The above are a few of the questions sent us by our readers, who wonder why J. C. Post keeps right on selling houses and lots in Holland city, in spite of the World's fair, dry weather, and hard times.

The following persons who have recently bought of him can tell you why: Mrs. Harriet Johnson, of Chicago, who bought a fine lot at Bay View. Mrs. May E. Stuck, of Colorado, purchaser of a handsome lot in Bay View.

B. G. Scott, who bought a pleasant home on Twelfth street, Bay View. Egbert E. Post, the purchaser of the pretty cottage on Thirteenth street, Bay View.

Dr. John Mastenbroek, late of Muskegon, who invested in two fine lots in Waverly and another in Bay View addition.

John Ten Hagen, of Olive, a lot in Bay View addition.

George Van Veen, the purchaser of a nice house and lot in Bay View.

E. Groeters of Holland township, who bought two lots in Bay View.

Gerrit Kronmeyer, who invested in two choice lots in Post's addition.

J. Van Dyk, the buyer of the tasty cottage on Fourteenth street, Bay View addition.

A. B. Bosman, who bought a pleasant house on East Fourteenth street.

And a score of others who have bought houses and lots from J. C. Post during the past month.

They will all say that he sells just what you want, at lower prices than any one else, and upon terms that suit everybody.

More than this, they will tell you that real estate in Holland City is the safest and best investment a man can make, and that, if you are wise, you will at once call on or address, The Holland Real Estate Exchange.

Married in this city, at the residence of the bride's mother Mrs. Hendrika Te Roller on Tenth street, on Wednesday afternoon, by Rev. J. Van Houte, assisted by Rev. C. Van Gooor—Rev. William Bruins, pastor-elect of the Ref. church at Coopersville, Mich., and Miss Reka Te Roller. The wedding was attended by near relatives and friends only. The wedded couple left on a trip to the western states and expected to be "at home" in this city Sept. 27 and at Coopersville after October 1.

The Grand Rapids grocers' picnic to the Holland resorts, Thursday, was a big affair. About 300 of them closed their stores for the day. With their families and friends they numbered fully 1500, and came in three special trains. The Grand Haven grocers' picnic added about 100 more. Besides there was a large excursion from Kalamazoo. All this made it a gala day at the Parks, and the universal sentiment expressed was that the Holland resorts are just the places for a summer's outing. Games and other amusements, and an exhibition by the life-saving crew, added greatly to the pleasures of the day.

CITY AND VICINITY.

Passenger travel on the Holland and Chicago steamboat line continues to be good.

The windows of the Holland City State bank have been adorned with some fine lettering, in gold.

The stmr. Fanny M. Rose took a party of excursionists from Spring Lake to the Holland resorts, Saturday.

A. Schippers of Overisel returned from Chicago, Thursday morning, with nine horses, which he intends to dispose of in the vicinity of his home.

Self's saloon was broken into Wednesday night, and the premises were relieved of some cigars, whiskey and beer. An entrance had been effected through the basement.

The stmr. Bon Voyage was chartered by a party of excursionists from Grand Rapids last week. They left here Saturday evening and laid off a week at the Columbia exposition.

Henry Cheesman, near Olive Center, reports having threshed this week from 150 doz. bundles, raised on 64 acres, 138 bush. of wheat, of the hybrid variety, being over 20 bushels to the acre.

The Young Men's Christian association of the Ninth-street H. C. R. church has elected the following officers: President, Rev. K. Van Gooor; vice president, G. Mollenaar; secretaries, S. A. Verwey and Wm. Binck; treasurer, R. Helder; librarian, H. Holkeboer.

The continued drought converted the green sod in Centennial Park into an unmowed hay-field, and Saturday afternoon, for the first time in the history of Holland, we had a prairie fire within the limits of the city. There was a brisk breeze blowing and the fire department was called out to extinguish the flames.

A special invitation has been extended by the courthouse building committee to Wm. Comstock, of Alendale, to be present at the laying of the corner stone, on Monday next. Mr. C. was the builder, or superintendent, of the present court house, in 1857, and was employed by the late Rev. Wm. M. Ferry and others.

Wednesday Mr. Ernst Radabough, whose home is in Grand Rapids, but who is at present employed as a waiter at the Hotel Ottawa, was tried before Squire Post for assault and battery upon one Mrs. John R. Konking, of Olive, on July 4. The jury said he was not guilty. The evidence in the case however showed there was no doubt that the woman had been assaulted, but she being a stranger and owing to the darkness of the hour, there was a lack of sufficient identification.

As was stated in the News a few weeks ago, a movement is on foot throughout the county to perpetuate the memory of the late Prof. A. W. Taylor in the hearts of his many pupils, by erecting a monument on his grave, bearing the simple inscription "Our Teacher." This inscription is in accord with the feeling he so often expressed during his lifetime, that his greatest ambition would be to know that after his death he would be remembered by just such an epitaph. With this in view a subscription list has been opened at the post office in this city. No amount larger than 50 cents is to be offered. The many teachers about town, who wish to subscribe and to whom it might not be convenient to reach, this list, can send the amount of their donation with name and post office address to P. R. HOLLAND CITY NEWS

SATURDAY, AUG. 19, 1893

Some Historical facts connected with the City of Holland and illustrative of its present standing.

The Committee appointed for the collection of suitable documents and papers to be placed in the corner stone of the new county court house, having requested Mayor Hummer for some facts and data relative to the early settlement of the city and illustrative of its present standing and future, the following facts and figures have been collected.

The city was incorporated in 1867. Its first officers were:

Mayor—Isaac Cappon.
Recorder—Henry D. Post.
Treasurer—George Lauder.
Marshal—Tunis Keppel.
Supervisor—John Roost.
Justices—Edward J. Harrington and John Huizinga.
Aldermen—1st ward, Geo. G. Steketee and Jan Pauels; 2nd ward, E. Van der Veen and Richard K. Heald.

The first school district was organized in 1848, a year before the organization of the township of Holland. The officers were A. C. Van Raalte, moderator; Henry D. Post, director and Wm. J. Mulder, assessor. The first teacher was Ira Hoyt and the number of children 179. The school was located upon the site of the present central school building.

As to the date of the organization of the first church, this can only be fixed by stating that it dates from the landing of the first Holland colonists here. When Rev. A. C. Van Raalte, with a handful of pilgrims, following an old Indian trail, arrived in these regions, in 1847, the first church was practically established. They subsequently united formally with the Reformed Church of America.

The post-office was first established in 1848 and called Black River, with H. D. Post as postmaster.

The first white settlers in this immediate vicinity were Anton Shorno, Gilbert Crammer and Isaac Fairbanks. They antedated the arrival of the first Holland Colonists in 1847 by a few years.

The first manufactory was an ashery for making pearl ash and saleratus, and was established in 1848, by H. D. Post and A. C. Van Raalte.

The first vessel built was in 1849, near the present Black River bridge. It was a Dutch sloop, with lee-boards, called the "Eensgezindheid," and built by A. Steketee and sons. The next vessel, a schooner, called the "Commencement," was built by A. Plugger, in the winter of 1849-50. It was about 60 tons burden, with tree-nailed bottom.

The first store in this city was the "Colony Store," its first purchases having been made by B. Grootenhuis, and Elder Geo. Young of Grand Rapids, in 1847.

The first hotel was established by Jan Binnekant, in 1848, where the Holland City State bank block now stands. The lumber for the building was collected from the remnants of the Point Superior enterprise.

The first bank was established in 1870, by J. Coatsworth & Co., on the corner of River and Eighth streets.

Coming down to 1893, the elective city officers are:

Mayor—George P. Hummer.
Clerk—George H. Sipp.
Supervisors—John Kerkhof and Johannes Dykema.
Treasurer—John Pessink.
Marshal—Frank Van Ry.
Justices of the Peace—Gerrit J. Diekema, Gerrit Van Schelven, Henry D. Post, Isaac Fairbanks.
Aldermen—1st ward, John A. Ter Vree, Jacob Lokker; 2nd ward, Louis Schoon, Peter De Spelder; 3rd ward, Simon Den Uyl, Geert Dalman; 4th ward, Rudolph A. Habermann, Nicholas Schmid; 5th ward, Arend Vischer, Wilson Harrington.
Board of Education—Wm. H. Beach, president; C. Verschure, secretary; G. W. Mokma, P. H. McBride, A. Vischer, T. Keppel, G. J. Van Duren, H. Kremers.

The churches at the present time number 8, as follows: 3 Reformed, 2 Holland Christian Reformed, 1 Methodist Episcopal, 1 Protestant Episcopal, 1 German Lutheran.

The Public Schools consist of 1 high school building, 1 central school, and 3 ward schools, with a teaching force of 27 teachers, and a school population of about 1,700.

Hope College was founded as an academy in 1851, and incorporated as a college in 1875. It has at present an attendance of 250 students. Prof. Gerrit J. Kollen is president of the institution.

The present population of the city is fully 6,000.

The manufactures at present embrace the following: Furniture, leather, flour, wooden ware, baskets and veneer, palls and tubs, staves and headings, agricultural implements, wagons and carriages, etc., etc., some of these being the largest of their kind in the state, with an annual output to the value of over two million dollars.

The city has two banks, the First State and the Holland City State, each with a capital of $50,000.

The following papers, all weekly, are published in Holland:

De Hollander, Wm. Benjaminse, publisher and editor.

De Grondwet, L. Mulder, publisher; L. Verwey, editor.

De Hope, R. Kanters, publisher; Prof. C. Doesburg, Rev. N. M. Stefens, D. D., Rev. J. Van Houte, editors.

De Wachter, Wm. Benjaminse, printer, Rev. G. E. Boer, editor.

HOLLAND CITY NEWS, L. Mulder, publisher, G. Van Schelven, editor.

Ottawa County Times, M. G. Manting, publisher and editor.

Also The Anchor, a monthly publication, issued by the students of Hope College.

The above embraces practically all the points covered by the inquiries of the committee, and for which the information could not readily be derived from other sources. To the resident member of the committee, H. D. Post, Esq., has been assigned the task of formulating the above with such other facts and information as may be within his reach and recollection into a suitable paper to be deposited in the corner stone.

August 31—Netherland Day—World's Fair.

For the information of those that desire to attend the Worlds Fair on Netherland Day, and by so doing contribute to the Fair quota that is expected on that occasion from this city and vicinity, we can state that the efforts of the Chicago committee in arranging for a successful and creditable affair are meeting with the most desirable encouragement, and success.

Not a week passes at the Fair that one or more days are not being similarly observed by different societies, localities or nationalities, and inasmuch as the success of Netherland Day will inevitably redound to the credit of all who, either by residence, birth or antecedent, are identified with that nationality, it carries with it the implied obligation to all thus situated to contribute by their good will and, if possible, by their personal attendance, to the desired result.

For good and sufficient reason the Chicago committee has abandoned the idea of marching in procession, or as an organized body, from the city to the Fair. All visitors are expected to reach the Fair grounds by 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon. At the several entrances aids will be stationed, to direct them to Festival Hall, which, with its massive organ, has been kindly tendered to the Dutch for that day.

The exercises there will commence at 11:00 o'clock sharp, and will be opened either by Hon. G. De Weckerlin, minister of the Netherlands at Washington, or Hon. G. Birkhof, Jr., consul at Chicago. Addresses will be made by Hon. G. J. Diekema of this city (in English) and Rev. J. Van Houte, of this city, Mr. J. H. Stubenrauch, of Pella, Ia., and Mr. D. Blocker of Amsterdam, Netherlands, (in Dutch). The music for the occasion will be excellent, and is to be rendered by the Pullman Band, one of the best in the state of Illinois, and a chorus of not less than one hundred and fifty voices.

At the close of these exercises a procession will be formed in which all participate. The line of march will be to the Java village on the Midway Plaisance. The admission to this village on that day will be free to all that wear the official badge. This badge consists of a medal of the young queen Wilhelmina, and can be had for the small sum of fifteen cents.

The Netherland Day committee for Holland and vicinity consists of the following: A. Vischer, L. Verwey, Prof. C. Doesburg, G. W. Mokma, J. Van Landegem, G. Van Schelven, R. Kanters, Prof. G. J. Kollen, J. Diekema, and C. J. De Roo.

At a meeting of the committee held on Thursday evening, it was resolved to engage the Holland City Martial Band (28 pieces) for the occasion. Messrs. Mokma, Dinkeloo and L. T. Kanters were appointed a committee on finance; Messrs. Van Schelven and Vischer on flags; Messrs. L. Verwey and R. Kanters on local badges. The queen's badge will be on sale at the stores of Kanters, Bros. and Wm. Brusse & Co.; price, 15 cents.

The steamboat company has kindly offered to carry the members of the band without charge and Mr. C. J. De Roo, secretary of the company, will personally attend to the guidance of the party while in the city, and direct them to the fair grounds. The fare for the round trip will be $2.00; return tickets good for one week, Wednesday evening, Aug. 30th, two boats will leave here. The company requests those that desire to attend to notify, if possible, Fred Zalsman, agent at the wharf, before that time.

Judging from present indications, the weather permitting, this city and vicinity will be well represented at the World's fair on Netherland's Day.

WHILE the times are so close for money, I will close out my entire stock of Clothing, Furnishing Goods, and Trunks and Valises very cheap. I must have money.

An Attempt at Murder.

Near the deserted haunts of North Hill, an abandoned lumbering point in Grand river, a few miles above Grand Haven, resides Jan Schreuer, with Trientje his wife.

Trientje's name until about ten years ago was Van der Molen, and of late years she has steadily repented the change she then made. The fact is, Trientje and John have quarreled like cats and dogs, often brought on by Trientje's excessive indulgence in unadulterated alcoholics.

On Tuesday last she resolved to put an end to their mutual misery by summarily dispatching Jan to the other world. Poisoning a la French, she thought, would stand her in hand as well as anything, so she took Paris green, placed it in the coffee pot, and poured Jan a good, strong cup, asking him whether he didn't like another, and poured out a second one. The second cup however, proved too much for Jan. Before he had it half finished he began to throw up, and today Jan owes his life to the fact that Trientje had made the dose too strong.

When Jan began to realize the situation he rushed to his brother-in-law in Spring Lake, who called in Dr. Brown, and by their joint efforts they succeeded in thoroughly renovating Jan's stomach, and to place him in a position where it was his turn to assume the offensive. Jan at once proceeded to Squire Pagelson and filed the proper complaint, and to-day Trientje is in the county jail, awaiting her preliminary examination on Monday next.

In the dear old home the authorities found the fatal coffee pot, with a thick layer of Paris green in the bottom. Also the cup in which the liquid had been administered, with the poison mixed in the dregs.

A Nickle Cigar.

It is a difficult matter to get a good nickle cigar, unless you know the brand. The majority of the nickle cigars are not fit to smoke, for at wholesale they are very cheap. A good nickle cigar costs about 35c per thousand, while a poor one costs only about 15c. The "West Michigan Juniors," manufactured by the West Michigan Cigar Co., is probably the best nickle cigar in the market. 22-1

To the Trade and to Housekeepers:

Progress.

The steady decline in prices during the past few years has placed the highest grade of "Patent" flour within the reach of the masses and has resulted in a wonderful increase in its sale as this grade can now be obtained for a lower price than was formerly paid for "Straight" and "Family" grades.

Sunlight.

The most exacting requirements of this growing demand are met by our Fancy Roller Patent, the original and only genuine "Sunlight Flour."

Always Branded:

A Triumph of Milling

This magnificent flour is the result of the most careful and scientific manipulation of elaborate milling machinery which we exclusively control, and the careful selection and blending of the choicest varieties of wheat.

Unquestioned Superiority. This flour is universally acknowledged by Millers, Flour Dealers and Bakers to be unequalled for Whiteness, Purity and Strength.

Accept No Imitation or Substitute. The genuine "Sunlight" flour is sold by all the leading Grocers and Dealers. If the parties you buy of cannot supply this brand, write direct to us and we will tell you where you can obtain it, or supply you direct if no dealer in your town handles it. Do not allow your self to be put off with an imitation or inferior substitute.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION!

Too High Pressure.

In these days of keen competition in every line, when the business man is compelled to bend his intellect and every energy to the success of his business; the clerk, book-keeper, professional man and laborer, to drive themselves at a terrific rate, there can be but one result—an explosion, which, if not resulting in immediate death, leaves them with shattered brains and bodies. They are running at too high pressure. The strain is too great. Something must and does give way. This is equally true of women. Though their sphere is more limited, they have their daily burdens, frets, and worries, and the results are the same as with their stronger companions. This condition is growing worse every day. The rapidity of its increase is awful to contemplate. Our homes, hospitals, and insane asylums are full of these unfortunate, and are being crowded still further. There is but one solution of the matter. Recognize the importance of the situation at once, and take the necessary measures to overcome it. If you have failing memory, hot flashes, dizziness, nervous or sick headache, biliousness, irritability, melancholy, sleeplessness, fainting, nervous dyspepsia, epilepsy, etc., know that any one of them is but a symptom of the calamity that may befall you, and even though you have used so-called remedies and treated with reputable physicians with little or no benefit, give Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve a trial. It is the only remedy that may be depended upon for nervous disorders. "Two years ago I used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve with marked benefit, and later induced my son, who had been sick with catarrh of the bladder five years in the hands of our best physicians, to try it together with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. He was so wonderfully benefited that he is attending to business again. My wife also used Nerve with most excellent results. All of us together have not used more than six bottles of Nerve. Several of our friends have also used it, and are greatly improved."—Louis Gibbs, Bucher & Gibbs Flow Co., Canton, Ohio. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles, $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from opiates or dangerous drugs. Free book at druggists, or by mail. Sold by all druggists.

SOME SANITARY ASPECTS OF BREAD-MAKING.

BY CYRUS EDSON, M. D.
(Health Commissioner, New York City.)

It is necessary, if one would understand the sanitary aspects of bread-making, to fully comprehend the present theory held by scientists of germs and the part played by them in disease. The theory of disease germs is merely the name given to the knowledge had of those germs by medical men, a knowledge which is the result of innumerable experiments. Being this, the old term of a "theory" has become a misnomer. A germ of a disease is a plant so small that I do not know how to express intelligibly to the general reader its lack of size. When this germ is introduced into the blood or tissues of the body, its action appears to be analogous to that which takes place when yeast is added to dough. It attacks certain elements of the blood or tissues, and destroys them, at the same time producing new substances.

But the germs of the greater part of the germ diseases, that is, of the infectious and contagious diseases, will develop or increase in number without being in the body of a human being, provided always you give them the proper conditions. These conditions are to be found in dough which is boing raised with yeast. They are warmth, moisture and the organic matter of the flour on which the germs, after certain changes, feed.

It is necessary to remember at this point that yeast is germ growth, and when introduced into a mixture of glucose or starch, in the presence of warmth and moisture sets up a fermentation. If the mixture be a starchy dough the yeast first changes a portion of the starch into glucose and then decomposes the glucose by changing it into two new substances, viz., carbonic acid gas and alcohol.

Now the gluten, which is also a constituent of dough and moist starch, affords, with the latter, an excellent nidus for the development of germs of disease as well as for the yeast germs. The germs of cholera, as of typhoid fever, would, if introduced into dough, find very favorable conditions for their growth.

I do not wish to "pose" as an alarmist, nor am I willing to say there is very much chance of the germs of typhus and of cholera reaching the stomachs of the people who eat bread which has been raised with yeast. But I have not the slightest cause to doubt that other diseases have been and will be carried about in the bread.

I have met journeyman bakers, suffering from cutaneous diseases, working the dough in the bread trough with naked hands and arms. I have no reason to suppose bakers are less liable to cutaneous diseases than are other men, and I know, as every housewife knows, yeast-raised bread must be worked a long time. This is an exceedingly objectionable thing from the standpoint of a physician, for the reason that the germs of disease which are in the air and dust and on stairways and straps in street cars, are most often collected on the hands. Any person who has ever kneaded dough understands the way in which the dough cleans the hands. This means that any germs which may have found a lodging place on the hands of the baker before he makes up his batch of bread are sure to find their way into the dough, and once there, to find all the conditions necessary for subdivision and growth. This is equivalent to saying that we must rely on heat to kill these germs, because it is almost certain that they will be there. Now, underdone or doughy bread is a form which every man and woman has seen.

It is a belief as old as the hills that underdone bread is unhealthy. This reputation has been earned for it by the experience of countless generations, and no careful mother will wish her children to eat bread that has not been thoroughly cooked. The reason given for this recognized unhealthfulness has been that the uncooked yeast dough is very difficult to digest. No one but a physician would be apt to think of disease germs which have not been killed during the process of baking as a cause of the sickness following the use of uncooked yeast bread. Yet this result from this cause is more than probable. I have not the slightest doubt that could we trace back some of the cases of illness which we meet in our practice we would find that germs collected by the baker have found their way into the yeast bread, that the heat has not been sufficient to destroy them, that the uncooked yeast bread has been eaten and with it the colonies of germs, that they have found their way into the blood and that the call for our services which followed has rounded off this sequence of events.

I have already pointed out that the germs of disease are to be found in the air and dust. The longer any substance to be eaten is exposed to the air, the greater the chance that germs will be deposited on it. Bread raised with yeast is worked down or kneaded twice before being baked, and this process may take anywhere from four hours to ten. It has, then, the chance of collecting disease germs during this process of raising, and it has two periods of working down or kneading, during each of which it may gather the dirt containing the germs from the baker's hands. As no bread save that raised with yeast goes through this long process of raising and kneading, so no good save that raised with yeast has a good chance of gathering germs.

What is meant by "raising" bread is worth a few words. The introduction of the yeast into the moist dough and the addition of heat when the pan is placed near the fire produces an enormous growth of the yeast fungi—the yeast "germ," in other words. These fungi effect a destructive fermentation of a portion of the starchy matter of the flour—one of the most valuable nutrient elements in the flour. The fermentation produces carbonic acid gas, and this, having its origin in every little particle of the starch, which is itself everywhere in the dough, pushes aside the particles of the dough to give itself room. This is what is called "raising the bread."

It needs but a glance to see that it is, in its effects on the dough, purely mechanical. The dough, which was before a close-grained mass, is now full of little holes, and when cooked in this condition is what we ordinarily call light. This porous quality of the bread enables the stomach to rapidly and easily digest it, for the gastric juices quickly soak into and attack it from all sides. The fermentation of the dough, however, uses up a portion of the nutrient elements of the loaf. If it be possible, therefore, to produce a light porous loaf without this destruction and without the "kneading" process, which fills the dough with germs and filth, and without the long period during which the raising process goes on,

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

HOW CHRIST PURCHASED OUR DELIVERANCE.

Dr. Talmage Delivers an Interesting Discourse on Paul's Bold Challenge, "Who Is He That Condemneth?"—Christ Our Intercessor at the Throne of God.

A Sublime Sacrifice.

Rev. Dr. Talmage last Sunday chose for his subject "A Bold Challenge," the text being Romans viii. 34: "Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea, rather that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us."

"This is the last sermon I shall ever preach," said Christmas Evans on the 13th of June, 1833. Three days afterward he expired. I do not know what his text was, but I know that no man could choose a better theme—though he knew it was the last sermon he should ever preach—than the subject found in this text.

Paul flung this challenge of the text to the feet of all ecclesiastical and civil authority. He feared neither sword nor lions, earth nor hell. Diocletian slew uncounted thousands under his administration, and the world has been full of persecution; but all the persecutors of the world could not frighten Paul. Was it because he was physically strong? Oh, no. I suppose he was very much weakened by exposure and maltreatment. Was it because he was lacking in sensitiveness? No; you find the most delicate shades of feeling playing in and out his letters and sermons. Some of his communications burst into tears. What was it that lifted Paul in this triumphant mood? The thought of a Saviour dead, a Saviour risen, a Saviour exalted, a Saviour interceding.

Sublime Sacrifice.

All the world has sung the praise of Princess Alice. One child having died of a contagious disease—she was in the room where another was dying, and the court physician said to her, "You must not breathe the breath of this child or you will die." But she, seeing the child mourning because of the death of her brother, the mother stooped down and in sympathy kissed the little one, caught the disease and perished. All the world sang the heroism and the self-sacrifice of Princess Alice, but I have to tell you that when our race was dying the Lord Jesus stooped down and gave us the kiss of His everlasting love and perished that we might live. "It is Christ that died."

Can you tell me how tender hearted Paul could find anything to rejoice at in the horrible death scene of Calvary? We weep at funerals; we are sympathetic when we see a stranger die; when a murderer steps upon the scaffold we pray for his departing spirit, and how could Paul—the great hearted Paul—find anything to be pleased with at the funeral of a God? Besides that, Christ had only recently died, and the sorrow was fresh in the memory of the world, and how in the fresh memory of a Saviour's death could Paul be exultant?

It was because Paul saw in that death his own deliverance, and the deliverance of a race from still worse disaster. He saw the gap into which the race must plunge, and he saw the bleeding hands of Christ close it. The glittering steel on the top of the executioner's spear in his sight kindled into a torch to light men heavenward. The persecutors saw over the cross five words written in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin; but Paul saw over the cross of Christ only one word—"expiation!" He heard in the dying groan of Christ his own groan of eternal torture taken by another. Paul said to himself, "Had it not been that Christ volunteered in my behalf, those would have been my mangled hands and feet, my gashed side, my crimson temples."

The Burden of Christ.

Men of great physical endurance have sometimes carried very heavy burdens—300 pounds, 400 pounds—and they have still said, "My strength is not yet tested. Put on more weight." But after awhile they were compelled to cry out: "Stop! I can carry no more." But the burden of Christ was illimitable. First, there was His own burden of hunger and thirst and weariness and a thousand outrages that have been heaped upon Him, and on top of that burden were the sorrows of His poor old mother, and on the top of those burdens the crimes of the ruffians who were executing Him.

"Stop!" you cry. "It is enough. Christ can bear no more." And Christ says, "Roll on more burdens. Roll on me the sins of this entire nation, and after that roll on me the sins of the inhabited earth, and then roll on me the sins of the 4,000 years past, so far as those sins have been forgiven." And the angels of God, seeing the awful pressure, cry: "Stop! He can bear no more." And the blood rushing to the nostril and lips seem to cry out: "Enough! He can endure no more." But Christ says, "Roll on a greater burden—roll on the sins of the next 1,900 years, roll on me the sins of all the succeeding ages; roll on me the agonies of hell, ages on ages, the furnaces and the prison houses and the tortures." That is what the Bible means when it says, "He bore our sins and carried our sorrows."

"Now," says Paul, "I am free. That suffering purchased my deliverance. God never collects a debt twice. I have a receipt in full. If God is satisfied with me, then what do all the threats of earth and hell amount to? Bring on all your witnesses," says Paul. "Show all your force. Do your worst against my soul. I defy you. I dare you. I challenge you. Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died." Oh, what a strong argument that puts in the hand of every Christian man! Some day all the past sins of his life come down on him in a fiery troop, and they pound away at the gate of his soul, and they say: "We have come for your arrest. Any one of us could overcome you. We are 10,000 strong. Surrender!" And you open the door and single handed alone you contend against that troop. You fling this divine weapon into their midst. You scatter those sins as quick as you can think it.

"It is Christ that died." Why then bring up to us the sins of our past life? What have we to do with those obsolete things? You know how hard it is for a wrecker to bring up anything that is lost near the shore of the sea, but suppose something be lost half way between Liverpool and New York. It cannot be found, it cannot be fetched up.

up. "Now," says God, "your sins I have cast into the depths of the sea." Mid-Atlantic! All the machinery ever fashioned in foundries of darkness, and launched from the doors of eternal death, working for 10,000 years, cannot bring up one of our sins forgiven and forgotten and sunken into the depths of the sea. When a sin is pardoned, it is gone—it is gone out of the memory, it is gone out of existence. "Their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more."

The Tragedy that Saves.

From other tragedies men have come away exhausted and nervous and sleepless; but there is one tragedy that soothes and calms and saves. Calvary was the stage on which it was enacted, the curtain of the night falling at midnight was the drop scene, the thunder of falling rocks the orchestra, angels in the galleries and devils in the pit the spectators, the tragedy a crucifixion. "It is Christ that died." Oh, triumphant thought!

If you go through the picture galleries of Versailles, you will find a great change there. I said to a friend who had been through those galleries, "Are they as they were before the French war?" and I was told that there was a great change there; that all that multitude of pictures which represented Napoleonic triumphs had been taken away, and in the frames were other pictures representative of Germanic success and victory. Oh, that all the scenes of satanic triumph in our world might be blotted out, and the whole world might be a picture gallery representing the triumphant Jesus! Down with the monarchy of transgression! Up with the monarchy of our king! Hail! Jesus, hail!

But I must give you the second cause of Paul's exhilaration. If Christ had staid in that grave, we never would have gotten out of it. The grave would have been dark and dismal as the conclave during the reign of terror, where the carts came up only to take the victims out to the scaffold. I do not wonder that the ancients tried by embalmment of the body to resist the dissolution of death.

The grave is the darkest, deepest, ghastliest chasm that was ever opened if there be no light from the resurrection throne streaming into it, but Christ staid in the tomb all Friday night and all Saturday, all Saturday night and a part of Sunday morning. He staid so long in the tomb that He might fit it for us when we go there. He tarried two whole nights in the grave, so that He saw how important it was to have plenty of light, and He has flooded it with His own glory.

It is early Sunday morning, and we start up to find the grave of Christ. We find the morning sun gliding the dew, and the shrubs are sweet as the foot crushes them. What a beautiful place to be buried in! Wonder they did not treat Christ as well when He was alive as they do now that He is dead. Give the military salute to the soldiers who stand guarding the dead. But, hark to the crash! an earthquake! The soldiers fall back as though they were dead, and the stone at the door of Christ's tomb spins down the hill, flung by the arm of an angel. Come forth, O Jesus! from the darkness into the sunlight. Come forth and breathe the perfume of Joseph's garden.

Christ comes forth radiant, and as He steps out of the excavation of the rock I look down into the excavation and in the distance I see others coming hand in hand and troop after troop, and I find it is a long procession of the precious dead. Among them are our own loved ones—father, mother, brother, sister, companion, children, coming up out of the excavation of the rock until the last one has stepped out into the light, and I am bewildered, and I cannot understand the scene until I see Christ wave His hand over the advancing procession from the rock, and hear him cry, "I am the resurrection and the life; he who believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live." And then I notice that the long dirge of the world's woe suddenly stops at the archangelic shout of "Come forth!"

Results of the Resurrection.

Oh, my friends, if Christ had not broken out of the grave you and I would never come out of it! It would have been another case of Charlotte Corday attempting to slay a tyrant, herself slain. It would have been another case of John Brown attempting to free the slaves, himself hung. It would have been death and Christ in a grapple and death the victor. The black flag would have floated on all the graves and mausoleums of the dead, and hell would have conquered the forces of Heaven and captured the ramparts of God, and Satan would have come to coronation in the palaces of Heaven, and it would have been devils on the throne and sons of God in the dungeon.

No! no! no! When that stone was rolled from the door of Christ's grave, it was hurled with such a force that it crashed in all the grave doors of Christendom, and now the tomb is only a bower where God's children take a siesta, an afternoon nap, to wake up in mighty invigoration. "Christ is risen." Hang that lamp among all the tombs of my dead! Hang it over my own resting place. Christ's suffering is ended; His work is done. The darkest Friday afternoon of the world's history becomes the brightest Sunday morning of resurrection joy. The Good Friday of bitter memories becomes the Easter of glorious transformation and resurrection.

The Hero of the Universe.

That means He is the first guest of Heaven. He has a right to sit there. The hero of the universe! Count His wounds; two in the feet, two in the hands, one in the side—five wounds. Oh, you have counted wrong. These are not half the wounds. Look at the severer wounds in the temples; each thorn an excruciation.

If a hero comes back from battle, and he takes off his hat or rolls up his sleeve and shows you the scar of a wound gotten at Ball's Bluff or at South Mountain, you stand in admiration at his heroism and patriotism, but if Christ should make conspicuous the five wounds gotten on Calvary—that Waterloo of all the ages—he would display only a small part of his wounds. Wounded all over, let him sit at the right hand of God. He has a right to sit there. In the grand review, when the redeemed pass by in cohorts of splendor, they will look at Him and shout, "Victory."

The oldest inhabitant of Heaven never saw a grander day than the one when Christ took His place on the right hand of God. Hosanna! With lips of clay I may not appropriately utter it, but let the martyrs under the altar throw the cry to the elders before the throne, and they can toss it to the choir on the sea of glass until all Heaven shall lift it—some on point of scepter, and some on string of harp, and some on the tip of the green branches. Hosanna! Hosanna!

A fourth cause of Paul's exhilaration: After a clergyman had preached a sermon in regard to the glories of Heaven and the splendor of the scene an aged woman said, "If all that is to go on in Heaven, I don't know what will become of my poor head." Oh, my friends, there will be so many things going on in Heaven I have sometimes wondered if the Lord would not forget you and me!

Paul in Prison.

Perhaps Paul said sometimes: "I wonder God does not forget me down here in Antioch, and in the prison, and in the shipwreck. There are so many sailors, so many wayfarers, so many prisoners, so many heartbroken men, says Paul, 'perhaps God may forget me. And then I am so vile a sinner. How I whipped those Christians! With what vengeance I mounted that cavalry horse and dashed up to Damascus! Oh! it will take a mighty attorney to plead my cause and get me free.' But just at that moment there came in upon Paul's soul something mightier than the surges that dashed his ship into Melita, swifter than the horse he rode to Damascus. It was the swift and overwhelming thought of Christ's intercession.

My friends, we must have an advocate. A poor lawyer is worse than no lawyer at all. We must have one who is able successfully to present our cause before God. Where is he? Who is he? There is only one advocate in all the universe that can plead our cause in the last judgment, that can plead our cause before God in the great tribunal.

Sometimes in earthly courts attorneys have specialties and one man succeeds better in patent cases, another in insurance cases, another in criminal cases, another in land cases, another in will cases, and his success generally depends upon his sticking to that specialty. I have to tell you that Christ can do many things, but it seems to me that His specialty is to take the bad case of the sinner and plead it before God until He gets eternal acquittal. Oh! we must have Him for our advocate.

But what plea can He make? Sometimes an attorney in court will plead the innocence of the prisoner. That would be inappropriate for us; we are all guilty! guilty! Unclean, unclean! Christ, our advocate, will not plead our innocence. Sometimes the attorney in court tries to prove an alibi. He says: "This prisoner was not at the scene. He was in some other place at the time." Such a plea will not do in our case. The Lord found us in all our sins and in the very place of our iniquity. It is impossible to prove an alibi. Sometimes an attorney will plead the insanity of the prisoner and say he is irresponsible on that account. That plea will never do in our case. We sinned against light, against knowledge, against the dictates of our own consciences; we knew what we were doing. What then shall the plea be?

Christ's Martyrdom.

The plea for our eternal deliverance will be Christ's own martyrdom. He will say: "Look at all these wounds. By all these sufferings I demand the rescue of this man from sin and death and hell. Constaale knock off the shackles—let the prisoner go free." "Who is he that condemneth?" It is Christ that died, yea, rather that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us.

But why all this gladness on the faces of these sons and daughters of the Lord Almighty? I know what you are thinking of. A Saviour dead; a Saviour risen; a Saviour exalted; a Saviour interceding. "What," say you, "is this all for me?" All! All! Never let me hear you complaining about anything again. With your pardoned sin behind you, and a successful Christ pleading above you, and a glorious Heaven before you, how can you be despondent about anything?

"But," says some man in the audience, "all that is very good and very true for those who are inside the kingdom, but how about those of us who are outside?" Then I say, come into the kingdom, come out of the prison house into the glorious sunlight of God's mercy and pardon and come now.

It was in the last days of the reign of terror, the year 1793. Hundreds and thousands had perished under the French guillotine. France groaned with the tyrannies of Robespierre and the Jacobin Club. The last group of sufferers had had their locks shorn by Monchotte, the prison barber, so that the neck might be bare to the keen knife of the guillotine.

The carts came up to the prison, the poor wretches were placed in the carts and driven off to the scaffold. But while they were going toward the scaffold there was an outcry in the street, and then the shock of firearms, and then the cry: "Robespierre has fallen! Down with the Jacobins! Let France be free!" But the armed soldiers rode in upon these rescuers, so that the poor wretches in the carts were taken on to the scaffold and horribly died.

But that very night these monsters of persecution were seized, and Robespierre perished under the very guillotine that he had reared for others, all France clapping their hands with joy as his head rolled into the executioner's basket. Then the axes of the excited populace were heard pounding against the gates of the prison, and the poor prisoners walked out free. My friends, sin is the worst of all Robespierres. It is the tyrant of tyrants. It has built a prison house for our soul. It plots our death. It has shorn us of the sacrifice; but blessed be God, this morning we hear the axes of God's gracious deliverance pounding against the door of our prison.

Deliverance has come. Light breaks through all the wards of the prison. Revolution! Revolution! "Where sin abounded grace does much more abound, that whereas sin reigned unto death even so grace may reign unto eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." Glorious truth! A Saviour dead; a Saviour risen; a Saviour exalted; a Saviour interceding!

When a man is indifferent to good looks, it is a sign that he hasn't any.

We greatly admire the family man who is bold enough not to buy a piano.

As Good as a Seashore Cottage.

"Are you going to the seashore this summer?" Jones asked of Brown. "N-not exactly," said Brown, "but we're going to accomplish the same result without going from home at all." "What do you mean?" "Why, it's this way: You see, when a person of my means takes a cottage at the seashore he, of course, gets a poor sort of shanty, because we can't afford a large, finely finished and well-furnished house. You know the sort of place the usual summer cottage is. Well, we've decided to accomplish the result in another way. We're going to move up into the attic for the summer." "Move up into the attic?" "Why, certainly. It is unfinished, just like a seashore cottage. The sun beats down on the shingles and raises the temperature above 100 degrees every sunny summer day; that's just like a seashore cottage, too. When it rains the water doesn't beat through our roof, to be sure, as it does through the roofs of the seashore cottages, but we can remedy that by poking a few holes through the shingles here and there, and getting the roof mended in the fall. It will smell a little stuffy, but that is eminently like a seashore cottage. We shall keep a clothes basket full of unwashed clam shells standing in the corner to produce a realistic effect. On the whole we shall be ever so much more comfortable in our own accustomed garret than we would be at the seaside, and we shall have this inestimable advantage, that when we get sick of it we can simply move right down into our own comfortable home, whereas if we were at the shore and paying a high price for a cottage we should feel bound to stick it out to the bitter end. Oh, I tell you it is a great scheme!"—Boston Transcript.

Wonderful Helen Keller.

Helen Keller, the wonderful deaf, dumb, and blind girl, who has been taught so much despite her triple affliction, has been visiting Prof. Graham Bell, in Washington. She has lately taken up the study of French, and already has a good knowledge of the language. In a letter to a friend she once wrote: "I am always delighted when any one writes me a beautiful thought which I can treasure in my memory forever. It is because my books are so full of the riches of which Mr. Ruskin speaks that I love them so dearly. I did not realize until I began to write the sketch what precious companions books have been to me, and ure produce carbonic acid gas, and having done this, disappear. Its leavening strength has been found superior to other baking powders, and as far as I know, it is the only powder which will raise large bread perfectly. Its use avoids the long period during which the yeast-made dough must stand in order that the starch may ferment, and there is also no kneading necessary.

The two materials used in the Royal, cream of tartar and soda, are perfectly harmless, even when eaten. But they are combined in exact compensating weights, so that when chemical action begins between them they practically disappear, the substance of both having been taken up to form the carbonic acid gas. More than this, the proper method of using the powder insures the most thorough mixing with the flour. The proper quantity being taken, it is mixed with the flour and stirred around in it. The mixture is then sifted several times, and this insures that in every part of the flour there shall be a few particles of the powder. The salt and milk or water being added, the dough is made up as quickly as possible, and molded into the loaves.

These are placed in the oven and baked. But the very moment the warmth and moisture attack the mix-

The City of Holland, under the authority of an Act of the Legislature, will purchase an electric lighting and steam plant for the purpose of furnishing the City of Holland and its inhabitants with electric lighting.

For the purpose of guiding bidders in putting in their bids for the construction of such plant, this brief outline of the requirements is submitted:

It is designed that such electrical lighting plant shall consist as nearly as may be of the following:

First. Power Plant. The power plant shall consist of one horizontal tubular boiler complete, of at least 100 H. P. capacity, with stack, water injector, and all necessary and usual appurtenances. Said boiler is to have full flush front; the bottom to contain not more than three sheets; it is to be tested to 180 lbs. cold water pressure and of such construction that it will be licensed to carry 120 lbs. working steam pressure and insured for one year in the Hartford Steam Boiler Insurance Co.

Engines. The plant is to embrace either two engines of the best and most economical pattern of about 70 H. P. capacity each, connected either by friction clutch pulleys, or arranged with counter shaft so that either one or both engines may be used at pleasure; or, in case one engine shall be decided upon, such engine to be of from 120 to 150 H. P. capacity, of the best and most economical type.

All bidders will furnish separate bids for the two engines and for the single engine.

The boiler and engines are to be set on good foundations, in a thorough manner, and all ready connected for steam, with all the attachments and utensils requisite for turning on steam and putting the plant in service.

It is designed that this power plant shall be first class in every respect. The boiler and engines to be of the highest and best type of its kind as to workmanship, economy, and regulation, and to be fully guaranteed in every respect.

Second. Electrical Lighting Plant. This plant is to consist as nearly as may be of one direct current, high tension arc dynamo of sixty 1200 candle power light capacity; and one dynamo for incandescent lights, either direct or alternating systems, of about seven hundred and fifty 16 candle power light capacity.

These dynamos must be of the highest type of their kind and be guaranteed in every respect, and must be submitted to a thorough test for a continuous run of at least twelve hours. Each bidder will state the nature and length of the guarantee he will make on both the arc and incandescent dynamos.

There is to be furnished also, independent and separate switch boards arranged for the requisite instruments, such as amperes meter, volt meter, pilot lamp rheostat, station transformer, station fuses, lightning arresters, main switch, and all other appliances necessary to make them complete in every respect.

There is to be furnished two endless double leather belts of the proper width to drive dynamos. Machines to be set about 18 ft. from centers; belts are to be of the best oak tanned leather.

In general, it is designed that the station outfit shall be complete in every respect, and everything necessary to make the same a first-class station shall be furnished, placed, and connected all ready for service by the contractors.

There is to be furnished also poles and wires for about 40 of the arc lights for street lighting, which will take approximately about nine miles of wire. Poles shall be of cedar, grade No. 1, and 30 and 40 ft. long, 6 inches top, and galvanized for all necessary cross-arms, and shall be set not more than 120 ft. apart. Lamp poles are to be 40 ft. in length, and are to be set at street intersections where the lamps are to be located.

All wire is to be of the best grade, properly insulated, and of a size sufficient to secure the highest economy. There is also to be furnished wire for the incandescent lights of 750 lamps of sufficient size so that there shall not be a loss to exceed 5 pct. to the centre of distribution, which will be about 4 of a mile from central station; all wires to be first class.

There is also to be furnished forty 1200 candle power automatic weather proof arc lamps, guaranteed capable for at least fourteen hours continuous service without attention; all lamps to be free from hissing, and to give a steady, pure, white, and brilliant light constant and free from noise and flickering.

There will also be furnished 500 incandescent lamps of 16 candle power each.

There is also to be furnished all converters necessary for seven hundred and fifty 16 candle power lights, the size averaging about twenty lights each; such converters to be furnished with primary fuse boxes when necessary, and price on such fuse boxes is to be guaranteed for future use when same is not included as part of the converter.

Each bidder will be required to furnish full and complete specifications as to what he proposes to furnish, and the same is to conform as nearly as possible to the conditions outlined herein. The material furnished must be of the best, and each and every item fully guaranteed and to be so constructed and equipped as to furnish a first class plant in every detail and particular, ready for service, everything to be furnished and installed by the contractor, and to be guaranteed in each and every particular. Bids must be made upon the power plant and upon the electrical plant separately, with the privilege of bidding upon either, or both, and all bids upon the electrical plant shall be in detail so far as is possible.

SEALED PROPOSALS. Sealed proposals, addressed to the city clerk, will be received by the city up to and including September 5th, 1893, in accordance with above specifications; the city reserving the right to reject any and all bids.

Zeeland.

Married at Allegan on Wednesday, Aug. 18, D. Van Bree of this village and Miss Nellie Blank of Hamilton. They will be at home to their friends here after Sept. 1st. The groom is one of our leading druggists.

Nick Prins and Frank Boonstra are on the sick list.

Rev. Mr. Kreulen will be installed as pastor of the Second H. C. R. church Sunday.

Only a few more weeks and Zeeland can boast of a weekly paper. Hi Potts is now in Chicago, purchasing material for the new plant.

Henry De Pree is visiting J. E. Benjamin at Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Toot of Grand Rapids are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Brusse.

The Misses Avery and Hashbarger, former teachers in our public school, have returned from a week's visit at the Fair.

The condition of Tony De Krulf remains unchanged.

Miss Lillie Young of Coopersville is making a brief visit with her sister, Mrs. A. De Krulf.

Lake Shore.

Charley Ogden was in Grand Rapids Saturday and Sunday.

Lime Rockwood and wife have been visiting here for a few days. People seem to have more leisure than work at present, and some are foolish enough to place the blame on the former administration, instead of the present, where it belongs.

Some of our threshers, who are new at the business, have cut down prices in order to secure work. Men of sense, however, say that prices are already very low. The trouble is when prices are down they cannot be raised again, even if grain sells for double the price that it does at present.

Henry Kenyon has a yearling colt which ran a sharp stick in its breast. He will probably lose it.

Jesse Chapman has rented the house of Jay Cochran, in order to enjoy the lake breezes with his family, for a few weeks.

Hine and Johnny Ausicker got disgusted trying to thresh around here. There are so many machines that farmers begin to be over particular. One wants this machine and another that, all of which makes long hauls. So they started for Fennville on Monday, where they will be better appreciated.

Miss Nettie Willet of Grand Rapids is enjoying the lake air and visiting among old friends. She taught school here several terms.

Port Sheldon.

This Wednesday morning we have the pleasure of recording the close of the drought. At 5:00 a. m. it commenced to rain. A steady and warm shower rejuvenated everything. As we have not had a drop of rain since July 10, all vegetation was drying up. Corn was badly curling and garden stuff suffering.

The woods north of the bridge, from the Grand Haven road to West Olive, have all been on fire for the last two weeks, killing what timber there was left and burning up several cords of fire wood. Joseph Peck of West Olive had 14 cords burned last week, and J. Goodwin had to haul his wood out of the woods Sunday.

Ben Van Raalte, the energetic dealer in implements has given the young farmers a pleasant hour, the other day, in consideration of the large number of machines he has sold around German Town.

Cha's Owens has been here from Chicago, repairing his house on the Lake Shore, previous to Frank Julien moving into it.

Blackberries will be a short crop, as the drought has dried nearly all the vines. I fear the present rain comes too late to be of any good.

R. H. Merritt and wife were down to the mouth from East Olive on Tuesday. Mr. M. looks well after his imprisonment with the diphtheria patients in his own house and at West Olive.

Mrs. Wm. Bourton and daughter Mrs. Grongow of Chicago came over last Sunday with the stmr. City of Holland to look after her daughter, Mrs. C. B. Cook, nee Bourton, at the bridge. The latter is to be congratulated upon the latest arrival in the family—a bouncing boy.
