LETTER FROM FRANCE

Dear Ed—

Was very glad to receive your letter of June tenth from the big city. I received same on the 1st of July and while on the front. I can't explain Ed just how much a fellow appreciates mail up there from his friends.

I'm glad you are doing well and you surely may consider yourself fortunate to land that job. So you have tried one of the gas masks yourself? I agree with you—they're not very pleasant to wear, especially not on a hike at midnight. I got enough of Fritz's gas to put me out of commission for a few days, also lost my voice for six days from it. We surely had a very exciting time during our five weeks up there. I'm sure you know just where that was. I was close enough to Fritz so I could nearly shake hands with six of them. They didn't get us nor did the three of us get them, the woods being so very thick there. They beat it as fast as their legs could carry them. I have also been in a raid on their machine gun nests, some exciting job. We're camping in the woods. I thought I had told you why I had been in the hospital last March. It was my vaccination and high fever.

Irving is well again and we are looking for him again. I'm glad everybody is well and that things are going o. k. in Holland. Regards,

Your Pal,

PARK MANAGER IS PARTIAL TO CITY MISSION

CHILDREN OF THE POOR ONLY ONES ALLOWED TO PICNIC AT MACATAWA

Miss Churchford Thanks Those Who Helped Make Annual Outing a Success.

The Sunday School of the City Rescue Mission has the distinction of being the only one in Holland which is given the right from year to year to hold its annual picnic at Macatawa Park. The Macatawa Park association is following the policy of not allowing general organizations of any kind to come and hold picnics there, but Swan A. Miller, the president of the association, makes an exception as to the Rescue Mission. They can come from year to year and everything is done to make the children who attend the picnic happy and to give them a good time. Mr. Miller goes on the theory that the children attending these picnics are from the poorer families of the city and that they deserve the hospitality of the park.

Miss Nellie Churchford of the Rescue Mission Friday took occasion to publicly thank all persons who contributed to the success of the picnic this week. She declared that the picnic was one of the most successful ever given by the Mission. The Mission paid the fares of 175 children, but that number did not begin to include all who attended, since a large number went who were unable to pay their own fares. Many Holland merchants helped to make the picnic possible by contributing both money and supplies, and Miss Churchford wishes to thank all these most heartily in the name of the poorer families of the city.

Not a poor family was overlooked so far as the leaders of the mission know. Most of the families were extremely well represented, one family being on the ground with ten children to its credit. And those people who were ill and shut in so that they could not go to the picnic were not overlooked. They were sent many good things to eat at their homes so that they could also share in the joy of the day.

G. R. EMPLOYEES TO HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC AT JENISON AUG. 24

City employees, of Grand Rapids, on their petition, were granted Saturday, August 24, as a holiday by the commission Thursday evening, although Commissioners Kelley and Ellis voted in the negative. The day will be spent at Jenison Park, where the employees will hold their fourteenth annual picnic. The two commissioners who voted against the holiday asserted that under present conditions they believed the employees who now received Saturday half-holidays and two weeks' vacation are getting about all the time off that ought to be allowed.

BIG SUM IN INSURANCE PAID IN HOLLAND

According to the Insurance Press the amount of life insurance claims paid in Grand Haven during the year 1917 by the various companies reached a total of $35,500. In Holland, $82,750 in claims were paid and in Zeeland the amount was $40,250.

DECIDES ON "SUGAR CARD OFFICE HOURS

Food Administrator William Brusse has been having his troubles with the distribution of sugar cards the past few days. He has been so deluged with people asking for cards that he has been unable to give any attention to anything else. It has been practically impossible for him to pay any attention to his private business, since people keep coming in at all hours of the day for sugar cards, and they are not backward in expressing their indignation when the food administrator happens to be out of his office. Mr. Brusse like the rest of the citizens, has work to do and finds it impossible to give all his time to the distribution of cards.

Hence he has decided to set aside certain hours of the day when people can call at his office for sugar cards and he promises to be there to meet the public at the specified time. The hours are given in the following official notice issued by Mr. Brusse: "Sugar cards for canning purposes will be issued every afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock and on Saturday evenings, at the Food administration office over Haan Bros. Drug Store."

MID-SUMMER TAX CAMPAIGN IS ENDED IN CITY

CLOSES WITH COLLECTION OF $37,000 ON THE FINAL DAY THURSDAY

Total Collected Was $162,893.32 With Some Checks To Be Added

Although the mid-summer tax gathering campaign in Holland closed officially Thursday night at the closing hour in the office of City Treasurer Appeldorn, in reality it did not close till about midnight, the final rush compelling the city treasurer and city clerk Overweg to remain at their posts until midnight. And even then the work was not completed. Friday morning there was a great deal of checking to be done and it will not be till a few days later that the decks will be completely clear.

The total amount collected until the office closed for the campaign Thursday evening was $162,893.32. In Friday morning's mail however a number of checks came in that had been mailed Thursday and were therefore legally included in the column of taxes paid. The exact amount of these checks has not yet been footed up but it will bring the amount of delinquent taxes down some. When everything has been cleared away City Treasurer Appeldorn thinks the amount to be collected as delinquent taxes will be in the neighborhood of $8,000, as the total amount to be collected this year was $171,010.92. Last year the amount of delinquent taxes was about $7,000, but the total to be collected this year was considerably larger than that of last year so that the proportion of delinquent to total to be collected is about the same for the two years. It is expected that about a thousand dollars will still be collected before September 1, leaving the rest to be spread on the December tax roll.

The busiest day of the entire campaign was Wednesday, the day before the last, although the day that yielded the largest amount was the last day. On Wednesday $27,260.43 was collected and on Thursday, $37,030.15. The total on Wednesday was in smaller amounts than the money collected on Thursday. Many of the larger manufacturing institutions paid their taxes on the closing day, thus swelling the total.

FIRST P. M. TRAINS RAN INTO NEW STATION FRIDAY

The first passenger train on the P. M. railroad ran into the Grand Trunk station at the foot of Washington street at Grand Haven. The new order was effective at a midnight, but the first train didn't reach the station until the early morning train arrived from Chicago. This was the first Pere Marquette passenger train to use the new station.

From midnight and until further notice and perhaps for all time, all Pere Marquette passenger trains will arrive and depart from the Grand Trunk station, giving Grand Haven a union station, for which there has long been a strong sentiment. Those who have been advocating the plan, hope that the centralization plan will be continued indefinitely by the railroads.

The Pere Marquette station is closed up and the Pere Marquette office force have moved to the Grand Trunk station.

BELL RINGERS FINISH CANTONMENT TOUR

The Royal Holland Bell Ringers have finished their tour of the military camps of the Central Department and are back in Chicago for a rest. The former local musical organization, composed of the P. H. Brower family, played in the Y huts in each of the camps, and the official camp newspapers frequently printed items about them showing that the soldiers greatly appreciated the music. Friday the Bell Ringers filled an engagement in the auditorium of the Municipal Pier in Chicago. Mr. Brouwer, the manager of the company, is now trying to arrange for a concert in Holland.

ED HAAN SENDS INTERESTING LETTERS HOME

TELLS HOW HE AIDS IN CARING FOR AMERICAN WOUNDED AT HOSPITALS IN FRANCE

Ed Haan, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Haan, writes his parents two very interesting letters from France. Mr. Haan left Holland some time ago with one of the hospital units organized in Grand Rapids and is now in the thick of things back of the battle lines. Edward is a recent graduate of the local high school. The letters follow below:

Dear Mother and Father—

I am not going to try to go into detail in describing my experiences in France. I'll try to give you the important things which have happened and the impression which I have received. We are situated in Paris in one of the finest camps in France. Our food is excellent, our sleeping quarters are very good and we are all feeling great. Our working hours are from 12 to 16 hours per day and the amount of food consumed by each of us during that period is enormous. At present our hospital has a great many of men wounded and gassed in the last big battle and it keeps us going all of the time to see that they are well cared for. These wounded men are the pluckiest, nerviest crowd of fellows I have ever met. There isn't a bit of crabbiness and their one worry, is that they won't be able to get back into the scrap and kill some more Germans. I was dressing a fellow yesterday who was badly gassed. It hurt him terribly but he didn't say anything. When I got thru he cursed a little and said "I pity the Germans when I got at them again, they are going to pay for this." It is doubtful whether or not he will do much more fighting, but this statement shows clearly how the American soldier feels about the fight. I have heard a good many stories from the fellows coming back. They all say that they, the Germans, are about beat; that her soldiers won't fight. They have great artillery, and are treacherous and very tricky, always, but when it comes to a hand to hand scrap, they throw up their hands and yell "Kamerad". Whole companies surrender at a time often one soldier will bring in large numbers of prisoners, all sick and tired of the war. One fellow told me of a case he had actually seen. He said that he found a dead German chained to a machine gun. He had been forced to fight. The boys say that in advancing it was difficult to get thru them. Our losses were rather heavy but the German losses were tremendous. Our men fought against one of the picked troops of the German army—the Prussian Guard, (who had come to teach the Americans a lesson,) and we beat them badly at their own game. Germany is tired of fighting, and I believe that she is beaten. Our men are fresh and natural born fighters. If we had a million fighting men on the line today we could drive them out of France. This statement seems absurd but I actually believe we could do it. I met one of the boys who is in the company that Marshal Irving is in. Marsh was gassed, but is not serious. I have not been able to find out anything else about any of the other Holland boys. It's getting too dark to write any more and I haven't a light. So good night; will finish tomorrow.

Don't worry mother, everything will be fine.

Your boy,
Ed.

Hay Fever

HAY FEVER is also known as "Hay Asthma," "Rose Cold" and "Autumnal Catarrh." The disease makes its appearance in attacks which usually come on during the late summer with sneezing, irritability of the eyes and difficult breathing. There is a profuse, watery discharge from the nose, the eyes are watery and red with itching lids.

When the bronchial tubes are also affected there is cough and expectorating and very difficult breathing; also a slight fever.

Spinal adjustment of the bone marked "B" readily relieves the above distressing symptoms. Our eight years of practice has given us many satisfied patients. A few adjustments NOW may prevent the attacks.

orations on the streets you would almost think you were in some big American city, during an enormous celebration. Building were literally covered with flags of all nations and there were far more American flags than any other. Streets were filled with our soldiers, many of whom, had just come back from the front to take part in the parade and to take a much needed rest. There were also great numbers of British soldiers and sailors, in fact there were representatives of every nation, all celebrating our Fourth of July. I was on duty all morning and could not see the parade or the renaming of the new street in honor of President Wilson. However I got down in the afternoon and surely enjoyed it all.

I saw Mayo Hadden at the University Union. He was expecting to leave for the front very soon and sure looked to be in real condition for the big scrape. I have never seen him look better. One of the men with him told me that he was an exceptionally good flyer—one of the best in their outfit. He sends his best. I also met Ed Van Ry. He came out to camp with a motor truck train. He likes the work very much. France agrees with him also for he looks very well. It is great to meet people from home.

Most of the men in the hospital are about well and all ready and eager to go back to the main tent. It's a pleasure waiting on them for they all appreciate everything that you do for them. They spend their time in eating, reading and arguing. There is always and argument. It is either about their state, the branch of service or politics. One fellow from New York and another from Chicago are always fighting. An Irishman and a fellow whose great grandfather came from England are at it all of the time. The Marines and (Doughboys) Infantry are constantly fighting over the ability of their units. While at night when they are given passes all go out together and tell the world to go to the devil, and I pity a man who meets any of them and says a word against any city, or state, or any branch of the American service. It's a gay fight all day and they enjoy it all. The only subject on which they agree is Germany, and good Americans by the name of Schultz, Gervoni and Kereney, all say that Germany is out of luck. They agree that America is the only place to live and that any Yankee is a dub that isn't worth at least ten Huns.

Will try to write again soon, must get on the job.

EDWARD HAAN.

GRAND HAVEN WOMEN HEAR THE CALL TO SERVE

Sixteen Grand Haven women have registered as applicants for training as nurses in response to the call issued by the government. All the trained nurses that could be spared have already been sent abroad, and the government must at once begin training women and girls to fill the vacancies at home, and later to go abroad for service in the field.

The call was issued in Grand Haven some time ago and the following have already responded: Wilhelmina De Bruyn, Helen Woodbury, Henrietta Bottje, Della Boone, Mary Pals, Marguerite Fisher, Pearl Swiftney, Maude Moss, Harriet Fisher, Jennie Lowe, Fannie Salisbury, Bernice Kammeraad, Edith Suits, Anna F. Probst, Evelyn E. Bittenburg and Julia A. Blakeney. There is an opening for ten applicants in the nurses' training department at the Hackley hospital in Muskegon and these places will probably be filled shortly.

Schools have been established in many hospitals in the United States in which women and girls from the ages of 19 to 35 will be given a thorough course to prepare them for this noblest service which women can offer to their country at this time.

How are the Holland women meeting this emergency? A few have volunteered but many more are needed. Many of the women and girls of this city do not appear to thoroughly understand that there is an emergency to which they must rise. If there is still any doubt as to the matter, and if information is desired, the women of this city may apply to the Holland Red Cross officials and all the information necessary will be gladly given.

ANNUAL FARMERS' PICTON FRIDAY AUGUST 30

WILL BE HELD AT JENISON PARK
YET GIVEN

Bring Your Own Cups for Coffee, and
Your Own Sugar
Also

Will there be a Farmers' picnic? Well you need not guess again. The committee having the matter in charge have been deliberating earnestly, and long as to the advisability of holding the annual farmers picnic at Jenison Park this year.

This will be the sixteenth annual picnic that has been held, and thousands of farmers and citizens of western Michigan have been looking forward to these events from year to year. It is a day of getting together of knocking off work for a few hours, and thus enjoying a day of recreation at cool old Jenison Park on Macatawa bay.

The reason why the committee was slow in coming to a decision was the fact that the government is demanding certain restrictions which will make the usual feast of roast ox and a barbecue out of the question.

The committee however is going to serve piping hot coffee, and thousands of fresh doughnuts to the public. All you can drink and all you can eat.

This is made necessary from patriotic reasons, and no doubt the picnicers will fall in with these plans, because after all the government knows best what will help our soldiers at the front and it is for us to follow the directions given by Uncle Sam.

The committee felt that it would be a pity because of these handicaps to let go by an institution that has been in vogue for fifteen years, and what is lacking in the barbecue will be made up in a program of sports in which valuable prizes will be given and in a list of free attractions that will be staged. A good band will furnish the music continuously for the day, and there is no doubt that after the picnic is over the pleasure seekers will say that it was one of the best gatherings they ever have attended.

The annual farmers picnic will take place on Friday, August 30, to which all are invited. You are advised to take a cup for coffee, and sugar to sweeten. Uncle Sam does not allow the peddling out of sugar at this time.

BLACK LAKE TO GET MORE FISH

BLUE GILLS AND BASS WILL BE PLANTED NEXT SATURDAY.

Dick Homkes, deputy game warden for Holland, has been informed by the Michigan Fish Commission that on Saturday, Aug. 24 at 8:06 A. M., Pere Marquette train, the express company will deliver to him ten cans of fish to be planted in Black lake, and in Black river.

There are four cans of bluegills and six cans of bass, and these come from the state hatchery at Comstock park. Each can represents several thousand of little fish that within a few years will become full grown.

Fishing around Holland this year has been rather poor, but this seems to hold true in other localities as well.

One fisherman said the other day, "ten or fifteen years ago I did a great deal of fishing in Pine Creek Bay. I scarcely remember the time that I did not get from ten to fifteen strikes within a few hours and I have never failed to bring home a respectable string of black bass. Today no fisherman need fear that he is going to break the law on ten black bass, because they are not here. I have fished all season and the highest catch I could boast of during the season was five."

Let us hope that the fishermen will have better luck after these six cans of bass become real big ones.

Rev. E. J. Tuuk, pastor of the old Van aalte church, has declined a call to the Christian Reformed church at Roseland.

WAR EVEN INTERFERES WITH FISHING

ALIEN ENEMIES ARE NOT ALLOWED A HUNTERS' LICENSE

Hunting in General Also Gets a Black Eye

Deputy Game Warden Dick Homkes has just received a new ruling relating to hunting and fishing. It relates to alien enemies and regulates the use of fire arms especially.

The game warden is strictly forbidden to give to an enemy alien and there are also certain restrictions that go with fishing.

Selections five and six which has to do with hunting and fishing plainly state what exactions are made by the game department. Both sections follow below.

5.—Resident licenses may be sold to any person over seventeen years of age, who is a citizen of the United States and is a bona fide resident of this state; also resident licenses may be sold to minor children over twelve years and under seventeen years of age whose parents are citizens of the United States and residents of this state, when application and oath is filed by one of the parents or guardians on condition that such minor will be accompanied by parent or legal guardian or some person appointed by them when hunting and trapping.

6.—Non resident licenses may be sold to all alien residents of this State, who have not secured their full citizenship papers, and also to non-residents of this state. Persons issuing licenses must be sure that foreign born persons are full citizens before a resident license can be issued to them. In view of the fact that enemy aliens must not have firearms in possession at any time, hunting licenses are not to be issued to enemy aliens.

Hunting and fishing licenses can be secured at the John Nies Hardware store East 8th street and at the Vander Veen Hardware store, corner of 8th street and River avenue, Holland, Michigan.

SLACKERS BECOME FIGHTERS NOW

THREE ALLEGAN COUNTY BOYS BROUGHT UP WITH ROUND TURN

It has transpired since the departure of the state mounted police, who were in Allegan last Wednesday morning that they were instrumental to a large degree in settling at least three cases which had been causing the Allegan draft board a good deal of annoyance. The most important one was that of Albert Schroeder jr., who went away presumably to avoid the draft and whose whereabouts could not be definitely learned until last week. It became known through the assistance of the Canadian authorities that young Schroeder had been in constant communication with his father, though the latter denied having heard from him. It was also learned that he was coming home to make a visit so when he arrived Friday he was taken into custody by Sheriff Hillman. When questioned he refused to say he left to avoid the draft, but professed perfect willingness to enter the army if given a chance. There being only one other alternative, the officers concluded he would be more valuable as a soldier than a federal prisoner, so he is held in jail waiting the arrival of the necessary papers from the adjutant general's office.

Another case was that of James Davis of Allegan who claimed thirty-seven years as his age, but by careful questioning he could not be made out to be more than twenty-nine. The board gave him an opportunity to communicate with his father who lives in Atlanta, Ga., relative to his birth certificate, but the young man did not deem it worth while, as he made up his mind to join the army. The third case concerned Albert Krouse, an alien enemy, who worked at one time in the Smith Bakery at Allegan, and of whom many persons were suspicious. When confronted by the officers he professed a desire to do whatever he could that would be right. The boy had bought Liberty bonds, and no definite charge could be lodged against him. The troop needed a cook, and as Krouse was anxious to act in that capacity, the police took him away with them.

Cornelius DeKeyser the real estate man, was in Grand Rapids on business yesterday.

BRAKES ARE PUT ON WORK OF JUNK CROOKS

COUNCIL PASSES ORDINANCE MAKING IT HARD TO DISPOSE OF STOLEN GOODS

Also Raises License Fees For Dealers and Places Restrictions On Them

The council last night made it harder for crooks to get away with stolen goods via the junk dealer's shop. A junk dealer after this will not be allowed to remove from the city or cause to be removed from the city any article he purchases for 72 hours after such purchase. This will give the police a chance to recover stolen goods which junk dealers may have innocently purchased. Also junk dealers will be required to keep a list of people from whom they purchase goods. This also is to guard against the smooth work of crooks.

Moreover every junk dealer in the city will in the future be required to pay a license fee of ten dollars for his place of business and five dollars for each wagon that he maintains on the road in his business. Each wagon must carry a license plate. The ordinance carries a number of other provisions to regulate the junk business in Holland. The document as passed last night reads as follows:

Official
No. 332

AN ORDINANCE

Relative to Dealers in Second Hand Goods, and Junk Dealers and Persons engaged in the collection, purchase and sale of metals, Rubber, Rags, Old Rope, Paper, Bagging, Empty Bottles, and other materials, and for licensing persons engaged therein.

THE CITY OF HOLLAND ORDAINS:

Sec. 1.—No person, firm or corporation shall engage in, or carry on the business of dealing in second hand goods, or keep what is commonly called a "junk shop" for the purchase and sale of second hand goods; metals, rubber, rags, old rope, paper, bagging, empty bottles, or any other kind of junk; or use or cause to be used any vehicle on the streets, alleys, or public places of the City of Holland for the purpose of collecting or disposing of said articles, without first obtaining a license and a license plate therefor, from the City of Holland, as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2.—Any person, firm or corporation desiring to become a dealer in second hand goods, or to keep a junk shop, or to engage in any of the business mentioned in Section One of this ordinance, shall, before entering upon such business, make written application over his signature for a license from the Common Council of the City of Holland, and in the application shall state in detail the location, and the nature of the business in which the applicant proposes to engage, the name and age of the applicant, and the experience, if any, of the applicant in the business. Each application shall also be accompanied by a bond in the sum of Two Hundred ($200) Dollars, with two or more sureties to be approved by the Common Council, conditioned that he will faithfully observe the provisions of the city charter and the ordinances of the city of Holland.

Sec. 3.—The fee charged for the license provided for herein, shall be: Ten ($10) Dollars for each junk shop, and Five ($5) Dollars for each vehicle. Every person using a vehicle in the streets, alleys, or public places of the city of Holland in the collection, purchase or sale of any of the articles mentioned in Section one of this ordinance, shall first obtain from the City Clerk a license plate for such vehicle showing the license number and shall display the same on said vehicle at all times when the same is in use.

Sec. 4.—No licensee hereunder shall receive in the course of his business any article by the way of pledge or pawn, nor shall he loan or advance any sum of money on the security of any article or thing unless specially licensed so to do.

Sec. 5.—Every license under the provisions of this ordinance shall, on demand, exhibit all goods bought or received and give the description of the person selling the same, to the Chief of Police, any policeman, constable, or other peace officer, and shall keep a book containing a list of all persons of whom goods were purchased.

Sec. 6.—No licensee hereunder shall remove or cause to be removed from the city of Holland any article purchased until at least 72 hours have elapsed after such purchase.

Sec. 7.—No dealer or person engaged in the collection of junk shall purchase anything whatsoever from any person under the age of 16 years, unless accompanied with a written per-

CITY'S HOMES ARE PROTECTED BY ORDINANCE

FACTORIES AND STORES CANNOT BE BUILT WITHOUT CONSENT OF NEIGHBORS

Important New Building Ordinance Has Many Other Provisions; Passed After Two Years of Preparation

After this anyone who wants to put up a store or factory anywhere within the city of Holland must have the permission in writing of the immediate adjoining property owners and of the council or otherwise, if they do not care to go to the council, they must have the consent in writing of property owners within a radius of 300 feet and of all the owners along the street of the block in which the proposed building is to be erected.

This provision of the new city building ordinance passed by the council last night caused a great deal of discussion, but there are a number of other provisions almost as important. The ordinance has been in preparation for the past two years and for the first time in its history Holland will have such an ordinance that it has long needed. Such an ordinance was passed about two years ago but it interfered immediately rescinded when it interfered with the erection of a factory here. The ordinance will affect everybody in Holland who wishes to erect any kind of building and reads as follows:

Official
No. 331

AN ORDINANCE

To Regulate and Establish the line upon which buildings may be erected on any street, to Prevent such buildings being erected nearer the street than such line; to Prevent the erection, repairing and remodeling of all Buildings deemed unsafe; to prohibit and regulate the location of any factory, workshop, or the prosecution of any trade or business within the city of Holland; to require building permits and to regulate the terms and conditions upon which said building permits shall be granted; to define the duties of certain officers with respect thereto; and for the general welfare and safety of the inhabitants of the city of Holland.

THE CITY OF HOLLAND ORDAINS:

Sec. 1.—No person shall repair or remodel a roof or chimney, nor shall any person erect repair or remodel any building or other structure to an extent requiring the expenditure of an amount exceeding the sum of One Hundred and Fifty ($150) Dollars, or allow any building owned or controlled by him to be erected or so repaired or remodeled without a permit issued in accordance with the terms of this ordinance.

Sec. 2.—Any person desiring to repair or remodel a roof or chimney; or to erect, repair or remodel any building or other structure to an extent requiring the expenditure of an amount in excess of the sum of One Hundred and Fifty ($150) Dollars within the City of Holland shall file with the city clerk an application in writing for a permit, which application shall show the description of the land and location which it is proposed that the building shall occupy; the name of the owner; the name of the owner of the building; the dimensions of the building; the materials to be used; the purpose for which the building is intended; the estimated cost of erecting, repairing or remodeling the same, and such other information as may be necessary to furnish full and detailed advice as to the extent of such proposed work, or as may be required by the ordinances of the City of Holland, on blanks to be provided for that purpose by the city clerk.

Sec. 3.—Whenever an application for a building permit shall have been filed with the city clerk, it shall be the duty of the chief of the fire department of the City of Holland to forthwith examine the same and determine whether the danger from fire will be increased by reason of said building, or the repairing or remodeling of the same, or its proposed location, or if such work will constitute a nuisance or should be regulated or prohibited to conform with the provisions of the ordinances of the city of Holland, the charter of the city of Holland, or the laws of the state of Michigan, and endorse thereon over his signature, his approval, rejection, findings, or recommendations relative to the same; provided, that an application so endorsed, shall finally determine the issuance of a permit when the application relates only to the repairing or remodeling of a roof or chimney. Provided further that in the event the estimated cost of erecting, repairing or remodeling such

ZEELAND FIRM MAKES PATRIOTIC DISPLAY

A very interesting patriotic display has been made at Wm. De Pree's Co. of Zeeland. This display shows the photos of over one hundred of the boys who have gone from the homes in Zeeland and the surrounding country who are now serving with the American Expeditionary Forces in France or in training at the various camps here.

Alongside of the photographs is an honor roll which contains the names of over 300 boys who have gone in answer to the call of duty. Among these are over 20 officers, including 3 captains and six lieutenants. Above this display stands a life size model in the gulf of a Red Cross nurse.

The Wm. De Pree Co. was assisted in arranging this display by the Zeeland Art Studio, Boone and Co., and Mrs. Angus De Kruif.

ZEELAND WELL REPRESENTED
IN U. S. ARMY

Zeeland has at present 130 men and boys in their country's service. Eighteen have joined the navy; eighty-five are in the army, as volunteers and selected; three have joined the aviation; eleven have gone to the northwest woods; one is with the marines; three are in the ordnance department; one is an officer on a flagship and another, an army chaplain. There are still some unlocated.

Twenty-six of these men have gained a distinct reputation while in the service; four have won the rank as captain, five are lieutenants, six are sergeants, eight are corporals, one is chief yeoman, two are recommended for officers' training. Five of the above enlisted their services as physicians and surgeons.

Sixty-three have gone overseas, and many of them are in the fighting line. Two are on a battle ship, sailing the high seas. Three have been wounded, while all are giving the best years of their lives for the protection of girlhood and womanhood and the preservation of childhood and old age from the lust and cruelty of the Kaiser's barbarous hordes, and to the end that liberty shall not perish from the earth. This is a splendid record for a city the size of Zeeland and its citizens are justly proud of the part its young men are taking in winning the war.

ZEELAND DRAWS ITS SHARE OF PRIMARY MONEY

In the apportionment of the primary school money for the state of Michigan, Ottawa county will draw $105,388.87. Statistics show that there are 14,594 children in Ottawa county of school age which sets the rate per capita at $7.22.

Zeeland, having 1298 children of the school age, receives $9,384.54 which allows $7.15 for each child.

KICKS AGAINST RUMORS ABOUT
LAKE WATER

In spite of everything that has been said to deny it the rumor persists that Black Lake water is not safe for bathing purposes. A week or so ago the charge was made by certain parties that there was danger in Black Lake water. This charge was strenuously denied by resort owners along Black Lake, the News giving full publicity to their denial. But Tuesday the denial bobbed up again in the form of a story that there was danger of typhoid fever for those who persisted in bathing in Black Lake.

The queer feature about these stories is that those who spread them, in default of having any authority for their stories, frequently hit upon the plan of crediting them to newspapers of Holland. They assure their listeners at the Black lake resorts that so-and-so heard it from so-and-so who in turn heard it from so-and-so, who in turn had said somebody else "had seen it in the Holland paper."

Not only has no Holland paper printed any stories to the effect that Black Lake water is unsafe, but the local papers have gone to some pains to give full publicity to the denial of resort owners. So far as Holland papers know Black Lake water is as safe for bathing purposes as it has always been. For many years it has been perfectly safe, and there is not the slightest reason to believe that it is not as safe today as ever.

If for any reason the water should be unsafe for bathing purposes no self-respecting newspaper would hesitate one moment to make this fact known. To have it known would be in the interests of the general public, and no possible damage to resorts or anything else would justify hiding the facts. But there is not the slightest shred of evidence that the water of Black Lake is not as safe as it has always been. The irresponsible rumors are hurting business at the resorts and the resort owners have a right to protest against them.

City Ordinance Takes Joy Out of Bathing at Saugatuck

No longer do Saugatuck bathers parade the beach in insufficient bathing attire.

Not long ago, however they did. And the disregard for the basic principles of propriety to which some of them abandoned themselves constituted a public scandal.

It was not until the Saugatuck unit of the Woman's Defense Committee brought to light a village ordinance controlling the bathing beach facilities that anything like an enforcement of the ordinance became effective.

The Woman's Defense Committee had 200 leaflets printed calling attention to the violation of the ordinance "that no person shall swim or bathe in the waters of the Kalamazoo river without being clad in suitable bathing clothing" and still further "declares it to be unlawful for any person, male or female, above the age of 14 years to appear upon the streets of Saugatuck, wearing a bathing suit only."

These leaflets were generally circulated at the bathing beach. They contained the information that the ordinance would be enforced, and they seem to have done the business at Saugatuck.

FIELD STONE FOR MACATAWA PARK
LAKE FRONT

Macatawa Park lake front has been anything but a pleasant place to look at this summer. Two years ago the newly constructed boulevard with its lighting system was an avenue of beauty. The high water came and the shifting sand washed away the foundation of what was thought to be one of the most substantial piers that could be possibly constructed.

The boulevard costing $40,000 and years of hard labor was destroyed within a few months taking with it cottages, embankments, trees, and even human life.

The lake front was soon converted from a show place to a region of desolation and still the water kept climbing and eating away the shore.

Something had to be done and done quickly, and for that reason the Macatawa Resort Company, and Macatawa Cottage owners, and Contractor Arie Noble are trying out the old dutch way of harbor construction. They are using brush, sheet piling and heavy field stone. First the piling is put down to hold the brush and on top of the brush heavy field stone are then placed, so that the brush cannot in any way shift from the crib built to hold it.

A small stretch was experimented with last winter and proved to be very satisfactory and thus far this summer 500 feet have been laid and 2,000 feet more will have to be constructed.

The cost of this construction is no small item, as it is costing from $8 to $10 a foot to put in this old method.

Mr. Nobel says that some cottage owners object to having the construction put in, in front of their places, but these will soon find out that before another year rolls around, they will neither have a cottage nor a lot left, because of the action of the water.

The contractor is now advertising for field stone and any farmer having them for sale can rid his farm of them and at the same time reap a handsome profit. The brush idea is not new in Holland. The late R. Kanters of Holland many years ago received several government contracts, one of Holland, one at Lincoln Park, and another one at Galveston, Texas, where the stone and brush, harbor construction did service for a great many years and is still intact in several places.

PARK TOWNSHIP HALL
CONTRACT HAS LET

Abel Postma was awarded the contract of the building of Park Township's new town hall to be built at Waukazoo. At a vote this spring the residents decided to bond the township for a $1,000 town house.

The voting and meeting place will be completed in time for the fall elections.

Two Grand Haven girls, Miss Lavina Van Lopik and Miss Gertrude Hume at the swimming grounds at the life saving station in Grand Haven each touched bottom in 17 feet of water. Members of the life saving crew were present at the time and measured the spot where the girls made their dive. This is some record.

ZEELAND BOYS NOT KILLED BUT WOUNDED

The Grand Rapids Herald Tuesday carried the photographs of Merrit Rozema and Thomas Beukema of Zeeland, stating that both boys had been killed in action on August 1. That this report has been exaggerated seems likely. At least so far the parents of the young men in Zeeland have received no official report of their death. Last week they received telegrams from the war department stating that the boys had been seriously wounded, which fact was printed in the News at the time as well as in other newspapers. No information has been received by the relatives other than that and the extent or character of the wounds of the Zeeland men is not known.

Etiquette.

There is an ancient saying that "One should never speak of a rope to a man whose father was hanged," and there is a great deal implied in those few words. In effect, it is meant that subjects of conversation should be carefully introduced where persons present are not known to a certain extent; that is, that nothing untoward has happened, publicly, at least, that would make any unusual subject apply too openly to anyone especially.

Maurice Luidens of Olive township, candidate for county treasurer, is a man of unquestioned integrity, who has made good in every office of public trust he has ever held—has never held a county office and has never asked for one. In his own township he has held office for fourteen years consecutively, five years as township clerk and nine years as supervisor and these have always come to him unsolicited. As a member of the Board of Supervisors, he has a good record and has held a place on many important committees among them the auditing committee. As a member of this committee it becomes his duty to check up the books of the various county officers. He is therefore thoroughly conversant with the new system of bookkeeping which has just been installed and is peculiarly well fitted to enter the county treasurer's office. GIVES HIS LIFE FIGHTING ON THE ON FIELD OF HONOR

Holland received its first gold star in its service flag when the news was flashed along the wire in a telegram to Dr. A. Leenhouts that his son, Willard Leenhouts, had been killed in action on the field of honor in France. No particulars have reached the family beyond the fact that the Holland boy was killed by shrapnel on the battlefield—the first sacrifice of human life which Holland has been called upon to make on the field of battle. The telegram was a great shock to the young man's family as well as to a host of friends of both the dead hero himself and of the family.

The message in full follows:

Washington, D. C. Aug. 15

Abraham Leenhouts,

284 Maple Av., Holland, Mich.

Deeply regret to inform you that information has just been received from abroad that Private Wm. Leenhouts, Marine Corps, was killed in action by shrapnel, July 3. Body will be interred abroad until end of war. Please accept my heartfelt sympathy in your great loss of your son who nobly gave his life in the service of his country.

GEORGE BARNETT,

Major-General Commander.

Willard Leenhouts was born in this city. He was the oldest son of Dr. and Mrs. A. Leenhouts. If he had lived until September 9 of this year he would have been 20 years old. But the call of his country cut short his life and he gave all that any one can give for world freedom.

Young Leenhouts was one of the very first to answer the call of the country. Soon after war was declared he made up his mind to have a part in the glorious task of making the world free. He did not wait to be called by Uncle Sam but offered himself before the government could get a chance to ask him. Since he was far below the draft age, he would not have been called upon to serve for a long time, but he decided to volunteer. He was one of the very first company that volunteered from Holland. With several other high school boys he went and the city gave the young men a ringing farewell. He enlisted on April 17, 1917 and became a member of the fifth regiment of the Marine Headquarters Company.

On September 29, 1917, he sailed for France and for many months he has been doing active service at the front. He frequently wrote to his parents and again and again he told them he was in the war to do his full share and to give his life if need be to attain the objectives for which the allied world is fighting. His letters were usually cheerful and optimistic and there was always in them a ringing determination to do his full duty.

That the young man has lived up to these splendid ideals of patriotic devotion is now definitely shown by the fact that he has given up his life for them. The last letter which the family received from him was written on April 20. Although they were anxious sometimes because of the long hiatus during which they did not hear from him, they realized that he, as well as many of the other Holland boys, were in the thick of things and did not have the best opportunity to write. These boys have been in the thick of things for a long time and it was impossible to get letters through. The family think that perhaps other letters may still come that were written later than the last one they received.

Young Leenhouts left Holland high school before he graduated, and his star appears in the service flag of the graduating class last June.

He is survived by his father, mother, two sisters and one brother.

Mayor Bosch ordered the flag on the city hall to be placed at half mast this noon as soon as news reached the city of the death of Willard Leenhouts on the Western front in France.

NELSON PYLE TO BE A LAWYER

Nelson Pyle, the congenial pharmacist at the Walsh Drug company is now tired of handing out pink pills for pale people and for that reason he has decided to dispense doses of law to clients that are legally ill.

When the U. of M. opens up again it will find Nelson present, pouring over Blackstone, or Michigan's latest compiled laws.

Nelson says "it's all right to be a druggist, but drugs cost money these days, but the law medicine that I am going to prescribe does not fluctuate on the market, we don't have to get it from Germany and it's not put up in war material."

Mr. Pyle has resigned his position with the Walsh Drug company where he has been a trusted employee for several years.

He has been a strong democratic party leader in this vicinity for a long time, and possibly after he has hung out his shingle, "Nelson Pyle, Attorney-at-Law" his friends may pick him out as a congressman or a senator, who knows?

Will Breyman of Grand Rapids is visiting relatives and friends here for a few days.

SAY HOLLAND BOY'S DEATH IS A CHALLENGE

The memorial services at Hope Church Sunday morning in honor of Private Willard G. Leenhouts brought out one of the largest audiences that ever gathered in that church. A gold star appeared on the service flag of the church and Private Leenhouts' photograph, surrounded with flowers artistically arranged, was on the platform.

Both the memorial sermon by Rev. P. P. Cheff and the Memorial Address by Hon. G. J. Diekema emphasized the fact that the sacrifice of this young life should serve as a challenge to greater endeavor to free the world of the German menace. Mr. Cheff's theme was "The Souls Under the Altar." He delivered an inspiring sermon on the meaning of such a sacrifice as Private Leenhouts has made for his country and declared in conclusion that this death should inspire all others to renewed zeal. As a captain, dying, on the field calls to the sergeant to "Carry on," and as the sergeant in his turn, stopped by a bullet, calls to his lieutenant to "carry on," and as the lieutenant passes the word on to the privates, so this Holland boy, falling out of the ranks is today calling to the people at home to "carry on."

Mr. Diekema, as superintendent of the Hope Church Sunday School, spoke on behalf of the school of which Private Leenhouts was a member. He told of incidents in the young man's life illustrating his character and showing that he was a young American Christian gentleman and a patriot of the stamp that goes out to meet the foe and dares all things for his country.

Mr. Diekema declared that the request of the boy's father that the exercise should not run to sentiment but should be made patriotically inspirational had the force of a command and he called upon all to make the sacrifice of the Holland boy the starting-point for greater endeavor.

Drew of Holland high school who has been spending the summer in New York City doing post-graduate work at Columbia University has finished his summer course and will soon be back in Holland. MAN OF EIGHTY YEARS SAVES YOUNG GIRL

Sunday George W. Cady of Allegan jumped into Littlejohn lake to save the life of Miss Floy Miller also of Allegan. Miss Miller with some companions was diving into what was supposed to be shallow water. It proved to be over her head in this particular spot, however, and the girl was noticed to be in distress and called for help before going down.

Cady who is 80 years old, but an excellent swimmer, saw the condition of the girl, jumped in fully clothed and managed to reach the young lady and swim to shore with her. The Miller girl is unusually heavy and the aged swimmer experienced some difficulty in bringing her to land.

The folks around Lake Littlejohn are suggesting a Carnegie Medal for Mr. Cady.

LOCAL PASTOR WILL TAKE A BRIDE

Rev. J. P. Battema, pastor of the Maple Avenue Christian Reformed church, announced to his congregation Sunday that he will be married in that church next Sunday evening. The wedding will be a public one and everybody is invited. There will be no reserved seats even for the congregation. The bride-to-be of the local pastor is Miss Regina Schoonbeek of Grand Rapids. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. J. O. Bouwma of Sullivan, Mich., a cousin of the groom, and the sermon will be preached by Rev. E. J. Tuuk of the Ninth Street Christian Reformed church.

On Monday afternoon a reception will be held at the parsonage for intimate friends, consistory members and relatives, and on Monday evening a reception for the congregation will be held at the church.

The marriage will take place on the first anniversary of the day when Mr. Battema preached his inaugural sermon in the local church. Since that time the congregation has nearly doubled in size.

Last Letter Received from Willard Leenhouts by Parent

[Below is the last letter which Dr. and Mrs. A. Leenhouts received from their son Willard from France. The letter was written on April 20 and was received the latter part of May. It is printed in full with the exception of a very few lines that were in regard to something purely personal.]

April 20, 1918

Somewhere in France

Dearest Folks:—

April 17, I received two letters from home. One from Mother dated March 6 and one from Dad dated March 12. This is the first time I have had a chance to answer. They surely made me feel happy. The same day I received the box containing a box of candy, scarf and wristlets from R. Leenhouts, helmet from mother, fudge from Eva, tobacco from father—not enough, and sweater from Jean. You ask me whether the boxes you sent were opened after leaving the home postoffice. No, I have never had anything missing from any of the boxes. Of course, it takes longer for them to travel than it does first class mail. That is the reason the knitted goods you sent are a little late, but I believe there will be some use for it anyway. Have you heard of the new regulation in regard to sending packages? No more boxes or 2nd class packages will be sent except upon a written request from the receiver signed by his commander. This ruling goes or went into effect April 1, 1918. I have not received the fruit cake you said was sent and I am looking forward anxiously toward the day it comes.

Marsh and I are separated again as I wrote in a previous letter. We have been for nearly three months now. I do not know where he is right now; but I do not imagine he is far from here but it is impossible to look for him at this time and place and circumstances. There is no chance of seeing Mayo either for the same reason.

I am writing under difficulties lying on my bunk, which happens to be an upper one two feet from the top in a two by four dugout. Our dugout has about five feet thickness of earth on top of it which makes it pretty safe.

I am not driving ambulance now on account of the Army having taken over all that line of work, but I am standing by for some other motor job. Perhaps I will get a motorcycle and do dispatch riding. Hope so.

I wish I could speak of the war the way you do in your letters. It would make correspondence more interesting, but you can see how that is impossible.

In your letter you said I had not mentioned guns, cannons, air raids, bombs, etc., but up to this date I can tell you I have experienced all of them which is all I had better say.

I am learning to "Parley Vous tres bon" I mean "Par tres bon petite". The U. S. Government is doing well in the way of equipping and clothing its men over here.

You asked about my smoking. I am smoking quite a little but when you are out in the open all the time and live the way we live it does not hurt one compared to the pleasure it returns. It is about the only pleasure and pastime we have. I am waiting now for my pay which I don't expect to get for a month yet. When I do get it I will have enough to "make a liberty" to some large city here in France.

I have not taken out any insurance although I intended to and now the time has come when we can no longer do so. I surely am sorry about it but it's over now.

Willard G. Leenhouts,

THE GOLD STAR

(The following poem by Eddie Guest of Detroit was quoted by Hon. G. J. Diekema in his Memorial address in Hope Church Sunday morning. At the request of a number of persons who wished to have a copy of the verses it is reprinted herewith.) The star upon the service flag has changed to gleaming gold; It speaks no more of hope and life, as once it did, of old. But splendidly it gleams now for everyone to see. And softly whispers: "Here lived one who died for liberty."

"Here, once, he lived and played and laughed, here oft his smile was known; Within these walls today are kept the toys he used to own. Now I am he who marched away and I am he who fell; Of service once I spoke, but now of sacrifice I tell."

"No richer home in all this land is there than this I grace, For here was cradled manhood fine; Within this humble place A soldier for the truth was born. And here, beside the door, A mother sits and grieves for him who shall return no more."

"Salute me, stranger, as you pass! I mark a soldier who Gave up the joys of living here, to dare and die for you! This is the home that once he knew who fought for you and fell; This is the shrine of sacrifice where faith and courage dwell."

An Endorsement of Truman H. Newberry for United States Senator from Men Prominently Identified with the Agri- cultural Interests of Michigan

BELEIVING as we do that Michigan should elect this fall a United States Senator who is, and has been, interested in and conversant with public affairs; a man of sound judgment, and continuity of purpose; a man whose one hundred per cent patriotism cannot be questioned; and a man who has given sufficient study and thought to the matter of national and international policies to enable him to determine for himself where he stands and what he stands for; and believing that Truman H. Newberry, of Detroit, conforms to this standard, we endorse his candidacy and agree to support him at the primaries and at the election.

VOTE FOR
WILLIAM M. CONNELLY
FOR STATE SENATOR
OTTAWA AND MUSKEGON COUNTIES
REPUBLICAN TICKET

PRIMARIES AUGUST 27, 1918

VOTERS OF ALLEGAN COUNTY:

OUR Country is asking for the very best there is in us, and I am going to put this proposition square up to you as Patriotic American Men:

I have supported the Republican party for more than thirty years. I have not been stingy with my time or money when they have asked me for assistance, and for several months I have given my time cheerfully and freely; have paid my own expenses—car fare, livery hire, telephone bills, stationery, postage, etc., and if I am not entitled to an office in Allegan county, who is?

Each of my opponents have held office in their respective towns—two of them are now office holders and the other has a good farm, and they are still asking for more. This is the first time I have ever asked for a favor from my party in my life. Think it over. If I haven't earned it, who has? I may not get to shake hands with you before election, but I hope to for four years after.

Very Respectfully Yours, MILO KEENE.

Automobile Factories Will Turn to Munition Plants

By January 1st, 1919

Mr. Auto Owner:—

To be protected you should repair, rebuild and repaint your car and keep it insured against fire, theft, and liability.

When the committee call on you to purchase War Savings Stamps or Liberty Bonds or to contribute to the Red Cross, you should not make the excuse that you have had your car burned or stolen, or lost money through a lawsuit brought against you on account of an auto accident, when you can keep protected against these losses for a few dollars, and keep prepared to do your bit. Do not wait until you purchase a new car, but insure today in a company with a membership of over 35,000, and a surplus of about $70,000, also a fire proof building in which to keep your records, with up-to-date equipment with which to give you service.

This is no time to insure in a small company without surplus. Insure in a safe company that was organized and developed before the war.

Cost is only $1.00 for policy and 25c per H. P.

FLUFFY

By FLORENCE G. MEANEY.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Oh, dear, I wish I looked like other girls—it's no wonder nobody likes me. This old hair! Every time I look in that glass I just want to scream."

This outburst arose from Virginia Ray, the youngest of three sisters, or Fluffy, as her school chums called her, owing to a wealth of auburn fluffy hair.

"Why, my dear," exclaimed her mother entering the room, "what's worrying my little girl? Look at the pretty eyes all swollen!"

"Oh, mother," Virginia stormed, "I just wish I didn't have this old hair I've brushed it and combed it till I'm tired out and it doesn't change one bit; I think I'll be tempted to cut it all off one of these days if they plague me any more about it." Then she told her mother how they had nicknamed her Fluffy, to match her hair, Mrs. Ray tried to comfort her by telling her "some girls would be crazy to have those curls."

At the supper table the main topic was the dance to be held that evening for the boys over there. "And," chirped Helen, second eldest, "Capt. Arthur Harvey of the — regiment is going to be there; they say he is a stunner and unmarried."

No one had noticed the pretty flush that had come to Virginia's face nor that she had tasted very little supper, and on a pretense of being so tired she begged to be excused.

Once out of their sight she gave way to her thoughts. "I wonder," she mused, "could it be possible?" and tripping upstairs she made her way to her sister Mary's wardrobe and selected a gray georgette crepe dress, the prettiest she could find. It would do no harm to try it on, she thought; then arranging her hair up high she viewed herself in the long mirror. "Gosh! I never knew I could look so nice," and trotting in delight to her own room, she decided to go to the dance.

Eight o'clock found the hall quite crowded, orchestra playing, and everybody bubbling over with happiness. In the farthest corner sat Virginia all alone and unnoticed, as she thought. She had seen her two sisters having the time of their lives and almost wished she hadn't come, but then her thoughts strayed to the object of her presence there, and she started another neck-straining search, but of no avail.

Suddenly the orchestra struck up a lively fox trot, and Virginia was lost in beating time, humming and watching the different steps and didn't mind the time passing. "Pardon me," came in a low voice. "Why aren't you enjoying yourself like your sisters and the rest?" Virginia turned suddenly to find herself face to face with the man she had come purposely to see. "Oh, I—I—" she stammered. "Really, I must be going—" But she didn't go alone, for Captain Harvey asked permission to escort her home, and after some hesitation she decided to allow him.

It was a pleasant walk home, and when Virginia asked him, "How did you remember me after such a long time?" he replied: "Well, when I came into the hall I glanced around to see if there was anybody I knew, and for the minute, I must confess, I was somewhat disappointed; you see the crowd seemed so strange to me. But when I happened to glance over in a certain corner I saw you, and stepping up to one of the fellows I inquired who the lady was with the fluffy hair. You know it is some time since we became acquainted, and for another minute I forgot we were friends (so careless of me); so finally putting on my thinking cap I recollected everything." He continued talking about the good times they had that summer they were together—the picnic, the little pool where they had learned to swim—when suddenly he turned to see if Virginia was enjoying it, and to his amazement saw two big tears rolling down her cheeks. "Stop right where you are," she cried. "You are like all the rest, and I thought you were so different. Oh, why does everybody ridicule my hair?"

Captain Harvey had been so interested in talking over those times he forgot he had even mentioned her hair, and for answer he put one strong arm around her and, lifting the tear-stained face, he said: "I've only known you a little while, girlie, but I like you and, honest, I wasn't making fun of your hair." Virginia looked up, eyes sparkling at hearing his humble confession, and then to his surprise she told him how she happened to be there. "You see, Captain Harvey," smiling through her tears, "I heard them say you were going to be there, so I was bound to go, even though I had to borrow a dress, and—" she stammered—"I guess I'm not disappointed, after all." "Nor I," chimed in Harvey, "because I adore fluffy hair."

Yellow Fever.

Dr. Walter Reid of the United States army discovered in 1900 that yellow fever was communicated to man through the bite of a mosquito. During the nineteenth century deaths from yellow fever at Havana were frequently as high as 1,500 per annum, or at the rate of 428 per 100,000 inhabitants. A year after Doctor Reid's discovery they had ceased altogether. Up to that year the mortality from yellow fever had been as follows: 1890, 306; 1891, 356; 1892, 357; 1894, 404; 1895, 558; 1896, 1,232; 1897, 653; 1898, 196; 1899, 193; 1900, 310; 1901, 19.

A LIFE COMPANION

By HELEN A. ROBERTS.

(Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Wanted—Companion for young lady. Must be well educated and have best of references. Apply at 601 Maple avenue, city."

"There," sighed Olive, as she read the above advertisement. "I've got to get a position, and I might as well start and look for one now. I certainly have had a good education. Mr. Lawrence will give me a good letter of reference."

About six months previous to this time, Olive's father had died, leaving her alone except for his old school chum Ted Lawrence. He had left no will and Olive, always supposed to have been wealthy, had to find some means of supporting herself. Some of the town gossips had said that old "Ted" Lawrence had something to do with it, but nothing further was said.

When Olive had shown Ted Lawrence the advertisement, he thought it a fair place for a girl of her standing, so advised her to try for the position. After a short talk with her adviser, Olive started for the house on Maple avenue. In answer to her ring at the door, a maid appeared and showed her in to the lady of the house, who was Miss Madison. Olive introduced herself, and after a few minutes of conversation with Miss Madison, was hired.

During the next six months, Olive and her mistress traveled a great deal. Then, suddenly, they packed up to leave for home. Olive's employer explained that her brother, who was in training camp, was coming home for a short furlough, and that she was going to give a dinner in his honor. Olive was somewhat happy, as she would be able to visit many of her old friends, and most of all, her old friend, Ted Lawrence.

During the time that Miss Madison's brother Ralph was home, Olive had very little to do, as Miss Madison was quite busy entertaining her brother.

The night of the dinner, Olive was out walking on the large lawn that surrounded the Madison home, and she chanced to meet Miss Madison and her brother. Of course, they were introduced, and Ralph upon finding that Olive was his sister's companion (whom he had heard much of), insisted that she join them at dinner.

A few minutes later, as she was coming down the stairs to go into the dining room, the maid handed her a telegram. Looking first at the signature, she saw that it was from Ted Lawrence. "Come to my office at your earliest convenience," it read. Being quite anxious to know what the telegram meant, she excused herself to the hostess and left at once for the office. When she arrived there, he quietly asked her to sit down as he had some good news for her.

"Olive, it was a year ago today that your father died, leaving a will in my possession, not to be opened until one year after his death. It leaves his entire estate to you. Now, you will, of course, give up your position with the Madisons."

Olive was happy and yet she was sad. She was glad that she didn't have to support herself any more, and yet she didn't want to leave the Madisons.

The next day she informed her employer of what had taken place the evening before. They were all glad and yet they wanted her to stay with them, as they had got to like her in the short time that she had worked for them. Olive thought it over and told them that she would stay a few months longer.

It was some six months before Ralph came home again and still Olive was in the employ of Miss Madison. Ralph and Olive had become quite good friends and had been corresponding with each other since the last time Ralph was home. This time when he came home it was Olive who was busy entertaining him. One evening when he was home he asked Olive to take a short walk out in the garden, and just before they turned to come back Olive told Ralph that she was going to leave his sister. Olive was a little bit disappointed when Ralph didn't say that he was sorry, or even try to induce her to stay, but on the contrary, he looked happier, and turning square around, faced Olive and said: "I've been looking for a companion for life and you're the one I want. How about it?"

Olive hid her face in his arms and nobody but Ralph heard what she said.

Wanted—Ingenuity.

There is a factory where tiny screws are used in assembling the machines. Formerly these screws were picked up with a small pair of pliers, but now magnetized screw drivers are used.

In Kansas there is a shop where small screws are inserted by first pressing them through a bit of paper. Then they can be easily handled and put in position, and the paper torn away.

These are only examples of the sort of ingenuity so badly needed to get people out of the rut of inefficiency.

The Stepping Place.

"I don't mind lending you my hoe, my ax, my lawn mower, the madam's ice cream freezer, and a lot of other things about the premises," said Mr. Glipping, "but I'll give you fair warning, Galspur."

"Eh? What's the trouble?"

"If you ever come over here and try to borrow our portable garage, I'm going to say 'No.'"

New York Is Oldest City.

The oldest incorporated city in the United States is New York, incorporated in 1653. Boston, although settled in 1630, was not incorporated till 1822, having passed through the Revolutionary war and a long interval besides without a city charter. Other American cities were incorporated as follows: Philadelphia, in 1701; Baltimore, in 1786; Pittsburgh, in 1816; Cincinnati, in 1819; St. Louis, in 1822; New Orleans, in 1805; Detroit, in 1824; Indianapolis, in 1831.

Why They Are Lonely.

The people who are lonely in this world are those who are always looking for something to come to them; they hope for pleasant adventures; they exact much from their friends and from their family—and they are never satisfied. But the happy men and women are those who never think to demand for themselves—who give and give, and give again, and find joy whenever they find opportunity to give joy.—Exchange.

Mozart Always Composing.

After stating that while composing Mozart never went to the piano, Niemetschek remarks: "His imagination distinctly and vividly presented to him the whole work he had conceived." Mozart, as he told his father, was always immersed in music, went about with it all day, and liked to speculate, study and reflect. From his wife we learn that his mind was always in motion, that he was continually composing.

Gorgeous Russian Churches.

There is something about the worship of the Russian churches which deeply impresses the traveler. The typical edifice is large, of a semioriental type of architecture, with an excess of color and ornamentation that is only saved from the bizarre by the harmonious blending of shades and the atmosphere of solemnity which pervades the spacious interior.

Many Snakes in Australia.

Australia is said to have about one hundred species of snakes, three-fourths of them venomous. The big pythons and rock snakes are harmless, but a one travels from the tropics southward the dangerous varieties increase in number, and in Tasmania, all are venomous, though only five are really deadly.

Reasonable Conclusion.

"Although the postpaid who robbed me of my watch and money last night appeared to me to be unusually tall, he offered in extenuation of the outrage the excuse that he was exceedingly short," commented Professor Pate. "The deduction I draw from the incident is that, in addition to being dishonest, he was also untruthful."—Kansas City Star.

Artificial Gems.

Nearly all artificial gems—that is to say, stones that are really made by artificial means—are compounds of alum crystallized under special conditions. The metallic salts that are added during fusion determine whether the stones produced shall be sapphires, rubies, oriental topazes, amethysts or emeralds.

Pen Extractor.

A pen extractor installed in an office will save all members of the force the ink operation of removing an old pen from the holder with the fingers. The device consists of a metal loop which can be pressed down upon the pen so firmly that the pen is removed by a pull on the holder.

Part of Her Costume.

Bessie came running to her grandmother holding a dry, pressed leaf, obviously the relic of a day long gone by. "I found it in the big Bible, grandma," she said. "Do you 'pose it belonged to Eve?"—Boston Transcript.

Said by a Cynic.

There are two literary maladies, writer's cramp and swelled head. The worst of writer's cramp is that it is never cured, the worst of swelled head is that it never kills.—Coulson Kernahan.

Must Be Housecleaning.

Marjorie came in with some pussy willows. "Oh, mamma," she cried, "just see those cunning little muffs the kitties have hung out to air."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Which?

Boy (handing the jeweler a $1 watch)—Just clean and regulate this and put in a new crystal, will you? If I had the price I'd buy a new one.

Fairyland.

Wherever is love and loyalty, great purposes and lofty souls, even though in a hovel, there is Fairyland.—Kingsley.

Hard Lines.

Optimistic Thought.

BIG MILITARY BAND TO BE HEARD HERE

ORGANIZATION FROM CAMP TO FURNISH THE MUSIC AT HOLLAND FAIR

The patriotic note is to be a main characteristic of the Holland Fair this year. This is to be true of the fair in all its branches and departments and on all the days of the exhibits. But it will be especially true of "Holland Day" which this year will be on Wednesday of fair week, making the date September 11.

Hon. G. J. Diekema Wednesday received a letter from Col. S. Burkhardt, Jr., of the 14th Division announcing that a large United States Military band of from thirty to thirty-five pieces will be sent to Holland on that day and will furnish the music. Mr. Diekema on behalf of the fair association asked for the band for Holland and the request was readily granted.

This will be a unique feature for the Holland Fair and it is expected to be one of the most popular attractions. Civilians in Holland will be given an opportunity to hear the kind of music which the large band provides for the soldiers in camp. Good bands are always popular and this year a military band will be doubly popular. The musicians in this organization are highly trained for their work and the band contains many members who have won considerable recognition.

Not only will the fair help to advance the various food saving campaigns that are under way and thus help the country win the war but the same note of patriotic service will run through most of its exhibits. It will be a "win the war" fair in every way in which the exhibits can be hitched up to the country's military endeavor. And the band will give expression to this military character of the fair.

PAPER TO BE TRANSFERRED TO GRAND RAPIDS

The Dutch church newspaper of the Christian Reformed denomination "De Wachter," published in Holland by the Holland Printing Co., is about to be transferred to Grand Rapids where it will be published in the future. Next week the local firm will print its last issue under its contract with the church denomination and on the following week the new management of the paper will issue it from Gr. Rapids. The address of the paper will change to 214 Pearl-st., Grand Rapids.

At that place both "De Wachter" and "The Banner" will be issued in the future.

Henry Holkeboer of this city has been in charge of the mechanical end of the paper for twenty-four years. The new central church publishing firm to be established in Grand Rapids under orders from the Synod of that denomination, is not yet in shape to handle the publications of the papers from their own plant. But the contract with the Holland firm runs out next week and the new firm will probably job out the publication of the paper in Grand Rapids until the new firm has been put into shape to handle it from its own presses.

With the transfer of the paper to Grand Rapids the editorship will also pass out of the hands of the present editor, Rev. A. Keizer of Overisel, who has had charge of the work for 24 years, having begun his editorial career at the same time the local publishing firm contracted to print it.

SAUGATUCK STILL HAS SPEED ORDINANCE FOR FAST ONES

The lure of the new cement road was too strong for some of our speed-loving citizens, resorters and tourists, and the deputy sheriffs last Saturday rounded up a number of violators of the speed regulations, who were fined varying sums by Judge Zwemer. This was under the state law limiting speed to 15 miles an hour through incorporated villages. The Saugatuck ordinance, originally drawn to regulate "horses, mules, oxen and other domestic animals," limits the speed to ten miles an hour, which was considered as fast as a yoke of oxen ought to go.—Saugatuck Commercial Record.

TEN SLAUGHTER HOUSES HERE ARE CONDEMNED

William J. Remus, state food and drug inspector, and Dr. B. B. Godfrey, city health officer, made a tour of Holland and Zeeland townships Friday and condemned about ten slaughtering houses as being in an unsanitary condition. The state food and drug department is invested with great powers and what it says goes. Mr. Remus has made the following formal report and assumed entire responsibility for its complete accuracy:

L. Kys, slaughter house and rendering plant, Holland township, address 225 Lincoln Avenue. Place now used for the killing of old, decrepit and sick horses. No screens, old wood floor, very dirty, filthy and unsanitary. This man has allowed string butcher to kill cattle in this place. Notice has been served on him to refrain and discontinue the killing of meat cattle in this place. The general conditions of the premises are very bad. Condemned.

Fred Hieftje, Holland Township, address 205 E. 15th St., old frame building, floors, sidewalks smeared with the blood clots, cobwebs all over sidewalks and ceilings. Leaky roofs. No screens on doors and windows; full of flies. Rusty tools and hooks. Dirty, filthy overalls used when killing. Tools not properly sterilized after killing tubercula cattle. Place closed for five days until requirements governing slaughter houses are observed.

Martin Nienhuis, kills cattle in barn. Holland township, 212 W. 14th Street. Placed closed until regulations pertaining slaughter houses are observed. Condemned.

John Saagers, Holland township, R. F. D. No. 3. Kills cattle in barn contrary to regulations. Condemned.

Martin Hieftje, Zeeland township, Zeeland, Mich., place in good condition, requiring only minor changes to comply with regulations.

Gilbert Van Hoeven, Zeeland township, Zeeland, Mich. Frame building, old rotten floor permeated with blood and decayed animal matter. Sidelwalks full of cracks, no screens, full of flies and bad offensive odors. Hogs next to building, wallowing in pools of filth and decaying offal. Stench something frightful. No man with any regard to decency or mindful of the public health would operate such a place. Condemned until rebuilt to comply with regulations.

J. J. De Pree, Holland township, Zeeland, Mich.; old dilapidated frame building, very bad unsanitary conditions; will not permit its operation. Condemned.

Chris Baarman, Holland Township, Zeeland, Michigan; old frame building in process of reconstruction. Promises to have an up-to-date Abattoir with modern improvements.

Cornelius Boone, Holland Township, Zeeland, Mich., old frame building, floors soaked with blood and decayed animal matter sidewalks smeared with clotted blood, place full of cobwebs, swarming with flies. Hogs inside of slaughter house. Maggots roaming out at large in yard and floor, feeding on decayed animal matter. Odors of putrefaction all about the premises. Plain evidence of filth and neglect. One of the worst places in Ottawa county. Owner off attending camp meeting. Unable to meet proprietor to tell him that a little practice of religion and common decency will help a lot to better conditions in place of this kind. Condemned.

W. Nienhuis, Olive Township, R. F. D. No. 2, Holland; old frame building, condemned on account of not meeting with regulations governing slaughter houses.

Mr. Nienhuis, Cloverdale farm, Olive township; good building and every indication that owner is neat and tries to keep a clean and sanitary place. After a few minor changes are made the place will be in excellent condition. Passed.

It seems a common practice for the string butchers in this vicinity to butcher in barns and any old sheds and out in the open which must cease at once as the state law does not permit this practice.

The regulations are very strict as to the transportation of meat from farms and slaughter houses and about the city. The provisions are that carcasses are to be wrapped in white clean cloths to properly protect the meat from dust, dirt and flies. Persons detected in violating this provision will be severely dealt with.

The general public can easily avoid dirty and unsanitary meat-markets and refuse to patronize such a place. A slaughter house is a meat market in every sense where the product is prepared for the retail places and the public generally has no opportunity to investigate its conditions and for this reason for the interest and information I am submitting to you the results of this investigation and become fully responsible for its accuracy, and publication.

William J. Remus,
State Food and Drug Inspector.

BOCHE BULLET BREAKS ARM OF HOLLAND BOY

One of the Sentinel's representatives at the front has been wounded. Morris Moody's star appears in the Sentinel service flag. He was an employee of this paper and was among the first from Holland to enlist. In two brief letters to his family in Holland young Moody gives the information that he was in the hot fighting in France and that a Boche bullet broke his right arm just below the shoulder. The letters written in a hospital in Paris, follow:

Saturday, July 27,
Somewhere near Paris

Dearest Mother:—
It has been quite a while since I've written to you and many things have happened since the last time I wrote. For one thing, you will wonder why this letter is written so funny. Well, you settle yourself very comfortably and I will try and explain. Are you ready?

We were giving the Germans their just dues as you probably have seen by the papers and we were doing good work, too, when the old Boches sent over a few of their souvenirs and I happened to get one. It did not get so bad as it might have. It did not get the right arm just below the shoulder. It broke my arm, so you can see why this letter is written so funny, I am doing it with my left hand.

I am in a good hospital in Paris and am receiving the best of care. It is not so bad, so I am in a pretty good state of mind, so don't worry at all.

My address is Pvt. M. C. Moody, Am. Red Cross Military Hospital No. 1, Am. E. F., France.

MORRIS,
American Red Cross Military Hospital, No. 1, Am. E. F.,
July 30, 1918

Mrs. G. C. Moody,
Holland Michigan.
My own dear mother:

I have asked the chaplain to write this because I want you to know that I am getting along very well. My arm will be all right. It will not be even stiff. We ought to be very thankful that I have got out so fortunately. The chaplain gave me a bible today. The Red Cross do everything one could ask for.

Give my love to all the family and take lots of it for yourself. I wish I could see you all.

Very devotedly,
MORRIS MOODY,

HOPE BOYS TO GET UNIFORMS AND RIFLES

President E. D. Dimment of Hope College Tuesday received a telegram from Washington in which the further plans of the War Department looking to the training of college students in military drill were set forth. Hope College, according to the telegram, has met all the requirements and the government has agreed to give the training here.

President Dimment said that the work will be fully under way by October 15, according to present plans. By that time the government will have provided an officer to put the boys at the local institution through daily drills and all the other preliminary steps will have been taken, Mr. Dimment believes.

The telegram from Washington says, "Your institution having satisfied the conditions, steps will be taken at once to establish a unit of the Students' Army Training Corps. An officer of the United States army will be detailed for the work and will upon arrival proceed with the organization of your unit."

"Rifles, uniforms, overcoats and other equipment will be shipped at an early date."

Hope College will open for the 1918-1919 session on September 18 but it is expected that it will take a week or two before the Students' Army Training Corps will be in full swing. It is a radically new departure for Hope College as well as for all the other colleges in the country that have adopted it and will probably require a number of adjustments in the routine of the institution.

But there is considerable interest in the military training offered and the new draft bill, if passed as is now proposed, will automatically make practically every male student in the college a member of the corps, as nearly all the boys in the college department are 18 or over. Boys in the Preparatory department will also receive military training, but this will be given under college auspices.

HOLLAND HOST TO PASTORS OF MANY STATES

Although Holland is not strictly speaking a resort city, except in so far as it is in proximity to the Black Lake resorts and thus sees a good deal of the summer population from time to time that sojourns there during the warm months, this city is a resort town for one class of people, namely the ministers of Reformed and Christian Reformed and of a number of the Presbyterian churches as well. This city is just in the thick of the ministers' resorting season just now and it would be hazardous to guess how many pastors are spending their vacations here at the present time.

That there are a good many of them all know who have a wide acquaintance with ministers. A great many men who received their education at Hope College love to come back to this city for a few weeks in the summer time to look up old friends they made among the citizens during their college years. In many cases also those boys found their wives among Holland girls and them come back from all parts of the country to visit their homes once a year.

There are ministers and their families from probably a dozen states in Holland at the present time. They are serving churches in various communities, but come back here once a year for rest.

A considerable number of them also have permanent summer homes at Central Park. So many pastors have formed the habit of spending their summers there that the resort is popularly known as "Ministers' Rest."

PUBLIC ASKS B. P. W. FOR SUGAR CARDS

Some of the city departments having offices in the city hall are being given no rest by a sugar-hungry public looking around for sugar cards. The Board of Public Works is perhaps inconvenienced more than anyone else. This board's offices are located near the main entrance of the city hall, and their door naturally first of all attracts the attention of the people not very familiar with the building who come in search of sugar cards. It has almost come to a pass where the board will have to hire an extra clerk to answer sugar card questions.

The board would like to have it stated that no sugar cards can be obtained there, but that they should be applied for to Wm. Brunse, local food administrator, whose office is over the Haan Brothers Drug store, East Eighth street.

Packers' Profits Are Regulated

The public should understand that the profits of the packers have been limited by the Food Administration since November 1, 1917. For this purpose, the business of Swift & Company is now divided into three classes:

Class 1 includes such products as beef, pork, mutton, oleomargarine and others that are essentially animal products. Profits are limited to 9 per cent of the capital employed in these departments, (including surplus and borrowed money), or not to exceed two and a half cents on each dollar of sales.

Class 2 includes the soap, glue, fertilizer, and other departments more or less associated with the meat business. Many of these departments are in competition with outside businesses whose profits are not limited. Profits in this class are restricted to 15 per cent of the capital employed.

Class 3 includes outside investments, such as those in stock yards, and the operation of packing plants in foreign countries. Profits in this class are not limited.

Total profits for all departments together in 1918 will probably be between three and four per cent on an increased volume of sales.

The restrictions absolutely guarantee a reasonable relation between live stock prices and wholesale meat prices, because the packer's profit cannot possibly average more than a fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Since the profits on meat (Class 1) are running only about 2 cents on each dollar of sales, we have to depend on the profits from soap, glue, fertilizer (Class 2, also limited) and other departments, (Class 3) to obtain reasonable earnings on capital.

Swift & Company is conducting its business so as to come within these limitations.

Positively Prevents Punctures

NOW, please don't say, "Oh, just another one of those tire-fillers," and let it go at that! ESSENKAY is a tire-filler, but not the kind you probably have in mind. It is nothing like the ones that have been tried and found wanting, but is a wonderful discovery that has at last solved the problem of a real substitute for air.

Cuts Your Tire Cost in Half

ESSENKAY not only positively prevents punctures and "blowouts," (there is no air to puncture or "blowout"), but also doubles life of your casing and saves half your tire cost. First cost of ESSENKAY is your last cost, as it lasts for many years and is transferable from one set of casings to another indefinitely.

CANDY KITCHEN CONTRACT IS NOW AWARDED

James Kotros, proprietor of the Holland Candy Kitchen, who is compelled to move from the Blom building, because the block has been leased to the George Huizenga and Company, Jewelry firm, has let the contract to remodel the Sutton building now occupied by the Lyric Theater to Abel Postma, local contractor.

Mr. Postma will start work next week, and expects to have the place completed within the next sixty days.

The stairway leading to the hotel above will be placed in the rear, making the building wider. The second floor will be converted into a candy factory, where Mr. Kotros will not only manufacture some of his best candies to be sold in his kitchen, but will also manufacture sweets for Holland and outlying districts.

The entrance to the new Candy Kitchen will be of tile, the glass will be of plate, and the widow sills of marble. Prism glass set in copper will adorn the building above the plate glass and entrance.

Mr. Kotros already has the finest soda fountain to be found anywhere in Western Michigan and this with a new and remodeled building will make this business house a show place in the city.

NEW HOPE PROFESSOR ARRIVES IN HOLLAND

Rev. and Mrs. Paul E. Hinkamp have arrived in Holland and have moved into their home at 142 East 15th street. Mr. Hinkamp was elected to the chair of Bible study at Hope college last April, and he will assume the work of that position in September when Hope College opens for the 1918-19 session.

Mr. Hinkamp was pastor of a church in Cheboygan, Wis., when the call to Hope College came to him. He graduated from the local institution in 1907 and has since done graduate work both at home and abroad. He held a position in the Wisconsin Memorial Academy immediately after his graduation from Hope and later he took a theological course. For the past few years he has served a congregation in Wisconsin.

LOCAL ORGANIZATION ENJOYS FINE PICNIC

The members of the O. E. S. Chapter No. 40, held a most enjoyable picnic Saturday at Jenison Park. The weather was most gracious to them and gave them the best possible brand of picnic weather which was thoroughly appreciated by all. There were many members, friends and their children present to join in the festivities.

James Van Dyke, as kingfisherman of the day carried home a large bass for his Sunday breakfast. After a bountiful repast games and dancing were indulged in. Mr. and Mrs. C. De Grant of Chicago, were in attendance as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur White of the North Shore, and Mr. and Mrs. George Hall of Ravenswood Chapter, Chicago, were also present.

HOLLAND LOSES TO MUSKEGON

The attendance at Saturday's baseball game was over 500 show that Holland is not dead as far as baseball goes. Keep it up as it is your patronage that assures the best athletic park in the state.

The following is a report of the game as given by Spriggs:

Holland lost its second game of the season Saturday to the Lindermans of Muskegon. The game was practically lost in the first inning when Nykamp allowed three bases on balls and a dead ball with one man on base, and two out. He braced up however in the second and pitched fine ball the remainder of the game. A shift in the lineup is considered partly responsible for the defeat by some of the fans.

The game looked one-sided until the 7th inning when the Wooden Shoes clouted the ball for three runs and two more in the 8th, making the score 8-7 in favor of the Sawdust warriors, neither side scoring in the 9th inning. Shaw made a spectacular run to first in the 8th inning beating out a bunt.

The score by innings—

JAIL DOOR NOT LOCKED BUT ESCAPE IS FOILED

Muskegon, Aug. 19—Following an attempted jail delivery, George Jennings, one of the leaders, showed Sheriff Stauffer that the inmates could have obtained their liberty had he not been sleeping next to the cell door. The main cell block had not been locked in years, the keys failing to catch when the lock was sprung.

The sheriff had no idea the prisoners could escape, but was informed of the attempt and was sleeping on a cot when the prisoners unlocked the inner door and started work on the second.

TOWNSHIP AND CITY MAY MAKE AN AGREEMENT

The recent Jenison Park fire calls attention to the fact that the city of Holland now has a fire fighting apparatus that is capable of giving protection to property in Holland not only, but to property in surrounding country for a radius of several miles. This is the first time in the history of this community that there has been such protection for rural and resort property. When Holland still depended on horse drawn firewagons, it was of course out of the question for the local departments to go six or seven miles, or even if they did, as has happened once or twice, the time consumed in getting there gave the fire a big start.

But now that the department can be on the scene of a fire at Jenison Park in 12 minutes, it seems certain that it can reach a fire in any part of Holland or Park townships in time to be of real service in fighting the flames.

But the Holland fire apparatus was paid for by the people of the city of Holland and not by the people of Holland or Park townships. It is planned to have the city make some kind of arrangement with the township boards whereby the townships will provide remuneration in case the fire department is called to fires within the township jurisdiction. Then the city would be reimbursed for the use of its apparatus, for the labor of the men employed by city and for the material in the line of gasoline, oil, etc., used in making the trip.

Although no such arrangement exists now, the firemen gladly helped out at the Jenison fire, and they were also given instant permission by Mayor N. Bosch when the call came. Jenison Park has handsomely rewarded the department, but no haphazard system of reimbursement will be depended upon in the future, but a systematic arrangement between the city and townships will probably be worked out.

WESLEYAN PASTORS ASSIGNED FOR YEAR

Hastings, Aug. 20—According to reports submitted to the 76th annual conference of the Wesleyan Methodist church of Michigan at the state conference in Pennock's grove south of this city, the church in Michigan are in a very prosperous condition.

In response to an appeal made by Mr. Harvey, a missionary from India, for funds for continuing the work in India more than $600 was raised. Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Rev. E. P. McCarthy, Lansing; vice-president, Rev. D. T. Perrine, Waldron; secretary, Rev. C. S. Rennells, Berlin; assistant secretary, Rev. C. F. Badger, Hickory Corners; treasurer, Elmer D. Cheney, Hillsdale.

Pastoral appointments for the next conference year include the following: Holland and Laketown, M. H. Kingsbury.

CHAS. WEIDENFELLER STILL ON THE MAP

Charles A. Wiedenfelder, formerly of Holland but who later moved to Van Buren county, is still alive and kicking and running for something, judging from an item appearing in the Allegan Gazette. Some years ago it was reported in Holland that Wiedenfelder was seriously ill and could not possibly live the day out. Citizens supposed that the former Holland man had passed away, but apparently he pulled through at the last minute and is now again on deck. Says the Gazette:

Charles A. Wiedenfelder, formerly owner of a farm southwest of Chicago in Oneshire township and later a representative in the state legislature from Van Buren county, is now in the field for the nomination of representative in the legislature from Kalamazoo. During Mr. Wiedenfelder's former campaign he made statements derogatory to one of his opponents to whom he paid a sum of money in settlement."

WANTS TO MAKE COAL BIN LARGER

B. P. W. ASKS FOR COUNCIL'S AP-PROVAL TO CONSERVE
COAL

The Board of public works asked last night for the approval of the common council on their plans for the doubling of the capacity of coal bin. The job would cost $3,647 according to the figures of the board. It was shown however that the shrinkage in coal when it is allowed to lie out in the open is 9.9 per cent. This means an annual loss amounting up to a considerable figure the board uses thousands of tons of coal a year. The board looks upon it as a wise conservation measure to protect coal, but the council was not ready to give its approval until it had had an opportunity to investigate the matter. The matter has been referred to the Ways and Means Committee, the Building Committee and to the individual aldermen who will meet Monday night to discuss the matter, meanwhile investigating it.

MAY NEED SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT

INDICATIONS ARE THAT HOL-LAND WILL NEED IT SOME TIME

Holland may in the not distant future be up against the proposition of the erection of a sewage disposal plant. Rumblings of what is coming were heard in the meeting of the Common Council last night when a committee, detailed to investigate complaints, made by people along North River Avenue, reported that the complaints were well founded and that something should be done. For the present the committee will continue its investigations and the board of public works will be asked to make temporary repairs at once. The erection of a sewage disposal plant will mean the expenditure of many thousands of dollars and the aldermen are reluctant to go into the matter during war time. But further information will be secured, and meantime the trouble will be temporarily taken care of by repairs.

The Royal Neighbors will hold an initiation tonight. All members are requested to be present.

The salary of Chief of Police Van Ry was raised from $1200 to $1300. The raise was recommended to the council by the police board and it was unanimously approved by the aldermen.

Alderman Brieve, chairman of the committee on poor, announced to the council last night that the sum of $77 had been expended for temporary relief the past two weeks.

MAN SERIOUSLY INJURED IN AN AUTO WRECK

IN HOLLAND HOSPITAL IN A CRITICAL CONDITION

Was Driving From Chicago to Grand Rapids; Wreck at Vriesland

Arthur Chapman is in a critical condition at the Holland Hospital as a result of an accident at Meengs crossing near Vriesland.

Chapman, who's home is in Grand Rapids was driving from Chicago with his Ford. The car was loaded down with supplies that he had purchased there.

When he reached Meengs Crossing the steering pole of his car broke and the Ford turned turtle, rolling into a ditch, throwing Chapman clear of the car.

He was picked up by passersby and Dr. A. J. Brower of Drenthe was hurriedly summoned. He found that the man had a shoulder dislocated and was internally injured and is altogether in a serious condition.

He was taken to the Holland hospital and is resting quite easily considering his condition. Mrs. Chapman was called from Grand Rapids and is in Holland with her husband. The Ford is considerably battered up, the windshield being broken, fenders bent and the lights were put out of commission. The supplies with which the car was loaded were also thrown broadcast.

Mrs. Chapman says that her husband figured in another auto accident two years ago when he sustained two broken ribs.

The common council last night granted permission to the draft board to use the various polling places in the city as registration places in the registration of men from 18 to 21 and from 31 to 45 in the near future.
