Mayor Hallacy Snips Ribbon in Ceremony

Holland Dedicates Downtown Project

Holland's Downtown Beautification Project, unveiled since spring, was dedicated with ceremony Friday night. Mayor Lou Hallacy cutting the red, white and blue ribbon on Eighth St. midway between River and Central Aves.

With summer flowers at their best, the brief ceremony proved to be an enjoyable diversion, highlighted by music by the American Legion Band specializing in show tunes for a summer day.

The beautification project was financed by $100,000 of revenue sharing funds, following planning and study since 1969, extending for two blocks on Eighth St. and parts of other blocks.

Ken Vos, president of the Downtown Merchants Association, expressed appreciation to City Council for its close cooperation and presented framed certificates to members of the Downtown Development Corp. which originated in 1969. Receiving awards were Kenneth Zuverink, Ron Kobes, Dale Fris, Clarence Klaasen, Henry S. Maentz Sr., James Vande Poel and Jack Vannette.

Mayor Hallacy reviewed the history of the beautification project and the efforts to beautify the area much like Holland's beautiful parks. He spoke of efforts dating back eight years ago for a project costing $750,000, and subsequent plans scaling down original elaborate plans. He said former Mayor Bosman endorsed a general program in 1969 and former Mayor L. W. Lamb reiterated efforts in 1971 with the result that Council approved the program in 1973.

Hallacy spoke of hopes to have no-charge parking in the downtown, something he expects quite soon, and discussions to improve parking and provide some beautification at Washington Square at an approximate cost of $25,000.

City Manager Terry Hofmeyer, chairman of the beautification committee, served as master of ceremonies and Dr. Glen O. Peterman gave the invocation. Others on the committee were Park Supt. Jacob De

Hospital Revenues Come From Patients, Not Taxes

Peter J. Vanden Bosch, president of the Holland City Hospital Board, today discussed hospital revenues and expenses and methods of financing the proposed $12.9 million hospital building program.

"The projected hospital operating revenue for this year is $7.6 million. All of this will come from patient revenues and in turn, will be spent on patient-related services," he said.

Vanden Bosch stressed that although the hospital is owned by the city, it is not on the tax rolls. "We receive no tax support from the City of Holland," he said.

Estimated operating expenses for the coming year will total $7.2 million. Depreciation, payment on bond principal and interest will account for the remainder of the operating expense.

Vanden Bosch noted that all operating expenses involve patient-related services. This includes the cost of medical facilities such as the surgical and nursing units, physical therapy, food service, laundry, housekeeping, and administrative expense including

County To Hire First Controller

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa County Tuesday offered Muskegon Heights controller Nathan R. Tubergen the job as the county's first controller and set the salary level at $19,000 annually.

Hiring a controller as the chief accounting officer for the county was recommended in a study of the Citizens Research Council of Michigan commissioned by the county and completed in 1974.

Tubergen, 31, and a native of Hesperia, is a graduate of the Muskegon Business College and was assistant finance director for the City of Muskegon before becoming controller in Muskegon Heights in August, 1973.

He was one of 36 applicants for the position and among the final six selected for interviews and was the unanimous recommendation of the controller's committee.

The county controller will become the chief accounting officer and purchasing agent and will supervise the operation and maintenance of all county buildings and grounds.

Some of the record keeping functions of the county clerk and treasurer will be assumed by the controller and provisions were made for the use of personnel in the clerk's office and treasurer's office to help the controller get started.

Tubergen is to begin his new duties Oct. 1.

Commissioners agreed to continue the controller selection committee through the end of the year to assist the new controller in budget preparation and introductions to department heads.

The controller is an appointed position and serves at the pleasure of the commissioners who may remove him on a two-thirds vote.

Holland Man Asks Court Examination

ALLEGAN — James D. Vander Ford, 22, of 177 West 34th St., Holland, demanded examination to a charge of assault in connection with an alleged child abuse case in Holland.

He requested a court appointed attorney at his arraignment Wednesday in Allegan District Court where bond was set at $15,000.

Holland police said Vander Ford was charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder.

Injured was two-year-old Tonya Brummitt, daughter of Vander Ford's wife, Barbara. She was listed in "serious" condition today in Blodgett Hospital in Grand Rapids with head and chest injuries.

Police said they were called to the Vander Ford home Monday at 11:45 p.m. after the youngster had been injured and took Vander Ford into custody at a service station nearby about an hour later.

Officers said the alleged offense occurred in the child's bedroom and living room of the Vander Ford home.

Attorney Fees For County Case Climb

GRAND HAVEN — The rising cost of defending its equalization department was beginning to show in the public pocket books as Ottawa County Commissioners received a report Tuesday on attorney fees.

Commissioner Kenneth Northhouse said the attorney costs to represent the county in an equalization battle before the State Tax Tribunal brought by the townships of Georgetown and Pori Sheldon had reached $11,581.81 for roughly five days of testimony.

And Northhouse said at least two more days of hearings were expected before cross examination was to begin. Commissioners approved a transfer of funds from the shrinking contingent account to cover the cost of the attorney fees.

The resignation of Commissioner William Kieft of Grand Haven was accepted. He has taken a position as building inspector in Grand Haven township. The vacancy in District 4, representing portions of Grand Haven and Grand Haven and Robinson townships is to be filled within 30 days.

Commissioners approved a second $1,000 allocation to the county Bicentennial committee through the end of the year and approved two new CETA positions under Title II. One is a clerk with the health department and the other a legal assistant in the prosecutor's office to handle an equal employment opportunity package.

Commissioners adopted a resolution placing the full faith and credit of the county behind a $3.1 million bond issue to bring Grand Haven city water to Spring Lake township and Ferrysburg and received a massive preliminary study on the Overall Economic Development of Region 14 including Ottawa, Oceana and Muskegon counties.

A contract was awarded to low bidder Dick Mahoney to clean and repaint the exterior steel framework of the County Building at a cost of $3,690.

He is the author of 19 scientific papers and is an industrial consultant in the fields of space science, process control, and product development.

Proposes Certain Cutbacks

Zeeland Mayor Reacts to Critics

ZEELAND — Reacting to results of last week's primary election and referring to a group of "anonymous citizens," Mayor Edward Nagelkirk Monday proposed a four-point program to cut municipal expenditures and to slow the bid taking process for Huizenga Park until the Nov. 4 election.

"While it is still too early to assess all of the ramifications of the election, one thing is clear," said Nagelkirk in a prepared news release.

"Many of the voters wanted to send us a message. I want them all to know that we have heard them. . . . More importantly, I want them to know that we are prepared to respond and to do so now."

Nagelkirk said he would propose to council next week that bids for Huizenga Park projects not be accepted unless voter approval is received Nov. 4; that a contract to hire persons under the CETA programs not be renewed when it expires at the end of the month; that building inspection services be done by the county and bids for moving the police department to the municipal center be rejected.

Nagelkirk said he further proposes that council confirm its decision on Huizenga Park which is to support the project but oppose phased construction unless undertaken by Holland township.

He also proposes the personnel committee study additional manpower cuts in the city. Nagelkirk also proposed only necessary building repairs be continued.

He added that Zeeland has a budget surplus of $170,000 as of July 1.

The mayor said his proposals were necessary to prove that the present council was not a "do nothing council."

"It is necessary because a group of anonymous citizens, concerned or otherwise, has succeeded in casting doubt over our motives and our intelligence."

HAVE SOMETHING IN COMMON — The Stanley Roelofs family of Drenthe has something in common. They were all delivered by Dr. G. Kemme of Drenthe, named Monday as Michigan's Physician of the Year.

Here, Dr. Kemme checks Michael Roelofs, who will be 4 in October. Looking on are the Roelofs and their other children, Amy, 5½ and Beth, 7.

Dr. G.J. Kemme Named 'Physician of the Year'

Story and Picture
By Merv Scholten

A rural Ottawa County doctor who has delivered nearly 4,000 babies and is soon to begin his 44th year of medical practice has been named "Physician of the Year" by the Michigan Academy of Family Physicians.

Dr. Gerrit J. Kemme, a family doctor in Drenthe which is near Zeeland, was honored by the MAFF at the annual presidential installation banquet Monday evening in Traverse City.

The plaque to be awarded to Doctor Kemme reads: "Presented to Gerrit John Kemme, MD, in recognition of outstanding service to his fellowman, Family Physician of the Year, 1975."

Each year the Academy selects one physician from among its 1,200 members to receive the coveted award given to recognize a Michigan doctor who has distinguished himself through his medical service and personal dedication to his patients and the community in which he lives. The recipient is chosen from among nominees made by other Academy members.

Dr. Kemme who will be 72 in October is the oldest practicing physician in Ottawa County. He has twice served as president of the Ottawa County Medical Society, has been president of the West Michigan Academy of Family Physicians and is currently chief of staff at Zeeland Hospital for the third time.

A firm believer in continuing medical education, Dr. Kemme is a Fellow in the 35,000 member American Academy of Family Physicians which requires its members to complete 150 hours of medical credits every three years to maintain membership in the organization. Dr. Kemme has missed only two of the Academy's annual scientific meetings since the Academy was founded in 1947. The Michigan Academy of Family Physicians is a chapter of the national organization.

Born in North Holland, Dr. Kemme moved into Zeeland at the age of eight and graduated from Zeeland High School in 1922. Following his graduation from Hope College in 1926, he went to the University of Michigan Medical School from which he received his MD degree in 1930.

Upon completion of an internship in Detroit's Harper Hospital and a year of residency in orthopedics and pediatrics in St. Paul, Minnesota, Dr. Kemme began his practice in Drenthe on August 18, 1932.

Recalling that first office in his house, Dr. Kemme remembers with a smile how "the living room served as a waiting room which was separated by only a curtain from the bedroom which doubled as the exam room. We always played the radio very loudly in the living room so waiting patients could not hear the doctor-patient conversation taking place on the other side of the curtain."

More than 40 years of medical practice make Dr. Kemme an endless source of interesting stories but he recalls some of the more trying moments as among the fondest.

Perhaps the most unusual housecall he ever made was in 1936 when an especially severe snowstorm made roads absolutely impassable, with not even horse-drawn sleighs able to get through. He received a call that an elderly patient some 3 miles away had suffered a stroke. To get to her the doctor turned to two different neighbors each of whom had one ski. Borrowing the mismatched skis, Dr. Kemme managed to slide his way across the snow to reach the patient.

Starting a medical practice in the heart of the Great Depression was less than the best of times but Dr. Kemme managed. His office charges at that time were $1 per visit and included any needed medications.

Many patients were unable to pay cash for their medical care and paid the doctor with produce, meat, baked goods or whatever else could be used as barter. "I once received payment of twelve chickens — alive and in the crate!" grinned Dr. Kemme.

Would he do it over again if he could? "You bet I would and I'd do it in a rural setting too," asserted the doctor who had various offers over the years to move into city practice situations.

While most people retire at 65, Dr. Kemme's only concession to reaching that milestone was to give up his evening office hours which he kept two nights a week. "I'll retire at 85," exclaims the doctor who is in excellent health and has already outlived an older and younger brother.

Dr. Kemme enjoys his rapport with patients and is a master at working with people because of his genuine feelings toward them. In a day when the medical profession is sorely beset with liability problems, Dr. Kemme has never had even the threat or hint of a suit. "But my insurance premiums continue to climb nonetheless having gone up tenfold in just the last five years," says Dr. Kemme.

Even in the non-medical aspects of his life Dr. Kemme continues to think of others. For example, his swimming pool is open two afternoons a week to area children who can cool off and have fun there as long as mother can be there to watch them.

Dr. Kemme has served three short term missionary stints at Rehoboth Hospital in New Mexico. Dr. Kemme enjoys travel and photography. Every three to five years the Kemmes take an extensive trip. In 1958 they traveled around the world in a 95-day jaunt.

During that trip they stopped at a Nigerian Mission station and photographed the work of the station. Since then, Dr. Kemme has shown the slides of the trip and that particular stop to more than 100 groups. All monies received from these showings has been sent to the Board of Foreign Missions of the Christian Reformed Church. Dr. and Mrs. Kemme are members of the Drenthe Christian Reformed Church.

The Kemmes have two daughters. Mary has a Ph.D. in child psychology and is on the staff of the Children's Psychiatric Hospital at the University in Ann Arbor, and Donna, who has a master's degree in library science, is employed by the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C.

Arts and Crafts Outdoor Festival Attracts Crowds

"Bigger and better than ever," was the comment of Kim Oudman, president of the Holland Friends of Art, on the sixth annual Outdoor Arts and Crafts Festival held Saturday in Centennial Park.

More artists than previously, more out of town spectators, more sales by the various artists and craftsmen and a generally heightened enthusiasm marked the day.

Exhibiting and demonstrating were 240 artists. The stone-ware pottery drew much attention from the estimated 6 to 8,000 persons attending.

Park department staff deserves special credit for the beautifully kept park grounds and the police department kept parking in line with churches in the area allowing parking in their private lots.

Mrs. Dan Miller and Kim Oudman were co-chairmen of the successful event. The Festival was sponsored by the Holland Friends of Art and the Holland Recreation Department.

DICK NIEUSMA TEACHING INTERNS AND RESIDENTS DENTISTRY SKILLS

RUTH NIEUSMA AT HER YWCA KNITTING CLASS

Missionary Couple Back In Michigan from Korea

By Martha Huntley
KWANGJU, Korea — Returning to his home town, Holland, this summer will be quite a change for Dick Nieuwsma after spending 14 years down in the mouth in Korea.

"Down in the mouth" is his place of business as a Presbyterian missionary dentist, but hardly describes his cheerful, warm personality.

Every day of these years in Korea has been full, but perhaps none more so than Sundays, Dick's "day off."

A recent Sunday for instance began with 9 a.m. Sunday school teaching at Kwangju Boys' Reformatory (while his wife Ruth taught the primary - age missionary children in their home), followed by Korean Church where he is an affiliate elder and she a deaconess, a quick lunch, and out to the country where he translated a young missionary's sermon and he and Ruth sang a duet. After the service, in the churchyard, he pulled a tooth for a young boy in the congregation who had been suffering from a terrible toothache.

Then he drove two grandmothers to their neighboring village "around the mountain, down the valley and up the creek," rushed back to Kwangju to participate in the U. S. Air Force Base chapel's missionary appreciation night dinner and program, and then on to First Presbyterian Church where he preached in Korean. At home again at 10 p.m., the missionary worked on packing for furlough and went over a sheaf of language study notes he'd been preparing in helping four newly arrived missionaries to study Korean.

Ruth Nieuwsma is from Grand Rapids, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Slotsema. Both she and Dick are from Reform Church in America backgrounds and met while freshmen at Hope College. They were married shortly after graduation in 1952.

Dick is a graduate of the University of Michigan Dental School (where he returned in 1971 - 72 as a visiting assistant professor) and was stationed in Japan as an Army dentist. At the time of their marriage the couple shared a commitment — "to be willing to do anything the Lord wanted us to do." Because of a strong mission emphasis in their home churches, meeting missionaries in Japan, and especially because of an English Bible class they taught in Japan, they were led to consider missionary work.

Five of the Japanese students in their Bible class became Christians and were baptized. Several members stay in touch even now. Unable to speak Japanese and well aware of the difficulties of leading people to Christ in Japan, they were greatly impressed with the ability of the Holy Spirit to work through willing vessels, however weak. "It gave us a great desire to be useful to God, and I think he honored this desire."

Another significant event during their two and a half years in Japan was the adoption of son Paul. They tried to adopt a Japanese child, found none available, and ended up coming to Korea to get Paul through International Social Service. Paul was 16 months old at the time (1958) and they were in Seoul two days — "That was not so long after the Korean War, and we got a terrible impression of Korea, never dreaming we'd ever be back. Boy, when we came back to Korea, we were prepared to die for the Lord, to live in a hut, and to eat mud!" they can say in laughing retrospect.

They lived in Korean houses, not huts, in Seoul and Kwangju and are now in a very pleasant, two - story house built from Korean floor plans. Home is important to them not only as a family (daughter Mary, adopted their first year in Seoul, is now a 7th grader and was cheerleader at Korea Christian Academy, where son Paul graduates in June), but as host and hostess to a great number of guests from all walks of life and from all over the world.

Recent house guests have included the four newly arrived missionaries for language study; a young Korean wife, suffering from malnutrition and other illness; a Jewish - Christian Old Testament scholar who was one of their professors the year they studied at Columbia Seminary; and the Korean wife of a Japanese - American Peace Corps volunteer who stayed with them a month.

The Nieuwsmas remain very interested in adoption and have encouraged and helped several friends and acquaintances to adopt. They have provided a foster home for children going to the States.

Dick has been another kind of "foster father," too. The regard his Korean interns and residents have for him is evidenced by six of them having asked him to officiate at their weddings.

Though Dick stays very busy as a dentist, doing every kind of dental treatment himself, he is also the faculty of the training program of the Kwangju Christian Hospital Department of Dentistry. Among the 16 graduates of the program are a Ph. D. - ordained minister - dentist Sam Pak who founded a home for homeless boys dismissed from the reformatory (Dick is a member of the board and a great backer of this program); a dentist now on the Seoul Seventh - Day Adventist Hospital staff; a "missionary" dentist, Dr. Song, who has begun a dental clinic at the Presbyterian Medical Center in Chunju; Dr. Min, a woman dentist now in private practice, putting her husband, a college professor through his Ph. D. studies in the States; and Dr. Kay, who wants to go abroad, probably to Bangladesh, as a missionary dentist.

Besides dental work and teaching, Dick has had the job and joy of seeing very crowded, inadequate quarters turn slowly into a roomy, attractive and well - equipped clinic. He did much of the architecture and design himself, remaking many donated pieces of equipment into very effective ones — including contour reclining chairs, high speed drills and a vacuum system of one - tenth comparable cost. The dental clinic treats many poor people and even unsubsidized prices are a third or less those of American ones.

Dick also does a lot of speech therapy work and makes such things as cleft palate prostheses. Very interested in linguistics, he has been a pillar of the Southern Presbyterian mission's language program. Part of his dental work includes such far - out things as helping with surgery on a double mandible (jaw bone) when a 21 year old girl came in who had two mandibles, complete with extra tongue and small teeth.

More ordinary duties include trips to rural areas and city slums to give free treatment to the poor, often through churches and always with a worship program and dental hygiene demonstration included, as well as a scheduled clinic on Cheju Island.

These country trips have been boosted in the past year by the gift of a dental van, made possible by First Presbyterian Church, Spartanburg, S. C. and Covenant Presbyterian Church, Albany, Ga. Interestingly, the largest single donor in Albany was Elmer Levie, son of Dr. J. K. Levie, first missionary dentist to Korea (Dick is the second) who served from 1922 to 1959.

Ruth Nieuwsma stays busy too. Besides hospital and "hotel" responsibilities she is active in the South Kwangju Church in women's work, as a deaconess, and both she and Dick have been members of the choir. She often is the church pianist. She teaches English conversation at Honam Seminary, which trains young men for the rural ministry, at junior colleges and a nursing school.

She had a knitting class for dentist wives which blossomed into two bazzars to benefit Boys' Town, and teaches a similar class at the YMCA each week.

This summer the Nieuwsma family will be in Holland as son Paul enters Hope College. They will be in Michigan for six months and may have more time for their hobbies of music and tennis. Dick has won trophies in the National Dental Society - sponsored tournaments.

Both music lovers, the Nieuwsmas often sing together. Among the songs they like to sing is "To God be the Glory, Great Things He has Done." And among these great things, honoring a young couple's desire to be useful!

A car backing from a driveway along Central Ave. 111 feet south of 15th St. and driven by Patricia Ann Trevion, 19, of Hamilton, collided with a car operated by Howard Marshall Iams, 30, of 446 West 30th St., southbound on Central Friday at 12:15 p.m.

Mexican Dolls, Children's Art on Display

A display of dolls from various states of Mexico is being exhibited at Herrick Public Library for the first three weeks of August. They have been placed by Raul Ramos.

The dolls are reproductions of Myjo Heritage dolls which were created in 1962 when President and Mrs. Kennedy visited Mexico. President Lopez Mateo wished to give them a gift especially representative of his country's heritage and handicrafts. He chose 50 Myjo costumes authentic and handmade. Until that time the reproductions had been a family hobby. Since 1962 collections have been presented by the Mexican government to many world figures including the United States astronauts.

Another display represents the Rip Van Winkle performance being presented by the Children's Performance Troupe of Hope Summer Repertory Theatre. The artwork was provided by Holland area school children.

Joe Folsom of Holland Friends of Art is also displaying several paintings of animals and city scenes around the world. These are displayed in the main corridor of the library.

Old Bon Homme Richard Sea Scouts Hold Reunion

Ex-Sea Scouts of ship 17, the Bon Homme Richard, a 36-footer which sailed on Lake Macatawa and Lake Michigan in the 1940s under Skipper Fred Bocks, gathered in Holiday Inn Saturday night for a reunion.

Highlight of the evening was a canoe trip on the Pine River filmed by Federal Judge Wendell A. Miles, spurring memories of a cold-weather April trip in seasoned canoes of Camp Ottawa which had more than its share of duckings in a cold river.

Aside from the byplay in the color film, the seasoned ex-Scouts commented on how low those canoes rode in the water, a situation, looming far more dangerous after a lapse of some 30 years. Most youths were in high school at the time.

This group was a highly competitive group, winning just about every award offered to enterprising youth of that era. Today, they are airlines pilots, judges, school superintendents, executives in industry, and self-employed in business.

Judge Miles reviewed the old days when he started Scouting in 1931 under Hendrik Noble. Skipper Bocks spoke of organizing Sea Scout ship 17 with the late W. S. Merriam as skipper and Grace Episcopal Church as sponsor, and acquiring the 36-foot ship which provided many an adventure.

One memorable trip to Spring Lake Yacht Club was reviewed, recalling that the engine conked out far from shore and an anchor was dropped in 50 feet of water while Lloyd Van Raalte struggled to get the engines going again. Scouts also recalled how the mast cleared the old swing bridge at Grand Haven with about an inch to spare, and the "instrument" return trip in a heavy fog which had the ship only 50 feet off reading at the approach to Holland Harbor.

Three members of an old quartet managed some pretty good harmony.

Among the Sea Scouts present (today's term is explorer scouts) were Cal Nykamp, Len Lemmen, Ron Vander Hill, Ron Hewitt, Bill Bocks, Ron Wiersma, Don Hillebrands, Bob and Fred De Wilde and Roger Kuiken. The latter served as chair man.

Author Reviews 'The Creative Homemaker'

Mary LaGrand Bouma spoke to a large audience Wednesday evening at the Harderwyk Christian Reformed Church educational building as she reviewed her book "The Creative Homemaker."

The author explained why she believes "homemaking, seen in its broadest sense, is the most exciting, challenging and fulfilling career a woman can have." She frowned on mothers working outside the home when not absolutely necessary. She emphasized the importance of Christian mothers spending time alone with each child each day.

She cited such examples as Suzanna Wesley (mother of 17, who gave the world John and Charles Wesley, the famous evangelist and hymn writer Billy Graham and Bill Bright's mothers were also mentioned.

Her range of subjects was broad including submission to one's husband, housekeeping, practicing thrift, volunteer work and raising children.

Mrs. Jack Kramer presided at the meeting by welcoming the women on behalf of the Christian Women's Book Club and opening with devotions. She also invited the women to attend the club which meets the fourth Wednesday of the month at 9:30 a.m. in the education building.

On Aug. 27 the book to be discussed is "Black and Free" by Tom Skinner. On Sept. 24 it is the novel "Giants in the Earth" by Ole Edvard Kvaaag and on Oct. 22 "Make Love Your Aim" by Eugenia Price.

Refreshments were served by Edith Van Wieren, Mrs. Joel Spykerman and Mrs. Joel Breuker.

Barbecue: A Manly Event in Drenthe

It's a man's world out at the annual Drenthe Chicken Barbecue.

And it's probable the women wouldn't have it any other way.

Only in the past few years have the women been involved and then only to help out. The men take care of all the planning.

And for maximum efficiency as much as possible they remain on the same committees year after year.

The men boast that they were the first to put on a barbecue in the area, a practice which has now been followed by many other groups.

Now in its 17th year the barbecue has an average yearly profit of $1100 which is used to maintain and improve the Drenthe ball field.

Initially the project was begun to purchase much needed lights but then improvements such as canteens and backstops were purchased as well as general improvements at the picnic grove.

Approximately 30 men are active in the projects and man eight different committees including, publicity, beverages, chicken barbecuing, parking, ice cream, salads, buns and table service.

Slated for Saturday, Aug. 16, this year, tickets may be purchased in advance from any community member or at Ken's Garage and Hardware in Drenthe.

As many as 2,200 dinners have been sold and tickets will be available Saturday at Drenthe Grove.

A car operated by James J. Cavener, 44, of Fort Wayne, attempting a left turn from westbound 32nd St. onto US-31 crossed in front of a car driven by Theodore H. Jungblut, 46, of 950 Central Ave., eastbound on 32nd St. Monday at 4:52 p.m.

YOU WOULDN'T BELIEVE IT

The Department of Health, Education, and Welfare now has more than 300 programs which it administers. The rules and regulations for administering these programs are set by the scores of bureaucrats who are in charge, not by your elected representatives as you may mistakenly believe.

According to John M. Seidle, a former staff member of HEW, HEW services which now cost $9 billion, would total $250 billion if they were actually extended to all who are eligible for them. Mull this over. There are so many programs, and most of us know little about them, that if we spent some time digging into what is available, we would all be eligible for something from that huge organization. It is even possible that with the right pedigree for getting aid one might live the good life without doing anything at all, and do it in a very legal fashion.

The only bit of optimism on the horizon for taxpayers is that even the most liberal in Congress are beginning to see what a monstrosity has been created. Governor Brown of California has put it this way: "The federal government pours money through and we just spray it all over the place. There are projects where we don't know how much money is being spent or who is spending it." That's a pretty sad state of government affairs if not immoral. There could be a dozen Watergates in all this spending. Write your congressman or talk with him. He may not know.

Presentation To Highlight NSA Dinner

Presentation of a Cermetified Professional Secretary (CPS) certificate and pin to Paula De Young and Rita Steele highlighted a dinner meeting of the Holland-Zeeland Chapter of the National Secretaries Association at the Holland Country Club Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

Roger MacLeod of MacLeod's Gallery of Homes, and Rita Steele, secretary to Robert Militzer, vice president and general manager of Exello-Micromatic, will be presented with the award by Marian P. Archer, CPS, recording secretary for the Michigan Division of NSA.

The status of CPS was attained after Paula and Rita successfully passed the two-day examination administered by the Institute for Certifying Secretaries at Lansing and Kalamazoo.

They were two of 976 secretaries throughout the country who completed successfully the six-part examination covering these subjects: Environmental Relationships in Business, Business and Public Policy, Economics of Management, Financial Analysis and the Mathematics of Business, Communications and Decision Making, and Office Procedures.

The complete roster of CPS's in the United States, Puerto Rico, and Canada now numbers 8,713.

Sunday School Lesson

Becoming Christlike in our Relationships
Romans 12: 9-21
By C. P. Dame

A class was graduating from a college. One teacher told the class that their success in life would depend in a large measure upon their relationships with people. This lesson teaches that a person who takes a Christian attitude to people in the long run will learn that it is the best. To be motivated by Christ's love benefits self and others.

I. Love obligates. In the verses omitted in the text humility is taught. If humility had been stressed more in the church there would have been fewer schisms. After calling for humility, the call to love follows. Real love can't be hid. It is bound to show itself. Lovers hate evil. The best way to keep from evil is to hold fast to the good. Evil destroys, love builds. Love is fitting in the household of faith. Love in action costs. It is not easy to rejoice with a person who has been honored and another thinks the honor should have been given to him. Service for the Lord should be carried on with enthusiasm. Sloth is un-Christian. The Lord's work demands all one has. The best is not good enough.

II. Love calls for self-discipline. The word discipline is not popular today. We need lots of it. We are to rejoice in hope and to pray always. Who is always in the mood? We should give constantly. Some always seem to be in need. We are to bless people who persecute us. What about fellow church members who irritate us? Sometimes it is easier to weep with those who weep than to rejoice with those who rejoice. We are to live peaceably with all men, also with church members and relatives who get on our nerves. It is Christlike to discipline self to be silent when you feel like saying a sharp word. Read Romans 12 and pay special attention to the verbs and you'll be frightened at the demands. To discipline self is a daily necessity in order to live Christlike in our personal relationships. Christians do hurt each other. Sometimes it is good to love some from a distance, thus we save ourselves from ulcers.

III. We are loved. The word "beloved" look at twice. We are loved and hence we should love. Some things we are to leave to God. "I will repay, says the Lord." He is not always in a hurry. God will take care of his business, we should take care of our own and that is to keep on loving and thus show the Christlike spirit under all manner of conditions and circumstances. This takes divine grace which is available.

Local doctors agree to be on call for each clinic. Local ambulances as well as the emergency room at the hospital are alerted that a blood clinic is in progress.

Five clinics are held each year, with the necessary time span between each program to allow donors to donate each time. A list of over 1,200 known donors in the Holland area are contacted each time by one of the 30 women who volunteer to call, giving the necessary information and asking if they de-

The cancellation charges to Riley Stoker Co. were agreed to after meetings with company representatives and the BPW and city attorney and amounted to $98,650 which was lower than the original claim from the company.

The board approved an additional $5,000 in a contract with Lodge-Cottrell for an electrostatic precipitator to include a working model of the unit for the power plant.

The low bid from Grand Rapids Industrial Painting Co. of $24,600 to paint the interior and exterior of the 5 million gallon water storage tank on Waverly Rd. between 16th and 32nd Sts. was approved. Five bids were received.

The borrowing of $573,000 from the waste fund and $330,000 from the electric replacement fund were approved subject to council action.

1880s DEPICTED — Carl and Pam Wiltse of Holland wear clothing of the 1880s during the Centennial observance of Bay View, one of the last of the popular Chautauqua style summer retreats located at Petoskey. The Wiltse, both Holland Public School teachers, were house parents for the 24-students in Ruth Crist Hall, a student dormitory. Pam and her parents have been summer residents of Bay View since the 1950s. The Bay View Association observed its centennial week July 27 - Aug. 3.

Bay View Colony Enjoys Centennial

By Paul Van Kolken

PETOSKEY — Bay View, one of the last of the Chautauqua-type summer programs popular during the late 19th Century, continues at this picturesque area and observes its 100th anniversary this year.

A Holland couple, Carl and Pam Wiltse, both teachers in the Holland Public School system, are house parents for 24 students ranging in age from 13 to 23 years.

Pam's parents have been summer residents of Bay View since the 1950s and Pam took part in many of the summer activities of the association.

The students in the Ruth Crist Hall are among the 70 attending music classes at the association. The hall, a former hotel at the association, is named for a Chicago family who purchased the Victorian-styled building and donated it to the association.

Part of the Centennial observance this summer involved the wearing of clothing of the 1880s and a re-dedication of the Bay View Woman's Council building where a Victorian Christmas event was held.

Bay View was founded in 1875 north of Petoskey village and was patterned after the Chautauqua movement popular in southwestern New York State.

Called the Petoskey Campground in 1876, the summer program was established by the Michigan Methodists and during the first summer a score of tents were erected and between 500 and 600 persons attended the meetings.

The first cottages were built a year later and by 1878, 30 cottages were constructed. Today the Victorian style cottages of Bay View are on the National Register of Historic Sites and protected from exterior alterations.

The association began as a retreat for revival meetings and spiritual refreshment and by the 1880s had become a pioneering institution in public education attracting tens of thousands of visitors and a home study program enrolling men and women across the nation.

The Centennial Assembly includes guest preachers for Sunday services, religion and life lectures, a conservatory of music, theater arts program, adult seminars and recreational programs.

Mrs. Wiltse said residents of Bay View own their cottages but must lease the property from the association. The leases are renewable every 15 years.

Prospective members must obtain reference letters from neighboring cottage owners and must pledge to support the association in its programs.

Christian Athlete

Being an athlete is great but being a Christian athlete is even greater and that's what Larry Amundson is.

Thanks to Dr. Alfred Vande Waa of Zeeland, Amundson was the guest instructor at Camp Geneva this week.

Amundson is assistant athletic director for Athletes in Action, a minister of Campus Crusade for Christ International and is a former NCAA College Division wrestling champion.

AIA was formed in 1966 under the direction of David R. Hannah, its present director. The purpose of the program is to present the message of Jesus Christ to the sports world and to contribute to the further excellence of athletic competition.

Amundson pointed out that last season marked a record setting year for AIA basketball teams as the West team, coached by former Chicago Bull guard Jim King, set 26 records enroute to a 25-11 season and this was done without a home court.

In his six years with Athletes in Action, Amundson had an outstanding 61-6-1 dual meet record. As a high school wrestler, Amundson was a five-time district champion and had a brilliant career at Mankato State where he won the NCAA College Division at 177 and finished second in major university competition.

The 28-year-old Amundson, who is married and has one son, John Mark, said that the AIA has 5,000 members on its staff. And believe it or not, everyone from the president on down, has to raise his own money like a missionary.

"I usually attend three to four camps a summer," stated Amundson, who is in the process of giving up competitive wrestling.

"The open competition is so much tougher now than ever and after 16 years of wrestling, I just don't quite have the love for it, like I once did."

It's hard to believe that the muscular Amundson, once started wrestling as a 95-pound "giant." But wrestle was his bag, as he made his high school varsity team in the eighth grade.

"Back then, they let you compete on the varsity if you were good enough," Amundson replied.

His biggest thrills in wrestling were winning the NCAA and participating with the USA team in the Soviet Union for 2½ weeks and for four days in Poland.

"Without a doubt, the Russians are the best wrestlers in the world," claimed Amundson. "They always have had the edge over us in high school and in college, because they wrestle the Olympic style at all times and we don't."

Larry Amundson
... AIA athletic director

The 13 local wrestlers, who attended the camp, would probably be shocked to learn that the 207-pound Amundson competed at 157 and 177 throughout his collegiate days.

"In my freshman year, I wrestled at 103, 120 when I was a sophomore, 133 when I was a junior and 154 my senior year," said Amundson.

Amundson ran a basic clinic Monday through Friday at Camp Geneva which included live action at the end of each session.

"I really enjoyed my brief stay here," he offered. "The fellows were great to work with, as was the staff."

Jim Rynsbarger, the successful wrestling mentor at Zeeland, an instructor at the camp commented, "Larry is just first rate when it comes to teaching the fundamentals of wrestling. If something doesn't work, he pointed out, not to pull right out but continue doing what you were, because your next move just might do the trick."

Beating an opponent means a lot to Larry Amundson but accepting Jesus Christ means a whole lot more.
