School Board Sets Tuition for Outside Students

Rural Districts to Be Reimbursed for All or Part of Sums Requested

Tuition charges of $75 a year for non-resident students in grades 9 through 12 and charges of $60 for non-resident students coming from schools in which lower grades are closed, were set by the Board of Education at its regular meeting Monday night.

Supt. C. C. Crawford explained that mandatory tuition charges for the upper grades are determined by subtracting the amount of State Aid per child enrolled or $138 from last year's per capita cost, increased by 25 per cent.

The 1947-48 per capita cost increased by 25 per cent was $213.43. This amount minus $138 equals $75.43. Crawford also pointed out that rural districts can be reimbursed up to $75 on such tuition charges, depending on the worth or valuation of the district.

Elementary tuition for those non-resident students coming from schools in which the grades are closed must be the per capita cost minus $118. Holland's per capita cost for 1947-48 was $170.74. This amount less $118 equals $52.74. Rural districts are reimbursed $50 for pupils in closed grades.

Crawford explained that the Holland school system has about 530 non-resident students in the upper grades and about 30 in the seventh and eighth grades. He explained that the new State Aid law is considerably changed from last year in that it places the responsibility of education on the school district, rather than on the parents. Last year, the board charged $15 above the state payment. This amount was paid either by the district or the parents.

Crawford also called attention to two vital issues facing Michigan voters in the fall election. One calls for the repeal of the sales tax diversion fund for schools. He explained this legislation had done much for Holland, and allowed the local system to compete with other systems in teachers' salaries. He said Holland benefited approximately $100,000 by this amendment.

He said the second issue is to change the legislation governing 15-mill tax limitation, repealing the two-thirds majority to a simple majority and extending the five-year limitation to 15 or 20 years.

He suggested the Citizens School committee probably should be called in to consider the importance of these two issues.

Adrian Slikkers, former Hope basketball star, has been named basketball coach at South Haven high school, it was announced by school authorities. Slikkers had served in an assistant capacity to Tom Slaughter at South Haven for the last two years.

The move was made when Slaughter accepted a teaching position at Western Michigan college at Kalamazoo.

Slikkers, a graduate of Holland Christian High and Hope college, coached basketball for two years at Coopersville, before leaving for service in the Navy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Slikkers of 486 Washington Ave.

Two Barbers Fined On Licensing Count

Grand Haven, Aug. 12 (Special)—A Hudsonville barber and his employee paid fines Wednesday in Justice George V. Hoffer's court on charges involving an unlicensed barber.

Albert Marlink, 46, paid $35 fine and $3.10 costs on a charge of employing a barber who is not licensed by the state, and his employee, Walter Vander Wulp, 31, paid similar fine and costs on a charge of practicing barbering without a state license.

Complaint was made by Fred Schow of the state board of barbers.

State Agents Tagging Boats at Lake Macatawa

The Michigan department of revenue is replenishing the harbor fund.

State agents have been in Lake Macatawa tagging boats that have not paid the state registration fee as required by a new state law.

Owners of boats which are tagged must pay the fee within 72 hours.

Meanwhile, Holland Coast Guard are continuing their routine inspection of fire extinguishers, life jackets and registration cards of all boats more than 16 feet long.

The Coast Guard began these inspections two months ago.

Park Attendance Passes One Million

Total estimated attendance at Holland State Park so far this season is 1,234,000, according to official figures released today.

The season includes the time the park was opened to accommodate persons for picnics and with trailers during Tulip Time.

Only three parks in the state have passed the million mark. They are Holland, Grand Haven and Bay City Parks. The Bay City park is located on Saginaw Bay.

Meanwhile, attendance figures for Saturday were 15,000 and Sunday 24,000. Officials pointed out this was an average week-end in spite of cold water which prohibited swimming. Officials said most persons were content to sun themselves over the two days.

A total of 90,500 persons visited the park last week. The "no swimming" sign was out most of the week because of strong winds which stirred up an undertow and kept the water temperature in the high fifties and low sixties.

The tent area at the local oval is about half filled and the trailer stalls are jammed, officials said.

Court Halts Work On Water Supply

Allegan, Aug. 12—Construction of a water storage tank, a new well and water meters to boost Allegan's water supply was snarled in legal entanglements Wednesday.

Circuit court Judge Raymond Smith issued a temporary injunction halting the city from issuing water supply bonds to finance the improvements.

The plaintiffs said the bond issue requires a three-fifths majority vote for approval while the City of Allegan claims only a simple majority is needed to issue the bonds.

Allegan voters approved the bond issued, up to $25,000, by a 585 to 438 vote in an election held July 13.

Plaintiffs are Oliver Hawyard, Edward Whitney, Glen Thompson, Floyd J. Rockwell, Joseph Mosier and Charles Feek.

Ex-Water Commissioner Dies at Health Center

Douglas, Aug. 12 (Special)—William James Dempster, 70, died Wednesday at the Allegan Health center after a lingering illness. He had been ill for several years and had received a fractured hip Aug. 8 in a fall.

He was born Oct. 7, 1878 in Douglas, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dempster. He was water commissioner of Douglas for many years until ill health forced him to retire about 10 years ago.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Survivors are his wife, Hannah; one son, Robert J. of Douglas; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Martin and Mrs. Sadie Mc Cormick, both of Ontario, Canada.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 4 p.m. at the Congregational church in Douglas with the Rev. E. E. Winter, officiating. Burial, under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge, will be in Douglas cemetery.

The body was taken to the Dykstra funeral home in Saugatuck where friends may call until noon Saturday.

Eleven-year-old Bill Kolean, of 125 West 29th St., was hailed today as Holland's new soap box derby king.

Bill won the fifth annual Kiwanis derby on Columbia Ave. hill Wednesday afternoon when he streaked his flashy red model across the finish line of the 264-foot course in 13.7 seconds.

A close second was David Rumsey, 13, of 54 East 20th St., soap box champion in 1946 and 1947, who followed by half a length or half a second, running the final course in 14.2 seconds.

In third place was Roger Essensburg, 14, of 202 East 26th St., and in fourth spot was Terry Zylman, 11, of 180 East 18th St.

Spectators gasped when cars operated by Zylman and Rumsey collided at the bottom of the long ramp near the close of the race. The impact tore two wheels from Zylman's car and spilled him on the pavement. A bruise on his left forearm was the only injury. The steering apparatus of Rumsey's car also was damaged, but was repaired for the final run between him and Kolean.

Bill Kolean also won the distance race, his car traveling almost to 15th St. Rumsey was second and Essensburg third in distance.

Rumsey took first place in design with his snappy low-slung maroon model. Bob Holmen, 9, of 238 West 24th St., placed second with his bright red streamlined car. Ray Vinstra, 12, of 573 Chicago drive, was third with his low slung black and yellow streamlined, and Bob Bouwman, 11, of 280 West 20th St., fourth with his fancy car designed with dark red felt over a wooden frame.

Final tally follows: First, Kolean, 850 points; $25; second, Rumsey, 800 points; $15; third, Essensburg, 350 points; $10; fourth, Zylman, 250 points; $5. Prizes will be awarded at the meeting of Kiwanis club Monday at 6:15 p.m. in the Warm Friend tavern. All 11 entrants are invited.

Holland's four winners will compete with Grand Haven's winners in a county soap box derby next Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. on Columbia Ave. hill.

Terry Zylman, fourth place winner, replaced Ray Vinstra in the second trial runs, thereby becoming eligible for the finals at 2:45 p.m.

Judges were Harold Haverkamp of Hope college, William H. Vandewater of the Chamber of Commerce and Leon N. Moody of the Playground commission. William J. Meengs was master of ceremonies.

The crowd was somewhat smaller than at previous derbies because of threatening weather. There were intermittent sprinkles of rain for a two-hour period, but the sun came out and the temperature rose several degrees just before the final runs.

Other derby entrants were Terry Ver Hulst, 11, of 170 West Ninth St.; William Bremer, 11, of 220 West Eighth St.; Dale Homborg, 11, route 3, and Gordon Boer, 9, of 63 West 18th St.

Kiwanis leaders commented that cars are getting speedier each year. As an example, Rumsey ran the course in trial runs in 14.1 seconds whereas two years ago he took 16 seconds.

Sheep Still Missing

Eugene Teusink of Central Park has lost one of his sheep and Holland police, along with Teusink, don't know where to find him. The animal was last reported Wednesday afternoon about one block west of 32nd St., grazing in some weedy growth. He was earlier reported lunching on a plot of grass across from the hospital.

New Fluorescent Lights Ordered For City Schools

Public schools in the city soon will be cheered by fluorescent lighting, according to action taken by the Board of Education Monday night. The board awarded a contract for such lighting to Froebel, Lincoln, Longfellow, Van Raalte and the high schools to Joe Roerink, electrical contractor, for the sum of $6,747.16. The contract covers the costs for lights only. School maintenance men expect to do most of the installation.

Supt. C. C. Crawford announced that work has begun on erecting new fire escapes for Longfellow, Van Raalte and Holland high schools. Work is expected to be completed in two weeks. When this work is completed, all recommendations stipulated by the state fire marshal will have been completed.

Crawford also announced that Holland is one of 27 schools in Michigan to receive approval for its adult education program.

A letter of appreciation was read from Peter Veltman who is leaving the local school system to go to Wheaton, Ill. "Both Mrs. Veltman and I consider our years with the Holland schools as a happy period in our memory," Veltman wrote.

The superintendent also announced that Kenneth Recknagel, who recently signed a contract to teach English and speech, has asked to be released in view of an offer from a college near his home.

Claims and accounts for the month totaled $93,940.2 of which $26,320.41 went for teachers' salaries. All trustees were present with the exception of Prof. A. E. Lampen. President C. J. De Koning presided and Trustee Jay L. De Koning gave the invocation.

De Koning announced his appointments for the coming year: teachers—De Koning, Lampen, De Koning, Ten Cate; A. K. Koppel school reform commission—De Pree, Lida Rogers and E. J. Yeomans; Playground commission representatives—Wieskamp, Hartman; representatives to Citizens School committee (if functioning)—De Pree, Wieskamp.

Survey Reveals Local Tourist Business Steady

Following a survey made by the Tourist and Resort committee of the local Chamber of Commerce, headed by Chester Van Tongeren, Holland is faring better than most resort sections in Western Michigan. Although the cooler weather has slowed the movement of tourists this week, the last several weeks has seen many visitors to Holland.

The survey was made by contacting operators of hotels, cabins and tourist homes. It was found that for the last season, all have been filled to capacity. The influx of tourists did not appear until after the fourth of July and if looked at that time as if Holland was in the same category that the northern Michigan resorts are in. But warm weather and the conditions in this vicinity have attracted many tourists.

The resort hotels are now operating at a near capacity—many by reservation—but some rooms are being held open for transient guests. Hotel Macatawa, Wauka- zoo Inn and Castle Park are now at the peak of the resort business with good house counts.

The tourist cabins report many reservations, that were made early in the year when operators attended the various vacation shows. Many saw the Holland exhibit at the shows, and are coming here this year.

More over-night stays are being registered this year than in the past. The tourist this year is moving about more than in other

Police Use Speedboat To Apprehend Escaper

By car, by foot and by boat, That's the way Holland police got their man.

Police were called to apprehend an escaped inmate of Kalamazoo State hospital Tuesday. The report said the man was at Ottawa beach.

Officers went to the beach to follow the report. Meanwhile, further inquiries said the man had taken the ferry from Kollen park to the Macatawa hotel landing.

Police on the Ottawa beach landing, hitched a ride on a speed boat and landed on the other side of the lake.

After sighting their man in a store, the chase began. He was finally captured while hiding behind the store.

Car Hits Pole

Grand Haven, Aug. 12 (Special)—Lowell Parole, 17, Beaumont, Calif., was taken to Municipal hospital Tuesday noon for treatment when the car in which he was riding crashed into a telephone pole at Nunica. Speedboat's Wake Floods Rowboat At Nearby Resort

Dragging Operations Continue in Attempt To Find Third Body

Death struck three fatal blows at Green Lake Wednesday night. Three persons were drowned in 85 feet of water after waves from a passing speedboat capsized their rowboat about 150 feet from shore.

Dead are: Arlan Van Rhee, 17-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Rhee of Jamestown.

William Van Rhee, 14, her brother, Henry Zylstra, 71, a retired farmer from Jamestown.

Three other persons in the rowboat were saved by Al Kamminga, operator of a Grand Rapids gasoline station, who threw out life preservers and cushions from his boat which was near the scene.

The father of the drowned children, John Van Rhee, 33, and another son, Larry, 6, along with John's father, Lucas Van Rhee, all of Jamestown, were rescued.

The body of Zylstra was found at about 7:30 p.m., 15 minutes after the tragedy. Dr. William Reus, from a nearby cottage, applied artificial respiration until an ambulance arrived to take Zylstra to a Grand Rapids hospital.

The body of the infant girl was found at 11:35 p.m. by Allegan and Kent county sheriff's officers, who formed a dragging team of four boats. They continued dragging the lake until 12:15 in an effort to find the body of the third victim, but were forced to discontinue because of darkness.

Allegan officers were dragging the icy lake again this morning, and according to the latest reports, they had not located the body.

Officers told Sentinel reporters at the scene that the six people were out about 150 feet from shore watching water skiers take a newly installed jump which was on the lake about 100 feet away.

The speedboat swished past the rowboat and waves caused by the power boat flooded the rowboat. The filled rowboat sank below the waters of the spring fed lake.

The rowboat was powered by a small outboard motor. The lake is located in the northeast corner of Allegan county near the Kent county boundary.

None of the six persons in the boat could swim, according to officers.

The Van Rhees were visiting the cottage of Jacob Zylstra, brother of Henry, and had planned to return to their home in Jamestown Wednesday night.

John Van Rhee told officers they left the cottage to go out in the boat at 7 p.m. Henry Zylstra's watch had stopped at 7:30.

A gas company inhalator stayed on the scene until it was certain the two missing bodies had been under water too long for any efforts to revive them would be futile.

A Yntema funeral ambulance went to Grand Rapids and returned the body of Henry Zylstra to Zeeland.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 1:30 p.m. from the home in Janesville and at 2 p.m. from Forest Grove Reformed church with the Rev. J. Wolterink officiating. Burial will be in Forest Grove cemetery.

The body will be taken from the funeral home to the residence Friday afternoon.

Dutchmen Annex 1948 Series From South Haven Nine

Locals Edge Invaders In 'Rubber' Contest; Skaalen Is Victor

Holland's Flying Dutchmen copied the deciding game of their three-game series with the South Haven Merchants Thursday night when they stopped the invaders 4-1, in a fast, well played ball game at Riverview Park. Holland had taken the first game of the series here some weeks ago, but recently dropped a close one at South Haven.

Only one error was recorded in the contest, which took just one hour and 40 minutes to play. That miscue was charged to Lou Borgman, who dropped a pop foul fly in the early innings of the tilt.

Mike Skaalen was his old self against the Merchants, allowing only five hits while striking out nine South Haven would-be hitters. South Haven's ace, Wildt, also turned in a creditable performance, permitting only six Dutchmen hits.

After three scoreless innings, Holland "dented" home plate first in the fourth inning. Don Mulder opened with a single to left. After Lou Borgman had fanned, Tony Wentzel slashed a one baser to center, sending Mulder around to third. Mulder scored when the two basemen executed a double steal. Wentzel stole third, while Harry De Neff walked. Holland again worked the double steal, with Wentzel scoring while Harry De Neff was being nipped at second.

South Haven garnered its only tally in their fourth on a single to center by Murray, and a long double to the rightfield corner by Pitcher Wildt.

Holland's final two tallies came in the fifth inning. Harold Van Wieren opened with a tremendous triple to center. George Caerides walked. Frank Wiodarczyk then popped to the catcher. Mike Skaalen came through with a two run double, but was out, trying to stretch it into a triple.

From then on, the contest was strictly a pitcher's duel between Wildt and Skaalen, with both squads playing tight defensive ball.

Don Mulder, Holland's fleet-footed shortstop, led the Dutchmen batters with two singles in four trips to the plate. Third baseman Murray paced the South Haven offense with a pair of hits.

Booking manager Russ Vander Poel also announced today that the Grand Rapids Jets will not be able to play the Dutchmen here next Wednesday night. Next week's card finds East Chicago Colored Giants here Monday and Kalamazoo Sutherland, Thursday.

Woman Is Transferred

Mrs. Eva Dent, 34, of route 4, Lansing, who received a fractured pelvis and other injuries July 31, in a freak series of crashes north of Holland, was transferred from Holland hospital to a Lansing hospital Saturday, according to Holland hospital officials. The condition of Jackie Scott, 31, was reported as "very fine" today.

One of these old bills is still worth $1, but Nick Ver Hey isn't likely to part with it for that amount. The other one (bottom) is an old promissory note for $1 issued under the Michigan Safety Fund on the Merchants Bank of Jackson. The note is numbered, dated and signed by hand.

Ver Hey's Old Bills Are Collector's Items

Nick Ver Hey, of 36 East 26th St., has two old bills in his possession, one of which is still regarded as legal tender and therefore worth one dollar, perhaps more as a collector's item. It was issued in 1846.

The other bill is a promissory note for $1 issued by the Merchants Bank of Jackson in 1840 or 1848.

The dollar bill (top) measures 7 1/2 by 3 1/2 inches and the promissory note (below) measures 7 1/2 by 3 inches. The top bill, now badly discolored, is a greenback, but the promissory note has no printing on the opposite side.

According to Cashier Alfred Joldersma of First National bank, many states issued their own currency in the form of promissory notes before the federal government authorized paper money in 1861.

Since these promissory notes are numbered, dated and issued to individuals, it is believed that the note was first issued to an individual and thereafter circulated freely without further endorsement. While such notes are believed to be accepted and circulated freely in one state, difficulties often arose when they were circulated in other states.

In the promissory note Ver Hey holds, the Merchants Bank of Jackson County "promises to pay One Dollar on demand to the order of the bearer. It was dated July 20, 1840, in Brooklyn under the Michigan Safety fund, and was signed by Rufus Tiffany as cashier and B. Copeland as president. The outsized dollar bill was issued in 1846 under Acts of Aug. 4, 1846. It certified that "there has been deposited in the Treasury of the United States One Silver Dollar payable to bearer on demand." Names appearing in wreaths on the border included Fulton, Calhoun, Clay, Jackson, Adams, Jefferson, Washington, Franklin, Hamilton, Perry, Marshall, Webster, Morse, Hawthorne, Grant, Farragut, Emerson, Sherman, Lincoln, Cooper.

The first paper money, issued by the government in 1861, was called demand notes, because they were payable on demand at certain designated treasuries. The amount authorized by these acts was $50,000,000. An additional issue of $10,000,000 was authorized by the act of Feb. 12, 1862, and there were re-issues amounting to $30,000. These notes were not legal tender when first issued, but they were afterwards made so by the act of March 17, 1862.

The principal issue of United States paper money was officially called United States notes. These were the well known greenbacks or legal tenders. The act of March 3, 1863, authorized the Secretary of the Treasury to receive deposits of gold coin and bullion in sums not less than $20, and to issue certificates known as gold certificates. Silver certificates were authorized Feb. 28, 1878 and Treasury Notes were authorized July 14, 1890, under the Sherman act.

Merchants Annex City League Win

Holland Merchants had little trouble with the Steffens softballers Thursday night when they downed the Red and White, 10-1 in City League play. John Bos was the winning pitcher, limiting the Steffens' bats to only two scattered hits.

Dewey Bakker did the hurling for the losers, allowing 11 safeties to the Merchants. Three hits and a walk produced three Merchants tallies in the first inning. From this point on, they were not to be headed. They added four additional tallies in the second on three hits, two walks and an error to take a commanding 7-0 lead.

The Steffens' bats tallied its only marker in the second inning without getting a safety. A walk, a hit batsman and an error resulted in the lone tally.

The winners scored their remaining tallies, getting one run in the sixth inning and two in the seventh. Two hits in each inning accounted for most of the damage.

Firstbaseman De Young of the Merchants garnered three safeties to lead all batters. Steffens' two hits came off the bats of Kehwecker and Hopkins.

Merchants Plan Yule Decorations

Although most persons are thinking of vacations and warm weather, the Retail Merchants' division of the Chamber of Commerce is making plans for the Christmas season.

The executive committee is well aware that 135 days remain before the all-important holiday and point out there are only 110 shopping days, provided the government declares no extra holidays in the meantime.

President Albert Schaafsma at a meeting Monday afternoon appointed Tony Las, as general chairman for decorations. Last, former president of the division, will report at a merchants' meeting Sept. 2 on the type and costs of decorations as well as on Christmas music.

The committee has set Nov. 28 as the "unveiling" of street lighting and decorations.

Santa Claus, whose visits proved particularly popular last year, will return this year under the direction of Len Steffens and Bob Visscher. Children again may be asked to write Santa.

The Christmas shopping schedule for local stores will be determined later. A more convenient schedule for the shopper is now under consideration.

Crawford Explains Confusing Aspects In School Aid

School Supt. C. C. Crawford today explained some of the confusing aspects of school aid, particularly with regard to allotments made on a census basis and on an enrollment basis.

Aside from local taxes, local schools receive aid from three sources, the Primary School fund, State Sales Tax diversion, and State Aid.

The Primary School fund is made up of inheritance taxes, utilities taxes and escheats of the state of Michigan and is allotted to school districts on a census basis.

Sales tax division also is allotted to school districts on a census basis.

State Aid is a fluctuating fund which makes allotments on an enrollment basis, making up the difference.

For instance, if the Holland school system, is entitled to $300,000 on an enrollment basis, allotments from the Primary School fund and state sales tax are first paid into the school treasury according to regular census, then State Aid makes up the difference, rounding out the sum to $300,000.

Crawford told the Board of Education this week that he had received some inquiries from persons who found Primary School fund and sales tax diversion allotments confusing.

He also called attention to the county allotment of some $4,000 to Holland city coming from penal fines for use in school libraries. This is the largest amount ever received for the purpose, other sums ranging from $2,000 to $3,000.

EXIT THE JINNEY?

When the late Vice President Marshall coined the quip that the thing America needed most at that time was a good five cent cigar, he could not foresee the day when the nickel itself would lose its meaning. If he were alive today he would have to qualify his epigram so much that it would lose that sense of brevity that is the very soul of wit.

Congressman John W. McCormick, of Massachusetts, has decided to do something about the devaluation of the nickel. He has introduced a bill that will give the United States mint the right to coin a seven-cent piece. Whether it is made of nickel or some other metal does not matter much. The nickel we use today isn't by any means all nickel either. The thing McCormick is after is to get a coin into the pockets of the American people with which that good five-cent cigar can be purchased that the former vice president dreamed of.

And not only that mythical cigar,
but also the candy bar that formerly retailed at five cents.
And the ice cream cone that in many places now requires a nickel, and two copper pennies. And the bus and subway fares. And a thousand other articles that have fallen victims to the celebrated inflation that this land of plenty is now enjoying.

Automatic salesmanship has been coming increasingly into use, through the vending machine and through other devices of that kind. All of them were designed in the pre-inflation days when a nickel was still a nickel. They continue in use, but the purchaser who thinks he is getting seven cents worth for a jiffy worth five cents has another thing coming. Economic law is against it;
even vending machines can't do business at a loss. The alternative is reducing the quality or the quantity of the article, sometimes both.

A seven-cent coin is clearly called for in our inflation economy. Congress may hesitate, on the theory that the time may return when that good five-cent cigar can once more be manufactured and sold for five cents.
If that should happen the seven-cent coin would be an awkward piece of money.

But at the present moment the chances seem slim that that will happen in the near future. A seven-cent coin is an idea that deserves the serious attention of the lawmakers.

—Andrew Brings Men to Jesus

John 1:37-42; 12:20-22

By Henry Geerlings

There are three characteristics in the character of Andrew which are worthy of consideration and of emulation.

The first is the value of developing our own gifts, however modest they may be, and not allowing ourselves to get into the habit of envying those of others. Had Andrew been an envious man, he might have found much cause for jealousy in the lot of his brilliant brother. He was with Christ before him, he was the means of bringing him to Christ, and yet
he was far eclipsed afterwards in the position he took in the chosen band.

He was never allowed to penetrate into the inner circle of the chosen three. He never climbed the hill of Transfiguration. He never listened to the sighs of Gethsemane; and the same subordination to Peter is even more marked in the Acts, where, while Peter walks in the limelight, Andrew is but a name.

There is room for envy here,
envy ripening into discontent and even culminating like Judas, in apostasy. But there is not a trace of this in Andrew. He willingly accepts his humble place in the church as the one he is best fitted for, and fills it with contentment and even joyful alacrity. He is not gifted like his brother but he has gifts of his own. He can persuade men. He can see the possibility of a Christ in the most unlikely places.

His work in life is not to bring congregations by the thousands to Christ like Peter, but he can bring individuals one by one. He is humble enough to be himself and he found that that is the only way, and yet the sure one, to be of use to others.

In the second place he realized the value of the personal touch in his work for Christ. It is this, perhaps, we need more than any other in the church today. We have no lack of churches and no lack of preachers and no lack of missionaries for the home field
at least—but what we need more of is personal workers, men and women fired with the love of Christ in such a way that, like Andrew, they can go to the brother without and bring him in with the tender hand and the tactful word.

Such work needs tact. There are those who are deplorably lacking in the spirit of wise personal work. They seem to think that the best way of winning persons to Christ is to shout at them and scare them into the kingdom.
Christ did not win the woman at the well in that fashion. It was not so that he won Zacchaeus and I am very sure it was not so that Andrew brought Peter to Jesus.
He brought him. He did not order him. He did not say "Go";
He said "Come." I can see him linking his arm with his unwilling brother and gently urging him to come and see.

The story is told of a young man who had fallen through the ice and was holding on to the edge
in the agony of death struggle.
They pushed a plank toward him;
but the end of it was covered with ice and again and again his fingers slipped. He cried, "Don't give me the frozen side." God does not give us the frozen side when He so loved the world as to send His Son. If we are to be true personal workers for Christ
we must go in that spirit of loving and tactful sympathy which we see in Andrew in all the incidents of his brief biography.

In the third place it is the experience of Christ that makes the true Christian worker. What was it made Andrew a home missionary. What gave him his power as a Christian worker? It was this, that he had been with Christ on that first night of wondrous fellowship. It is said of Archimedes that after he had made a great scientific discovery he went rushing through the streets crying, "Eureka, I have found it."

It was so with Andrew. "We have found the Messiah" is the glad cry that bursts from his lips as he issues from the door of the Master's dwelling on that memorable morning. Joy gives utterance to his heart.

If we wish to learn the secret of being successful workers for Christ, this is the sure and only path to it. We must get to know Christ. We must abide with Him and out of that knowledge and that experience we shall become successful workers. Jesus made Andrew a home missionary and by so doing made him great. Had Andrew not been a home missionary he would have been nothing.
He had no great gifts like Peter and John and Paul who might perhaps have reached greatness in their own way. But Andrew owed all he was to Christ.

Mrs. Alvin Schutmaat, in Holland for two months from Bogota, Colombia, South America, smiles as she holds in her lap her 22-month-old son, Jimmy, now completely recovered after his illness kept the group on the road a extra three days. Frederick on her lap, usually sweet tempered, was a bit cross from an interrupted nap and six days of travel. Holding a native South American hat in the back-ground is Flo Alba Forero, 17, of Bogota, in this country to continue her education.

Poor Jimmy Was Ill...
The Trip Took Six Days

Home for the first time in 2½ years, Mrs. Alvin Schutmaat who arrived Tuesday with her two young sons from Bogota, Colombia, South America, found her parents' home a haven after a hectic six-day trip from South America.

With the trip scheduled to last three days, illness to 22-month-old James delayed the party in West Palm Beach, Fla., for three days while Jimmy's high fever subsided in a hospital. By the time he arrived here, his recovery was complete and his actions were those of any spirited two-year-old. The other baby, three-month-old Frederick, was a good traveler.

Traveling with Mrs. Schutmaat was Flo Alba Forero, 17-year-old Bogota girl, en route to Osage City, Kan., to complete her high school education and attend college. She will live with Presbyterian missionaries, who formerly served in Bogota.

Mrs. Schutmaat, whose husband is principal of a Presbyterian school of 650 pupils in Bogota,
will spend two months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Loew, 61 Cherry St., and with her husband's mother, Mrs. Dena Schutmaat. The latter and her daughter, Harlene, visited Bogota last year.

Young Jimmy's illness in Florida also delayed a large box of South American orchids and tropical blooms which Mrs. Schutmaat had painstakingly packed at home.
They had to be thrown away. The party flew to Miami on a plane

of the Colombian line, and then

Bogota, where the Spanish spoken is said to be the "purest"
in the world, is one of South America's most modern cities. It came into world prominence last April 9 when rioting broke out during the Pan American conference, attended by Secretary of State George Marshall and other high officials.

Mrs. Schutmaat said the apartment building in which she lived, the Protestant church and the school, all in the downtown area where rioting occurred, were unharmed. She said the damaged section of the city is being rebuilt rapidly.

Bogota, high in the Andes, has an altitude of nearly 9,000 feet,
and has a stable climate much like autumn here. With a population of about a half million, it is an important cosmopolitan center
and a haven for many refugees.
Spanish is the country's language,
but much English and other languages are heard on the streets.
Colombia is on both the Pacific and the Caribbean and has three large seaports.

The Schutmaats have been in Bogota for 18 months. Before that, they spent a year in Medellin, Colombia. Their regular year's furlough comes at the end of 1949.

Mrs. Schutmaat, the former Pauline Loew, an accomplished violinist, and her husband, a pianist, find time to air their talents occasionally, but neither teaches music.

Furniture Walkout
Ends As Workers
Go Back to Jobs

A weeklong work stoppage at the Holland Furniture company ended this morning, when employees returned to their jobs.
Workers responded to a call issued by a worker's committee
Tuesday, after a final conference with management reached an adjustment in the dispute.

"Our employees are back at work. Wage adjustments mutually acceptable to all have been made in the incentive plan," the company spokesman told The Sentinel today. He added that the plant was back in full operation.
The employees left their jobs
last Wednesday in what they termed a spontaneous walkout, protesting a wage incentive revision in some departments of the factory. They contended that the plan would reduce their "take home" pay.

The company replied that the plan wasn't designed to reduce their earnings. Furthermore it added that the plan hadn't been in operation long enough to determine what effect it would have on net earnings. Incentive pay scales have been used in the plant for 20 or more years and frequent adjustments are made to keep the plan equitable, the company said.

On several occasions during the week it appeared the em-

The workers did not involve their union at any time, insisting that the walkout was not a strike. Union officials, both here and in Grand Rapids, disavowed
any connection with the stoppage.

The door was never closed to peaceful negotiations, and management kept the plant open to any who wished to work. No dis-

Heaters Remain
In Tournament;
Tailors Defeated

Holland Furnace Co. today was the only local softball team remaining in the Grand Haven district tournament. Monday night the Heaters stopped Midway Motors, 4-3, while the Dykema Tailors bowed, 3-2 to Story and Clark. Hart and Cooley was eliminated in play last week.

A lone run by Catcher John Tuls in the final seventh inning proved to be the winning margin for the local winners. Tuls opened the inning with a single, went to second and third on passed balls
and then came around to score
on the shortstop's error.

The Furnace club had taken a two-run lead in the fourth inning,
scoring a pair of tallies on a walk,
an error and a double by Ken Bauman. Midway then moved into the lead with three markers in their fifth on four successive singles and two stolen bases.

Holland knotted the count in the next inning on a walk, another hit by Bauman and a wild pitch. Then came the local winning marker in the final half of the seventh.

"Cork" Weener pitched for the Hollanders, allowing just five hits.
The Furnace club garnered six safeties off Taylor, Midway fling-
er.

Dykema Tailors dropped a heart breaker in their bid for tournament honors. The contest was a tight pitcher's duel between Harve Vanderveen of the locals and Dennis of Story and Clark. Dennis permitted just two hits, while Vanderveen allowed five.

The winners took a one-run lead in the first, but the Tailors forged ahead in their second with their only two runs of the tilt. One hit by Ben Jansen and two errors accounted for the markers.

Two solid blows, coupled with a hit batsman and a sacrifice, however gave the contest to the Story and Clark team in the third.
They tallied two scores to end
the evening's scoring.

Dennis struck out 13 Dykema
batters, while Vanderveen fanned nine.

Holland Furnace will meet
Duke Engine Co. at 7 p.m. Thursday night at Greenhill field.

Hollanders Bow To East Chicago In Series Finale

Mulder Hits Long Homer for Locals; Two Pitchers Used

An invading East Chicago Colored-Giant squad captured the "rubber" contest of their three-game series with the Holland Flying Dutchmen at Riverview Park Monday night, by edging the locals 8-5.

Both squads had an equal number of hits, with each getting 10, but East Chicago used them to better advantage. Holland had several scoring chances, but muffed them through faulty base running. Holland used Ernie Victor and Lefty Van Wieren on the mound while East Chicago's Maxwell went all the way. He fanned 10 local hitters.

Holland took a three-run lead in the second inning when Shortstop Don Mulder hit in three runs with an inside-the-park homer. Meanwhile Victor was retiring the visitors without a hit in the first three innings.

But in the fourth, five Giants connected for hits to produce three runs knotting the count at 3-3. The winners moved ahead in the sixth on two solid blows, a walk and an error, resulting in three runs. Holland fought back weakly in their sixth with two hits, but when Lefty Van Wieren was nipped trying to go to third, the rally was stopped. One run scored during the melee.

East Chicago added two more in the eighth with the aid of a single and an error to push their total to eight. Holland's final tally came in the ninth, resulting from three hits.

Maxwell proved to be tough in the pinches even though he did give up 10 hits to the locals.

Lou Borgman led the local attack with three hits in four trips to the plate, while four East Chicago batters got two safeties apiece.

School Board Considers Family Relations Study

The Board of Education Monday night authorized a careful study into the subject of "Sex Education and Family Relations" with a view to including such education in the high school curriculum as soon as possible.

The request was introduced by Trustee Margaret De Pree who felt Holland should do something along this line similar to the excellent work conducted in Oregon.

Supt. C. C. Crawford said he and some faculty members have been considering such an addition to the high school curriculum for some time, and was happy to have the first suggestion come from the school board. He said Highland Park schools are operating a fine program.

Trustee Harry Wieskamp said similar instruction, particularly through visual education, was carried on in Sheboygan, Wis.

Check Equipment To Avoid Falls

You may be heading for a fall unless you check your climbing equipment and practices used around the farmstead and in the farm house. That's what Fred Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college, said today in stressing the importance of avoiding falls.

He urged that farmers inspect ladders frequently for rusted or loose bolts and nails, cracked, rotted or loose rungs or supports. Making necessary repairs is cheaper than having an accident, he points out.

Among suggestions for safe use of ladders are these: Firmly set the base of the ladder one-fourth of the ladder's height from the wall. Face the ladder when climbing and use both hands. Avoid leaning too far out on the ladder — climb down and move the ladder instead. Clean mud or grease from your hands and shoes before climbing. Use a rope hoist to raise sharp tools, heavy objects, or bulky materials. Open step-ladders fully and place all four legs on solid ground before climbing.

It was further pointed out by Roth that falls are the principal cause of injury in the farm home. He warns against standing on chairs, stools, boxes, tables, or makeshift devices not intended for that purpose. The National Safety council reports that severe injury and death have often resulted from falls at low levels. A safe step stool for the farm home is the simple solution to this problem.

Oil-Heat Group Plans Meeting

Invitations have been sent to dealers and distributors of oil burning equipment and fuel oil in Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Holland, Manistee and Muskegon to attend a luncheon meeting at the Rowe hotel, Grand Rapids on Wednesday, Aug. 25. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss the formation of a local dealers' association affiliated nationally with the Distribution Division of Oil-Heat Institute of America.

P. W. Porter, president of Reliable Sales and Engineering Co., Grand Rapids, conceived the idea and has been working with OHI headquarters in New York to put the matter before all interested dealers and, if favorable reaction is received, lay the framework for the organization.

C. R. Jonsvold, vice-president of Arrow Petroleum Co., Chicago, and a director of OHI, will be present to speak formally from a dealer's point of view. Mr. Jonsvold is also vice-chairman, Midwest of the Distribution Division; president of Burning Oil Distributors Assoc., Chicago; chairman of OHI's Fuel Oil Supply committee; chairman of Governor's Fuel Conservation committee, State of Illinois, and a member of API's Marketing committee.

W. O. Spiess, national secretary of the Distribution Division of OHI, will also be present to outline the activities of the distribution division and describe some of the advantages of membership. In issuing the invitations, Spiess said, "Progressive dealers in the Grand Rapids area will make a valuable investment of their time if they attend the luncheon discussion. It is highly possible that the meeting will result in almost a demand for a local association so that dealers will be in a better position to meet the problems of the coming heating season. All dealers are invited even though the invitation list may not have been all-inclusive."

'Sulphur and Molasses' Will Be Given at Drenthe

The three-act comedy, "Sulphur and Molasses," will be presented Thursday at 8 p.m. in Drenthe Community grove. The play first was presented on July 4 and will be repeated Thursday night by the same cast. The presentation will be sponsored by the Drenthe Christian School society.

The play is a comedy-drama and stars Dr. Lance Fairweather, a kindly old doctor who is known as "Old Sulphur and Molasses." He is the type of person who can't refuse anyone anything, much to his wife's dismay who keeps an eye on the rapidly shrinking pocketbook. Also in the cast are the Fairweather children, Edmund and Verna and the harum-scarum youngest daughter, Jill, who is the terror of the neighborhood, especially of gossipy Malvina Waters. Comedy is provided by Oswald Spratt and his bossy wife. The Drenthe grove is located seven and a half miles east on 16th St.

Local Skiers Return by Plane

Liz Sharp, the new National Junior Girls open water ski champion, flew back to Holland Monday night with her mother, Mrs. A. E. Sharp, Charles R. Sligh, Jr., who piloted the plane, Bob Sligh and Lew Withey from Baltimore where the national Water Ski tournament was held last week-end.

Bob Sligh, 1947 champ, was only 20 points behind Dick Pope, Jr. of Winterhaven, Fla., and for a few minutes retained his title until scores were retalled. Pope won with a total of 689 points out of a possible 1,500 points to Sligh's 669.

Contestants were entertained at a banquet Saturday and were taken through the Martin plant on Monday. According to Sligh, Martin has invited the American Water Ski association to hold next year's tournament at the Martin lagoon.

Accommodations were set up to seat 35,000 people and skiing conditions were ideal, according to Sligh. He also said that Willa Worthington, 1946, 1947 and 1948 Women's Champion showed excellent form.

Lions All Stars Edge Muskegon In Extra Innings

Howard Schutt Hurls Well for Hollanders; Return Here Tuesday

Two runs in the 10th inning gave the Lions club All-Stars a hard earned 4-2 victory over the Muskegon club at Muskegon Friday night. It was the first "extra-curricular" contest this season for the local youngsters. On Tuesday night, which will be known as Lions club night, the Hollanders will entertain this same Muskegon club at River-view Park. All Lions club members and their families are urged to attend.

With the score knotted at the end of the regulation nine innings, the locals got busy in the first extra frame. Shortstop Ron Fertney opened the uprising with a ringing double. Frank Wlodarczyk promptly tripled him home with the third score. A passed ball later permitted Wlodarczyk to score. Jerry Witteveen also singled during the rally.

Howard Schutt, who went all the way on the mound for Holland, retired the Muskegon men in order in the final half of the 10th.

Holland had taken a two run margin in the early stages of the tilt with single markers in the third and fifth innings. Two singles and a walk accounted for the third inning tally, while a triple by Fertney and a single by Wlodarczyk resulted in the second score in the fifth.

Muskegon did all of its scoring in the last two innings, getting one each in the eighth and ninth innings. They tied the score in the last half of the ninth on an error, a walk and a single by Pitcher Bramble.

Holland batters connected for eight hits off Bramble, while the Muskegon aggregation managed to get only four safeties off Schutt.

Frank Wlodarczyk and Ron Fertney were the hitting stars of the contest. Between the two of them, they tallied all of the runs and got six of the eight hits. Each got three safeties.

Tailors Capture City Loop Title

Dykema Tailors were the official City Softball champions today after capturing the second round championship with a 6-1 win over VFW Friday night. The Tailors had annexed the first round championship several weeks ago.

Friday's tilt closed the City League softball scheduled for the season. A few of the teams are scheduled to participate in tournaments in various centers in the next few weeks.

Only one defeat was registered against the Dykema club in both rounds of play, that coming at the hands of the Hart and Cooley aggregation.

After once getting started Friday night, the Clothiers had little difficulty in sinking the VFW lads. The losers took a one run margin in the first inning on four successive hits including a double by Bill Dykstra. They held the margin until the fourth when Dykema knotted the count.

Then in the fifth the winners broke loose with four runs on three hits to virtually assure victory. They added an insurance score in the sixth to take the decision.

Michigan Peach Crop Will Soon Be on Market

Housewives Prefer Home Grown Variety; State Crop Promising

From now until late September, Michigan housewives will be busy canning peaches. When to buy and what kind to buy are questions in their minds today.

As a part of the consumer education service of the Michigan State college extension service, G. N. Motts, MSC agricultural economist, suggests a few peach facts that are important to Michigan housewives.

Although Michigan consumers usually have peaches available from Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia, and Illinois, between 75 and 80 per cent of the fresh peaches they use are actually grown in Michigan.

According to the U. S. Crop Reporting board, Michigan is expected this year to have about 3,700,000 bushels of peaches, which is 10 per cent above the 1936-1947 average. The Michigan crop will start moving about Aug. 10 to 15 with Hale Havens and other early varieties, followed by the Elbertas and other good late varieties through most of September.

For those interested in southern peaches, the Georgia crop is only about two-thirds of last year's crop and 20 per cent below the average, and the South Carolina crop is only about half of last year's record crop. Illinois has an average production, but below last year. Peaches from these states are not generally expected to be in as good supply here or as good a buy as Michigan peaches.

Growing conditions in Michigan have been such that it is expected that the quality of Michigan peaches will be good and the time of ripening will be at least two weeks ahead of last year, when the season was quite late and considerable frost damage destroyed much of the quality of the Michigan peach crop. Michigan peaches are produced in commercial quantities in Berrien county north to the Traverse City area along the shores of Lake Michigan, around Grand Rapids, and in the territory around Mt. Clemens and Pontiac.

Turkeys Need Shade During Hot Weather

Hot weather is particularly hard on turkey flocks, points out Charles Reed, extension poultryman at Michigan State college. He recommends plenty of shade for the birds during August.

Last year, large numbers of turkeys were killed by heat prostration during the hot weather. Other flocks failed to continue to grow at the normal rate during this period even though there were few that died from the heat.

In some cases, Reed explains, the flock had shelter but not enough to accommodate all of the birds. Those that could not find room in the shade had to stand in the sun. In other cases where shade was inadequate all of the birds tried to crowd into the shady space and as a result, they piled up and smothered.

Reed urges every grower to check available shade and to provide more if necessary. He reports that many growers are permitting the birds to range in the corn fields. This is done because growing corn provides plenty of shade after the tasseling stage.

Clipping Cows Helps Reduce Milk Bacteria

Recommendations to the dairy farmer on how best to clip his cows to reduce sediment and lower bacteria in milk are available in a booklet just released by a large corporation. It was prepared by E. A. Warner, formerly with the extension service of Oklahoma A & M college and now a livestock specialist.

Reports indicate that farmers who clip their dairy cattle get an increase in the amount of high quality milk produced. Leading dairy authorities recommend regular clipping as the first step in quality milk production. Because clipping improves quality and increases profits for everyone, dairy companies, health authorities, and extension men advocate the practice.

SHAD DISAPPEARING

The shad, regarded as a fine food fish, has been steadily decreasing during the past 40 years. Its decline is attributed by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service biologists to such causes as pollution, construction of dams and overfishing.

Areas in Soil Conservation Districts

More than three-fourths of all the agricultural land in Michigan is now within soil conservation districts. This goal has been reached in the ten years since the passage of the district law by the Michigan legislature in 1937.

A total of 49 soil conservation districts are now in operation in 42 Michigan agricultural counties. The West Ottawa district, organized in 1938, was the first one in Michigan and the Emmet district was the 49th to be included.

The organization procedure is under the direction of the State Soil Conservation committee which assists local groups and the Agricultural Extension service of Michigan State college in setting up new districts. The actual operation of soil conservation districts is under the administration of locally elected farmer boards of directors.

Buyers Frown On Dirty Eggs

Cleanliness is one of the first things the egg buyer looks for, believes L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent. Elimination of possible causes of dirty eggs will pay great dividends in consumer good will, he points out.

Dirty eggs are often caused by wet or muddy ranges, unclean floors in henhouses, infrequent change of litter on henhouse floors, unclean or insufficient nests, and overcrowding of hen houses. All of these faults may be kept under control.

Agent Arnold advises that producing clean eggs in the first place is a better practice than trying to clean up dirty or soiled eggs, so they will be acceptable for market.

The problem of muddy ranges can be solved by confining hens each day until noon or at least until the eggs are gathered. Wire cloth having a 2-inch mesh, fixed under perches and over dropping board will prevent hens from carrying filth to the nests.

Dirty which comes from the henhouse floor can be reduced by using clean, dry litter and frequently renewing it.

Overcrowding of hen houses can be avoided by allowing at least three and one-half to four square feet of floor space for each hen and at least one nest for every five hens.

Cleaner eggs will help maintain high egg quality, which in turn means greater sales, the agent concludes.

Soil Management Significant in Peach Orchards

East Lansing—Experiments with fertilizers and cover crops in a young peach orchard on sandy loam give pointers for soil management practices. These are revealed in the report of a five-year study by A. L. Kenworthy, of the Michigan State college horticultural department and G. M. Gilligan of Delaware.

Results showed that the use of cover crops at first sometimes depressed tree growth, due, possibly, to competition with the trees for moisture. The depressive effect, however, was soon lost, and an improvement in tree growth was finally noted. The rate of recovery seemed related to the speed with which cover crop residues decomposed and to the total quantity of residue produced.

Although the cover crops used did not generally increase the organic matter content of the soil, they did decrease the rate at which organic matter is lost from the soil.

With clean cultivation alone, the organic content decreased at an average rate of 6.5 per cent each year. At this rate of loss the organic content would be reduced approximately 50 per cent in 10 years.

Leaf analysis indicated that the nitrogen content was increased with any cover crop. As the amount of cover crop residue resulting from legume growth increased, the leaf nitrogen increased. The phosphorus content of leaves was also increased by all cover crops, while potassium was increased only where soybeans and rye with vetch was used.

The results of this research clearly indicates, says Dr. Kenworthy, that if the growth and fruitfulness of a peach orchard on a sandy soil is to be maintained then a program must be used that will maintain the organic matter in the soil. If a program of cover cropping is used, it should be directed toward the production of as much residue as possible.

For summer covers perhaps shallow rooted crops should be used. As the trees become older the use of a summer cover may have to be discontinued because of other cultural reasons. When the cover cropping program is first started the trees may appear to be reduced in growth but eventually this use of cover crops will more than compensate for the reduction observed at first. The value of the cover crop in supplying organic matter is in addition to its value in reducing soil erosion and in conserving the soil.

Foreign Lands Learn Of MSC Farm Research

Examples of world-wide interest in discoveries made at the Michigan Agricultural Experiment station at Michigan State college frequently come to attention from many parts of the globe.

The moisture tests devised by farm crops research scientist, S. T. Dexter recently drew attention of farmers in Denmark in an article by Fleming Junker which was published in a Danish agricultural magazine. Junker visited East Lansing recently and studied Michigan agricultural practices.

Further evidence of the interest which agricultural research holds was a request made by the agricultural attaché at the British Embassy in Washington, D. C. He asked for copies of the report of farm and home research at the Michigan Station, entitled, "Science Serves the Michigan Farmer."

Ram Truck Will Visit Northern Counties

After two years, the well-known Ram Truck will roll again this year under the sponsorship of the Michigan Purebred Sheep Breeders' association, in cooperation with the Michigan State college animal husbandry department and county agricultural agents.

Farmers in many counties will have an opportunity to procure a registered ram from the truckload which will tour.

Graydon Blank, extension animal husbandry specialist at MSC, urges flock owners who need a ram this fall to contact their county agent and place an order for the breed desired. They should also specify the number of ewes in their flock, whether grade or purebred, age of the ram desired, and the price they wish to pay. From this information, a ram will be carefully chosen and delivered to them at the location nearest to where the truck stops.

Tentative dates and stops for the Ram Truck are as follows: October 4, Ram Day at Michigan State college, East Lansing; Oct. 5, Ithaca (morning); and Clare (afternoon); Oct. 6, West Branch; Oct. 7, Glenn; Oct. 8, Alpena; and Oct. 9, Gaylord.

1948 Wheat Loan Plan Available to County Farmers

A price support loan program for the 1948 wheat crop at a loan rate of $2.07 will be available to Ottawa county farmers this year after harvest, according to Glenn E. Taylor, chairman of the Ottawa County AAA committee. The loan rate is on the basis of U. S. No. 1 wheat and was established as required by legislation, at 90 per cent of the parity price of wheat on July 1, 1948.

Government loans will be made to farmers on wheat produced in 1948 grading No. 3 or better, or grading U. S. No. 4 or 5 because of test weight only.

Farmers may apply for wheat loans at the county AAA office in Grand Haven, 30 days after harvest but not later than Dec. 31, 1948. The loans will mature on demand but not later than April 30, 1949. All loans will bear interest at the rate of three per cent per annum.

A service fee of one per cent per bushel is charged on the number of bushels under loan or a $3 fee, whichever is greater.

In order to qualify for a loan, the farm bins and granaries must, in the opinion of the county AAA committee, be of such substantial and permanent construction as to afford safe storage of the wheat for a period of two years, permit effective fumigation for destruction of insects, and afford protection against rodents, other animals, thieves and weather.

The farmer may obtain release of the wheat under loan at any time he desires provided he fulfills the conditions in the loan agreement by paying the principal and interest to the holder of the note.

Ottawa county farmers may obtain full information regarding this 1948 wheat program by calling at the County AAA office in Grand Haven.
