at University

Committee Named to Seek Successor to Veteran
Educator

Zeeland, Aug. 21—At a meeting of the Zeeland board of education Tuesday night, Malcolm B. Rogers, associated with the Zeeland public school system for the past 15 years, tendered his resignation as superintendent of schools.

His resignation was accepted and a committee composed of Jasper Bos, chairman, Dr. John Van Kley and Adrian Van Koeveering, president of the board, was named to seek a successor to Mr. Rogers. Mr. Van Koeveering said Mr. Rogers' resignation becomes effective about the middle of September.

Mr. Van Koeveering said the superintendent in submitting his resignation, expressed a desire to continue his studies this fall at the University of Michigan. Mr. Rogers has been school superintendent of the Zeeland schools for the past 11 years. Prior to that time, he served as high school principal.

During the 1940-41 school year, Mr. Rogers also served as principal after the board abolished that office. At a recent meeting of the board, the office of high school principal was reestablished and Thomas A. Dewey was restored as principal.

According to information given local police, Prins was riding southwest on Michigan Ave. and Visscher was driving east on 26th St. Visscher said he stopped for the intersection but failed to see the approaching motorcycle. Gift Boxes Are Sent to Local Junior Red Cross

Miss Beth Marcus, Ottawa county Junior Red Cross chairman, recently received a shipment of about 75 boxes from the Kyoto branch of the Japanese Red Cross society for distribution among the local members.

While no letter of explanation accompanied the boxes, it is presumed they were prepared by Japanese children since local Junior Red Cross members have carried out a similar project for the past five years.

The boxes from the Japanese children contained postcards, shells, pin cushions, a small fan and a doll.

The local organization prepared 331 boxes last fall for distribution among children whose countries are not affected by the war.

WORK ON LOCAL BY-PASS DUE TO OPEN THIS FALL

Start of Construction to Hinge Upon Defense
Priorities

Building of Separation at Rail Crossing Listed
as First Step

Lansing, August 21—State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy said Tuesday that US-31 and M-40 would by-pass Holland on the east as far as M-21 as soon as defense priorities permit construction.

The first step in the program would be construction of a grade separation on US-31 over the Pere Marquette. The new road would then meet M-40. A railroad crossing on present M-40 would thereby be eliminated.

Kennedy said the plan to by-pass Holland had nothing to do with the proposed scenic route along Lake Michigan which has been pushed into the future because of necessary defense road building.

He said that although US-31 is the so-called strategic network, other defense road needs might make a start on relocation of the route impossible this year although work on the grade separation was scheduled for this fall.

Kennedy also revealed that grading operations on M-21 with the view of extending the super-highway southwest from Hudsonville would get under way as soon as money becomes available. No definite date for awarding the grading contract has been set.

Construction of the by-pass around Holland has been on the state highway department's program for the past several years. On Oct. 27, 1939, the highway department announced in Lansing that the "bottleneck" route was a "priority" project.

At that time, Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, who was state highway commissioner, stated that money must be appropriated by congress before even "these top of the list" proposals can be considered.

The proposed beltline route as of 1939 would start on US-31 near the southern limits of Holland, extend northeast across at the eastern limits of Holland. It would be from one and one-half miles to three miles long.

Two years ago the route and grade separation at the railroad tracks each would cost about $125,000, a total of $250,000, the highway department estimated. There was no indication in today's United Press dispatch from Lansing if the route had been changed or if there had been any changes in the preliminary estimate.

The state highway department began its survey of the proposed by-pass route about Feb. 8, 1940. Upon learning Monday that the state highway department had purchased about two and one-quarter acres of land from Albert Klompars, the City News reported the United Press at Lansing to question the highway department about its plans for US-31, M-40 and M-21.

Mr. Klompars' property is on the east side of the railroad tracks. He reported that the right-of-way which had been purchased from him was 150 feet wide in the vicinity of 40th St. and is about one-half mile south of 32nd St., the city's southern corporate limits.

It was understood that purchase of the right-of-way on the west side of the tracks for the grade separation had not been concluded although state highway representatives had been conferring with the owner of the property.

Posts Held by Mayor
Incompatible

Allegan, Aug. 21 (Special)—Judge Fred T. Miles filed in Allegan county circuit court on Tuesday an opinion which held the office of the mayor of public works held by Mayor Joseph Mosier was incompatible with his office as mayor. An order was filed declaring the position on the board of public works vacant.

A second opinion declared that the office of alderman held by Floyd J. Rockwell himself vacated that office when he accepted the office as a member of the board of public works. The opinion was the result of cases brought against Mosier and Rockwell by Prosecutor Irwin L. Andrews based upon information given by Ald. Carl Goodwin. The plaintiffs asked for court ruling to clarify the positions of Mosier and Rockwell.

The board also received orders Monday that it must post daily a list of names and classifications of all registrants whose classifications are recorded by the board for the first time or whose classifications have been changed on the records.

Grand Haven, Aug. 21 (Special)—August has been and will continue to be a busy month for Ottawa county 4-H club members who are spending considerable time on tours which stresses practical judging in crops, poultry, dairy and garden. County Agricultural Agent L. R. Arnold reported today.

Some of these trips have been outside the county. Some 20 members went by bus last Friday to Michigan State college where two days were spent in judging work. Garden and poultry members visited the college last Monday with final judging on Tuesday.

In the girls' division, 11 girls were selected by Mrs. Grace Vander Kolk, home extension agent, for competition at East Lansing. One girls' demonstration also was in competition. Contestants who made the best showing at the college will be sent to the state fair where they will try out for the state team which later will go to Chicago. Thus far, the only results reported here show that Ottawa county will have a team in crops judging. The team will include Dean Hamilton, Coopersville, Elmer Brummel and Marvin Vanden Bosch, both of Zeeland.

AUTO ACCIDENT IN WHICH YOUTH DIED IS PROBED

Statements Being Obtained
by Sheriff Department and Coroner

Justin Maatman Is Killed
and Floyd Maat Hurt
in Mishap

A youth of Crisp was instantly killed and his companion was seriously injured Friday about 3:30 p.m. when the car in which they were riding crashed head-on into a tree at the side of the North Holland road, three miles north and one-half mile east of Holland.

Victim of the tragedy was Justin Maatman, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Maatman, residing at Crisp, on route 2, Holland. Maatman died of a broken neck, a crushed chest and a broken jaw.

The injured person was Floyd Maat, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Maat, neighbors of the Maatmans at Crisp. Maat sustained severe scalp and facial lacerations.

Coroner Gilbert Vande Water reported that he would withhold his verdict until he had opportunity to question Maat about details of the accident.

The tree which Maatman's car hit was located on the east side of the highway. Maatman was driving in a southerly direction.

Coroner Vande Water reported that marks left by the tires showed that the car travelled about 500 feet after it left the road before it hit the tree.

Both young men were employed at the Armour Leather Co. but Friday was a holiday and they were spending the day camping in a trailer at the lake.

A deputy sheriff who aided in the investigation expressed belief that Maatman failed to see the tree. The left front part of the car struck the tree and eight feet above the ground the bark was torn off, indicating that the car may have bounded into the air.

The automobile was demolished. The deputy sheriff said it was one of the worst wrecked cars he had ever seen.

Holland hospital has reported improvement in the condition of Maat. However, his doctor requested investigators not to question him about the accident for three or four days because of his dazed condition.

A complete statement has been obtained from Justin Poll, 21, route 2, Holland, whose car was ahead of Maatman's vehicle at the time of the accident. Poll's statement will not be released until officers have an opportunity to question three other witnesses to the crash, it was reported.

Upon seeing the crash, Poll halted his automobile, a deputy sheriff said, and returned to the scene of the crash. He removed the two bodies from the wrecked car but had left by the time the sheriff's officer arrived.

Maatman is survived by the parents; one sister, Mrs. Stanley Sprick of Holland; and two brothers, Marvin and Herbert Maatman, both of Crisp.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. from the home, private, and at 2 p.m. from Crisp Christian Reformed church, with the Rev. P. D. Van Vliet officiating.

He was born April 17, 1923, in Holland to Mr. and Mrs. Horace Maatman.

To avoid a collision with another car which was making a wide turn into a driveway, Willard Taylor, 18, 34 East Lincoln St., Zeeland, drove his vehicle into a tree on North River Ave. about 11 p.m. Wednesday, according to a report made to local police.

Driver of the other car was John Funches, 5 River Ave. Both vehicles were being driven north on River Ave.

Police were informed that Taylor intended to pass Funches on the right when it swung wide to make the turn into the driveway. Allen Velthuis, 532 Main St., Zeeland, and Jean Maans, route 4, Holland, were listed as witnesses.

CHILD MIGRANT CENTER CLOSES

Hundred and Twelve Are Listed for Care at Fennville

Fennville, Aug. 21 (Special)—The 1941 season for the South-west Allegan Migrant Center closed Friday after almost two months of providing a day school for the care of migrant children.

During the first year the center, under the direction of Miss Merle Farni of Kansas City, Mo., received 112 children. Most of the youngsters arrived at the school daily for several weeks. One, a six-year old boy, attended the new center every day throughout the two-month season since its opening June 18. Miss Farni's chief assistant was Miss Katherine Helmer, Sheboygan Falls, Wis.

There are 67 centers in the United States. Three were set up in Michigan last year. They are supported by the Council of Churches of North America. Because of the need for a nursery to care for babies and small children of the migrants who worked in the bean fields of New York, migrant centers were started in that state.

Children up to 14 years of age, are trained in religious, educational and recreational topics at the centers. Children are brought to the centers at 7:30 a.m. and are cared for during the day. Babies are bathed, fed and given naps. Older children begin their day with a 9 a.m. devotional period. An Americanization program, including a story, flag salute and music, is carried out daily. A health hour and play period follow.

Clean-up periods precede the noon meal and lunch periods during the forenoon and afternoon. The children are given wash cloths and tooth brushes to take home. Rest periods are included. Free periods with handicraft conclude the day's program before the church closing hour.

No two migrant centers are alike. All face different problems and must be operated in a different manner.

The migrants, for the most part, are proud and it is hard to win their confidence and help them. The families, coming for the most part from such southern states as Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and Tennessee, live in tents or makeshift trailers. In or near Fennville where they reside there are nearly always two families to a residence.

The center closed relatively early due to the drought-causing a shortage in the blueberry crop.

Patriotic Groups Call for Definite Decision by City Council

Fight Remains Unsettled
as Question Is Given to Committee

Patriotic organizations of Holland, seeking the ouster of the local service board from the G.A.R. room of the city hall, presented an ultimatum to common council Wednesday night to decide which groups will have use of the controversial room.

Having received a communication from the selective service board that it is willing to share the room nights with the patriotic organizations, council, after lengthy discussions by members of the audience, voted to refer the entire matter to its committee on public buildings and property. In the motion made by Ald. John Menken and supported by Ald. Frank Smith, council gave this committee "power to act."

It was apparent from the discussions of the aldermen that council desired to have an arrangement worked out in which the selective service board and the patriotic organizations could use the room jointly, but the patriotic organization spokesmen either opposed or evaded his offer.

"We would like for council to vote on whether we get continued use of the room or whether the selective service board will have use of it," Ben Hamm of the United Spanish War veterans said.

"Why kid yourselves that there are no other rooms available in Holland for the draft board, when there are," he commented.

Mayor Henry Geerlings expressed doubt that any satisfactory arrangements could be worked out for joint use of the room. He said a decision on which of the two groups may have use of the room should be reached.

Members of council's committee are Ald. Herman Mooi, chairman, Berta H. Slagh and Albert V. Faasen. Mooi said after council adjourned that he planned to arrange a meeting with representatives of the patriotic organizations and the draft board in an effort to work out an arrangement for both to use of the room.

In its communication to council, the selective service board, advised aldermen it had written state (See: GAR Room—Next Page.)

PAYS FINE AFTER HIS RESCUE FROM WATER

Grand Haven, Aug. 21—Patrick Sparks, 68, Grand Haven, doubtless owes his life to Benjamin Fairbanks, Grand Rapids, conductor on the afternoon Grand Trunk accommodation combination passenger and freight train. However, Fairbanks did call city police on the case and that cost Sparks $11. Fairbanks was in a boat underneath the Grand Trunk dock at the end of Washington St. Sunday afternoon looking for blood-suckers to use as fishing bait. He said he saw a number of men in boats, drinking. Returning that way later, he said Sparks was the only one left and his head was trailing in the water, his body and legs in the rowboat.

Fishing Sparks from the water, Fairbanks laid him on the dock and, alarmed because he was unconscious and apparently needed a pulmonator, called city police. When they arrived, Sparks was sitting up.

The police took Sparks to jail and Monday arraigned him before Justice Peter Ver Duin on a drunk charge. He paid $5 fine and $6 costs.

SCIENTIST WHO TURNED PASTOR TO SPEAK HERE

Dr. Brown, Noted Surgeon, Contacted by Stephan
at Winona

Having returned from Winona Lake, Ind., where he spent the past week at the Winona Lake Bible conference, E. P. Stephan, secretary-manager of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, said Monday that he had arranged for one of the principal conference speakers to make an appearance in Holland. The date and details of his visit here remain to be completed.

He is Dr. Arthur I. Brown of Victoria, British Columbia, world famous surgeon, author and scientist. Mr. Stephan met Dr. Brown during the conference and the two had several meals together.

Until November, 1925, Dr. Brown was a very busy and successful surgeon in Vancouver, Canada. He has earned the highest surgical degree in the world, "Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, Edinburgh." He is a leader of a large men's forum in the First Baptist church of his hometown.

"The strangely unique call which came to him from God to relinquish his lucrative practice for an unknown field—the rather precarious existence of an itinerant preacher—is a most fascinating story," Mr. Stephan said.

"For 15 years, he had gone up and down this country endeavoring to establish the faith of Christians on the infallibility of the word of God. I've asked him to give the lecture I heard in Winona, 'Scientific Highlights of the Bible.'"

Mr. Stephan described Dr. Brown as "a dramatic actor, with a clear ringing voice."

"Holland has a treat in store. Remember, he is not a theologian, a college professor or an ordained minister of the gospel. He is a surgeon, a scientist of the first rank and he approaches this subject with an open mind and after years of careful study and investigation, he comes to us with his findings and challenges any man in the world to disprove or successfully contradict his statements."

Commenting on his attendance at the Bible conference, Mr. Stephan said:

"I have lived a week in beautiful Winona, the playground of the Christian world. What an enjoyment and privilege this has been. It was like living in another world. I did not hear a swear word in all the time I was there, nor listen to a suggestive story.

"Inspiring music, vocal and instrumental of the highest order, religious and patriotic which stirs one's soul and lifts you out of gloom and dread of our present world's condition, was much in evidence. Not that the men and women who assembled there are not mindful of the pall that is threatening the civilized world but they are possessed with a faith and confidence that does not allow them to despair.

"There is sunshine in their hearts and smiles on their faces that are simply contagious. They sing, they pray, they read their Bible and talk about what it reveals and from its pages they are led to know and understand what is happening in the world and know the way out. They are not dreamers or idealists, but are sound thinkers and serious minded men and women who firmly believe that the Bible is God's book in which He has revealed Himself to a sin-sick and war-torn world and tells them how to live and what to do in order to bring about a better day and a happier world.

"I attended from three to five meetings each day and listened to some of the greatest speakers and orators in the world.

"They hold you spellbound every minute and inspire you with a confidence in God and His holy word.

"I listened and joined in more earnest and sincere prayers in this one week than I have ever heard in any month of my life. What a privilege it was to meet and talk with these Godly men and women.

"They came from all parts of the United States, Canada, England, New Zealand. There were Presbyterians, Baptists, Methodists, Reformed Lutherans, United Brethren, undenominational, Gospel missions, Jews and many other denominations. But at Winona they were all one.

"Professors, ministers, surgeons, authors, nationally known evangelists, physicians, consecrated laymen all speak the same tongue and give utterance to their united and common faith. How often it came to my mind that I would like to bring some of these speakers to Holland.

"They are big men with broad and deep intellects, forceful speakers and are much in demand and, therefore, not easily attracted to a small town. However, this did not deter me from asking them. I remember having asked Roger Babson to speak at a Chamber of Commerce banquet and he had turned down the invitation.

"There were two other men besides Dr. Brown, who took my fancy. They were Vance Haver of Greensboro, N. C., the 'Will Rogers' of the pulpit and Sam Morris of Texas, popular temperance lecturer."

Motor vehicles cause one-third of all accidental deaths in the U. S. and falls account for one-fourth of the total.

Local Youth on Yacht That Took FDR to Epic Parley

Benjamin at Least Partly
'in the Know' as Whole World Guessed

While the world speculated, a Holland youth knew at least part of the "inside" story of the historic conference of President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill "somewhere in the Atlantic."

Gordon H. Benjamin, son of F. H. Benjamin, 197 East Ninth St., apparently knew as a member of the crew of the presidential yacht Potomac about Mr. Roosevelt's transfer from his yacht to warships for the conference at the time messages from the Potomac told that the president was "fishing" and was "being kept in close touch with international affairs."

He may have known the exact location of the meetings and it was not likely that he had to speculate—as did the world press—on just who all were with the two leaders when they agreed on the eight-point peace aims.

President Roosevelt sailed on the Potomac from New London, Conn., Aug. 13 on a "newsless" cruise. Benjamin—a gunner's mate, third class in the U. S. navy who was appointed to duty on the yacht last spring—was undoubtedly aboard because in his last letter to relatives he said the Potomac was scheduled to sail from New London with Mr. Roosevelt.

On Aug. 5 first rumors of the Roosevelt-Churchill conference appeared in headlines over the nation. If Benjamin didn't know then he no doubt soon did learn of the rendezvous at sea which, according to London reports, was held three days last week-end.

At least partly "in the know" while the world had to be content with guessing, he may have seen Churchill, Lord Beaverbrook and others of the British party.

Gordon's father said he receives frequent letters from his son. He and other members of the family are anxiously awaiting Gordon's next letter in the hope that he will relate his experiences on the portentous cruise.

Gordon, now serving his second term in the navy, hopes to become a chief gunner's mate. He attended Lincoln school, Holland Junior and Senior high schools and served a year and a half in a CCC camp before enlisting in the navy. He last visited Holland when his mother died last January.

CAR ROOM

headquarters, upon its own initiative and had received approval to offer use of the room to other organizations, providing the board's records and confidential files were protected. The letter was signed by Leon Moody, board secretary, and Harry Kramer, Vaudie Vandenberg, board chairman, is out of the city and did not sign the letter.

The communication asked council to endorse the proposal for joint use of the room. Contending that council "had this in mind all the time," Ald. Bruce Raymond, supported by Ald. George Danson, moved that the proposal be adopted. The two later withdrew the motion and support when another motion was made to refer the matter to the building and grounds committee.

Shud Althuis of the Spanish-American war veterans suggested that the selective service board could obtain quarters in the armory building. He expressed belief that the city of Holland "owes something to its ex-service men for they are as good as you will find anywhere."

John Homfeld recalled the laying of the cornerstone of the city hall building and said he "heard the words" which dedicated this room for use by the veterans.

"If it wasn't for the Civil war veterans and the Spanish-American war veterans, you wouldn't be able to enjoy life in Holland today. Now you are casting us aside—putting us out in the cold for the draft board."

"Why we saved the shirts on your backs. What are you going to do for these young men when they return home from their military training? Are you going to let them to get the h—l out of here like you have done to us?"

Alfred C. Joldersma, representing the Willard G. Leenhouts post, American legion, advised council that his organization did not use the G. A. R. room but had its own quarters as did the Veterans of Foreign Wars. However, he reported that the legion at a previous meeting had adopted a resolution unanimously that the G. A. R. room should be "retained as a shrine" for the G. A. R. and other patriotic organizations.

He recalled that the organization had used the room for almost 30 years before being locked out of their quarters. Joldersma expressed belief that it was not council's intent to permit the draft board to lock the doors of the G. A. R. room and he also advised council that "it had been kept in the dark" about money being available for the payment of rent by the government for draft board quarters.

"I can say that 90 per cent of the veterans of 1917 and 1918 didn't care where they received their physical examinations. We were more interested in where we were going and what we would get into."

Joldersma said the legion and VFW had formed a joint committee to arrange sendoff parties for the draftees but at the last gathering only about six or seven out of 30 selectees attended.

He said a proper solution could be worked out and suggested that council consider the board's communication by arranging a meeting with the two groups involved to work out a satisfactory schedule over use of the room.

John Slaghuys of the Spanish-American War veterans said his organization would be glad to cancel any meetings on nights when the draftees leave for camp to permit use of the G. A. R. room as a "sendoff place."

Upon inquiry from Raymond, Joldersma said that, as chairman of the armory advisory board, he had never been approached on the proposition of the draft board obtaining space in the armory. He reported that the armory will be used by high schools and the college for basketball games between October and March but that if suitable space could be found there without interference, the board would offer no objections to the draft board establishing 'itself' there.

Ben Hamm said the organizations had been promised from time to time they would be given use of the G. A. R. room and he asked Raymond why he had "a change in mind."

Raymond admitted that he had been "placed on the spot" but explained that, as chairman of a special committee, he had gone to the draft board with various proposals but that it had not been "interested" due to the procedure it must go through in changing quarters. He said the board has now obtained rental bids on three places but they are "all back offices" and are not suitable for the board.

He explained that he changed his mind after he had spoken to a group of selectees, prior to their departure and had seen from 200 to 500 relatives and friends gathered in the room to bid them goodbye.

Raymond said it was more paramount for the city to show the draftees it is 100 per cent behind them than to submit to the "quibbling" of the various organizations over who will use the G. A. R. room.

"It was never council's intention that any one should be deprived the use of the room. These organizations had a right to 'kick' when they found the doors locked," he said, however.

"Perhaps there are organizations which are not willing to share the use of this room. There are 22 persons, including board members and doctors who perform the physical examinations and are receiving no remuneration for their services. They are doing worthy work and I think we all should 'string along with them.'"

"I admit that you have been treated badly but if patriotism means anything, it means sacrifice. You made sacrifices in your days and we all will have to make sacrifices in the future. I ask you if you are willing to make this sacrifice by sharing this room with the draft board."

One woman member of the audience reminded council there is no longer a G. A. R. but that there are other organizations to carry "on the work." She contended that every Holland citizen should honor the memory of the G. A. R. room.

Another woman representative said there was insufficient space for this room to be shared by patriotic organizations and the draft board.

Mrs. Shud Althuis, representing the legion auxiliary, recalled that the room had been used previously to can fruit "for the boys at Camp Custer" and she maintained this work could not be done in private homes or "in smaller places."

Joldersma, in making further comment, said the misunderstanding arose when Holland's initial draft board was appointed. He contended that the city then was the only one in which veteran's organizations had been completely ignored in appointments on the board.

He said he felt that without a veteran on the board, neither the board nor the patriotic organizations knew the sentiments of either. He said the board now has a veteran in the person of Harry Kramer and that attempts have been made to reach an amiable settlement.

Slaghuys contended that the absence of the draft board members showed that they are not willing to cooperate "or even listen to our side of the story."

Ald. Berta H. Slaghuys inquired if patriotic organizations would be willing to share use of the room with the draft board but there was no direct answer from any of the representatives to his question.

CITY WILL JOIN COURT FIGHT ON PAY, HOUR PLAN

Constitutionality of Police and Firemen Statute
to Be Tested

Upon invitation of the Michigan Municipal league, common council voted Wednesday night to join other Michigan cities in a court fight to test the constitutionality of two statutes, passed by the 1941 legislature which establishes minimum hours for firemen and minimum wages for police officers.

The act, establishing minimum hours for firemen, provides that all municipalities having an organized paid or part-paid fire department shall not require any person to be on duty more than 24 hours or off duty less than 24 hours out of every 48 hours. It further provides an additional 24 consecutive hours off duty in every 16-day period.

The act establishing minimum wages for policemen sets up a schedule of minimum wages to be paid in accordance with the size of the city from a population standpoint. Holland would come under the classification of cities with populations from 12,500 to 25,000 with a minimum wage of $1,800 per year or $34.61 per week for all police officers having two years or more of service.

Under the wage schedule placed into effect with the adoption of the 1941-42 budget, one officer here receives a weekly salary of $31.25; one officer, $32.25; four officers, $33.50; one officer, $34.50. This schedule of pay is based on the years of service.

The municipal league reported that decision to test the validity of the two acts was made at a recent meeting of city and village representatives in Lansing.

At that meeting, a resolution was adopted in which the representatives of 21 cities contended "that such legislation constitutes an invasion of home rule by substituting the discretion of the legislature which is unfamiliar with local conditions for the discretion of the local governing bodies of the state and by imposing financial burdens upon municipalities beyond their ability to pay within existing municipal revenues and which may, therefore, be invalid and unconstitutional."

The league, in its communication, estimated that cost of this court fight would not exceed $10 per city or village.

At the request of the league, council adopted a suggested resolution in which City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker was authorized and instructed to intervene in proposed proceedings on behalf of this city. The resolution also guaranteed that the city would bear its share of the costs which will not exceed $10.

City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker said there was little comment to make except that the statutes had been passed by the legislature upon influence from "various interested parties." He said the city would be held liable for its share of the costs.

"Various attorneys feel that such legislation should be discouraged in the state legislature," Lokker said, adding that Attorney General Rushton had ruled that home rule cities and those under the general act are affected by the statutes.

Ald. Bruce Raymond called council's attention to two resolutions which it had adopted at the time the statutes were before the legislature in which State Rep. Nelson A. Miles and State Sen. Earnest C. Brooks, both of Holland, were urged to vote against their passage. His motion, seconded by Ald. Elmer J. Schepers, that the necessary resolution be adopted prevailed.

Board Is Given Ruling on Student Deferment

Instructions regarding the deferment of college students have been received by the local selective service board from the state selective service headquarters at Lansing.

The state headquarters advises that consideration should be given to allow any senior student in law, business administration, literature and other non-shortage professions doing acceptable work to graduate.

Junior students, doing outstanding work, may be considered for deferment. It is believed inadvisable to grant deferments for sophomores and freshmen in this category, the state office ruled.

The local board was instructed to place full responsibility upon each registrant student and the dean of his particular college for furnishing such detached information which the board considers necessary to permit proper determination regarding the student's classification.

The local board reported that pre-medical and pre-dental students have been deferred from selective service on past occasions.

FARM HOME IS LOST IN BLAZE

Paul Schilleman Who Is Ill Leaves Sick Bed to Drive Auto

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the 10-room farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schilleman, located on route 3, Holland, four and one-half miles northeast of the city, about 9:45 a.m. last Thursday.

Mrs. Schilleman was unable to estimate the amount of the loss and said the damage was only partly covered by insurance. Included in the loss was most of the home's contents.

Mr. Schilleman, who has been in failing health, was given a blood transfusion Wednesday night at his home. His condition Thursday morning permitted him to walk from the home to the barn from which he drove out his car.

It was reported the fire was discovered by Mrs. Schilleman when she went to the mail box. Belief was expressed that the blaze burned for sometime among the rafters before breaking through the roof.

The Zeeland fire department was called but lack of an adequate water supply prevented firemen from saving the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Schilleman are staying with Mr. Schilleman's brother, Ed Schilleman, at North Holland. Mr. Schilleman was reported "doing fine" despite the excitement caused by the fire.

Of the contents saved, there was a watch belonging to the Rev. C. M. Beertuis of Holland. The minister was among the group of Holland men who went to the farm home, to offer their blood for the transfusion.

Four persons were slightly injured August 14 at about 11:25 p.m. in a two-car accident on M-21, about three miles east of Zeeland, during a rainstorm. They were treated in Huizenga Memorial hospital, Zeeland, and released.

Drivers of the two cars were Willard Guest, 28, colored, of Grand Rapids, and Jack Ormond, 37, also of Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Ormond was treated for a scalp wound. Their two children, Patricia and John, and Guest were treated for minor injuries.

Three other persons, including Mrs. Guest, were riding with Guest who was driving west toward Zeeland. Ormond was east-bound.

The accident was investigated by the Ottawa county sheriff's department which reported that the left front of Guest's car struck the Ormond vehicle, then sideswiped it. Both vehicles were considerably damaged.

SMASH GOES AN ILLUSION

A Nebraska anthropologist has discovered that the bromide about the excellent teeth of the aboriginal races is just that—a bromide.
In other words, he finds that there is nothing to the old timers who lived some millions of years ago had their troubles with the toothache much as we have today.

The professor out on the prairies has discovered remains of cave-men, parts of skeletons that have been preserved, so he estimates, for some millions of years, through ossification. And the teeth of every last one of them were full of cavities.
They were as bad as the teeth had among people without enough money to visit the dentist regularly, as anyone can see for himself who travels in England.

The theory was that those cave-men back there a million or more years ago lived hygienic lives unconsciously. They ate the raw cereals that had not been deprived of their essential vitamins through processing. They tore the flesh of animals with their teeth, thus giving these dentals their necessary exercise. They possessed no tooth brushes, but neither does a dog or a wolf. Teeth grow from the inside, medical men theorized, and the aborigines gave their teeth
the right food for growth and preservation.

That was probably true to some extent. But generalizations are always dangerous. In many sections of the globe, doubtless, the food supply was such that teeth could not get what they need for health and strength. And people living in those parts of the globe simply had to be reconciled to having their teeth decay. We are at least that much ahead of the old timers that we can to a degree make up for the ravages of nature.

But generally speaking, there are probably many illusions about the health and strength of those old races that lived before the dawn of history. Scientific investigation seems to point to the fact that they were less hardy and strong than they have often been given credit for being. We are fairly certain that their lives were much shorter than ours. But it also seems certain that they enjoyed less good health than the people of today and that in strength they would hardly be a match for the civilized races. Even as recently as the middle ages the warriors were smaller in stature than we are—as is proved by the suits of armor that are found in the museums.

There are many romantic illusions about the dim past. One by one they are being corrected by the patient researches of scientists.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Why Go To Church?

Many men go to church because it is the greatest organized force for righteousness in the world. It offers the best chance for the real service of humanity the world over.

While it may be remotely true that one can live the Christian life outside the church, it is a fact that 99 out of every 100 Christians are members of some church. A wise man will take his chance with the 99 rather than with the one. So why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

voets furnished a $500 cash bond.

The Writer of the Hebrews
Explains the New Covenant
Hebrews 9:11-22

By Henry Geerlings

One of the most important questions asked anywhere in the Bible is, How can a man be just before God. While that question may appear in this particular form but a few times in the scriptures it does really go to the heart of both the Old and New Testament. From the very beginning that thought pressed itself upon the heart of mankind.
Something had come between God and man to separate them.
Man had offended the love and justice of God and in a very particular sense was alienated from him. This alienation consisted in moral separateness. Man was not more like God, and before justice could come into his heart satisfaction had to be made for the injury that had been done through sin. And the entire stress of man's approach to God through sacrifice of one sort or another brings but one message and that is the desire of the human spirit to be at peace with God.

In this epistle it is plain that the covenant of Mount Sinai was laid aside. This is shown by the discussion of the religious services which it enjoined. These prefigured the services and blessings of the new covenant under which we now live. When the latter came there was no occasion for continuing the former, for it had served the purpose in prefig-uring that which was to come.

The covenant made at Sinai, of which the Levitical priests were the mediators, was all a picture of that which was to come. The services of the tabernacle by sacrifices, washings and other purifi-cations of the flesh were an example of the rites of worship which are performed here on earth for procuring the pardon of sin and admission into heaven.
The inward tabernacle—the Holy of Holies—was a type of heaven,
the invisible habitation of the Deity. Therein was the ark of the covenant and the pot of manna and Aaron's rod, and overshadowing was the mercy seat, representing the throne of God, and over and between the cherubim was the visible glory, the symbol of divine presence.

All of this was made according to the pattern shown Moses in the Mount. God was the architect, and everything about the tabernacle had a purpose.
Priests entered the tabernacle
daily, going into the outward tabernacle, where they performed the service, directing all their acts of worship toward that which was the symbol of divine presence in the Holy of Holies, but hidden from the eyes of men by the veil or curtain that hung between.

It is interesting in reading the epistle to the Hebrews to see how the writer takes the facts of the Old Testament and fills them with the message of the gospel.
In at least thirteen instances he speaks of the new covenant which we have in Christ as better than the old covenant which had been the possession of the Jews.
While we say this we are not unmindful of the fact that the roots of all the teachings of the New Testament stand so close together. The Old Testament would mean very little to us if we did not have the New Testament.
It is also true that the New Testament would be impossible without the Old Testament.

The new covenant came with Christ, omitting no essential of the old but adding a great deal.
It is the blood of Christ that gives life and promise to this covenant. Contrast stands forth between the blood of animals and His blood, between the promise to the Jews and the promise through Christ to all mankind. It puts reality in contrast with ritual.
This new covenant is the finest God could provide. We wonder what part we have in it, what it requires of us, and what it gives us.

The new covenant calls for and provides a more effective means of cleansing. The old purification system dealt largely with external relations, with being pronounced clean by the priest when all the ceremonies had been strictly performed. This cleanness was important for it gave sinners fitness for privileges of association, worship and service not permissible otherwise.

The new cleansing is by the blood of Christ. It is more than external cleanliness. It goes to the heart and inner life and makes it pure, since the blood of Christ cleanses us from all sin. A real purpose is evident in the new covenant. It is to get rid of the merit of good works, the false idea of the Jews. It is to accept the work of God for us whereby we can have justification before Him through faith in the righteousness of Christ. No belittling of good works is suggested in this new covenant. What it does is to set forth good works as the fruit of a cleansed life, not as a means to its being accounted as clean.
We do not cultivate good works in order to be saved, but because we are saved.

It is by means of His death
that the promise of eternal life becomes a reality for us. This is the highest blessing to come from the new covenant. The inheritance of eternal life could only be granted when His life was given.
It took the death of Jesus to make His blessing ours. This the blood of remission, the blood that we must accept by faith as the only means for sending away the guilt of our sins.

yesterday the nine hour rule came

Mrs. J. E. Holmes, executive secretary of the Ottawa county Red Cross chapter, said Wednesday that arrangements are being made for the beginning of the fall and winter work on the war relief production quota for Ottawa county.

Production work has been decreased during the summer, but it is expected that full production will soon be in progress. She reported that some of the women have started work. Representatives of three church groups called on Mrs. Holmes Tuesday to obtain necessary materials.

The latest letter is from Mrs. T. Roberts, Nottingham, England, and was written to her niece, Mrs. C. D. Mulder of Spring Lake. Mrs. Harold Klaasen of Holland is a great niece of Mrs. Roberts.

"Will you thank all the people in your town who sent such lovely baby clothes? The work was wonderful and we still have not got over the surprise when we saw fur coats arrive. I think the American people are just wonderful. I have been lecturing to the Women's Voluntary service and I told them what your town was doing and what your mother had knitted," the letter, written on British Red Cross society stationery, stated.

The writer also told of a bombing by the enemy which occurred on the night she was on duty as a fire spotter.

WHOOOP COUGH IS SPREADING

Grand Haven, Aug. 21 (Special)—Whooping cough is spreading over Ottawa county, the Ottawa county health department warned this week.

Eighteen new cases were reported in Holland, Zeeland, Grand Haven and Marne the past week and, the department said, the number of unreported cases likely exceeded the reported ones.

"The cases are mild, but already new cases are occurring among infants," it was warned. "Babies are immediately susceptible to whooping cough and the disease is most severe, often fatal, in early infancy."

The department, however, pointed out that considerable immunization of infants and pre-school children had been completed the past few years. Immunized children, it was explained, are protected for about two years after treatment and one attack of whooping cough usually guards a child from the disease.

The department added: "Parents are asked to immediately report any coughs which continue for more than one week. Spells of coughing, with possible occasional vomiting of mucus, regardless of the characteristic whooping cough. In its mild form it has been termed slime cough. Slime cough, which is not considered a medical term, is whooping cough. Mild cases in older children will often cause severe cases of whooping cough in infants. Immediate isolation for a period of at least three weeks is necessary to control the disease."

Persons wishing to purchase plates for commercial jobs must present either the stub of the first registration on the half-year plates or the weigh bill when applying for plates. All car owners are required to present the title when purchasing plates.

AID EXTENDED TO DUTCH TOTS

The local chapter of the Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Inc., through its secretary, Willard C. Wichers, announced today that the national office has appropriated $1,792 for the maintenance of 14 Netherlands children for six months in the British Isles.

The problem of housing mothers with young children and especially expectant mothers is a particularly difficult one for the British authorities. Public air raid shelters and subways entail too much physical hardship and discomfort for such persons. The Refugees of England have devised a scheme to solve this problem as regards the foreign refugees. The committee has opened six hostels in England, which are maintained through the adoption plan of Dr. Audrey Russell. The adoption is not a legal one but is in essence merely maintenance of children. The average cost of adoption has been estimated at $50 for equipment and clothing and $3 a week maintenance.

The French and the Belgians both individually and as relief organizations have, respectively, adopted 75 French and 100 Belgian children.

It is expected that the Queen Wilhelmina fund will soon appropriate additional sums for adoption of additional children. Mr. Wichers stated that anyone wishing to contribute to the support of these refugee children could arrange with the local chapter office to contribute to the care of an individual child for any given length of time.

TELLS CLUB OF AIR PROBLEMS

Capt. Ward Estes of Detroit, a member of the aviation cadet examining board, spoke briefly to Holland Rotary club members at their noon meeting August 14 at the Macatawa Bay Yacht club and showed two airplane reels, one in technicolor.

These films showed the latest bombers and pursuit planes being manufactured in this country both for the United States army air corps and the British army.

Featured in the technicolor reel was the new "airacobra" model, "the most potent defense weapon of its type." In this plane, the engine has been placed amidship and the pilot is located ahead of the engine. This means, the pictures pointed out, more visibility and advantageous use of the tricycle landing gear. The nose is free for ammunition, and guns are set in front.

"Today mastery of the air is as necessary as mastery of the sea," the commentator pointed out.

Capt. Estes said that examining boards have a real problem because they must fill a quota of 30,000 prospective air corps officers a year but have only a small group from which to draw.

After 30 weeks' training, the cadet becomes a second lieutenant in the air corps reserve, Capt. Estes said, after which three years of active duty are required of him.

He pointed out that air corps applicants must be healthy, between the ages of 20 and 27, citizens of the U. S. for at least two years, single, and either have two years of college education or be able to pass an educational examination.

COMMITTEE TO PROBE WORK ON LOUNGING ROOM

Council Delays Action on Approval of Request for Contract

Work on the proposed lounging room for Holland firemen at the No. 1 engine house on West Eighth St. will be delayed as a result of common council's action Wednesday night in referring the matter to its committee on public buildings and property for further investigation.

The police and fire board at its meeting Monday night received five sealed bids for the communication to council, recommending that the low bid of $1,531 be accepted and the contract awarded to Abel Postma.

Ald. John Menken, chairman of council's public safety committee, said he personally would not make a recommendation and he moved the proposal be referred to the building and grounds committee. Ald. Bruce Raymond supported the motion.

Mayor Henry Geerlings inquired what effect this construction work would have on the No. 2 engine house. Menken said this matter was not discussed at the board meeting but that it was his understanding the board was satisfied with arrangements there.

In other business considered by council, Raymond, reporting for the ways and means committee, said that the group had approved the appropriation of $50 to the Great Lakes Harbors association for use in defraying costs which are expected to result in the expected controversy before congress on the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway.

He said the committee had tabled the request of the Great Lakes Port Terminals association for $100 to pay expenses to be incurred in a protest to a proposal that the port terminal operators come under jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission.

Ald. Herman Mooi, chairman of the public buildings and grounds committee, reported repairs to the clinic building had been completed. Raymond, reporting for the board of public works committee, read the proposal to use the old Fifth St. power plant as an incinerator for garbage disposal had been taken up with the board of public works at council's previous request. His motion that the city clerk be instructed to turn over all correspondence to the works board was passed.

At the close of the regular meeting, council met as a committee of the whole upon request of the public safety committee for a discussion of liability insurance to protect fire apparatus and firemen when making calls outside the city.

Joseph C. Fennell, an insurance representative from Detroit, informed council that the city was liable for any damages incurred to apparatus or firemen on outside calls. He outlined provisions of his company's policy.

However, City Attorney Lokker questioned this and contended that the city was not liable so long as it was engaged in any governmental function and not for profit. He said he and John R. Dethmers, Holland township attorney, had gone over this question when a new agreement was drawn up with Holland township.

The application and agreement, signed by John Van Nul, 372 West 18th St., for permission to come under the compulsory sewer ordinance and have his premises connected with the sanitary sewer at a cost of $271.20 was approved.

J. W. Hobek was granted a license to construct sidewalks in Holland.

Claims against the city amounting to $7,279.01 were approved other claims, also approved followed: Hospital, $1,657.10; library, $229.99; police and fire (police), $1,299.06; fire (fire), $2,736.67; $4,035.73; park and cemetery (park), $926.58; cemetery, $604.81; $1,531.39; board of public works (payroll), $5,227.37; claims, $24,683.02; $29,910.39.

City Clerk Oscar Peterson was authorized to pay bonds and interest coupons, amounting to $2,434.

With no complaints being filed, council authorized the vacating of the alley between 29th and 30th Sts. from River to Pine Aves.

Vacating of Lincoln Ave., just north of 24th St., to permit relocation of Lincoln Ave., east of its present location, to permit construction of a new railroad crossing at this junction, was approved. Wednesday night had been set as the time for the hearing of any objections.

Local Vet and Bear Both Killed in Pioneer Battle

Once, in the early days of northern Michigan, a Civil war veteran from Holland and a black bear fought a battle to a draw.

The man was Frank Devereaux and, according to information gathered by Mrs. Elizabeth Frik Lines of Kalamazoo, he enlisted in company I, 25th infantry, on Aug. 14, 1864, in Holland for three years.

At that time he was 31 years old, Devereaux was mustered into service Sept. 23, 1864, and mustered out at Salisbury, N. C., June 24, 1865. Mrs. Lines' father, the late William Frik, was a member of the same company, he being 19 years old when he enlisted.

He now lies in a lonely grave on the sandy shore of a little pine-bordered lake near US-23, a few miles south of Cheboygan, the grave being marked by a tumble-down pole fence, a simple marble

THOUGHTS TURN TO HORSE SHOW

C.P. Annual Closed Tennis Tourney Also Draws Much Attention

The Castle park boys' canoe trip ended last week and most attention is now being turned toward the 19th annual Holland-Castle park horse show which will be held on the grounds Wednesday, Aug. 27, but there are still many things keeping boys and girls in the play classes busy.

Castle park's annual closed tennis tournament is proceeding this month and finals will be played Aug. 29 in the junior divisions and Aug. 31 in the senior divisions.

Because of the unusual number of better-than-average players at the Castle, competition is expected to be close. Bill Mawhinney of Cincinnati, tennis pro, is directing the tournament.

Girls played their matches last week and boys will play theirs this week. Senior matches will be played on Aug. 25 to 30.

A novel way of making up doubles teams has been planned for this year. Mr. Mawhinney said. Names will be drawn from a hat and partners picked that way.

Included on this week's schedule are a boys' softball game against Macatawa at the Castle Wednesday, a girls' softball game against a Holland team Thursday, overnight hikes for the girls including one Wednesday night and a "turnabout" dance to which girls go dressed as boys and boys go dressed as girls. The final edition of the Banner will also be published Saturday.

Vespers next Sunday will be in charge of the play class. At this time, knighthood awards for those who pass the C. P. knighthood tests will be presented. Girls are also eligible for some achievement awards for the first time this year. Tests for the green, silver and gold knight badges will be given in athletics, nature, campcraft, handicraft and community cooperation.

Castle park girls were beaten by Holland in softball, 13-10 at the park Saturday morning.

All the canoeists reported a most enjoyable time, a non-eventful but interesting trip, and excellent food prepared under the direction of Chef Carter Brown. They stopped at Traverse City to visit the museum and the zoo there and also visited the Hartwick forest of virgin pine on their way from the Au Sable to Manistee rivers.

They also reported seeing many deer, beaver and otter on the trip. They encountered rain once, on the Manistee river near Fife lake Thursday night.

Mrs. Dwight Green of Springfield, Ill., wife of the governor of that state, has arrived with her two children at Plantation house and will be there until Labor Day.

Polly Mahler of Menasha, Wis., and Mary Holt Cowles of Menasha, Wis., who were also Castle park guests for a couple of days, left yesterday.

Recent arrivals at the hotel include Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Meeker and two children of Indianapolis, Mrs. A. R. Reed and daughter of Tupelo, Miss., Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Boone of Chicago, Mrs. Emery W. Tracy and her son Robert Victor Leighton, Jr., of Tryon, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. Peter E. Rentschler and family of Hamilton, O., Mrs. Louis Pickering and daughter of Highland Park, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Willis Nance and daughter of Evanson, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Probably no other battle like that between Devereaux and the bear was ever fought in the history of this state. If it comes to that not many men have died, at least in the eastern half of the United States, as Frank Devereaux did, from the attack of a wild animal.

For all the wolf stories, bear stories, wildcat stories and other hair-raising tales of pioneer times, authentic cases of that kind are few indeed. So far as can be learned Michigan has only the one.

There were, of course, no witnesses to the savage battle between Devereaux and the bear. It happened some 50 years ago, according to like Cooper, now dead some 20 or 25 years back. Cooper, then living in Flint, was a former resident of Cheboygan county and without much doubt the greatest bear hunter in the history of this state. In his day, hunting in the Cheboygan district, he had accounted for nearly 175 black bears.

Devereaux, so Cooper's story ran, was living a hermit's existence in a lonely shack on the shore of the little lake where he is buried, now known as Devereaux lake, a few miles south of Mullet lake.

The first word of Devereaux's misfortune came when an Indian woman, who had been picking blueberries on the sandy plains south of Cheboygan, came into Cooper's drug store one hot July day and reported that a bear had killed the man and she had stumbled onto the body in the woods.

Cooper organized a burial party which drove out to the scene in a buckboard.

They found Devereaux where the Indian woman had indicated. He was sitting upright on a log, leaning against the trunk of a small tree, his chin resting in his hand. He was badly bitten through one leg and a blow from the bear's paw had broken his skull from temple to ear on one side.

Not far away the men found the bear, also dead, half hidden under a small evergreen tree. It was easy to read the story of the battle that had been fought.

Devereaux carried with him on his trips into the woods an old muzzle-loading musket. It was rarely charged with regular lead slugs, Cooper recounted. Devereaux's practice was to ram home a charge of powder and finish off the load with small pebbles, broken nails or whatever was handy.

The bear showed a bad gunshot wound in the flank. Apparently it was this wound which had killed the animal. Between the bodies of the bear and the man was the trampled arena where they had fought, an irregular circle where brush and ferns were beaten as flat as if a roller had passed over them. The fight must have been a savage affair while it lasted.

As Cooper and the others pieced the story together, Devereaux had been gathering blueberries when he came upon the bear, probably little more than gun length away. The bear also was muzzling. The man had shot hurriedly, inflicting a fatal wound but failing to kill, and the enraged animal had come at him.

Devereaux had used the muzzle of his musket, bayonet fashion, in a futile attempt to fend off the attack. The roof of the bear's mouth was cut to ribbons where the man, fighting for his life, had jabbed at the animal to keep it beyond reach.

But the bear broke through his guard at last, probably knocking him down with the first blow of its paw, then mauling and biting him as he lay helpless on the ground.

Just how the battle ended will never be known. Did the bear leave the man for dead, crawling away to the shelter of the little evergreen tree, and did Devereaux later recover sufficiently to walk or drag himself to the place he was found? Or was the bear finally beaten off, leaving the dying man momentarily the victor?

Ike Cooper did not know the answers to those questions. No one will ever know them.

The burial party laid Devereaux to rest on the shore of the lake and freed his hungry, thirst-tortured dog from the shack as the last act of the drama.

For years only a rough pen of poles marked the lonely grave. In 1933, however, an odd wooden Latin inscription telling the story and more recently a marble headstone was erected.

The peace and quiet of the north woods lie over the place now, and in late summer blueberries—which caused the battle between Devereaux and the bear a half century ago—ripen in profusion around the grave.

Holland Joins Campaign to Sell Defense Bonds

Mayor Henry Geerlings learned Wednesday night at common council's regular meeting that the city of Holland is cooperating in a campaign to boost the sale of national defense bonds in Holland.

He advised council that other cities are contributing by purchasing bonds and he inquired if Holland shouldn't do likewise.

However, City Clerk Oscar Peterson reported that $10,000 in bonds had been recently purchased with money from the cemetery upkeep fund of the board of park and cemetery commissioners.

Legislation for the sale of beer has been enacted by every state. Three states, Kansas, Oklahoma and Utah limit the beverage to 32 per cent alcohol by weight.

MUSKEGON NINE IS BLANKED BY VAN WIEREN, 6-0

Dutch Collect Eleven Hits as They Score Runs in Three Innings

The Holland Flying Dutchmen added another to their string of home victories in a fast game at Riverview park Monday night when they downed Smith's team of Muskegon, 6-0.

For his first shutout of the year, Lefty Van Wieren allowed five hits, but none of the young high school or college stars on the Muskegon outfit got past second. He struck out five and walked one.

Profiting on a few errors and a total of 11 hits, the Dutchmen counted three runs in the second inning, two in the fifth and one in the eighth.

Bob Vanden Berg singled to center field as the Dutchmen got under way in the second and advanced to second when Arnie Tiesink beat out a hit. A third-base man's error brought in Vanden Berg and advanced Tiesink to second. Tiesink and Nels Van Lente, who had singled, both scored when Loren Wenzel singled to center.

In the fifth, Ken Vanden Berg reached first on an error and Tiesink reached there when hit by a pitched ball. Vanden Berg scored on Lefty Van Wieren's single and Tiesink scored on Van Lente's single.

Driscoll's only hit, a double to right in the eighth, scored Wenzel who had singled, for the Hollanders' last count.

Bard of the visiting outfit fanned nine batters and walked two. Harry De Neff with three hits and Van Lente, Wenzel and Van Wieren with two each led the locals at bat. Gale, right fielder for Muskegon led the losers with two.
