FIND HOLLAND CAR NEAR SAUGATUCK

CHIEF VAN RY AND OFFICER STEKETEE MAKE HUNT FOR STOLEN CAR

Chief Van Ry and Officer Steketee followed a car thief nearly to Saugatuck, when a phone call came in from Van's Windmill gas station on M-14, giving the information that the car belonging to Peter Jacobusse had been stolen.

Jacobusse stated that a young chap well dressed came to the oil station on the Allegan county line, and said he wanted to buy a Ford coupe, and asked the oil man if he could direct him to someone who had a secondhand one to sell.

Jacobusse stated he was willing to sell his at a price, and the young man said, "let me test it out for a few miles."

The request was readily complied with, but when Jacobusse saw the man disappearing down the Saugatuck road, he suspected something was wrong and immediately called up Chief of Police Van Ry.

This is out of the jurisdiction of the local police, but the call seemed so urgent that Mr. Van Ry immediately complied with the aid of Mr. Steketee.

They found the car three miles on this side of Saugatuck parked at the roadside, but no one was present.

The car was returned to the owner slightly damaged.

GREEN CORN FEAR RESULTING FROM POISON STORIES

STATE COLLEGE PROFESSOR DISCREDITS THEORY OF UNSAFENESS OF INFECTED CORN

A belief that all green corn from worm infested localities is unsafe as an item of human diet is discredited by Prof. R. H. Pettit, head of the Michigan State College department of entomology, who says that practically all cooked green corn, not disfigured by worms is safe for consumption.

The question was raised when a Lansing restaurant removed sweet corn from its menu.

"The belief concerning 'poisonous' sweet corn, according to Professor Pettit is based upon warnings that were sent a year or two ago cautioning farmers against feeding green corn to their stock when it was infested with the corn ear worm."

"Green corn often harbors a fungus in the workings of corn ear worms and that when fed to horses or pigs or in fact any other live stock, it may poison them," he said.

"I find that a very large number of people are abstaining from our national food because of a fear that there is something wrong with it this year—something that hitherto has not existed," said Professor Pettit.

Quarantine of the areas against the European corn borer has increased prejudice against the green corn in some sections of the state.

NEW HIGHWAY BETWEEN ZEELAND-HOLLAND POSSIBLE

AUSTIN HARRINGTON AND OTHER COMMISSIONERS TO TAKE THIS UP WITH STATE DEPARTMENT

It is more than likely that there will be a new highway between Zeeland and Holland, with work beginning some time next year.

At a meeting held at Grand Haven, the Ottawa county road commissioners took this matter up very seriously and the new plan is already being taken up with the state department.

The plan is to make Washington street, Zeeland, a state road, connecting up with the new Grand Rapids highway east of Zeeland.

Washington street, Zeeland, will be connected up with a proposed road running west, immediately alongside of the Holland Interurban railroad to Fairbanks avenue, this city.

The proposition is to pave Fairbanks avenue south to 17th street, which is also a state highway, and part of M-11 via River avenue.

This route is proposed with an eye to the future. Road men are beginning to realize more and more that trunk lines will have to be lead away from the main thoroughfares in a city, for in the near future the congestion will be so great that it will be impossible to handle traffic because of a jam.

The road men figure that from a business standpoint, the trunk lines will be near enough to the heart of the city, so any tourists wishing to do business can leave the trunk line riding a few blocks to the business section.

Washington street in Zeeland is directly north from the main street, and it is understood that a special request was made, to have the proposed road go on that street, since the thru travel on the business street is becoming more and more congested each year.

If this project goes through, which will have to be concurred in by the common council of Holland as far as this city is concerned, then Holland will have another paved street that will make a connecting loop around the entire city. Fairbanks avenue is the missing link to that loop and it the road becomes a fact it will be a boon to the property owners living on that street, since the state pays 75 per cent of the road building cost, which would include the highways passing through the city under the state clause.

Austin Harrington proposes to take this matter up with the city as soon as he receives assurance from the state that the new highway is a go.

Should the road be completed, it surely will eliminate many bad curves between Holland and Zeeland, and besides there will then be two concrete highways connecting the two cities.

ANOTHER OLD "WINDJAMMER" IS NOW IN THIS PORT

An old fashioned wind jammer is in the harbor at Harrington's dock, loaded with lumber and posts for the Moeke Lumber Co. of Zeeland.

The sailing vessel is named "Grand Haven," and its sister ship "Crafts Son," are the only two sailing crafts remaining on this lake. The lumber and posts come from Cedarville at the Straits.

The "Grand Haven" entered Holland harbor with a fair wind, sailed up the Bay and tied at the dock without the assistance of a tug.

The vessel did not have to tack in any instance. Her going out will not be under such favorable conditions unless the wind is east.

EDNA BAUER'S CASE WAS CONTINUED WEDNESDAY

MACATAWA GARAGE MAN AND WIFE TESTIFY IN THE CASE

After Niel Landman had testified in his own behalf Tuesday afternoon finishing up Wednesday morning, in which he told the story of how the acid was thrown by Edna Bauers, according to his testimony, Deputy Egbert Beekman was called to the stand and gave an interview he had with Edna Bauers after the throwing of the acid.

Russel Haight of Haan Bros. Drug store testified as to the treatment that was given Edna Bauers for her acid burns. Raymond Horn told how he had taken Edna Bauers home from Macatawa after the affair had taken place, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Roosie told of how Landman covered with the acid came screaming and staggering into the garage at Macatawa. Daniel Ten Cate, attorney for Mrs. Bauers then gave a review of the case, telling of the engagement that existed between Edna Bauers and Mr. Landman. Mr. Ten Cate then made a statement involving both of them that for the good of young readers is better not printed.

He stated how he had visited Mrs. Bauers three times a week for four years, and how he often drank, but she endeavored to cure him of the habit, also stating that it was not she who offered Landman liquor, as some would testify, because she continually persuaded him not to drink.

Mr. Ten Cate contended this would all be proven by the defense before the case came to a close. He said that at Mr. Landman's request Edna had purchased the acid, as she had purchased several other things from time to time, and brought them to him, since she lived in the city where they could be purchased, and he lived at the resorts.

He stated that the defense would show that he asked her to drink the wine from a bottle at the park, that he got his arms around her waist, and urged her to drink, but that she did not know what was in the bottle and now believes it was acid instead of wine.

The attorney stated that in his endeavor to force her to drink what was in the container at that time in the park, she resisted furiously, struck at him, repeatedly, endeavoring to knock out of his hand what was in the glass.

She said that at the time when she struck, something flew from his hands and splattered on her hands and legs, and the more he urged, the attorney contends, the more she resisted, and finally the contents of the container was knocked over him and her as well.

Mr. Ten Cate further contends that the defense will show that Edna Bauer did not hate Niel Landman, that she loved him devotedly even when he lay at the hospital, and she was refused admittance.

He stated that she will show that she thought there was something temporarily wrong with Niel Landman in his actions toward her and wanted him so much to explain.

Mr. Ten Cate stated that Edna Bauer took her son to St. Paul, for the reason that her son's playmates began to jeer him, and humiliate him, because of the acid episode and she wanted to relieve him of these bitter taunts.

He stated that Edna Bauer had gone to St. Paul of her own free will, and came back immediately when she heard she was wanted.

It was at that stage the court temporarily adjourned to inspect the acid car, and when Edna Bauer proceeded to run away from the court house, being later detained by two officers several blocks away.

The court room at Grand Haven was well filled Tuesday with a crowd that was looking for a sensation which failed to materialize. Judge Cross called court promptly at 2 o'clock, and the jury was quickly drawn, and the case was in progress an hour after the opening of court. The case is one of the People vs. Mrs. Edna Bauer, who, it was alleged, threw acid in the face and on the person of Niel Landman, a former coast guard man, but who recently conducted a boat livery at Macatawa. The acid throwing was said to have taken place late one evening at Macatawa.

The first witness to be called was Dr. Kools of Holland who had charge of the patient and who testified that the burns were acid burns. Mrs. George Hadden, living on West 11th street, mother of Mrs. Bauer, was next called to the witness stand and was severely cross-questioned by the prosecutor, Fred T. Miles. She told how Mr. Landman and her daughter had been going together for a number of years, how they were engaged for at least four years, and how there was no possible doubt of Landman not knowing about the engagement since he not only had given Edna Bauer a cedar chest, a sewing cabinet, and an electric flatiron, but had helped supervise making those things commonly found in a hope chest.

Mrs. Hadden stated she has lived on West 11th street for 25 years, that her daughter had been married to Mr. Bauer but that she divorced him some years ago, and that she had a son 12 years old, and that Edna was a telephone operator and had been going with Mr. Landman for at least four years.

Mrs. Hadden stated she was 61 years old and that her daughter Edna was 35 years old. She stated that her daughter had said to her upon her return home after the acid throwing affair took place, that Niel Landman had asked her several days before to buy some acid for him, while she was down town and she understood.

SENSATION IS SPRUNG IN CIRCUIT COURT

MRS. BAUERS THE ACCUSED RUNS AWAY FROM THE COURT HOUSE

Is Caught By Police And Deputy Sheriff Within Block of Grand River

One of the most peculiar and still at the same time sensational incidents that has ever taken place in the Ottawa county court house, occurred when Edna Bauer the defendant in the acid throwing case was about to be called.

Judge Cross called a recess of ten minutes in order that the jurors might inspect the acid stained car on the court house square.

Edna Bauer was compelled to accompany the jury and remained while a thorough inspection was being made. It was noticeable that her face was tense and pale during the inspection, all though all thru the proceedings of the last two days, she had been calm and not unduly agitated, considering the gravity of the charges.

After the automobile had been inspected by the jury, in the presence of Judge Cross, the judge directed that she could go back to the court room with the jurors and the case would be continued.

It was understood that Edna Bauer was to be the next witness. The proceedings in the court room started again, when Austin Harrington, Olf Hanson, Horace Dekker and former alderman William Lawrence were placed on the stand, as character witnesses. They having been the neighbors of Mrs. Hadden and her daughter for a number of years, testified that for truth and veracity Edna Bauer stood high in the neighborhood.

At that juncture Prosecutor Miles noticed that the defendant was absent and called the court's attention to this fact, stating that this was an unusual procedure and the opinion of Mr. Miles was concurred in by the Attorney of Mrs. Bauer, Daniel Ten Cate.

Judge Cross immediately ordered court officers to look for Mrs. Bauer, whom they expected to find in a rest room, thinking that she had possibly misunderstood the judge, when he said that court would reconvene.

Court deputy Salsbury soon found that the lady was missing from the court house, and going by police headquarters, he asked Chief Pippel who was standing outside, if he had seen a woman go by, describing Edna Bauer. He stated that he had, and the woman was walking very fast, and seemed excited.

The two officers jumped into a police car, and raced in the direction the woman had gone. They caught sight of her about nine blocks from the court house, and within a half a block of Grand River, in an out of the way district in the city. Deputy Salsbury stated that when she saw him she dodged around a corner, but he cornered her and told her that she had to come back to the court house.

Hysterically she protested and said she would not go back, and she wanted Salsbury to go back to the court house and tell Judge Cross that she would not testify.

This of course was out of the question since the woman has this criminal charge against her, and is under bonds for her appearance.

For some time the officer tried to persuade her to go to court; but repeatedly she cried that she would not come. Finally she did enter the car and was driven to the court house, all broken up in spirit.

She was visited by Judge Cross, by her attorney, Mr. Ten Cate, and by Prosecutor Miles, but with staring eyes, she refused to speak any further than that she would not testify.

She was finally compelled by her mother to lay down on a couch in the ladies parlor, and was left to rest for a half hour, but apparently her condition was unchanged and she was unable to appear on the witness stand to her own defense.

At the request of Attorney Ten Cate, Judge Cross immediately adjourned court until Thursday morning, when the attorney for the defense promised to have his witness ready for the stand if such a thing is possible.

During the night Mrs. Bauers was taken care of by Assistant Sheriff, Mrs. Fred Kamferbeek, at the sheriff's home.

MANY TO BE BAPTIZED IN BLACK LAKE

SACRAMENT TO BE ADMINISTERED BY MISS CHURCHFORD SUNDAY AFTERNOON

An annual event of great interest to many will be the baptismal service to be held at the foot of 12th street on the shore of Black Lake at Kollen's park Sunday afternoon. The service is to be under the auspices of the city mission and Miss Nellie Churchford, the mission pastor, will administer the sacrament of baptism.

It is estimated that 12 or 15 persons will present themselves for baptism, most of them adults but a few of them boys and girls.

The service will be at about three o'clock and the baptism ceremony will be preceded by a gospel service. The sermon is to be pronounced by Rev. John Mackie of the Fairmont mission of Grand Rapids. The mission band will play. The people of the mission will leave the gospel hall on eighth street immediately after the Sunday school hour and march to the lake arriving at about three o'clock.

It is expected that as usual a large audience will gather in Kollen park to witness the ceremony.

FAST TIME SYSTEM ENDS SEPTEMBER 26

Holland is now on the tail end of the daylight saving period. On the night of September 26, which comes on Saturday, all clocks will be turned back one hour, if the resolution passed some time ago by the common council is strictly followed.

It may happen that Holland may never go back to standard time, if any more cities round about us adopt daylight saving time the year round. Last spring the city of Kalamazoo voted to adopt daylight saving time all year, and it seems according to Saturday morning's Grand Rapids Herald, that the city commission is favoring a petition sent in by many citizens asking that the time be not changed, but to have Grand Rapids remain on the present time schedule all year round.

Grand Rapids is now observing daylight saving time from the second Saturday in April to the last Saturday in September, just as Holland does.

The matter is also coming up in Muskegon, and if the larger cities in this neighborhood all adopt daylight saving time 12 month in the year, Holland will have to follow, whether it likes it or not, or remain in a hopeless time mixup the greater part of the year.

Daylight saving time has been in vogue in Holland each year during the summer months since the war. At that time cities were compelled to adopt the time as a war measure, thus saving light and fuel. The compulsory measure seemed to take immediately, especially in the cities, the laboring men favoring the change almost universally.

Daylight saving time has given them long evenings for recreation, whether that be fishing, baseball, bathing or working in the garden.

Every straw vote taken in Holland on this question resulted in almost a 4 to 1 vote in favor. Last spring the aldermen felt that it was a waste of money to vote again and they announced through the local press that there were any objections to the resolution, objectors should make their protest before the next meeting of the council with two weeks intervening. There were no objections filed and daylight saving time went into effect. The plan at least thus far is to go back to the regular time on Saturday, September 26th.

FARM OF FORMER HOLLAND MAN IS A MODEL

The Monticello News, published at Monticello, Florida, contains an article about a movement initiated by the farm agent and the chamber of commerce to take pictures of representative farms in that section. Among the pictures taken were those at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Stillman, formerly of Holland. The Stillmans are well known here and they used to live in "The Cottage" that occupied the site now occupied by the armory. The Florida paper has the following about the visit of the Photographers to the Stillman farm:

"Probably the most interesting and valuable pictures for advertising purposes and also to illustrate the comfort and pleasure nearly every farmer in Jefferson county might enjoy at small expense, were the pictures taken at the dairy and pecan farm of Mr. C. L. Stillman, near Silver Lake. Mr. Stillman's greatest possession is his good wife and they have made a little paradise of their home and house lot. Mr. Stillman can say with old Omar:

"A Book of Verse underneath a Bough
A Jug of Wine, a Loaf of Bread—and Thou."

What Mrs. Stillman served the hot and thirsty party came in no jug but in tall, tall glasses in which ice tinkled deliciously. Mr. Moller got two drinks and would be there yet if not forced to leave by the tireless county agent. Finlayson is a slave driver. Three pictures were taken. One of a very old sweet orange close against one corner of the fine old house. This was a fine example of co-operation for the orange tree shaded and beautified the white house with its shining leaves and glorious fruit and the house protected the tree from the northern blasts. This tree and house fairly hug each other like aged lovers long married and happy. A picture of a magnificent Mandarin Orange, said to be the only one in Florida, and of a splendid satsuma were taken. All these and some others were well fruited. The Stillman house is on top of a high hill and overlooks Silver Lake on one side and a beautiful wide green valley and a far distant range of high hills that are blue in the misty distance, on the other side. This view is one of the most beautiful and inspiring in all Florida."

A lawsuit over a curb, with the city of Holland as one of the parties in the court action, was probably averted Thursday when Mayor Kammeraad exercised his executive discretion and secured at least delay which will give both sides time for reconsideration. When the council Wednesday night refused to reconsider their earlier decision in regard to letting White Bros build an approach to their place of business on River Ave., White Bros. attorney declared the matter would be fought out in the courts.

The council gave the mayor no specific instructions Wednesday night to start injunction proceedings in case the work of building the approach was begun and hence Mr. Kammeraad decided to make another try for delay and friendly adjustment between the council and White Bros.

He has secured from White Bros. and their attorney a promise not to proceed until the council can have another opportunity to consider the matter and it is believed that when the opportunity is given a matter of such relatively small importance can be settled in a friendly way without resort to court action.

Ed. Brouwer, secretary of the Holland Poultry association, returned yesterday from a two day business trip to Chicago.

Dr. J. B. Nykerk, who has been at Battle Creek for the past three weeks has returned to Holland much improved in health.

SPEED MAN GIVES FEAST FOR DIRECTORS

Holland is to lose Mr. Seth Nibbelink as a citizen in the very near future, for Mr. and Mrs. Nibbelink have decided to move to Miami, Florida, where they will live permanently when they go back in the fall. Mr. Nibbelink has some extensive real estate interests there and many of them have turned out unusually well financially.

Before going however Mr. Nibbelink felt he wished to feast the directors and officers of the Holland fair, with whom he has worked for so many years. Practically since the fair association was organized many years ago, Mr. Nibbelink has been connected in some way with this institution, and as a rule this was with the race card, since in this department he has been unusually strong.

Since Mr. Nibbelink has been chairman of the speed committee for so many years, because of his retirement, he planned a spread to 25 directors and friends, which was held at the Masonic temple banquet hall Friday evening.

On this occasion Austin Harrington, president of the fair association, acted as toastmaster and in his usual happy vein he called upon every diner present to give at least a few words in response.

Mr. Harrington, before introducing the different speakers, gave a resume of fair history for many years back. He told of the fair's ups and downs in a financial way, as well as in matters of exhibits, and also gave an insight into the troubles and trials that a fair director has to cope with and without compensation and purely out of a spirit of community welfare.

Mr. Harrington modestly forgot to mention that he as president for many years had also been instrumental not only in directing but in financing the fair when rocky roads were reached, and when lean years at the box office presented themselves.

The different directors spoke in praise of the many years of service given by Mr. Seth Nibbelink as head of the speed committee, and thru the toastmaster thanked Mr. Nibbelink for the bountiful spread so generously given, and in return presented the retiring fair director with a gold-headed cane, given as a token of esteem.

The officials of the fair regret exceedingly that Mr. Nibbelink is to sever his connection with the organization. They extended Mr. and Mrs. Nibbelink their best wishes and prosperity in the Southland where they will make their home.

The directors and guests present were: Seth Nibbelink, Austin Harrington, G. J. Deur, H. Yntema, W. Glurum, Ted Mordyke, Martin Ver Hage, Martin Van Zoeren, C. Hollis, H. Koolker, John Pessink, George Cabell, Sam Miller, Carter Brown, Dick Boonstra, James Nibbelink, Geo. Schutmaat, Jake Lokker, Benjamin Brouter, Andrew Klomparsen and John Vandersluijs. Secretary John Arendshorst was not present, since he and Mrs. Arendshorst are on a motoring trip.

WILL HOLD FARM SCHOOLS

Starting in October plans are being made by the farm bureau to hold one day schools in sections in Ottawa Co. where families are interested. The subjects to be covered include soils; fertilization, liming, management; crops; varieties, culture, marketing; fruits; spraying, pruning, culture; poultry; culling, feeding, breeding; dairying; breeding, feeding, testing; muck and truck crops.

No charge will be made for the schools unless it is necessary to pay hall rental. At the September Farm bureau meeting cards will be passed out for those interested to sign. If enough are not interested the schools will not be held.

MINISTERS DO NOT LIKE TOO MANY SIDE-SHOWS

The Holland Classis of the Reformed church has been in session at the Seventh Reformed church on West 14th-st., for the past two days and among their other deliberations they voiced their disapproval of certain amusements that appear at the Holland fair.

They did not like certain sidishows, and the characters of some of the concessions that were to be seen at the fair, and they adopted resolutions covering their objections, and these have been sent to the officials of the community fair.

The resolution was introduced by a committee, consisting of Rev. J. F. Heemstra and Rev. James Wayer of Holland and Rev. John Van Peursem of Zeeland.

Rev. D. D. Ellerbroek of South Blendon was named president, Rev. Harry J. Hager of Jamestown, temporary clerk, and Rev. G. De Jonge of Zeeland, stated clerk. Rev. M. J. Daven of Vriesland delivered the sermon as retiring president and Prof. Thomas E. Welmers of Hope college delivered the main address.

EIGHT OTTAWA MEN IN CONTEST

The Michigan International egg laying contest for 1926 filled up earlier than usual and many who were in the habit of entering pens the last minute will be disappointed. Only eight poultrymen from Ottawa county placed entries early enough to be accepted. They are Royal Hatchery, Grandview Poultry Farm, G. D. Wynegarden and the Silverward Hatchery, all Leghorn pens, and all from Zeeland; H. Vanderlinden, White Leghorns, and John Park, R. I. Reds, from Coopersville; and J. Pater & Son from Hudsonville, with a pen of White Leghorns.

There are few buyers even at that price, the market not having been very brisk for more than a week.

The reason for the low price is stated as due to the fact that Arkansas Concordes are now on the market and the Michigan champions are not able to compete with them.

MAPES IS HONORED WITH A BANQUET

Declaring that it was his earnest desire to be the megaphone of a wise and able and a patriotic public servant William Hatton, chairman of the republican county committee, Friday night welcomed about fifty Ottawa county men when he faced them in the dining hall of The Pines hotel at Spring Lake in honor of Congressman Carl E. Mapes. The dinner had been provided by Mr. Hatton to give the members of the county committee and a few others a chance to visit with Mr. Mapes, talk to him and listen to him and to show the congressman from the fifth district that Ottawa county appreciates what Mr. Mapes has done and is doing in Washington.

"Mr. Mapes is a quiet and unassuming man," said Mr. Hatton in welcoming his guests. "He is a big man at Washington, a man who has the respect of the big men throughout the country. But the trouble with him is that he has no press agent and he does not advertise himself. As a result the people at home do not properly realize his calibre. So to fill up the gap somewhat I have tonight appointed myself as his megaphone and that is the one and only reason for this meeting."

The guests were about fifty in number and they were from all parts of Ottawa county. They were full of enthusiasm and they showed Mr. Mapes by their enthusiasm that they appreciate his work in Washington.

After a delightful dinner, Mr. Hatton assumed the role of toastmaster and introduced various speakers for brief talks, every section of Ottawa county being represented. Mayor Kammeraad was the speaker for the city of Holland and he declared that not only did he personally admire Congressman Mapes but he was certain that the fifth district congressman was solid with the people of the city he represented. Mr. Kammeraad paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Mapes' ability and industry and he hoped the people of the fifth district would continue to show their intelligence by keeping in office a man of such ability and integrity.

Others who spoke along similar lines were State Senator Vincent A. Martin, State Representative Fred McEachron of Hudsonville, Mayor Jacob A. Elenbaas of Zeeland, and Mayor Herbert Hillman of Gr. Haven.

In introducing Mr. Carl E. Mapes, Mr. Hatton declared that he was very proud of Mr. Mapes, not only because of what he had done for Ottawa and the fifth district but because of the respect in which he was held in Washington. The prestige that Mr. Mapes has won, Mr. Hatton declared, is worth a great deal to this district and moreover it shows that he has the goods to deliver. New England, he declared has played a dominating part in the country's legislative history because it has been a custom there to keep in office men who have shown their ability, and that is a good custom to follow here in the middle west.

Mr. Mapes himself modestly deprecated the glowing tributes that had been paid to him but thanked his friends for their good will. He regretted the fact that he was not an orator and he paid a tribute of respect to his immediate predecessors in congress, namely William Alden Smith and G. J. Diekema whom he described as men of great mental capacity and orators of the first rank in the United States. For himself he claimed no abilities of that kind but he said he was trying his best to do what he could in the interest of his district not only but in the interest of the whole nation.

Mr. Mapes called attention to three major policies of President Coolidge and he said in his opinion Congress when it meets next December can do no better than to carry out those policies. These he listed as economy, tax reduction, and co-ordination of governmental agencies.

He went into each of these policies in some detail and expressed his hearty accord with all of them. Economy in government he declared fundamental to national well being and he expressed the hope that Mellon's plans for tax reduction might meet with the approval of congress. He expressed the opinion that the tax schedules might go back to the figures of the first income tax law. He described in detail the efforts that are now being made to co-ordinate the work of the governmental departments and to eliminate overlapping of work and expense. This is a great and intricate task and it meets with many kinds of opposition because many interests are being menaced by it. But it is bound up fundamentally with the President's fundamental political theory of economy and governmental efficiency and he said he hoped the plans would be successful. Congressman Mapes himself in closely associated with the working out of this major policy of the President. He is chairman of the congressional division of the committee that has this work in charge.

Incidentally Mr. Mapes declared that in his opinion President Coolidge is not serving his second term now out his first. He said the President ought to be renominated and re-elected in the next presidential campaign. The men from Holland who attended the banquet were: Mayor Kammeraad, Henry Venhuizen, William Brusse, and Arnold Mulder.

ZEELAND FACTORY MAKES IMPROVEMENTS

Mead-Johnson & Co., of Zeeland have just entered upon a fall campaign in full operation after a summer of remodeling their factory and installing additional equipment. The additional room and facilities have added materially to their capacity and they are ready now to handle all milk products offered and they are ready to establish several new routes.

The fact that they have been paying a little over regular market quotations bespeaks a greater patronage. They have been paying sixty cents for butter fat and the prices have been steadily increasing.

The Mead Johnson & Co. newly remodeled and newly repainted factory presents a more pleasant scene than it has for some years past.

CHILDREN NOT VICTIMS OF TUBERCULOSIS

Six little children were brought to the free chest clinic conducted in Holland Thursday who were supposed by their mothers to be the victims of tuberculosis and about whom there had been much worry. They were brought to the clinic in an endeavor to learn what could be done to save the children's lives from a dread disease. The mothers depended on Dr. William Vis, tuberculosis specialist from Grand Rapids who is doing the examining, to tell them what to do and some of them were looking forward with anxiety to being forced to part with their little ones during a long period of treatment.

But a careful examination showed that in the case of these six children the only trouble was diseased tonsils. Dr. Vis gave them a careful examination and he pronounced his verdict to six astonished mothers who would not have been surprised to hear the word "tuberculosis." The six children in question were found just as sound as any normal child in every other respect, but diseased tonsils had impaired their vitality giving them the appearance of wasting away with tuberculosis.

That is an illustration of what is being done right along at the chest clinics that are being held every other month in Holland. Cases like that come up constantly and as often as not a person who comes expecting a verdict of tuberculosis is told that he has a minor ailment that is pulling him down but that can be corrected quite easily.

At the clinic Thursday afternoon 17 persons applied for examination. Of these six were people who had been examined before and 11 were new cases. Six children were under 16 years of age. Three persons were diagnosed as being tuberculous, one of them a case returned from the Howell sanatorium. One was a quiescent case and one an advanced case.

It was noticeable Thursday that all those examined were from Holland, not a single rural case applying. Those in charge wish to emphasize that these examinations are for the rural districts as well as for the city.

WAR ENDED OVER PERMIT FOR BUILDING

The long drawn out war between the council and the Ideal Cleaners over a building site on West Tenth street has come to an end and the armistice has been signed. The victory is with the city and the company has abandoned the site on West Tenth street.

At Wednesday night's meeting of the council the Ideal Cleaners asked permission to build on a site on Sixth street near College avenue. The aldermen not only granted the permit but they did it enthusiastically and with a shout, apparently glad that the battle was ended.

CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Heyboer, sr., of Zeeland, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. Those present were their children, grandchildren, and also three great-grandchildren; also Mr. and Mrs. John Heyboer, Mrs. L. Shoemaker, Mrs. C. De Kraker, Will, Andrew and John De Kraker, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lamer, Mr. and Mrs. James Morren and Rev. and Mrs. D. R. Drukker. After Rev. Drukker delivered a fitting address a short program was rendered by the children. The aged couple were presented with a purse of gold and a few useful presents.

A five-course lunch was served to 65 and a fine social time was spent. This was the 3rd golden wedding held among six brothers and sisters.

LOCATIONS CHANGED IN ZEELAND

During this week the Consumer's Power company moved their Zeeland office from the Peper building into the new building erected by M. Languis this summer, located on the west immediately adjoining the Zeeland fire department.

In this same building the United Appliance company will carry a complete line of electrical equipment for lighting and household and other appliances.

C. J. De Koster will continue to be the Zeeland representative for both companies, and Miss Elizabeth Claver has accepted the position as assistant. Benj. H. Goozen, who has for some years past occupied offices with Mr. De Koster will not remain with them but will secure offices of his own.

LAKE SAILORS SAY AUTO LIGHTS ARE A NAVIGATION PERIL

Automobile drivers at Grand Haven are being urged to show courtesy to lake sailors by dimming their lights while they are pointed toward the harbor entrance. Commanders of several ships have complained to the authorities that the bright automobile lights are a menace to safe navigation in the harbor.

"The driver dims his lights when he meets another car," one skipper said. "Why shouldn't he dim his light when they are focused on a ship in the harbor for the same reason. Some pilot may be blinded some time by bright lights on the shore and mis-steer the ship into disaster."

For a considerable distance, Harbor avenue in Grand Haven, runs parallel to the harbor. In some instances, while following curves in the drive, the autoist unconsciously "points" an incoming ship with his lights.

Here's a Suggestion!

Sometimes, for all you know, you may want to sell your house. When that time comes, how would you like to take a tip from experienced real estate dealers?

Well, anyway here's what they are doing in many cities: They advertise the location of the property, number of rooms, and whenever possible: "Heated by a Holland Furnace."

We often receive lists of these ads from our Branch Managers, and of course, we enjoy the evidence of personal pride on the part of our men.

The convincing thing about it is all simply that no mention of other furnaces is to be found in these real estate lists.

OTTAWA COWS BEING FREED FROM T.B.

Ottawa county cattle are being rapidly freed from tuberculosis thru the tuberculin test. A compilation of results of last year's test compared to this year's is worth careful study. Last year a total of 34,516 cattle were tested showing 2860 reactors, or a percentage of infection of 8.28 per cent. This year a total of 32,031 cattle were tested showing 243 reactors or a percentage of .758 per cent or a drop of 7.522 per cent, which is remarkable.

Polkton township leads in number of cattle tested, Zealand in the number of reactors, and Holland in the percentage of reactors. Robinson township tested clean. Olive township proved the most remarkable by dropping from a percentage of 15.8 last year to .32 this year.

Following are tabulations for the two years:

Allendale township—Number cattle tested in 1924, 2323; reactors 212; percentage 9.1; number cattle tested in 1925, 2090; reactors 12; percentage .56.

Blendon Township—Number cattle tested in 1924, 2675; reactors 393; percentage 11.6; number cattle tested in 1925, 24478; reactors 35; percentage 1.41.

Tallmadge Township—Number cattle tested in 1924, 2211; reactors 136; percentage 6.2; number cattle tested in 1925, 1925; reactors 10; percentage .51.

Wright Township—Number cattle tested in 1924, 2418; reactors 122; percentage 5; number cattle tested in 1925, 2471; reactors 9; percentage .36.

Zeeland Township—Number cattle tested in 1924, 3304; reactors 438; percentage 13.2; number cattle tested in 1925, 3250; reactors 64; percentage 1.95.

These figures do not include the re-test which will be done this fall and will no doubt bring the averages down for this year.

There is a great deal of satisfaction in knowing that by eliminating tuberculous cattle we are removing probably the worst source of infection of tuberculosis in children. This is worth while.

Only a small crowd attended the last game of a series played between the All Stars of the city league and the regular Holland Independents at Riverview Athletic Field Wednesday evening.

Vande Bunte did not allow any more than one hit per inning, and the Independents got timely hits when ever these were needed. The result was a score of 9 to 0 in favor of the Independents.

The younger players were not troubled with stage fright on this occasion, but it again shows the experienced player doing team work can excel over the inexperienced ones.

Notwithstanding this fact there is some good baseball timber in this All Star team that will have to be drafted into the Independent team.

WHAT'S THE POPULATION OF HOLLAND?

How much do you know definitely, in actual facts and figures, about your own community? Do you know for instance what the city's population is as shown by the last census? Do you know what the estimated population of Holland and its suburbs is? Do you know the facts about the manufacturing products of Holland?

Most people know all these things in a general way but comparatively few have definite figures at their command. It is therefore interesting to see the actual figures in cold print. "The Editor & Publisher," a class annual that gives information of that kind for all cities, devotes a few paragraphs to Holland in its 1925 edition. While it is possible that not all the information is strictly accurate, chances for errors being great in so large a number of biographies of cities, it gives some idea of the facts and figures. Here it is as given in "The Editor & Publisher's" annual:

Holland, Michigan
1920 Population, 12,183.
City and Suburban Estimate, 18,000.

Residential Features: Mostly one-family houses.

Retail Shopping Section: About 5 blocks.

Theaters, 2. Total number of seats, 1,040.

Trading Area: Twelve miles north, west and south.

Number of Retail Outlets for Nationally Advertised Products: Passenger automobile agencies, 7; commercial auto agencies 3; automobile accessories, 5; automobile tire agencies, 5; bakers, 3; cigar stores and stands, (including hotels), 9; confectioners (including hotel stands), 15; dress-makers, 14; druggists, 9; dry goods, 17; department stores, 1; electrical supplies, 2; florists, 3; fruits, 7; furniture, 3; garages (public), 11; grocers, 34; men's furnishings, 6; men's clothing, 6; merchant tailors, 12; milliners, 6; opticians, 3; photographers, 2; pianos (and miscellaneous musical instruments), 1 radio supplies, 2; restaurants (including hotels), 7; shoes, 9; sporting goods, 1; stationers, 1; women's apparel, 3.

The Ottawa County Road Commission announces that the West Spring Lake road will soon be paved and that work will then be started on the Crockery Flat paving. The engineers figure that at the present rate of paving the concrete will reach the county line by next Saturday. Instead of finishing at the county line the commission will continue into Muskegon county for a quarter of a mile.

The Muskegon County Road Commission has asked the Ottawa commission to do this and Mr. Judson and Mr. Kenney solicited over two thousand dollars to encourage the county to pave this added quarter-mile. Plans are under way in Muskegon county for completing the paving of the road all around the lake thus surrounding Spring Lake with a concrete highway. This has been talked quite frequently in Muskegon and it is understood that engineers are ready to receive bids on that pavement.

There is also considerable agitation in Muskegon for the paving of the Fruitport road from "The Pines" entrance to M-11. If this is done there will be pavement from Muskegon to Fruitport. It is possible that the Muskegon county officials may act kindly to this suggestion and pave this stretch before long.

Several young ladies attended a miscellaneous shower Wednesday night, given in honor of Miss Laura Barendse, at the home of Miss Inez Prince. The bride-to-be received many beautiful and useful gifts, after which a dainty two-course luncheon was served.

Those present were the Misses Laura Barendse, Cornelia Kruthof, Leida Kruthof, Johanna Riphagen, Henrietta Prince, Florence Van Dree, Nita Van Haften, Inez Prince, Mrs. Harry Aldus, Mrs. John Hoffman and Miss Berle Thompson of Chicago.

W. T. Kinsey, of Saugatuck, who is 86 years old and who attended the G. A. R. convention at Grand Rapids the past week, had with him an old note that attracted a great deal of attention. Mr. Kinsey stated that he "captured" the note from the collection of a southern resident in Tennessee during the Civil war, during his four years as drum major in the 44th Indiana volunteer infantry.

The note is dated 1777 and is of the face value of 20 Spanish milled dollars or their value in gold or silver. It is 4 1/2 x 3 inches in size and is signed by J. Ward, J. McCall, Edward Linchwood and ——— Blake. The initial before the last name is illegible. The note which is of heavy brown paper, bears on the back the legend, "Death to counterfeiters."

Donald Zwemer and Leon Kleis of Holland left this city Monday morning for a trip to Niagara Falls and Boston. They made the trip from Holland to Niagara Falls in a single day, arriving at the falls in time to see the illumination of the falls with the colored searchlights that are turned on soon after dark and that are kept playing on the falls for three hours.

The two Holland men started out the next morning for Boston and they arrived in that city at 10:30 Wednesday forenoon, having made the trip from Holland to the home of baked beans in a little over two days. Unlike some from here who have made record trips to the east these boys did not travel all night but took time off to sleep. They did however start before the sun in the morning and traveled until late at night.

The H. O. H. held its annual election of officers Friday evening at a business meeting held in their hall. The attendance was small and the meeting was brief. C. Woltring was re-elected vice president and George Vander Elst was re-elected a member of the board of trustees. The terms of both are for three years. The term of office of Frank Brive as president has not yet expired and so he was a hold-over.

ASSISTANT FIRE CHIEF DIED FRIDAY

Death claimed one of the best known men in Holland early this morning when Gerrit Ter Vree passed away at his home at 234 East 9th street at the age of 58 years. Mr. Ter Vree had been seriously ill with pneumonia for about a week and the end came Friday morning.

Mr. Ter Vree is survived by his wife and three children, Alvin, Mildred, and Frederick.

Mr. Ter Vree was assistant chief of Holland's fire department at the time of his death, which position he had held continuously for sixteen years. He has a remarkable record for service in the city's fire department, having been a member of the city's fire fighting force continuously for 38 years. He began this work as a young man of 20 and he has kept up interest in it ever since without interruption.

Fire Chief Blom today paid a tribute to his dead assistant by declaring he has been one of the most splendid men in the service of this city. Mr. Ter Vree began his career in the department in the ranks, then rose to the captaincy of his company and sixteen years ago was promoted to the position of assistant chief. In his death the city loses one of its best and most faithful public servants.

Another great interest in Mr. Ter Vree's life was the Sunday school. He has served the First Reformed church as a Sunday school teacher since he was a young man. He taught a great many boys and girls who are now men and women of high standing in this and other communities. At the time of his death and for many years past he has been the teacher of the women's class of that church.

Mr. Ter Vree had a great many friends not only in this church but throughout the city.

Although nearly a week has elapsed since two Holland men with their wives made a trip up the west Michigan pike to White Lake to visit the Holland boy scouts, the incidents connected with that trip were closely kept under cover, for fear that the local press might call attention to them.

They didn't want the papers to "get wise" as they have put it, but now that several days have elapsed the two men "spilled the beans," thinking possibly that the local papers would pass up the story.

The incidents connected with that trip are so unusually interesting that the lapse of a few days does not detract from the story.

It seems that Andy Klomp and Gerrit Buis and their better halves decided on a trip to White Lake in the car of Mr. Buis. The party had reached the long bridge between Muskegon and north Muskegon when the theatre magnate "stepped on it," and to take their word for it, rolled along at 30 miles an hour.

A stalwart minion of the law from North Muskegon barred the way as they reached that little town and told them to tell it to the judge. B. G. Andrew remonstrated and gave an excuse that he thought he was outside the limits of Muskegon, but had overlooked the little burg on the opposite side of the river, and that he was on the county highway where 35 miles is permitted under the state Iowa. He was told that this was no county highway, that this was a Muskegon and a North Muskegon street, where the speed limit is 20 miles, plainly written on the pavement just in front of their car.

It is understood that the big furnace man read the riot act to the speed cop, but all this person would say was, "If you wait until tomorrow the court costs will be $5.00 extra."

After considerable grumbling they took the bargain price fine, going dutch, each paying $5.00 in order that justice might be done.

Very much chagrined, the party moved northward and scoured the Montague woods in order to find the boy scout camp, but like the babes in the nursery story, they became lost and never discovered the camp where the young Holland chaps are located across the river, and they returned to Montague with a thoroughly scratched up automobile, where the machine had come in contact with dense underbrush.

Very dejected the parties turned homeward but were halted at Ferryburg where a house was aflame, at the roadside. A fire in progress can't keep Andy Klomp in an automobile very long, he having fought fires in Holland upward of fifteen years.

Soon the genial Andy was pulling household furniture out of the building, aided by his companion Mr. Buis, while the ladies watched their brave husbands enter and re-enter the flaming building, which work they had completed at the expense of a couple of suits of clothes.

The trip was uneventful until 11 o'clock at night when they reached West Olive and a bad blowout occurred. An hour of mending set the wheels going again, and they were rolling along merrily until they nearly reached the Grand Haven bridge, where the car began to sputter and big Andy called out "By jinks, I believe we're out of gas," and they were.

The pleasure seekers borrowed a quart from a passerby and rode home.

The September meeting of the business men's association of Grandville, held at the town hall, was full of interest, and several matters of importance transacted, though the attendance was very poor.

Among the things to be decided was a banquet boosters meeting to be held on the first Tuesday in October. The committeemen appointed to take the matter in hand were: Messrs. Henry Aikema, Richard Bolt and Dick Van Singel.

The state police came in for commendation for work performed at Grandville and a letter will be sent to state police headquarters asking for re-establishment of the Grandville detachment recently shifted to another location.

While William Sackers and Earl Van Oort of Holland, both riding motorcycles, were en route from Holland to South Haven Friday, Sackers' machine, when about five miles from South Haven, suddenly swerved aside, and came into contact with Van Oort's machine and both riders were thrown to the ground, with the result that Sackers' broke both legs. Van Oort sustained only minor bruises. Sackers was brought home in an ambulance.

NEW PEACH TREE DISEASE IS DISCOVERED

What is apparently a new disease of the peach has made its appearance in the orchards of western Michigan, and has probably been present some little time before it was discovered. It was first reported from Casco township, in Allegan county, but this report was no doubt because those progressive growers were a little more observing and were first to discover the presence of the disease, and are alive to its possible menace to the peach industry of this section. But it exists in orchards outside of that township—how widely distributed has not been determined. Some who went on the recent horticultural tour report finding it in the orchards of the experiment station near Grand Rapids.

Dr. Lee M. Hutchins, who is connected with the bureau of plant industry of the United States department of agriculture, and has spent several seasons investigating diseases of the peach in the state of Georgia, while spending his vacation with his father, H. H. Hutchins of Ganges, recently had his attention called to the disease, and has started investigating, but it will be several months before anything very definite can be learned from his experiments.

At Dr. Hutchins' suggestion Dr. M. B. Walte, who is pathologist in charge of plant disease investigation of the department of agriculture, came and looked the situation over. Dr. Walte is doubtless as thoroughly informed regarding diseases of the peach as any man in the United States. He spent several seasons in western Allegan county investigating peach yellows and little peach several years ago being here each year from 1898 to 1906, and is acquainted with every peach growing district in the United States. Dr. Walte pronounces this a new disease to him.

Probably no man in western Michigan has had a wider experience or knows more about peach diseases than Horace Welch of Douglas. Mr. Welch expresses it as his opinion that at the present rate at which the disease is spreading it will only be a very few years before the orchards of that section will be completely wiped out, as was the case with the yellows a number of years ago where men were careless or slow in cutting out the diseased trees, unless growers wake up to the gravity of the situation. All who have investigated it agree in opinion that the disease is communicable, and some of Dr. Hutchins' experiments are to determine this matter.

The new disease has the appearance of being a combination of yellows and little peach, though with none of the characteristics of either. The fruit is smaller than normal, the not as small as in little peach, and ripens slightly prematurely, but not so much so as in yellows. The color of the skin is deep red and the pulp just under the skin is red and mushy, but there are no red streaks extending to the pit as in yellows. The foliage at the outer ends of the twigs is nearly normal in appearance, though not quite so deep in color, but near the base of the twigs the leaves turn yellow and more or less mottled in color and soon drop off. This is a marked characteristic of the disease, for when the tree suffers from injury to trunk or roots the foliage has a uniformly sickly appearance. When trees with the disease are cut down and sprouts spring out from the stump these present the willowy appearance which is characteristic of the yellows, though this peculiar cluster of sprouts does not appear in the trees affected with the disease, as one expects to find in the yellows.

Since the severe freeze of October 10-11, 1906, which wiped out 90 per cent of the peach orchards of western Michigan, nothing has been heard of either the yellows or little peach. It is probably the presence of either of these in the trees so lowered their vitality that they were less resistant to the cold, and were all practically cleaned out, and nothing has been heard from either of them since. But the experience with those dread pests has been such as to make the growers extremely careful to exterminate anything of that character.

The progressive orchardists of Casco township are fully alive to the possible gravity of the situation and are vigilantly cutting out the trees as fast as the malady appears. And those with peach orchards who expect to remain in the business will do well to look their trees over carefully and remove any trees showing the disease. The usefulness of the tree is gone anyway, and it will soon die, and the sooner it is taken out the less danger there will be of spreading the contagion.

Young Standley and Hammond, the two desperados still in their teens who were sentenced by Judge Vander Werp to five years in prison for robbing stores and oil stations in Holland, Gr. Haven, Spring Lake and Muskegon, were taken to Ionia to serve their time, and on their way they boasted freely of the many jobs they had pulled off successfully.

With a care-free air, they related how in one night they had figured up the receipts as amounting to well over $200.00.

It appeared that the young chaps had made a regular business of robbing, and kept an accurate account of all the places robbed and how much from each place.

In the inventory they had down Douglas Malloch, of Muskegon, the celebrated "poet of the woods," well known in Holland. "Two watches stolen from cottage."

A delightful evening was spent at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. John Du Mez at Lugers Crossing on Friday evening when they entertained the employees of Du Mez Bros. department store.

The guests enjoyed a motor boat ride on Black lake, viewing the beautiful scenes and homes which are located along the lake. After an hour's ride, supper was served on the lawn, which was prettily decorated by Japanese lanterns. Later in the evening games were played, and a budget was read, which humorously included every guest. About forty persons were present, all declaring that they had had a lovely time.

After considerable wrangling Allegan has at last decided that its memorial fountain given by Mrs. Griswold before her death, should have a dignified place in front of the library. Some aldermen wanted it in the city park as an added ornament, but the climax came when it was found that tradesmen and peddlers were washing their cellophane in the fountain and that was too much for alderman Benson. "For heaven's sake, let us show some respect for the woman who gave it," he said.

The battered and broken safe found along a country road a mile or more south of Hudsonville last week by farmer boys has been identified by Sheriff Ben Lugten of Allegan county, as the one taken from the Newberry restaurant there some time ago. Nineteen cents in coins also were left by the robbers. A total of nearly $100 cash was included in the loot.

The firm of Bolhuis Lumber company, of Holland, was awarded the contract to erect the new Pere Marquette passenger depot at a cost of approximately $40,000. It is expected the building will be under cover by the first of the year.

There are a great many sub-contractors that enter into the construction of the building grounds, plumbing, heating and lighting. Before the building is completed the total cost will be approximately $50,000.

The depot will be located north of the present building so that trains from the south will not block the Eighth-st. crossing. A large portion of the hole north of the station will be filled in and the sidetracks leading to the factories will be relaid.

Miller's lunchroom and the building occupied by the American Railway Express Co. will be moved, the express company to be given quarters in the new depot.

Chief Engineer Tuttle was in the city today and the contract was officially closed with the local contractors this morning.

The Holland Independents captured 2 out of three games played over the last week-end. Saturday Albers tamed the Grand Rapids Dalrys with Murphy on the firing line. It was a very interesting game with Holland being favored with the breaks and also hitting the ball hard in pinches.

Labor day morning South Haven's team proved soft picking. Four runs in the first session were enough to take this tilt but the Independents piled up an eleven run total before the game was called by umpire Ross. R. Nelson, who started to hurl for the visitors, found going rather hard with Japinga and Batema cracking the ball out of the lot. Woldring also but the ball hard his single in the first counting two runners.

The setto developed into a farce of the third frame. Nelson made six wild pitches and the local players ran wild on the bases, seven being stolen off from Johnson.

The afternoon game was a much different affair. Boelward, a left hander from the University of Chicago squad, was pitted against Albers and although the local hurler allowed but three hits he lost the game, 2-1.

Boelward was found for six hits but they were scattered and only one runner crossed the plate. Holland's score came in the fifth but South Haven sent in two in the seventh when Stone tripled with men on the paths. Quite a delegation of Holland fans accompanied the team to the neighboring city.

Officer Sweeinga returned Saturday morning from Highland Park, Illinois, with Ed. Holman, 19, and Henry Cunningham, 21, arrested for stealing the car of Andy Vos while it was parked on 8th-st. The boys were arrested in Highland Park because they could not give an account of themselves after violating traffic regulations there.

They had no drivers' license, and after being grilled by chief Ed Mahoney they admitted having stolen the car. Chief Van Ry has also been investigating the boys and finds they come from Muskegon, and were on parole from Ionia prison, where they were sent in 1923, after they pleaded guilty to breaking into a house.

They were bound over to circuit court Saturday morning, and were immediately taken to the county jail at Grand Haven.

After the wounds had been dressed however she was well enough to be taken to her home in Grand Rapids.

It seems that the decision of 12 good men tried and true is not sufficient for former sheriff Delbert Fortney, who recently was defeated in a trial in which he asked $50,000 damages from E. P. Stephan of Holland, alleging slander, for which the jury brought in a verdict of "no cause for action."

A telephone call to County Clerk Orrie Sluiter, brought the information that a request for a retrial had been filed by Mr. Fortney's attorney, Mr. C. E. Misner, claiming errors in the trial, and no doubt the specific reasons will be made known when the attorneys argue the case before Judge Cross when he sets the day of hearing.

It is also rumored that while a petition for retrial had been filed, this request had been withdrawn, but according to the county clerk, there has been no withdrawal up to Tuesday noon.

Should the case continue it will be a battle of years at tremendous expense, or should Judge Cross not grant a new trial, it is understood that the case will go to supreme court, which is a costly procedure, and should the supreme court decide upon a new trial, the case would have to come back to Ottawa county for retrial, and then should either of side be displeased with the verdict, the matter would again have to go back to the supreme court to decide the merits in the case.

Through the generosity of Holland's florists the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was again able to place a bouquet on every teacher's desk for the opening day of school, a custom which has been followed for the past five years. Karsten and Mrs. Wm. Dalman, furnished by Ebelenk; Horace Mann, Froebel and Lincoln schools, furnished by Shady Lawn Florists, were in charge of Mrs. H. Van Ark, Mrs. H. J. De Weerd and Mrs. J. C. The Allegan Gazette under a heading "Duped the Hollanders" prints the following:—

"Over in Holland there still may be found descendants of those who used to buy 'gold' watches and 'elixir of life' from the itinerant street faker. Two young men from Grand Rapids made a canvas of Holland selling bottles mysteriously described. A load of deputies rushed on the trail of the 'bootleggers'. A test showed the bottles held colored water, and the young men were released from custody. If people wish to buy colored fluid on a chance that it is something else, that is their privilege."

The Gazette has the story twisted somewhat as to location, since this incident took place in Grand Haven and just as these facts were printed in the local papers some six weeks ago.

The schools in Holland opened for another year's work Tuesday morning and thousands of pupils could be seen trooping back to school in answer to the bell.

In connection with the opening of school Chief of Police Van Ry Tuesday made a public statement asking motorists to remember that the streets are again crowded with children at certain hours of the day. During the long vacation the motorists got out of the habit of driving with special care in passing school yards and in crossing streets that are frequented by school children. But now that school has started again it will be up to the motorists to take it into consideration. Chief Van Ry asks all to co-operate with the department in making the streets of Holland safe for school children.

S. R. PERRY IS HONORED BY HIS FRIENDS

Friends and neighbors to the number of twenty or more called on S. R. Perry, at Macatawa Park, Sunday evening and presented him with a check for $1,525.

Geo. P. Townsend of Chicago who made an informal talk was in a particularly happy mood and voiced the sentiment of those present when he assured Mr. Perry that money was a matter of small consideration when balanced against the endless number of fine things which he did for the season.

"We realize," said Mr. Townsend, "that except for you this beautiful hill on which we live would lack much of its attractiveness, and we more than we can express in words your steadfast and determined purpose to make us all happy by insuring attractive surroundings and an environment that is a source of delight to us all."

"There was nothing but sand when you arrived on the scene and now there is nothing but a bower of beauty with as fine a planting of grass and vines and shrubs as can be found anywhere."

"It is not, however, the maintenance of these physical things which most touch us, but rather your thousand acts of kindness and helpfulness that show us the quality of your heart. Macatawa without you would be quite another place and we feel that our thanks are small recompense for the endless attentions which you give us all and which obviously spring from a generous nature."

"We love and respect you for the spirit of helpfulness which you show in season and out of season. We realize that in late Autumn and early Spring and indeed in the dead of Winter you are doing something not this fair hill that will add to its lure for us and add to our comfort on the occasion of our next visit."

Mr. Perry was visibly affected and in a voice filled with emotion he assured his friends that the improvements wrought at Macatawa were only possible because of the fine spirit of co-operation that was so abundantly in evidence.

"Not an hour of the day passes," said Mr. Perry, "that I do not find at my cottage evidence of the thoughtfulness of the fine neighbors that I am blessed with."

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. James E. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Ward S. Perry, J. G. Gromberg, Dr. and Mrs. A. Leenhouts, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Fitzgerald, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Henry White, and J. E. Walker, president of the Cottage Owners' association.

Arthur C. Wells, of Indianapolis, who had been instrumental in arranging the little surprise event, was unable to be present on account of Mrs. Wells' illness at home, but Mr. and Mrs. Wells sent their love and best wishes.

The members of the Friesian society of Holland went to Grand Rapids Monday to attend the national convention of Friesian societies held there. Approximately 700 persons from Friesian societies from all over the United States attended.

The day began with a parade of decorated automobiles in the morning.

Following a picnic dinner at noon the remainder of the day was spent in the enjoyment of native Friesian games under the direction of Heinie Lightner, director of municipal recreation. The championship in the Friesian version of baseball was contested for by teams representing Grand Rapids, Holland, and Chicago. The silver loving cup was captured by Holland, which triumphed over Chicago and Grand Rapids.

This game, known to the Friesians as "Kasparij," appears to an American to be without any definite end, it being played with small pneumatic rubber balls and without the aid of a bat. The teams exchange positions so often that it is confusing to one uninitiated into the secrets of the game, but the players become as enthusiastic and excited as any American sandlot players engaged in their national pastime.

Refreshments were served in the afternoon and a picnic lunch at six o'clock. After the evening lunch addresses were made by J. A. Schaafsma, president of the Grand Rapids society for the past 15 years, Jacob Oosterbaan of Holland and Marjine Van Maurke of Chicago.

Schaafsma, who was the speaker of the evening, addressed the gathering upon the subject of the Friesian people in America and their work and accomplishments here. Oosterbaan delivered a short talk upon the necessity of the Friesian people, who have emigrated to America, remaining loyal to the established society in this country and perpetuating the old folk lore and customs.

Van Maurke recounted the work of the several clubs and federations of the Friesian people who have emigrated to this country.

All of these addresses were given in the Friesian language, as is the custom at the national convention. The business meeting was also held at this time.

After ten o'clock at night dancing began, music for which was furnished by the Grand Rapids Friesian orchestra. All dances were of the old Friesian folk type. Music was furnished in the afternoon by the Friesian band of Chicago.

The convention and picnic in 1926 will be held in Chicago.

Coopersville's crack team will perform here Saturday afternoon and a great game is expected. Mildred Gordon will be on second base for the visitors and her playing has attracted large crowds all over the state. The local players are anxious to score victories over the rest of their opponents as they get off with a bad start but now are playing great baseball.

Coach Hinga will most probably call his football candidates out today as every practice session will be needed to put the squad in shape for the opener a week from Saturday at Kalamazoo. If Holland can come thru and win this game the chances are they will have a very successful season. However, it is asking a lot of a coach and squad to tackle such very strong opposition in the first game.

TELLS STORY OF TRIUMPH OF THE BAND

(By Raymond Knoothuizen)

The Holland American Legion band, consisting of 28 pieces, left last Sunday for the state convention of the American Legion held at Bay City. They left here at 8:15 Sunday morning and arrived safe and sound at the Greyhound at Bay City at 4:30. The band unpacked immediately and played many numbers in the Winona hotel and were given cheer after cheer. In fact we could hardly get out as they all seemed to enjoy our music. While we were in the hotel we all registered and got our badges and then we were asked to take part in the band contest which we did not know anything about this before or we perhaps could have picked out the best numbers we had from all our music, but as we did not know it we had to choose a concert from the ones we had with us.

At 8 o'clock the American Legion band from Muskegon was scheduled to play a concert in Winona Park and we were to go on at 9 until 10. When I came we all were there and on the job to do our best for Holland and Post No. 6 of the American Legion. They had a band stand in the park that surely was fine and every note could be heard far and near. We started in at 9 o'clock and put heart and soul into it for one hour. There was no talking, no smoking and no disorder, however, and our appearance and playing were absolutely perfect for the hour while we were playing for which the band owes Mr. John P. Kolla a hearty thanks as it was he who suggested these things to us and we tried them out and they added a great deal to our concert as appearance is a big factor when you are trying for a prize. The crowds at the concert were surely large and there was hardly a whisper while we were playing and they all appreciated our music and encored us all the time.

At 10 o'clock the concert closed and we were all anxious to hear who had won the prize but it was not until 11 o'clock that we heard the first faint whispers of us having received first prize of $250, but we were not absolutely sure as there is always so much talk going around during our conventions. But now after we are home again we are sure we won it because we took the money back with us. After our concert there was not much to do until after midnight when all the posts who wished to could try for prizes by putting on the best stunts at the Midnight Frolic. A part of our band took part in this and we were awarded third prize of $25, but this was done at a last minute's notice while if we had known about it before we would have carried off first prize for this as well.

Monday of course was the day set aside for the big parade which started at 12 o'clock. The Holland band was again at this time given high honors by being chosen to lead the big parade out of a choice of eleven bands and we surely did lead it right and gave them all the music they wanted. For his parade there were no cash prizes given but the Holland band won here again all the honors given—the highest honors for the following things: 1st—best appearing band of all the 25 bands there; 2nd—best marching done by any band and it surely was perfect; and 3rd—best music given by any band during the parade. There were five judges, all out of Bay City, who awarded the honors and I am sure our band took all they could give without taking Bay City itself.

On Tuesday at 11 o'clock we all reported to the Holland Furnace Co. office and were prepared to make a parade through the business and residential district of Bay City. We had Mr. Gray, manager of the Bay City branch, and Mr. Kolla and Mr. Lievens riding ahead of the band and directing us on our way and the band followed them and gave them the best music that could be given and woke up Bay City, I am sure, and after the band came the Furnace Co. truck and then our own Greyhound and that made a nice little parade all by itself. We surely advertised Holland and its band and also the Holland Furnace Co.

The band wishes to say at this time that out of all the bands that were there they know they had the best time of any one of them. The Holland Furnace Co. office was absolutely given over to the band and we left our horns and music there as it was so handy, only a block away from the park and the Winona hotel.

After the parade, which lasted for an hour or so, we were invited to go to the Winona hotel where Mr. Gray, manager of the Bay City branch, had ordered a big banquet for the Holland band and a banquet it surely was and every man present enjoyed himself to the fullest extent. Many songs were sung throughout the meal and after the banquet was over speeches were made by Mr. Gray, Mr. Kolla, Mr. Herman Cook, Ben Lievens and others.

The band surely enjoyed the trip immensely and is feeling very proud having carried back to our dear old city $275 in prizes and many honors. Mr. Kolla, a loyal friend of our city and band, accompanied the band to Bay City and if you doubt at all about him enjoying himself, well the best thing the band can say is ask Mr. Kolla himself and he will be only too glad to tell you. We all appreciated his presence as he is a live wire and put the needed pep into all of us. And now that the band is back home we are not going to just lay our arms down but we are going to give ourselves with renewed strength and courage and push forward for a still higher goal and when the convention meets next year at Iron Mountain we are going up there and bring home some more prizes.

Delbert Fortney, former sheriff of Ottawa county, left Tuesday for Big Rapids, where he will enter Ferris Institute for at least a year's course in business administration. Mr. Fortney has long been planning on taking this course but up to this time he has been too busy engaged to take it up. After expiration of his term as sheriff, Mr. Fortney entered the insurance and real estate business later selling out to Burr agency.

Mrs. W. E. Dunn returned Tuesday evening after a three months' vacation that she spent with relatives in Vancouver, Seattle, and Portland.

HOLLAND FAIR GETS NEARLY $800 FROM THE STATE

The community fair at Holland received $782.86, from the state, secretary Arendshorst announced. The money is based on last year's total premiums for Michigan products and is awarded under a law enacted some years ago. The awards have been announced by the state department of agriculture and checks will be mailed to fair directors within a few days.

Delay in distributing the $75,000 was caused by the fact that the appropriation bill had no tax clause. The money has been released by the state administrative board, however. Allotment is based on 38 to 41 percent of the previous year's total Michigan products premium list, according to the size of the fair. Larger fairs get a smaller percentage of the premium money in proportion.

Allotments include: Calhoun county agricultural society, 2,175.10; Cheboygan County Fair association, $297.31; Emmet County Agricultural society, $360.25; Kalamazoo County Agricultural society, $2,108.98; Manistee County Agricultural society, $461.10; Michigan Crop Improvement association, $480; Michigan State Horticultural society, $788.50; Michigan Potato Producers association, $400; Northeastern Michigan Fair association, $3,762.64; Northern District Fair association, $1,440.75; Northwestern Michigan Fair association, $1,480.75; Ottawa & West Kent Agricultural society, $494.22; South Ottawa & West Allegan Agricultural society, $732.86; Van Buren County Agricultural society, $1,042.74; Washtenaw County Fair association, $2,086.99; West Michigan Fair association, $4,710.69; West Michigan Potato show, $550.

BLUE GILLS ARE ON JOB AGAIN

Since fishing has been very poor this summer a great many persons who like to go fishing have got out of the habit and so they are missing some fine sport these days. The few lucky ones who were persistent enough to keep on trying when there were no fish have been reaping their reward the past few days.

A large number of blue gills have been caught in Pine Creek bay the past few days, according to fishermen who have been out after them. The legal number may be caught by almost anyone in a brief time, the fishermen say, and many of them have done it. But many others not so persistent have missed their favorite sport because they did not know that the blue gills were on the job again.

Teeth marks on the left cheek of Thomas Cull, 62, Ravenna township, near Conklin, returned Tuesday in a warrant being issued by Prosecutor R. Glen Dunn for the arrest of Anthony Hobin, also of Ravenna township, who Cull said not only used his teeth, but his feet in administering a cruel beating for apparently no reason.

Carl Shaw, well known Holland baseball player and former pitcher in the Michigan State league, hurled Allega to a 5-2 victory Labor day. The opposing club was Otsego and on account of the intense rivalry the game was played in Grand Rapids. Shaw, who has been holding down an infidel's job for the past six years, showed his old time cunning in the box. His slow curve kept the Otsego sluggers guessing all the time and he was never in trouble. Manager Swartz surely crossed up Otsego when he sent Shaw to the mound.

The Rev. J. J. Bannina and wife left Holland on Tuesday evening on their way to Hartford, Conn., where they expect to spend the winter. Dr. and Mrs. Bannina have been missionaries of the American board of foreign missions for 24 years in South India, where Dr. Bannina is now the principal of the Union Theological Seminary located at Pasumalai, Madurai.

Dr. Bannina is a graduate of Hope College of the class of '98, while Mrs. Bannina was Miss Mary Danson who for a few years was a teacher in the Holland public schools. Mrs. Bannina has brothers and sisters living in Holland.

While at Hartford, Dr. Bannina will be connected with the Kennedy School of Missions, one of the largest schools of its kind in this country. It is a school especially intended for those that are preparing for service in the foreign mission field and for missionaries on furlough who wish to do research work in connection with the people and religions of the country where they work. Dr. Bannina will lecture on Indian history, religions, and philosophy. He also intends to devote some time to a special study of the life of Christ in order to be the better able to write a "Life of Christ" for the Christian workers and students of S. India.

The South American entered Holland harbor Saturday and tied up at her docks at Montello Park until next season. The North American entered port Wednesday morning and was saluted by her sister ship, and also by the other steamers in the harbor when she hove into sight.

Both steamers are now being laid up for the winter at their docks, after a very successful season of cruising over the entire chain of lakes.

H. P. Zwemer has bought the old Pere Marquette depot that is to be removed from its present location to make room for the new structure. Mr. Zwemer will remove the porch and the dome, work on which was begun today, and then the main building will be moved to the Zwemer property where it will be placed near a sidetrack and used as a warehouse.

Mr. Zwemer has also purchased the Sam W. Miller restaurant. This building will be moved to the Zwemer property and will face Eight street where it will be used as a store building.

A small fire originating from spontaneous combustion in a sawdust pile at the Imperial Manufacturing company plant on Columbus street called out the Grand Haven department Sunday noon. Very little damage was done and the fire was extinguished within a half an hour. This is the fifth alarm that the Grand Haven fire department has responded to from the Imperial factory in the past week.

"CAPPY" CAPPON IS GIVEN DIFFICULT TASK

Will Marsh, sport correspondent for the Grand Rapids Press, in Wednesday's issue writes the following relative to "Cappy" Cappon of Holland:

"Franklin J. Cappon, one of the most versatile football players who ever wore the Michigan uniform, will have well defined duties when he reports here next week to accept a job as assistant gridiron coach. It will be Cappon's main job to develop a pair of flankers capable of cutting down the end runs of Red Grange and Moon Baker and other gridiron celebrities the Wolverine eleven will face this year."

"Although Cappon gained most of his fame from the fullback position, he played regularly at end one season and is well equipped for the assignment which has been given him. "Capon will have Charles Grube of Saginaw and William Flora of Muskegon as his western flankers. They were the two regular flankers selected last year after considerable experimentation. Grube formerly played fullback while Flora was transferred from tackle. While these two men gave a good account of themselves there still remains plenty of room for improvement."

"Capon will have nine other ambitious candidates for the flanking job. Bennie Oosterbaan, famous Muskegon athlete, will be given his first varsity test, and Webber of Mt. Clemens is expected to prove a find."

The board of directors of Pine Lodge assembly held a dinner meeting at P. Ne Lodge hotel on Black Lake, Sept. 4th. This was in the nature of a farewell dinner to Mr. and Mrs. John F. Case of Sayville, N. Y., who have so ably assisted the board in making the hotel a financial success during the past summer. A short business meeting was held at which President R. B. Boler of Holland announced the appointment of the committees which will have charge of the various phases of the work for the coming year. It was decided to engage a landscape artist with the idea of enhancing the natural beauty of the grounds and making it the beauty spot of Black Lake.

The hotel closed Tuesday, Sept. 5, to be opened again June 1, 1926, by which time it will be remodelled and redecorated.

Walter Paulson, 29, Fruitport, died in Hackley hospital, Muskegon, late Tuesday of injuries received when a silo filler exploded while in operation on the Chitenden farm, near Cloverville, Monday. Accumulated gas is said to have caused the explosion which wrecked the filler, owned by Paulson. Pieces of steel that let go out through his back and into the lungs. Several brothers residing in Fruitport survive.

A call from the first Christian Reformed church of Kalamazoo to Rev. J. L. Lamberts of Fremont has been declined. The church is the one from which Rev. Henry Danhof was ousted as pastor more than a year ago, together with 13 members of the consistory who dissented to the articles of common grace, and it has since been without a regular minister. Rev. Danhof's adherents are now erecting another church.

Mrs. Margaret E. Dennie, 74 years of age, widow of the late Joseph Dennie, passed away Saturday at her home in Spring Lake. Mrs. Dennie had been a resident of that community for many years. For a time she lived on a farm in Spring Lake township and later resided in Spring Lake village. Her husband passed away May 6, 1915.

Deceased is survived by her two brothers, and one sister, Herman J. Roberts Fenwick, Mich. Mrs. E. White, Fenwick and A. E. Roberts of Deer Creek, Minn. Five nieces and four nephews also survive.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home in Spring Lake, in charge of Capt. Glassbrook of the Salvation Army. Burial was in Spring Lake.

The Holland nimbros are beginning to clean and oil their guns for duck Sept. 16 ushers in the duck season, when it becomes legal to bag 15 ducks in one day from sunrise to sunset, except in Wild Fowl Bay, adjacent to Bay Port, where shooting must stop at 4 o'clock. If this 4 o'clock restriction held good on every marsh in the state, our duck shooting would improve and the gunners would at least give the marsh birds a chance to feed and rest. The afternoon light brings in the birds from open water about this time and if they are greeted with a shower of lead, every time they attempt to land for food, it only means that they will look for other feeding grounds farther south. A good way to chase the birds away from Michigan is to keep on shooting from sunrise to sunset.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sirrine and son and daughter spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sirrine.

Eighty-three boys from all parts of Michigan have received railroad tickets from G. W. Dickinson, secretary-manager of the Michigan State Fair, to attend the fair from September 4 to 13.

Raymond Ragoni, of Ramsey, will cover more ground to get to the fair than any of the other boys. He will travel from Gogebic county, in the Upper Peninsula, to Detroit, via Chicago. The cost in transportation will amount to about $1,050, for all the 83 boys guests.

Each year an eighth grade examination is held in each county of the state, supervised by county commissioners of schools, and boys are chosen to represent their county at the state fair school. All expenses are paid at the fair and the boy undergoes an intensive course in agriculture under competent directors.

The boys will encamp in a grove at the fair grounds and will be fed at the fair kitchens. They will be under the direction of an excellent physical director.

Competition is limited to boys between the ages of 14 to 18.

The boy from Ottawa county was Peter Walters of Borculo, who not only had the highest standing of any pupil in the Ottawa county rural schools, but has had the best test in the course embracing agriculture according to the School Commissioner Gerrit Groenewoud, who gave the students the different tests.

LIVELY WEEK. END FOR POLICE AND SHERIFF

The Grand Haven city police force and Sheriff Kamferbeek and his men had a rather busy week-end when they haled eight people into court on liquor charges and nailed six speeders. All of the speeders were taken in Spring Lake by the deputies and all of the liquor arrests were made in Grand Haven, two at one of the Spring Lake resorts and two near Fruitport.

Six speeders, the majority of them from Grand Rapids, were nabbed in Spring Lake on Saturday, Sunday and Monday night on their return home after the holiday. They were all arraigned and charged with speeding and reckless driving before Justice Pruim of Spring Lake. Spring Lake seems to have been a popular speedway but the deputies are vigilant and are nabbing many lawbreakers.

The Grand Haven city police force took four young men into custody Saturday night on Walter-st., Grand Haven, on charge of disorderly conduct. All were alleged to be under the influence of liquor when apprehended and were arraigned Tuesday morning on the above charges. The Grand Haven young men were: John Systema, Garret Systema and Garret Williamsen. Morris Anderson of Muskegon was taken in company with the aforementioned trio and also paid fine and costs.

The sheriff's department was called to Strawberry Point resort on Spring Lake upon complaint of several residents. The officers took Charles Dusterwinkle and Bernie Vandermeiden, both of Grand Haven, into custody and arraigned them on a liquor charge. Each man paid a fine and costs of $15.30 Tuesday.

A colored couple was arrested near Fruitport for disturbing the peace. The officers took the couple to the county jail where it was found that a trifling disagreement between the dusky parties led to blows and a real battle was in progress when the officers arrived. The man who gave his name as Robert Wilson, of Muskegon, paid a fine and costs for disturbing the peace. No charge was made against the woman who told the officers that she was Millie Martin also from Muskegon.

Fred Vanderwagon of Ferrysburg was arrested Tuesday on complaint of C. Cobb of Robinson who charges that Vander Wagon stole his dog. The case has been taken to circuit court. Albert Doxak of Grand Haven was also arraigned Tuesday morning on a charge of driving a car while intoxicated.

Holland High may find their neighbor Grand Haven easy this year when it comes to football.

Coach Bus Cohrs and the Grand Haven High school football eleven faces the hardest schedule in the history of the school this season. The G. H. coach has plenty of backfield material from the 1924 team, but he must build a new line.

Campbell, Roberts and Mahan are the candidates for quarterback, while Len Kammeraad and Steve Sluka are veteran halfbacks. Kammeraad probably will do the punting. Ehrmans, whose leg was broken in one of the games early last season will be out for the fullback position.

But Cohrs must build up a line largely from inexperienced material, although he will be able to use Fase and Dirks, last year's tackles, who weigh around 150 pounds each.

Zeeland opens the season there, while Flint follows. Other opponents on the schedule are Grand Rapids South, Greenville, Kalamazoo Normal High, South Haven, Holland, Benton Harbor and Muskegon Heights.

For the first time in several years Grand Haven and Muskegon have not yet buried the hatchets, because of a grievance that the "County Seaters" claim to have against the "Sawdusters" of some years' standing.

Pat Halley and family motored to Holland from Chicago to spend Labor day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Halley, 209 West 12th-st. Some years ago Mr. Halley was foreman at the Holland City News office but is now in charge of a printing plant at Chicago.

James Yonkman, one of the proprietors of the Model Drug store, took a bride Wednesday morning and he is now away on his honeymoon. The bride is Miss Jeannette Jonker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Jonker. The couple went quietly to the parsonage of Trinity Reformed church where the ceremony was performed at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. C. P. Dame, pastor of that church.

Mr. and Mrs. Yonkman are very well known in this city. As one of the proprietors of the Model Drug store for several years and as an employee in that place for several years before that, Mr. Yonkman has made many friends in Holland.

The couple left Wednesday morning for an automobile wedding trip through the eastern states.

Despite the threats of rain and an occasional shower, a good crowd listened to the program given in commemoration of the 25th year of the Holland School for Christian Instruction held in the auditorium of the state capital, before the commission, delivered by Rev. J. M. VandeKieft, Mr. Rebalds of Muskegon, Mr. Heestburg, the new principal of both schools, who recently accepted the position beginning with the new school year.

Mr. A. Pieters gave an interesting sketch of the history of the school from the time of its inception up to the present. He spoke of the hardships and obstacles that were encountered at first and pictured the success and growth of the school now.

He closed by thanking those who worked so faithfully in the past in order to make the school what it is today and he stated that he hoped that many others would continue to give their earnest support to the local institution.

A short period of the evening was devoted to a social when light refreshments were served by the Eunice and Monica Aid societies. At that time a few musical numbers were rendered by the Colonial orchestra.

GOODRICH LINE LINKS UP WITH MOTOR BUS LINE

A Kalamazoo bus company has announced the purchase of five new, large and improved buses at a cost of $11,250 each to be put into operation for interurban service between that city and nearby points.

A 60-horse power engine, capable of developing speed of 35 miles an hour with its capacity load of 35 persons is installed.

According to the company, a through line between Jackson and Benton Harbor, connecting a similar line from Detroit to Jackson, will be operated.

A contract has been signed with the Goodrich Transportation company operating passenger boats from Chicago to Benton Harbor and return service beginning Tuesday, Sept. 5. This will enable passengers to leave Kalamazoo at 5 P. M., have an all night ride on the lake and arrive in Chicago early next morning.

This win gives the Fords a chance to tie for first place fifth the Federals.

This was a good game until the last half of the 5th inning when the Fords scored 3 runs. Becken pitched a good game for the Fords and Overbeek was the hitting star with 3 hits out of 4 times up.

White Lake coastguards resuscitated Mrs. John G. Guerin, Webster avenue, Muskegon, after she had been under water of Lake Michigan at Sylvan Beach about 20 minutes Sunday night. Guards under direction of Capt. Patrick Barnard, continued their efforts two hours and 50 minutes before Mrs. Guerin revived. She was swimming alone.

She is a daughter of former Congressman Joseph W. Fordney of Saginaw.

The D. A. R. year book for 1925-26 is in the hands of the members and it outlines a most interesting program for the coming season. The first meeting will be a picnic at the home of Mrs. D. B. Yntema on the Zealand road, on Thursday Sept. 10. The year book shows a membership of 54, an increase of 6 over last year. The officers are as follows: Regent, Miss Katharine Post; Vice Regent, Mrs. D. B. Yntema; Rec. Sec. Mrs. Otto Kramer; Cor. Sec. Mrs. Martha Robbins; Treas. Mrs. W. J. Garrod; Registrar, Mrs. Wm. C. Vandenberg; Historian, Miss Martha Sherwood; Chaplain, Miss Florence Cotton; Directors, Mrs. M. A. Clark, Mrs. Harold McLean.

Will you kindly publish the enclosed clipping? It is an illustration of what communities are doing everywhere to keep green the memory of those who shed lustre on their native soil through their acquired home. And what is our beloved city doing for the memory of Dr. Van Raalte and the brave men and women who made its existence possible? Nothing short of a heroic statue will suffice to commemorate the lives and deeds of the founders of this community. Will Holland do it?

Anthony Rosbach.

Fletcher, N. C. Sept. 8.—Five memorials to Edgar Wilson (Bill) Nye, grouped about his last resting place in the heart of the Blue Ridge mountains at Fletcher, were formally dedicated Tuesday, Aug. 25. These reminders of the famous humorist include a memorial window in old Calvary Episcopal church; a bronze tablet marking his grave in the churchyard; a monument on which a bronze tablet will tell a brief story of his life on the Hendersonville, Asheville highway; a memorial flagstaff, the gift of the city of Asheville, and a memorial shelter erected by the Masonic fraternity of Asheville. Dedication exercises over these memorials marked the seventy-fifth anniversary of the humorist's birth at Shiloh, Me.

The Young Women's Missionary societies of Holland will give a farewell to Miss Evelyn Zwemer on Wednesday night, Sept. 8th, in the Third Reformed church parlors. Miss Zwemer is to take up her duties as field secretary for young women's work in New York City on Sept. 15. All friends are also invited.

Having again its full quota of 500 students, Hillsdale college has been compelled to close registration for the coming year, although college does not open until Sept. 17. A half dozen places have been reserved for outstanding students who may, between now and the opening of college, be admitted to offset those who have been eliminated by the increased competition to maintain place. Registrations are being received for 1926-27.

Representatives of the Bell Telephone Co. who are asking for a revision upward in the telephone rates in the state, are in Lansing thoroughly armed with books, papers and data through which they will endeavor to show that they are entitled to higher rates.

They have a corps of attorneys present to handle their end of the case and in Tuesday's meeting at the state capital, before the commission, they laid stress upon Holland as one of the cities where the exchange is being run at a loss.

Traverse City, Royal Oaks, Grand Haven, Allegan are also among the cities where exchanges do not pay, the company declares, and consequently the company asks that these rates be adjusted to conform with fair business dealing.

Detroit, it appears, will have a reduced rate. On the other hand it seems as if Grand Rapids is also in for a raise.

The Holland men are still on the ground looking after the interests of this city. From all indications it is to be a long drawn out battle, and the readjustment of rates may have to be taken up with the towns individually, since conditions in the respective cities cannot help but govern in the expense of conducting a telephone exchange.

Mr. Ralph Schepers, R. R. 3, Holland, has won first prize among 10,000 contestants in a word puzzle contest. The Lake Elsinore Valley Press, published at Elsinore, Riverside County, California, tells the details of Mr. Schepers' success as follows:

"The cross-word puzzle contest recently conducted by the Cleveland Realty Corporation in a number of nationally circulated magazines has closed. Answers, exceeding 10,000 in number, were received from every state in the Union, the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska, Porto Rico, Mexico City, Canada, France, England and Norway.

"G. R. Gough, vice president of the First National Bank of Elsinore, J. C. Neblett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and Roy F. Chamberlain, business manager of the Press constituted the board of judges, much time being spent in careful consideration before selecting the winner.

"The first essential was that the solution be correct; neatness being the next requisite. Many of the solutions being both neat and correct the judges were obliged to resort to a third requirement, that of originality. For some time it appeared that a Chicago contest would have the honor of first prize, but finally the judges unanimously selected the solution of Ralph Schepers of Holland, Michigan, as being the most original and the best of the thousands of solutions received.

"Schepers' solution is reproduced in this issue of the Press. Naturally the reproduction does not do justice to the original, which was in colors and represented trees and orange groves of California, the majestic Elsinore mountains, beautiful Lake Elsinore, and in other ways suggested the resources, industries and advantages of Southern California in general, and Lake Elsinore in particular. It is not known whether or not Schepers ever visited California or Lake Elsinore, but if he has not, he had a vivid imagination that enabled him to do justice to the district.

"During the time the contest was running a representative of the Press visited the Los Angeles offices of the Cleveland Realty Corporation—which, by the way, proved to be one of the largest, busiest and most luxurious real estate offices in the city—and there found a dozen or more clerks sorting opening and checking answers submitted by the various contestants. Each contestant was sent a letter of acknowledgment together with a request as to why the puzzle was answered. Practically all contestants replied to the question.

"Monday of this week the check of these answers was completed. It showed that over 80 per cent hoped to some day come to California to reside permanently. Hundreds of inquiries were received asking for information as to business, living, ranching and other conditions, all of which were answered by the Cleveland organization.

"The contest ran for a number of weeks, appearing in such well-known publications as Liberty, Capper's Magazine of Washington, D. C., Chicago Herald-Examiner, Des Moines Register, Denver Post and Salt Lake Tribune."

Fruit growers with orchard land along the east shore of Lake Michigan have an opportunity few horticulturists in the United States now enjoy, experiments at the South Haven horticultural experiment station tend to show.

Pear trees in orchards near the lake are more resistant to fire blight than inland blocks, according to Supt. Stanley Johnston of the station. In fact the trees are so successful in resisting the bacterial diseases that the Michigan State college and the United States department of agriculture have been unable to make much progress in South Haven, with their work to find new blight resistant varieties of pears.

Seedling trees have been inoculated with blight cultures but to all appearances, the inoculations had no injurious effect upon the trees. But trees from the same block died of fire blight after they were transplanted in the government's experiment station near Washington. The disease traveled through the trees briskly and made short work of the varietal projects in progress at the South Haven station.

As yet the government and state college have not produced a blight resistant tree at that station but the work is being continued in the hopes that some day the specialists will make the right cross to produce a blight resistant pear tree of commercial importance.

Fire blight has driven thousands of pear growers out of the pear industry in the west and east, and should further experiments here and at farms along the lake shore indicate there is something about Lake Michigan's influence, and state's climate that imparts immunity to blight, pear growing may be expected to take on new interest in western Michigan. Already many growers are studying the possibilities of this fruit and larger planting of Bartlett and other commercial varieties will be made in the spring of 1926.

Experiments at the station have drawn growers' attention to a promising old English variety. The Conference pear is of English origin and it has been overlooked by growers in this state. It is one of the best dessert pears produced but it is not as desirable for canning purposes as it has a pink flesh instead of white like the Bartlett and others. It is not as attractive in appearance as the Clapp's Favorite as it has a greenish russet skin. The fruit ripens about the time of the Bose.

The trees are of the semi-dwarf type and are heavy producers. They make a short, hardy growth. The station has propagated about 75 trees of this variety which it proposes to distribute among pear growers for next spring.

The Alden Bus line operating 8 busses between Benton Harbor and South Haven has been sold to the Safety Motor Coach lines of Grand Rapids for $40,000 according to an announcement made here.

The Safety Motor Coach Co. busses now operate from Petoskey, along the West shore to Chicago. According to E. C. Eckstrom, President of the line, 100 "greyhounds" busses will be operating on the route by the summer of 1926.

Mr. Henry Ogge and daughter Miss Winifred of Kalamazoo are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Mulder and family, 79 West 15th street.

Shortly before midnight, County Clerk Frank McNary of Marshall, Mich., was aroused from sound sleep by the insistent ring of his telephone. "I want a marriage license," an excited youth shouted into the sleepy clerk's ears. "I just heard if I don't get it today, I'll have to wait five days under the new law."

"Too late now," McNary replied. "It would take me 10 minutes to get to my office and by that time the law would be in effect and you couldn't get the license any way."

The first application for license under the new law was filed by George J. Johnson, 56 years old, and Mollie Franks, 42 years old, both of Cleveland. The license will be issued next Monday. As both are visiting in the state, they said it would not inconvenience them to wait five days to procure the license.

Income tax lists for 1924, containing the names of all tax payers in the western district of Michigan, will be open for public inspection at the Federal building at Grand Rapids, beginning today, in accordance with an act of congress which became effective a year ago. The lists will be open to the public at offices of internal revenue collectors in all parts of the United States at the same time.

The lists may be seen only between the hours of 10 and 2, so that there will be no interference in official business due to visitors consulting the lists. It was stated Monday at the office of Collector Charles Holden. Only the amounts assessed taxpayers and not the gross income, nor details of reports by business houses will be shown to the public, however.

One of the interesting experiments being conducted at the Michigan State college this year is one to determine whether the wind and small insects will carry the pollen of beets through the protection of nainsook. The beets have been enclosed within a box of the cloth about two feet high and wide enough so that the seed spiklets have plenty of room to grow.

In alternating boxes are plants of the red garden, beets and of the sugar beet. If the pollen is carried, then the color of the garden beet and the characteristic form of the sugar beet will be disclosed in the beets resulting from the planting of the seeds.

Prof. E. E. Downs, who has charge of the experiment is of the belief he has already attained a larger production of seed. The growth of seed spiklets has been large and the quantity of pollen present increased, thus insuring fertilization.

Prof. Downs points out that the repetition of the experiment over a series of years will decide whether the cost will allow for commercial use, and whether or not the seed resulting has any defects.

The members and former members of the Sunday School class, "Daughters of the King," of Ninth Street Chr. Reformed church, taught by Miss Tena Holkeboer before her departure to the mission field in China, held a class reunion in her honor on Thursday night.

The reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Schrotenboer, living at East Saugatuck. Mrs. Schrotenboer being a former member of the class, who invited the girls and entertained them very pleasantly, for which they all gave a rising vote of thanks.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing games, the prizes being

Hudson-Essex Defeat Pine Creek

In the fastest game of the season, regulation nine innings in 1 hour and 25 minutes. Hyma again showed that he was master of the situation at all times. He allowed only three hits and not a man reached 2nd base until the sixth inning. He got two hits out of three times up. One of these was for two bases and he also scored 2 of the five runs. Schreier also got 2 hits out of 3 times at bat. This game was called at 6:05 and finished at 7:30, a record for this season as most of the twilight games do not go over 5 or 6 innings.

Remittances for the annual tax on corporations are coming to the Secretary of State's Department. The tax was payable July 1, and without penalty up to Sept. 20. Most of the remittances are sent the last few weeks immediately preceding Sept. 20. Last year the amount of the corporation tax collected was $6,189,575.88. Secretary Charles J. De Land states that the delinquents each year since the corporation tax law was enacted have been inconsequential. One gratifying result he adds, is that the act has placed the state's corporation records in far better shape than they have been before. All inactive corporations have been put out of business; that is, deprived of corporate recognition by the state. All corporations are so death with that have not filed an annual report for two years.

New mail boxes recently placed on the market, designed to give complete protection for apartment dwellers' mail matter in larger cities and to save the tenants from having their boxes stuffed with all sorts of undesired advertising literature, are meeting with growing popularity.

These boxes, finished in five attractive baked on enamel finishes, come in gangs of from two to eight units. They are solidly constructed of high-grade one-piece and electrically welded furniture steel and have steel or brass fronts.

The upper row or postman's key works as a unit by the postman's key working in a lock furnished by the U. S. Postal Department. Individual tenants' keys open the separate boxes. Slots permit the insertion of caller's cards or telegram or special delivery notices.

Allegan Gazette—There will be many toes warmed by the Holland Furnace this winter, as was shown by the long list of purchasers displayed in the Holland Furnace Co. booth at the Allegan fair. Mr. E. C. Cotts had placed the Allegan agency in the forefront of the Holland Furnace company agencies of the county by his pleasant personality and strict attention to business. Perhaps, too, he has been greatly aided by the character of the furnace he has to sell. The saying that the "Holland Furnace" makes "warm friends" who become "boosters" is no exaggeration. The display of complete furnaces and separate parts made clear the massive construction which makes for safety and long life, and showed the fuel efficiency of the long smoke ring. This is only a small part of what Mr. Cotts had to say.

The classical board of benevolence of the Reformed church will meet in regular session, on Wed., Sept. 16, at 2 o'clock, in the First church of Holland. The purpose of the meeting is the consideration of applications for aid, and it is the desire of the board that all applications shall be in the hands of the secretary on or before that date. New applicants must appear in person before the board.

Some persons in Holland, a good many of them in fact, who own pistols and revolvers are going to be up against a charge that will mean a circuit court case unless they lose no time in registering their weapons with the local police department. Chief of Police Van Ry issued this warning Wednesday because he is not anxious to get revolver owners into unnecessary trouble. By attending to registration now they will prevent future trouble.

The time limit for registration really expired on August 27th, and a strict construction of the law would mean trouble even for those who come in now. But registrations will be accepted by chief Van Ry for a reasonable period. However, the owners of revolvers have already had much time and it will not be long when the time limit will definitely end.

So far only 215 have registered and Chief Van Ry is convinced that that is only a small number of pistols and revolvers owned in the city. If anyone is caught with an unregistered weapon of this description he is liable to fine and imprisonment.

Fred Gordon of Nun'ca and one of the Ottawa county board of supervisors has developed what he believes to be a new and unique strain of wheat. The wheat is of the hard white variety and is of very high quality. The wheat is an exceptionally high yielder and is very well adapted to growth in this section of the country. There seems to be much of this variety of wheat growing on Mr. Gordon's farm and it may be possible that a new strain will be developed.

With this in view Mr. Gordon through C. P. Milham, county agricultural agent, has sent a sample of this wheat to the crops department of the Michigan State college. It is expected that they will plant the wheat and make observations on the growth and ascertain the strain. If it is a new strain Mr. Gordon stipulates that it be so announced and that the name of the new variety shall be "Ottawa Wheat". The wheat was brought to this part of the country from California and may be a long lost strain of some old variety.

The Saugatuck public schools will open next Tuesday, Sept. 8, at 8:30. A large enrollment is expected, especially in high school. Equipment for courses in home economics is being installed, together with other improvements.

The faculty for this year includes several new teachers, all of whom have had excellent training and hold certificates and degrees which make the teacher training standard of the Saugatuck schools very high. The faculty is as follows:

Mrs. Ruth Lincoln Hill, Primary; Miss Hazel Stuck, Intermediate; Miss Edith Hokanson, Junior high; Mrs. Anna Blaine Bush, Latin, History; Miss Frances Davis, English, Home Economics; Mr. Lloyd Waugh (Principal of high school), Science, Economics; Mr. H. M. Hill (Superintendent), Mathematics and Athletics.

An old war veteran arrived in Holland Saturday morning, having hiked from Grand Rapids where he had been attending the national encampment. Apparently the old gentleman was pretty well worn out because of the long tramp, for he repeatedly went into the middle of the street in order to halt a driver going in the direction of Chicago. After two hours of patient hailing he found one going to Saugatuck, and no doubt from there on he will find some other willing driver who will take him on his way further.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith and Dorothy and William were tendered a farewell reception by the people of the Methodist church Thursday night. After a sumptuous supper was served a home talent play written by Mrs. Gunn and Mrs. McClellan was played by seven little girls dressed as little old ladies gossiping over the teacups about the affairs of the church and reviewing gossip-style the many nice things done for the church and community by Mr. Smith and family.

Mr. Henry Te Roller sang two solos, after which Mr. and Mrs. Smith were presented with a teapot which was a replica of the one made exclusively for John Wesley by Josiah Wedgwood over 300 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Smith touchingly responded to remarks made by Mr. De Vinney and ended the program by singing a duet invoking God's blessing upon the church.

Mr. Smith has resided in Holland while he was county secretary of the Y. M. C. A. but since entering the insurance field he has been assigned the Grand Haven territory. They are moving to Washington-st., Grand Haven.

The Michigan Manual, recompiled every two years and commonly called the Red Book, has been issued for 1925 by the Secretary of State. It is the state government's statistical hand book. The biennial recompilations were becoming larger each succeeding two years until, in 1919, it made a volume of 1,032 pages. Then it was decided to condense it. So, in 1921, the volume contained 883 pages, in 1923, 847, and this year but 686. The present recompilation contains the first official maps printed of the Senatorial and Representative districts as rearranged at this year's Legislative session.

John Greengood, secretary of the local board of civil service, announces that he still has a limited number of applications for the clerk-carrier examination to be held the 19th of this month. Applications must be in the hands of the district secretary at Chicago not later than Sept. 9th.

Any vacancies occurring during the next year or two will be filled from the eligible list resulting from this examination. With the increased salaries granted by congress last winter, the postal service is now a special inducement for men between the ages of 18 and 45 years.

Al. De Weerd caught a 3 lb. and 9 ounce black bass Friday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Gordon of Holland, are the guests of Zeeland relatives for a week.

Miss Tena Holkeboer and Miss Jeannette Holkeboer and Mrs. Cornelia Vander Meulen. The class history was also read by Miss Anne Holkeboer after which Miss Tena Holkeboer gave each of the girls a pretty hand-made gift, which she brought from China and made by the Chinese. The girls gave her a hearty thanks, which showed their appreciation.

A three course luncheon was served after which the girls sang their closing hymn and departed in automobiles for their respective homes.

The girls present were: Misses Tena Holkeboer, Anne Holkeboer, Jeannette Holkeboer, Gertrude Holkeboer, Angie Doger, Anna Straatama, Bertha Vos, Florence Branderhorst, Jennie Dekker, Martha Bos, Cora Slenk, Marie Plaggemaars, Henrietta Puter and

Also the former members, Mrs. Cornelia Vander Meulen, Mrs. Grace Rutgers, Mrs. Ruth Topp, Mrs. Hattie Ter Beek, Mrs. Sena Bouwman, Mrs. Minnie Schroetenboer, Mrs. Cora Jaardama, Mrs. Lena Brunschart, Mrs. Catherine Cook, Mrs. Henrietta Schaddelee, Mrs. Johanna Van Langeveld, Mrs. Gertrude Trimp and Miss Tymes sister of the hostess.

That's what everyone has to say who has seen the latest Ford cars.

That such attractive motor cars could be offered without the slightest increase in price, seemed incredible to a public long familiar with Ford values.

Yet enthusiasm for the smart new appearance can never supersede the fact that it is the quality of materials and workmanship that has made the Ford the world's leading automobile value. New beauty has not crowded out traditional Ford reliability.

The very volume of Ford output demands absolute accuracy of every working part. The steady flow of production is dependent upon parts fitting together perfectly; inaccuracies would interrupt and delay assembly. And to this precision must be largely credited the uniformly fine performance

TEN THOUSAND VISIT HAMILTON ON MONDAY

People from Holland who attended the celebration at Hamilton on Labor day estimate that not less than ten thousand people gathered at that village Monday to attend the celebration. One of the officials of the entertainment declared that by actual count there were more than 1,000 automobiles more than were parked at Hamilton a year ago when a similar celebration was held. Every available space was taken for a long distance surrounding the grounds and it is said to have been the largest gathering that has ever been held in Hamilton.

The forenoon was given over to sports and at noon the large crowd enjoyed a picnic dinner at Dykstra's grove. Lunches and refreshments were sold by the Hamilton Welfare association, the proceeds to be used for community benefits.

At the afternoon meeting Herman Brower was chairman and the program opened with music by the Hamilton band. Rev. J. A. Roggen pronounced the invocation and John Vandervelde led the community singing. A splendid address was given by Rev. W. W. Diehl, of Albion College, a minister and farmer, who called upon the farmers to organize not for selfish ends but to be of benefit to the community and nation. He said the movement from the farm to the city was like a funeral march and that the health of the nation requires that it shall be halted.

The program was enlivened by selections by colored musicians from Chicago and by Irish-Dutch readings by Bert Hogan of Grand Rapids. A Chevrolet automobile was given away and about $300 in prizes was awarded to winners in the various sport events.

The evening speaker, Dr. G. L. Scherger, professor of history in the Armour Institute, Chicago, did not fill his date, but the evening program was crowded with other events. There was music by the Hamilton band, Monday.

community singing led by Mr. Vandervelde, selections by the colored entertainers, readings by Bert Hogan and motion pictures.

All in all it was a most successful entertainment and it brought people to Hamilton from a large territory.

Deputy Sheriff Ed Ryenga and Forest Salisbury went to Kalamazoo on Sunday where they took Anthony Kuzavva to the State hospital there. Kuzavva has been kept in the county jail for the past week or more pending the receipt of word from Detroit where he said he resided. He has caused the officers no trouble and is not dangerously insane. He appears to be demented over religion.

The Grand Haven Chamber of Commerce in line with its policy of seeking to better the condition of Grand Haven has opened negotiations with four manufacturing concerns and it is expected that several of them will be asked to come to Grand Haven and locate. Two of the firms are Chicago concerns and one is located in Grand Rapids. President F. C. Pelt of the Chamber of Commerce and Secretary Gross left for Chicago to investigate the plants and resources of these factories. The board of directors authorized these men to make the trip in the interest of the Grand Haven organization at their last meeting.—G. H. Tribune.

Next Sunday evening the pastor of Trinity Reformed church, Rev. C. P. Dams, will begin a new series of sermons on the subject, "Beginnings." The following sermons compose the series: "The first Man"; "The first Command"; "The first Prohibition"; "The first Sin"; "The first Sacrifice"; "The first Grave"; "The first Civilization."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nash from Racine, Wisconsin, and Dr. Carl Van Raalte and Mrs. Van Raalte from Milwaukee, are returning to their homes after a two weeks visit with friends and relatives in Holland.

The Grand Rapids Herald in its column of 25 years ago has the following: "Engineer Peter J. Meeuwse, of Holland, was the hero of a collision at Zeeland, Sept. 8, 1905, when two fruit trains collided. Meeuwse had warning in time to jump but stayed to shut off the air before the crash, with the idea of giving his mates a better chance of life. He was the only man killed." Mr. Meeuwse was a brother to Mrs. Conde Free of Holland.

Whants chapel at Hope college is undergoing many changes. The stock room for library books was not adequate and the basement in the chapel was also rearranged and rebuilt so that now a large amount of space is available for books. A new entrance has also been made and the building is also now heated in a much better manner than before. Dr. Dimment has had a crew of workmen busy getting everything in ship shape for the opening day Sept. 16th. The high school graduates all over the country are being turned down because the colleges are filled to capacity. Hillsdale has already closed its registration and ten days still remain before the school officially opens. No doubt Dr. Dimment will find some way of eliminating the students who are not worthy of a college education and the freshmen especially will have to toe the mark and keep their grades up if they wish to get the diploma. The time was when students had to be begged to enroll but the tide has changed and it is now a question of the survival of the fittest.

Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Kempers, who are soon to go to Chapas, Mexico for the Reformed church, will speak at the Prayer meeting in Trinity church Thursday evening. The members of the congregation are offered an opportunity to become acquainted with these young workers before their departure.

Domine and Mrs. Richard Blocker of Awasco, N. Y., who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Hoek, 104 W. 17th street, the past few days returned Wednesday to their home, making the trip via automobile.

Mrs. P. H. Doan of Chicago is the guest of friends in Holland for the week.

Mrs. Fenton will be in her studio at Voorhees dormitory, Hope college, on Friday, September 11th, from 12:30 until 2:30, to interview any students who wish to arrange for voice lessons.

PEOPLES STATE BANK TO BUILD NEW STRUCTURE

One of the biggest real estate deals in Eighth street business property in some time was closed Tuesday afternoon when the Peoples State bank became the owner of approximately 45 feet of choice business property just west of the new DeVries & Dornbos furniture store. Not only is the transfer of this real estate significant in itself but it acquires added importance from the fact that it presages the erection of a beautiful new bank building, which, it is said by officials of the bank, will be the last word in bank construction. No definite action for the erection of the new building has yet been taken but since the property was purchased specifically for that purpose the rest is certain to follow as soon as the preliminary steps can be taken.

The property was purchased from two parties, Dr. U. F. Devries and Joe Kooker. The property is now occupied by two small frame stores, in one of which the U. S. Army store is located and the other of which is occupied by the hardware store of G. De Motay. These two small stores will be broken down when the bank gets ready to build and will be replaced by a fine structure which will be in keeping with the appearance of the fine DeVries & Dornbos store adjoining it. When completed it will make, together with the furniture stores, one of the finest business structures in Holland.

The purchase of the real estate for the new bank involved a consideration of $34,500. While negotiations have been in progress for some time, the board of directors of the bank authorized the purchase of the property at its meeting Tuesday afternoon and the papers for the transfer of the property have already been signed.

The Peoples State bank has been casting around for some time for a site for a new bank, the old building having become entirely too small to take care of the rapidly growing business. The present bank was erected 20 years ago. At that time it was entirely modern in construction and equipment embodying the latest ideas in banking institutions. But progress in banking and bank construction has been rapid since that time so that the building has become too small.

Another factor that was not considered 20 years ago when the bank was built was the growth of Holland. It was not seen then that Holland would make the rapid strides it has made in the past two decades. Hence the city has outgrown the bank, and the officials of the bank have for some time been looking around for an opportunity to bring the bank equipment up to the growth of the city and to provide for a still larger growth in the future. When the new building is erected it is understood that it will be large enough to allow for community expansion and it will have all the latest ideas in bank construction.

LAKE TOWN

For nearly three years back Lake-town and Holland township have been voting to have a new school building erected near Montello Park, in order to accommodate the pupils in that rapidly growing district.

Several elections were held but at no time was there a majority sufficient to legalize the vote. Last spring the project carried with a large majority, and during the summer the new school has been built by the Bolhuis Lumber & Manufacturing company in the Montello Park district.

The structure is of brick veneer, is attractive in design, has four large rooms and a basement, and it will accommodate about 125 pupils.

The building is modern in every respect, and has its own water and electric light system.

A large auditorium and play room is to be found in the basement, and the heating plant is of the most modern type. It is expected the building will be ready for occupancy by the latter part of September.

This new structure will relieve a bad congestion that has existed for some time in the other schools in Laketown and Holland township in that vicinity. Even Holland took care of 30 and 40 pupils in the local schools, in order to help out our neighbors in their vexing school dilemma.

A party of railway officials appeared in Hamilton one day last week and gave orders to the boss of the section crew to discharge all men in the crew who had attained the age of fifty years. The order fortunately applied to but two men on the Hamilton section. It has been suggested that men thus early in life discharged by railway companies are yet perhaps young enough to secure employment on some of the air lines operated by the aviation companies.

He was riding north on the Beeline and was not far out of the village when the accident happened. The bone in his left leg above the knee was broken in two places and the flesh badly lacerated and other minor injuries sustained. Fortunately a car driven by Harold Dangremond was close behind and hurried the injured man to town where he received immediate medical attention.

The flesh on the injured leg was so badly lacerated that it was found impossible to set the bone before permitting the wound to heal. It is planned to take him to a hospital in Holland as soon as possible.

FENNVILLE

"The bigger they are, the harder they fall" is an old slang expression and it is applicable to a local case of wrong doing. About the middle of May "Ed" Roberts, supervisor of Manlius and owner of one of the finest Ayshire herds in the state, announced that he was going back to his native country, England, to look after his business interests there. Before leaving he resigned his office as supervisor. Some weeks ago word was given out that he was dead. It now is known that Roberts never went to England, but went to southern California, where he received a thousand dollars from his brother in England. The brother wrote her to Mrs. Roberts, asking why he was in California and it was in this way that the fraud was discovered. Roberts has now taken steps to secure a divorce from his wife, who with six children are at Fennville on the farm. Before going away, Roberts had been very attentive to a widow who left here in June to go to Los Angeles and they have been seen together there, so that the cause for this scandal is evident. Roberts was a bright man and received large sums from his family estates in England. He came to New Richmond from Canada and later bought the Edward Lamoreaux farm which he greatly improved. Much sympathy is felt for the family.

The year-books of the Fennville Woman's club have been issued and a profitable programme has been arranged. Through the gift of $2,000 by Mrs. Belle Northgrave the club has been able to acquire a large residence in the center of the village and has had it remodeled into a fine club-house. The meeting room is 30x30 feet and there are cloak-rooms, kitchen, and library with a fine suite of living rooms above. The big event of the club year will be the fruit and flower show to be held in the school auditorium, Sept. 25 and 26. Besides the show, which has become noted, there will be two addresses the first evening, by Hon. John C. Ketcham and Dr. Gardner, head of the agricultural department of Michigan State college.

Pears are being marketed and apples will soon be coming on. Never before have apples been so far advanced as this season, their color being specially fine. The crop is large and the quality excellent. The Fennville fruit exhibit at the county fair was awarded first place in two classes and was a good piece of advertising for that section.

The peppermint oil crop is being distilled and those who have any will reap some real money, as oil is now worth close to $20 per pound. Most of the growers had their crop blown out by the hard winds, even the roots being lost.

Rev. Charles Nease, pastor of the M. E. church has decided to retire from active pastoral work due to his failing eyesight. Operations have not Maatman. Readings were given by Miss Anna Looman and by Mrs. John W. Nienhuls who also read a letter which was of interest to the society. Mrs. T. Kraal and Miss Anna Looman were appointed delegates to the Bible conference which will be held in Grand Rapids Oct. 8 at the Bethany church. After a few business discussions the meeting adjourned at 4 o'clock.

Given him the needed relief and he has purchased a residence in Grand Rapids near the Plainfield Avenue church where he served for seven years. Mrs. Nease has been a great help here in his work. Their departure is regretted and they have the best wishes of all.

LANDMAN SAYS EDNA BAUER THREW ACID

stood that he used it in his boat every when doing some soldering.

Mrs. Hadden said that her daughter contended when this acid throwing is alleged to have taken place, that Landman wanted her to drink the acid as they were stepping into the automobile near Griswold walk, Macatawa, when he was about to take her home. Mrs. Hadden claims her daughter also stated that when she refused and was about to get out of the car, something whizzed by her face and fell on her cheek, hands and feet, and what happened after that was very vague to her, only that she endeavored to get an interurban to go home, but falling in this she hired a young man from the Macatawa Garage to take her home, since her face, hands and feet pained her terribly.

Mrs. Hadden claims that when the Sentinel came out the next day containing an account of the affair, Edna cried out, "Now look what a scrape he got me into, by getting me to buy that acid for him."

She stated that her daughter's reasons for going to St. Paul, Minn., with her son to visit relatives there was to get away from the notoriety and unpleasantness that had been caused and for no other reason. Mrs. Hadden said that Edna did endeavor to go to the hospital to see Landman but was forbidden to enter.

In order to verify further that Mr. Landman had serious intentions to marry Edna Bauer eventually, she said that he endeavored to buy a lot next to the Hadden home on 11th-st., but changed his plans and suggested a boat livery at the park with rooms above.

When questioned by Attorney Ten Cate, on direct examination, whether Edna loved Mr. Landman and was true to him, the mother stated emphatically, "Edna loved him too well, she was as true as steel." She contended that her daughter got desperately ill, and she then noticed a change come over Landman who did not come so regularly, and soon discontinued his visits altogether.

Landman was next put on the stand and claimed that he discontinued going with the girl because he found that she was spying on him, since he occasionally went with other girls. He said that he objected to this procedure, and saw less of her on that account. He stated that on the night in question she met him unexpectedly at the park, after the last car had gone, and Edna Bauer asked him to take her home in his car. He at first refused but since it was the only way, he consented. He claims that he said first he had to unload a lot of stuff that he had in his car in order to make room and that he would take her on at Griswold street. Having unloaded, he proceeded to the place designated for meeting, and he saw Edna coming up the walk with something wrapped in a newspaper.

He claims Mrs. Bauer offered him some grape wine but he refused to drink it stating that he was tired. He stated he then got the car started and for a moment she stood on the running board; he thought that he heard the unwrapping of paper, and unexpectedly she threw the contents from something in his face and cried out, "If I can't have you, no one else will."

Mr. Landman claims that he was within 400 feet of the garage and in terrible agony. He staggered to the garage and within ten minutes he was at Holland hospital where he was given first aid.

Edna Bauer in turn claims that the acid was thrown on her, that she was burned about the face, hands and feet, and woman's clothing was produced in court showing where acid had eaten through.

The prosecution will endeavor to show that Edna Bauer committed the crime, because of intense jealousy, since Landman's attentions to her had been discontinued.

Attorney Daniel Ten Cate, of the firm of Diekema, Kollen & Ten Cate, is representing Mrs. Bauer and Attorney Miles is appearing for the people.

The jury selected to go over the evidence follows below: Dave Garter, Wright; Simon Bos, Holland; John Lookersee, Zeeland; Casimer Szopinski, Robinson; Hoyt Taylor, Polkton; Ralph Smant, Crookery; Jacob Schulling, Allendale; John Schaefer, Chester; John Post, Grand Haven; Jake Esenbunrg, Park; Herman Baker, Port Sheldon; Ralph De Haan, Zeeland City.

G. J. DIEKEMA TO SPEAK AT COMMUNITY CLUB

Grand Haven Tribune.—The Grand Haven Community club will start its regular season's programs next Monday night. Monthly committees have been appointed by President Milham and they are working hard on the programs and expect to present some real instructive and entertaining material to the members. The September committee consists of F. C. Bolt, chairman; H. J. Boer, W. L. Buckley, and E. M. Burton. For the first program this committee has selected the Hon. G. J. Diekema of Holland for the principal speaker. Mr. Diekema needs no introduction to local folks, he being one of the leading figures in State politics for the last few years. Mr. Diekema is one of the finest orators in the country and it is a real treat to be able to hear him. Having been a United States Congressman as well as a state representative, he is well qualified to speak on almost any subject that would be of interest to local people. His subject has not been announced but it will be some subject of popular interest.
