Graafschap Sidewalk Not Fully Settled

Council OKs Double Yellow Line Plus Reduced Speed Zone

After considering a petition signed by 25 residents on Graafschap Rd. protesting laying of a sidewalk on the east side of the road from 22nd to 29th Sts., City Council Wednesday night filed the report and then voted unanimously to order a double yellow line down the center of the road and erect signs reducing the 35-mile speed limit to 25 miles. This will be in effect from South Shore Dr. to 32nd St.

Some Councilmen, although they voted for the double yellow line and reduced speed limit, felt that this was not a solid solution to a safety problem in the area and after further discussion, the matter was referred to the Traffic and Safety Commission for study and recommendation.

The petition protesting laying of the sidewalk pointed out that Graafschap Rd. did not have permanent curbs and that future grading and curbing along with continued suburban development might result in removal of walks. There also was the question of demand for such a walk coming from persons in other subdivisions which did not have walks.

R. C. Sage, of 549 West 31st St., and George Lieverse, of 357 West 31st St., the latter a chairman of a committee of the Montello Park PTA seeking a walk as a safety factor for children attending school, presented strong reasons why such a walk was necessary. Lieverse felt the city should investigate the whole matter and come up with a solution. He felt a reduced speed limit without reduced radar policing would be futile, and as a last resort suggested a diagonal divider, possibly at 26th St. to reduce traffic on Graafschap Rd.

Ed Schierbeek, who lives on the corner of 29th and Graafschap Rd., one of the petition signers, said he has three children who walk the route four times daily. He questioned whether a walk could be laid because of the line of trees. City Manager Herb Holt said a walk could be constructed perhaps 8 to 12 inches nearer the street than the city setback with some bends in the walks for trees. He also said such a walk could be plowed like any other city walk in the winter.

When it appeared that Council would not act directly on a sidewalk that night, Sage asked if the matter could be referred to some experts or some city group for study. It was on Councilman William De Haan's motion that it was referred to the Traffic and Safety Commission. Councilman Richard Smith felt that the laying of sidewalks, although expensive to some property owners, is the price one pays for progress in his city, adding that certainly everyone wants Holland to grow.

Council awarded contracts for fuel oil needs for the coming winter. For No. 5 fuel oil for Holland Hospital and Civic Center, Council approved the bid of Ray Smith Oil Co. at 8.75 cents per gallon. The company, the present supplier, was among eight bidders and was among three identical low bids. The other two were not local firms.

For No. 2 fuel oil for the Cemetery department, Council approved low bid of Boeve Oil Co. at 11.8 cents per gallon. It was the lowest of five bids submitted.

Council also purchased two trucks for the Street Department, one in the 18,000 gross vehicle weight class from R. E. Barber, Inc. in net amount of $3,220 and another 25,000 GVW dump truck from International Harvester Co. in net amount of $5,094.94. The first was low of four bids and the second was lowest of three bids. All bids allowed for trade-ins.

Council approved a $4,250 appropriation for the Board of Public Works for the purpose of determining possible damages incurred by possible collusion on prices of several electric companies, covering electrical purchases over a number of years. In its report, the Board of Public Works said it had not budgeted any expenses for carrying on the litigation and the transfer approved comes from receiving funds of the electric department.

This legal action is in keeping with work of the National Institute of Municipal Law Officers of which Holland is a member. City Attorney James E. Townsend attended a NIMLO conference in Washington, D.C., last February.

In other business, Townsend explained a proposed registration records agreement with the Lakeview School District in which the district would be entitled to use city registration records for school elections. The agreement was approved.

The Board of Public Works informed Council that it does not at this time have a project to develop to make application for Federal grant of funds.

Holland police identified the cab driver as Orlan W. Uitermark, 27, of 146½ West 18th St. Uitermark was cited for interfering with through traffic. Ten Cate's jeep overturned in the collision.

Shop Bids Under Study By Board

Sealed bids for the construction of the shop building at the new high school site were opened Aug. 7 but are still under study by the buildings and grounds committee, the Board of Education was informed Monday night.

Bids follow: Marvin Vanderveen, Kalamazoo, $73,425; Elzinga and Volkers, Holland, $74,800 with an alternate for deducting $7,450 in case a Butler-type building is erected; Martin Dyke and Sons, Holland, $79,200.

Building Consultant Arthur Read currently is checking all phases of the alternate bid. The buildings and grounds committee will meet in advance of a special board meeting two weeks hence. Meanwhile, the committee was authorized to issue a letter of intent to the winning contractor.

The buildings and grounds committee also recommended purchase of the final items of furniture for the new high school which the board approved:

1. 500 student desk combinations from Virco Manufacturing Corp. at $15.27 per unit.

2. 52 teachers' desks from American Seating Co. at $73.50 each.

3. 967 student chairs with book racks and 60 without book racks from Virco Manufacturing Corp. at $7.45 with book racks and $6.75 without book racks.

4. 54 two-student tables for use in classrooms from American Desk Co. at $27.50 each.

5. 64 tables for commons area from American Desk Co. at $38.70 each.

6. 12 round tables from American Desk Co. at $38.90 each.

7. 25 bookkeeping tables from Heywood-Wakefield Co. at $23.20 per unit.

8. 41 typing desks from Peabody Manufacturing Co. at $31.25 and 11 desks from Heywood-Wakefield Co. at $33.15.

9. 15 tables for office practice classes from Heywood-Wakefield at $25.25 each. Grand total for all items is $25,954.65.

Also approved was purchase of an incinerator from Incinerator Products Co. at low quotation of $3,378, and finish hardware for Lincoln gymnasium from Meyers Hardware of Grand Rapids at $1,660.

Parking areas and drives on the new high school site also were approved. There will be no parking at the rear of the auditorium or at the field house. Approximately 200 cars will be accommodated in an area on the northwest corner of the site.

A financial report of building affairs by the finance committee revealed that $65,000 had been received from the Herrick Foundation with other gifts amounting to $721.57. Total expenditures up to July 15 were $1,178,995.56 with a cash balance of $1,096,489.33 which included $1,065,000 in U. S. treasury bills maturing July 15. On July 18 treasury bills in the amount of $750,000 to mature next Jan. 18 were purchased at 2.37.

The board approved a finance committee recommendation to transfer $35,426.42 from the 1960 High School Building and Site Fund to the general Building and Site Fund in view of the fact that these expenditures from 1959 to 1961 were part of the new high school planning and development.

The board amended action taken May 16 to transfer the balance in the 1953 school bond debt retirement to include $845.99 which was paid in delinquent taxes between the time the board took the action and the time of transfer.

The total transfer now amounts to $2,811.82.

Request for funds needed for August totaled $39,989.68. This does not include teachers' salaries paid on a 12-month schedule since salaries are credited to the school year ending June 30.

The general financial report revealed $90,000 had been received in local taxes during July and the short-term loan with Peoples State Bank of $67,671.99 had been paid, putting the school financial picture back into the black.

Premature Explosion Traps Men

John Ver Beek Sr., Was Helping to Blast Rock On Son's Farm in Dorr

DORR — A Zeeland father and his son were killed instantly when a dynamite charge exploded prematurely on the son's farm near Dorr Monday night.

Killed in the blast were John Ver Beek Sr., 55, of 39 West

John Ver Beek Sr.

Central Ave., Zeeland, and his son John Jr., 21, of route 1, Dorr. Another son, Marvin, 18, who was standing about 100 yards away at the time of the blast, was not injured.

The accident occurred at 8 p.m. while the two men were attempting to dynamite a large rock out of the ground. The younger Ver Beek's farm is located on 146th Ave., one-half mile west of 14th St., in Dorr Township in Allegan County.

Medical examiner Dr. C. A. Dickinson of Wayland pronounced the pair dead at the scene of the explosion.

State police from the Wayland post said the pair was using four full sticks of dynamite. They were in the process of lighting the fuse when the blast occurred, troopers said.

Ver Beek and his two sons all had used dynamite before, troopers said, and were used to handling it.

Marvin told state police the fuse his father and brother were using had been purchased some time ago. Troopers said the old and possibly faulty fuse may have caused the charge to go off prematurely.

Marvin, who had been with his

father and brother, moved back about 100 yards before the fuse was lit. The fuse was short, the type "you light and run," state police said.

The elder Ver Beek was employed at the Huizenga Wholesale Meat Dealer in Grandville, and his son was employed at the Moline Farmers' Co-op.

The senior Ver Beek was a member of the Third Christian Reformed Church in Zeeland, and John Jr. was a member of the Moline Christian Reformed Church.

Surviving are the wife and mother, Dena; sons and brothers, Corwin and Marvin, both of Dorr; daughters and sisters, Mrs. Howard Keizer of Wayland, and Mrs. Earl Wiers of Dorr; nine grandchildren; three brothers of John Ver Beek Sr., Harm C. of Kalamazoo, Albert C. of Zeeland, and Gerrit C. of Holland; five sisters, Mrs. Edward Buscher of Bennington, Mrs. Bert A. Vander Kolk of Oakland, Mrs. Martin Hoeve of Holland, and Mrs. James Vander Hoop of Redlands, Calif.

Plan Move For Next January

Seven Buildings See Rapid Progress In Busy Program

Holland's new award winning senior high school under construction at 24th and Van Raalte is taking on the appearance of a more complete building every day. During the summer, the contractors of the various trades have all collaborated in the construction of the seven buildings. Because these buildings represent putting together pre-fab materials in assembly line fashion, residents see rapid progress.

The two academic classroom units are presently enclosed. The second floor units (science and business classrooms) are partially enclosed with window frames and window in. The first floor of the west unit has window frames and glazing completed. The window frames are in the east unit. All masonry work will be finished in a few weeks.

The large circular field house has given Holland Senior High School a building one third larger than originally planned for the same cost and is 85 per cent finished. The light fixtures are in the dome and power ventilations are in the roof. Window frames and glazing will be completed by Sept. 1.

The central library unit has all but the exterior wall erected and roofing and glazing will follow. Precast concrete panels are being erected for the auditorium. This building will seat 713 people in the main section. It includes a complete stage, instrumental and vocal music department and storage areas. The conduct of the closed circuit television centers in a large multi-purpose room in the rear.

The art center roof is being completed and exterior walls will be finished by Tuesday of next week. The installation of these panels will complete all exterior masonry. The contract for the shop building will be let this week to be completed during the fall.

Holland Senior High School represents many years of planning with educators and administrators. The buildings are deliberately designed to appear small and home like. Every attempt is made to follow educator's demands and architect's specifications. Therefore, although not new in the United States, Holland has a high school new to its townspeople. The American Institute of Architects and the Association of School Administrators have both recognized the soundness of design by selecting the building as one of the most significant schools in America.

One of the reasons for soundness of design is the lack of corridors. Most schools have 25 per cent corridor space. Holland has 5 per cent corridor space. Thus when taxpayers pay $14.18 per square foot, they are paying for instruction area and not walking space for between classes.

Students Cause Tense Moments

SAUGATUCK — Saugatuck was quiet again today with only a memory of the noisy, milling crowds of college students that roamed the streets Saturday and early Sunday remaining.

An estimated 5,000 to 6,000 young people, mostly college students looking for excitement, swarmed into town Saturday night, leading to a situation that could have rivalled last winter's Fort Lauderdale, Fla., situation. But police quelled any trouble before it got started.

State police and Allegan County deputies were called into town by Saugatuck Police Chief Charles Probert when the crowds got too big and too boisterous for him and his eight men.

Sgt. Fred Buschell, commander of the South Haven State Police post, said the crowd was looking for excitement and tried to create it. He said police dispersed throughout the town and failed to give the milling crowd—a focal point of attention.

Roads leading into Saugatuck were blocked, and only persons who could prove they had rooms in town or lived in the village, were permitted to get into town.

All bars and taverns were closed at 11 p.m. Police said that most of the students, who had been drinking, began to quiet down when they "ran out of steam."

after they could no longer buy beer.

There were only isolated instances of property damage and fighting, Buschell said. One youth was injured when apparently hit by a thrown beer bottle, and another was burned on the arm by a firecracker, he said.

The crowd in town was equalled by the number of persons attending the second annual Saugatuck Music Festival, held two miles south of Saugatuck. Buschell said the students in town causing the trouble apparently came looking for a good time and were not interested in the jazz concert going on at the same time.

A fire truck had been called out to help disperse the mobs of students, but was sent back a short time later to prevent any incident which might touch off a student demonstration.

By 2 a.m. things had quieted down, officials said, and by 4 a.m. state police and deputies withdrew.

Buschell said the crowd was not a vicious crowd. He said they were a happy, singing group, who could not have been music lovers by the sound of their singing. They were just looking for some fun, he said.

Most of the 29 troopers and Allegan deputies who were called into town had been on traffic control assignments at the jazz festival.

TWO CULTURES MEET — Little Doris looks a little bit apprehensive as she is introduced to Holland and her first pair of wooden shoes. Doris is a Korean orphan adopted by the William Ambuuls of Fennville. Although Doris is almost three years old, she weighs only 15 pounds. The Ambuuls will "fatten her up" and give her the family life she has never had.

Korean Child Begins New Life in Fennville Home

Doris, a Korean orphan who will be three years old in November, is the new addition to the William Ambuul family of rural Fennville.

The Ambuuls waited over a year to get Doris from the Holt Adoption Program in Cresswell, Ore., but the big day arrived at the end of July when Mrs. Ambuul left for Portland, Ore., to meet Doris' plane.

When Mrs. Ambuul arrived in Portland she found that the plane was detained and would be five days late. When the long awaited moment arrived and she had Doris in her arms Mrs. Ambuul discovered that the clothes she had purchased were much too big.

Although Doris is almost three years old, she weighs only 15 pounds because of malnutrition and sickness. Mrs. Ambuul had bought clothes for a regular three-year-old.

The plane in which Doris flew the Pacific was loaded with other Korean orphans, all coming to the United States to be adopted by American couples. The prospective mothers and fathers were not allowed to see the children until they were unloaded from the plane, checked by immigration authorities and dressed in the clothes which the parents-to-be had taken with them.

Finally each orphan was presented and the foster parents stepped up to claim theirs, seeing the child for the first time. The children were then ready to begin their life as "sons and daughters" in American homes.

Mrs. Ambuul said the agency does some checking on the religion and financial condition of the interested couples. They try to place the children in homes where there will be a lot of love and happiness.

Doris does not speak English but she and Mrs. Ambuul understand each other quite well through sign language. Mrs. Ambuul says Doris "wants to eat all the time," and the Ambuuls hope "to fatten her up."

The three Ambuul children remaining at home, Marilyn, Gordon and William, make quite a fuss over Doris and are happy to welcome her as their sister.

Music Festival Attracts 6,500 to Saugatuck Site

SAUGATUCK — Saturday night's performance at the Festival Forum topped Friday night's concert in the second annual Saugatuck Music Festival with top-rated Duke Ellington and his orchestra as the feature.

The audience of 6,500 on the second night proved even more responsive to the music and the antics of the entertainers. The night was cool and clear with spectators for the most part prepared for the chill.

Al Beutler and his Michigan State University quartet started the ball rolling. One of the newer sextets on the modern jazz scene was Al Belletto's group which has played every major jazz room in the country. His young, aggressive band played old standards in novel arrangements.

The Kirby Stone Four were added to the festival program for contrast. They translated ordinary doings into humorous perfection. They were backed up in their typical night club act by the Stelletto sextet with whom they have worked many times.

During the intermission the stage was reset for Duke Ellington and his orchestra. The always suave Duke and his drummer, were crowd pleasers.

Bob Pierson and his quartet, who took honors Friday night repeated their popularity. Others on the program were the Dixieland Kings, the 16-year-old group who opened the Friday night show, Jan Arien who was supported by the Pierson quartet and Ann Richards, backed up by the Beutler combo.

Total attendance at the Festival Forum for the two nights was estimated at about 10,000.

The Lively Quad, sponsors of the festival "would like to repeat the festival next year. They have the land and it will depend on the town's attitude toward another attraction. Saugatuck may not be big enough to handle the crowds that come for such an event," said Mrs. Richard Hoffman, secretary of the Quad.

Mr. Schroteboer escorted the bride to the altar for the double ring ceremony. Her floor-length gown of silk organza featured a moderately scooped neckline, trimmed in sequins and pearls. Scattered jeweled medallions of champagne-lace adorned the bouffant skirt which had an apron effect over a chantilly lace panel ending in a chapel train. Her pearl and crystal crown held an elbow-length veil of imported illusion and she carried a cascade of white daisies and yellow roses. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, gift of the groom.

Miss Maria Langejans, sister of the groom, as maid of honor, wore a yellow street-length dress of nylon organza with sabrina neckline, featuring a bow and streamers down the front of the skirt. She wore a matching crown and veil and carried a cascade of white daisies.

The flower girl, Nancy Langejans, sister of the groom, wore a floor-length gown of white nylon, embroidered with lace down the front of the skirt and along the hem. She had a daisy headpiece and carried a basket of daisy petals. Ring bearer was Gilbert McClain, cousin of the bride.

The groom's attendants included

Douglas Lamberson of Hillsdale as best man; Paul Hulst, cousin of the groom, and Ronald Lubbers, groomsmen; Glen Langejans, brother of the groom, junior groomsmen, and Alvin Buscher and Lloyd Bonzelaar, ushers.

Appropriate organ music was played by Mrs. Jean Den Bleeker. She also accompanied the soloist, Warren Plaggemars, who sang "Together Life's Pathway We Tread," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Schroteboer wore a pink sheath embroidered dress, featuring a cummerbund and flowing panels down the sides. With it she had white and deep rose accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink rose buds.

Mrs. Langejans, mother of the groom, selected a dress featuring a white background accented by yellow and lavender roses. Her accessories were in lavender and her corsage of white carnations and yellow rose buds.

Approximately 200 were present. Punch bowl attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Allen Nienhuis and in charge of the gift room were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Den Bleeker and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hulst. DID YOU SEE ECHO?

Saturday, August 12, 1961, marked the first anniversary of Echo. We were star gazing Friday evening with some other young people and they called the event to our attention as Echo sailed across the sky.

It was high up in the Heavens shortly before ten o'clock in the evening. Echo is the balloon satellite which has been circling the world for a year. Many times during the year we have published the time that Echo would be visible. Millions of people have no doubt stood gazing at the stars and the heavenly bodies, and then they catch a glimpse of the satellite Echo as it sails across the sky.

Reports indicate that there are some amazing figures that have been compiled concerning the number of orbits that total 4,480 with a distance of 138,136,000 miles. This reads like some of the figures that we encounter when we read about the number of dollars it takes to run some of the departments of our government. Echo was designed for the purpose and launched so that further information could be collected to find out how aid could be given to worldwide communication by reflecting tv and radio waves.

Our former president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, described the 100 foot diameter satellite as a project "for peaceful purposes for the benefit of all mankind."

Echo could stand as a historical symbol that could lead to further space satellites for the collecting of data. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) are working on the preparation for the launching of a larger and stronger balloon satellite that will be 20 times stronger than Echo.

Echo's silver aluminum skin that is very thin now, punctured with by some of the Micrometeorites, tiny space particles. As it travels in a near vacuum with very little air pressure, therefore it does not de-late.

Being launched into orbit about 1,000 miles high last December, it is reported to have been within 580 miles of the earth. Someday it may be pushed into denser hotter areas and then burn the scientists report.

More and more we live scientifically. And if we can continue to use science to make the world better, then perhaps we can convince the people around the world that this is the better way to live and keep the peace.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, August 20
Silas, A Trustworthy Leader
Acts 15:22, 30-32, 39-41; 16:19-25;
1 Thessalonians 1:1; 1 Peter 5:12
By C. P. Dame

This lesson tells about an able man who was willing to take second place and do his work with enthusiasm. There are some church members who are not willing to play second fiddle to anyone. If they are not given the honors and places they demand they will not serve. They need the spirit of Silas who always did his best as a worker in the church.

1. Able workers deserve recognition. Silas was one of Paul's able fellow-workers. Like Paul he was a Roman citizen and had a Latin name, Silvanus. We first read about him in connection with the Council which was held in Jerusalem in the year A.D. 50 at which the church decided that it was not necessary for Gentile converts to submit to all the Jewish Ceremonial laws.

The Council decided to bring this resolution to the churches. A letter can be cold and so a committee was appointed consisting of Paul, Barnabas, Judas and Silas to bring this resolution to the churches. It was a compliment to Judas and Silas to be selected for this committee. They were active members and able for in Antioch these two men spoke to the church and they "exhorted the brethren with many words and strengthened them." They used their ability to build the church. The church accepted the report and so their mission was successful.

Paul and Barnabas had a quarrel about John Mark. The two were planning another missionary tour. Barnabas suggested taking John Mark along with them and give him another trial but Paul objected and the two separated and each chose a companion—Paul took Silas along and he proved to be a companion fit for valiant service.

The two went to Europe in response to a call from the man of Macedonia. In Philippi both were arrested and locked in jail in which they prayed and sang at midnight. As these two men served and suffered together they grew together in faith and love. Paul was always ready to suffer but he also stood up for his rights and therefore he told the officials in Philippi that since they had scourged him and Silas publicly and locked them up in prison unjustly, although they were Roman citizens, he insisted that they lead them out of prison publicly. These officials apologized and led them out most humbly.

II. To work with another faithfully is commendable. In Philippi Silas learned that some people prefer profits to people and in Thessalonica where the two preached he observed the jealousy of the Jewish rabbis. Undoubtedly his admiration for Paul increased as he noted how he took opposition. In Berea, the two at first enjoyed success, and then they met with opposition for Jews came from Thessalonica and started trouble.

In his second letter to the church at Thessalonica there is the phrase, "Paul, and Silvanus and Timothy." Only in five other epistles does Paul include others as co-authors. In the two epistles to Thessalonica the pronoun "we" appears more than in any other epistle. In his first epistle Peter mentions Silas (Silvanus) and calls him "a faithful brother." It has been suggested that Silas wrote out First Peter or touched it up here and there and gave the letter its literary form.

Silas shows us to be trustworthy workers with others who love the Lord and do our best to present the gospel regardless whether we lead or follow, occupy a prominent place or a lesser position. If some leaders in churches had shown the spirit of Silas the history of the church would have been different and the church would be more united.

Educational TV OK'd by School Board

The Board of Education took initial steps Monday night to establish a program of educational television in the high school, starting specifically with American history and biology.

The selection of these two subjects stems from the enthusiasm shown by instructors Ervin D. Hanson and Jack Aussicker, who together with Librarian Lucille Donovan took an intensive two-week workshop earlier this summer to acquaint them with the program as developed by project leaders of the Midwest Project of Airborne Television Instruction.

Specifically, the board approved expenditures of $2,500 to $3,000 to erect an aerial and lead-in and ground wires, and install four receivers in the assembly room of the present Holland High School. Should the program work out as local leaders expect, the television program will continue when the move is made to the new high school in mid-term.

Plans call for large group classes of about 100 students, to be supplemented by smaller groups and in some cases individual conferences. Hanson gave an enthusiastic description of the forthcoming program, proclaiming it an ideal solution for educating the student who has difficulty in reading. He emphasized that the classroom teacher will not be displaced and that television education will upgrade any other type of teaching. The national program is sponsored by the Ford Foundation for the first year and is expected to be sponsored by other industries later.

High School Principal J.W. Formosa assured board members that scheduling will be possible without difficulty, allowing considerable flexibility in the schedules, particularly in view of the fact that the telecasts will be available twice a day.

Supt. Walter W. Scott hailed the forthcoming television program as one of the most important and significant advances in a long time, and indicated it would only be a matter of time before other subjects are added to the television curriculum.

Plans are being made for an informal board meeting on an evening when a television program explaining educational television to boards of education will be available.

she was evacuated to Sweden while Finland was fighting Russia during World War II. After the war she returned to Helsinki to attend elementary schools. She is currently attending a secondary girls' school.

After her year in Allegan Tuula will return to Helsinki to complete the last year of her secondary education. She then expects to enter college to study for a teaching career.

Frederick McDonald, Allegan Rotary Club International Contacts Director, has made arrangements for the student exchange as a part of Rotary's program of working for peace through international understanding.

Tuula will arrive in Detroit at the end of August and will be met by McDonald and the Malilas.

Navy Counts On Bob Teall For Football

Bob Teall, former Holland High Hope College football and tennis player and member of the 1958 Sentinel All Area football team, is listed as the No. 3 left halfback on the Navy football team.

Teall will be among Navy prospects reporting for opening drills on Aug. 24 at the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md. Teall is a 20-year-old sophomore who is 5'10" and 172.

He played second team fullback on the plebe team last year and was described by Navy officials as a small but very hard runner.

Bob Teall, No. 3 left halfback. He showed potential in spring practice but lacks experience, Coach Wayne Hardin said.

Teall, who likes fishing and hunting, played football at Hope College in 1959 and was one of the top backs. His shifty running impressed Hope Coach Russ De Vette and also has been noticed by the Navy staff.

The Holland athlete is one of three sophomores counted on to backfield by All-American Joe Bellino. He is presently listed as third team left half behind Jim Stewart and Vic Meyer, two varsity lettermen.

Teall, who also was regional doubles tennis champion while at Holland High is in the 1964 class and has three years of football eligibility at Navy.

The middies open the season at Penn State and conclude the season on Dec. 2 against Army in Philadelphia. Navy had a 9-1 record last season and lost to Missouri in the Orange Bowl.

Teall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan F. Teall of 280 West 17th St.

Tax Collections At 90.75 Per Cent

City tax collections Wednesday totaled $1,604,526 or 90.75 per cent of the tax levy of $1,767,954.90, according to City Treasurer Alden Stoner. Deadline for paying taxes without penalty was Tuesday.

Stoner said tax collections were particularly heavy the last three days, amounting to approximately $795,000 or about 40 per cent of the levy. Monday was the heaviest day in terms of persons calling at the office, but a particularly heavy mail Tuesday resulted in a larger total for Tuesday.

From now until Sept. 10, taxpayers will pay a 2 per cent penalty. After Sept. 10, the penalty will be 6 per cent.

Summer taxes cover city taxes and school taxes. However, those residents in a city who reside in a school district other than Holland city district will be billed for school taxes on the fall bill. The fall bill covers county taxes and special assessments.

Information for Holland's traffic analysis was collected by City Clerk Don Schipper. All public officials with traffic responsibilities will attend the meeting. Others interested in traffic safety also are invited.

Horse Talk Used Often But Not Understood

With two of the largest one-day horse shows in western Michigan coming up this month in the Holland area, audiences of the horse shows might be interested in knowing some of the facts about the horseman's jargon.

Hunters and jumpers are generally referred to in the same breath but the purposes and performances are not identical. Hunters are basically cross-country horses and must be able to gallop for miles, easily handled in woods, swamps, rivers, up and down hills, over rocky ground and fields with hidden chuck holes.

The hunter must be an excellent jumper of all the various types of fences which may be found around a countryside. The approach to any fence should be made at an even pace and jump as much out of stride as possible.

In the show ring the jumper should give a pleasing, capable, confident performance. A jumper should make a trip around the course look like fun, not like a dangerous ordeal. Hunters and jumpers must be quick thinking, intelligent, courageous animals since the qualities are necessary to handle the problems.

Hunter classes are judged primarily on pace, manners, evenness of spacing and cleverness at a fence in case of trouble. A thorough rider can make a poor horse look good. Conversely, a good horse can take care of a poor rider, especially a light one. For the best performance both horse and rider must be equally skillful. Together the pair should function as a smooth partnership with confidence coming from both.

Hunters are broken down into three categories. Lightweights are horses carrying up to 165 pounds. Middleweights and heavyweights are usually shown in one class and are generally larger carrying over 165 pounds.

Conformation horses or "strip" horses are called this because the tack (saddle) is stripped from the horse during the judging. The horses should be capable performers and have ideal conformation as well. When judging a conformation class a judge usually checks the overall impression, then goes to detail.

A study of the head, the location of the eyes and areas, the expression, the shape of the face is made by the judge. He looks for a long shaped neck, a full barrel, a powerful quarter and four sound legs.

The horse must be sound and without any unsightly blemishes. The meaning of "sound" when speaking of horses will be explained later.

Working hunter classes are among the most popular classes in horse shows today. Any horse that is hunting sound and can jump the sort of fence in a cross-country journey, in good form, is a working hunter.

The horse does not have to be of any special size or color. Conformation is unimportant but the horse must have manners from the time he enters the ring until he finishes the course. If the hunter is disagreeable he will be a poor mount in a hunt field.

The term "hunting sound" means just about what it says. A horse qualifies under the category if the horse jogs out sound at the end of the class just completed. Blemishes, jacks, spavins, or puffs are of no importance as long as the horse does not favor them. Wind troubles and vision count against the hunter since it would prohibit him from following the hunt.

The requirements of jumpers are completely different. The jumpers are the acrobats of the ring, stunt performers and are judged purely on performance. A jumper must maintain a forward gait when he travels between fences. Intelligence, manners and good sense are desirable although nothing of the sort is mandatory in a jumper.

Open jumping classes are judged strictly by ticks, knock-downs, refusals, run outs or any of the other disobediences. Both hunters and jumpers should have good vision, with depth perception. Good hunters can place themselves correctly before the takeoff. If they do it will be a good ride and a pleasant one.

There are a variety of equitation classes mostly for children under 18. Judging of the classes is on seat (posture in the saddle), hands, control of the horse, and general skill.

From the English division next in line of interest is the gaited division. Just as hunters and jumpers are joined in mind so are the three and five-gaited horses. The three-gaited horses are of entirely different conformation than the five-gaited and are shown with a clipped mane and tail.

As the name would indicate there are three distinct gaits: walk, which must be a good flatfooted, elastic sort of gait; the trot, well balanced and animated; and the canter, smooth and straight on both leads, without too much speed.

The five-gaited horse has those same three gaits, plus a slow gait, which is meant to be faster than a walk and which probably was originally developed to get over a lot of ground without tiring the horse.

The fifth gait is a rack, sometimes called a single foot. It is an animated, four beat gait in which only one foot is on the ground at a time, and which is the only gait in either the three or five-gaited classes where speed is necessary. Audiences at horse shows in the past have enjoyed watching five-gaited horses rack the most of all the gaits.

In the rack, the near foreleg and the near hind leg work almost together as the legs do in the pace, the difference being that one leaves the ground just as the other touches it. The rack is smooth and exhilarating for the rider and spectator too, but definitely the most tiring of all the gaits for the horse. A five-gaited horse must have a full mane and tail.

The types of saddles also are different. Each different type of saddle has its own specialized purpose. The two most common saddles are the English and Western but both have many varieties.

Hunting riders use what is known as a forward seat saddle, which places the weight up near the withers and allows the horse to make better use of the drive from the hind quarters. Gaited riders use a gaited show saddle, which puts the weight on the back and better displays the front of a horse. Because the saddles are different so are the seats and positions of the riders.

All of the horse shows in the Holland area belong to the Michigan Horse Show Association. Each class in the show carries points under this system. The horse accumulating the most points throughout the season, in each division, becomes the champion and is awarded a trophy at the annual association meeting. This point system encourages riders to enter all of the shows on the circuit and as many classes in each show as possible.

The explanations should prove helpful for persons attending horse shows being held this month at Pine Creek Stables on Aug. 26, and Castle Park on Aug. 30.

Streets Open as Work Continues

Although work is still continuing on Holland's sewer project and many streets are still torn up and blocked off, Holland residents will be glad to know that Seventh St. is now open to through traffic and it is planned to have Eighth St. and open by the weekend, Guy E. Bell, superintendent of the Board of Public Works said today.

College Ave. is also open between Sixth and Seventh Sts., Bell said. This section of College Ave. has been closed almost from the opening work on the sewer project.

All other streets now undergoing work remain closed to through traffic but it is expected that a new listing will be made available early next week on traffic routes affected by forthcoming work as well as those which will be open as the work on them is concluded, Bell said.

The only new change is that Ninth St. is now blocked off as work crews have dug into the intersection of Ninth St. and College Ave. This is in keeping with the originally announced plan of not closing Ninth St. until Seventh St. was again open to traffic.

In most cases people living on the blocked off streets may pass the barricades to get to their homes, Bell stated.

Streets still closed include: Tenth St. and College Ave. intersection now closed will be open for limited traffic, single lane by August 11.

Tenth St. between College Ave. to Columbia Ave. will be closed for about two weeks.

barricaded at Central Ave. and Columbia Ave., two weeks.

Sixteenth St. and Central Ave. closed Aug. 25.

Through barricades at 16th and River Ave., about 10 days. Use 15th St. between River Ave. and Columbia Ave., or use 17th St. between River Ave. and Columbia Ave.

Traffic on South Shore Dr. to be closed from Lugers Rd. to Myrtle Ave. Through traffic will detour over Lugers Rd. to 32nd St. and Myrtle Ave.

Public Forum On Con Con Is Scheduled

The Holland Public Forum will hold an important meeting Tuesday, Aug. 29, when the subject "The Real Issues in the Constitutional Convention," will be discussed.

The meeting is scheduled in the Herrick Public Library auditorium beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Panelists will be Henrik Stalfest and Al W. Vanderbusch, Republican and Democrat candidates, respectively, for Con-Con, Senatorial District and Robert J. Danhof and Ralph Richman, Republican and Democrat candidates, respectively, for the Representative District.

Municipal Judge Cornelius Vander Meulen will be moderator. The program committee for the meeting includes George Van Peursem, Ernest C. Brooks, Vern Schipper, Lynn Counihan and Henry Klein.

Holland to Get Highway Money

The city of Holland will receive $39,418 from the State Highway Department as its share of the second quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections.

Ottawa County will receive $239,124 and Allegan County $191,358 from the fund into which all state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes, license plate fees and a small amount of miscellaneous fees are deposited.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said net receipts of the Highway Fund during April, May and June amounted to $43,794,115, an increase of $98,197 over the same period of 1960.

Other cities in the area and the amounts they will receive are: Allegan, $9,041; Coopersville, $2,988; Douglas, $2,101; Fennville, $1,801; Grand Haven, $18,562; Grandville, $15,389; Hudsonville, $5,056; Saugatuck, $2,475; Spring Lake, $3,327; Zeeland, $5,901.

Driver Cited in Mishap

Ralph Ford, 38, of Davenport, Fla., was cited by Ottawa County deputies for leaving the scene of a property damage accident following a single-car mishap at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of U.S-31 and James St. Deputies said Ford's car left the road and knocked over a stop sign. Ford was stopped by deputies at 16th St. and the U.S-31 bypass.

Teaching Staff Now Complete

With the hiring of one more teacher, the public school teaching staff is now complete, the Board of Education was informed Monday night.

The last teacher to be hired for the 1961-62 school year is Miss Audrey M. Oncken of Stoughton, Wis., who will teach mentally handicapped children in Thomas Jefferson School. Miss Oncken, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, will be married this summer to a student at Western Theological Seminary. She has had three years' experience in teaching.

As a result of an inquiry by several parents who have children in Prestatie Huis, the schools committee is considering possibilities of organizing a type B program for mentally retarded children designed to assist the mentally handicapped at the "trainable" level of ability.

Inasmuch as the voters of Ottawa county have approved a half mill tax levy for special education, plans are under way for an informal meeting with County Supt. Jennie Kaufman and others to consider plans for a county-wide program of special education.

A request from Maplewood Board of Education in July to accept 33 seventh graders into Holland public schools is still under consideration by the schools committee which has power to act. The decision awaits developments the Maplewood Board currently has with the Allegan County Board and the Hamilton district in transferring certain areas outside the city of Holland to the Hamilton district. Dale Mossburg, a member of the Maplewood Board, informed the local board Monday night that reaction thus far is unofficial although encouraging and it was felt Maplewood was closer to a solution on boundaries than in the past.

The Holland Board also reviewed its policy on acceptance of non-resident students which covers those non-resident tuition students whose parents live within areas which have become or which in the future shall become annexed to the city of Holland. The board, however, reserves the right to review periodically its policy of admitting such students in terms of the efforts made by such areas to accomplish a merger with the Holland school district.

Status of Maplewood, Lakeview and Van Raalte districts were reviewed. None of the districts currently has bonded indebtedness, but all three are considering building programs. Supt. Walter W. Scott pointed to the need of a statement of policy on the part of the local board in working with other districts.

Lakeview district now lies within the city and therefore is in the best position to proceed with joining the Holland district. A proposed building program would involve a bond election, necessitating a registration district.

Two new textbooks were approved, one for ninth grade general business titled "General Business" by Crabbe, and the other for seventh grade Spanish students entitled "Entender y Hablar" (To Understand and to Speak) written by Andrea McHenry and Patricia O'Connor.

A communication from Robert Van Dyke who is attending Purdue University asking that he be released from contract because of graduate study was accepted with regret. Since this move was anticipated, his classes have been absorbed in the junior high curriculum.

The new president, John D. Plewes, presided at Monday's meeting which adjourned at 10 p.m. The invocation was given by Harvey Butler. Absent were James Hallan and Wendell A. Miles.

She is also a member of the Michigan Youth Commission and will attend with other representatives of Protestant Churches in the U.S. and Canada to discuss problems of national significance to Christian youth. Work Force Tripled for Final Drive

Present Plans Call For Opening Schools Monday, Sept. 11

West Ottawa district's fine new high school on 138th Ave. is rapidly nearing completion, with the labor force tripled in recent weeks for interior finishing.

While the work is much on schedule, as drafted June 12, 1960, the school probably will not be finished by Labor Day, and present plans call for opening all West Ottawa schools Monday, Sept. 11. Final announcements will be made following Labor Day.

The new school will accommodate junior high and high school presents a fine exterior appearance with walks and drives in as well as lawns. It is expected blacktopping of some drives will be completed before school opens. All grading, seeding and sodding has been completed for the athletic field, with the exception of the softball diamond which awaits a tile field.

The center U-shaped drive in front of the building is for buses only. There is abundant parking areas on both north and south sides of the gymnasium toward the rear.

Working crews are concentrating all efforts on the academic portions of the new school. The gymnasium is expected to be completed in another month and a half and the swimming pool by the first of the year. The kitchen and cafeteria are designed to handle 1,800 meals a day, but it is expected only 800 will be handled when school opens if both cafeteria and kitchen are completed. An announcement on school lunches will be made before school opens.

However, the new school will be open for book store operations starting Tuesday, Sept. 5, through Friday, Sept. 8. Junior high students are to use the front entrance to the left of the library and high school students the entrance to the right of the library. Students are instructed not to "explore" any other sections of the school because of construction activity.

Bus schedules will operate on much the same policies as previous years. Schedules will be posted after Labor Day on the front doors of all elementary schools for each individual area. The high school bus schedule also will be posted on the front doors of all elementary schools, and not on the new high school.

Kindergarten bus schedules will be given to parents when they register their children Wednesday, Sept. 6, from 9 to 11 a.m. in the various elementary schools. All new kindergarteners have been notified which school they are to attend. If letters are not received, parents are requested to call the superintendent's office.

All elementary schools are scheduled to open Monday, Sept. 11, for a full day. Hot lunches will be served in all buildings except Robert and West Olive schools. Since the West Ottawa district was reorganized, Noordeloos school has been put on a standby basis. Harlem School has been taken over by the Migrant Ministry. East Crisp School was closed in 1959.

During the coming year, a well defined experiment in team teaching will take place in the Ventura building under the direction of Daniel Paul, principal of Pine Creek School. The team teaching will be for fifth and sixth graders of Pine Creek and Ventura schools in charge of three teachers, Gus Feenstra, Keith Hoskins and Carolyn Oertweg.

The approach to team teaching provides for individual differences in students and still keeps operation costs within limits. Some classes can be organized for as few as 5 or as many as 70 to 80, with constant regroupings throughout the school year.

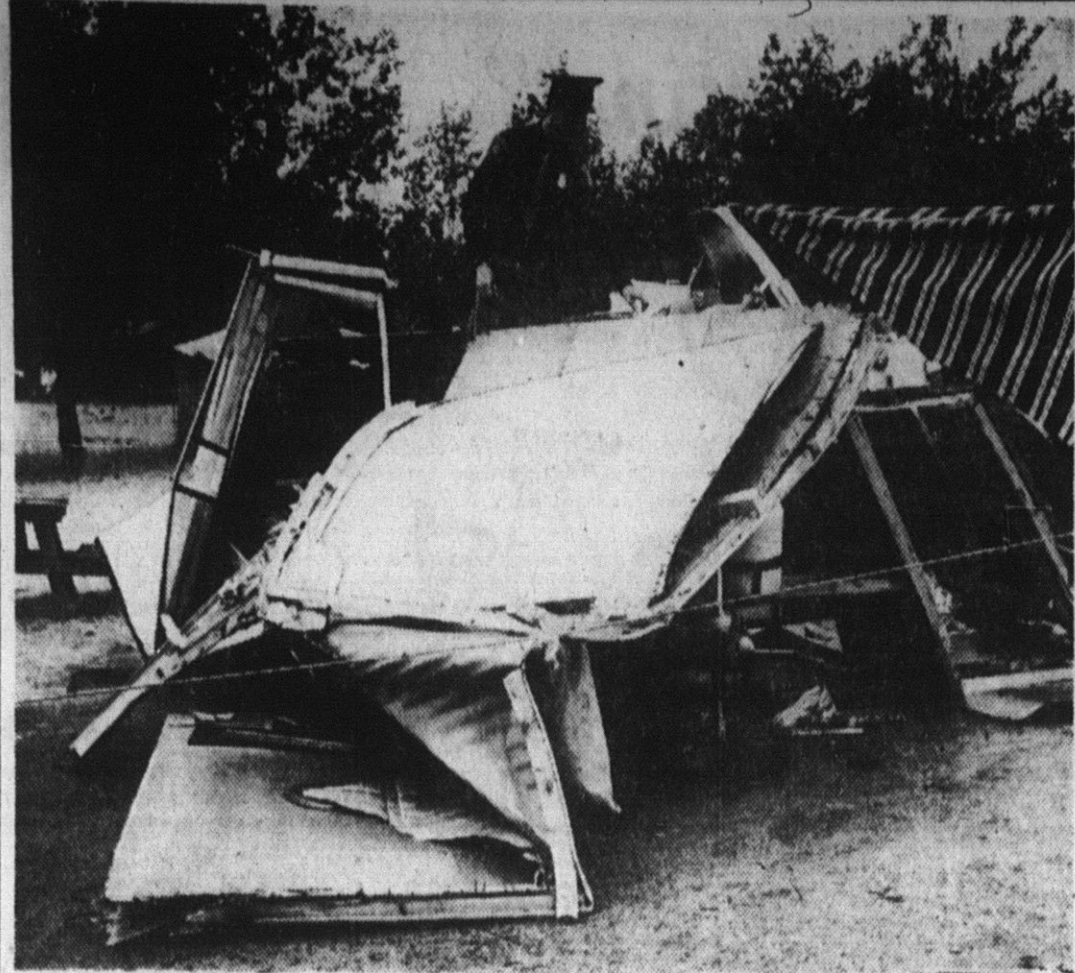

Principal Paul and Feenstra spent some time at Lexington, Mass., attending a forum in team teaching. They are tailoring the program to fit the needs of West Ottawa and the three teachers in the experiment have been meeting on a daily basis during the summer working out final details. The new program was explained to parents last spring.

This will be a second year in experimental team teaching in the West Ottawa Schools. A slightly modified program had been carried on in Glerum school under Elaine Halbersta and Irene Yonker. They will continue the program at Beechwood School the coming year.

Beechwood School, which has been used as a high school for the last three years, will revert back to elementary uses, serving grades 3 through 6, plus one section of a kindergarten. Glerum Elementary School, also known as Beechwood School No. 2, will accommodate kindergarten through second grade.

With the opening of the new high school which also accommodates junior high students, all elementary service areas will serve kindergarten through sixth grade, although some of the smaller schools will be combined to accomplish this. Ventura and Pine Creek schools will be combined. Robert will be coupled with West Olive and North Holland. Waverly, Robert and West Olive districts will attend school in the West Crisp building.

TRAILER EXPLODES — State police trooper L. A. Girard examines the faulty gas stove which apparently caused the explosion Sunday which shattered this 13-foot house trailer occupied by two Kalamazoo youths at Holland

State Park. The youths, Donald Van Brussel and Harley J. Cook, both 20, were admitted to Holland Hospital with burns suffered in the blast. The blast occurred when Van Brussel lit a cigarette in the gas-filled trailer. (Sentinel photo)

Kalamazoo Pair Injured in Blast

Two Kalamazoo youths were in Holland Hospital Monday suffering from burns received when an explosion ripped through the house trailer in which they were living at Holland State Park Sunday morning.

Donald Van Brussel and Harley James Cook, both 20, were burned in the explosion which demolished their trailer at 8:10 a.m. Officials at the hospital said Van Brussel was in fairly good condition with burns of the face, arms, upper trunk and legs. Cook was reported in good condition with burns of the face and right arm.

State police blamed the explosion on a defective gas cooking stove in the trailer. They said the blast was triggered when Van Brussel lit a cigarette in the gas-filled trailer.

Troopers said the youths had trouble with the stove earlier. They said the pair apparently lit the stove earlier to heat the trailer and went back to sleep for a short time. Then the stove went out, filling the trailer with gas.

The blast caused damage to cars and other trailers in the area, troopers said. An adjacent trailer owned by Kenneth Enzedtsen of Grand Rapids had the roof bent, and trailers owned by Jerry Wiersma of Holland and John Zagers of Carson City, Mich., had holes ripped in awnings.

Cook's car, parked next to the trailer, and a car owned by Julia Lancaster of Grand Rapids, also suffered damage caused by flying debris.

Troopers said a Dr. Rickett of Howard City, Mich., administered first aid to the injured pair at the scene of the blast.

The 13-foot trailer in which the pair was living was owned by Wilbur Robb of Kalamazoo, Van Brussel's stepfather.

Howard Davis, Jr., and Lois Van Slooten, Lloyd Van Raalte is superintendent.

Students in grades one through six who are new to the West Ottawa district this year will register with principals in the various elementary buildings Friday, Sept. 8, from 9 to 11 a.m.

MISHAWAKA, Ind. — Miss Carolyn Ann Winslow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Winslow of South Bend, Ind., became the bride of Ronald J. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Clark of South Bend, Ind., on Saturday, at 8 p.m. at the First Evangelical United Brethren Church of Mishawaka, Ind.

The bride chose pale blue and white for her candle light ceremony performed before more than 300 guests. Given in marriage by her father, she wore a gown featuring a white silk lace bodice, trimmed with sequins and medallions. The skirt had silk organza over the lace medallions and she had a shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and white daisies.

Her sister, Miss Marcia Winslow, the maid of honor, and the two bridesmaids wore blue silk organza over blue satin dress and carried a miniature matching bouquet of the brides.

The groom and his nephew, Eric Germann, as ring bearer with friends as attendants. Thomas Winslow, brother of the bride, was one of the ushers. A reception followed immediately at the church parlor.

Lincoln Gymnasium Under Way

Many other projects are being carried out in the Holland Public School system under the 1960 Bond Issue. One project under construction is the Lincoln Elementary School gymnasium. General Contractor is Elzinga and Volkers with mechanical work in charge of Bert Reimink and electrical work by Parkway Electric, all of Holland.

The gym is being built east of the present school and will be attached to the school. At present, the small gym which was left from the original school is outdated. It will be remodeled to serve as a library and as a foreign language room. The new gym will serve not only as an athletic facility but as an adult education center as well. This renovation will be completed in the early part of January.

The playground at the Washington Elementary School between 10th and 11th Sts. is being enlarged. An outdoor paved area for play will be completed in time for school opening at Montello Park. A similar play area is finished at Apple Avenue.

Extensive use of the public schools during the summer not only for recreation but also from summer school courses have caused the custodians to alter their work schedule a bit. However, all buildings have undergone thorough cleaning. The exterior of the Thomas Jefferson school has been painted. All projects are rapidly reaching conclusion so schools will be ready Sept. 6. Edward Prins, superintendent of building and grounds, is the coordinator of these projects.

Zoning Group Holds Meeting

Only three persons appeared before a meeting in City Hall Monday night of the special committee appointed by Mayor Nelson Bosman to hear complaints on the new zoning ordinance recently passed by City Council.

It was the first meeting called by the committee which consists of three councilmen, John Beltman, chairman, Morris Peerbolt and Harold Volkema. Irville Harrington and Gerrit Beltman sought a change in zoning for a parcel west of Lincoln Ave. between 38th and 39th Sts. They want it zoned commercial instead of residential.

An interested citizen, not the owner of property involved, was concerned over the commercial zoning of property on the south-west corner at 16th St. and River Ave. He felt it should remain residential instead of commercial. The committee has taken both matters under consideration. No other meetings are scheduled immediately.

Two Breakins Are Attempted

GRAND HAVEN — City police are investigating two attempted breakins which occurred early Saturday at the post office and diagonally across the street at Wheeler Drug store, 216 Washington Ave.

Post Office Custodian Charles Blackmer found broken glass and evidence of an attempted breakin when he reported for work at the post office at 4:50 a.m. today. The culprit had broken a pane of glass, presumably to reach inside and release the lock. It was a lock, however, that required a key.

Police Officer Jack Billups found marks of jimmying a door at the drug store on a routine check at 4 a.m. He called Owner Art Wheeler but there was no evidence the store had been entered.

A complete report on the attempted post office breakin will be forwarded to federal authorities.

Formality, the Dominant Characteristic in Ireland

By Ann Herist
Community Ambassador to Ireland

The main streets resemble the business section of any town with department stores, millinery shops, newspaper offices and smaller shops. As a walk about downtown, I see that although the clothing styles are very similar to ours, the people tend to dress much more formally. No girl of any age walks about downtown in tennis shoes and bobby socks or slacks. No girl over 12 years old would dream of going downtown wearing anything but heels and nylons or flats.

This formality of dress carries over to a formality of manners and life in general. The social amenities are much more strictly observed and the give and take between family members is missing. The children when speaking of their parents refer to them as "The Mother" or "The Father." Disrespect of elders would not be tolerated even playful kidding is seldom used. However, the Irish have a wonderful sense of humor.

The yards are either fenced off or protected by hedges so tall that one can not see over them. The style of building homes is different from that in America. Due to the timber scarcity, one seldom sees a home built of wood. The general building materials are either stone or cement block. Houses are two story structures. There are few appliances in the homes in Ireland. Washing machines, dryers, toasters, refrigerators and television sets are missing in many homes.

Although the Irish are avid sports enthusiasts, one soon learns that the popular sports here are much different from those at home. Here the people play Gaelic football, reputed to be one of the roughest sports in the world. Any similarity between football in Ireland and the game as we know it ends with the name.

An Irish player walks onto the field attired in a uniform which more closely resembles that of our track and field men than our football players. The game resembles a combination of soccer, hockey, football, basketball and murder. I suppose however, that our game of football looks as strange to them as theirs does to me.
