THE REASON WHY

Vinol

IS THE BEST STRENGTHENING TONIC

for Feeble Old People, Delicate Children, Weak, Run-down Persons, and to Counteract Chronic Coughs, Colds and Bronchitis, is because it combines the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal, strengthening, body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron, without oil or grease, tastes good, and agrees with every one.

They wanted $5 for their trouble which was thought too high and papers were immediately gotten out to get possession of it. Is For Diekema

"The report is being quite generally circulated among friends of Congressman Diekema, both in Holland and Grand Haven, that I being the Republican candidate for the nomination for Prosecuting Attorney am opposing Mr. Diekema for congress and supporting Mr. Ellis this year.

"This report is being circulated by the friends of one of my opponents for the purpose of inducing Congressman Diekema's friends to vote against me at the primaries.

"It is quite generally known that both of my opponents are supporters of Mr. Diekema, and I had presumed it was equally as well known that I favored his nomination this year as in the past.

"I wrote Mr. Ellis in reply to a card received from him that I could not support him. I told him so personally when he talked to me about the matter two weeks ago. All or nearly all of the officers and members of the Ellis club at Grand Haven I have known for years, and I hope to receive their votes on Primary Day. Yet, when approached by some of them on the subject a short time ago, I told them frankly, that I could not support Mr. Ellis for congress.

"The statement that I am now, or ever have been, opposed to Mr. Diekema is absolutely false, and it is neither fair nor just to endeavor to induce his friends to vote against me by using such an argument."

LOUIS H. OSTERHOUS.

The Holland Fair

Abandoning its old policy of limited purses for the races at the Holland fair and consequently attracting to the local track majority of the stables racing in the Michigan circuit the directors of the South Ottawa and West Allegan Fair association are taking another big step in making the local exhibition second only to the two great state exhibitions. This year, $2500 in purses has been offered for the events on September 21-23, including two stake races for which $500 purses have been hung up and which will draw many of the best horses in the state.

The first of these is the Merchants and Manufacturers stake for 2:18 trotters, which will be contested on Thursday, Sept. 22. The Holland Interurban $500 purse for 2:18 pacers will be raced for the following day. Ben Van Raalte, Jr., is superintendent of the speed department, and is sending out entry blanks throughout the state, the lists closing on September 16. Records made after Aug. 30 no bar. The local track is one of the best in the state, and in its present fast shape, it is expected that some of the local records will fall.

Following is the full racing program; the opening day offering $650 in purses and thus ensuring a fine day's racing, something not usually attempted. $800 is hung up for Thursday and Friday purses total $1050.

Political Notes

"Warner assessed me as an appointee, and I paid like a man, but I took no personal part in his campaign."

The above is an extract from a statement sent by Chase S. Osborne to the editor of The Detroit News, and which was published in The Detroit News Tribune on Sunday, Aug. 14.

Friends of the governor have dug up files of the Sault Ste. Marie News at the time the governor was campaigning in the north in 1908, and produce the following item, which was a comment made by that paper on the introduction of Gov. Warner by Chas. S. Osborne, when the governor delivered a speech at the opera house in Sault Ste. Marie on Tuesday, June 9, 1908, in his fight for renomination.

"No testimonial to the governor's personal integrity and individual worth, his purity of motive and wholesome sincerity could have been more gracefully or more fittingly framed in words than in the eloquent introduction of the governor by the Hon. Chase S. Osborne as chairman of the meeting. His assertion that Michigan had never had a more honest, a more sincere, or a harder working governor than Warner, struck a responsive chord."

The Sault Ste. Marie News is Mr. Osborne's paper.

"Now, this looks as though Mr. Osborne took a personal interest in the governor's campaign, and again it does not seem to bear out the statement credited to Mr. Osborne as having been made by him at Flint recently, when he asserted that for 12 years previous to his appointment as regent that he had not spoken to the governor, for in another item from the Soo News it goes on to say that the governmental party were the guests of Mr. Osborne while in the city," said one of the state house crowd.

WHY THE OX WAS MUZZLED

Old Welsh Plowman Took Timely Precaution to Save the Tail of the Leader.

The oxen were harnessed tandem fashion; stocky little Welshmen they were from the western hills, unsurpassed there, for the true Sussex ox is red. They eyed me with an expression of plaintive inquiry, and I noticed that the rear one's moist black nose was guarded by a string muzzle, through which he snorted at me in a manner hardly inviting confidence. The old plowman smiled indulgently while I admired them.

"Why do you muzzle the rear one?" I inquired.

"Look at the t'other's tail an' ye'll see," he chuckled.

And certainly the leader's tail was not so bushy as it should be.

"There aren't many oxen used now for farm work?" I asked.

He shook his head. "Only a few, just here an' there, mayhap," he answered; "horses an' steam plows 'a' done away with 'em. 'Sides, there ain't many smiths left now as can shoe an ox. Rare fun it is, I tell ye, stickin' the kews on 'em, throw 'em we have to tie up their legs an' hold their necks down w' a pitchfork. Ha! ha! rare fun it is, lad."

I looked at the wide-spreading pointed horns, and thought of the usual run of village smithies. "I shouldn't imagine any smith would be anxious to learn the art," I remarked.

The old man agreed with me. He had the rosy, childish unwrinkled face of the countryman, his eyes were gray-green, the color of the Channel sea below the edge of the Down; his grizzled head shook as he cut into his bread with the pointed blade of a big pocketknife. "No, things ain't as they were," he said slowly.—Manchester Guardian.

SWAM TO SHORE IN BASKET

Desiring to Join His Sweetheart, a Sailor Risks Life in Jumping From Ship.

Love for an old sweetheart and desire to save her from a marriage arranged by her parents impelled Makinzono Inouso of Seattle, Wash., a sailor on the steamer Inaba Maru, to risk his life in a daring attempt to escape from the vessel.

Waiting until the dark hours of the night Makinzono picked up a bamboo basket, and, holding it over his head, leaped from the steamer. Both guards and ship's officers heard the splash and rushed to the spot. Electric flash lamps and the ship's searchlight shot their rays over the waters, but all that was discernible was a bamboo basket bobbing around in the bay. Apparently without any guidance the basket floated around the end of the grain elevator and disappeared. In the morning Makinzono was missed, and investigation developed the manner of his escape.

Sent among the passengers with a message from one of the ship's officers, Makinzono recognized the girl as an old sweetheart. It was then he carried out his plan of escape. The girl is held at the detention station.—New York Herald.

Murdered for a Cent.

A quarrel over a single penny led to a murder in Hoboken the other day. A man from Nebraska, who stopped at a hotel in Hoboken while awaiting the sailing of the steamer for Europe, put a penny in the slot of an automatic music box in the dining-room of the hotel, but the box refused to pour forth the expected ragtime tune. The Nebraskan became indignant and upbraided the German porter. The latter explained to him that it required a nickel and not a penny to set the mechanism of the music-box in motion, but that explanation did not satisfy the man from Nebraska. He became abusive and when the porter threatened to put him out, he pulled a revolver from his pocket and shot the porter dead.

Man an Aquatic Animal.

Every moderately well-educated person knows that life originated in the water, but not so many are aware that we are still aquatic animals. Every cell except those of the outside skin is dependent upon a surrounding liquid to keep it alive, and if it became dry it would perish. A person who realizes this fact will always take care to drink plenty of water, and will also eat plenty of fruit and vegetables, since these contain large quantities of water, and that in a purer form than is usually available. The pickaninny shows his good sense when he feasts upon the juicy watermelon, and instead of ridiculing him we might better go and do likewise.

Why He Sought Pardon.

Roquelaure, the deformed Jester of Louis XIV, contrived to get out of many a scrape by his ready wit. One day he went to the king to ask his pardon for having struck off the helmet of one of his sentinels, who had failed to give him the military salute. Louis, who knew his man, wondered that Roquelaure should crave his pardon for so venial an offense, and said to him: "This is a serious matter, Roquelaure, but I will pardon you this time." It afterwards turned out that the soldier's head was in the helmet, and fell with it to the ground.

NO FAITH IN POSTPONEMENTS

Distress of a Mother Whose Child Contracted Whooping Cough on the Eve of a Journey.

Just when Mrs. Ackroyd had finished packing her trunks and after William Ackroyd had bought railway tickets for her and their two daughters, little Bessie came down with a severe case of whooping cough. The doctor positively refused to let the child start on a long journey, and even if he had thought it safe for the little one to leave home he assured Mrs. Ackroyd that she would not be permitted to take the patient into a hotel anywhere.

"Isn't it a shame," the distressed lady wailed. "Here we are with everything in our trunks, and my husband has even bought our berth in the sleeper."

"It is unfortunate, but I don't know what you can do except sit down and wait for four or five days. It may be safe then for you to start away."

When her husband got home that evening Mrs. Ackroyd was weeping.

"Don't take it so hard, dear," he said. "It might be a good deal worse. Our little one is likely to get along all right. The doctor says the case isn't an unusually severe one, and when I telephoned him this afternoon he said he thought it might be safe for you to start away by the end of the week."

"I know. He told me the same thing. But I feel that we'll never go. I never postponed anything yet that didn't turn out sadly. I once postponed a wedding, and the marriage never took place."

Half an hour later William Ackroyd was still sitting in a corner alone, thinking it over.—Chicago Record-Herald.

TOBACCO USED AS MONEY

In the African Interior Kentucky Leaf is Bartered to the Natives for Their Products.

Kentucky leaf tobacco is now put up for the African trade. In the interior of Africa leaf tobacco is practically used in place of money to barter with the natives for their products.

The wants of the natives are few. Food and most of their clothing are supplied by nature. They follow the primitive custom of acquiring personal property in the form of cattle, wives and children, and depending on the children in old age for support. They give little thought to laying aside anything for use in illness or old age.

In the interior, traders say, the natives often refuse money in exchange for their products, but will take tobacco, spirits, cotton goods, etc. In fact, in some parts of the interior tobacco is an absolute necessity in trading with the natives.

This tobacco is generally retied in smaller bundles so that the African merchants can figure out how the distribution of this tobacco would calculate, and to facilitate those calculations the tobacco is tied in various styles, that is, so many bundles to the pound, from four to ten as desired. The retying and manipulation of Kentucky leaf has become as specialized as the manufacture of tobacco.—The Tobacco Leaf.

The Fatal Whisper.

"I had a funny dream last night," said the little grass widow. "I dreamed I was being married again. Shut up! I was sitting by my new husband-to-be, having a perfectly lovely time; he was awfully handsome in my dream—I forget just who he was, but he was awfully handsome—when all of a sudden I turned to the man who sat on the other side of me and said: 'Oh, I forgot! I haven't got my divorce yet.'"

"Then this man whispered back to me: 'Hush! Don't let a little thing like that worry you.'"

"I wasn't going to. I was about to drop the subject and go on marrying—this was a dream. Silly—when I looked around for my new husband-to-be, and he was gone. What say? Yes, I reckon you are right. He must have heard the whisper."

Russian Mail Inspection.

In Russia one letter in every ten passing through the post is opened by the authorities as a matter of course. Some kinds of paper can be steamed open without leaving any traces and this simple operation is finished by re-burnishing the flap with a bone instrument. In the case of a seal a matrix is taken by means of new bread before breaking the wax. When other methods fail the envelope is placed between pieces of wood with edge projecting one-twentieth of an inch. The edge of the envelope is first flattened, then roughened and finally split open. Later a hair line of strong white gum is applied and the edges are united under pressure.

Kittens as Reformers.

Captain Wallace of the Bath night police force, has a couple of young kittens which are very much at home in the police wardroom in City hall. When prisoners are brought in and locked behind the gratings in the strong room just beyond, the captain allows the prisoners' possession of these pets and the unfortunates behind the bars in most cases seem very much interested in watching the kittens play. Captain Wallace has a theory that the antics of the innocent pets will suggest to the minds of the evildoers who are brought in, the innocence of their boyhood and possibly produce reform.—Kennebec Journal.

WHY WOMEN GROW OLD EARLY

Through a Mistaken Idea of Duty She Permits Her Life to Become a Treadmill.

Why do some women grow old and others keep the secret of perpetual youth? Here is one answer:

One reason why the average woman wears out, grows plain before her husband, is that, through a mistaken idea of duty, she lays out for herself at the beginning of her married life a scheme or plan of duty and employment for her time, every hour filled with work, with rare and short periods of relaxation.

This she follows religiously for years, feeling that she has done her duty, because every household event occurs regularly and on time, while she soon becomes merely a machine, a thing without life of itself or volition. She settles into a rut, and goes round and round on the same track everlastingly.

Can any woman keep brightness, originality of thought or speech, or even more prettiness with such a life? And without those things how can she keep her husband and growing children full of loving admiration, which is the strong chain by which she can bind them to her? How bright and jolly the neighbor's wife seems when she calls. In nine cases out of ten it is because the surroundings and talk of your home are variety to her, and rouse her to originality and brightness of speech.

Cultivate a broad attitude toward the world and its people. Let your interests be far-reaching, and there will be renewed vigor when it comes to solve the problems of the home.

WANTED PAY FOR HIS WORK

British West Indian Who Wanted Re-ompense for Building His Own House, Materials Furnished.

An English naval officer tells of being on a war vessel which took provisions to St. Kitt's, one of the British West India islands. A hurricane had left many of the inhabitants in a destitute or even starving condition. Hungry crowds gathered at the wharf, but refused to help unload the food that was to be given to them unless paid for their work. A similar story sheds light on the Jamaican negro. Five or six years ago a hurricane devastated the island, and a large relief sum was raised, much of it in England and the United States. The committee having charge of this fund sent a wagon load of lumber to a husky black man whose house had been scattered over the parish. He and his family were living in a rude shack, made out of odds and ends.

"What's that fur?" he asked of the men who were unloading the material in front of his patch of ground.

"That's for your new house," was the reply. "It's from the relief fund and won't cost you anything."

"Who's goin' to build mah house?" "You are, if anybody does."

"Who's goin' to pay me fur mah work?"

Drops Pick as Wife Gets Rich.

Michael Flanagan threw down his pick when he got word his wife had fallen heir to $50,000 left by her uncle, John Hogan, a Brooklyn saloonkeeper. Flanagan has been one of the jolly, devil-may-care workers employed in building a road on Franklin Murphy's large estate, which is being fashioned out of the wilderness near here.

"I'm sorry to leave you, boys," said Flanagan when a lawyer's clerk from Morristown brought the news, "but I'm suddenly elevated to the Rockefeller and Carnegie class, and so I must be off."

Michael, notwithstanding he had money in his pocket, walked a mile in the hot sun to the railroad station rather than pay a nickel on the trolley.

"If any part of that $50,000 gets away from me foolishly it will be when I'm asleep and can't hold on to its wing," remarked Flanagan departing.

Eating Between Meals.

Not much is said about this bad habit nowadays, but is still a bad habit. Do not let children eat chocolates, biscuits or sweetmeats at odd times, whenever the whim seizes them.

This practise leads to many troublesome little ailments connected with the digestion.

Nibbling at crackers and sucking sour balls or taffy are perhaps the most common forms of "eating all the time" and should be checked as soon as the habit is noticed.

A little pure candy may be given for dessert at a meal, or at night before the teeth are washed, but it should not be given more than once a day.

LIGHTNING PLAYS SOME ODD PRANKS

PERFORMS MANY QUEER STUNTS IN A NEW JERSEY HOME.

NEVER TOUCHED OCCUPANTS

Furniture and Decorations Are Torn or Melted, But No One Is Hurt, Though the Bolt Had to Dodge Them.

Lightning has been known to play queer freaks, but a streak of the Jersey brand which struck the home of John Ackermann in Rochelle Park, N. J., a few days ago, seems to have done more queer things in a moment than had been done since Ajax defied the fluid. From removing the four castors of a table to snipping off the steel stub of a pen with which a young woman was writing in an adjoining house, the zigzagging bolt managed to disrupt or injure most everything in its path.

The bolt melted the telephone wire and hurled the molten metal against a window with such force as to make mosaics of several panes, the spattering hot metal so deeply engraining itself in the glass that there has been no getting it out.

One side of the hall was ripped out and from there the lightning flashed into the parlor, where a broken lamp and scattered and broken bric-a-brac told of its passage through that apartment.

Then it journeyed to the dining-room, where Mr. Ackermann was sitting. The walls, blackened, seared and bulged out on three sides, show that the bolt struck the room in three places, and Ackermann is still marveling how it was that the lightning flashed all around without ever touching him.

In the kitchen was an old-fashioned clock, quite heavy and fully two feet in height. The lightning removed this from the kitchen and deposited the wreck in the dining-room. The west side of the kitchen wall was blown out. The kitchen floor was blown upward. The kitchen table was splintered into bits and the range was shattered into many pieces.

A young woman next door was writing a letter and her pen-point disappeared as the bolt shook the place.

Yet, strange to say, although there were four persons in the house at the time not one of the occupants suffered any injury from the freakish bolt, other than the shocked surprise that would be expected on such an exciting occasion.

William H. Jacobs and his son, Charles H. Jacobs, of Aberdeen, Md., had a most remarkable escape from death during a terrific thunderstorm. A bolt of lightning struck their barn in which both were occupied at the time in unharnessing a horse. The lightning came through an end of the building like a flash, and struck the animal, killing it immediately, but both men were only momentarily shocked. They recovered within a minute or so and returned to the house. There was a large quantity of hay in the barn, but, strange to say, nothing caught on fire. The only evidence of the visitation of the electrical bolt is the dead horse and a hole in one end of the barn.

Negro Turning White.

Chester, Pa.—Fred Hopkins, a negro, is gradually turning white. Until a couple of years ago there was not a white spot on him, but gradually his skin began to bleach and his hands and arms are now as white as those of the Caucasian race, and the skin on his face and neck is covered with large white spots. A few years ago Hopkins married a young white woman, and they live happily together.

Preached in Dark Church.

Newcastle, Pa.—Rev. R. N. Merritt of the Methodist Episcopal church at Mahoningtown advertised that he would preach in the dark. The lights were extinguished because of the heat. The church was crowded when the minister entered the pulpit and more than three-quarters of the congregation were young folk.

Western Michigan Apples.

The question was asked in the state press recently, "Why not the western Michigan Apple?" And there is a great deal of meaning in the suggestion. The write-ups under this headline went on to say that in other states, especially in the western fruit countries they have adopted brands for fruits that have given those fruits and the locality where they were raised a certain standing and individuality in the market. Many of the famous western brands of apples are well known throughout the United States. But who ever heard of the western Michigan apple? It is an apple, and a mighty good one, but that is all there is to it. Ship it to the Chicago market and the retail dealers there may handle it for years without becoming aware of the fact that there is a fruit belt in western Michigan. "What's in a name?" said the poet. And he argued that a rose would smell just as sweet if called by another name, and doubtless an apple tastes just as good without a brand. But that is not the point. A city or community or locality that gets an opportunity in this age of advertising to bring home to the market of the world the fact that it has some special advantages or produces something worth while, and fails to take the opportunity is not wide awake. It pays to advertise.

It has been demonstrated repeatedly that the western Michigan apple has as good a flavor and keeps as well as many of the brands from the western states that bring fancy prices in the Chicago market. The same thing is true of the western Michigan peach—only more so. The only difference is, the man out west has grasped the idea that advertising gives an immense advantage and the western Michigan farmer has not. Now note the result. The Fennville apple growers are not getting the prices for their fruit that the western apple fetches. And to take an instance on a small scale nearer home. In the immediate vicinity of Holland apples are being raised on a small scale that are just as good as the Fennville fruit or the western fruit. We know of some farmers who each year raise two or three hundred bushels as a side line and this year they will net from 60 cents to 70 cents a bushel from them. Many years the price is as low as 40 cents to 50 cents. As a contrast take an instance of a western apple grower. The News happens to know of a man who has a ten acre apple farm in the Yakima Valley in the state of Washington. He belongs to the Yakima Valley Fruit Growers Association and his apple is the famous Yakima brand. He packs his apples—thousands of bushels each year—in boxes as oranges are packed, stamps the brand and the name of the association on the box, ships them to the Chicago, or Minneapolis, or even New York market and usually is paid about $2.00 net for his fruit. The fruit is not one bit superior to the fruit raised in the immediate vicinity of Holland, but the grower has learned the fact that it pays to advertise; therefore he has gone into an association, given his fruit a name, and let nature and the law of supply and demand do the rest.

Now one farmer or the farmers of one county cannot do anything effectual toward properly advertising the Michigan apple. But a year ago an association was formed that bids fair to becoming exactly the advertising medium that has long been needed. The name of this association is the "Western Michigan Development Association" and has its headquarters in Traverse City, Mich. The ambition of this association is to put on the map and keep them there nineteen counties in Western Michigan. Its energies are not confined to fruit growing although that is one of the important industries in these counties. It aims to advertise all the other advantages of the nineteen counties, as the dairy business, and many of the allied natural advantages. Since its organization the association has been sending a large mass of free information and interesting facts to the newspapers of western Michigan, much of which has been printed and commented upon editorially.

We see a great field of usefulness for the "Western Michigan Development Association." As soon as it can succeed in opening the eyes of western Michigan to its own natural advantages the battle is won, and the product of the apple farm or dairy farm or any other farm need not yield to that of any other locality. Anybody that is engaged in raising any product for the outside market or is in any way interested in the development of western Michigan would do well to get acquainted with this association. A postal card to their officers at Traverse City will bring literature on it at your door. The association is so disinterested a project that somehow people cannot understand the why and wherefore of it. But it is "on the square" and is going to do great things for western Michigan.

Supervisor Burleson Says Soo Man Is Not Fit to be Governor.

Supervisor F. A. Burleson was in the city Wednesday from Stonington, and to The Journal man he expressed his opinion of the Candidate Osborn very freely. Among other things, he said:

"I would not vote for Osborn under any consideration. I know the man personally and I believe him to be unfit for governor. His one claim of being an original Pingree man condemns him in my estimation, because I positively know that he did not get into the game for Pingree until almost the last minute. Osborn is an unsafe man, because he is a trimmer and a trickster. He does not know what loyalty to a friend is. I have known Mr. Muzzelman for a number of years and I also know Mr. Kelley. Either Muzzelman or Kelley would be an honor and a credit to the state as governor, but Osborn is unworthy of consideration."

The Escanaba Journal and the gentleman quoted in the above extract are both prominent in the northern Peninsula. Ed.

After successfully proclaiming himself the "Roosevelt of Michigan," likening himself to George Washington and declaring that even "Christ was an insurgent," George Washington Osborn, as the newspapers of the state have humorously called him, has attempted to share a portion of the mantle of Michigan's loved Pingree and a number of the old friends of the honored governor have risen up in wrath.

They are not slow in pointing out the fact that Pingree stood for a tonnage tax on mines and that Osborn is again even a reappraisal of the mining values and they add that when Pingree was fighting for the law which gave Michigan control of the railroads that Osborn—who was railroad commissioner at the time—was fighting against him and they point to Mr. Osborn's own report to the legislature as proof of it. The record is there and it proves beyond a shadow of a doubt that when Mr. Osborn claims, as he is now claiming, that he helped Pingree fight his battles, either his memory is bad or that he and George Washington would have differed in their ideas of what constitutes the truth.

The Raid.

The Allegan Gazette has the following on the raid at Macatawa Park.

Complaint came to Prosecutor Hoffman last Tuesday from Macatawa park that in a certain cottage there a riotous houseparty was being held. The people in surrounding cottages were so disturbed by the drinking and shouting that they could not sleep and were otherwise annoyed. Hoffman and Officers Brott and Foote went to the park on the Tuesday evening train, and about midnight they went to the cottage where twelve or fourteen men or boys were having a carousal. Most of them were playing poker; two were dead drunk, one on the floor and another on a couch, and upstairs were three women. The man who was at the head of the party was Ross Coffman and the women were his brother's wife and her two married daughters. The officers suddenly entered the house about three o'clock in the morning after watching the drinking and gambling a while, and arrested six of the men, including Coffman. They were all brought to Allegan, Wednesday morning, and arraigned before Justice Foote. Coffman is still in jail, not being able to get bail, and the other five were dismissed upon the payment of $1 fine and $9.95 costs each. One of the crowd who was inclined to be a little unruly was given twenty-four hours in jail. When the officers entered the cottage quickly they gathered in the money and poker chips from the table where the game was going on, and when they counted the cash they found they had but $1.04. In an inventory of the goods in the cottage they found five cases of beer and plenty of whiskey, champagne, cider, unfermented grape-juice, and seltzer. A dozen fried chickens were ready to be eaten by the "resorters," and a colored cook, who was kept busier mixing drinks than preparing edibles, was on hand. All of the people gave fictitious names but the officers are convinced that the men in the party are of well-known families in Grand Rapids, though two or three were from Chicago.

Another Gasoline Explosion.

Through the rare presence of mind of Frank D. Hart, son of Thomas Hart of Grand Rapids, what might have been a disastrous fire, was nipped in the bud when he grabbed a blazing gasoline stove and threw it out the door. The fire started in the "Sunday Night" cottage, about half a mile from the Macatawa hotel, when Louis L. Prenta tried to operate the stove, which blew up in his face, owing to a leak. Young Hart took the stove and with a mighty effort, threw it out of the door, where it was extinguished.

N. T. Morrissey received a badly scorched neck in the mix-up in trying to put out the blaze, while L. L. Star's arm was singed. Hart received very painful burns around the head and arms and is being attended by Dr. Edward Walsh, who is accompanying the crowd, all of which are of Grand Rapids.

Besides the above named, the party comprises William F. Grady, Samuel Kelley, William T. Manning, Paul Jones. The damage to the cottage is fully covered by insurance.

Big Barn Burns.

The large barn of James Kleinhessel of Fillmore township which it has been said covered nearly a half acre of land was struck by lightning and burned to the ground during the severe electrical storm Tuesday morning with all its contents. The loss is estimated at $8,000, only $5,000 insurance having been taken out on all of the farm buildings including the house.

Among the contents of the barn at the time of the fire were:—100 tons of hay, 1200 bushels of oats, 300 bushels of wheat, 28 hogs, one horse, a valuable Scotch collie, and all the farm implements with the exception of two plows. Practically everything on the premises was burned except the house, even the windmill being entirely destroyed.

The house came very nearly being included in the loss but owing to the strong adverse wind and the heavy rain it was saved. The Kleinhessel family was away from home at the time of the disaster.

The Country's Crops

Allegan county may not raise the largest and finest crops ever this year but taking the country as a whole we are to harvest bumper crops. In our country the adverse weather has made many farmers pessimistic but these same men are being surprised to see the threshing machines turn out good yields of fine grain. The wheat is uniformly large and the heads contain many kernels. Oats have yielded well and the early cold weather and the subsequent hot and dry season have been made up in large measure and rather unexpectedly. Official estimates made by the agricultural department in Washington tell us that corn will be king. The promise now is 2,940,000,000, 13,000,000 more than the bumper crop of 1906. Oats promise several million bushels more than the previous big crop. The only serious loss will be in the hay crop though it is believed rye will be below the average. There will be several million tons of hay less than there were either last year or year before. All the other smaller crops will average about the same, the majority of them falling off in yield slightly.

Storm Sweeps western Michigan

Considerable damage is reported as a result of the severe electrical storm which swept along the east coast of Lake Michigan early Tuesday morning. Several houses and barns are reported to have been struck by lightning and burned. Whole fields of corn were thrown flat by the wind and hail. Hay and straw stacks were scattered to the winds and many trees and valuable shrubs were broken and uprooted. Three houses in Holland were struck by lightning, they were those of E. T. Bertsch, R. R. No. 1, Peter Breen, 86 West Seventeenth street and Jacob Wolfert, 173 Seventh street. Owing to the heavy rain fires were prevented and the damage was inconsiderable.

Many crops were greatly benefited by the rain which was sorely needed by the farmers. It is reported that the heavy rain was an excellent thing for the pickle crop which was especially suffering from the extended drought.

DeYoung to Go; Champion Succeeds.

Conflicting interests represented by the petitions of business men and taxpayers, the former asking for the retention of Supt. James DeYoung at a salary of $2,500 and the latter asking that no raise be given, caused the council to go into committee of the whole in executive session to take the matter up for discussion. Thus the keenly interested public was deprived of the opportunity of hearing the matter discussed pro and con by the city fathers. What the secret session brought forth is of course an unknown quantity but as a result of the discussion the resolution of the Board of Public Works was filed; this in effect precludes any possibility of further action in the matter by the council.

At Monday night meeting of the Board of public works the resignation tendered by Mr. DeYoung some time ago was accepted, the board passing resolutions commending him for his most efficient work.

Large crowd greets Congressman Diekema in his Home town

Speaking to a large and enthusiastic audience at corner of Eighth and River streets Tuesday night, Cong. Diekema handled the vital questions that are up before the people of the Fifth district, and disposed of them in a masterly way. He was introduced by Con. De Pree who made a few remarks very much to the point and who was followed by state senator Andrew Fyfe of Grand Rapids who declared that Mayor Ellis had never done anything that showed him to be a man of large enough calibre to be a United States congressman, that there was not one single reason why the people of the Fifth District should take his candidacy seriously. Mr. Fyfe said that as state representative Mr. Ellis had shown that he was not a big enough man for the office he is seeking.

Mr. Diekema took up the arguments Mr. Ellis made here two weeks ago, one by one and disposed of them in a most satisfactory way. The absurd charge that Mr. Diekema opened his campaign in a Reed's Lake pavilion was shown to be purely a matter of sour grapes, and all the other arguments were disposed of, not by indulging in personalities, but by clear out logic that does not admit of refutation and that was highly satisfactory to all thinking citizens. After discussing the Reed's Lake episode Mr. Diekema said in part:

"As to my general attitude on liquor legislation, I wish to say that the question was put to me by Rev. Holsapple how I would vote for liquor bills the "drys" would present to congress. My answer was that a city or county or state has a right to ask the federal government not to interfere with whatever liquor legislation they saw fit to make. So I told him that I would support any bill his league might present, within the limitation of the constitution. No man who respects his oath of office could do more or less.

"Mayor Ellis has blamed me for opening headquarters in Grand Rapids but he forgets that he himself has headquarters at the expense of the city. He did not ask for the mayorality because he wanted to make reforms in that city for two years to come for he knew he was going to run for congress. The mayor's office with its several hundreds of appointees gave him splendid headquarters at the city's expense and a splendid campaign committee. Moreover, the name of mayor is valuable advertising material in his congressional campaign. The office of mayor gave him a good start in running for congress and that is why he asked the city of Grand Rapids to elect him a third time, when there was really no excuse for doing so.

"Mayor Ellis has charged me with being an enemy of labor. I need only point to my record in congress to completely refute this. The committee on which I served is responsible for several labor bills that are favorable to the workingman. In case of accident these bills make the employer stand part of the damage, even tho the laborer was partly to blame. We have bettered his chances in every way by insuring him against loss by accident or otherwise. Do you think that I who worked on a farm not a mile from here until I was 23 years old earning money to make my way through college, could ever become the enemy of labor?

"Ellis has charged me with being a standpatter. During the last two years of Roosevelt's administration I stood shoulder to shoulder with him in all his progressive legislation, so that when he went out of office he wrote me a personal letter of commendation. And only a few weeks ago he said that it was a shame that I should be opposed for renomination. When it is remembered that that is the opinion of the most progressive president in our history, does the charge of being a standpatter mean much? As for supporting Cannon everybody knows that I first broke the ice in suggesting myself as the successor of Uncle Joe, and all the other states followed in the wake of Michigan in this respect.

"The tariff naturally comes in for a good deal of discussion in this campaign. The fundamental principle of the Republican party is protection. It has given this country its era of prosperity and has protected the American laborer against the cheap labor of Europe. It is hard to make a tariff bill that satisfies all, because there are so many conflicting interests in a large country like ours. But the fact remains that the duties have been made higher on no article that the poor man eats or wears or uses in any way. The tariff has been raised only on such luxuries as diamonds, Havana cigars, etc., that the wealthy use.

"Take the sugar schedule for instance. Nearly $200,000,000 worth of sugar is consumed in the United States annually and half of this is produced at home. The tariff protects us against foreign sugar and we are thus building up a great industry that means much to America and to Michigan and to the Fifth district. As a result we are producing our own sugar to a large extent and the American people can buy it more cheaply than the people of any other country except Great Britain.

"The fact that the cost of living has increased is due to two factors, to the increase in the world's production of gold, and to the very important fact that during the last decade the producers have become gradually fewer and the consumers larger in number, due to the influx of people into cities. This naturally creates a greater demand for living supplies and makes the cost of producing them higher.

"A protective tariff is a big proposition and cannot be made in a day. The party has done the best it could under the circumstances and no party could have done more. But the party recognized that there is room for improvement, no matter how excellent the bill is, and perhaps more important than the bill itself is the fact that congress made provision for future tariff legislation. It made a large appropriation and created a tariff board of experts who will furnish information on which future congress can base new tariff schedules. That will put the whole question on a scientific basis, and in that lies the solution of the whole tariff question and it is to the lasting honor of the Republican party that it is responsible for the creation of this board."

With the statement that he hoped to be elected and that he hoped to become speaker of the next house Mr. Diekema said good night amidst great applause.

VOTING AT PRIMARY.

To the Boards of Election Inspectors of the several wards, of the City of Holland.

Gentlemen:—From the nature of questions which have been asked of me by some of our citizens relative to the Primary Election soon to be held in this state, and believing that the same questions may be asked of you, if they have not already been asked, I take the liberty to give answer to several of the questions which seem to me to be the most important relative to the same, at this time.

1. There is no day for enrollment of persons entitled to vote at the primary election to be held on September 6, 1910, other than has already been held, and as a general proposition it may be stated that no person whose name does not now appear on the enrollment books of the election precinct in which he is a qualified voter can vote at this primary election.

2. To the above general proposition there are the following exceptions, viz.:

(a) Persons who became 21 years of age since April 4, 1910 and have the other qualifications of voters may be enrolled on Primary Election day, Sept. 6, 1910.

(b) Persons who have become citizens of the United States of America, since April 4, 1910, and who have the other qualifications of voters, may be enrolled on the Primary Election day, Sept. 6, 1910.

(c) Persons who have gained a residence in this state since April 4, 1910, who have come from another state, may be enrolled on Primary Election day, Sept. 6, 1910 provided such person has the other qualifications.

(d) Persons, who on account of sickness, or unavoidable absence from election precinct in which he resided on April 4, 1910.

All of the above described persons, seeking enrollment on said day, will be required to take the oath prescribed by the general election laws of the state of Michigan, relative to registration of electors on election day.

3. No change of party can be made except on enrollment day, which for the coming primary election was on April 4, 1910.

4. Persons who have changed their residence since April 4, 1910, within the State, must procure a certificate of removal from the Board of Election Inspectors of the precinct from which they have so removed, and present the same on Primary election day to the Board of Election Inspectors of the precinct into which they have so moved, when they will be entitled to vote, provided they are possessed of the other necessary qualifications of voters.

Respectfully submitted,
 ARTHUR VAN DUREN
 City Attorney.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE
BIBLE STUDIES
ISRAEL'S KING REJECTED.
Matthew 21:1-17—August 28.
"Hosanna to the Son of David! Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord!
Hosanna in the Highest!"

ALTHOUGH God foreknew and the prophets foretold that the Jewish nation would reject Jesus and not receive him as their King, nevertheless, everything was done as though the results were not foreknown and foretold. The prophecies were fulfilled. Today's study illustrates this. Jesus offered himself to Israel as their Messianic King, just five days before his crucifixion, and on the exact day upon which, as the Lamb of God, he should have been received by them, in order that they might have been "passed over" and, as a nation, become the antitypical Levites from amongst whom would have been selected the antitypical priests. Their failure to receive Jesus at the appointed time did not at all interfere with the Divine arrangements, for all of the Jews found worthy to be of the spiritual Levites and spiritual Priests were selected, although the nation was rejected. The remainder of those spiritual, antitypical Priests and Levites God has been gathering from amongst the Gentiles ever since. By and by, all these, of whom Jesus is the Chief Priest, will be glorified on the spirit plane. Then will begin the great Messianic work for Israel, and through Israel for all the nations of the world. Thus in due time Israel's expectations will be realized on a grander scale than they ever dreamed of. Abraham, Isaac and all the prophets shall be made princes or rulers in all the earth. Israel restored to Divine favor shall "obtain mercy" of God through the glorified Church, and shall become the channel of God's favor for pouring out upon mankind riches of grace.

The Sabbath day prior to his crucifixion was spent by the Great Teacher at the home of Lazarus and Martha and Mary. His fame had spread by reason of the miracle performed upon Lazarus. A feast was given in his honor on Sabbath night after sundown. It was then that Mary anointed him with the precious perfume which Jesus said was an anointing for his burial. The fragrance of this perfume has come down to us through the ages. The next morning, to fulfill the Scriptures, Jesus sent for the ass and its little colt to be brought. The ass was probably a white one, for it is reputed to have been the custom of the kings of Israel to ride upon white asses. The multitude who had come to see Jesus, and Lazarus whom he had brought from the tomb, filled with admiration, hailed Jesus with shouts, as "The Son of David." The Great King! The Messiah! Certain scribes and Pharisees called attention to this and suggested that Jesus rebuke them. His answer was that, had the people refused to acclaim him, the stones would have cried out; because it had been prophesied centuries before, "Shout, O daughter of Jerusalem! Behold, thy King cometh unto thee. He is meek and having salvation; lowly, and sitting upon an ass, with its colt, the foal of an ass." The little procession headed for Jerusalem, the multitude shouting and strewing their clothing and palm branches for the ass to tread upon, as marks of honor to the great King whom they imperfectly, indistinctly, recognized—not realizing the still greater glory and honor of his later revealing in the end of this Age, when "every knee shall bow and every tongue confess to him."

Four months ago—on April 24th, we passed over the historic road from Bethlehem to Jerusalem, thinking the while of the great incident of this lesson. The road sweeps around the side of the Mount of Olives on a reasonable grade until suddenly a turn of the road and the sharp declivity of the Valley of Hinnom (Gehenna) brings Jerusalem into full view in a moment. Time and again we walked over part of the road and noted where the Master halted the little procession and wept over the City, saying, "O, Jerusalem, Jerusalem, thou that killest the prophets and stonest them which are sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings [for safety], and ye would not! Behold, your house is left unto you desolate. For I say unto you, Ye shall not see me henceforth, till [that day when] ye shall say, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord."—(Matt. 23:37-39.)

Our heart went out in sympathy for the Jewish people. We recalled how they have been nationally "left desolate" for eighteen centuries, and have been persecuted, even, alas, by those who have named the name of Christ! We specially rejoiced to think that "the time of Jacob's trouble" will soon be over—that the time when they will enter into the New Covenant relationship with God will soon be at hand. (Jer. 31:31; Rom. 11:27.) We rejoiced to think that soon Immanuel in the glory of his Kingdom will be revealed, and that all flesh shall behold the glory of that Kingdom. Then the Lord will pour upon Israel the spirit of prayer and of supplication and they shall look upon him whom they pierced. (Zech. 12:10.) We rejoice to think that "that day" when they shall say, "Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord," is nigh at hand. But, we reflect, correspondingly, the time of special favor to spiritual Israel must be drawing to a close.

That spot where Jesus stopped to prophesy Israel's future was the same one over which, a little later, the army of Titus marched to the destruction of Jerusalem, and, amidst famine, finally accomplished the destruction of the city, taking, according to records, ninety-seven thousand prisoners. One million, one hundred thousand, were said to have perished through famine and war. The ground around the City of Jerusalem the Romans planted thick with crosses, on which Jews were crucified until there was room for no more, says history.

The Great Teacher's entry into Jerusalem caused considerable commotion. He went directly to the Temple and ordered from it the money-changers and dove-sellers who had no right within its hallowed precincts. Thus was fulfilled the prophecy, "The zeal of thine house has consumed me." The poor, the blind, the lame, again had his ministrations. Again the chief religionists of the time were vexed and considered him an intruder upon their arrangements and were displeased with the multitude's shouting his praises as the Messiah, the Son of David. They rebuked the Teacher, who answered, Scripturally, "Out of the mouths of babes and sucklings thou hast perfected praise."—Matt. 21:16; Psalms 8:2.

Dr. O. E. Yates, of Plainwell, has bought the property and interest of Dr. R. B. Best has moved into the city, and has rented rooms in VanderVeen's block.

WHAT YOU SAW 25 YEARS AGO

Recently Mr. R. Scregardus, who was in partnership with H. Postma in the manufacture of cigars, started a factory of his own in the first ward in the old Keppel store.

WHAT YOU SAW 20 YEARS AGO

The syndicate which some time ago purchased the old fair grounds for $7,200 has disposed of the entire tract to W. J. Garrod of Allegan, reserving however 12 acres north of Twelfth street as a site for the proposed factory of W. King & Co. The grounds have been platted and will be known hereafter as the Bay View Addition of the City of Holland. In a few days they will be placed in the market and disposed of en masse, further announcement of which will be made in our next issue.

Justice Robart of Port Sheldon, held an inquest upon the body of Barney Van Patten, an old resident of this place, who was drowned on Lake Michigan on Saturday night at 7 o'clock, through the capsizing of the boat. Verdict was accidental drowning.

WHAT YOU SAW 15 YEARS AGO

A girl arrived in P. Schoons family on Friday last. One Pete and two boys make a good trio Pete says.

The Chicago & West Michigan fast train from Chicago due here at 9:50 Tuesday evening, was held up by five robbers, at a point near New Richmond, just south of the Kalamazoo river. The only booty secured, however, was $7 in money from the conductor and two watches from the firemen and engineer. The robbers were evidently mistakin their plans, having expected to make a rich haul from the express car.

After the robbers left it was discovered that a large number of ties were piled on the track a short distance ahead, and so soon as these were removed the train proceeded. The hold up only occupied about fifteen minutes. The train was twenty minutes late when it reached Holland.

The Fennville officers have been scouring the surroundings, but have found nothing that looks like the train robbers. The Grand Rapids police received information Thursday evening that two men answering the description of the train robbers, had arrived in the city and Detectives Powers, Young, Gast, and Jakeway, started out to look them up. They struck their trail and learned that they intended to take the G. R. & I. northbound train. When the train reached the D. G. & M. junction the detectives boarded it. They scattered through the coaches, detective Powers entering the smoker. As he did so, he spotted his men sitting on a seat near the front end of the car; he grabbed the satchel which one carried with him and pulled the bell cord with the other. Just as he did so one of the robbers pulled a revolver, jumped up and shot Powers in the face, he fell to the car floor and called for one of his assistants. Blood was flowing freely from an ugly hole in the right side of the face, the bullet penetrated the right cheek and lodged behind the right ear; during the excitement the desperate robbers darted from the car and escaped. The detectives condition is critical and may prove fatal.

Later.—Telegram just received from Grand Rapids, states that two of the train robbers have just been captured and the city is surrounded by guards.

WHAT YOU SAW 10 YEARS AGO

Lightning struck three houses on Fourteenth street during last Monday's electric storm. It struck Mrs. Edward Powers, 201 West Fourteenth street as she was about to open the door, knocking her down and injuring her arm, leaving a black and blue spot. Outside of the nervous shock experienced her injuries were slight. The lightning passed through the house of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Deto, but did no serious damage. Then it entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Rogers next door to Mr. Deto. Mrs. Rogers was at Montague visiting and all of the children except one little girl were calling on Mrs. Deto. This little girl was struck and knocked senseless. She had a bottle in her hand and this bottle was smashed in a hundred pieces. When neighbors found the little girl she was insensible but was soon resuscitated and has entirely recovered from the shock.

Fire broke out last Wednesday night at one o'clock in the residence on 117 West Thirteenth street, occupied by William Trimble.

Daring and clever burglars were committed in this city last Wednesday night. Their operations were confined to a limited district between West Eleventh and West Fourteenth streets and they entered the homes of the most prominent and well-to-do people in town. From this it is argued that the burglars were acquainted in this locality knew where to go to make a rich haul. The residence of Frank Hadden, J. C. Post, Geo. W. Browning, John H. Raven, W. H. Wing and Fred Metz were entered.

A Cold.

Is not necessarily serious, provided it is taken care of. It is frequently the starting point of many dangerous diseases. When it comes use Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. Look for the bell on the bottle.

Won't Need a Crutch.

When Editor J. P. Sossman, of Cornelius, N. C., bruised his leg badly, it started an ugly sore. Many salves and ointments proved worthless. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve healed it thoroughly. Nothing is so prompt and sure for Ulcers, Boils, Burns, Bruises, Cuts, Corns, Sores, Pimples, Eczema or Piles. 25c at A. R. Doesburg, Walsh Drug Co.

HIDDEN DANGERS

Nature Gives Timely Warnings That No Holland Citizen Can Afford to Ignore.

Danger Signal No. 1 comes from the kidney secretions. They will warn you when the kidneys are sick. Well kidneys secrete a clear, amber fluid. Sick kidneys send out a thin, pale and foamy, or thick red, ill-smelling urine, full of sediment and irregular of passage.

Danger Signal No. 2 comes from the back. Back pains, dull and heavy; or sharp and acute, tell you of sick kidneys and warn you of the approach of dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Here's Holland proof:

Mrs. H. Gaze, 9 W. Eighth St., Holland, Mich., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and can heartily recommend them. My first experience with this remedy took place about a year ago when I was suffering from backache and distressing pain in my kidneys. It was difficult for me to straighten after stooping and was annoyed by the kidney secretions. The contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills removed these troubles and did me a world of good."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Saved from Awful Peril.

"I never felt so near my grave," writes Lewis Chamblin, of Manchester, Ohio, R. R. No. 3. "as when a frightful cough and lung trouble pulled me down to 115 pounds in spite of many remedies and the best doctors. And that I am alive to day is due solely to Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. Now I weigh 160 pounds and can work hard. It also cured my four children of croup." VALUE OF PROPERTY RIGHTS

How One Small Boy Was Cured of Destructive Propensities by a Lasting Lesson.

Small boys are very apt to fall to recognize the value of others' property. My small son, in company with a playmate, in a game used the lights in a neighbor's henhouse for a target.

The owner of the damaged property visited both homes, where the culprits hid in dismay, and collected damages.

Here was a valuable opportunity for a lasting lesson. I called my boy to me, and we talked the matter over, he having full chance to explain his side of the case. Then the mischief he had wrought and the reputation it might give him were gravely discussed.

He voluntarily offered to refund the amount of his part of the damage out of his small savings until full restitution was made. This was finally agreed upon, and here came the hard part for the boy. His pocket money allowance was 25 cents a week, which was frequently reduced by fines for ill-temper or other sundry breaches of etiquette or duty. It took him seven weeks to get out of debt.

When the last cent was paid, he gave a sigh of relief, and said: "There, I'll never destroy anything again as long as I live."—Harper's Bazar.

Teaching Correct Speech.

A woman of culture and travel has made a glorious success teaching correct speech. It is surprising how much incorrect speech there is among our educated people. They cling to provincialisms, incorrect pronunciations, wrong use of words, and un-musical intonations. The southerner holds to the soft, f-l-e-s-s utterance of his "mammy" days; the middle westerner flattens his vowels; the Bostonian throws his r's completely out of joint. This woman undertook to correct such errors and teach a pure, perfect English speech to a few young women. She became so successful that she was compelled to start a school of correct English which has grown to great proportions. This particularly promising field is open in every town in America.—The Delinctor.

Limited Vision.

There was a man once—a poet. He went wandering through the streets of the city, and he met a disciple. "Come out with me," said the poet, "for a walk in the sand dunes." And they went. But ere they had progressed many stages, said the disciple, "There is nothing here but sand." "To what did I invite you?" asked the poet. "To walk in the sand dunes." "Then do not complain," said the poet. "Yet even so your words are untrue. There is heaven above. Do you not see it? The fault is not heaven's; nor the sand's."—Maarten Maartens.

World's Oldest Tree.

The recent rose show given in Paris by the French Horticultural society recalled the fact that the oldest rose tree in the world is believed to be one which grows on a wall of the cathedral at Hildesheim, Germany. Eleven-century records make mention of expenses incurred by caretakers of the cathedral in maintaining this tree, which covers the wall to a height of twenty-five feet and is twenty inches thick at the root.

FOR SALE—Good surry, 416 W. 20th street.

A new building, 130x220 feet in size, is under contract to be erected by Sept. 1st, on the grounds of the West Michigan State Fair in which will be held the exhibit of carriages and automobiles. "Carriage Hall," so called, the building occupied by the exhibition of vehicles and the dairy department for three years past, will this year be known as "Agricultural Hall." The entire building will be filled with exhibits of the products of the farm, meaning grains seeds, produce and vegetables, in addition to the dairy department.

A CLEAN FAIR.

NO GAMBLING, NOR LIQUOR SELLING AT THE WEST MICHIGAN STATE FAIR.

In following the policy adopted several years ago of giving to the people the very best entertainment of its kind, the West Michigan State Fair, to be held in Grand Rapids, Sept. 12-16th, will strictly adhere to its established precedent of barring gambling and liquor selling from the grounds. None of the wiles and lures of professional tricksters will be permitted to entice the money of the unwary from its rightful uses to swell the bank rolls of gambling concessionaries at Comstock Park.

From the date of its organization, gambling devices have been tabooed at the West Michigan State Fair, despite strenuous offers of much financial returns to the Fair. Much as the Fair management has needed additional money for necessary improvements, the temptation to secure money in this way has been withstood. Since 1906, liquor selling privileges have also been denied in the determination to provide the people an absolutely clean, unobjectionable Fair.

The results have been most gratifying to the Fair management and the great majority of the patrons. None who visited the Fair the past few years will have any hesitation about repeating the visit this year, for they know that there will be no gambling on the grounds, no fakirs to swindle the unwary and that no liquor will be sold on the grounds.

MARTIN DRAFT HORSE TROPHY

A Feature of the West Michigan State Fair.

Perhaps one of the most interesting features of the West Michigan State Fair is the competition for the Martin Draft Horse Trophy. For four years this competition has attracted the attention of lovers of fine draft horses, and the competition will be repeated again this year at the coming Fair, which will be held in Grand Rapids, Sept. 12 to 16th. The Martin trophy will be awarded to best draft team of any age, over 3,000 pounds in weight, owned in Michigan.

The owner of the winning team has the honor of retaining possession of the trophy until Sept. 1, 1911, when it will again become the property of the West Michigan State Fair to be again offered, in competition at the next fair. Four liberal cash prizes will be awarded the owners of the four best competing teams, and the drivers of all non-winning teams will be awarded $2 each.

Scoring in this contest is on the basis of 75 points for the team and 25 points for wagon and harness. The contesting teams are required to be on the grounds from noon to 4 o'clock and take part in the Grand Cavalcade on Grand Rapids day, which will be Wednesday, Sept. 14. The purpose of this offer is to encourage the raising of draft horses and an honest pride in the care and ownership of heavy teams for city and farm work.

LOW RATES TO WEST MICH. FAIR

One and One-half One Way Fares For Round Trip to Grand Rapids, Sept. 12-16, on All Roads.

All roads lead to the West Michigan State Fair in Grand Rapids, Sept. 12 to 16.

Better still, all roads converging in Grand Rapids are making it worth while to the public to attend the fair by materially reducing their transportation rates for the occasion.

The Michigan Passenger association, which has jurisdiction over the granting of special rates on all roads, has determined upon one and one-half the one way fare for the round trip as the rate which shall prevail during the big fair. Thus a regular fare of $1 each way may be obtained, going and coming, for $1.50, the saving in transportation paying admission to the grounds, no inconsiderable item in the necessary expenses of a trip to one of the greatest of educational exhibits.

This is a reduction over the 1908 rates, which were one and two-thirds the regular fare, denoting the growing importance of the West Michigan Fair as viewed by the transportation companies.

Carriages and Automobiles.

A new building, 130x220 feet in size, is under contract to be erected by Sept. 1st, on the grounds of the West Michigan State Fair in which will be held the exhibit of carriages and automobiles. "Carriage Hall," so called, the building occupied by the exhibition of vehicles and the dairy department for three years past, will this year be known as "Agricultural Hall." The entire building will be filled with exhibits of the products of the farm, meaning grains seeds, produce and
