was 'made in Michigan.'

Tours of the modern one-story plant on 48th St. in Holland's industrial park were a highlight of the dedication, with guests viewing manufacturing operations through windows from air conditioned corridors. Essence of peppermint for gum and mints pervaded the plant, taking precedence over the wild cherry Life Savers which were on the hard candy lines.

Guests were privileged to see a Holland Beech-Nut color film giving emphasis to Holland's Windmill Island and its colorful Tulip Time festivities.

The Beech-Nut building is easily identifiable by a huge, revolving Life Saver sign on its roof, the same four-ton sign which in 1964-65 dominated the skyline of the New York World's Fair from atop the Life Savers observation tower. The plant, built on a 100-acre site, contains 235,000 square feet. Nearly 300 are employed.

The plant produces 34 flavors of Life Savers and Beech-Nut cough drops. Holland's current annual rate of production, several billions of Life-Saver tablets and sticks of gum, is about a third of the total Beech-Nut candy and gum output.

Visitors may view operations through picture windows without interfering with production or with maintenance of rigid sanitary controls. Plant tours are expected to become a major tourist attraction in Holland.

Booth B. Miller, vice president - administration, presided at the ceremonies which opened with a welcome by C. W. Stursberg Jr., Beech-Nut president. Mayor Nelson Bosman welcomed the plant to Holland, and Sherman A. Morse Jr., vice president and general manager, manufacturing and operations, replied.

The symbolic cutting of the ribbon was done by Earl E. Anderson, former vice president.

A flag of the state of Michigan was presented by William J. Cochran, financial representative of the Office of Economic Expansion, Department of Commerce, who called attention to the industrial revenue bond issue which financed the local plant as the first such bond issue to be marketed in Michigan after constitutionality of the enabling legislation had been confirmed. Since then, he said, $135 million in bonds have been issued for industrial development in Michigan.

Grand Haven Couple Dies In Crash

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa county's traffic fatalities for the year rose to 21 Monday night when a Grand Haven man and his wife were fatally injured in a two-car accident at Van Wagoner Rd. and 168th Ave. in Spring Lake township near the Ferrysburg city limit at 6:55 p.m.

Dead are Edward De Haan, 59, of 1225 Woodlawn, driver of one car, and his wife, Helen, 57.

Michigan State Police who are investigating said their car collided with one driven by Mrs. Suzanne Levings, 33, of 500 East Fulton St., Grand Rapids.

Police said Mrs. Levings was driving south on 168th Ave. when she allegedly went through a stop sign and her car was struck by the De Haan car going west on Van Wagoner Rd.

De Haan and his wife were both thrown from their vehicle, authorities said. They were taken by ambulance to the North Ottawa Community Hospital where they were pronounced dead on arrival according to Dr. P. J. Van Kolken of Grand Haven. Both had suffered head and internal injuries and skull fractures.

Mrs. Levings and her 10-year-old son John were also taken to the Grand Haven hospital and admitted. Mrs. Levings is being treated for a fractured ankle and her son is being treated for cuts.

Make Concealed Weapon Charge Against Youth

Holland police arrested 19-year-old Billy Cross of 5298 147th Ave. and charged him with carrying a concealed weapon — a .22 caliber pistol — following an early - morning incident Friday in which he allegedly fired a shot at a car driven by Ildar Wright of 59½ East Seventh St.

Cross waived examination at his arraignment in Holland Municipal Court this morning and was bound over to Ottawa Circuit Court for appearance at 11 a.m. Aug. 26. He was released on his own recognizance.

Wright told police he was driving east on Eighth St. in the vicinity of 261 East Eighth St. around 1 a.m. today when a car came alongside him and shouted something to the effect: "Do you know me? Stop or I'll shoot."

Wright said he heard a loud noise that sounded like a gunshot and he went directly to the police station. Police said they found a bullet hole below the trunk lid of his car and a spent bullet in the trunk.

Wright gave police a description and license number of the car and Cross was apprehended at 2:10 a.m. today.

Heavy Thunderstorms Sweep Lower Michigan

Heavy thunderstorms swept Lower Michigan Friday night, pelting some areas with downpours and small hail while high winds toppled trees and snapped utility lines.

Ottawa county was under a tornado watch for several hours. For a time the watch was to be in effect until 3 a.m. today, but the Grand Rapids weather bureau issued an all clear bulletin for most of southwestern Michigan at 11:30 p.m.

The storm hit Holland just before 8 p.m., dumping ½ inch of rain, accompanied by high winds. Many trees and branches were down cutting power in many areas but mainly in the section between Washington and Ottawa Aves., running from 17th and 22nd Sts. Waukazoo and Ottawa Beach areas also were hit as well as several others where trees abound.

Through rerouting, most power was restored within 2½ hours. Four Board of Public Works crews were out this morning and all repair work was completed Saturday. Consumers Power crews worked all night and continued this morning. Bell Telephone crews also were busy restoring service. Power was also off in the Overisel area.

At Holland State Park, no trees were down but 15 tents were toppled and about six awnings on trailers collapsed.

At 8:20 p.m., Holland Coast Guardsmen went to the rescue of a 36-foot cabin cruiser which called for assistance after becoming lost en route from Newport, Mich., to Benton Harbor. Guardsmen located the cruiser called the "B. S. II" a mile north of the Holland channel and escorted the vessel to Jesiek's boat yard. Aboard were the owner, his wife and child. There was no apparent damage to the cruiser.

Coast Guardsmen said winds hit 35 to 40 miles an hour putting six-foot swells on Lake Michigan and eight to 10 feet swells at the channel entrance. Ottawa County Civil Defense Director Glenn Timmer and his volunteers were on duty throughout the tornado watch period, starting originally for Ottawa, Kent, Montcalm, Ionia, Allegan, Barry, Van Buren, Kalamazoo and Calhoun counties, with thundershowers predicted southwest to north of Chicago. Later the area was expanded to include northern Illinois and Indiana.

A number of funnel clouds were reported in some areas in southwestern Michigan but none locally, although dark forbidding clouds covered Ottawa county.

City Income Tax Will Be Studied

A city income tax study for Holland is imminent.

City Council Wednesday night adopted a motion made by Councilman Robert Dykstra authorizing the mayor to appoint a citizens study committee to develop "the beginnings of tax relief for property owners by investigating the feasibility of a city income tax for Holland and study all aspects of the present property tax as to being fair and equitable."

Dykstra's motion also stated that recommendations should be forwarded to Council and that committee members should represent a cross section of citizens including business, industry, labor, merchants and senior citizens with the city manager as an ex-officio member.

The motion also calls for a finalized report before Oct. 1, 1969.

In introducing the subject, Dykstra said the time has come that something be done to take some pressure off property taxes which have become a real burden to many people in the city.

He quoted from a December 1967 booklet "City Income Taxes" that 170 municipalities impose income taxes, 20 of them large cities, and that city income tax is no longer a mere novelty but an increasingly important revenue instrument.

He added that Battle Creek last year adopted a city income tax and quoted in a letter from City Manager James G. Willis: "The tax reform package was designed to offer relief to the property owners, while taxing those who had the ability to pay based upon their current earning power. It is my personal opinion that the income tax is the best form of local taxation for governmental units; it has greater potential and can act as a hedge against inflation."

Dykstra also said Saginaw which adopted an income tax in 1965 has the lowest property tax rates of the 20 largest cities in Michigan.

Saugatuck Ends Big Celebration

SAUGATUCK — The biggest crowds in the 100-year-old history of the Village of Saugatuck attended the two parades on Saturday and other Centennial Week events.

At 10:30 a.m. Saturday costumed children and their pets, mostly dogs and several cats, a lamb and a raccoon, walked and rode in various vehicles including some antique buggies. The 4 p.m. parade was delayed slightly but when it did come down Butler St., it was worth the wait. The Saugatuck High School Band led the units.

In one of the oldest carriages available rode Mayor and Mrs. Lynn McCray and Mr. and Mrs. Kamish from Saugatuck, Conn., special Centennial guests.

Several floats were included with Miss Fennville in one of them. Miss Saugatuck, Pamela Buscher, and her court rode in convertibles. Antique cars with their occupants dressed in costume were also featured. Among the paraders were Ox-Bow Summer School of Painting and Red Barn Theatre personnel.

One of the popular units in the parade was the one with Mrs. Saugatuck 1968. Also applauded was the tribe of Chippewa Indians who danced along the parade route.

Concluding events were the Variety Show and Indian Pow Wow in Cook Park and the Square Dance on the main street on Saturday night. An old fashioned lawn social was held Sunday afternoon at All Saints' Church free to the public.

Among the week's popular attractions were the two sidewalk teas held by the Woman's Club, the open house at the Keewatin, the antique shops and displays of old costumes, pictures and books in the shops, the art exhibits at the Village Hall and the costumed villagers.

Investigate Breakin At Elhart Pontiac

Holland police are investigating the breakin at Elhart Pontiac Inc., 150 East Eighth St., which occurred sometime between 6 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. today.

Police said the thieves broke into the pop machine and stole between $15-18 in change. They also got a small amount of pennies from a cash drawer.

Liquor Issue Is Defeated In Allegan

ALLEGAN — With five members absent, Allegan county's Board of Supervisors Tuesday defeated a proposal to permit county restaurant, hotel and club liquor licenses to dispense alcoholic beverages on Sunday.

The measure, reported favorably by the Legislative Committee, was turned down by a tie vote, 17 to 17.

The Sunday liquor sale question came before the board as a result of a new state law which allows local legislative bodies to pass on the matter. Under the law, if the county board fails to act favorably on the proposal within 60 days of the July 3 effective date, a county-wide referendum may be held.

The board also had another indication that the problem of providing ambulance service for county residents is a continuing one. Robert Hiscock, co-owner of the Allegan Ambulance Service, told board members that present revenue is insufficient to continue round-the-clock service for the county. He urged the board to approve of a flat $1,000 per month county payment, in lieu of the present fee system.

Supervisors Russell Sill and Carl Strand, members of the board's special ambulance service committee, urged favorable consideration of Hiscock's request but when it came to a vote before the full board, it was turned down 17-15. Both Strand and Sill asked to be relieved from their assignment to the ambulance committee, but their request was tabled until the September meeting, at which time the board indicated it would reconsider Hiscock's request if it was presented in written form.

The board did approve the transfer of $19,000 from the general fund to the park fund.

The resignation of Richard C. Higgs as a member of the Allegan County Planning Board was accepted. Higgs is leaving Allegan to become principal of the Portage High School.

Tax Collections Hit 91 Per Cent

Thursday, the last day for paying city taxes without penalty, proved to be the heaviest tax payment day this year.

A total of $588,772.04 was taken in at the city treasurer's office, boosting total collections to $3,265,404.66.

With the addition of $108,806.16 in exemptions for veterans and senior citizens paid by government sources, the tax total reaches $3,374,210.82 or 91.36 per cent of the total tax levy of $3,693,060.45.

Unpaid taxes carry a 2 per cent penalty until Sept. 10 when the penalty becomes 6 per cent.

Mercury Nears 90

Postpone Examinations

The preliminary examination of six men arrested by Holland police and Federal narcotics agents in Holland on Aug. 3 has been postponed until Sept. 3, it was announced today by Holland Municipal Judge John Galien. The examination was postponed because state crime lab officials could not attend today, Galien said.

Dekker Reveals Darrow Career To Rotary Club

Highlights of the legal career of Clarence Darrow were reviewed for Holland Rotary Club members Thursday at their regular weekly meeting at Macatawa Bay Yacht Club.

Randall Dekker, Zeeland attorney and a long-time student of Darrow's life, cited the "monkey" trial in Dayton, Tenn., as the famous lawyer's best-known case.

When William Jennings Bryan volunteered to aid the State of Tennessee in prosecuting a teacher who had taught evolution in his classroom, Darrow volunteered as defense counsel.

Actually the two attorneys were old friends, Dekker said. Darrow had even worked on one of Bryan's unsuccessful campaigns for the presidency. Darrow was identified with many other major court trials, including the Loeb and Leopold case in which the two defendants escaped the death penalty, and the defense of Eugene V. Debs, the early labor leader charged with conspiracy in the Pullman strike. Darrow also served as corporation counsel for Chicago early in his career.

Dekker said Darrow believed any man's course of life is affected by only three factors: heredity, environment and chance. This belief made the attorney a champion of the underdog, according to Dekker, and it explains why he took so many cases involving the poor and needy in his private law practice in Chicago and handled two-thirds of them on a no-fee basis.

Dekker is trust officer of the First Michigan Bank and Trust Company of Zeeland. He was introduced by James Hoffman. Don Crawford presided in the absence of Cornelius Steketee, president.

Renovation Scheduled At Griswold Auditorium

Allegan Plans for an extensive renovation of Griswold Auditorium were announced this week at the regular meeting of the Allegan City Council.

The planned repairs, which were first aired at the annual joint meeting of the council and Griswold board of trustees, held on July 29, include extensive repairs to both exterior and interior of the building and could cost as high as $20,000.

It was also revealed at the meeting that fees charged for usage of the auditorium's facilities are to be approximately doubled to help support the growing operational costs.

Needs for the building cited by the trustees include repairs to paint and plaster and new drapes for the lounge, repairs and remodeling to both men's and women's rest rooms, exhaust fan for gymnasium, and 200-250 new chairs.

The board also noted a need for extensive repairs to masonry on the chimney and east side of the building, where loose mortar has allowed considerable rain damage to the building.

Councilmen authorized City Manager Kenneth Bollinger to advertise for bids for masonry repair and silicone waterproofing for the entire building.

Discussing the possibility of requesting aid from area service organizations to help underwrite costs for the project, councilmen are considering stretching the renovation project over several years.

Mayor James Rolfe was appointed by the council as City Supervisor to fill the remaining term of Allegan Principal Richard Higgs, who is resigning.

Aug. 15. Higgs is leaving Allegan to take over the job of principal of Portage Northern High School.

Another vacancy was announced Monday night by Councilman Donald Forster who will be resigning his post on Aug. 26. Forster is moving to a new residence outside of the city.

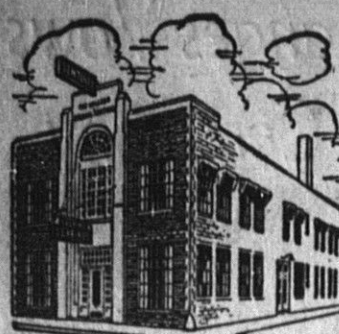

In further business, Council opened two additional bids for shrubbery to be planted in the municipal parking lot. Final action was delayed, however, until specifications for smaller trees are received from Armintrout Evergreen Nurseries, one of the three bidders on the project.

WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON?

As the Republican national convention got under way, a reporter back in New York dredged up a little dope about the plans of political button manufacturers. It turned out, as one might expect, that they were prepared — or thought they were — for just about any turn of events.

Said a spokesman for one large firm: "We sent some Rockefeller - Reagan buttons down to Miami Beach just in case." He also disclosed that "we've got the artwork and machines set up for Nixon-Lindsey, Nixon - Percy and Rocky-Percy buttons," and added: "Right now I'm glued to the radio."

Well, if he stayed glued there he learned on Aug. 8 that not Percy, not Lindsay, not Rockefeller, not Romney, not Reagan, but a man whose name had scarcely figured in advance speculation by pundits and self-styled inside dopesters — Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland — would be number two on the GOP ticket. Which, we have a hunch, touched off some hasty work at the button factory. As the man quoted above further noted, "If anything happens, people want to be ready with a button." And sometimes it gets a little tricky being there with the right one.

Ezra's Program of Reform
Ezra 7:6; 9:10-15; 10:10-12
By C. P. Dame

Ezra is not one of the best known men of the Bible but every Bible reader should know about this able man and learn something from him. In this day of compromising it is refreshing to read about a man who had some solid convictions and carried them out.

I. Some people are efficient. Ezra belonged to that class. He was a priest, born in Babylon, a child of the captivity, an expert in the law of Moses, a scribe, a man who was in good standing with the Persian king Artaxerxes, who "granted him all his request." Ezra wanted to go to Jerusalem — this was in 458 B. C. — and so the king gave him permission and all Jews who wanted to go to do so. Ezra gathered a group of about 1,600 men and they set out to make the trip of more than 300 miles. The group made a short stay at the river Ahava (8:21) where Ezra proclaimed a fast and the people humbled themselves before God. These people left Babylon, which then was the center of science and literary culture, to go to Jerusalem which then was a backward place.

Usually a movement is led by one person. Ezra 7:10 says, "For Ezra had set his heart to study the law of the Lord, and to do it, and to teach His statutes and ordinances in Israel." Note his threefold aim. First, he wanted to know the truth which involved searching for it; then he put it into practice; and lastly to teach it. Our nation needs men and women who will teach God's law to lawless communities.

II. It is good to be shocked now and then. Ezra was in Jerusalem. Why? So many Jewish men had married heathen wives—even some of the religious leaders. This was contrary to God's law. Ezra gave expression to his deep grief. He prayed, confessing, the sin of the nation, their iniquities and guilt. The priest identified himself with the nation, saying, "for we have forsaken Thy commandments." By their intermarriages the men had weakened the true religion and promoted idolatry and heathenish ways.

III. A clear-cut stand may be costly. The weeping and praying of Ezra touched the people deeply. One layman made the resolution to put away all the heathen wives and children. This proposal was carried out one day. It was a sad day when this mass divorce took place.

We are living in an easy-going age. The cult of softness is popular. Firmness, discipline, punishment, these things are not popular today. The lax attitude which is common in the world is also common in the church. Jesus said some stern things. "If thy right eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee; for it is profitable for thee that one of thy members perish, and not thy whole body be cast into hell" (Matt. 5:29-30). Mixed marriages are forbidden in the New Testament—the marriage of a believer with an unbeliever and yet they are performed —see II Cor. 6:14-15.

HOLLAND CHANNEL LIGHTHOUSE—Frank Welch snapped this picture of the all wood Holland channel lighthouse near the end of the south pier about 1898. Visible on the upper platform is lighthouse keeper Melgert Van Regenmorter, who, Welch claims, lived and raised a family in the lighthouse keepers house next to the coast guard station located at that time on the beach near the pier. Nightly, Welch recalls, Van Regenmorter lit the oil lamp for the beacon light and also a lantern, which, using an endless rope and pulley system, he moved to the top of a pole at the end of the pier some 50 feet beyond the lighthouse where it served as a navigational aid to incoming ships. Welch remembers that Van Regenmorter slept in the lighthouse during storms to maintain the lights and during foggy weather blew at intervals a "fish horn" about 18 inches long which Welch claims was audible for just a short distance.

CHICAGO BOUND SIDEWHEELER—Clearing the end of the Holland channel breakwater sometime in the summer of 1898 was the Graham and Morton Line's sidewheeler Holland, which made regular runs from Holland to Chicago and, Welch believes, charged $1 for a one-way ticket. A walking beam engine powered the Holland, the beam being visible in this picture just aft of the starboard stack. Barely visible on the sidewheel housing is the name Holland. The wooden ship, which carried passengers and freight, squeaked a lot, said Welch who rode it to Chicago and back once. He took this picture from the end of the southbreakwater.

BECALMED CARGO SCHOONER—Becalmed in the Holland channel during the summer of 1898 was this incoming cargo schooner with a (barely visible) load of pine planks on its deck. Assisting the schooner on into Lake Macatawa is an unidentified steamship. Welch, who took this picture from the south side of the channel, recalls that most of the ships bringing lumber into Holland came down Lake Michigan from the north. He said that it was not unusual to see the big schooners becalmed in the channel with their cargoes of lumber, shingles, produce or animals on their way to the Holland markets.

INCOMING STEAMER—Entering Holland channel with passengers and freight from Chicago in 1898 was the Holland-Chicago Line's steamship City of Holland. It ran regularly from Holland to Chicago with occasional excursions to Benton Harbor recalls Frank Welch who took this picture of the wooden hulled ship from the Holland channel south breakwater. The Holland-Chicago Line also operated the steamship Soo City which made the same run, said Welch, also carrying passengers and cargo.

FAMILIAR SIGHT IN 1898—Cargo schooners sailed regularly into Lake Macatawa during the summer of 1898 and this one, docked alongside the north side of the Holland channel with its rubbing bars lowered to prevent the hull scuffing the sides of the channel, was typical claims Frank Welch who took this picture at age 13. Welch could not identify the ship pictured but claims that such ships with overall lengths of more than 100 feet were not unusual.

STEAMING UP HOLLAND CHANNEL—Frank Welch took this picture of the ferry Lizzie Walsh as it steamed up Holland channel toward its landing on the north side of Lake Macatawa around the turn of the century. Another ferry, the Harvey Watson, also plied the Holland area waters and was similar to the Lizzie Walsh in appearance except that it had no open deck at the stern. Welch remembers that some of the points served by the two boats around the Holland area were Waukazoo, Jenison Park and Ottawa Beach.

Lifelong Summer Resident Recalls 1898 Lake Scenes

Frank J. Welch, born in Bloomington, Ill. in 1885, spent his first summer in Holland in 1896.

He came with his parents who farmed near Bloomington and they stayed in a rented cottage on the Lake Michigan beach four cottages south of the south breakwater.

The family continued to come to Holland for the summer months in the years following and now, 72 years later, Welch, retired for the past 16 years from grain and livestock farming near Lafayette, Ind., still returns here almost every year to spend the warm weather for a short time and catch a string of nice sized perch. He said the water was clear enough in many places to see the fish swimming around the bait.

Fishing was one of his favorite pastimes as a youth and he used to fish in the west end of Lake Macatawa where marina facilities have replaced lily pads and the wreck of a burned schooner.

He remembers seeing some of the older residents of Holland walking in the downtown area before the turn of the century in wooden shoes and recalls that some of the men had their ears pierced and wore gold rings in them.

Frank J. Welch

season at his cottage home at 2250 Southshore Dr. he purchased 30 years ago. He returns to Indiana for harvest time.

His wife, who died five years ago, spent many summers with Welch at their Holland summer home.

High on a hill overlooking Lake Macatawa he can sit on his screened in front porch and recall the days before the turn of the century when large schooners and wooden hulled steamships plied the lake's waters carrying cargoes of lumber, shingles, produce and livestock.

Welch took many pictures in and around Holland in the late 1890s of buildings and boats long since burned, torn down or replaced. The pictures accompanying this article were reproduced by The Sentinel staff from three and one-quarter inch square glass negatives Welch found stored in a barn at his Indiana farm.

Many pictures in his scrapbook testify to his statement that it used to be a simple matter to go out on Lake Macatawa

Holland Day Care Teacher Completes Training Course

Mrs. Nery Luria, a teacher with the Holland Day Care Center from its inception in February 1966, recently completed a six weeks training course for Head Start teachers and aides at Michigan State University. Personnel from day care centers in Michigan, Ohio and Indiana attended the session designed to prepare teachers to cope with the particular needs of disadvantaged children and their families. The course was planned and administered by Mrs. Betty Garlic, director of home management and child development at Michigan State University.

By means of lectures, films, and extensive reading and research projects on child growth and development the group studied such subjects as physical and motor development in preschool years, intellectual development, social development, and emotional development, keeping the special needs of disadvantaged pre-school children in mind. Trainees had the opportunity alternately of observing children in the Spartan Nursery School, a Michigan State University laboratory school, through one-way windows, and participating in the teaching process being carried out there.

Most beneficial was an analysis of the human qualities, character and knowledge which are essential in a good teacher, of Head Start children.

Mrs. Luria learned it is necessary to have warmth, to be sensitive, to have a relaxed and friendly manner, a sense of humor and ready smile, to think quickly and be flexible, and to be physically strong since peace and quiet can not be expected where there is a group of healthy children learning and investigating everything around them.

Since the Head Start program is designed to break the cycle of poverty by working with the entire family, of great interest to Mrs. Luria were the discussions on how the day care center can supplement, strengthen and support family life. The goals to be worked for are to help parents get an educational perspective, to teach parents how to find out about community resources and use them well, to exchange ideas with groups of other parents about child behavior and adult guidance, to work closely with the parents, improve family situations, to involve them in the program for their own and their children's benefit, to teach them to understand the growth of their children, and show them that working parents and teachers with a common goal — the welfare of the child — can realize through this program the aspirations for their children.

They can gain confidence and enjoyment in the role of parents and a great belief in themselves and their worth as individuals.

Mrs. Luria came to the United States with her husband, Jules, and their two daughters, Tessie and Elsie, in November 1961 through the sponsorship of the Alger Park Christian Reformed Church in Grand Rapids.

In Cuba she was graduated from the University of Havana with a B.A. degree in accounting and went on to receive her M.A. in 1949. She worked as a CPA in the Havana government offices. The family now lives at 10263 West Main St. in Zeeland.

Ottawa County 4-H News

By Willis S. Boss
Extension 4-H Youth Agent.

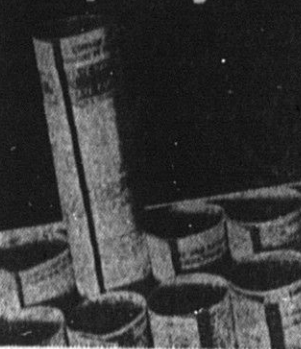

The annual sale of the Ottawa County 4-H beef and market sheep will be held Friday at the Hudsonville fairgrounds starting at 7 p.m. Don Zandbergen will auction off the grand champion and reserve champion and other head. 4-H members have worked long and hard to get these animals in top condition and are offering top quality meat for public auction. Anyone is welcome to bid-on and purchase these animals.

The conclusion of the Hudsonville Fair will climax the summer session for 4-H members and also climax the year of 1968 as far as the summer 4-H program is concerned. It has been a very busy year and the splendid cooperation which we have received from leaders, members and parents should not go without a "thank you." Many people have put forth a lot of effort and time to make it possible for the boys and girls to have these educational experiences. We anticipate that the year 1969 will bring as much or more 4-H programming to more people.

Ottawa County has several delegates attending State Show in East Lansing this week. There will be eight girls from Ottawa County taking part in style revues. Nine members will be competing in the horse division and one in the pony division. Also representing Ottawa County will be a dairy judging team. Members of this team are Bill Gavin of Marne, Dan Roberts of Dorr, and Judd Heft and Dave Miller of Conklin. They qualified by attending several dairy judging contests under the direction of our summer agent, Warren Bosworth. They were selected at a dairy tour held on Tuesday, Aug. 13.

Another 4-H'er attending State Show is Richard Wagner. He was selected to be interviewed in the handicraft program and will also be a helper at State Show. Carolyn Doornbos of Spring Lake and Carol Nauta of Conklin were selected as "big sisters," having been delegates before and are helping in the style revues this week at State Show. Dave Miller, who is on the dairy judging team, has also been selected to be interviewed in connection with the Milk Marketing Tour held last spring in Detroit. Many 4-H leaders and parents have gone to East Lansing this week to view the exhibits in the various projects. State 4-H Show is a wonderful experience for the delegates as well as the spectators. It concludes at noon on Friday, Aug. 23.

Kathy Dyas Wins Plaudits In Her First Leading Role

After 12 seasons of bit parts and offstage assignments from usher to costume designer, Kathy Dyas took the center spotlight at the opening of "The Impossible Years" Monday night at the Red Barn Theatre at Saugatuck, starring as the teenager in the rollicking farce about teenagers and parents.

The pretty daughter of Red Barn Producer-Director James Dyas and leading lady Dorothy Lee Tompkins, 18-year-old Kathy in her first starring assignment showed all the promise of a rising starlet in the role of a turned-on teenager. And when her brother, Jim-Billy Dyas, delivered red roses to her at the final curtain call, her moment was complete.

Of course, Kathy received excellent support from Bruce Hall and Dorothy Lee Tompkins as the harassed parents. Since father was an eminent psychiatrist writing a book about coping with the younger generation, Hall's role gave the play dimensions in depth which provoked serious thinking amid the laughs which rolled about one a minute.

And Miss Tompkins, playing stage mother to her own daughter, rounded out the trio with professional calm — sometimes not so calm.

Well paced and laced with laughs, the production jumped with action, mainly from the younger element which gave Dyas' apprentices an opportu-ity to transfer pool-side action into the living room.

And through all the trials and tribulations emerged the great truth that teenagers despite their noisy, unconventional ways mask greater responsibility than is apparent to harassed parents.

Don Bonevich appeared in one scene as the family doctor, John Frey as the book collaborator, Nancy Norling as the jogging athletic instructor (very funny), and Mason Palmer as the deep-voiced beatnik artist. Dustin Spear played kid sister to Miss Dyas, displaying excellent timing for witty lines.

Playing assorted teenagers were Robert Cobb, Sue Anderson, Jim Shaw, Bred Gibson, Douglas MacDonald, William Camp and Jeff Mapps.

The play continues through Saturday with curtain time at 8:30 p.m. and a Wednesday matinee at 2:30 p.m.

Next week's final play will be "Riverwind," a musical cast in a tourist colony blessed with the harmony of nature which comes from spending lazy afternoons on the banks of a river — a nice place with crickets and bluegrass and a happy ending. Norma Brink of Grand Rapids will join Red Barn regulars Joan Serpi, William Toet and Don Bonevich. "Riverwind" replaces the scheduled "Star Spangled Girl" which has not been released this season.

Boaters Must Exercise Boating Responsibility

Everyone is always talking about boating. Boating is fun, but there are also a few unpleasant tasks one must undertake to insure safety not only for the boat but of the persons involved in family boating. People must have boating responsibility.

Here are a few hardcore but rather simple boating hints. Did you ever wonder why your boat might porpoise. When a boat porpoises its usually the result of poor trim. To cure this maladjustment move the extra gear forward to add weight to the bow of the boat, boating authorities report.

If this doesn't help correct the situation, check the vertical angle of the lower unit and move it closer to the transom. But if this still reaps no good results, then bring the boat ashore and bring it to qualified authorities for a complete checkup.

The United States Boating Association has come up with a few do's and don'ts of boating. Every Michigan boater should be especially aware of these criteria since the Coast Guard and the Sheriff Patrol are ticketing people for not heeding these specific rules.

Do not tie up to buoys or channel markers and don't appropriate pier or dock by tying up and leaving your boat thus depriving others of the only space available.

A good boater doesn't anchor so close to another boat that fouling occurs. Anchoring in channels and fairways interferes with water traffic through the channel. One of the biggest sins that a boater can commit is to desecrate the waterways by dumping refuse overboard to collect in harbors or on the shoreline and to cause the ill-fated pollution problem.

A good boater familiarizes himself with the local buoyage system. Always obtain charts governing one's own waters for study and understanding.

Courtesy and the consideration of others always should be the main concern of a Michigan boater who through the annals of history has always rendered help and privacy when called upon to do so.

De Neff Suffers Injury to Foot

James De Neff, son of Mr. and Mrs. William De Neff, 327 West 18th St., is home after injuring his right foot while playing with the El Paso Sun Kings baseball team.

De Neff, who was the number one draft choice of the California Angels in 1966, was playing for the Angels double A farm club when he tore the ligaments on both sides of his ankle and on the top of his right foot.

The injury occurred on July 26, in the first game of a double-header in San Antonio, Tex. De Neff was in the process of stealing second base when the ball was hit to the second baseman and in an attempt to duck out of the way of the second baseman's throw to first, his spikes stuck in the dirt and he twisted his ankle.

The injury was a great disappointment to De Neff, who was completing his first full season as a professional. "What hurt worse was the fact that the Angels regular third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez suffered an appendicitis attack last week and the other third baseman was injured when hit by a pitch," De Neff said. "This would have allowed me to join the Angels and play third base the rest of the season."

Doctors said that it would be at least six weeks before the leg is normal again. De Neff was in a cast for a little over a week and he has been on crutches over two weeks.

With over two-thirds of the season completed, De Neff had completed quite a year. He was second in the league in home runs with 19 and he led the league with 11 stolen bases, a record which still stands over two weeks after he was injured. Twice he stole home. In 96 games, De Neff was batting .250 with 81 hits out of 324 times at bat. He had 44 games to go. The hits were comprised of 47 singles, 13 doubles, two triples and the 19 home runs.

He was second on the team with 53 runs batted in and scored 65 runs himself. He had walked 47 times and was hit by seven pitches. He led the league in getting on base ten times by hitting the catcher's glove.

De Neff was scheduled to join the Angels on Sept. 1 for the remainder of the season until the other two third basemen were injured. However, with the extent of his injury he will be lost for the remainder of the season.

He hopes if he has a good spring training next year that he will be able to go up to Angels during the season.

De Neff plans to return to the University of Michigan later this week where he is completing work on his undergraduate degree. He hopes to finish up in December with a degree in philosophy. De Neff also plans to work towards his masters degree in future off seasons.

The highlight of this year's season, De Neff said, was hitting his first grand slam home run in pro ball. It came in the first inning of a game against San Antonio, the same club he injured his foot against.

De Neff is a 1964 graduate of Holland High School where he received eight varsity letters in football, baseball and basketball. He then attended Indiana University where he played both football and baseball in his freshman year. He was injured while playing football and had to give it up.

He was drafted by the Angels after the second year of baseball at Indiana. During that year he was named to the Sporting News All-American first team, which is picked by the major league scouts, and to the NCAA All-American second team.

This year, De Neff was named to the Texas League All Star team as the first team's third baseman. This team is picked by the league's coaches. The team played the Houston Astros but De Neff was unable to play because of his injury.

The six foot two inch, 205 pound De Neff had more times at bat this year than in his first two professional seasons combined. He had started in every game up to the time he was hurt. He was also on the Angels 40 man roster all year, protecting him against being picked up by another major league team.

Ottawa county sheriff's deputies are investigating a malicious destruction of property complaint made Thursday by John Zomermaand, janitor at Calvin Christian Reformed Church at 386 Laekwood Blvd.

Museum Seeks Historic Papers, Photographs

The Netherlands Museum is appealing to local citizens for old historical documents, old photographs and old books associated with early Holland.

The appeal comes after the museum's archives have been catalogued in a summer-long assignment by Dr. Elton Bruins of Hope College and Dr. Gerrit ten Zythoff of Ohio State University.

The board of directors of the Netherlands Museum has named Clarence Jalving of Holland as contact man for receiving historical materials for the museum.

Jalving, who has retired after years in banking, has long been active in the work of the Netherlands Museum. He has translated three volumes of "Holland and the Dutch Settlements in America" by the late P. J. Risseuw of The Hague, and then abridged the three volumes into a suitable manuscript for a single volume. Jalving's translation was later retranslated into Dutch and published in The Netherlands.

Risseuw, a Dutch banker with history as an avocation, had written the books a number of years ago and the Jalving visited the Risseuws at their home in The Hague about 10 years ago.

The museum is anxious to include in its collections not only the old papers, pictures and books, but the identification of persons in the pictures and if possible the associations of the event.

For instance, an old document such as a receipted bill should be accompanied by such additional information as today's descendants of the pioneer figure named in the order.

An old picture of great-grandfather on the scene of an early mill should be accompanied by what information on the old mill is available. This can be correlated with other information already documented in the museum archives in City Hall.

The museum has a good collection of old Dutch Bibles and is interested in other Bibles only if they can augment the present collection or if they are associated with early families that would lend historical significance.

The Netherlands Museum was founded in 1937 on the occasion of the 90th anniversary of the founding of the Holland colony. In 1939, the city of Holland made available the old hospital property at the corner of 12th St. and Central Ave. as a home for the new museum.

Since the founding of the museum, many people have contributed personal papers of Dutch immigrants, making the archives of the museum a rich collection of materials relating to the Dutch migration to Western Michigan. A major acquisition in size and quality were the papers of Gerrit Van Schelven whose avid interest in history provides a rich collection of historical documents.

Serving on the Netherlands Museum board of trustees are Willard C. Wichers, president; John F. Donnelly, vice president; mayor Nelson Bosman, Judge John Galien, Marvin Lindeman, Dr. Calvin A. Vander Werf, and George Cook, secretary-treasurer.

Persons having historical papers or materials to donate to the museum may call Jalving or the museum office in City Hall.
