'Thanks' Extended For Kellogg's Aid To Ottawa County

Work in Rural Schools
And Hospitals Is Told
At Appreciation Dinner

Members of the Holland Exchange club, local dentists, physicians, board of education members, Holland and Grand Haven hospital representatives, county officials and members of the county board of supervisors gathered Monday night at an appreciation dinner in the Warm Friend tavern to enthusiastically say "thank you" to the Kellogg foundation of Battle Creek for the financial support it has voted for a rural school modernization program in Ottawa county and diagnostic centers in Holland and Grand Haven hospitals.

Foundation representatives present were Dr. M. R. Kinde, field director, and Graham Davis, hospital consultant.

The idea of an increased health program in Ottawa county through aid from the foundation originated some nine years ago through the Holland Dental society. Because the work of Allegan dentists overlapped dentists in southern Ottawa county, a meeting was held here in which the program was outlined. Enthusiasm over its possibilities but realizing the project was too big for them to undertake, the dentists urged the local Exchange club to undertake the program.

This resulted in the appointment of a special Kellogg foundation club committee which now includes Alex Van Zanten, chairman, Dr. M. J. Cook, Dr. W. C. Kools, Dr. G. W. Van Vleet and Vernon Ten Cate. A second purpose of Monday's dinner was to pay tribute to the efforts of this committee in obtaining Kellogg aid.

As toastmaster, the Rev. William G. Flowerday expressed the club's thanks and appreciation for the assistance given by the board of supervisors of the past five years. He presented the club's thanks to its special committee and reviewed the efforts of the past years.

Dr. O. Vander Velde, speaking for the Ottawa County Medical society, told how the physicians were rather skeptical of the project at first because they felt it would interfere with private practice but, as a member of a committee of five to investigate the program in Allegan county, he found this to be untrue. In reality, he said he learned, the doctors enjoyed an increased practice and were able to provide better medical service through the program. He said this is true for doctors in Ottawa county despite the short time the foundation has operated in this county.

Dr. William Westrate, also speaking for the medical profession, praised W. K. Kellogg for expressing his love for his fellowmen by his philanthropies which enable the Kellogg foundation to carry on its work. Always interested in public health, Dr. Westrate said he welcomed the support of the foundation for it was mainly interested in educating the people to improve conditions. Dr. Ralph Ten Have, county health officer, speaking for the county health department, related that the school modernization program from a health standpoint will bring about improved toilet facilities, better lighting, added facilities for hot lunches and better seating arrangements. As to the hospital program, the foundation support will enable hospitals to obtain improved facilities to combat cancer and heart diseases with the use of x-ray departments and pathology and laboratory research.

D. H. Vande Bunte, county school commissioner, said the smallest thing the foundation did was to give its financial support while the largest thing it did was to make the rural parents conscious of the needs of the schools and why they were needed. He told of students joining in the work of obtaining estimates on the costs of needed improvements.

Speaking for the board of supervisors, Chairman Dick Smallegan said the program has tended to "create a feeling of brotherly love and fellowship in these times of turmoil and distress." He said the reaction in his community to the foundation program has resulted in an awakening among the older people that they have a responsibility of passing on this brotherly love to their children.

In response to the expressions of gratitude, Dr. Kinde who leaves soon to become a major in the U.S. army medical corps, outlined why the foundation was established in 1930 with a trust fund of $40,000,000 and explained its purposes. He said the board of trustees felt this money should be utilized for the betterment of children.

Funeral Rites Are Held on Monday For H. O'Connor

Gas Plant Worker Is Killed in Fall While
He Closes Window

Funeral services for Henry O'Connor, 56, of 333 Lincoln Ave., who died Friday afternoon in Holland hospital of injuries suffered an hour before in a fall at the gas plant of the Michigan Gas and Electric Co., 200 East 12th St., were held on Monday at 2 p.m. from Dykstra's funeral home, with the Rev. William G. Flowerday officiating. Burial was in Pilgrim Home cemetery.

Mr. O'Connor was born in Mt. Vernon, Mich., Nov. 20, 1885, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles O'Connor. He was a member of the Methodist church and the Men's club.

Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Helen O'Connor; four daughters, Mrs. Howard Norris, Alto; Mrs. William Van Beek, Holland; Mary Jane and Gertrude, both at home; four sons, Clarence, Charles, Clyde and Frank O'Connor, all of Holland; three grandchildren; one brother, Clarence of Kalamazoo, several nieces and nephews.

Fellow employees will serve as pall bearers.

Coroner Gilbert Vande Water has returned a verdict of accidental death. With the assistance of Police Officer Ernest Bear, Earl Goon, local manager of the Michigan Gas and Electric Co., Sam Massie, company vice-president, and Ed Beatty, both of Three Rivers, the coroner conducted an investigation Friday afternoon. Mr. Massie and Mr. Beatty were summoned here by Mr. Goon.

The accident occurred in one of the gas rooms of the old part of the plant as Mr. O'Connor was closing a window. It could not be determined what caused him to fall the 20 feet as there were no witnesses to the accident.

To reach the window, the accident victim first walked along a "catwalk" which is protected by a guard rail, climbed over the guard rail to walk along an I-beam to a foot-wide ridge, situated along the east wall, the coroner said. The window was in the southeast corner.

Investigators found fingerprints on a nearby pipe which indicated that O'Connor attempted to grab it in falling. The window was found closed.

Bernard Vande Water, 318 East 13th St., an operator at the gas plant, was closing another window on the southwest corner. He reported having heard O'Connor yell and went to his aid.

Blackout of City Is Virtually Complete; Few Violations

Auxiliary Deputy Is Injured as Watchman
Refuses to Halt Car

Grand Haven, Aug. 13 (Special) — Sheriff William M. Boeve reported today that Wednesday night's blackout in rural Ottawa county was "on the whole very successful."

There were only about three cases in which lights were kept burning in homes in the rural district, and in the downtown section of Grand Haven there was only one from an automobile which though parked did not strictly adhere to the rules.

One accident was reported in the county when Auxiliary Deputy Sheriff George Schultz, 63, of Grand Haven, who, with Auxiliary Deputy Al Wiegink, attempted to stop John Brifnek of Robinson township at an intersection at Clark's corner. Brifnek refused to stop his car which struck Mr. Schultz who was taken to municipal hospital where he is confined recovering from cuts and bruises.

Brifnek, employed as a night watchman at the Grand Haven Brass foundry, reported to the sheriff's department after midnight.

Brifnek, 58, route 1, Grand Haven, charged with failure to comply with the blackout rules, pleaded guilty today noon before Justice George V. Hoffer and paid $50 fine and costs of $6.90. The complaint was made by the sheriff's department.

Although all reports have not been received, Deputy Sheriff Edward Brouwer reported today that the blackout was successful in southern Ottawa county. He said every man was on duty Wednesday night.

Brouwer said that not a single car entered Holland city from the outside during the blackout period. The only incident reported by him concerned a car whose driver refused to stop when signaled by an auxiliary deputy on Howard Ave. near Beechwood school.

The driver continued on at a high rate of speed and with the car horn blowing, but he was stopped at US-31 and Howard Ave. He identified himself as a member of demolition crew for Holland city.

Brouwer said he received no reports of any automobile accidents. Residents on the North side who ventured forth were ordered back into their homes by the auxiliary deputies.

Tram Kills Man On Waverly Span

An unidentified hobo who appeared to be between 55 and 60 years old was killed about 1:20 p.m. today when he was struck by the first section of Pere Marquette passenger train No. 8 while he was sitting on the Waverly trestle over Black river northeast of Holland.

The body was thrown into the river and was recovered shortly afterwards by Charles Roberts, 198 East Ninth St., railroad section worker.

Three brothers, Edgar De Vries, 10, Peter De Vries, 11, and Walter De Vries, 13, all of 127 West 19th St., reported they saw the transient sitting on the side of the bridge with his feet hanging over as they rode past on their bicycles en route to a nearby quarry to go swimming.

The train crew consisted of Engineer Leverman, Fireman Smith and Conductor Pierce. Apparently the engineer didn't see the accident because the train did not stop until it reached the depot, according to Frank Miller, local PM agent.

Miller said the brakeman, standing on the rear of the train, apparently saw the body in the river because he motioned to a nearby section crew. Deputy Sheriff Edward Brouwer who is attempting to identify the man said he was seen at the hobo camp this morning.

The man's right arm was practically cut off when he was hit by the train.

Fisherman of Holland Lands Two Bass at Once

Harvey Van Tubbergen of 26 West 26th St. whose "fish" story of landing two black bass on one bait Tuesday morning may be scoffed at by some hearers, has a minister fishing pal to testify to the accuracy of his report.

While fishing with the Rev. John D. Cotts and his son, David, about 7:30 a.m. in the Big Bayou yesterday Van Tubbergen landed two black bass, each weighing one and three quarters pounds, using a swimming mouse as bait. He made only one strike and when the fish broke water one was on the line. To his surprise he found twin bass on the line when he had finished reeling in. His was the only catch of the day.

Victim of Fall

Householders Comply Fully With Regulations, Official Tour Shows

For the first time in its history, Holland was blacked out in a defense test between 10 and 10:30 p.m. Wednesday and there's no doubt about it—it certainly was "black."

The test was held in compliance with orders from the U.S. army sixth corps headquarters at Chicago and Governor Van Wagener. Forty-one southern Michigan counties, including Ottawa county, were included in the practice blackout.

At its conclusion in Holland city, Defense Commander Alfred

'SPLENDID RESPONSE'

Mayor Henry Geerlings today congratulated Holland residents on their willingness to comply with Wednesday night's blackout. "The cooperation was really marvelous," he said. "The response was splendid. With few exceptions, there was total darkness."

C. Joldersma had enthusiastic commendation for the cooperation of local citizens.

"It shows that Holland can be blacked out in case of emergency," he said.

Although a few lights were noticed within a short time after the city went dark, they were not reported officially until the senior air raid wardens made their reports to the control center after the "all clear" signal was given.

At least 16 "violations" of the blackout regulations were reported. While some lights were permissible under the regulations, it was felt that these lights were shining too brightly for safety in case of a real air raid attack.

The majority of light incidents were of a minor nature, but there were at least three flagrant violations in the downtown business area. Mr. Joldersma said the most serious violators will be summoned to determine why they did not cooperate with the blackout.

Among the violations reported by auxiliary police and air raid wardens were the following: Western Auto 'Associate store, Teerman Hardware Co., Holland Hotpoint Co., Holland State bank, Superior Cigar store, Holland Precision parts parking lot lights, Hope college campus, Lillian Beauty shop, Ben L. Van Lente neon insurance sign, Vrieling Motor sales, Kuite's market, B. H. Bowmaster implement store, Reliable Tire and Accessory store, City Rescue mission, Christian high school, Winslow studio.

Wires to electric displays in one store were cut and fuses were "pulled" in a couple of other instances.

As the majority of Holland citizens had never seen a blackout, many at home took a "look-see" and hundreds poured into the downtown business district where, with all electric signs "doused," it appeared "blacker" than in other sections. Many remained in their cars while others milled about the street intersections.

Had a real air raid been in progress this would not have been permitted. Instructions had been given that pedestrians should seek shelter within buildings.

Wednesday night's blackout was a culmination of several months' preparations to organize a civilian defense corps in Holland to protect property and lives in case of an emergency. Considerable advance notice had been given of the test, hence there was ample time in which to make preparations. A practice alert was held last Friday night for the various units of the civilian defense program.

The blackout originally had been scheduled for 11 to 11:30 p.m. but at noon Tuesday the sixth corps area headquarters issued orders for Michigan to advance its blackout test one hour, thus necessitating a revision of already worked out schedules.

Business went on as usual in the downtown area prior to the blackout hour but beginning about 9:30 p.m. electric signs were turned off. By 9:57 p.m. when the "mocking bird" whistle at the municipal power plant and the whistles at the Baker Furniture, Inc., and H. J. Heinz Co. plants sounded their warnings, practically all signs were turned off.

Stores which ordinarily are open at that hour of the night closed up for the half-hour period.

By the time the air raid warning had ceased, the city was practically in total darkness. Some motorists, caught in the traffic, doubleparked and turned off their lights.

Transport trucks sought the safety of the city, rather than risk driving along county highways.

Guest Editorial in Illinois Weekly First Urged 'Lincoln for President'

Editor's Note: One of the outstanding special editions of the year—note-worthy both for interesting content and arrangement of material—was the recent centennial edition of the Pike County Republican at Pittsfield, Ill., published by Mrs. Dot Dorsey Swan. One of the feature stories in that edition is headlined "A Pittsfield Meeting That Shaped a Nation's History." It tells how John George Nicolay, editor of the Pike County Free Press (a predecessor of the present Republican) first met Abraham Lincoln in the 1850s and how he later wrote a "guest editorial" which was the first suggestion of Lincoln for President and a short time later played an important part in his nomination for the presidency by the Republican party. The text of this feature story follows:

Possibly the destiny of a nation turned upon a chance meeting in the street on the east side of Pittsfield's public square, one day in the 1850s.

This momentous meeting took place in front of a little story-and-a-half shack which stood where the Zimmerman garage is now located and which is pictured elsewhere in this edition. In that shack was the old Army printing press that turned out the Pike County Free Press, early Whig newspaper belonging to the ancestry of the Pike County Republican.

On that day a tall gaunt man was leaving the old court house, in which he had been transacting some legal business. He walked east from the court house and through the gate in the fence that then surrounded the park. He started to cross the street. He was the man about whom more words have been written than about any other man who ever lived upon this globe, excepting Jesus Christ. Up the street from the north that day came another, a man whom all Pike county grew to love. He was Tom Shastid, the beloved "country doctor" of the old days.

In the middle of the street the two men met. They clasped hands, greeted each other. They were old friends, were Tom and Abe. For the man who had come from the court house was Abe Lincoln, yet unknown to the world.

Tom had moved to Pittsfield with his folks in the beginning of 1836. The Shastid family had formerly lived at New Salem, where Lincoln kept store. Tom had often gone with his brothers to the store for a jug of molasses or other groceries. Lincoln got to know the Shastid boys well. Lincoln frequently visited the Shastids in the old house at 326 East Jefferson, still standing.

"Tom," said Abe, "I need a man for a job I have in mind." Abe told Tom the kind of job it was, the kind of man he needed.

"I know just the man," said Tom; "come with me."

Tom piloted Abe across the street and into the little printshop.

At the editorial desk sat red-headed John George Nicolay, whose garret bedroom over the printshop young Shastid had often shared with his friend, when the latter was poor and lonely.

Tom Shastid introduced Lincoln and Nicolay, and from that moment began a friendship destined to endure until that night in Ford's theater when Nicolay saw his chief fall at the hands of an assassin.

As a result of this meeting in the little printshop in Pittsfield, Nicolay at the end of the Fremont campaign in 1856 sold the Free Press and went to Springfield.

field. In Springfield he later read law in Lincoln's law office.

Nicolay came back to Pittsfield on a visit in February, 1860. He had a sweetheart in the town, Thelena Bates, the only girl who had smiled at him when he was poor and ragged. On that visit he dropped into the office of Col. Daniel B. Bush, who was publishing the Pike County Journal, successor of the Free Press, and predecessor of today's Pike County Republican.

Colonel Bush asked Nicolay to write an editorial. Up to this time, Lincoln had been mentioned chiefly as a candidate for the vice presidency, with Seward for President. The editorial which Nicolay wrote and which Colonel Bush published in his Pike County Journal for February 9, 1860, was headed: "For President, Hon. Abraham Lincoln, subject to the decision of the National Republican Convention." In this editorial Nicolay pointed out that there would be one more battle with the delusion of Douglasism in Illinois but that in the hands of Abe Lincoln the Union would be safe.

Came the National Convention in May, in the Wigwam at Chicago. Seward's eastern friends were powerful. The cause of Lincoln seemed hopeless.

But back in the little town of Pittsfield, Tom Shastid and Abe Lincoln had chanced to meet in the street. As a result, Tom Shastid introduced Abe Lincoln and John George Nicolay. Incident to that introduction, Nicolay wrote a great editorial in Colonel Bush's paper. And now that chance meeting in the street began to bear mighty fruit.

Col. William Ross and other champions of Lincoln bethought them of Nicolay's editorial. The convention was deadlocked. Suddenly there was a change of sentiment. Many left the convention, never knowing what occasioned the change. Lincoln's friends had dug up Nicolay's editorial. They had it reprinted in hundreds of copies overnight. They circulated the editorial among the delegates. Lincoln was nominated on the third ballot, receiving 231 votes to Seward's 180.

So it was that when Dr. Tom and Honest Abe met on a street in Pittsfield one day in the 1850's, a train of events was initiated that may have had much to do with shaping a nation's destiny.

The truth of the foregoing series of events is vouched for by Joseph C. Shastid of Pittsfield, a son of Pioneer Dr. Tom Shastid, whom he often heard relate the story of that chance meeting on Pittsfield's public square and the chain of events that flowed therefrom.

Here is the complete text of Nicolay's historic editorial as it appeared in the February 9, 1860, issue of the Pike County Journal:

FOR PRESIDENT, HON. ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Subject to the Decision of the National Republican Convention.

We are very confident that we express the almost unanimous sentiment of the Republicans of Pike county in the announcement we make at the head of this article—a sentiment founded not only on the personal attachment to and admiration of Mr. Lincoln, but prompted also by a careful estimate of his qualifications both as to his fitness and availability to be chosen as the candidate in the coming campaign. It is conceded that the states of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Indiana and Illinois will be the decisive battleground in the approaching contest, and of them Pennsylvania and Illinois are most hopeful of Republican success. While that Mr. Lincoln would be as acceptable to the Republican voters of Pennsylvania as any man whose name has yet been mentioned, we know he is beyond comparison the strongest man for the state of Illinois. We do not state this as mere speculation—the fact is acceptable demonstration by figures. Give us Lincoln as the candidate and we can promise the electoral vote of Illinois for the Republicans, as a sure result. It is due to the growing interest and power of the west that the next Republican convention shall give her a candidate on the presidential ticket, and to no man in the west does the honor more preeminently belong than to Lincoln. From the introduction of the Nebraska bill to the present time, he has fought the extension of slavery as the champion chosen and pitted against the great apostle of popular sovereignty and has wrested triumph after triumph from the Little Giant for republicanism in the west.

We shall have yet one more battle with the delusion of Douglasism in the state of Illinois, and with no man's weapons can we arm ourselves as securely or fight as successfully as with the arguments offensive and defensive which Abe Lincoln has furnished us. Whatever may be the choice of the politicians, the people of Illinois are undoubtedly for Lincoln. They know him honest and capable, a man of simple habits and plain manners, but possessing a true heart and one of the noblest intellects in the land. He maintains the faith of the fathers of the Republic, he believes in the Declaration of Independence, he yields obedience to the Constitution and laws of his country. He has the radicalism of Jefferson and of Clay and the conservatism of Washington and Jackson. In his hands the Union would be safe.

Blackout

ways during the darkness, and parked along River Ave. from Ninth St. south to 14th St. The trucks parked along Michigan Ave. in the vicinity of Holland hospital.

To test the alertness of the air raid wardens and auxiliary police, an official car, carrying Defense Commander Joldersma, Mayor Henry Geerlings, Bruce Raymond, Jacob Barendse and a Sentinel reporter left the control center to tour the city.

Traveling slowly to avoid any accidents, the car went east on Eighth St. to Columbia Ave., south on Columbia Ave. to 23rd St., west to State St., northwest to River and north, reaching 15th St. and River Ave. when the "all clear" signal was given.

Immediately the lights came on, trucks continued on their way, downtown visitors went home and Holland returned to normal, realizing that "we are at war" and that a blackout can help protect the city from an air raid at night.

Other than the downtown violations, the observers found "nothing but blackness." Auxiliary police, stationed along the route traveled by the car, halted the party, then permitted it to continue after identifications had been made.

All operations were conducted from the control center which was in charge of Mr. Joldersma. Charles Van Duren, executive officer, assumed command when Joldersma left on his tour of the city.

Other members of Mr. Joldersma's staff are the following: T. P. Rhodes, chief air raid warden; E. P. Slooter, controller; Dr. O. Vander Velde, in charge of the medical unit; John Van Dyke, transport officer; Charles Vos, public works and utilities; Andrew Klomparsen, fire chief; A. G. Sall, communications director; Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff; E. V. Hartman, in charge of auxiliary police officers; Don Zwemer, personnel man; Louis C. Dalman, property officer; and Willard C. Wichers, chart and plotting officer. Mr. Wichers was absent from the city Wednesday night.

Also at the control center were Mayor Geerlings, chairman of the civilian defense council; Jacob Barendse, secretary; and Bruce Raymond, a member of the council. Twelve Sea scouts from the Sea scout ship Bonny Homme Richard were on duty as messengers.

One of the first reports received from an air raid post concerned a car speeding south on River Ave. from the north city limits. An auxiliary police officer was unable to stop the driver. However, no other report was received on this car and so it must have stopped somewhere. It was going to fast for the auxiliary officer to get the license number.

Another car whose occupant said he was a defense worker traveled from 24th St. to 13th St. and College Ave. before he was halted until after the test was completed. This time officers were successful in obtaining his license number, identified as KS-63-08.

Not a single home in the residential district was observed with any lights showing. However, at 17th St. and Columbia Ave. a woman had suffered a stroke of paralysis and the officer on duty there gave permission to use lights in this house.

Numerous air raid wardens reported many cigarettes being lighted on the streets. In case of an emergency, this would not have been permitted.

Mr. Rhodes thanked all senior air raid wardens for their efficiency shown during the blackout and the completeness of their reports.

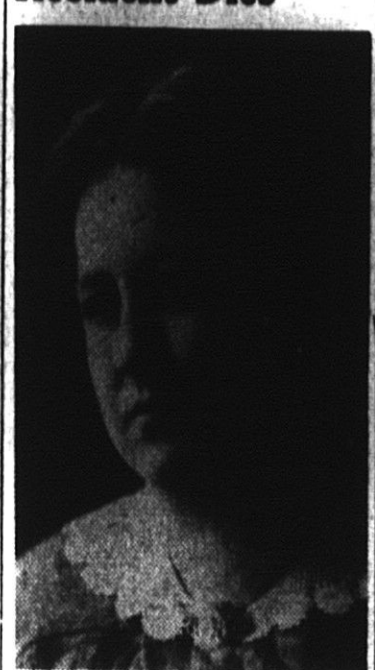

Throughout the blackout, an airplane flew over the city. At first its lights were shining but later they were blacked out as the plane continued to circle over the city.

Paul Vandenberg and Pete Prins who occupied the observation plane reported to Mr. Joldersma that Holland's blackout was almost complete with the exception of plants engaged in war orders. Various air raid wardens reported the presence of the plane.

During the 30-minute test, local police did not receive any emergency calls nor were any accidents reported.

Dr. Kinde said the original board did not favor research work but favored a program of solving problems of which it had knowledge. He stated the purpose of the foundation is to give financial aid to those communities which have projects of their own as the foundation itself has no program.

Praising the efforts of Mr. Vande Bunte and Mr. Ten Have, he said the foundation gives its financial support to communities as a tribute to its leadership. He explained that counties with full-time health departments have received assistance because such a department shows an interest in public health which depends on curative medicine and preventative. He showed colored pictures which outlined the various health programs which are now being carried out in seven Michigan counties, including Allegan county.

An inventory is being made of the local and Grand Haven hospitals to determine the equipment that is needed for the laboratory and x-ray department. Mr. Davis explained that the diagnostic center is installed on a three-year basis with the foundation assuming any resulting deficit and that radiologist and pathologist consultants are brought in on certain days to provide services equivalent to that found in the hospitals of the large cities.

Prof. A. E. Lampen, club president, announced the next meeting will be held Sept. 14 and the club voted to hold an outing later this month. The names of Harry Wiekamp and Russell Friday as new members were presented for second reading.

War Traffic Now Crossing!

If you wanted to drive across a river and you found the bridge already crowded with Army trucks, tanks and guns, you'd cheerfully give them the right of way.

Long Distance telephone lines are bridges of speech, connecting your city with other sections of the land. Today they are jammed with military and war production calls.

It's impossible to enlarge the telephone system enough to handle all the increased volume of calls. Materials are even more urgently needed for war production. So we must make the most efficient use of what we have—with the help of every telephone user.

Here are three simple ways in which you can help keep war calls moving:

1. Make only the most essential Long Distance calls.
2. Keep your conversations as brief as you can.
3. When possible, give the number of the distant telephone you are calling.

The same kind of cooperation will help improve local service, too. Try to keep all calls short. Look up numbers in the directory, and if it's necessary to call information for a number, write it down for future use. Everybody can help save wires for war!

War calls must go through!

Air Patrol Seeks Fifty Members to Form Squadron

Others Begin Actual Flying as Training at Park Field Continues

The Holland civilian air patrol unit has launched a membership campaign to obtain 50 members which will permit it to organize its own squadron. At the present time, the unit is a part of the Muskegon squadron.

Group Comdr. Frederick H. Meuller of Grand Rapids expressed this hope to Charles R. Sligh, Jr., flight commander at a recent C. A. P. meeting in Grand Rapids.

Only those who plan to attend training classes regularly will be urged to join. The importance of the C. A. P. in the war effort is growing fast and sincere participation is necessary, local leaders point out.

Flight instruction and solo time is still at the individual's expense at a cost of $9 per hour or a rate of $66 for eight hours of dual instruction. Solo time cost $6 per hour. With a squadron membership, it is hoped that several groups of perhaps 12 each will be able to share the expense of a plane and thereby make this solo time cheaper and flying available to more members.

The minimum age for membership is 16 years and with parents' consent, students from 16 to 18 years old may take instructions. Those interested in further information should attend a Monday or Thursday meeting of the group at the Park township airport between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. They also may call Mr. Sligh, W. P. Telling or Peter Prins, local flight officers.

Actual flying activity began last week for more members of the C. A. P. Mr. Prins took a check flight and found that even though it has been several years since he has flown, his flight training soon came back to him.

Commander Sligh and Mr. Telling also are beginning flight instructions. Mr. Sligh has soloed before.

The Holland flight attended a recent group mobilization at Muskegon airport. Squadrons from Grand Rapids, Cadillac, Big Rapids, and Muskegon also participated.

Approximately 60 planes flew through the very low ceiling to attend the maneuver and many Muskegon residents were present to witness the flying and drill maneuver.

More than 150 C. A. P. members from the 21 counties which make up Group 638 were on hand to attend the review. Paul Vandenberg and Mr. Prins flew from Holland to Muskegon while the other members drove there in automobiles.

Harmsen-Johnson Vows Spoken in Grand Rapids

An impressive ceremony in the Country House, Grand Rapids, Friday evening united in marriage Miss Miriam Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson of 1910 Jefferson Ave., Grand Rapids, and Sgt. Kenneth Harmsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Harmsen of 92 East 21st St., Holland.

The double ring service was read at 8:30 o'clock by the Rev. William J. Hilmet of Zeeland in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Eleanor Johnson, sister of the bride, played two piano solos and Mrs. Alwin De Pree of Zeeland sang "God Sent You to Me" and "Because." Miss Johnson also played the traditional Lohengrin wedding march.

Ferns and coral and white gladioli formed an attractive setting for the service.

The bride wore an aqua blue tailored suit dress and a bridal corsage. With her costume she wore white accessories and a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

Upon their return from a northern wedding trip the couple will reside in Gadsden, Ala., where Sgt. Harmsen is stationed.

Both the bride and groom are graduates of South high school, Grand Rapids. Mr. Harmsen was employed by the Beckering Construction Co. and supervised some work on the Hope college science building prior to his induction into the army.

en a second thought, for America had plenty of everything.

"After the attack on Pearl harbor salvage materials—discarded iron, steel, rubber, brass, copper, rags—assumed a new importance in America's war effort.

"We do not have enough new materials to produce everything we need to win the war.

"We have always imported rubber. Today the Axis controls 97 per cent of the world's supply of this vitally needed material.

"Our steel industry is operating at a production rate of approximately 84,000,000 tons annually. Its capacity is approximately 90,000,000 tons annually. The deficiency is due largely to lack of scrap iron and steel. Those 6,000,000 additional tons of steel would provide 400,000 combat tanks, or 600,000 anti-aircraft guns, or 1,000 ships.

"The need for aluminum scrap is equally great. It is estimated that the aluminum in 7,700 pots and pans will make one fighter airplane. Every pound of copper, brass, rags and aluminum must likewise be collected and turned over to industry to be remade into new products.

"To obtain these vitally needed salvage materials two fundamental things must be done. Every man, woman and child must be aroused to the importance of salvage materials, and effective machinery for the collection of salvage materials must be set up.

"We have made the necessary arrangements to make the collection. The city trucks will make the rounds during the week. There is no time to waste. The round-up ought to be completed by Tuesday, Aug. 18. I am urging every householder to see if there is not a piece of scrap around that can be salvaged. The need is urgent. We are counting on you. I know the citizens of Holland will not let the salvage committee down."

If you have learned to help others, no one need worry about you.

The promises of God are certain, but they do not mature in ninety days.

Scrap Campaign in City Should Be Finished by Aug. 18, Mayor States

HELP YOUR GROCER KEEP DOWN THE COST OF LIVING

FOR MILLIONS OF AMERICAN FAMILIES there's a store that more than any other typifies this country's spirit of neighborliness—the corner grocery store. Through the years, you have depended upon your grocer for the wholesome, delicious foods that make the American family table the best in the world. You have looked to his store as a reliable supply base . . . to his knowledge of foods as your guide . . . to his fair price policies as your safeguard. In all these responsibilities your grocer has not failed!

Today, as quartermaster to the American family, your food merchant is playing an even more vital role in your life. For in addition to his task of helping keep this a well-fed, healthy nation, he shares the additional responsibility of maintaining prices at or below levels required under the government's Maximum Price Regulation.

Price Control is one of the most drastic economic actions ever taken in this country. It affects more individuals than any other similar governmental ruling before or since the war. It is the citizen's charter of security against rising living costs. And as a patriotic soldier on the home front, you have an obligation to your country to understand the regulation thoroughly!

The General Maximum Price Regulation says that your grocer cannot charge you more for certain goods than the highest prices he charged for those goods in March, 1942. Stores may charge less. Some will charge more for the same thing than others because the regulation puts a ceiling on individual store prices. And many basic foods are not controlled in price at all.

This means that your neighborhood storekeeper as well as the people who supply him are faced with many new and exacting problems. He has had to re-price his merchandise—hundreds or even thousands of items—according to ceiling prices based on his highest March prices. In the larger stores this is a tremendous task. And in the smaller stores—where the records may be incomplete—it is an extremely difficult one.

So give your grocer a break these days. For years he has trusted you—has accommodated you—has been your Good Neighbor Number One. Remember that he still is—that he wants to help win the war just as much as you do, and knows this is one way to do it.

But he's got a big job on his hands. He's got things to learn and understand just as you have—and in many cases he's suffering losses until the whole program gets rolling.

When difficulties arise, you and your grocer should try to iron them out in a friendly manner. When he does a good job, cooperates fully in the difficult task of regulating prices, compliment him . . . let him know that his good work is appreciated. Remember that your grocer is sincerely interested in keeping the cost of living down.

Finally, don't offer to pay more for things you want than the ceiling allows—or buy more than you need. And spread this word among your friends and neighbors. For hoarding may mean empty guns!

Remember, there is no lack of any essential foods. America's reserves are great. Her total resources for food production have not even been scratched. Restrictions now in effect are to prevent unequal distribution.

For more than 73 years, the House of Heinz has had the privilege of working hand in hand with the grocers of America. Today our relationship is closer than ever. In our research laboratories we are developing new products and new preparation methods that will assure a steady supply of fine Heinz foods. Like all products that bear the famous keystone label, they will contain only the choicest ingredients prepared in the small-batch, old-fashioned way to time-tried and treasured recipes.

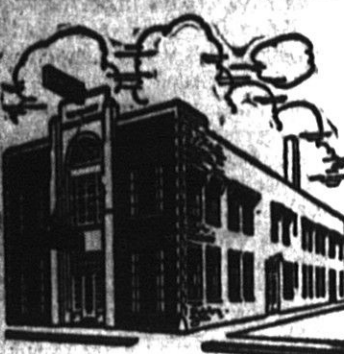

So remember, you can continue to look to your corner grocer with confidence in the days that lie ahead. He will continue to supply you with the finest products of America's fields and orchards at the most reasonable prices possible! For that is his way of doing business.

CAN YOU MATCH THAT?

A Nashville, Tenn., prohibitionist has issued a call to his fellow dries to boycott all automobile tires made synthetically of alcohol. "Fellow prohibitionists," he shouted, "let us refuse to use this product of an evil industry in any way, shape, form or fashion as we have in the past. We had rather walk than ride on tires made of alcohol!"

If that can be matched even in the not inconsiderable literature of fanaticism it would be worth delighted attention. In the days when H. L. Mencken was editing a magazine he used to devote a section of his publication to the subject of "Americans," a department that he filled up with just such incidents from the real life of the nation with which the newspapers, provided him. Mencken's sardonic soul would have delighted in this incident reported from Tennessee.

It seems never to have occured to the man from Nashville that every gallon of grain alcohol turned into synthetic rubber is that much less alcohol; that drinking men and women can pour down their thirsty throats.

In fact, if people like the Nash-villite citizen could persuade the government that it was necessary to use all the alcohol for rubber, the temperance problem would be solved at one lick. Instead of reproaching the manufacture of rubber from alcohol,

this prohibitionist ought to encourage it.

It would be fascinating to learn whether this Nashville fanatic would be willing to carry his idea to its logical conclusion. For if the war lasts long enough, our winning or losing it may depend on rubber made from alcohol. It is not too difficult to offer to walk rather than use tires made of alcohol—at least not for a fanatic with the right spirit. But how about losing the war and living in a slave world?

It would not be safe to put even that past a fanatic. Fanaticism is at one and the same time

one of the most fascinating and one of the most dangerous forces in the world. In a man like the Nashville super-prohibitionist it merely raises a delighted smile;

the world would be much poorer in unconscious humor if such men did not live. In men like Hitler and Yamamoto fanaticism becomes a deadly peril to all people who themselves are sensible. The average German or Japanese is a person of good common sense, but he has to suffer and die for fanatics like that without so much as having a voice in the decision. The old Greek ideal of

By Henry Geerlings

There is quite a striking difference between Isaac and his father Abraham. The latter was daring and adventurous and strong and resourceful and full of initiative. Isaac was rather passive and submissive and mild. He was not calculated to be a founder of a nation and a leader of men. He never would have gone out from his country not knowing where he was going, for the sake of a great idea. He could not have laid foundations. He could not have blazed trails, inspired followers, discovered new territory, built cities and made a name for himself in the constructive processes of making a civilization. But then the world has never been made up of that kind of people. We do not need them. We could not use so many. We must have some Isaacs. The world needs men who live quiet and meditative lives. He was not a man who caused trouble for the rest of the world by his striking out into areas where he did not belong. He was a man who could mind his own business and do it well. However, it does seem rather strange that he should be so pronouncedly different from his father, that he did not by a vigorous personality carry down the name and fame of his father. But great men do not always have great sons. There are few families like the Adamases in this country. There was not a second Abraham Lincoln.

We have a very interesting incident in the life of Isaac. He really does not appear in our lesson to great advantage, if we have the right point of view. He was largely blessed in the ancient sense with great flocks and herds. In the country of Gerar he became quite prosperous as a wheat-grower and herdsman as to provoke the jealousy of the Philistines. They did what all envious people seek to do—they began to try to make it uncomfortable for Isaac, to inaugurate methods of irritation, things that would start friction in the hope of getting rid of him. They stopped up the wells which his father had dug and which his own servants had reopened. This was serious business in that country where water was scarce and where it was so much needed by man and beast. Here is where Isaac rises to real greatness, a greatness that is all too little appreciated even in our day. He refused to quarrel. He refused to fight for his rights. There are times we have no doubt, when we must fight for our rights, but then there are times when it is better not to do so. Peace may be infinitely better than war even though we may have to sacrifice some of our rights and some of our property for the sake of peace. We can afford sometimes to be imposed upon.

War is a frightfully expensive operation. It costs a vast deal more in every way than the world can ever afford to pay. Peace is always profitable even though there be some loss. Surely our modern civilization should know that now. We need to do only a little thinking to see the mess we are now in by reason of the present war and who knows when we are ever going to get out of it.

Isaac sets the world a good example in his attitude toward and action with respect to the Philistines. If he could not live in peace with them he could move on and find peace. He could dig more wells. It would be a strange case if we could not always dig more wells and so save trouble with neighbor nations.

We have in this incident of Isaac with the Philistines a suggestion of the causes—some of the causes—of war. These causes seem to persist through the ages. We have the overpopulation cause and the property cause and the general commercial cause and the territorial cause. We have difficulty with debts and financial obligations among the nations. We have great jealousy among the nations so that we scarcely know what nation is a friend of another nation. We have heard of rumors of war and we are in a terrible conflict today. We are living on the edge of fear. We do not know what is around the corner. And yet we are comforted in the fact that we did not start this war. We have been forced into it.

Isaac received his reward. He seemed to lose much in his insisting on peaceful practices, but in the end God came to him with a far-reaching promise that would give him vastly more than he could have possessed by putting up a fight for the wells which were rightfully his. God's presence assured him of future greatness. It was but natural that a man of his characteristics would worship God in return for his presence and promise.

War Bond Sales Decline in July

Sales of war savings bonds and stamps in Holland during July fell below sales of June, Frank M. Lievens, executive chairman of the committee to promote the sale of stamps and bonds, reported today.

The sales amounted to $93,618.25 in comparison to the June sale of $154,592.44 or $60,974.19 less.

Mr. Lievens pointed out that Holland had an unusual record of sales in May and June but the sales fell below the July quota. He said that prior to July 1, the government had worked towards a goal of one billion dollars in sales and that July was the first month in which this quota was to have been met throughout the country.

He also claimed that the southern half of Ottawa county is behind the northern part of the county in the sale of bonds on a per capita basis.

Numerous local firms, he reported, have installed the salary allotment plan for their employees. These firms and the approximate number of employees follow:

Armour Leather Co., 225; Baker Furniture, Inc., 350; Chris-Craft Corp., 500; De Pree Co., 150; Hart & Cooley Manufacturing Co., 450; H. J. Heinz Co., 300; Holland Furniture Co., 160; Holland Hitch Co., 350; Holland Precision Parts, 450; Holland-Racine Shoes, Inc., 350; Security Sportswear Co., 100; Charles R. E. Dunn Manufacturing Co., 40; Holland Aniline Dye Co., 35.

Mr. Lievens said about 12 of these firms have over 90 per cent of their employees enrolled in the salary allotment plan which entitles them to fly the treasury department's "minute man" flag. The big job of the committee, he pointed out, is to have these employees subscribe 10 per cent of their salaries to war bond purchases.

He has received a new supply of "10 per cent" buttons for those who are investing 10 per cent of their income in the purchase of bonds and stamps.

Prior to the outbreak of the war he was a naval recruiter for two years in Quincy, Ill.

British Seaman, Who Has Been on Convoy Duty, Visits Cousin Here

Taking advantage of a furlough and relief from his duties with the British royal navy, Wallace Richards, 22, of London, England, is visiting this week in Holland with his cousin, Miss Lois Van Landegend, 49 West Eighth St.

With the rank of leading seaman Mr. Richards has been in the British navy for almost seven years. He has been stationed aboard one of the 50 destroyers which were given to the English government in exchange for bases in this hemisphere sometime ago. This particular ship has been engaged in convoy duty.

He plans to conclude his visit here Saturday and return to his ship. Although this isn't his first visit in the United States it is his first inland visit.

It also is the first time that Miss Van Landegend has met any of her English relatives although she has corresponded with them for years. Mrs. Ade Van Landegend, mother of Miss Van Landegend, who died in December, 1940, and Mrs. Emily Sanger Richards, also deceased, and mother of Mr. Richards, were sisters.

Mr. Richards visited the United States three years ago, coming here aboard one of the ships which conveyed the vessel which brought King George VI and Queen Elizabeth to America to tour Canada and the United States. During a previous visit in this country, Mr. Richards visited New York city and Boston.

Of his many experiences with the enemy since the war broke out, the most interesting occurred Oct. 6, 1939, when the H. M. S. South Hampton was bombed at Firth-of-Forth, Scotland. He was stationed aboard the ship but luckily escaped injury from the bombing. This was one of the first ships to be bombed after the outbreak of the war in Europe.

He will observe his birthday Aug. 17 which also will be the 78th birthday for Tyler Van Landegend, father of Miss Van Landegend. Mr. Richards has found Holland a "very nice place." He is greatly impressed with its cleanliness and its smallness in comparison with that of London.

He also is much impressed by the hospitality shown him by a Grand Rapids resident Sunday morning. Scheduled to arrive in Grand Rapids at 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

day and having wired ahead that he would be there at that time, his train arrived at 2:30 a.m. Sunday but there was no one to meet him at the depot.

While traveling on the train, he made the acquaintance of a Grand Rapids resident who invited him to spend the night there. At 2:30 a.m., the family provided him with sandwiches, a bed and breakfast the next morning. Later in the morning, a member of the family drove him downtown to meet Miss Van Landegend.

This is the building formerly used for a barber shop. Mr. Veen expects to expend $500.00 to remodel, which amount includes the necessary plumbing and sewer connections.

The Appeal Board to whom this matter was referred by the Council at their previous meeting recommends that Mr. Veen's request be denied as it is contrary to the Zoning Ordinance.

It is their intention to use the first floor for factory purposes and the second floor for offices.

In this connection, Ald. Arendshorst reported that he had been approached by residents in this vicinity stating that if the Holland Hitch Co. expands at this location, the property owners

Sajet Relates How He Escaped When Gestapo Closed In

Resistance Followed Panic in Netherlands Local Audience Told

The dramatic story of how he lived 13 months under German occupation in The Netherlands before escaping to England with two of his sons and four other countrymen in a small boat during the summer of 1941, was told by Dr. R. H. Sajet, formerly a prominent physician and businessman in Amsterdam, before approximately 250 persons in the Woman's Literary club Friday night.

Dr. Wynand Wichers, president of Hope college, presided at the meeting which was sponsored by the Netherlands Pioneer and Historical foundation in cooperation with the museum committee of the Woman's club.

The singing of "Netherlands Volkslied," in Dutch and "God Bless America," by the audience, was led by Clarence J. Valving, Chamber of Commerce president, with Mrs. W. C. Snow of Hope college at the piano. Mrs. Beulah Harper Dunwoody sang in Dutch the vocal solo, "Wilhelmus Van Nassauwen," accompanied by Mrs. Snow.

Opening his talk with a brief message in Dutch which pleased the audience of local citizens, the majority of whom were of Dutch inheritance, Dr. Sajet first spoke of The Netherlands before the war, describing the people as peace-loving and progressive, with a passion for freedom, their energies engaged in securing good housing conditions, fair government, and reclaiming more land from the sea for the betterment of the country.

The Nazi invasion in May of 1940 came unexpectedly, he said, and for a time the people were dazed. A mild panic followed in Amsterdam, many whole families committing suicide in their confusion and grief as the Nazis took over the country.

"One could almost name the moment when the panic was conquered and the people recovered their spirit of resistance," Dr. Sajet declared. "They found themselves, and have continued to resist in every way possible."

"We lived under a despotism, in which even the town councils were abandoned, newspapers were controlled and children were trapped into betraying their parents for breaking the rules against listening to foreign broadcasts. But we learned to read between the lines in the press, and those who were caught and punished for spreading the true news, were replaced by others," he explained.

Dr. Sajet, who is of Jewish extraction, told of the persecution of that race, the official discrimination against Jews and the mistreatment in their homes. "You may well be proud of your Dutch inheritance when I tell you of a general strike called in Amsterdam in protest to ill treatment by the Nazis of Jewish boys," he said.

Dr. Sajet related several incidents showing how intolerable life under the Nazis had become for men of his race and profession. With his practice ruined and his position as city official denied, Dr. Sajet fled from his home as he was about to be rounded up by the Gestapo, and after making careful plans, left the country in an 18-foot open boat with a small motor.

The seven in the party, one a stowaway, attempting to cross the 150 miles of the North sea to England, finally were picked up by a British ship and taken to England. Dr. Sajet told how two of his sons escaped with him, but he learned of the death of his youngest son upon his arrival in England. His wife and small daughter were left in The Netherlands.

Dr. Sajet is convinced that the spirit of freedom still lives in Holland and that the German armies will be crushed and his country will be free again. Telling his story in excellent English, he occasionally lapsed into Dutch to illustrate a point. He answered several questions put to him by interested members of the audience at the conclusion of his lecture.

Following an appeal by Cornelius Vander Meulen, treasurer, a collection was taken for the Queen Wilhelmina fund, which is used for the relief of Netherlands refugees.

Dutch Aviators Wish to Return

Having enjoyed their visit to Holland Thursday, six members of the Royal Netherlands naval air force who escaped when the Japanese invaded Java and are now receiving instruction in radio telegraphy with the army at Scott field Ill., expressed a desire to return here again at a later date.

They expressed this wish to Mayor Henry Geerlings, their host for the day, just before boarding their bomber plane at Grand Rapids for the return flight to Scott field. Mayor Geerlings said he would be glad to have them return.

The party left Scott field about 8:35 a.m. Thursday and made a brief stop in Chicago to pick up Maj. J. R. Johnston, public relations officer at Scott field, before landing at the Grand Rapids airport where the army bomber flew over Holland to give the visitors a view of the city.

They were met at the airport by Mayor Geerlings, Prof. Bruce Raymond, George Ranger, C. Neal Steketee, Sr., and C. Neal Steketee, Jr., and Clyde Geerlings with their automobiles and were driven to the Macatawa Bay Yacht club to attend the weekly luncheon of the Holland Rotary club as guests of the Holland Chamber of Commerce.

One hundred and two persons, including many guests, were present at the noon luncheon. Mayor Geerlings introduced Major Johnston who spoke briefly on the training they are receiving at the air field. He said the group was anxious to return to the battle front.

Major Johnston introduced the Dutch sailors who sang two songs, one in English and the other in Dutch. The sailors were Sgt. Henk Costema, Jack van Barneveld, Jaap Liewen, Peter Engels, Fred Meyer and Arman Dietz. Meyer and Dietz are natives of Java and the others are from The Netherlands.

Army men who accompanied them to Holland were Maj. C. F. Carter, pilot, executive officer at Scott field; Maj. Herbert Horton, co-pilot operations officer at the field; Capt. M. S. Hillman, officer in charge of foreign students; Second Lieut. C. K. Jaffe, acting public relations officer; Corp. Hardin Walsh, official Scott field photographer.

Following the luncheon, an exhibition in water skiing was given. About 2 p.m., the return trip to Grand Rapids was started as it was necessary to cut short their visit because of a low ceiling. The bomber took off from the Grand Rapids airport about 2:35 p.m.

Among the other guests at the Rotary club luncheon were Bishop Lewis Whittemore, Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Grand Rapids; Dr. R. E. Carr pastor of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Chicago; the Rev. Arthur Barnhart, Holland; Noble Jones, St. Louis, Mo.; banker, Albert Hentschel, St. Louis; C. A. Jackson, Jackson, Mich.; Dr. John Bannhage, Madura, South India; the Rev. Victor Blekkink, Cohoes, N. Y.; John Walker, Herrin, Ill.; J. G. Quick, registrar at University of Pittsburgh; Dr. Milton Hoffman and the Rev. Laverne Vander Hill both of the New Brunswick, N. J., seminary.

Sgt. Costema reported he escaped the Japs in Java by flying to Australia. Others in the group moved out by ships. Engels, Van Barneveld and Liewen were stationed on a cruiser that fled from The Netherlands when that country was invaded by the Germans. They later accompanied Princess Juliana when she went to Canada.

Engels and Liewen declared they missed death by five minutes when the Japs bombed the Soerabaya naval base in Java. Immediately after their transfer from submarine to air force duty, the submarine took part in the sea battle and was sunk after sinking four Jap transports. All expressed eagerness to get another crack at the Germans and Japanese.

Sgt. Sikkil "Makes News" In Paper in Australia

Mr. and Mrs. William Sikkil of 63 West 17th St. have received a letter from their son, William A. Sikkil in Australia, containing a clipping from an Australian paper showing him in three different poses on duty with the military police. Since the pictures were published Sikkil has been promoted to the rank of staff sergeant and does more office work than patrol duty.

The pictures show Sgt. Sikkil leaving an army truck with a group of his buddies, on patrol duty "somewhere in an Australian city" and examining the driver's permit of a motorist at the curb. The military police, distinguished by their "MP" arm-bands, patrol the streets armed with a billy club similar to the U.S. policeman's night stick. They are carefully selected for their physique, general education and appearance. Sgt. Sikkil has "censored" the clipping by erasing names of towns and other valuable information contained in stories on the back side of the clipping to enable it to come through by mail.

Another "bomb" caused road damage in the south end of the city and a road repair crew was sent there. "Gas bombs" landed in the southwest part of the city and a decontamination squad under Andrew Hyma was sent there.

A sewer in the west part of the city was "damaged by another bomb" and a crew under Mr. Dalman made the necessary repairs. Another "bomb" damaged a gas main and a repair crew from the Michigan Gas and Electric Co. was dispatched to make the repairs.

A building at Seventh St. and Central Ave. was "demolished by another bomb" and a demolition crew was sent there to "pull down a threatening wall" which had been left standing.

The control center received a report that persons had "been injured by bombs" falling near Cherry St. and Central Ave. A medical unit which consisted of two doctors, Dr. John K. Winter and Dr. Nelson H. Clark, and two nurses, Mrs. William Meengs and Mrs. Robert Wilson, with Dykstra's ambulance, responded.

The call was received at 7:35 p.m. and the unit reached there at 7:59 p.m. Upon receiving the call, Dr. Vander Velde called Mrs. John Van Dam, nurses deputy for Ottawa county, who dispatched her two nurses. He also notified John Van Dyke, transportation officer, who sent Dykstra's ambulance to the scene.

Three auxiliary policemen were stationed at each entrance to the city. When calls were received at the control center for additional help, more officers were sent out. Eight local Sea scouts served as messengers at the control center.

The airplane also flew over the city to give air raid wardens opportunity to "spot" it. Several made reports to the control center but others forgot to do so. A squad of auxiliary police toured the city to see if all wardens were at their assigned posts.

As the public will participate in Wednesday night's blackout, full instructions for their benefit will be announced early next week.

Practice Alert in Holland Realistic

Holland's volunteer civilian defense workers held a "practice alert" Friday at 7:30 p.m. under realistic emergency conditions in preparation for the "blackout" was held yesterday.

Auxiliary policemen, air raid wardens, medical units and other service groups functioned in a manner that pleased Alfred C. Joldersma and members of the civilian defense program.

"We were well satisfied with the results shown," Mr. Joldersma declared. "The organization functioned perfectly and it was a very good alert."

All activities were conducted from the central control center under Mr. Joldersma's supervision. Assisting him were members of his staff which included Ed Slooter, who took incoming calls; Fire Chief Andrew Klomparsen, who dispatched fire trucks to scenes of "fires"; Charles Vos, chief of public works and utilities and Louis C. Dalman; Dr. O. Vander Velde, in charge of the medical units; T. P. Rhodes, chief air raid warden; E. V. Hartman, who detailed auxiliary police for special duty; Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff; Mayor Henry Geerlings, Prof. Bruce Raymond and City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker, the latter three being members of the civilian defense council.

The "alert" was given added realism as an "enemy plane" flew over the city. It dropped "fire bombs," resulting in "fires" at the Baker Furniture, Inc. plant, Bay View Furniture Co. plant and the Pere Marquette depot.

Upon receiving reports of the "fires," fire trucks were dispatched there and later the warden reported "fires" under control.

Another "bomb" caused road damage in the south end of the city and a road repair crew was sent there. "Gas bombs" landed in the southwest part of the city and a decontamination squad under Andrew Hyma was sent there.

A sewer in the west part of the city was "damaged by another bomb" and a crew under Mr. Dalman made the necessary repairs. Another "bomb" damaged a gas main and a repair crew from the Michigan Gas and Electric Co. was dispatched to make the repairs.

Saugatuck Couple, Wed 50 Years, Typical Americans

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Rulley

Saugatuck, Aug. 13 (Special)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Rulley held open house at the Saugatuck Woman's club Saturday afternoon in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. Many friends called to congratulate them.

Punch and wafers were served by Mrs. J. Ethan Allen and Mrs. Russell Madden. Gifts and a number of cards were received by the honored couple. Mrs. Rulley wore a white dress with a blue hairbow and Mr. Rulley wore a white flannel suit. Assisting at the reception was their daughter, Janet Rulley, and their granddaughters, Betty Weymueller. A family dinner at Edgewater Inn climaxed the 50th anniversary celebration.

The Rulley's are a remarkable, typically American family. Mr. Rulley, a native of Virginia and a graduate of Purdue university, has been connected with wholesale dry goods firms a great part of his life. He was married to Mrs. Clara North at Jonesboro, Ind., Aug. 8, 1892 by the Rev. Fred Radcliff, an English clergyman of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Rulley, a graduate of Northwestern university, is an accomplished musician and for many years taught piano. She has also written and published several novels and at one time wrote a regular column for a church magazine published in Cincinnati. She has always been active in church work, not only in her own denomination, the Episcopal, but wherever she could help. When she first came to Saugatuck she was organist and choir leader in the local Methodist church. She attended teachers' college at the Florida state normal college for women at Tallahassee and received a life certificate after she was 60 years of age.

Mrs. Rulley is the mother of nine children, six of whom are living. Robert, Jr., is employed by the government under civil service and is superintendent of trucks and cranes at the Panama canal. Agnes, wife of Albert Weymueller of Chicago, died two years ago.

Elizabeth, Mrs. L. P. Miller, has taught school in Hawaii for a number of years. At the time of the Pearl harbor attack Dec. 7 she heard the roar of guns but thought it was "the real thing" until she heard the radio news. She finished her year's teaching in Hawaii but has since returned to the States with her family and will teach in the Pensacola schools this coming year.

Janet is supervisor in the Jones Clinic in the Children's Memorial hospital in Chicago. Burney was a member of the crew of the Ford Motor Co. steamer, Lake Oswego, which was torpedoed while en route to Iceland last spring with a cargo of Ford products. A government telegram to the Rulley's read, "It is feared the entire crew was lost."

Rebecca, Mrs. Charles Parker, is a public health nurse in Kauai, one of the smaller of the Hawaiian islands. John died in infancy. Stuart is in service in the chemical laboratory at the army headquarters in Honolulu. David is in the coast guard and has been promoted to the rank of first class photographer and is in charge of the photographic laboratory at St. Louis.

Completing the roster of family members in the service of their country is Robert III, a grandson, who is a tool and die maker at a government plant in Quincy, Mass., and Clyde, another grandson, who is a navy electrician stationed at Minneapolis. Agnes' son, Carl, will soon be inducted into the signal corps.

The family writes a "round robin" letter every week but Mrs. Rulley says that since the war began they do not send it to Hawaii as it takes too long for the censors to read it. The Rulley's now spend the winters in Pensacola and the rest of the year at their Pine Crest home in Baldhead park, Saugatuck.

Former Holland Convict Caught

Returned to Jackson From Texas; Escaped From Prison in 1918

Jackson, August 13 — Oscar Raymond Olin, who escaped from the old Southern Michigan prison 24 years ago, was being returned today after being traced through fingerprints required under wartime safety measures.

Olin, sentenced from Ottawa county in 1914 to a term of 20 to 40 years on a criminal assault charge, escaped from prison in 1918 by hiding in an empty coal car as it left the prison grounds. He was discovered at Galveston, Tex., through fingerprints required when he applied for a job at a dry dock.

Olin at first denied his identity. Confronted with the fingerprint proof he admitted his identity. He said he had spent three years since his escape working as a policeman at Wichita Falls, Tex., and at one time served as a special policeman at the Galveston wharves.

Ottawa circuit court records show that Olin was sentenced Jan. 26, 1914 Orien S. Cross, Holland attorney, who was then circuit judge, recommended he serve the minimum 20-year sentence.

The alleged offense occurred in Holland Nov. 30, 1913, and involved a 14-year-old girl. Sentinels show Olin was 18 years old when he was sentenced. When sentence was pronounced Olin said he would not go to court and threatened to hang himself.

According to the newspaper records, Olin eloped with the girl and they registered as brother and sister in a Holland hotel. They were arrested the following day as they boarded a ship here for Chicago. Judge Cross contended in passing sentence that had they reached Chicago, Olin would have sold the girl into white slavery.

Women Needed to Work On Surgical Dressings

Mrs. J. E. Telling, chairman of the Ottawa county Red Cross chapter, today appealed to local women to give assistance to the making of surgical dressings. She said the chapter received a quota of 69,000 surgical dressings with a request from the government that it be filled as quickly as possible.

Mrs. Telling pointed out it is the "patriotic duty" of these women who have taken instructions in making surgical dressings to attend these classes. Those who do not know when to attend are asked to call Mrs. Willis Diekenema.

There are numerous women who signed civilian defense cards to make surgical dressings but have not reported for instructions. She said they should gain their instructions and help the Red Cross in filling this and future surgical dressing quotas.

Mrs. Helen F. Sencer of Grand Rapids Tuesday began her duties as executive secretary of the Ottawa county Red Cross chapter, succeeding Mrs. J. E. Holmes of Spring Lake who resigned a few months ago.

Trial in G.H. of Former Local Man Continued

Grand Haven, Aug. 13 (Special)—The justice court trial of Alfred Edling, 30, 21 Franklin St., formerly of Holland, scheduled to be held today before Justice George V. Hoffer after being adjourned Aug. 7, has been adjourned indefinitely. Edling is charged with drunken driving. Today's adjournment was ordered because the attending physician is out of the city.

Clubs in Ottawa To Enter Show

Grand Haven, Aug. 13 — Ottawa county 4-H club members are preparing for contests which will decide county teams for state-wide contests at the state 4-H show at Michigan State college in September.

L. R. Arnold, agricultural agent, said there will be teams in poultry, crops, dairy and garden judging in the boys' division. In the girls' division there will be clothing, canning and food judging and three girls have been invited to take part in the style revue held at that time.

The 4-H program calls for exhibits at the Berlin fair. Garden exhibits will predominate. About 40 head of cattle will be displayed. Other exhibits in livestock consist of pigs, poultry, sheep and rabbits. In crops, potatoes will over shadow other exhibits.

The Arnold Schaefer club has the distinction of supplying all exhibits in the first and second year handicraft for the state show. Boys of this club did an extraordinary job in woodwork last winter. The state 4-H club leader who judged in the county last May praised their work highly. Alvin Laarman, Beechwood school, placed an individual exhibit in sixth year work; Cornelia Cause, a 7th year member from the same school, has an article which was selected and the fifth year exhibits selected were made by Jay Weener and Lloyd Van Raalte of the same school.

The arrest was made about 12:15 a.m. today after police were called to 14th St. and Maple Ave. They picked up Hellenthal as he emerged from between two houses about a block west of there. He was in jail less than 10 minutes after police got the call.

Taken to police headquarters, Hellenthal, according to the officers, not only admitted that he stood in front of a window at the home of Walter Morris, 334 Maple Ave., but also that he turned in the false alarm last July 30 from the fire alarm box near Van Raalte school. Because Hellenthal answered the description of the person who was seen pulling the alarm, he was questioned about it.

Police said Hellenthal also admitted stealing three pairs of sun glasses from a car which was parked on 14th St. and stealing another pair of sun glasses from a car on a previous occasion.

Trio Caught Here For Theft of Car

Allegan, Aug. 13—Arrested Saturday afternoon in a Holland restaurant where they were eating a dinner furnished by the Holland police department, three Louisville, Ky., youths are being held in jail here, pending arrival of Indiana authorities to return them to that state in connection with the alleged theft of a car from New Albany, Ind., last Thursday.

The boys identified themselves as Barney Pettett, 17, Tom Harmon, 15, and Ernest McGraw, 15. They were arrested after abandoning the car near tourist cabins operated by Bernard Bosman on US-31, two miles south of Holland.

According to Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff, the two boys came to Holland and began begging at various homes for something to eat. When they came to the home of Police Officer William Bouman, he became suspicious and took them to police headquarters.

Not knowing of the stolen car, Holland police questioned the trio who denied they were wanted by authorities. They were given an order and went to a nearby restaurant to get something to eat.

Later Deputy Sheriff Ben Sternberg of Filmore township went to police headquarters to ask about the three boys, saying they were wanted for abandoning the stolen car. Upon being picked up, they denied being the ones who left the car.

However, they were taken before Mr. Bosman who identified them. Sheriff Louis Johnson reported. Police said the trio admitted stealing the car and driving to Cincinnati, Toledo, Detroit, Lansing, Grand Rapids. They were en route to Chicago when the car ran out of gasoline.

He was assessed a $75 fine and costs of $6.55 which he arranged to pay. His driver's license was confiscated to be sent to the secretary of state for revocation.
The charge against Kimber resulted from an automobile accident Sunday at 12:10 a.m. at Eighth St. and River Ave. where his car crashed into the rear of the car of Henry Cook, 238 West 18th St.
Mrs. Minnie Cook, 42, wife of Mr. Cook, is reported to have suffered a neck injury. Mr. Cook who was driving west on Eighth St. had stopped his car for the traffic light when the accident occurred.
Simon Harkema, 72, route 1, Holland, received a traffic violation ticket for running a stop sign after a truck-automobile accident Saturday at 10:47 a.m. at Ninth St. and Columbia Ave.
Harkema was driving his truck east on Ninth St. Driver of the car was John Cecil Zylman, 19, 122 Columbia, traveling north on Columbia Ave. Harkema told police he was watching some children approaching from the south and he failed to notice the stop sign.
An accident Saturday near Eighth St. and Central Ave. involved cars driven by Ben Westerhof, 53 East 18th St., and Cornelia Wolrding, route 6, Holland.
Cars driven by Ruth Pillinger Kregel, route 4, Holland, and Cornie Koetsier, 46 West 20th St., were in an accident Sunday at 18th St. and Washington Blvd.
She was driving west on 18th St. and Koetsier was driving north on Washington Ave.

MBYC Skippers Receive Regatta Racing Trophies
Edgar Orr and O. W. Lowry of the Macatawa Bay Yacht club were on hand Sunday at the close of the West Michigan Yachting association regatta at Muskegon to receive trophies won in regatta events. Orr received the 22 square meter trophy for Friday's Macatawa-Muskegon race and Lowry received the cruising class trophy.
Delay caused by unfavorable winds Sunday afternoon and a series of protests to heckle judges made the trophy presentation wait until almost 7 p.m.
Bob Sligh of Macatawa in his crescent "Dipsy Doodle" came in third in a Sunday morning race and second in Saturday's race.

A Better Looking ROOF ... FOR Less Money
A roof of RU-BER-OLD Tex-Tab Shingles looks a lot more expensive than it really is. These colorful shingles are charmingly textured with wood-like graining. The natural-colored mineral granules make them safely fire-resistant. The heavy asphalt coating over tough felt provides durable waterproof protection with minimum maintenance cost. The comparatively small tabs make RU-BER-OLD Tex-Tab Shingles practically windproof. Here's a lot of roof for little money. In-spect our samples and learn how low our prices are.

Combine Beauty And Patriotism
"At first blush it may seem strange to say that, in patronizing beauty shops during these trying days, women are serving their country. But they are," it was pointed out today by operators of the Holland Beauty Shoppe, 189 1/2 River Ave., who maintain that careful grooming and attractive feminine charm are every woman's patriotic duty.
With the help of the deft fingers of a beautician women will be ready to tackle any job whether it be organized war service, running a family or pounding a typewriter, with the invincible spirit that asks for, and gives, no quarter. Beauty operators offer this wartime advice, "Keep your chin up but see that it is soft and smooth, keep your thumbs up but make sure that they are well manicured and keep your head up but see that it is crowned with a halo of permanent curls."
Hazel L. Kozlay, editor of a well-known hairdressers' magazine says, "This is a time for tonics, not resignation; for perking up, not letting down. In the midst of whatever increased activity women may find themselves because of the war program, their beauty routine now requires greater emphasis than it ever has. Their family friends and male associates who are thrust into the thick of the fighting expect them to be on the alert and as smart and beautiful as ever. A woman's appearance is an expression of her efficiency and state of mind."
"This is a part of woman's war job. And this spirit of self-determination will bring us all out of the offensive against barbarism as better men and women, for we shall have demonstrated that we can maintain and improve respect and admiration at the same time that we fight for and win our country's highest aims."
In accordance with the trend toward patriotism and beauty the Holland Beauty Shoppe staff offers efficient service and latest ideas in hair styles. The shoppe also has complete lines of cosmetics sold under its own trade name. Robert Cox is owner and manager.
