About $1,500,000 To Be Spent For New Light Plant

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS WILL SPEND TWO YEARS TO COMPLETE NEW PLANT PROJECT

Closing Alleys Bring Discussion; "Casey" Kalkman's Tannery Property Project Fails to go on Ballot

Holland's city council last night at its regular meeting unanimously approved a proposal of the Holland Board of Public Works to erect a new municipal power and light plant in the city at an approximate cost of $1,500,000. The project had received preliminary approval from the two bodies at an informal meeting of members of council and the board of public works in the city hall, Tuesday night. Support of the board of public works in the project was also unanimous.

In spite of the tremendous financial outlay for the project, the plant will be erected at no cost to the city or its taxpayers, Charles Vos, Asst. Supt. of the board of public works, pointed out. The entire cost will be defrayed by revenue derived by the city's public utilities, light and water, and by a PWA grant for 45% of the total amount, or $675,000. The city's share will be $825,000, of which approximately $514,000 will be on hand at the end of the year, the balance to be paid in a few years from water power and light revenues.

The action of the board, supported by council, climaxes years of thorough study and zealous effort on the part of James De Young, president of the board of public works, and other board members, who, during the past few years have felt that the Fifth St. plant is obsolete and no longer adequate to produce the amount of light and power necessary for the city and its environs.

Since last year was the biggest year in kilowatt hours generated at the Fifth St. plant, the supply of circulation water at the plant is presenting a serious problem, since there is insufficient water in Black River for future requirements.

Several sites are under consideration by the board, but none has as yet been decided on. It is estimated that local help will be played for two years in building the plant. The present plant will continue to function during the building period and will thereafter be used only in times of emergency, according to present plans.

The largest generator at the present plant has a capacity of 5,000 kilowatts. Mr. Vos pointed out in an interview yesterday. Last year, at the peak of its usage, 4,800 kilowatts were being consumed, which left a balance of only 700 kilowatts to go before the generator capacity would be reached. Due to this fact, the public works board decided to put in a larger generator, but, because of water conditions in Black River, the present water source, considered it inadvisable to effect the installation at the Fifth St. plant.

The new plant, preliminary plans and specifications which have been drawn up by Hamilton and Weeber, of Grand Rapids, and engineering consultants for the Holland public works board since 1925, will include two 7,500 kilowatt generators, two boilers, a dock, and all the necessary generators and equipment of a modern plant. The new location will lead to a more efficient system and will also effect a saving on coal and upkeep expenses, since cooler water will be obtained for condensing purposes direct from Lake Macatawa. When the structure has been completed, Holland will have the latest modern type plant with higher steam pressure and temperatures, modern equipment, and generators. Incidentally, earnings will be greater than on the present plant, which now total about $140,000 annually.

In a decision handed down by City Attorney Elbert Parsons, Tuesday, the attorney stated that a popular vote on the project will not be required, since the city charter empowers the board of public works and the city council to act in such matters. Since council has lent its formal support to the project, a federal grant is to be applied for in the immediate future.

With the approval of the project by council, the people of Holland will doubtless agree with the sentiments expressed by Ald. Arthur Drinkwater at Tuesday's informal session, that the Board of Public Works has long been the "taxpayer's Santa Claus" and is doing a fine piece of work under Mr. De Young's presidency, in putting Holland "on the map."

A number of other matters were disposed of by council. A hearing was held by council on the closing of the alley between 20th and 21st Sts. and between College and Columbia Aves. Property owners in the affected area were well-represented, main spokesmen for those favoring the closing of the alley being George Schuiling and Tom DeVries, the latter of whom stated that the alley had not been in use for the past 19 years and is not in use now. Protests on the closing of the alley had been filed by Henry P. Kleis and Will Droste. Ald. Smith supported Ald. Huser's motion as head of council's street committee to close the alley. Ald. Brouwer placed before council a substitute motion to defer action until council's next meeting. A roll call vote was taken and the measure failed to pass.

Ald. Huser insisted that the alley had been inspected thoroughly and is no longer in use. City Engineer Jacob Zuidema concurred with Huser in his opinion, and despite Ald. Kleis' protest that closing the alley when "there are protests on it with council will set a bad precedent," the motion to close the alley in question was passed.

Launching Of The Forty-two Foot "Batavia"

The above picture shows the launching of the forty-two foot sailing yacht, the Batavia—a full description being given in a previous issue. The gentleman to the left of the picture is J. C. Peterson of Chicago, owner of the yacht. The lady in Dutch regalia is Mrs. J. C. Peterson, who christened the yacht, using a bottle of genuine champagne, imported from The Netherlands. William Jacobs of Holland, employee of the Campbell Boat Company, assisted in the launching as is seen from the picture.

There were more than a hundred present, but to give a personal of those in the picture would be difficult unless they would face about. We believe, however, that we can distinguish Charles Sligh in the front line of the audience in line with the prow of the boat.

Yacht "Batavia" Launched With Due Ceremony

IMPORTED HOLLAND CHAMPAGNE USED TO CHRISTEN BOW OF BOAT

William M. Connelly Saturday at 10 a. m. carried out his last official duties as manager of the Holland Chamber of Commerce when he presided over the christening of the "Batavia," new 42-foot racing yacht, perfected by the Campbell Boat Co., here. Following an introduction by Mr. Connelly, Mayor Henry Geerlings presented a bronze plaque on behalf of the city of Holland to Commodore C. J. Peterson of Chicago, for whom the new vessel was constructed. Following the presentation, the plaque was attached to a cabin stay to become a permanent fixture on the boat.

The plaque bore the inscription: "Once Dank Betuiging. The City of Holland, cognizant to the honor brought to it by the builders of the 'Batavia,' bestows its blessing upon this vessel. May its spirit live on forever and ever. Henry Geerlings, Burgemeester."

Mr. Peterson responded with an appropriate speech, thanking the people of Holland for the interest shown in the project, and also expressed his gratitude for the plaque presented him.

To the accompaniment of the words, "I christen thee, Batavia," Mrs. Peterson, attired in Dutch costume, dashed the contents of a bottle of imported Holland champagne over the bow of the boat, to complete the ceremony. Others in costume were Mrs. Charles R. Sligh and children, Bobby, Patty, and Dicky, and Mrs. "Bill" Lowry.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson entertained at luncheon following the ceremony. Guests included those of the party already mentioned and, in addition, Mr. Sligh and Mr. Lowry of the Chamber of Commerce Yachting committee; Henry Babson, designer of the boat, and Mrs. Babson; Joseph A. Muller, Commodore and Mrs. Wells A. Lippincott of the Chicago Yacht Club; William S. Faurst, Victor C. Milliken, Mr. and Mrs. Otto S. Jacobson, Robert A. Hayne, Daniel M. Stump, and E. G. Daniels, all of Chicago; and Kenneth Campbell of the Campbell Boat Co.

Plans called for the sailing of the "Batavia" about midnight, on Wednesday. Mr. Peterson plans to reach Belmont Harbor, the home port of the Chicago Yacht Club, sometime tonight, about 10 p. m., according to preliminary estimates. Much interest is being shown in the new vessel by Chicago Yacht Club members. Simultaneous with the leaving of the "Batavia," the Campbell Boat Works announced that work is beginning on a sister ship to the Batavia.

A ball game that went down in history was the one in which former Mayor E. P. Stephan and chairman of the Board of Public Works figured, together with Mayor Nicodemus Bosch. The game was between Muskegon and Holland Independents and it was preceded by a parade. It was the official opening of the new baseball park now called Riverview. As a member of the Board of Public Works, Mr. Stephan, according to the file copy of July 25, 1918, had a great deal to do with the fostering of this park and when it had become a fact and the first game was to be played, it was a big event for the fans in Holland. The result of the game shows that Holland whitewashed Muskegon by a score of 5 to 0. The Holland team was composed of Shaw, Te Roller, Doc Vander, Batema, Ashley, Wolfering, Nykamp, Kramer, Jappings and Vander Hill. The News devotes two columns to this game. However, the real fun was when Mayor Bosch and "Honest Abe" put on the official stunt. The News says in part as follows: "The first man up to bat was Abe Stephan. He could not put over his bunting proclivities and rolled a little one to the shortstop. 'Short' juggled the ball awhile and Stephan made all possible speed with extra steam for the first sack. He nearly got there when the first sacker covered the ball and the ump's said 'You're out!' and Stephan woke up. Mayor Bosch was the slab artist for Stephan and to show how clever he is, Stephan bunted the first ball without a miss—no strikes, no balls. The next man up was Nicodemus. He was given an extra long

He also mentions that he took two good swims in the ocean and mentioned that two soldiers were killed by sharks at the same place, sharks swimming in close this time of year.

Col. Arend T. Bliss lost a thumb and two fingers of his right hand on July 4th because of the premature explosion of fireworks at his Saginaw home. His thumb and finger had to be amputated. The writer was at the county convention, who pledged their delegation for Bliss, and at the state convention at Grand Rapids where he was nominated. That was before the primary system.

The News gives two columns on a banquet of Holland high school alumni, commemorating the 25th anniversary of the graduation of the first class in our public schools. At this reunion there was present the first graduate, Miss Nellie Walker of Grand Rapids, who welcomed the class of 1898. Miss Sadie Borgman in behalf of her class, which graduated 40 years ago today, responded to the welcome given them to enter the alumni. Miss Borgman said, "While we feel the loosening of the last cord that binds us to the school room, we appreciate the new ties that bind us to the rest of the alumni, laid by the oldest member here tonight. Our class will do all it can to merit your welcome and desires to express its hearty surroundings under which it is extended." The article goes on to say that superintendent Charles McLean was on the speaking program. The addresses were interspersed by music offerings from the Wm. Breyman orchestra. Miss Anna Mulder, now Mrs. John E. Kuizenga and Miss Reka Werkman, now Mrs. Tuttle, sang a duet, "Fly Away Birdlings." Mrs. George P. SITES FOR NEW YACHT CLUB BUILDING DISCUSSED AT MEETING

With O. W. Lowry, chairman of the Macatawa Bay Yacht Club in charge, members of the club and other interested parties Saturday afternoon heard proposals for a permanent site for the club house. Among places to be considered are a site near the pump house, east of Jesiek's boat dock; the old interurban ferry dock, east of Jesiek's; and a remodeled building on the Jesiek's grounds.

Although no decision was reached in regard to the matter at Saturday's meeting, held in Jesiek's Bros. office, two announcements were made at the meeting which will doubtless stimulate immediate action in the matter.

The announcements, made by Mr. Lowry, include an offer by the Chicago Yacht Club to sponsor a Chicago-Macatawa yacht race next July 4; and a promise by the West Michigan Yachting association to consider the Macatawa Bay Club's bid for next summer's regatta, both offers subject to the procuring of a permanent club house for the local club.

The Women's Republican Club of Holland will hold a meeting Tuesday, August 23rd at 2:30 at the Women's Literary Club rooms on the corner of Central Ave. and 10th St. The speakers for this meeting are to be announced later. Every one is cordially invited to attend.

Claims and accounts of $7,668.37 were allowed. Following a lengthy discussion, council disapproved further compensation, at the rate of $36 each two weeks, for Benjamin Kalkman, former police officer, who was injured some time ago while in service. After approval had been given by council to stop payment with Kalkman's compensation for the past two weeks, council stated that, until Kalkman has submitted to a physical examination, compensation will cease. Motion to deny compensation was made by Alderman Smith, supported by Alderman Huser, following consultation with Atty. Parsons on legal aspects of the case.

Kalkman, council referred the sewer project to the board of public works.

Collections were reported as follows: board of public works, $15,712.45; city treasurer, $2,732.10; and tax collections, $78,757.07.

COUNCIL NOTES

Mayor Henry Geerlings opened the meeting with prayer. Alderman Henry Ketel, Ben Steffens, Henry Prins, and Martin Oudemool were absent.

As a protest against foreign merchants encroaching on sales rights in the city, council denied an application of a Mr. Ayard of Grand Rapids who sought to sell tapestries and rugs in the city for a period of thirty days. Ayard's application had the approval of Police Chief Frank Van Ry, but was disapproved by council upon motion by Ald. Albert Kleis, supported by Ald. John Vogelzang.

Building permits were approved upon motion by Ald. Kleis, supported by Ald. Arthur Drinkwater, subject to approval by City Engineer Jacob Zuidema and Fire Chief Cornelius Blom, Jr.

The report of the Gas Company for the month of May which was up to standard, and the oath of office of Jacob Bultman, former alderman, as member of the board of appeals, were ordered filed.

Renewal of the petition of Reuben Nyenhuis, local contractor, that he be allowed to lay sidewalks was approved by council upon Ald. Frank Smith's second to Ald. Henry Menken's motion.

Ald. Peter Huyser, as head of council's committee on streets and crossings, read a petition from some 25 property owners in the vicinity of Block 17, requesting the closing of the alley between Maple and Washington Aves., bordered by 15th and 16th Sts., except the west 88 feet. Huyser moved that Sept. 21 be set as a date for the hearing on the alley closing. His motion was seconded by Ald. Menken, and passed.

Approval was given by council to a project calling for the paving of 21st St. between State and Michigan Sts.

Approval was also given a motion, initiated by Ald. Huyser, seconded by Ald. Edward Brouwer, granting the request of the park board to prepare for fall, paving the driveway and incline through Kollen Park, money for the project to be derived from the gas and weight tax, to be arranged in the park board budget.

Local Barber Makes Hit In Ionia Prison

JACK KNOLL IS THE BEST BARBER WHERE GARRETT HEYNS IS WARDEN

Even Citizens Out of Prison Want To Get Jack's Services

Jack Knoll of Holland was considered a very able barber, when in this city. For many years he bartered in several places in this city. Before going to Ionia prison he was located at the corner of River avenue and Ninth street. While there he got into an altercation with a man by the name of Riemersma, in which a knife played an important part.

It is needless to go into detail, for that would serve no purpose. It suffices to say that Judge Fred T. Miles sent him to the Reformatory at Ionia and from the following article it is evident that Knoll did not have to learn a trade, for the trade that he knows to perfection is barbering.

Prison authorities have put Jack's ability first, and those to be bartered wait in turn in order that the Holland man can assert his tonorial ability upon them. Jack's praises are sung by everyone, not as "The Barber of Seville," but as a clear-cut artist of scissors and razors.

At heart Knoll isn't a bad chap, but when "over the bay" he has sometimes gone astray. He will be confined at Ionia for some months yet, and it is hoped that after his term is completed he will become a useful citizen again, and ply his trade on the regular citizenry.

"The following, under the caption 'Achievement Five,' appears in the Hilltop News of August. This publication is printed monthly, written up entirely by the inmates of the Michigan Reformatory at Ionia. It was founded in 1934. There is an entire staff taking care of this publication in regular magazine style, and the article below is the second in the table of contents. The article is ornamented with a scroll tied with a ribbon, giving the caption, and then the article follows.

ACHIEVEMENT FIVE

(Hilltop News)

"Build a better mouse trap," said Emerson, "and the world will beat a path to your door."

Being something of a trapped mouse himself, Jack Knoll, the Front House barber, had no heart for mouse traps yet, nevertheless, the world was beating a path to his door.

You see, before being sentenced here, Jack had long been the proprietor of the Front House Barber & Beauty Shop at Holland, of whose fame for excellence the Hollanders will yet tell you should you chance to visit the town. So when Jack was promoted to the Front House chair the officers began to notice that his shaves were supremely smooth; that his haircuts were high art; and that his messages were masterpieces.

When the officers learned, in addition, that Jack was also a beauty operator who could transform one of Macbeth's witches into a double for Gloria Swanson, business began to boom in the barber shop. The officers commenced bringing their wives and children to the Front House barber shop so that they might receive the benefit of the incomparable Knoll barber and beauty service.

For a time it seemed like Jack was barbering and beautifying the entire town of Ionia; the world was indeed beating its path to his barber shop door and it wasn't long before the Ionia Barbers' Union began squawking to Lansing that this Reformatory artist was cutting into their business to such an extent that they might as well close their shops and leave.

So an order came from Corrections Director Gellein that, after June 1, only state employees could have the advantages of the "exclusive" Knoll service.

In the four months ending July 1, Knoll had increased the Front House barber shop revenues by $151, beating the all-time record established for a like period by his predecessor by 80 per cent, and taking in more than $400. As a result, the shop now has, for the first time, a new cash register and two new cases for cigars and candies. By August 15, the end of Knoll's first year as Front House barber, he will have taken in close to $500.

Sentenced Nov. 27, 1936, to three to six years for felonious assault by Judge Miles at Grand Haven, Knoll entered Michigan Reformatory Nov. 30, and upon release from quarantine began barbering in J Block and on this job gave 175 shaves and 150 haircuts each week. He was in J Block for four months when he was promoted to I Block barber. Continuing on I Block for four and a half months more he then became hospital barber, caring for hospital patients, men in quarantine, and isolated men. February 15, 1938, he received his final promotion to his present position as Front House barber, where he had the opportunity to achieve the outstanding record herein cited.

"Since he has been on the Front House barber assignment, the record of Jack Knoll has been consistently creditable and constructive."

"His customers take pleasure in patronizing him because he is at all times courteous and agreeable and because, as a barber, he ranks second to none."

"The addition of a cash register and new fixtures to the Front House barber shop speak for themselves as testimonials of Knoll's outstanding service to this institution."

There Must Be Another Way

When two women appeared before him, claiming to be the mother of the same child, Solomon suggested that the child be cut in two and each woman given half of it. The reactions of the claimants to the suggestion discovered to that wise judge the real mother and the impostor.

American judges, faced with immigration cases that involve the cutting up of families, are not able to escape from their predicaments as easily of satisfactorily as that. A federal judge in Minneapolis has just had to find a Canadian guilty of illegally entering the United States, which means that he must be deported to Canada.

As his wife is a citizen of the United States and their two children were born in this country, Canada will not receive them as deportees.

The judge declared that he would ask congress to change a law that makes it necessary for the courts to break up families in this manner.

And if he does—and even if he doesn't—congress should be able to find a way to protect the immigration laws, without producing these brutal and heart-rending separations.

Rightly Prized

The solicitude of Douglas Corrigan for his jalopy is easily understandable. The machine has carried him well. It has taken him places and it fits in with his waggish and freakish humor.

The jalopy has been a vehicle with which to prove that comparatively simple and primitive things are not necessarily to be discounted or despised but may be serviceable and reliable if expertly used.

His air steered has given Corrigan a chance to show the world how the art of flying, as well as the means of flying, has advanced in the last 10 years.

Zeeland School Board Arranges Year's Activities

The Zeeland Board of Education made up its program of activities for the coming school year. The opening will be Tuesday morning following Labor Day, September 6, and school will remain open every school day until June 15, 1939, with these exceptions:

Thursday and Friday, Oct. 27 and 28, the schools will close because by law all teachers are required to attend the Michigan Educational Convention at Grand Rapids on these days. Thursday and Friday, November 24 and 25, are off as Thanksgiving Day vacation. Friday noon, December 23, until Tuesday morning, January 3, is Christmas vacation. One-day County Institute in February, the date not yet set. Wednesday, March 8, Prayer Day for crops; Thursday noon, April 6, until Tuesday morning, April 11, is Easter or spring vacation. And Tuesday, May 30, is Decoration Day.

Two teacher contracts were approved, completing the teaching staff for the coming year. Miss Florence Sketee of Waukegan has been secured to teach in the lower grades and Miss Mary E. Stout of Newberry, Michigan, has been secured to teach the special room. Miss Stout has moved her furniture to Zeeland and will occupy the second-floor apartments of the John Hendricks residence at Zeeland.

The Zeeland school treasurer's report showed one surprise item of income amounting to $464.40 for library purposes. This is money paid to school districts on the population basis under a new state law which was not generally known. In former years a considerable sum was paid to local school districts in library money derived from dog tax and local fines for misdemeanors but this income has gradually been diverted to other uses and the State has felt there was growing neglect in library income from local sources, so that approximately 10 cents per person residing in the school district has been allocated from state funds for library purposes, on an estimated population of 4,644 for the Zeeland district.

Mrs. J. H. Jansen and Mr. and Mrs. William Klingenberg attended a White Sox-Tiger baseball game in Chicago last week.

SPRING LAKE ELECTION ON SCHOOL BONDS ENDS IN STRANGE MIXUP

Spring Lake's proposed $10,000 school addition bond issue carried 90 votes to 64 in a special election but a proposal to add 2.5 mills to the school tax to pay for them and retire the bonds and pay interest in five years, failed to receive the required two-thirds majority and the bonds cannot be issued and the election was for naught. There were 86 votes favoring the increased tax and 70 against.

William A. Bilz, secretary of the board of education, said the vote favoring the bond issue which required a simple majority, would stand and that the proposal to increase the tax would probably be resubmitted as soon as possible and an educational campaign conducted in regard to it. He believed the unfavorable vote was due to a misunderstanding and the failure of many, who favored it, to vote. The total vote was 157, one of the votes being blank, while according to registration figures, there are 530 eligible to vote.

Over 2,000 people will be in the movies at Zeeland city park on August 24. It will be one of the novel features of Zeeland's old-fashioned Farmers' Picnic to be held that Wednesday.

There will be a grand parade of folks from every community—from Vriesland, Jamestown, Drenthe, Forest Grove, Oakland, Benheim, Dorr, Byron Center, Overisel, Hamilton, Fillmore, Burnips, Ebenezer, New Groningen, North Holland, Noordeloos, Crisp, Rusk, Allendale, West Olive, Borculo, Jenison, Blendon, Beaverdam, Hudsonville, Holland, Grand Haven, Coopersville, Grandville and many others from all parts of Ottawa and Allegan counties.

Rev. William Kok of Zeeland will take the movies of the Farmers' Picnic. All these movies will be thrown on a large screen in Zeeland a few weeks later. Be sure to be there on Wednesday, Aug. 24, and be one of the thousands of happy paraders in this movie and have the thrilling experience of seeing yourself on the screen later.

The program will begin at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon. A valuable prize bull calf with registered papers will be given away. D. P. Boonstra of the federal recreation project says, "There won't be a single dull moment the entire day. The program is crowded with every kind of exciting and imaginable sport."

And the women and girls are promised the time of their lives that day. A special ladies' committee headed by Mrs. J. Kamms of the federal recreation project is working up a special women's program. Hundred of gallons of free lemonade and coffee will be consumed and will be free all day. This will be furnished by the Zeeland Businessmen's Association under whose auspices the picnic is being staged.

GRANDPA TURNS NURSEMIAD
CRADLES like this are a common sight among the Indians—but one swinging from the back of a man is something unique. He's an Indian from one of the native villages in Ecuador carrying his pride and joy to the market at Riobamba. Riobamba is a progressive town with a population of about 30,000, used as an overnight stop by travelers making the rail trip up to Quito, the capital, from Guayaquil. Ecuador's chief port visited weekly by cruises from New York. The town has handsome municipal and government buildings, and beautiful parks. It still shelters the house used as headquarters by Bolivar on his famous "March of Liberation"; and it presents marvelous views of four of the highest peaks of the Andes, including the mighty Chimborazo, which towers 20,696 feet above sea level. Yet it is for its Indian market that Riobamba is of most interest to visitors. On Saturdays thousands of Indians jog trot into the city from outlying villages, the sleepy streets come to life, and the three plazas devoted to the fair are crowded with bargain-seekers. The most worthwhile offerings are ponchos, rugs, hand-tooled leather articles, embroidered belts and rope sandals; and the native version of our hot dog—baked guinea pig.

Mapes for Leadership

(Grand Rapids Press)

The voluntary retirement of Representative Bertrand H. Snell in order that he may devote his time to business has left the post of minority leader of the house open once more. Mention of the name of Representative Carl E. Mapes of Grand Rapids for this position comes naturally in view of the fact he is dean of the Republican delegation.

Considering his quarter century of service and because of the respect in which he is held in his own community and district it might be said that local opinion was biased in his favor. But recognition of his worth goes beyond the bounds of his home.

W. K. Kelsey's commentary in the Tribune reveals how well Mr. Mapes is considered outside his own city. Kelsey writes:

"If length of service is to be considered, Carl Mapes stands alone. There are Democrats with a longer record of consecutive terms, but no Republicans. Mr. Mapes entered the house March 4, 1913, and is now completing his thirteenth term; Mr. Snell has had 12. If it's a question of parliamentary acumen, Mr. Mapes is fit. He knows the ropes, has excellent judgment, and is not to be hurried or hurried. If it's a doctrinal matter, Mr. Mapes has an enviable record. He has usually stood with his party, but he has also shown himself capable of independence, and his independence has nearly always been toward the liberal side. If he has a weakness as a party whip, it lies in his fair-mindedness; he might be loath to score unimportant points for a day's headline, preferring the long view. But that would please the judiciary."

Add to this appraisal the fact that Mr. Mapes has survived three Democratic landslides while most of his colleagues were falling by the way, and we have a fairly complete picture of the Grand Rapids representative.

Mr. Mapes is not an orator nor does he profess to be. But when it comes to strategy he has proven his worth on many occasions. The most recent instance was his maneuver forcing consideration of the senate reorganization bill on the floor of the house, which led to its subsequent defeat.

There can be no decision on the question of house minority leadership, of course, until after the election. Mr. Mapes must win again in his district to be eligible for the honor. But in the event he is returned for his fourteenth term he will be sure to receive consideration as Snell's successor.

Representative Mapes, never a self-seeker, will not fight for the job, apparently, and if he is elevated his friends must do it for him. Certainly they could find none more sincere in his devotion to duty.

Applications for marriage licenses were filed at the county clerk's office today by Robert E. Hawkins, 25, Grand Haven, and Wilhelmina Benton, 25, Detroit; Gilbert Zwerink, 19, Zeeland, and Alice Hoogendoorn, 17, Holland.

ALLEGAN MAN FOUND DEAD IN MILL RACE

The body of Fred Miner, about 60, was found in a mill race at Allegan Monday night near the Imperial Carving Co. by a former Allegan county deputy, Jack Johnson. Miner, who was an employee of the county garage, had been missing since Sunday night.

Johnson said that he was walking beside the race when he noticed the body in the water. Sheriff's officers were notified and they recovered the body.

Mr. Miner is survived by his widow, five daughters, Mrs. Leigh Sherman of Kalamazoo, Mrs. Heasley Cole, Mrs. Donald Rambadt, Mrs. Leland Gray and Mrs. Loren Baker, all of Allegan; a brother, Martin, of Allegan, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday at the Gordon funeral home. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

CONG. MAPES ALSO PROTESTS SEEMINGLY DISCRIMINATION IN W.P.A.

Supporting the protest made last week by State Senator Earnest C. Brooks of this city to George F. Granger, administrator of the state emergency welfare relief commission at Lansing that WPA workers in the county are seemingly being discriminated against, this week came a letter from Cong. Carl E. Mapes of Grand Rapids. Mapes also protested that, whereas Muskegon and Kent county WPA workers get $60 per month, those in Ottawa County receive only $48 per month. Both protests support a movement against the seemingly discrimination, instituted some time ago by Frank Colgrave of Nunica.

Mapes' letter was addressed to WPA administrator Harry L. Hopkins, who is alleged to have estimated the Ottawa county wage allowance on census bureau figures which show average lower annual earnings in Ottawa county than in Kent and Muskegon counties. Petitions were said by Colgrave to have been signed by 625 out of Ottawa's 1,000 WPA workers, this number all protesting the wage difference.

Mapes' letter follows in part: "There is no appreciable difference in the cost of living in the three counties. It seems to me there is no sound reason why workers on WPA projects in Ottawa county should not receive the same pay as those in Kent and Muskegon counties. I agree fully with the Ottawa county workers in this respect. "In your letter (July 14) to Mr. Colgrave, you refer to the figures of United States census bureau on the 'average annual earnings' of workers employed by business and industry in Ottawa county. The WPA workers do not receive pay equivalent to the average annual earnings of workers but rather a minimum wage. I wish you would reconsider this question and if it is consistent to do so, I earnestly recommend granting the relief prayed for by the WPA workers in Ottawa county."

Ninety-seven little girls made entries and presented 207 dolls to be admired and judged.

Prizes were won by the following: First prize for the oldest doll was won by Barbara De Pree, who exhibited a doll 58 years old, and second prize went to Elaine Holleman for a doll 45 years old.

AGENCIES TO TRY CURE FOR "SWIMMING ITCH"

Three State agencies are cooperating this summer in an attempt to eradicate swimmer's itch, an annoyance which results when a little snail-bred worm succeeds in getting under the skin of swimmers. The purpose of the experiment is to find a way of eradicating the worms.

When the worms, called cercaria, cut loose from the snails, they try to attach themselves to a warm-blooded animal. Man is not a normal host, but when the cercaria find him, they irritate him considerably. The cercaria wander about man's skin and finally die, but they set up plenty of irritation in the process.

Lake Wah-be-ka-ness near Interlochen State Park has been selected for the experiments by the Conservation Department, Health Department and the University of Michigan. First, copper sulphate will be tried in the lake. Its effect on fishlife will be watched closely.

READY TO SINK TEST WELLS NEAR FENVILLE

There is considerable oil prospect development in the vicinity of Fennville at present, with wells either under way or about to be started on four properties. The well on the Michien farm, known as the old Hill place, two miles northeast of town, is reported down about 200 feet. This well is being drilled by Schimmel & Co., of Birmingham, Mich. A derrick was taken Monday to the Todd farm, where the Muskegon Oil Company is starting operations. A drilling outfit was being installed by the Dailey Crude Oil Co. of Ohio, on the Henry Johnson farm, south of Fennville, and the Leonard Company is in charge of the drilling to be conducted on the Albert Konig farm three miles northwest of Fennville. Mr. Konig is a former Holland man.

THREE MORE WELLS HIT IN OVERISEL

The Overisel extension of the Allegan oil field held the eyes of Michigan oil operators this week with the completion there of three producers one of which flowed 800 barrels in nine hours. Ten or more tests are reported drilling in Overisel and Heath townships, the latter seeking to show a possible southern dip of the Overisel pool.

The newest developments in Overisel include a well, drilled by Lentz and Miller of Muskegon, on the Scholten farm, Section 36, which flowed 900 barrels in nine hours before being pinched in. In the same section, William J. Cline, owner of the lease on the location of the Overisel discovery well, brought in the Aldrich No. 2, which yielded 800 barrels a day before being shut down.

Springer Brothers also brought in a small producer on the Huizen farm in Section 36.

Other completions in the Allegan field last week included the following:

Salem township — Refiner Petroleum company's No. 2 Handy, Section 21, reported a 150-barrel producer after acid; and Alma G. Allan's No. 1 Howard, NE NW NE Section 24, developed a 10-barrel natural producer scheduled for treatment. None of the western Salem development has closely approached the Overisel boundary.

Dorr township — Columbia Oil and Gas company's No. 6 Richer Section 30, a 200-barrel well after acid.

Three dry holes were encountered last week in Monterey township, one in Overisel, one in Heath and one in Dorrtownships.

Mr. and Mrs. David Damstra have as guests at their "House of David" cottage on Lake Michigan, the Rev. and Mrs. Russell Damstra and children, Ann and David.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

August 21, 1938.
Hannah—Godly Motherhood—I Samuel 1:9-18; 2:1-5.
Henry Geerlings

There is no doubt about Hannah's having a deep sense of God. She believed in His reality, in His personality, in His goodness, in His wisdom, in His concern for the individual. She knew she was not one lost in the crowd and that God did not think of her as being too insignificant to give her any thought. Her faith in Him was simple and abiding. To her He was a God who stood over against human need and who acted with reference to the highest welfare of His children. She took her case to Him. She knew He was interested. Indeed, there is a delightful naivete in her approach to God. She talked to Him as she would with a friend. There seems to be not the slightest thought that He would be annoyed with her coming and that any concern of her life would be passed over by Him. She was childless. Her woman friends made sport of her. Many fingers of scorn were pointed at her. Her heart was hurt with a deep hurt. Her mother instinct was put on the rack. She suffered more than anyone knew. There was only one place to go with her trouble and to that place she went—the throne of God. She laid her case before Him and her prayer was answered. Samuel was born. True to her vow she gave him to the Lord.

Now Hannah was a mother and a woman whom moderns might well study. She might well be studied as an illustration of the fact that a mother does have a mighty influence upon a child. There is more wisdom than cleverness in saying that a child should choose his parents a hundred years before he is born. Blood does tell. High-mindedness and attitudes toward the great values of life are affective forces in the making of a child's character. It is possible to give direction to a child's thinking and to a child's future. Much can be done by a favorable environment. Some moderns are telling that environment is everything, but we cannot quite believe that. Every one of us has connections with the past that have to do with what we are and the expressions of our personalities. The very fact that Samuel was born of Hannah had much to do with Samuel. There was quality in him. There was alertness and strength of mind in him. There were certain tastes in him and there were certain impulses Godward in him before he was born of Hannah.

But, of course, she was environment and she furnished environment. There would have been a different story to tell about this child Samuel had she dedicated him to a different calling in life. She might have made of him a great man in some other sphere of life. But her religious instincts, her great conception of the place of religion in life and its affairs, turned her mind to the temple of the Lord as a place where her child might best serve his day and generation. And he did render exceptional service not only to religion, but also to the state, is a well known fact.

If Abraham Lincoln was justified in saying that all he was and all that he hoped to be he owed to his angel mother and if a great artist dared to say that his mother's kiss made him a painter, then we believe that Samuel might well have said that what he became was due to his mother. His mother made him a great judge and the maker of kings and a great statesman.

It is not a foolish idea that God makes good mothers that they may make great and good men. God works through means—why not through mothers. They have more intimate and telling contacts with children than any other person in the world. They have more opportunities for dropping living ideas in that fertile ground named the mind of a child than anybody else. They can be sowers and reapers of rich harvests in the fields that human souls furnish, if they will. Being a good mother is a rewarding work, but it may be heart-breaking at times, too. But good motherhood tells more than we can measure.

She gave her son to the Lord. That was a sacrificial gift and it must have hurt and yet it was a gift that was given back to her in rich and enriching measure. One of the joys of being a mother is having the child with her and in mothering it. She gave him up at an early age and sacrificed the daily mothering process. And yet she had started him on the great way of life and down across his great years she sent her gracious and beautiful and moulding influence. She still mothered him by the lasting impressions she made upon him and by her sometime contacts she had with him. Blessed be the mother whose influence follows her son into the busy and significant ways of life. Blessed be the mother who lives on through lives she has started on the highway toward God and immortality.

And the mother alone can do this. She enjoys a constancy of association with the child that gives potency to her influence. He grows up within her shadow, and absorbs from her bearing and manner as well as from her counsel those virtues which will make him strong all through the remainder of his days.

MILK BOTTLE NOW LIVES TO AVERAGE AGE OF 35 TRIPS
The average life of a milk bottle has been stretched from 30 round trips to 35, according to a survey just completed by the United States bureau of dairying. Records of 111 milk plants were checked.

It was found that the average life of a bottle ranged from 6 to 91 trips, with the most common range around 20 to 30 trips. The average life of a bottle was found to be 51 trips for plants that paid commissions to their route men for bottles returned, imposed a bottle charge on stores and had memberships in bottle exchanges.

The average life of bottles in plants where none of these measures were practiced was only 22 trips.

Traveling Around America

THE MEXICAN VERSION OF RIDING HABIT

WHEN a Don Juan of Mexico wants to make a real impression he garbs himself in his riding habit or charro costume. And it's by no means the drab outfit we meet on our bridge paths. It's a spectacular affair of brass buttons and gorgeous colors topped with a hat of such proportions as to make the old "Merry Widow" seem an amateur.

The Mexican charro and his feminine riding partner, too, must dress up or they'd be completely eclipsed by the handsome trappings of their mounts. Ever since the days when Cortes introduced the horse into this country, the Mexicans who can afford it elaborately outfit their mounts. When the great conqueror and his followers appeared in the Valley of Mexico astride strange four-footed animals glittering with gleaming metal, many of the Indians in Montezuma's Empire thought the Spaniards were gods. Although the horses descended from those first terrifying animals have no need for the armor of their forefathers, they do don most spectacular saddles and accoutrements—including elaborately engraved stirrups.

The charro costume generally makes its appearance during the evening promenade in the small villages; and on Sundays and holidays on city bridge paths, and is one of the colorful sights enjoyed by travelers taking the fortnightly-railwater trips to Mexico City via the Spanish Americas.

By arrangement with a New York Salon we are able to take charge of all details, from outfitting the bride to arranging the tables. Call Bride's Service.
