City Council Tables Zone Ordinance

Mayor Calls Special
Session for Aug. 24
To Continue Work

After devoting more than three hours to a public hearing and informal discussion of the proposed new zoning ordinance for Holland, City Council at 10:35 p.m. Wednesday voted to table the matter until another time.

But Mayor Robert Visscher who has worked closely with the Planning Commission in its seven years of zoning study immediately announced he would call a special meeting of City Council for next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall to continue work on zoning.

The public hearing which proved polite and orderly lasted an hour and 20 minutes, but the ensuing discussion of the zoning ordinance by Council in a meeting of the whole went on until Councilman Henry Steffens moved at 10:35 p.m. to table the subject. Steffens explained later that his action in tabling was not to postpone indefinitely a solution to problems at hand, but just to get Councilmen home before midnight.

Up to that time, the zoning ordinance was the only subject introduced and when it was tabled, Council went on to other business which it processed fairly swiftly and adjourned at 11:30 p.m.

The thing which seemed to stymie Council was its concern over adequate industrial property, a point which had been protested by many persons in the public hearing. Both Willard C. Wichers, president of the Planning Commission, and Planning Consultant Scott Bagby were on hand to explain the Planning Commission's approach not only to industrial expansion but to many other phases of modern city planning.

In his preliminary remarks, Wichers reviewed the work on zoning by the planning commission dating back to 1953 when a subcommittee was named to review those provisions of the master plan as they relate to zoning. This committee met twice a month for some time and scheduled a series of informal meetings with industrial leaders, realtors and others interested.

Consultant Bagby explained technical aspects of the planning commission's plans for a 95-acre industrial park of protected business sites which he said could be developed at a cost of $180,000 instead of $500,000 to $600,000 which might be required for much larger areas at greater distances from city services. The industrial park would take in the Deur orchards on 24th St. between Lincoln Ave. and the bypass.

Before public comment commenced in the hearing, City Clerk Clarence Greengrove read seven communications, most of them regarding industrial or commercial zoning.

William H. Vande Water, representing the planning and economic committee of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, asked consideration for a long-range plan in industrial development, with more area designated industrial to meet the needs of those industries seeking larger sites without going through the red tape of boards of appeals.

In subsequent discussion, planning commission leaders pointed out they have many large areas in reserve under agricultural zoning which can be rezoned when the need arises. But meanwhile, planning experts prefer to hold such areas in reserve so that it is not cluttered with small businesses which could operate more efficiently in a planned industrial park.

Bill Boyd, Jr., representing the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Co., criticized the planning consultant and commission for having bypassed the railroad in its zoning studies, but Chairman Wichers and Consultant Bagby said they consistently had consulted top Detroit C and O executives in the study, thereby refuting the allegation that C and O had not been consulted.

Attorney John Gallen, representing the Holland Board of Realtors, presented a prepared statement with recommendations and objections which had previously been discussed at planning sessions. Gallen did not go into detail.

Jerry Hawthorn of Modern Products Co. sought consideration for a 10-acre site he had purchased along a railroad right of way for future industrial development and which had been zoned agricultural. Council indicated it would consider rezoning the site when Hawthorn is ready to establish a plant there.

Ben Altma, representing Zeeland Paint Co., questioned zoning of property at 17th St. and Homestead Ave. and was informed that the commission was recommending changing this area to industrial.

Vaude Vandenberg felt that Council was putting poster companies in jeopardy when they eliminate signs and billboards in neighborhood business areas.

ed zoning change from industrial to C-1 commercial at the Montello Park docks, and felt such zoning might hinder proposed expansion plans.

Gerald Van Wyke, representing Meijer Supermarkets, protested proposed zoning of a large area which the firm had purchased in 1958 at Diekema and Homestead Aves. in the vicinity of 17th and 19th Sts. Van Wyke also represented the Koning Machine and Tool Co. at 40th St. near the bypass.

Randall Dekker of Zeeland represented the Michigan Pulverized Metal Co. and Northern Fibre Products, both of which paid industrial prices for property previously in Fillmore Township.

Ronald Dalman of Lokker and Beter firm amplified an earlier letter read on behalf of Tibor Hollo and David Shubow objecting to strip residential zoning on a large area bounded by 120th Ave., Eighth St. and M-21. This area had been obtained for shopping center purposes and owners previously had been granted authority to use this property without limitations for a shopping center by the Holland Township Board of Appeals.

Ed Lees, Detroit, representative for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., said his firm was satisfied with the proposed zoning ordinance although he expected there might be meetings later with the board of appeals. He said the firm previously had had two meetings with the board of appeals with happy results and he praised Bagby as an able consultant. "Detroit relaxes when we get a Bagby ordinance," he said.

A communication was read from Paul J. Baker, objecting to proposed rezoning of his property at 288 West 19th St. from commercial to residential. There also was a petition requesting that the east side of River Ave. between 13th and 14th Sts. be zoned C-2 commercial and continue the west side as commercial.

A letter from Ray G. Kolk of Mechanical Transplanter Co. objected to zoning his property on Central Ave. at US-31 as agricultural and requested it be zoned industrial.

A letter from owners in the Maplewood shopping area objected to non-conforming use under residential and requested commercial zone as it had been when it was in Fillmore Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Deur informed Council they prefer that their property remain in the agricultural zone, not industrial.

For an hour and 40 minutes, Council at times floundered and at times made good progress in discussing the ordinance. It waived the reading of the lengthy document, and considered six specific changes on gas drilling permits, screening on parking lots, new installations for service stations or drive-in facilities, certain changes in non-conforming use, sideyard provisions for apartments, and permitting motels or professional offices in an agricultural zone on a federal trunkline highway.

Councilman Steffens was inclined to feel that industrial area was inadequate, an opinion in which Councilman John Van Eerden concurred, particularly on red tape for appeal boards. Mayor Visscher protested these objections, using as an example the General Electric plant in which plans were worked out in a relatively short time. He said the city always is anxious to attract new industry and a favorable tax picture and bonded indebtedness are big factors. He questioned the voter's willingness to bond the city for additional huge sums to run sewer lines to distant points.

Mayor Pro Tem John Beltman presided over the committee of the whole and when Council reconvened he reported no conclusion had been reached, whereupon Mayor Visscher announced he would call a special meeting for Aug. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Van Lente, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Weener and Herman Bos attended the all Michigan Gideon meeting held at Gull Lake Bible Conference last Saturday and Sunday. He emphasized that a sound economic basis is essential to raise taxes so that these programs can be maintained.

Young Rocketeer Successfully Launches 10-Foot Missile

John Merrills, Jr., of 1206 South Shore Dr., successfully launched a 10-foot homemade rocket Wednesday night and more than 200 persons watched the firing at the Gradus Geurink go-kart track at 4461 58th St.

The rocket soared more than a mile in the air and out of sight, Merrills said, and it was found a short time later in a field about a half-mile from the launching site. About eight feet of the rocket was buried in the ground when it was found, Merrills reported. He estimated that the speed of the rocket was about 600 miles an hour.

The rocket, the third built by the 19-year-old student at Immanuel Missionary College in Berrien Springs, was filled with zinc and sulphur. The rocket was launched with 110 volts of electricity and the electrical wires were attached to a socket in a nearby barn.

The smoke bomb of the rocket exploded first because of faulty connection, Merrills said and caused some minor confusion. The rocket had a four-foot instrument section with a place for a camera, smoke bomb and parachute.

Merrills had been working on the rocket in his spare time for the past two years. It was the biggest rocket he has made. He first constructed a 7½-foot rocket and this sailed about a mile and a half in the air and his second rocket, a nine-foot missile, soared an estimated 3,000 feet.

A pre-dental student, Merrills has been constructing the rockets as a hobby. He doesn't plan to build any more rockets in the near future but was pleased with the success of his latest effort.

SCIENCE AND AUTOMATIC MACHINES

Almost every day one reads about automation. Even with automatic machines there is always the need for brain power so that people can be trained to operate the machines. Then there is always the scientific know-how that enables the operator to keep the machine in first class condition so that production will not lag due to down time. All of the newer automatic machines continue to cost more money and this is also a problem for all business because a business can only stand so much for plant and equipment.

Many people believe that the future of our country depends to some large measure on the machinery and the persons to increase productivity. We have many countries around the world today that are using our experience and know-how to produce many articles for our markets. They, in most cases, can place their product on the American market for a lower figure than we here at home can. This is another good reason why we must continue to have the best possible equipment and manpower to do the job.

With the skilled minds and machines we should be able to continue to show progress that will enable us to meet the competition.

Recently we read about a large taconite conversion plant on the north shore of Lake Superior. The pelletized iron extracted from taconite is said to command a premium at blast furnaces. Even so, only steady gains in productivity can keep it competitive with the iron from newly developed ore fields elsewhere and in Canada.

The plant in question began production back in 1955 with a rated capacity of 3,750,000 tons annually. Now they are reported to be producing 6 million tons, with the installing of some new machinery and the improvement of old with new materials, bottlenecks eliminated and some improvement in maintenance.

Here again brain power was brought into many of the problems and this was said to be the key that enabled the company to increase all of the operations. This is the way that most businesses today are working out many of their problems. Science, brain power and automatic machines will continue to be a great factor.

With our population growing and people living longer we are going to need all the help we can get to reduce the tax dollar waste. Right now is a good time to start. Clip this out and mail it to your congressman.

Isaiah Denounces Social and Personal Evil
Isaiah 5:11-24
By C. P. Dame

The sins which Isaiah denounced centuries ago are still committed today. And that is the reason why we can with profit study the book of Isaiah. His warning against sin and its consequences are timely.

I. Strong drink dulls the minds of people. The first word of the lesson text is "Woe," which is opposite to the pleasant word "blessed." The Bible says that woe awaits the impenitent sinner but blessedness the penitent. The prophet pronounced a woe upon people who get up early in the morning to "follow strong drink" and they continued drinking "until night till wine inflamed them."

People should get up in the morning to go to work—not to go to a drinking party. These ancient carousers had gay parties which were enlivened by music.

From modern tavern music of a certain type issues forth. Much depends upon which side of the tracks the tavern is located. Why follow these ancient parties? The prophet says that drink so blinded their understanding that they did not "regard the work of the Lord, neither consider the operation of his hands." Alcoholics give no place to God in their lives.

Not only did these drinkers hurt themselves but they also undermined the nation. "Therefore my people are gone into captivity."

The prophet knew the captivity was coming and he spoke of it as something that had already happened. Many nations have gone to ruin because of drunkenness. Both individuals and nations hasten their death by the misuse of liquor. Many auto accidents are caused by liquor.

II. Liquor makes people proud. Some people sin in secret while others sin in a brazen manner. The prophet denounced people who "draw iniquity with cords of vanity, and sin as it were with a cart rope." These people sinned defiantly and laughed at the judgments the prophet foretold. Liquor inflates people and makes them feel important. People lose the sense of values and call evil good—they are "wise in their own eyes" and "prudent in their own sight." Egoism is written on their faces. These alcoholics do not know themselves and their need.

As long as people are proud of their achievements they will not ask for help from the Lord. Liquor has always made people lose the sense of values and they therefore give fancy names to glaring wrongs and sins. We know that people under the influence of liquor do things which they would not think of doing when they are sober.

III. Drink dulls the conscience and blunts the moral sense and warps the judgment of people. The prophet mentions people who were "mighty to drink wine"—they were heroes at drinking parties but not in the cause of righteousness. Liquor made them "acquit the guilty for a bribe and deprive the innocent of his right."

The Bible often mentions judgment which follows sin. The prophet speaks of the end of evil doers. Just as stubble and dry grass burn easily, so the drinkers will come to their ruin. The words, "their root will be as rottenness, and their blossom go up like dust" tell of the decay of society. When the root of a tree becomes rotten the life of the tree will end. The prophet knew that the nation would come to ruin "for they have rejected the law of the Lord of hosts, and have despised the word of the Holy One of Israel" and when that is done a nation is sure to die.

Today there are five million alcoholics in America. One out of every nine casual drinkers becomes an alcoholic. Every day 175,000 people are absent from work because of drinking. Note some startling figures—the State spends $4.82 for court costs, jail, and for welfare for every one dollar it gets in liquor taxes and the liquor industry spends $250,000,000 every year for advertising. Total abstinence is the best.

West Ottawa Considering Request of Harrington

The West Ottawa Board of Education has taken under consideration a request from Harrington School to accept eight high school students into West Ottawa High School for the coming year.

The request was discussed at a meeting of the board Monday night but no decision was reached. Coupled with the request was an expression by parents of children involved for appreciation to Saugatuck schools for the opportunity in sending children to Saugatuck High School.

The request is for five 10th graders who have attended Saugatuck school, one 11th grader, and two 10th graders in the district who have attended other schools. One point involved in the request is change is that Saugatuck has been unable to provide particular curriculum which some parents feel their children should have.

Supt. Lloyd Van Raalte said the board would consider the Saugatuck Board of Education and the Department of Public Instruction before a decision would be made. He expected such decision would be made within a week and a half.

The board was presented with a report of the school audit which members felt was highly satisfactory. A certified audit will be published shortly.

Van Raalte also presented the superintendent's annual statistical and financial report which will be made available to all taxpayers in the district. Copies will be distributed through school children after school opens but those desiring such reports earlier may call the superintendent's office. The report includes enrollment and census figures, financial receipts and expenditures and data on transportation, hot lunch program, curriculum and bonded indebtedness.

The board considered bids submitted by manufacturers for science laboratory equipment for the new high school and accepted the bid of H. E. Sheldon Co. of Muskegon for $23,200. Bids also were considered for hardware for the new high school with contract going to the low bidder, Meyers Hardware Co. of Grand Rapids for $24,960.

The board witnessed a demonstration of a Burroughs accounting machine but no decision was made.

The board approved a program in which accident insurance will be made available to children of West Ottawa schools as offered by Royal Globe and Associated Co. The superintendent was authorized to proceed with installation of a 12-inch well on the new high school site. Tests revealed a flow in excess of 200 gallons per minute. Estimated cost will be $1,700.

A contract was approved for Mrs. David Karsten to teach first grade in Beechwood School.

The board is awaiting word from the state fire marshal's office before making final decision on three temporary classrooms needed for the coming school year. The fire marshal has not yet visited West Ottawa. No consideration was given to half-day schedules.

Police Hold Grand Haven Juveniles

Five Brothers Ranging In Age From 5 to 10 Ruin Two Classrooms

WEST OLIVE (Special) — Five Grand Haven juveniles with an obvious dislike for school teachers and arithmetic broke into the West Olive School at Crosswell St. and 146th Ave. Sunday afternoon and ransacked two classrooms and the school kitchen.

The youngsters, all brothers ranging from five to 10 years old, were nabbed by State Police from the Grand Haven post about 10 p.m. Sunday. Indelible ink stains on their hands gave them away.

The children entered the school by breaking out a window in the rear door of the building and crawling through the window.

Books piled on shelves in the classroom were toppled to the floor. Arithmetic books took the most punishment. Most of them had been thrown across the room and had their covers ripped off.

The children piled litter on the teacher's desk and poured ink over the mess. Desk drawers were emptied and the contents strewn about the room.

The young vandals went into the school kitchen and turned on all the burners and oven of the stove. One youngster who apparently cut himself on a first aid kit and applied self-medication. A fire extinguisher indicated that it had been tampered with, but apparently the youngsters did not know how to operate it.

The kindergarten room appeared to be hardest hit by the destructive youngsters. Books and furniture were tipped over and strewn about, toys were scattered and dishes broken.

West Ottawa Superintendent of Schools Lloyd Van Raalte estimated that damage to the contents of the building would run from $300 to $500. Much of the equipment could be salvaged, he said, but the cost of cleaning up the school would be high.

State police were notified about 7 p.m. after a local youngster discovered the vandalism and told his parents. Troopers checked out several youngsters in the area before finding the culprits who were visiting in West Olive. The ink they had poured on the teacher's desk was a dead giveaway. Fingerprints found on broken dishes and the first aid kit indicated that very young children had been involved.

KINDERGARTEN ROOM RANSACKED — Five boys, not a tornado, produced this mess in the kindergarten room of the West Olive School Sunday afternoon. Superintendent of West Ottawa Schools Lloyd Van Raalte investigates to determine how much of the litter can be saved. The youngsters, all brothers, scattered debris, spilled ink and broke several dishes from the school kitchen. Van Raalte said much of the equipment could be salvaged, but that the job of cleaning up the school would be tremendous. The youngsters broke a window to get into the building. (Sentinel photo)

8 Teams Play in B League Legion Tourney

Play starts Saturday in the American Legion B League Invitation baseball tournament at the Jefferson School diamond at 32nd St. and Michigan Ave.

Three Holland teams will be competing in the tourney. They include Padnos Iron, managed by Wally Hasty, Wire Products, managed by John Anderson and First National Bank, managed by Douglas Thorpe.

The tourney will run for two Saturdays, Aug. 20, 27 and Sept. 3. The tourney will be a one-game elimination and the winner will receive a trophy. The B League is composed of 13-15 year-old boys.

Trophies will be presented by the three Holland sponsors of teams in the event, First National Bank, Padnos Iron and Wire Products.

First National Bank entered the tourney this week when Bangor dropped out. The other entries are Allegan, managed by Jack McIntire; Fennville, Roger Webb; Grandville, C. Woodburn; Hudsonville, Leonard Van Boven and South Haven, Fred Krikske.

Games will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday. In the first contest First National will play Grandville. This will be followed at 11:30 a.m. by the Hudsonville-Allegan game.

In the afternoon at 2 p.m., Wire Products tangles with Fennville and at 4:30 p.m., Padnos Iron and South Haven will play in the final game of the day.

In second round games next week, the winner of game No. 1 will play the winner of game No. 3 while the winners of games No. 2 and 4 will clash. The winners will then play for the championship.

The tourney was scheduled to begin in South Haven last Saturday but heavy earth-moving equipment was moved onto the South Haven field in preparation for construction of the new South Haven school and this prevented the tournament from being played.

Tourney officials got together and decided to move the tourney back to Holland, the original site. When the tourney was first talked about, it was decided to hold it in Holland at Riverview Park.

But the sod from right field had been taken and put onto the football field and made play in the outfield difficult. Now the tourney has been moved to the Jefferson School diamond, the regular season playing site of the B League Legion teams in Holland.

Miss Patricia J. Hower Is Bride of Paul Elzinga

Mrs. Paul Elzinga (Prince photo)

A 4 o'clock ceremony in Western Theological Seminary Chapel Saturday solemnized the marriage of Miss Patricia Jane Hower and Paul Elzinga. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. William Hillegonds.

Escorted by her brother, Lee W. Hower, the bride approached the altar adorned with white gladioli and mums and candelabra. The wedding music was played at the organ by Miss Ruth De Witt. "The Pledge" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Miss Helder De Witt.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Worth A. Hower of 188 West 24th St. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Elzinga of 131 West 21st St.

For her wedding, Miss Hower selected a gown of ivory peau de soie styled with a princess bodice featuring a scalloped chantilly lace neckline trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. The bouffant skirt, which terminated in a chapel train, was fashioned with lace insets at the scalloped hemline. A crown of lace and seed pearls secured her tiered veil of bridal illusion. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of cimbidium orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Lee W. Hower was matron of honor and the Misses Linda Raven and Barbara Burns were bridesmaids. They wore ballerina length gowns of white and coral silk organza. Midriff inserts and bow sashes of pure silk coral at the back of the bouffant skirts were features of the gowns. The attendants also wore Juliet caps of coral petals with pearl drops to hold their veils. Their colonial bouquets contained white and pink carnations.

The groom asked his brother, Marshall Elzinga, to be best man. The ushers were Stuart Post, Dale Yntema and Paul Dykema. Mrs. Hower wore a dress of blue silk organza with matching hat and white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of white cimbidium orchids. The mother of the groom wore a beige silk dress and a turban design hat trimmed with orchid flowers. She had an orchid corsage.

A reception for 150 guests was held after the ceremony in the Commons Room of the Seminary. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Grady of Whitehall were master and mistress of ceremonies.

Mrs. Clyde Butties and Mrs. Lloyd Slag, aunts of the bride and groom, poured. Mrs. Donald Jencks, who had arranged the room, also served the wedding cake. Assisting at the bride's table were the Mesdames Frank Walters, Howard Douwstra, Peter Tuinsma, George Smith and Lester Lampen and Miss Betty Cook.

Punch was poured by the Misses Suzanne De Pree, Mary Bosch, Garnet Harrington and Joyce Dalebout. The gifts were arranged by Miss Gayle Steketeer and Dave Wehrmeyer. The bride's cousin, Mark Slag, passed the guest book.

A blue linen suit, white accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet were chosen as a traveling ensemble by the new Mrs. Elzinga. After an eastern wedding trip, the newlyweds will live at 194 West 15th St.

The bride is a junior at Hope College and her husband has received a Bachelor of Science degree in Civil Engineering from Michigan College of Mining and Technology. He will be associated with the staff of Elzinga and Volkers Construction Engineers.

Pre-nuptial parties for the former Miss Hower were given by her grandmother, Mrs. Marietta Walshe; the Mesdames Gerrit De Leeuw, Clyde Butties, Peter Tuinsma, Roger Bussies, Ronald Korterling, Jack Tuinsma, Jack De Pond, Lloyd Slag, Lee Hower and Robert T. Jones, and the Mesdames Garnet Harrington, Sally Telman, Cecilia Ver Hagt and Celia Jane Yntema.

Local Man Dies Following Crash

Holland recorded its second traffic fatality of 1960 as S. L. Tucker, 53, of 91 East Ninth St., died at Holland Hospital of injuries received in a two-car collision Thursday at the intersection of 12th St. and College Ave.

Officials at the hospital said that Tucker died of internal injuries at 3:30 p.m. Thursday, about four hours after the crash which injured two other persons.

Mrs. Illaine Santora, 33, of 625 North Shore Dr., driver of the second car, was discharged from Holland Hospital after treatment for a lacerated upper lip, mouth injuries and lacerations of the right knee. Mrs. Santora's son, David, 7, was treated for a severe bump on the forehead and released, according to hospital officials.

Holland police today were continuing their investigation of the mishap. Police reported receiving conflicting accounts of the accident from witnesses, and are seeking to determine the exact cause of the collision.

Tucker's car was spun around by the impact of the collision and struck a utility pole on the southeast corner of the intersection. The force with which Tucker's car struck the pole set off a fire alarm box on the pole. By the time firemen arrived at the scene, Tucker's car had begun burning.

Tucker was born in Arkansas and has lived in Holland for the past two years. He was employed at Keeler Brass Co. in Grand Rapids.

Surviving are his wife Esther; four daughters, Mrs. Frankie Mae Kellum of Holland, Mrs. Jean Melton of Zeeland, Rachel Marie and Dorothy of Holland; two sons, Willis George and Glenn Edward, both of Holland; two sisters, Mrs. Clara McDaniel of Zeeland and Mrs. George McDaniel of West Memphis, Ark.; one brother, Otis Tucker of Monticello, Ark.; three half sisters, Mrs. Eula Edmonds of Star City, Ark., Mrs. Ida Davies of Richmond, Calif. and Mrs. Lela Green of Monticello, Ark.

Youngsters Smear House Paint Over Automobile

Ottawa County deputies today were looking for youthful vandals who splashed blue and green house paint on a car owned by John Olthoff of 119 East 16th St. Tuesday night.

Olthoff told deputies he had his car parked in a driveway at the Otto Van Til home on Rose Ave. between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. When he left the Van Til home at 9:30, he discovered that his car had been smeared with paint.

Olthoff, who reported the incident to deputies today, said he rushed home and removed most of the paint with turpentine Tuesday night. Deputies said they believed the vandalism was the work of children.

Police Chase Motorcyclist

A 24-year-old Grand Rapids man was charged with reckless driving of a motorcycle Saturday after he led Holland police, Zeeland police and Ottawa County deputies on a 40-minute chase.

Special patrolman Cotton Rogers said he was about to stop Marvin Sherwood of 110 Brown SW, for excessive noise when Sherwood took off at a high rate of speed. The chase began at 4 p.m. at the intersection of Eighth St. and Columbia Ave., and ended on 80th Ave. about three miles northeast of Zeeland, according to Holland police.

Three Holland police cars, two Zeeland police cars and three sheriff department cars were called to help stop Sherwood.

Holland police said that, during the chase, Sherwood took his motorcycle through fields, and damaged a pickle crop on the farm of Louis Brower, route 1, Zeeland.

Ottawa County Farm News

By Richard Machiele

Ottawa County Extension Director Some folks in the area have been asking about the Crops-Soils Field Day at MSU. The date for this event has been changed to Sept. 8 and many of our people will be interested in attending this event. It will be held at the Farm Crops and Soil Science Experimental Plots and begins at 9:30 a.m.

This past week some of our Christmas Tree producers had a training session in grading Christmas trees by U. S. standard grades. The purpose of this training session was to have these producers become better acquainted with how to determine grades which would lead the way toward selling locally-grown trees by U. S. grades. This session was held in cooperation with Michigan's West Shore Nursery Group, who this year plan to have their trees checked by Federal-State Inspection Service and have loads certified on U. S. standard grades. We feel this is a step in the right direction. As soon as we can advertise Christmas trees to meet U. S. standards we can expand our markets tremendously.

Glass fiber filters are proving to be a good way to keep sediment out of field tile lines laid in sandy soils. Research in Ohio revealed that in 3 1/2 times as much sediment in unprotected tile lines as in lines protected with glass fiber filters, and the same tests showed nearly twice as much water flowing from the protected lines as from the unprotected ones.

According to Michigan State University engineers who supplied the test results, each cubic foot of water that entered the unprotected tile lines contained about seven times as much sediment as water entering the protected lines. Other tests at Colorado Agricultural Experiment Station showed that the glass fiber material with the glass fiber reinforcing yarn in a swirl pattern works much better than materials with the reinforcing yard arranged in straight rows.

It was also found that two to four inches of topsoil should be put over the material on the tile by hand before backfilling to prevent tearing and breaking. Drainage contractors are urged to keep up to date on the use of glass fiber filter materials, because this method of protecting tile lines in sandy soils looks very promising. If sand can enter the tile line from underneath, the contractor should consider use of plastic and glass fiber material under the line to prevent filling of the line from that direction.

The face fly, a new animal pest in Michigan, is making life miserable for many cattle this summer. A cousin of the common house fly, this insect laps animal secretions from under and around the eyes, mouth and nostrils and is believed to carry the germs of pink-eye. It is similar in appearance though somewhat larger than the house fly.

Males have a yellow abdomen with a black line down the center of the back. Females have a grayish-green abdomen. Entomologists at MSU advise that the fly can be controlled with applications of several kinds of chemicals. These can be brushed on the faces of the animals or used in back-rubbers. Directions for the use of these materials are available from Ottawa County Extension Offices at Grand Haven and Zeeland. The fly attacks both beef and dairy cattle.

Providing shades areas gives some relief but some treatment must be used to ward off the pests while cows are grazing. Dairy cows can be treated individually when they come in for milking but back-rubbers soaked with fly repellents or other chemicals are most practical for beef cattle.

In talking with Bob Blackburn, Dept. of Agricultural Foods and Standards supervisor, a week or so ago, he called attention to the fact that one of the problems in their department is the checking of pink wheat, or seed wheat, that has been treated for smut control, which had been blended into a load of wheat going into trade channels. For the most part this wheat is left-over and the amounts are generally very small. Tolerance on such wheat is zero.

If any treated wheat is found, the load is condemned. He tells me that a carload originating in Ottawa County was checked at Cleveland and found to contain this wheat and was condemned with great loss to everyone concerned. We urge that any left-over wheat be destroyed, either burn it or bury it. Treated wheat contains mercury which is a deadly poison compound and should never be fed to livestock. Let's not jeopardize our wheat market by putting this treated wheat on the market.
