomas who was in charge of all food served during the day said about 1,200 people ate at the noon barbecue, 200 more were served at the luncheon at Durfee Hall, plus numerous others at the sandwich and soft drink tables around the campus. Mrs. Ben Bosgraaf, chairman of the chicken barbecue, reported a complete sell-out with 1,500 being served on the athletic field plus another 332 ordered to take home.

The auction beginning at 7 was a popular success. Col. Gary Van Hill who donated his services went from booth to booth and auctioned off the remaining merchandise. Everyone agreed that this new innovation should become a permanent feature.

The climax of the evening came with the auctioning off of the antique quilt on which silent bids had been taken all day. An old fashioned grindstone which attracted much attention all day was also auctioned off in like manner.

Views From The Campus

(Lambert J. Ponstein is an Associate Professor in the Department of Religion and Bible at Hope College. He is a graduate of Hope College, received his BD from Western Theological Seminary, and an STM from Oberlin College. He has been a member of the Hope College staff since 1952.—Editor's note)

By Lambert J. Ponstein

A brilliant writer of the 16th century once said that nearly all the wisdom we possess, that is true and sound wisdom, consists of two parts, the knowledge of God and ourselves. Today those who look beyond the surface of life are beginning to take this statement seriously. They are beginning to ask what is happening to man.

Man, who is the only being who can reflect on his past, and who can think about his present and future, is losing his heritage as a free and independent being. He is being pushed into a situation where he doesn't have time to reflect, because the decisions he must make require haste, and the issues involved are moving beyond his comprehension. He is forced to give up his place to machines that don't bother with the basic question of the knowledge of ourselves, and often he doesn't seem to mind giving up his own freedom.

John Wilkinson, writing for the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, says: "Our technologists dealing in diplomacy and military planning are framing strategies in 'quantitative terms' to fit computers. But such values as 'freedom' just don't fit." And what happens when we begin to make decisions without the dimension of man involved? Or what happens when we make decisions with a dimension of man which in the end dehumanizes man? This is not a theoretical problem. This is a "grass roots" problem.

We often speak of the Marxist in an offhand way, as if the only difference between us was a matter of economics. He has a state managed economy and we have a free enterprise system. Is this true? The Marxist begins with certain notions about man. Man is basically a good man whose problems stem from an economic environment. Change this environment and ultimately all problems which plague the world will be solved. Seen in the right context of his view of man, the Marxist is a rather consistent fellow. One may disagree with him, but one ought to know the reason for the disagreement. It is precisely here that it is necessary that we face basic questions before we move on to conclusions.

All this becomes very important when we think of the preparation of young people for life. We may be certain that their problems will be unique, certainly more so than those of past generations. Dr. Augenstein of Michigan State University poses one of those problems. "Let us suppose that next year our laboratory were to come out with a new virus which has the following properties: if it is injected into the ovaries of a girl prior to puberty it will guarantee that her children will have no birth abnormalities, no more cleft palates, no more diabetes, no more Mongolism. However, we have regretfully to announce that this virus would raise the probability that the offspring of this girl would commit murder ten times more often than would a normal individual."

Or suppose this were developed that all births would mature into perfect specimens, but more addicted to drunkenness and divorce. Does one answer this question statistically? Should one have some notions about man in answering this question? Do those who teach young people have the obligation to open up basic questions?

The society that takes its job seriously wants to do more than prepare chemists, attorneys, teachers, and mathematicians. It wants young people exposed to all the questions involved in life's problems including those that are most basic. It realizes that if it doesn't do this it will be putting out little more than "badly programmed computers."

Foster Homes Needed For Teenage Children

The Michigan Department of Social Welfare for Ottawa, Allegan and Barry Counties is looking for foster homes and jobs for teenage children who have completed their time in state training schools and will be released upon assurance of a place to live and some type of employment.

Presently seven homes and jobs are needed in the Ottawa, Allegan and Barry County area according to Miss Ruby Petersen, state children's worker, Department of Social Welfare.

Especially in need are farm homes where a youngster can be employed and housed. Other jobs the teenagers can handle are in restaurants, gas stations, laundries, cleaners or bakeries.

The young people need foster homes when released from training school because they usually either come from broken homes or homes considered by the courts to be unsuitable to return to. An effort is usually made to find a foster home in the same area of the state that their real home was located in.

The Department of Social Welfare will pay the expenses of a child who is placed until he is 19 years of age. The Department also gives counsel to the foster parents and helps to solve any problems that might occur with the child.

Persons interested in becoming foster parents or in providing jobs for such children should contact the Department of Social Welfare in the Ottawa County Branch Building. Most of the children needing

VISIT WITH ARCHDUKE — Students of the Hope College Vienna Summer School are pictured with Austria's Archduke Otto von Hapsburg (center) who spoke to the group at his lakeside residence on Starnberg Lake in Germany. Accompanying the group were Dr. Paul G. Fried, Director of the Vienna Summer School and Mrs. Marian Stryker, women's counselor. Dr. von Hapsburg has a Ph. D. in Economics from the University of Michigan and has traveled extensively throughout the world. Archduke von Hapsburg is the eldest son of the last Austrian ruler and is the pretender to the non-existent Austrian throne. In his talk before the students, Dr. von Hapsburg gave a resume of events pertaining to East European affairs. Following his speech he answered questions for the students on world affairs.

Vienna Summer Students Visit with Austrian Archduke

"The power structure in the world is changing. There is only one super power left and that is the United States," said Dr. Otto von Hapsburg during his speech to a group of Hope College Vienna Summer School students recently at his home outside Munich, Germany.

In his talk Dr. von Hapsburg introduced students first to the domestic issues which they would find in Austria and then showed how these related to all issues of Austria's foreign relations and international affairs in general.

Dr. von Hapsburg gave a resume of events pertaining to East European affairs. The events in Eastern Europe, since the war, he said, can be divided into three periods. The first was the "Sovietisation" under Stalin. The second was the period of general administrative disorder and the lessening of tension in the satellites under Khrushchev.

The third period begins in the mid 1950's when the nations of Eastern Europe began to show too much independence and had to be again suppressed by the Soviet Army. The third period, Dr. von Hapsburg felt, ended last year at the Soviet bloc's "Commicon" talks.

Each of the satellites have one vote on matters pertaining to trade. The unusual aspect of last year's talks, as stated by Dr. von Hapsburg was that for the first time in Commicon history, the Rumanian veto was used to veto a Soviet proposal. Soon afterward another veto was issued.

The Rev. Hugh Koops was guest minister at both services in Third Christian Reformed Church.

The Rev. Marvin Baarman, executive secretary of the board of home missions, was guest minister at the morning and evening services in the North Street Christian Reformed Church.

Windmill Story Told by Wichers

Willard Wichers told members of the Noon Optimist Club all about Project Windmill at their luncheon meeting Monday at Cummerfords.

Wichers said that about three years ago Carter Brown became vitally interested in having a distinctive and authentic Netherlands windmill transported to this city. Gradually the pioneering activity of Brown caused Wichers and others to become enthused over the possibility, resulting in Wichers spending five weeks in the Netherlands. "Windmills were used in the Near East for centuries," said Wichers, but were first introduced in The Netherlands about the year 1200, as a device to grind grain for flour. The first record of a drainage mill was in 1417, with 9,000 windmills in action by 1900. They were used to saw timber, grind grain, press oil from seeds, and other purposes, until the Dutch began substituting modern plants employing steam and electric power. Now only about 900 mills are left in The Netherlands to dot the landscape.

Wichers spoke of the formation of a society about 50 years ago to preserve the windmills, as many had been destroyed during the war by bombings and artillery. They are now considered by the government as monuments as are castles and churches. None may be dismantled or exported without the consent of the government.

Many difficulties were encountered, said Wichers, in convincing the officials in The Netherlands to look favorably upon the project he was promoting. Finally transactions were completed through interested friends of Wichers in the Netherlands, and "The Swan" was purchased from the town of Vinkel, part of six municipalities with six mayors.

The mill is to be shipped by steamer on the Great Lakes in September and re-erection in Holland is to begin in October.

President Edwin Raphael called for a report by Jim Frans on the Michigan District meeting which he attended.
