Zeeland Council Rejects Parking Meter Petition

Foes May Re-Introduce Appeal for Referendum After Second Reading

Zeeland (Special)—Zeeland city council Monday night rejected petitions which would have halted further action on installation of parking meters in downtown Zeeland.

The petitions, presented by Randall Dekker and Corie Dykwell, would have prevented delivery of the meters until a referendum vote could be held.

Basis of council's rejection was that the petitions asked for a referendum on a matter which was not covered by any ordinance. Ruling that the petitions had no legal implications, council, led by Mayor D. C. Bloemendaal, said they were merely an expression of about eight per cent of the people.

Council also referred the petitions to the city clerk with the comment there appeared to be a sizable number of invalid signatures. Only Zeeland voters are eligible to sign the petitions. However, Mayor Bloemendaal expressed belief that the petitions from the standpoint of number of proper signatures, were valid.

Council made arrangements for the first reading of a parking meter ordinance Sept. 2. Then, following a second reading, petitions would be valid and council would have to accept them. But they would have to be new petitions, newly drawn and re-circulated.

In other action council received a request from the ordinance committee not to license bicycles. The plan, which would be similar to the one now in effect in Holland, was postponed by council because of a plan to inaugurate an educational program for bike riders.

Council also let a bid to paving Division St.

A request from the Disabled American Veterans, Holland chapter, to sell for-profit notes on Zeeland streets Friday and Saturday of this week, was granted.

City Treasurer Nicholas Tanis, substituting for city clerk Holman, asked council to consider a successor for his treasurer's office because he felt that for reasons of health he should retire by the first of the year. Mayor Bloemendaal expressed regret that Tanis would be leaving and in a short review of his tenure emphasized the fine job the treasurer had done and expressed council's appreciation for his efforts. Tanis has been city treasurer since 1941.

Fisherman Saved By Three Others

The rescue work of three fishermen and the Holland Coast Guard was credited today with saving the life of a Grand Rapids man who fell into surging channel waters while fishing Wednesday evening.

Joseph Naimo, 54, of 921 Sheldon St., Grand Rapids, was the victim of the near tragedy that happened shortly after 5 p.m. Wednesday. He fell from the north channel wall and had gone down twice before hauled back to the channel wall by the three fishermen—Jack H. Sturgis of St. Johns, Richard De Vries of Grand Rapids and Junior Leon Brown of Byron Center.

Coast Guardsmen immediately applied artificial respiration to revive the semi-conscious Naimo. The Holland police rescuer arrived but was not put into use, and a physician from Holland gave medical aid. Naimo was taken to Holland hospital for a check-up and then released.

Coast Guardsmen said that Sturgis was fishing near Naimo and had started to walk away when Naimo fell into the channel. Sturgis picked up a two-by-four plank to reach Naimo and successfully negotiated the operation to a shorter place on the sea wall where De Vries and Brown helped haul him in.

A huge oil storage tank—with a pilot riding way on top of it—carefully and slowly negotiated its way through downtown Holland Tuesday. The tank was being hauled on a flat-bottom truck from a farm near Overisel to the Padnos company, where it will be cut up for steel salvage. City police escorted the huge barrel down River Ave.

to the Padnos yard, carefully dodging traffic lights—like the one shown at Eighth St. and River Ave.—and tree limbs, overhead wires and other obstructions. Meanwhile, the unperturbed "tank jockey" took it all in stride from his overhead perch.

Council Refuses BPW Bid to Erect Steel Building

Common Council Wednesday night turned down a request from the Board of Public Works to purchase and erect a steel building for storage space, until the city building code can be brought in accordance.

The BPW wanted to erect the 48-by-28-by-10-foot building near the James De Young plant to store non-combustible materials now stored in the Fifth St. and De Young plants. However, the building would require a special ordinance because of the steel construction.

Three aldermen expressed concern that if council approved such construction, the city would be setting precedent and private citizens then would easily have the same rights.

Action to revamp the building code has been pending for some time and the aldermen felt that this and similar matters should wait for the new building code.

Council approved the low bids of Van Alsburg Coal Co., for 68 tons of Pocahontas coal at $12.74 a ton, and 15 tons of stoker coal from Brewer City Coal Dock at $11.87 a ton.

Council approved the Lievense Agency's low bid of $1,283.28 for automobile insurance and also added hired car liability and non-ownership liability coverage. Eight local insurance agencies submitted bids.

In another action, the mayor was authorized to appoint a committee of three aldermen to meet with the city manager and go over the newly prepared analysis of insurance coverage which was read by the Insurance Audit and Inspection Co. The committee will study the report and make recommendations at a future council meeting.

A request from Baker Furniture Co., asking to move a one-story frame structure from 141 Columbia Ave. to 194 East 24th St., was approved, subject to filling the required $100 bond.

The mayor and city clerk were authorized to sign fire protection agreements with Elm Valley Milk Co., and Holland Ready Roofing Co.

Council also approved a request from the city auditor that he be allowed to issue a check for $255.100.30 to the Board of Education for school taxes collected and not yet remitted.

Mayor Harry Harrington presided at the one hour and 25-minute meeting and Alderman Robert Visscher gave the invocation. Council excused the absence of Alderman Bernice Bishop because she is out of town.

Holland Township Board Studying New Plant Request

250 Residents Attend Public Hearing Held Tuesday in Town Hall

Holland township board of appeals has under advisement an application from A. P. Kleis and Sons, doing business as the Holland Rendering Works, to erect a new building on a site purchased four years ago.

An estimated 250 people living in the vicinity attended a public hearing on the matter Tuesday evening at Holland township hall on Waverly Rd. The board of appeals listened to both sides present their cases and agreed to meet again Monday at 5 p.m. to reach a decision.

The proposed site of the new plant is located east of new US-31, south of the C&C railroad tracks and just north of Black river.

A. P. Kleis presented his case, explaining that his present plant, just south of M-21, must be moved to make way for the Holland bypass route. Kleis also pointed out that with his proposed modern plant he "expects at least 90 per cent of the odors will be eliminated."

Petitions signed by 221 property owners living within about a mile radius of the proposed site were presented by Ralph Gunn.

Attorney Wendell A. Miles represented the property owners and emphasized the obnoxious odors created by an operation. Harry Ter Haar of Tulip City Cabins, Hub Boone, Mrs. Ralph Gunn, Fred Dirks of Fred's Car Lot, Mrs. Ruth Van Duren, Andy Vinstra and others in voicing complaints, cited odors and the fact that flies and rats are attracted to a business of this sort. They also pointed out that they are thinking of the children and the three schools—Federal, Waverly and Van Raalte—located in the vicinity.

Gunn also presented a statement from the board of health, signed by John Wyma, public health engineer.

The proposed site is in the area zoned industrial by the zoning ordinance.

Friendliness on the part of both sides marked the meeting.

In other action, the board granted a permit to Holland Pattern Co., 534 Chicago Dr., to erect a 16 by 40 foot addition to its present building. The new section will be used to store lumber, according to Gerrit Witt and Karl Sundquist, co-owners. Witt presented the case.

Simon Borr, chairman of the board, presided. Other board members are George Lemmen, secretary, and Peter Slenk. Vernon Ten Cate, Holland township's attorney, attended the hearings along with his aide, Jim Townsend.

Hopkins Was Named After Signer Of Declaration of Independence

Hopkins (Special)—Hopkins township, which will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its founding at a three-day homecoming Thursday, Friday and Saturday, was named after Stephen Hopkins, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Jonathan Olin Round, first settler in the township, was given the privilege of choosing a name when the board of supervisors established it on Dec. 29, 1852.

Stephen Hopkins was a brother of Round's paternal grandmother.

Round's mother was Anna Olin, a niece of Chief Justice Theophilus Harrington, of Vermont, who went down in history when he replied to a request for a fugitive slave he harbored: "If you have a bill of sale from God Almighty, you can take this Negro; otherwise you cannot."

Round followed the tide of emigration to Michigan in 1834, settling first in Kalamazoo county. In 1837 he first visited the Hopkins area and, impressed with the quality of the land, located on a quarter section near where Hopkinsburg is now located.

When the township was organized in 1882, Round was elected its first supervisor.

Under the co-chairmanship of Clarence McBride and Francis Brower, the township will observe its centennial at a three-day celebration starting Thursday.

One of the highlights of the program will be a pageant at 8 p.m. Friday which will depict the area's early history. The cast will include some 50 residents.

A tractor rodeo, amateur contests, beard measuring event, old fiddler's contest, a children's parade, novelty races and professional entertainment is on tap during the three days.

A carnival midway with rides and sidshows will also locate in the village park for the centennial.

Youth Waives on Entering Count

A 19-year-old Terre Haute, Ind. youth was held in jail Saturday after confessing he ransacked the store and home of Herman Sprick in Forest Grove Wednesday, taking money, a diamond ring, wedding ring and clothing.

Anthony Lee Petoskey, who formerly lived in Forest Grove, was arrested in Grand Rapids Thursday night by six officers from Grand Rapids and Wyoming Park on information provided by Deputies Clayton Forry, Hilbert DeKleine and Ralph Heuvelman.

Petoskey was turned over to local authorities Friday and on his arraignment Saturday before Park Township Justice C. C. Wood he waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court to appear Aug. 28. Bond of $1,000 was not provided.

Officers said Petoskey hitchhiked from Grand Rapids to Forest Grove Wednesday to visit a friend. When he learned the village had virtually closed shop to attend a Sunday school picnic, Petoskey broke into the Sprick store by going through a hole in the ceiling of the garage into the attic and down into the store. He took about $10 out of the cash register, and later unlocked the door to the Sprick apartment and ransacked drawers there. He admitted taking the two rings.

Then he hitchhiked back to Grandville and on to Grand Rapids.

Since Petoskey had made a few inquiries in the village, deputies were soon on the right track. When he was taken into custody Thursday night at a home on Leonard St. he was accompanied by a 15-year-old girl, reported to police as missing from her home since last Saturday night. She was taken to a Children's Home.

Winged-T System Will Be Installed Here by Shearer

The winged-T type of football offense will be the subject for consideration among followers of the Holland high school football team for the coming season.

The winged-T will be installed by new Coach Dale Shearer, who took up residence on Holland's north side two weeks ago. Shearer, the veteran grid coach from Quincy, Mich., will start his first season at Holland high next month.

Shearer and assistant Coach Bob Connell are at the annual Michigan High School Athletic association coaching school this week at Mt. Pleasant. Wes Fesler of Minnesota and his line coach, Lyle Clark, are the main instructors at the coaching school.

"And Fesler also is a winged-T man," Shearer comments.

The coaching school will be the last step of coaching preparation before the 1952 high school season opens. Shearer plans to call his athletes together just prior to the first practice on Sept. 1 for issuing equipment and physical examinations.

Two practices will be held on Labor Day, and one-day sessions will be held thereafter. Because Labor Day falls on Sept. 1 this year, some practice time is lost compared to other seasons.

Shearer and Ned Stults will coach the varsity squad at Holland high, with Carroll Norlin and Connell in charge of the reserve team and Harold Streeter and Ed Damon handling the ninth grade squad.

The coaches expect about 130 candidates to show up for the opening sessions. At a visit to the school before classes ended last June, Shearer talked with and signed up 75 aspiring griders.

The 1952 season will be an important one for Holland and for Shearer. Besides being the first year at the helm for the new coach, it also will mark the first season for Holland outside of the Southwestern conference. Although perennial powerhouses Muskegon and Kalamazoo are gone from the schedule, the nine-game card certainly is no soft touch for the Dutchmen.

The schedule: Sept. 19, Grand Rapids Creston, away; Sept. 26, Cadillac, home; Oct. 3, Muskegon Heights, away; Oct. 10, Grand Rapids Catholic Central, away; Oct. 17, Dowagiac, home; Oct. 24, St. Joseph, home; Nov. 1, Petoskey, home; Nov. 7, Benton Harbor, away; Nov. 14, Grand Haven, home.

Kiwanians Hear Wendell A. Miles

Prosecuting Attorney Wendell A. Miles was guest speaker before the Kiwanis club Monday evening at the Warm Friend Tavern.

Miles told about the Republican county and state conventions and explained the delegate system of representation.

Recommendation of the primary system for the selection of delegates was made by Miles, pointing out petitions with 10 or 15 names would be required to place a delegate's name on the ballot. Miles emphasized with this system of selecting delegates "bossism" in county politics would be discouraged and probably done away with completely.

Miles also made a strong appeal for voting machines, stating errors would be eliminated as compared with the use of paper ballots, as well as more efficient handling of elections with savings to the taxpayers.

Daniel Vander Werf, Jr., introduced the speaker.

Delegates and alternates to the state Kiwanis convention to be held at Detroit in September were elected. Delegates are President Jack Plewes, Louis J. Stemply and Wilbur Cobb. Alternates are Rene Willis, Jr., Dr. A. Marohn and Simon Borr.

PLANNING THE INAUGURAL

The congressional inaugural committee is actively making plans for the ceremony next January 20 that will mark the beginning of the new administration. To the average citizen such plans may seem premature, but Washington has to lay its lines far in advance.
And there will of course be an inaugural no matter which party wins. Recognizing this fact congress some time ago appropriated $150,000 to cover the expense of such a ceremony.

What the inaugural committee wants to know now is whether the event will be simple or elaborate.
This decision is being left to the parties themselves. It would seem to be good politics, as well as good sense, to tip the scales toward simplicity.

There will be those who will want to make a big display, under the impression that it will be good advertising. And of course commercial pressures will also be exerted to make a big thing of the inaugural ceremonies. But it seems likely that dignified simplicity will have bigger advertising value than elaborate costliness.

No matter which party wins, official Washington will want to put the accent on reducing the cost of government. That, in fact, is almost the dominant issue. But costs cannot be reduced unless government cuts down on expenses.

To be sure, the cost of the inaugural, even if the ceremony should be elaborate, will hardly be noticed in actual money. It isn't the money saved that is important, but the example set. In making the inaugural ceremonies simple the parties can set the pace for an attitude toward spending that will have repercussions in all walks of American life. Such an example is badly needed in a tax-burdened country.

When Thomas Jefferson was inaugurated, he understood this principle. Jefferson was a rich man and an aristocrat. But he insisted in eliminating all unnecessary expense. He even refused an escort and rode to the white house alone on his horse. He even hitched the horse to the fence himself before he took the oath of office.

Such simplicity would be impossible in our day, but the parties and candidates and their supporters would be well advised if they kept the example of Jefferson in mind. A starkly simple inaugural ceremony would do much toward convincing the American people that Washington is sincere in trying to reduce the cost of government. What do you think? Write us

David Becomes King
1 Samuel 18:1-5; 22:1, 2;
2 Samuel 5:1-5

By Henry Geerlings

The story of David is the story of a shepherd boy who became king. There are many elements in the story that would appeal to the imagination of an ambitious youth, who, anxious to succeed in life, would be interested in learning how others have succeeded.

The life of David includes traits of character which deserve approval but also has elements less favorable. This factor makes the story appear more real. Too glowing an account of a human individual is apt to create suspicion as to its accuracy. There are enough of the human traits of character in the story of David to make one feel that it is authentic. There is no necessity to debunk the story.

Early in the history of David we encounter his contest with Goliath.
His skill outstripped his physical prowess. The results of various kinds are surprising at times. The victory occasionally goes to those whom we least expect to win. One should not be too sure that his qualities are not the ones that will win. So many factors enter into the game of life that we cannot very readily predict in advance what qualities will cause one to succeed and another to fail. David's skill was more valuable than Goliath's strength. Human nature is so subtle that certain elements of character often win out over other traits that may appear on the surface as more sure of winning. Christian men and women have traits that can win out over the Goliaths of life.

As a king, David had many things to commend him. He won many victories and it seems as though his intentions under most circumstances were good. He was marked by a sincere patriotism and love of his country and people. This characteristic he showed in his enthusiasm to defend his people and to advance their interests.
He also had religious interests that can be thought of as a devout man. While he is probably not the author of all the psalms that bear his name or at least attributed to him, he is author of many. These religious hymns show his true religious nature and piety.

His psalms bring out the fact that in addition of being a ruler and king, he was a poet and musician. It is probable that a mark of genius is a diversity of interest.
David had talents in several directions. It is notable that a number of men in public life at present have talents in several directions.
Such a diversity of accomplishments may minister to success in one's particular and special field of endeavor. At least a diversion is conducive to good physical and mental health.

But with all his greatness David drifted into sin for which he suffered and also repented. Here lies one of the universal lessons of the story of David and the universal message of the Scripture—righteousness wins God's favor and sin suffers his punishment. Let it be clear that this law of God is not arbitrary, but the working out of a logical plan of cause and effect.
Punishments are the logical consequences of wrongdoing.

David's life represented a constant warfare with sin and evil.
His failures might well be attributed to the overwhelming task he faced. If we knew all we might be more charitable.

The people had a share in selecting David as their king. It has always been a problem as to the manner in which the leaders of people shall be chosen. We condemn kings and rulers and long for a truly democratic state in which the people shall rule. But no sooner do we secure a large measure of such control than we learn that our high hopes of the people's rule are not being fulfilled and that disappointment meets us on many hands. The people think they want power, but when given that power they abuse it.
Frequently we clamor for rights but fail to assume responsibilities.

Many studies have been made of greatness of men and women.
Students have drawn from the outstanding features of their activities and traits. No one trait is the secret of greatness and no list of traits exhausts causes of greatness. Christians can well turn to the teachings of Jesus on greatness where he makes service the true test. The truly great have been unselfish. With a few weaknesses David was motivated under many circumstances to a true love of God and true devotion to the people of Israel.

Young David did not have so promising an outward appearance as did his brothers. They were well built, larger and more matured.
But he seems to have had finer stuff in him. Now a man may possess excellent qualities and fill a useful place in the world, and yet not be cut out for a king.
There is nothing said to the discredit of David's brothers only they were not of regal trim. He had more of the shepherd quality of soul than they. To each person there is given a specific work to do.

O'Meara Files
Second Suit in Furniture Case

Allegan (Special)—Dennis O' Meara, former president of Furniture Masterpieces, Inc. of Allegan, has filed a second civil suit in Circuit Court in the year-old squabble over the firms dealings with Bourke Furniture, a New York corporation.

O'Meara, a former Allegan resident who has since moved to Grand Rapids, was deposed as president of Furniture Masterpieces when his contract expired in February 1952.

In the second civil suit O'Meara is seeking, as a minority stockholder, an accounting of the firm's affairs, an injunction to prevent Arthur Bourke, president of Bourke Furniture and acting manager of Furniture Masterpieces, from interfering with O'Meara as a director of the corporation.

O'Meara charges that Bourke has "manipulated the affairs of Furniture Masterpieces for the benefit and profit of Bourke Furniture . . . and to the detriment of O'Meara as a minority stockholder and to the detriment and loss of Furniture Masterpieces."

The first civil suit filed here by O'Meara was later transferred to federal court where it was dismissed on the basis that O'Meara had no authority to bring suit.

In his bill of complaint, O'Meara charged that Bourke refused to supply him with figures on operating costs in the period from July 1, 1951, and May 16, 1952. "He was abusive and discourteous," called O'Meara a liar on several occasions and referred to him as "the great god O'Meara," the bill of complaint stated.

Furniture Masterpieces, Inc., was organized in 1942 to manufacture articles for the Bourke Furniture Co. of New York City.
It was stated. The two firms entered into a contract under which Masterpieces produced furniture for Bourke at a fixed profit of 15 per cent. But, according to the bill of complaint, the Bourke firm never paid Furniture Masterpieces the profit based on current operating expenses, but paid on a basis of expenses estimated when specifications for furniture to be manufactured were first given Furniture Masterpieces. In some cases, according to the bill of complaint, there was a time lag of two months between the time original estimates were made and the furniture actually went into production.

The bill of complaint charges that Bourke Furniture owes Masterpieces $211,326.72, less a credit of $86,424.83, under the terms of the contract which guaranteed the Allegan firm a 15 per cent profit over expenses.

O'Meara claims that the company showed a profit of only 1.19 per cent between Jan. 31, 1943, and Jan. 31, 1951.

In 1949, O'Meara states, the volume of orders given by Bourke to the Allegan firm began to diminish and that to utilize the productive capacity of Furniture Masterpieces it became necessary to accept business from others.
The bill of complaint indicates that Bourke sought to obtain from six to 15 per cent profit on these sales.

In addition to the accounting and the injunction, O'Meara seeks a decree on the rights and liabilities of the two corporations.

Invaders Clout
21 Hits to Bury
Holland Efforts

The powerful Grand Rapids Black Sox broke out their heavy artillery Monday night to put themselves back into contention for the second half title in the Southwestern Michigan Baseball league by handing league-leading Holland a 13-10 loss.

The Sox clouted 21 hits off two Holland pitchers, Willie Rink and Roger Eggers. The Dutchmen, got more mileage off their safeties, making 12 hits and eight walks good for 10 runs.

The dangerous Sox went out ahead early, but the Dutchmen overtaken them with four-run rallies in the fourth and fifth innings to build a 10-7 lead. The Sox narrowed the gap by one run in the sixth, went ahead with three more in the seventh, and added two insurance counters in the ninth.

Big hitting star for the winners was first baseman Ed Perry who banged out two singles, a double and two long home runs in six trips to the plate. Reuben Smartt had four hits, and Bud Cheyne and Richardson three each.

For Holland, Clare Van Liere showed the offensive way with a single, double and triple. Zeke Piersma and Rink each had a single and double.

Ageless Buzz Wheeler was the winning pitcher, taking over in the fifth and slamming the door on the Dutchmen. Satch Wheeler was the starter.

Rink was the losing pitcher, giving way to Eggers in the eighth.
The league picture now had Holland and South Haven tied for first with 7-4 won-lost marks, while the Sox and Muskegon are a step behind at 6-5.

Corp. Robert L. Cook

Holland Soldier
Wins Bronze Star
For Heroic Action

A Holland serviceman serving with the medical corps in Korea has been awarded the Bronze Star medal with letter "V" device for heroic achievement.

The serviceman honored is Corp. Robert L. Cook, 23. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Cook, 191 West 18th St.

The citation from headquarters of the 45th Infantry division outlines Corp. Cook's heroic action near Turnyongdong, Korea on June 13, while allied defenders of hill 191 were subjected to a fierce enemy artillery and mortar barrage.

The citation reads, "Fragments from one of the initial shell bursts struck Cook in the forehead, causing him painful injuries. The same explosion inflicted severe wounds on another comrade in a nearby position. Cook, disregarding the intensity of the exploding shells, and although bleeding, profusely, rushed to the other wounded man and administered first aid.

"Artillery and mortar fire continued to fall throughout the area, wounding another of the defenders in a nearby position. Pausing only long enough to wipe the blood from his eyes, Cook crawled to the wounded man's side and proceeded to treat and comfort him. For 48 hours, he continued to help the wounded, refusing to leave his own wounds treated until the enemy was repulsed.

"This heroic action, reflects high credit on Cook and the military service," the citation concludes.

Corp. Cook, who was a private first class at the time of this action, also received the Purple Heart for his injuries. He sent the citation to his parents in a letter received Aug. 9.

Cook has been in the service since January of 1951 and in Korea since December of 1951.

Holland Club Praised For Work With Youth

The Holland Fish and Game club was praised for its youth educational program by Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Grand Rapids, who made a brief talk at the club picnic Saturday afternoon at the club grounds between Holland and Zeeland.

Rep. Ford pointed out that the Holland club is nationally known for its work with youth, especially in its educational program. Ford also praised other activities of the local club in his brief non-political talk.

An estimated 500 persons attended the picnic, and by a voice vote expressed their favor for a picnic over the banquet held in the past. Club officials commented that the favorable reception probably will mean picnics instead of banquets in the future.

One feature of the program that headlined family basket picnics was a carp fishing contest. Although every means of enticing the wary carp known to angling science was used, not one carp was caught during the afternoon.

The rest of the contests went according to schedule, however, with 50 prizes awarded to winners of all ages.

President Hine Van Der Heuvel gave a short welcoming talk and outlined the club's policies with its accent on youth and co-operation with the conservation department. Clarence Jalving led community singing.

Consensus of those present seemed to be that everyone had a good time—especially the carp.

Allegan Schools Must File Bonds

Allegan (Special) — It has again been necessary to withhold state aid funds from some Allegan county school districts until they comply with certain regulations, according to G. Ray Sturgis, county superintendent of schools.

Sturgis said 10 districts have yet to file security bonds for their treasurers with his office. Aug. 1 was the deadline for filing and Sturgis urged those boards who have not complied to do so at once to avoid further delay in distribution of state funds.

Most rural schools in the county will open classes on the traditional "day after Labor Day," which falls on Sept. 2 this year, Sturgis said.

Allegan city schools will not open until the following week. Saugatuck will open two weeks later in hopes their new school will be ready by then.

Hamilton will open Sept. 2, continuing to use the old building until the new plant is ready.

Court House Remodeling Is Subject of Meeting

Allegan (Special) — Members of the Board of Supervisors will hold an adjourned meeting next Monday, Aug. 25, to study a report on plans for remodeling the court house.

According to County Clerk Esther Warner Hettiger, the building committee has estimates of costs and architect's drawings for removal of the court house tower, the peaked roof and the rampart wall. Such action was recommended after a survey disclosed that the upper portion of the building was unsafe.

The meeting was called by Chairman Albert Warnement, of Plainwell.

Bohn Reports Decline In First Half Profits

Detroit—Earnings before taxes for the first half of 1952 by Bohn Aluminum & Brass Corp. amounted to $889,416.51 on a sales volume in excess of $23.6 million, according to Simon D. Den Uyl, president.

Federal taxes are estimated at $456,996.59, resulting in net earnings of $432,419.92, equivalent to approximately 82 cents per share on the 582,627 shares.

Increases in labor and material cost under restrictive selling price controls were factors blamed by Den Uyl for the decline along with the long steel strike which curtailed releases from many Bohn customers.

Tricky M-89 Curve Gets 9th Driver

Allegan (Special) — The curve on M-89, two miles west of Allegan—changed three years ago by the highway department to make it "safer"—snared its ninth victim of the summer early Sunday morning.

Remo Mion, 23, Kalamazoo, was the ninth driver to go into the turn a bit too fast as he returned from Saugatuck.

Although his car was a total loss, he managed to walk away from the wreck and hit-hike a ride to Allegan Health center where he was released Sunday afternoon after treatment for cuts and bruises.

All nine of the unlucky drivers have approached from the west and all have ended up in about the same spot on the north side of the road. Eight of them have knocked over or loosened telephone poles and the telephone company is considering re-routing their line across country to avoid the road at this point.

Sheriff's officers say the construction of the tricky "S-curve" is at fault. The first curve is well banked and can be taken at high speed, but just as the driver feels he can rely on the incline to hold him to the road, it flattens out and reverses . . . and that's when the ambulance is called.

Allegan Council To Hear Protests To Widening Job

Costs Would Be Cut By Having Contractor In Nearby Vicinity

Allegan (Special)—City council members voted to initiate action themselves, without a petition from property owners, for widening of Western Ave. and addition of curb and gutter in a two-block section upon which Oakwood cemetery fronts.

The council passed the first resolution for this project, setting Sept. 3 as the date for public hearing. Estimates of costs will be available to that time.

Council initiated the action in an attempt to take advantage of the fact that contractors will be at work on a state project under which Stanley Hill and a portion of Western Ave. is being resurfaced. With a contractor already on the site, they reasoned, costs should be much lower for the additional work.

The council devoted nearly two hours to demonstrations of three bookkeeping machines, one of which will be purchased for the city office.

City Manager P. H. Beauvais reported on a recent meeting of the Allegan Water Power association which owns water power rights to the mill district dam. The city, Consumers Power Co., Allegan Lumber Co. and Ernest Dalman are shareholders in the association. Beauvais reported that the association's dam is in "bad shape" and that a special assessment was levied, totaling $2,200, for necessary repairs.

The assessment is prorated on the basis of "runs of stone"—an ancient expression which denotes the amount of water necessary to turn one flour mill stone. The city's share of the assessment, based on $15 per "run of stone" came to $90.

Council was informed by the state highway department that work on the M-40 relocation in the city is being delayed by trouble in obtaining right-of-way. However, the department indicated that condemnation proceedings were underway and the job probably will be let in September.

A request for closure of sections of two unused streets in the fairgrounds area to enable Clyde B. Miller to fence off a yard in which he stores oil well equipment was refused by council. He was granted permission to erect a fence with the city reserving the right to withdraw the privilege on 30-day notice.

Beauvais reported progress on plans for rehabilitating the Pine-grove Park water well. He said the state health department had approved a plan under which the present well house may be salvaged. This would put the pump on a level 2½ feet above the known high water mark. Beauvais said he recommended replacement of the present iron screen with a new bronze one and also suggested that it be included in the contract specifications that the contractor maintain a temporary pump on the line for emergency use while installation of the new pump is in progress.

Plans for drawing up a city dog ordinance were abandoned by council when research indicated that enforcement costs would be high and there is no method of obtaining dog license revenue for the city.

Allendale Hall Will Be Dedicated

Allendale (Special)—The new Allendale township hall will be dedicated at ceremonies in the auditorium of the new building Sept. 3, according to John H. Gemmen, township supervisor.

The new hall, located on M-50 at Allendale, is a modern, completely equipped building and the auditorium will seat 450 people. The building also contains a fully-equipped kitchen and board room. The fire-fighting equipment will be housed in the building and built in loudspeaker, will allow that room to be used in case of an overflow crowd.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr., will be speaker at the dedication ceremony and a program has been arranged that will include all township organizations.

Refreshments, furnished by Allendale businessmen, will be served after the program. The public is invited.

Detroit Family Hauled to Safety
Three members of a Detroit family took an unexpected dip when their outboard motor burst into flames as they were bringing their boat back into Holland harbor Tuesday afternoon after a fishing trip.

The 15-foot outboard boat operated by A. H. Hirschfeld of Detroit, now staying at Ottawa Beach, was coming into the harbor when the motor burst into flame. Hirschfeld threw his five-year-old son into the water, and then he and his wife both jumped in.

A sailboat nearby took the boy aboard and threw life preservers to Hirschfeld and his wife, who were picked up by an unidentified fisherman in an inboard. In the sailboat were Jane Boyd, Mary Jo Van Alsburg, Dan Hazebrook and Roland Vander Ven, all of Holland.

The Holland Coast Guard, who sighted the trouble from the lookout tower, sped to the scene, put out the fire and towed the boat to the station.

Object of Lake Search Turns Up Safely Here

A cabin cruiser from Chicago, which got 60 miles off its course and landed in Holland instead of at St. Joseph, was the cause of a widespread search of lower Lake Michigan Monday night and early Tuesday.

The 38-foot cruiser, with four persons reportedly aboard, put out from Burnham harbor in Chicago Monday and headed for St. Joseph, expecting to arrive at 7 p.m. When the boat didn't show up and the Chicago Coast Guard station was unable to contact it by telephone, the search was launched.

Meanwhile, the 38-foot boat pulled into Holland harbor unheralded at 8:15 p.m., spent the night here and left again for St. Joseph at 10:50 a.m. Tuesday—again without fanfare.

The boat is owned by Dr. Roland Krueger of Stretor, Ill. Passengers were believed to include Charles L. Layne, Ottawa, Ill., and Krueger's wife and eight-year-old son.

Coast Guard stations at Chicago, St. Joseph and South Haven sent out boats to look for the cruiser—the Monte Lee II—but the Holland station was not alerted and did not participate in the search. Besides the station boats, the searching party included the cutter Hollyhook and Coast Guard amphibious plane from Traverse City.

The Holland Station was not aware of the search until queried by South Haven in the morning, local officials said. Although the boat docked here Monday night, it was 11 a.m. Tuesday before Coast Guards in other southwestern Michigan cities were aware that it and the vessel's occupants had been located and were safe.

Home Runs Prove Deciding Factors In Softball Play

Home runs held the answer to the outcome of two games in the Holland City Softball league Monday night.

Veterans of Foreign Wars remained in the running for second half honors by turning back Main Auto 2-0, after Moose ripped Central Ave. 4-3.

The VFW victory over the first half champions kept the winners just a half-step behind league-leading Hulst Brothers. The two squads tangle Wednesday night with the second half title riding on the outcome.

The game was a pitchers battle between two veteran hurlers, Floyd Vanden Belt of VFW and Jansen Ebel of Main Auto. Vanden Belt allowed only two hits along the way, while Ebel was limiting the winners to four safeties. But two of the four hits were home runs, coming off the bats of Larry Tibbet and Dick Millman, to clinch the victory for VFW.

Pitcher Ed Stille won his own game in the first contest when he lined out a circuit blow in the last of the seventh to supply the margin of victory. Stille's homer was only the third hit allowed by losing Central hurler Matt Numikoski.

Central took a first inning lead when two runs scored on a walk, infield single by Lou Altena and a single by Don Ver Beek. They added another tally in the second on a single by Al Van Iwaarden, error and single by Skeet Bouman.

Moose scored twice in the second without a hit and added the tying marker in the fourth, again without a hit. That set the stage for Stille's game winning home run.

Central was limited to five safeties, including two by Lou Altena.

Fennville Grid Mentor Keeps Busy Figuring Ways to Improve Record

Fennville (Special)—Coach Sam Morehead of the Fennville high school football team is a busy man these days figuring out ways and means to try to improve on last year's record of five wins, one loss and one tie.

Returning linemen are Rich Bale, Dean Johnson, Clark Hutchinson, Charles Chambers and Punk Oxford. Backfield returnees will be Rod Galbreath and John Parks.

Coch Morehead also has several sophomores for whom he holds high hopes. These include Jim Bruce, Bill Root, Charles Krantmin, Junior Gunder and Howard Bryant.

Last year the Hawks defeated Hopkins, Martin, Richland, Allegan reserves and Byron Center. Only loss was a narrow 14-6 defeat to New Buffalo, and the tie came on a 6-6 count with Holland reserves.

Held in the pavilion on the Holland Furnace Co. picnic grounds, the event attracted an audience of 700, one of the largest of the annual fashion shows. A background of evergreens with MBYC lettered in red and white gladioli flanked the stage for the models. Fashions were by Wurzburgs.

An innovation this year was a male guest commentator, Phil Stewart of Chicago, who described the gowns and gave a running commentary. Soft background music was provided by Ralph Weigle's orchestra.

Theme of the show was carried out in each division of the presentation. The soft, deep elegance of the imported tweeds with the narrow silhouette, soft, pliable jersey, poodle cloth and cashmere showed that "fashion changes its texture."

The wandering waistline told that "fashion changes its lines" with the sometimes long, sometimes belted lines, the bolero, the middie look and the plaits and tucking.

Accessories were adaptable and versatile, changing basic gowns by the addition of jewelry, hats, bags, gloves and stoles. Stoles were used extensively on many of the gowns and coats. Green is the eye-stopping color.

Notable in the selections were the imports in clothes and accessories. Suits, afternoon frocks, college clothes and toddler dresses with the glamorous early evening and formal evening dresses were modeled by members of the yacht club and professional models.

Scene stealer was tiny Jodi Landwehr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Landwehr, who modeled a jersey kilt and blouse imported from England. She was accompanied by Miss Donna De Sain, shown in the photo, who modeled a jersey skirt and imported Swiss sweater.

"Miss Michigan," Miss Karol Ann Dragomir, of Benton Harbor, was presented to the audience during one of the brief intermissions. She sang a solo and spoke briefly. Also an entertaining interlude was a dance team of Al and Lorraine, who did the rumba and samba. Refreshments were served following the show.

Mrs. Edgar P. Landwehr was general chairman for the show. Assisting her were chairmen of committees: Mrs. George Copeland, models; Mrs. F. B. Knoop, tickets; Miss Eleanor Duffy, publicity; Mrs. Charles Stewart, co-ordinating; Mrs. William Telling, properties; Mrs. E. Holmen and Mrs. R. A. Boerama, refreshments. Each chairman had a committee working with her.

Estate of Quiet Allegan Farmer Exceeds $35,000

Allegan (Special) — Bachelor and "the simple life" apparently paid dividends for a family of five brothers, born in Pearl City, Ill., the fourth of whom died recently in a simple, one-room cabin in Monterey township. He was 78 years old.

Probate Judge Harold Weston, of Allegan, indicated that the estate of Henry Detrich, who died last Saturday night of injuries suffered in a fall at his home, would probably exceed $35,000.

Judge Weston said that an accurate inventory of Detrich's estate would not be made until an administrator is appointed by the state. His only heirs, a brother and a niece, are not Michigan residents.

Weston said records found in the cabin indicated bank deposits of more than $15,000. A substantial amount of Consumers Power stock and shares in a Farm Bureau insurance company were also found. Records also indicated that the self-styled "hermit" had made several loans in recent years.

Neighbors said that Detrich lived very simply, without any modern conveniences.

Rumors of foul play circulated freely following his death, since it was well known that Detrich was well to do. The fact that he kept a loaded revolver near his bed indicated that Detrich himself had fears of that nature. A thorough investigation by the sheriff's department left no doubt that his death was accidental, however.

Judge Weston said Henry was one of five brothers, only one of whom, John, of Woodworth, N. D., survives him. None of the five ever married, all lived in much the same manner as Henry, simply and with few luxuries. And all, according to Judge Weston, reportedly died "leaving substantial estates."

Henry Detrich had farmed land in Monterey township where he had made his home about 30 years. He retired from farming several years ago.

Stop Signs to Be Placed at Schools

Added precautions will be taken to guard the safety of children and students attending Holland schools, it was decided at a meeting of the school committee of the Board of Education which met Friday afternoon with Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff and City Manager H. C. Clintock.

Walkways will be painted across traveled streets at all schools, and school crossing stop signs will be set out in the center of the street during the hours children are going to and from the schools.

The traffic guard will continue at 24th and State Sts. and at 19th St. and River Ave. "No turn" signs will be placed on River Ave. at 15th and 16th St. intersections during the periods students go to and from schools.

School crossing stop signs will be placed at 11th St. and Pine Ave., 25th St. and Central Ave., 20th St. and Van Raalte Ave., 22nd St. and Central Ave., 20th St. and Ottawa Ave., and at a crossing at Lincoln school on Columbia Ave.

Co-operation will be sought from custodians of the various schools in setting out the signs. Members of the School committee of the Board of Education are Alvin J. Cook, Mrs. Kenneth De Pree and Wendell A. Miles.

Freddie Arrives At Home Safely

Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Crawford have received word of the safe arrival in Stuttgart, Germany, of Manfred (Freddie) Dankleif who made his home with the Crawfords during the year he spent at Holland high school under an international scholarship of the American Field service.

In his letter dated Aug. 5, Freddie was deeply appreciative of all that had been done for him during his year in Holland and particularly the fact that he had been accepted as part of the family, both in the Crawford home and at school.

He said he had enjoyed the bus trip for European students through the East before sailing aboard the S.S. Independence for Italy, and was particularly impressed with Washington, D.C., which he described as "a dream in white marble."

He had arrived with one bag and went home with three, well supplied with clothing which he said would outfit him for the next few years—a fact which delighted his mother. He wrote he expects to start his apprenticeship in a publishing house in October. His pay will be 60 marks a month, the equivalent of $15 in American money, although the German mark has considerably more purchasing power.

A slightly plaintive note crept into his letter when he mentioned casually that things in Germany appeared small and primitive, compared with the United States. "When I get time, the people in Holland will get letters," he concluded.

Tax Collections Rise

A last minute rush of residents paying summer taxes before a 2 per cent penalty was added Saturday, swelled total collections to more than 96 per cent of the total tax roll of $74,768, City Treasurer Alden Stoner said today. With slightly less than $29,135 remaining to be paid, Stoner reminded taxpayers they have until Sept. 10 to pay before an additional 4 per cent penalty is added.

The boys at the post office must have read our plea in last week's column for sharing laughable tidbits. On Friday as we made the rounds, one employee there said, "We've got a good story for 'Volleys' and even have a headline for it."

"Okay, shoot. What is it?" we asked.

"LADY LOSES HER PANTS IN POST OFFICE LOBBY"

"Oh come now, you know we don't run things like that," we said, a bit shocked.

"But this is true," the spokesman insisted. And by that time the rest of the staff had gathered round.

Here's the pitch.

A pair of blue jeans just purchased was left in the lobby. The fellows at the stamp window recall a woman had been at the table just before that.

"Oh well, it's fun to have fun. The pair of blue jeans is only one of many things left periodically in the post office, and the staff there maintains quite a lost and found department. Usually, sharp-eyed clerks notice people leaving without picking up their parcels and hail them. The lady who left the blue jeans there may call any time for them."

That trick headline must have been pretty good at that. The Ambusher tried it out on the Sentinel staff. Those hardened critics weren't too surprised, but one telephone employee installing some new equipment down under almost cracked his skull coming up quickly.

There was another story going around the post office that we haven't been able to check and we don't know if we have it straight. It was something about a person by the name of King in Holland sending a parcel to a person by the name of King who lives on King Ave. in Kingsville, Ohio. Good enough for Ripley?
