Allegan to Trim Department Requests

By Steve Spalding
Sentinel Reporter

ALLEGAN — Requests for Title II federal revenue sharing funds from Allegan county departments exceeded the amount allotted by over $86,000, the county finance committee announced at Tuesday night's Allegan county commission meeting.

Ten county departments requested $243,127 in funds for the continued employment and hiring of 32 Title II employees. The county has estimated it will receive $156,786 in Title II Anti-Recession funds for 1978.

The commission will consider the proposals at its Sept. 13 meeting.

Of the ten requests, four county departments asked for approximately $72,090 for money for salaries of eight positions not mandated last year. Commissioner Walter Bray, of Hamilton noted that even with subtracting the amount asked for new positions, the total request still would be about $20,000 over the $156,786 the county said it will receive.

The requests for the money for the salaries of the proposed new employees came from the Medical Care Facility, three positions, $21,436; the Register of Deeds office, one position, $8,532; the County Health Department, three positions, $35,679; and the County Treasurer asked for one new position at approximately $7,000.

Other budgetary requests included the Juvenile Detention home, 13 positions, $75,935; sheriff's department, six positions, $36,802; county treasurer, one position, District Court, one position, $10,325; Prosecuting Attorney, $16,733; and the County Road Commission, one position, $13,878.

Bray said federal revenue sharing and Title II funds will be included in the 1978 budget, not separated as in previous years, which means the commissioners must know where the funds should be spent when the budget is written.

The board also deferred action on the county mental health department budget until Thursday in order to meet with a representative from the state.

A representative from the county mental health board said the board has until Sept. 2 to approve the budget or programs will be cut. The mental health department is asking for $66,000 from the county. The county previously has proposed giving it $40,000 - the same amount it allocated last year to the mental health department.

Mental Health Board Chairman Edward Barton, of Allegan, said an auditor determined $20,000 allocated to the mental health department from federal revenue sharing funds and school districts cannot be used to get matching funds from the state. The state matches funds on a 10-1 basis, Barton said.

The board recessed its meeting Tuesday evening until Thursday night at 9 p.m. to consider the request. The Ways and Means Committee will discuss the request before the meeting. The other six commissioners not on the committee were asked to come to the meeting to act on the budget request.

Commission Chairman James Rolfe, of Allegan, was authorized to sign the budget request in order to get it to the state before the Sept. 2 deadline.

The commission will formally act on the budget request at its Sept. 13 meeting.

In other action, the commissioners:

— Gave its formal approval to $281,000 for ten CETA projects. The formal approval was needed before the Grand Rapids Area Management Committee (GRAMC) considers the requests today. Tentative approval was given by the commissioners at its Aug. 9 meeting and the GRAMC advisory board recently gave its approval.

— Approved the transfer of $13,000 in federal revenue sharing funds to the sheriff's department for two patrol cars and equipment for its newly-devised township patrol. The money originally was to come from the contingencies fund, but was changed after learning the fund would only have $12,000 left. The hiring of nine additional patrolmen with CETA funds was approved by the commissioners at its Aug. 9 meeting. The transfer of funds is contingent upon the availability of CETA funds.

The commissioners also transferred $20,652 from the contingencies fund to the retirement fund for CETA employees.

— Approved the hiring of a custodian for the sheriff's department at $3.28 an hour.

— Approved replacing a full-time position in the Probate Judge's office with two part time positions.

— Approved by a 9-3 vote a resolution allowing Allegan county building employees a half-day off during the Allegan county fair. Commissioners Leland Buck, of Hopkins, Flora Moore, of Otsego, and Arthur Popp, of Plainwell voted against the proposal.

Commission Refuses Money For Probate Judge Chair

ALLEGAN — The Allegan County Commissioners gave Probate Judge George Greig a little lesson in law at its meeting Monday night.

The commission turned down by a 3-9 vote the purchase of a chair for $285 from federal revenue sharing funds for the judge because Greig did not go through proper bid procedure in obtaining it.

Greig apparently asked for a bid on a chair from a furniture company, but instead received the chair. Therefore, the commissioners said bids were not received for the chair. The Probate Judge has been using the chair since it arrived.

However, Greig will not be presiding over court standing up. The commission noted there was adequate money in an office supply fund in the probate court division.

Commission Chairman James Rolfe, of Allegan, and Commissioners Robert Drew, of Fennville and Walter Bray, of Hmilton voted for the purchase. Rolfe said "everyone is entitled to one mistake."

Commissioner Arthur Popp, of Plainwell, said at $285 "that's an awfully expensive chair."

Polinski Reward $2,000

The Board of Directors of the Silent Observer Program have increased the reward to $2,000 from $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the death of Deborah Polinsky.

The additional reward was made possible through an anonymous donation of $1,000.

"Inasmuch as the maximum reward presently allowed under the Silent Observer Program is limited to $1,000, this additional reward offer is greatly appreciated, especially by the police agencies involved in the investigation of the Polinsky homicide," Holland police Cpl. Keith Houting, secretary for the Silent Observer Program said.

Police hope with the increased reward, persons having any information on the homicide, however unimportant, will contact Silent Observer, 392-4443, or their local Law Enforcement Agency.

Holland police have withdrawn from active investigation into the homicide as of last week. The Ottawa county sheriff's department still is investigating the slaying of Polinsky.

A friend of Polinsky who worked with the victim at De Pree Chemical discovered the body July 26 in the bedroom of the Holland native's rented home in a rural area of Port Sheldon township after the 20-year-old failed to show up for work.

Koppenaal's Body Found

The body of Kenneth Koppenaal was recovered Thursday evening from Lake Macatawa after a man fishing from the same pier where Koppenaal was last seen Tuesday spotted the body.

Lloyd Stenenga, 26 West 14th, spotted the body floating about 75 yards offshore from the Board of Public Works pier at the James De Young power plant.

He notified Holland police at 9:15 p.m. by CB radio. Koppenaal's relatives made positive identification of the 48-year-old BPW worker.

An autopsy will be conducted to determine the exact cause of death.

The victim was last seen around 2 p.m. Tuesday fishing at the dock. Holland police were called when he failed to show for the second shift at BPW.

Divers and boats from Holland Coast Guard post, Holland police, the Ottawa county sheriff's department and private boat owners were unsuccessful in their search for the victim Wednesday. Two boats continued the search Thursday afternoon.

Ferency Scores Prison

Leftwing attorney and gubernatorial hopeful Zolton Ferency said Thursday the St. Augustine Seminary near Saugatuck which the state wants to convert to a prison, is "another monument to Gov. Milliken's muddling on critical issues."

Ferency, who recently returned to the Democratic Party after a fling with the leftleaning Human Rights Party, said Milliken ignored warnings about the overcrowding in Michigan's prisons and compounded the problem by approving mandatory sentence legislation.

"When the public clamor aroused by the news media finally penetrated the cloud of complacency surrounding the capitol, the governor hastily scoured the state looking for facilities suitable for warehousing human beings," Ferency told the Ottawa County Democratic Committee at a meeting in Holland.

"The St. Augustine Seminary on the shores of Lake Michigan stands as another monument to Gov. Milliken's muddling on critical issues," Ferency said.

There has been strong resistance in the area to using the seminary as a prison.

Ferency, who has filed suit contending conditions in the state's crowded prisons amount to unconstitutional "cruel and unusual punishment," is one of four announced candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Projects Okayed

ALLEGAN — Formal approval was given by the Grand Rapids Area Management Committee (GRAMC) governing board Wednesday for ten Allegan county projects totaling $281,000 in CETA funds, including $114,000 for the hiring of nine Allegan county sheriff's deputies for a planned township patrol.

The Allegan county commission gave its formal approval to the project Tuesday evening after the GRAMC advisory board okayed the proposals.

Details of what projects would get funded and how much money they would receive was hammered out by the commissioners at its Aug. 9 meeting.

The deputies will patrol Allegan county townships which will pay $750 a year for the one-year pilot program.

Other projects approved included a property description project, $103,000; four Allegan school projects, $39,000. Hamilton school furniture refurbishing, $15,524; Casco township beautification project, $6,500. Chesire township beautification project, $5,000 and a Saugatuck township child day camp, $2,400.

Worker Killed

OTSEGO — The driver of a vehicle which allegedly fatally struck a State Highway Department worker on M-89 east of Otsego Wednesday is being arraigned today in Allegan District Court on charges of negligent homicide.

The victim, George Anderson, 41, of Paw Paw, was working on the edge of M-89 when he was struck by a eastbound vehicle, according to Allegan county sheriff's deputies. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

The driver's name was withheld pending his arraignment today.

Port Sheldon Acts To Guard Bathers

Port Sheldon township officials, concerned with the number of drownings in Lake Michigan near the Consumers Power Co. warm water outlet of its generating plant, have taken steps to prevent future drownings.

Ottawa County sheriff's deputies and reserves will step up their patrols of Windsnest Park near the outlet at the request of the township to enforce township ordinances in the park.

Beginning Friday anyone found trespassing in the area of the outlet or so called "hot spot" will be cited by the sheriff's department. The park will be closed for the winter season Oct. 1.

The north side of the channel and the first 50 feet on the southside will be out of bounds.

Lloyd Bakker, township supervisor, said it becomes imperative that township residents wishing to use Windsnest Park obtain a park pass from the township clerk.

An additional pass must be attached to the upper right hand corner of the front windshield and any car without the pass parked in the lot will be ticketed, Bakker added.

Persons on park property without the proper pass in their possession will be cited for trespass.

Bakker said there have been at least 13 drownings and about 125 life saving rescues since the park was established. The "hot spot" has become a popular fishing and bathing spot. Water from the generating plant is returned to Lake Michigan by a channel and strong currents are created in the area.

Bakker said a study of the situation indicated two solutions to control the drownings...close the park or restrict its use.

The township, he said, decided to restrict the park use and sought added patrols from the sheriff's department.

"If our residents can get some enjoyment out of the area and use common sense, recognizing the dangers that exist, there is no reason to close the area to all," Bakker said.

Saugatuck Joins Program

By Steve Spalding
Sentinel Reporter

SAUGATUCK — The Saugatuck school district will join the Holland-West Ottawa Community Education program following Saugatuck school board approval Thursday night.

The board approved the program that is run out of the Holland school district following a presentation by the Holland Community Education Director Dan Lukich.

The program offers three programs for adults, study for a high school diploma, a general education certificate and a basic education program. Leisure enrichment classes also are offered on a non-credit basis.

State and federal grants as well as tuition pays for the program, according to Lukich. No local money would be used for developing and supporting the program, he said.

The board's resolution authorizes the program for a one-year trial period. The West Ottawa school board approved joining the Holland program at its Monday night meeting.

"Separately, school districts do not have enough prospective clients to finance and run programs. Together the finance and need is there," Lukich said.

He said tuition for the leisure classes would be inexpensive enough for interested people, but enough to pay for itself.

State funding is available for the adult education completion and basic education programs, he said, and added federal money is available for the basic education program.

A minimum of ten students is needed for each class with the maximum class size around 20 students.

Dates and other specifics of the program for Saugatuck will be established later. "We have to identify needs first," Lukich said.

Saugatuck residents can join the Holland program now, but he added it will be better, especially in the winter months, to offer programs in Saugatuck.

Superintendent Wayne Krueger said he supports the program and thought senior citizens would enjoy taking classes.

Krueger questioned whether the community education program would conflict with the Saugatuck Parks and Recreation program. Lukich said he has tried to work together with the Holland recreation department to insure classes are not duplicated. The Saugatuck Parks and Recreation program offers leisure classes for residents.

The board also took a stand opposing Michigan Senate Bill 714 which, if passed, requires unemployment compensation for school employees in the summer months when not working.

Krueger said the legislation would mean the district would have to raise $28,000, or slightly over one mill.

Approval was given to joining a planned placement center for the Allegan Intermediate school district which will be 80 per cent funded by the state, with the other 20 per cent coming from the local school boards. Saugatuck's share will be 13 cents a student.

Hospital Bonds Sold

Low bid for revenue bonds totaling $14,590,000 for construction of a new addition to Holland Hospital was awarded at a special meeting of the hospital board Tuesday to John Nuveen & Co. Inc. of Chicago at a net interest rate of 6.4280 per cent for the 33 years the bond issue will run.

Two bids representing some 40 investment houses were received and were so close that less than $60,000 over the 33-year span marked the difference. The bid of First of Michigan Corporation and Blythe, Eastman, Dillon and Co. called for a net interest rate of 6.4469.

Hospital board members were elated at the bids which came in at a rate of some three-quarters of a percentage point under what had been expected.

The bond issue covers the $12.9 million estimate of the construction plus funded interest during construction.

Board Chairman Kenneth Zuverink presided at the special meeting. All members were present except Maynard Van Lente who is a patient in the hospital.

Plans call for an additional three stories on the west wing and other improvements replacing all patient rooms in the original 1927 building.

Water Line Under Lake

Holland Harbor was closed for nearly 12 hour Wednesday afternoon and evening while workmen installed a 30-inch underwater pipeline across Lake Macatawa near the mouth of the channel.

Complications with an unexpected seawall at Point West and cave-ins of the underwater trench extended the time necessary to install the pipe but the Holland Coast Guard said no emergencies developed.

The Coast Guard put its 44-foot boat in Lake Michigan and kept a smaller boat in Lake Macatawa to cope with emergencies.

Officials said the pipe finally was lowered into the trench at 9 p.m. Wednesday and the initial work was completed by 12:30 a.m. today. Soundings were being taken to assure proper depth of the pipe.

The cast iron pipe floated on the water in an arch between the Ottawa Beach side of Lake Macatawa and Point West where the capped end was forced through a hole in a concrete seawall but workmen ran into an unexpected second seawall.

The pipe was flooded with water and gradually sank into the trench.

When completed the lake crossing will bring water from the Holland Board of Public Works treatment plant near Tunnel Park to the south side of Lake Macatawa for areas of Park township, Laketown township and Holland city.

The project is the second water transmission facility into Holland. The original line follows the River Ave. bridge.

Funds for the project were included in a Federal jobs program granted to Park townships as the lead agency but the project was a joint venture of the two townships and Holland city and Holland BPW.

Lighthouse Historical Commission Invites Views

The Holland Harbor Lighthouse Historical Commission, organized earlier this month to preserve the familiar red lighthouse at the entrance to Holland Harbor, has scheduled a meeting Saturday at 10 a.m. at Point West to which interested persons are invited to exchange views and make further plans.

The commission has sent letters to industry, yacht clubs, boat owners and individuals soliciting funds to save the structure for its aesthetic value and as an historical landmark. Willard C. Wichers, commission president, said initial response has been encouraging.

Among people working with the commission to save the lighthouse are Mrs. Mary Heuvelhorst, Philip Ragains, Charles Conrad, Mrs. A. Bondy Gronberg, David L. Vander Kooi, Paul Newhof, Dick Den Uyl and John L. Cote.

Interested residents have worked for seven years to keep the lighthouse from being torn down and abandoned. Now a commission has been organized to maintain the lighthouse and the Coast Guard has promised to sandblast, repaint and repair the lighthouse if the commission then will be responsible for maintenance.

The Holland Community Foundation, Harvey Buter president, is custodian for funds for lighthouse preservation.

Editorial Commentary

Greater Holland United Way

The Greater Holland United Way was a unique concept at its inception 42 years ago. The name has evolved from Holland Community Chest, Inc. to Greater Holland United Fund to Greater Holland United Way, but its purpose has always been to support charitable agencies which are responsive to the needs of the community. The theory of the GHUW is to eliminate weekly solicitations and to consolidate fund-raising drives under one efficient yearly solicitation.

The GHUW raises money for 35 member agencies for approximately .07 cents on the dollar. This is possible because of the hundreds of volunteer hours devoted to all aspects of the United Way program: budgeting, planning, communicating, and fund raising.

The Board of Directors is made up of a cross-section of Holland citizens. They are unpaid volunteers who are committed to the principles of accountability and full disclosure of financial records. All data on the Greater Holland United Way is made available to the public.

Each member agency is required to disclose fully its financial statement when requesting funds. Audits are made on each agency as well as on the GHUW each year, with full reports going to the Michigan Attorney General's office and to the IRS. All of these steps are taken to assure that all funds are used for their stated purpose and that the most urgent human service needs are being met.

The Greater Holland United Way has an open-door policy. Any legitimate agency can apply. If the agency meets the fiscal requirements and provides a service in the area that is needed and is not already funded, the agency usually is accepted. Once accepted, the agency does not raise funds in the Greater Holland United Way area without permission of the board. The GHUW cannot fund all member agencies 100 per cent, however; so alternate methods of funding are necessary.

Services supported by the GHUW include family counseling, foster care, adoptions, Kidney Foundation, Salvation Army, Arthritis Foundation, Epilepsy Center, Leukemia Foundation, American Red Cross, YMCA, Campfire Girls, Girl Scouts, and Boy Scouts to mention only a few.

In June the GHUW conducted the budgeting and allocation procedure, and the 1977-78 Campaign Cabinet, under the chairmanship of Martin Glaser, has started its work to raise the needed funds. The board of directors and the campaign cabinet hope for the solid support of the Holland community.

Sgt. Clarence Van Langevelde has retired from the Holland Police Department after 27 years of service.

When he joined Chief Jack Van Hoff's staff he was given No. 16, and he went through the paces of that day in downtown alley patrol, then Eighth St. and then on to other things, but mostly in the patrol field. Today, the police force numbers well over 50.

In the old days, Van Langevelde was one of the top sharpshooters, sharing honors with Ralph Woldring in state target shooting matches. Medals and ribbons won by the two men could fill a substantial area.

By the time he had turned around, the car had taken off and he took chase and halted it at Central and 32nd, only to learn the occupants were two escapees from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, riding in a stolen car.

"They surrendered without a fight, and I put one in the front seat and one in the back seat, took out my pistol and told them I would start Sgt. Van Langevelde shooting if they started anything," he recalled.

Van Langevelde took the pair to the side door of the old police station without incident. He had been patrolling in the 30th St. neighborhood because there had been reports of gas thefts.

Sgt. Van Langevelde is married and has three children and two grandchildren. The Van Langevelde live at 363 West 22nd St.

Six Months of Bicycling in Europe

By Cornelia Van Voorst
Sentinel Reporter

Dave Ihrman is back home in Holland, looking extra fit after six months of bicycling in Europe. He returned five pounds heavier, full of stories of another continent and with a new appreciation for the blessings of America.

He left Holland last Feb. 10 and flew Icelandic Airlines to Luxembourg. He had his bicycle, a French model with special gears and wheels. His bicycle lock was ripped off at the start and he spent the remainder of the six months either riding the bike, or keeping an eye or a hand on it.

Dave spent only about $500 during his travels. He estimates he traveled 2,800 to 3,000 miles on his bike, and costs per day averaged $2.70. This meant spending about one night a week in a youth hostel at the rate of $1 or $2 (a good place to clean up) and living mostly on bread and cheese, sometimes splurging on fruit. Fish was available too.

His European tour started out auspiciously. He spent the first night in jail, a brand new experience for 18-year-old Dave whose father Don is superintendent of Holland public schools.

Dave had assumed (quite naturally) that European airports were like American airports, busy places with lots of people and traffic day and night, a place where an American student could spend the night and start his bicycle trek the next day.

But the Luxembourg airport was a tiny place with only eight chairs, and it was ready to close soon after Dave's arrival at 8 p. m. First thing Dave knew a French speaking policeman took him by the elbow along with another chap and escorted them to two cells in the airport, put there for stowaways.

And there Dave spent the night. "The chap in the next cell did bird calls all night," he recalled.

The next morning, the two young men were released without incident and Dave mounted his bike to go to Belgium.

Local residents will recall the rugged winter in Holland last January and February. It was something like that in Europe, the coldest and wettest winter in many years.

So it was only natural that Dave would seek warmer climates, and from Brussels Dave cycled over back roads through France, stopped in Paris where he visited the Louvre, then to Leone and Cote de Azure on the French Riviera, arriving when it was cold and rainy and then the weather improved.

Then he followed the coast to Florence, Italy, met a friend there and stayed a couple of weeks.

Dave enjoyed Florence, the city of art. He visited the churches with their fine sculptures and paintings and even attended an English mass in the big cathedral in Florence. In fact, he considers his Florence visit the highlight of the six months.

Next came Trieste, Italy, and Yugoslavia which he described as "comfortable, anti-Soviet but still Communist." After that was Greece with stops at Thessalonica and Salonika before heading for Istanbul, Turkey.

Here, things really got interesting, and a bit sticky!

Istanbul was in the wake of political upheaval, and left-wing Maoists were slaughtering other leftists (lesser rebels but still left of center).

And to make things worse, there were riots at Istanbul University and the death toll reached 39.

Dave was staying in a centrally located youth hostel a block away from the Maoist uprising and about a block from the university. For good measure, this was the time of year that police raided youth hostels for drugs and whatnot. It had been rumored it was a Socialist hostel and Dave was on hand for the shakedown. Not too bad, he said.

Dave stayed in this youth hostel about three weeks awaiting money from home. It was sent promptly but got to the wrong bank. And the clash continued with uprisings almost every day.

There were simultaneous riots in Ankara in central Turkey, increasing the death toll to 59.

It was an anxious period for the family at home. Dave had made his monthly telephone call (collect) and asked for money. The snafu at the banks kept Dave in Istanbul for three weeks. The Sentinel checked UPI wire copy for Istanbul riots but found nary a word.

Dave, however, kept up with development through the English edition of the New York Herald-Tribune published in Paris, the mainstay of all American tourists.

Finally, the money came through, and Dave was more than a little relieved to leave the Istanbul hotspot.

Dave's day usually started out early, shortly after daybreak. He had planned where to go and would ride his bike for a while before finding a bakery where he would get a nice fresh loaf of crusty bread (specially good in France) which he would eat with cheese and whatever else he managed on a low budget.

This bread would suffice for the day and he usually went at a leisurely pace over less traveled roads. He was interested in people and found communication fairly easy since he worked in advance on translations of the simpler words.

And he met all kinds, most of them wonderful folk. He often slept in barns or out-buildings on farms. He found it cheaper to live in Italy, Greece, Yugoslavia and Turkey, than in Germany and Switzerland.

He did manage some tourist attractions, the Louvre in Paris, all the wonderful places in Florence, but for the most part mingled with people in out-of-way places.

Dave got hungry a couple of times, waiting for money from home. He had earned his own money, but who wants to carry it all on one's person.

Money is processed through banks or through American Express. He had arranged for a couple of "drops" on the continent but mostly he kept contact through that one call home per month (collect) and an occasional postcard. The telephone calls were made late at night so that it would be morning here. There was about a seven-hour time difference.

During one lean period, he spent two weeks in a storm sewer tunnel at Cote de Azure on the French Riviera.

"It really was a pleasant place," Dave maintained. "It was a large pipe and had a small stream of water in the middle. It was for storm water and didn't smell bad. And I had a good view of the blue ocean besides!"

Dave met several American students traveling in like manner. One Canadian chap was cycling through Yugoslavia for three weeks. He had been gone from home for a year and had no definite plans to return home.

Whenever the weather was good, Dave slept under the stars. In his backpack he carried his bedroll, some changes of underwear, rainwear, a few utensils for eating, enough clothing to get by in a casual way, and hitched to his bike a plastic bottle and a hand-made lace tablecloth for his mother. Yes, he had something for his father and his grandmother too.

Leaving again from the Luxembourg airport, he needed shoelaces. Reflecting the inflation rampant in Europe, they cost him $1.

Back home, Dave has had plenty of time for reflecting on American freedoms and its many blessings—lots of things, big and little.

Things like a comfortable home.

Mom's good cooking. . . . Plenty of hot water for good showers. . . . A telephone whenever you want one.

And family. . . . Dave's sisters were as happy to see him and he was to see them. . . .

Overall, there was a new appreciation for the peace and prosperity of America, still the land of opportunity and the best in the world.

Dave starts as a first-year student Sept. 11 at Kalamazoo College majoring in neuropsychology and English literature. He completed his four years at mid-term last January.
