J. Heinz Co.
Starts Building
Program Here

BUILDING OF NEW STRUCTURE BRINGS TO MIND HISTORY OF WHEN HEINZ CO. STARTED HERE VERY MODESTLY

The Holland Chamber of Commerce announces that a new building will be erected at once at the plant of the H. J. Heinz Co. to replace an old wooden building which is now being demolished. The new structure will be a one-story building of concrete and steel construction.

The contract for the new building has been let to the H. K. Ferson Co., of Cleveland, Ohio, who are the lowest bidders. The Ferson Co. also built the large addition at the plant which was completed last year. Pouring of concrete will start September 15th, and plans call for completion of the building in 60 days. The building will measure 144 by 148 feet. The new construction project is part of a long-time construction program fostered by the local Heinz plant. The Heinz No. 13 building was recently entirely reconstructed by steel by the Frank Construction Co. of Holland. The Chamber of Commerce reports that the new building will be a landmark in the city.

"The amount of money that is distributed every year by this company in this city and surrounding country amounts to many hundreds of thousands of dollars. The company buys all its commodities in this community and the money remains in the vicinity of Holland. This great institution has gone about in a quiet way in building up this great industry in our city and has never asked for any financial aid or favors. At times they have had an employment enrollment of eleven hundred and they have always been very liberal in their financial support of any city project."

Mr. James A. Hoover is the popular manager of the local plant. He came to Holland in 1903 and was transferred to Saginaw on June 1, 1912. He remained there for two years, then went to Grand Rapids, and became manager of the Holland plant in 1917. Concerning Mr. Hoover's quietness as a plant manager and a citizen, the Chamber of Commerce report states:

"All the concrete buildings were built during his regime and the fact that he is often called to come to Pittsburgh for a conference with the main office shows that he is highly esteemed by the great corporation with whom he is employed. As a citizen, he is one of those good fellows, well met, and loved and respected by all those who have become intimately acquainted with him. While his name does not appear very often in a public way, in his quiet, sturdy manner he is a real booster for the welfare of the city of Holland."

The building of the new structure brings back old history, since it will be built on the site of the first salting house that the H. J. Heinz Co. built here more than 40 years ago—a one-story frame structure. To the late John Zwemer, father of Henry Zwemer, comes the credit of fostering the coming of the Heinz Co. here. He interested several businessmen who in turn interested the farmers in pickle-making, and the firm of "H. J. Zwemer & Sons" started out modestly with a pickle house for receiving pickles. The single structure was augmented 40 years ago with a second one, and the phenomenal growth of this plant, since, is shown by nearly a block of substantial, concrete buildings, which stand stately on the shores of Lake Macatawa. Quite a difference between the modest salting house of two-score years ago, and the monuments in steel and concrete of today!

The writer remembers that large pickle meetings were held, in what was then known as "the Grandview" hall on Seventh street. The late H. J. Zwemer, who donated the use of this hall for different pickle contract meetings, where classes of instruction to farmers were also held and contracts were signed.

Later, when the sugar beet factory was built, the hall was used for the same purpose. Anyway, the H. J. Heinz Co., today, is a substantial, dignified industry, giving gainful employment to many, as well as a diversified market to the farmer.

Coach Milton L. Hinge, Randall C. Bosch, James T. Klomprens, Dr. H. P. Harris, Henry S. Maents, C. C. Wood, Charles Van Zanten, and Peter N. Prins, all of this city, motored to Chicago last night to witness the All-Star football game.

The Holland Fish and Game club will sponsor its first trap-shoot of the 1938 season, Friday afternoon at Conservation Park, located east of the city on M-21.

CLARE HOFFMAN AND CONGRESSMAN MAPES IN HOLLAND TUESDAY EVENING

All interested persons are invited to attend a meeting to be held next Tuesday evening, September 6, at 7:30 p. m., at the Woman's Literary club building. All Republican candidates of Ottawa county will be introduced to the public at the meeting.

Congressman Clare Hoffman, of Allegan, and Congressman Carl Mapes will be honor guests at the meeting. Mrs. Charles McBride of Holland will preside at the session, at which County Clerk William Wilds will again explain the new Primary ballot as required by the state law.

AUTO WRECK THAT WAS A MIRACLE

There is a new Packard at the Packard Service Station at 16th St. and River Avenue that is about as badly jammed up as anything might be. It seems that two old ladies who came from Missouri to reside at Douglas ran into a tree on US-51 in Allegan County. Both ladies were sitting in the front seat, and one side of the car is surely a mushy piece of iron and steel. The top was caved in, front end stove in, and fenders torn off.

However, the miraculous part of the whole thing is that when the car stopped by the tree trunk, the two ladies came out, and one only had a slight scratch on her finger. It was stated at the garage that the car is so badly wrecked that it has become practically worthless.

LIONS HEAR ABOUT LIBRARY-MUSEUM PROJECT

Attorney Cornelius Vander Meulen, member of the Netherlands Pioneer and Historical Foundation committee, Tuesday evening addressed members of the Holland Lions club, at their meeting in the Holland Country club, in regard to erection of a new combination library-museum in the city. Lack of space in the present library and Dutch museum, Mr. Vander Meulen pointed out, makes the building of a new structure in the city imperative.

A discussion of plans for the proposed building followed the address.

Kenneth L. Moore, a guest of the club, who is a former resident of this city, but who is now engaged as a film photographer in Hollywood, Calif., presented a brief talk at the meeting on his work as photographer. Mr. Moore explained a number of "secrets" of the film industry to the Lions, who constantly kept asking questions of the club's guest, demanding further explanation. Moore is visiting his parents in this city for a few days.

BROADCASTING IS ANNOUNCED BY WILLARD WICHERS

Marking the fortieth anniversary of the reign of Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands, a special program will be broadcast from station WOOD, Grand Rapids, at 6:15 p. m. Saturday, Sept. 3, it was announced Thursday by Willard C. Wichers, of the Netherlands Museum here. Taking part in the broadcast will be the Hon. Jacob Steketee, Netherlands consul in Grand Rapids; and W. K. von Weller, attaché of the Netherlands consulate in Detroit. The Hope College Girls' Trio, consisting of Gertrude Young, Mary Jane Vaupeil and Thelma Kooyler, accompanied by Barbara Lampen, will sing, John Orlert and Cornie Steketee, trumpeters, will play the Netherlands national anthem.

TWO CHICAGO YOUTHS ARE DROWNED IN GOSHORN LAKE

Two Chicago youths were drowned Tuesday evening in Goshorn Lake, about two miles northeast of Saugatuck, when a rowboat they and two female companions were occupying tipped over, spilling its occupants in the lake waters. The two youths, Arnold Heger, 19, 4901 Cornelia Ave., and Walter Schmettel, 18, 4800 Cornelia Ave., both of Chicago.

Neither of the boys could swim, investigating officers were informed, although their companions, Miss Charlotte Schroeder, 15, and Miss Jean Ray, 15, both of Chicago, swam to shore.

The body of Heger was recovered about 12:45 a. m., Wednesday, while searchers came upon Schmettel's body at 1:15 a. m., Wednesday. The Holland coast guard station crew, headed by Capt. E. J. Clemons, Alfred M. Anderson, Forest H. Flaughner, and Horace E. Seary.

Sheriff Fred Miller of Allegan and Deputy Sheriff J. W. Schreckengast of Saugatuck found Schmettel's body, while Heger's body was recovered by Eric Hall, resident at the Lake, and Al Kasbohn, owner of the East Shore grocery.

Dr. D. O. Osmun, Allegan County coroner, returned a verdict of death by drowning in the double tragedy.

Night police officers Arthur Murray and Neal Plagenhoef took the Holland police station's rescuers to the scene of the drownings, but efforts at reviving the victims proved futile.

The bodies were taken to Chicago yesterday where funeral services will be held.

Two local pastors will leave the city within the next few days. They are the Rev. William Schumacher, pastor of the Zion Evangelical Lutheran church here since 1915, and Wilbur J. Kingwill, candidate in charge of Grace Episcopal church for the past year. Rev. and Mrs. Schumacher will go to Battle Creek to reside with their daughter, Mrs. L. B. Mason, while Mr. and Mrs. Kingwill will go to Cambridge, Mass., where Mr. Kingwill will enroll as a student in Episcopal Theological school. Candidate C. Barnhart will take Mr. Kingwill's place here. The Rev. Theodore Zeile has succeeded Rev. Schumacher.

Holland state park will have a new bath house and other equipment and facilities as a result of a contract for $56,000, approved today at Lansing by the state administrative board, to Herick and Simpson of Lansing. Estimated cost of the project had been $40,000, with $27,225 in FWA funds being required, while the state was to furnish $33,775. Van Dyke and Volkmar and M. J. Steketee of this city were recently awarded contracts for a similar project at Grand Haven State Park.

Resorts Had Sturgeon As Attraction

Were Kept Behind Rivetments at Holland Harbor; Say Sturgeon Long Livers

Incident to a story about sturgeon and why they live long, the writer is reminded of a half dozen sturgeon imprisoned at Macatawa Park some 50 years ago. The harbor crabs at that time were not so closely put together as now and between the outer and inner pier there was much space, filling constantly with fresh Lake Michigan water. Sturgeon were plentiful in those days and the life-saving crew together with some fishermen netted several and placed them back of the pier, where they were fed for years by the harbor crew.

It was noticeable that even the first year, resorters and townfolks visited the piers in large numbers to see the sturgeon lazily swim about, some of them being at least six feet long. The interest in these fish grew each year. However, what became of them later is not clear. At least this was the first attraction of that nature in this resort area. Lakewood Farm and the tulips came years afterwards. Anyway, the sturgeon, now almost extinct in these waters, is considered a fish of long life—some of them are known to have lived over 63 years, if left alone.

The Conservation Department of Michigan states that humans might take lessons from some of our lake fish.

The advice is to take your time and live longer, and this wise counsel might be concluded from a comparison of fish ages.

At least it is true that one of the most leisurely of fish which inhabit Michigan waters is also the longest lived. This is the sturgeon. One is entered in authentic records as living to be 63 and the belief is that it is not uncommon for this species to last for a hundred years. The sturgeon is a sluggish fish which usually gives the appearance of being quite indifferent about going anywhere in a hurry. The female does not spawn until 20 to 25 years of age.

The dashing brook trout on the other hand never lives a normal life of more than four years, although the average may be longer than that and some, of course, may enjoy watery existence for ten or more years. The rainbow and brown trout are believed to have a slightly greater longevity than the brook.

Smelt Die Young
The smelt is another short liver, the records showing only six years although here again the average may be somewhat higher.

Lake trout, which have become the pursued prize of sport trolling enthusiasts at several points off Michigan's Great Lakes shores, averages about 20 years or slightly more. The largemouth bass also is allotted a longer span than many species of fish found in Michigan, this bellwether battering being put down in the records as having lived about a 17-year stretch. The smallmouth black bass does not generally live as long as the largemouth species.

From Actual Records
The pike is believed to average slightly less than the smallmouth bass in the matter of longevity, or about 14 years, while the rock bass is recorded at 13, the bluegill at 11 and the perch at eight years. These figures are taken from actual records and of course may vary both in average and for individuals. For instance, there also is recorded in Europe a perch which lived to be 27 years old.

The age of fish can be determined by marks on the scales.

Swallows Act Very Friendly

HARRISON, Mich.—Two pairs of bank swallows which raised their broods in nests constructed in yeast boxes hung on an electric light pole between two gasoline pumps were the objects of much interest among local residents and tourists near here this summer.

The boxes, each with a hole cut near the center for the birds to enter, were placed as an experiment by James Catron, who, with his father, Charles Catron, operates a general store at Long Lake, north of here.

Although bank swallows are generally reported as avoiding close proximity to human habitations, and as being entirely uninterested in artificial nesting sites, these two pairs took possession of the boxes very shortly after they were placed in position. The birds went about the business of building the nests and incubating the eggs without the slightest apparent fear of persons constantly moving about, nor of the automobiles which drew up side of the nests.

Bank swallows usually build the nests in cavities dug out at the end of a burrow some 18 inches in length, these burrows being constructed by the birds in the face of a steep embankment, often the face of a gravel pit. The yeast boxes placed by Catron were approximately three inches in depth.

A colony of purple martins nested in a nearby martin house while the bank swallows were occupying the two small boxes, but the two varieties of birds paid no attention to each other. The bank swallows left the boxes as soon as the young could fly.

Information reached the city today that two daughters of the late "Grandma" Barbara Sishia of Chicago, who died sometime ago in Holland hospital will share in the $3,350 estate of the deceased. The two local participants in the estate are Mrs. Mary Rummeler, 205 West 22nd St., and Mrs. Anastasia Morlock, 141 West 19th St. Three other children will also share in the estate.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Prins, Fairbanks Ave., last Monday, a daughter, Betty Lou.

The Grand Haven News-Journal states that Dr. Frank S. Ledebor and Jan Roost, both at Holland, are stumping for the Greenback ticket. The News wishes to correct that newspaper—Ledebor, one of our first mayors, is not stumping and Jan Roost, our recent mayor, is not a Greenbacker—but for those corrections, the item is correct.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The death of General Phil H. Sheridan, outstanding officer of the Civil war, took place while at his summer cottage at Nonquitt, Mass. He was the spectacular hero of the war. On one occasion when his troops were retreating almost routed, he suddenly rode his horse to the head of his columns and waved his soldiers onward. His men were so surprised and encouraged that they rallied and soon won the vital battle in the war. Sheridan was noted for his reckless daring. The News gave a large picture of the general draped in mourning.

A. M. Burgess and Rinkus Schreger had purchased the cigar factory of James M. Vander Ven. Note: Mr. Vander Ven became a doctor and for that reason disposed of his shop. A. M. Burgess was a photographer who had his shop in his home, a one-story cottage on West Eighth St. This house was located about where Meyers Music House is now. The writer remembers that Burgess put in the first "movie" in Holland, that is to say, he had a cylinder inclosed in a glass case. The cylinder head fastened to it pictures made at his gallery and these slowly traveled round and round by clock power. To us youngsters it surely was a novelty.

C. Blom, Jr., and Simon Kleyn left for Chicago. While there they intend to make preparations for locating and embarking in the fruit business in Southern California in the near future. Note: Fifty years later they are still in Holland, one is fire chief and the other has been on the board of supervisors and board of public works.

Where is that Harrison and Morton for president banner? People are getting anxious to see how it looks. Note: In the early day campaigns when torchlight processions were still part of a coming election, large banners were stretched across the street where pictures of the Republican as well as of the Democratic candidates were displayed. Banners in Holland were generally found where two Republican or two Democratic storekeepers were across from one another. Politics were sharply defined and if a Democrat owned a store it surely would not allow a Republican banner stretched to it. The writer remembers that feeling was so keen that trade was diverted during and after campaigns into the feeling had worn away. Democrats trading with Democratic store owners and the Republicans did likewise at Republican stores. Rather foolish today.

FORTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Born to Mr. and Mrs. James Annis—a son. Note: The Annis family were quite prominent in the early days. Dr. Annis, the uncle of James, built the old residence on the Northwest corner of Thirteenth and River ave. and now occupied by Paul Caster. It was considered a pretentious home in the early days. A house with a glass cupola on the top was right in style. For years it was the home of the late C. A. Stevenson, jeweler, and family. For some time this glass observation tower, never used for that purpose, was adorned with a lightning rod of which there were many in Holland 50 years ago. Today there is only one remaining—a brick house just south of the West Michigan Furniture Co. The only other glass cupolas in the city are on the old Isaac Cappon residence on Washington Boulevard and 9th st., and the Beach residence "Emmerson House" on 12th and Columbia.

A marriage license has been issued during the week for John R. Bouws of Fillmore and Miss Jennie B. Brouwer of Zeeland.

While George Oetman of East Saugatuck was drawing a load of hay to Holland he discovered it was on fire. He managed to dump the load into a running stream along the road and thus save his horses and wagon.

Invitations have been sent from Holland extending an invitation to Dr. A. Kuiper, premier of the Netherlands, who is to visit America and especially the places where Hollanders live. Note: He came late in the fall, visited Holland, and was given a banquet at the "New City Hotel." At the banquet Mr. G. J. Diekema was toastmaster. Dr. G. J. Kollen, president of Hope college, spoke on education. Editor Isaac Verwey, of De Groot, spoke on "The Dutch Press in America." Prof. Henry E. Doser, spoke on "Our Guest of Honor," Gerrit Van Scholven, The Pilgrim Fathers; Hon. D. B. K. van Raalte, The Hollanders in the Civil War; Rev. C. Van Goor, The Americanized Hollanders.

Expansion, Prof. J. Talmadge Bergen, Response by the guest, Dr. Kuiper, followed. Later Dr. Kuiper addressed Hope college students and a public meeting was held in Third Reformed church which was packed to capacity. Dr. Kuiper also went to Grand Rapids where he spoke in Hartman's hall, then the big convention building. It was later called Lockey hall. One incident the writer noticed at the banquet was that Dr. Kuiper smoked after the meal. This had never been done in this city before but Dr. Kuiper puffed his pipe paying no attention to the gaping guests. Today smoking by both men and women after meals is common in public places.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

The Holland City News offered $10.00 reward to anyone found stealing or pulling up flowers from the graves at Pilgrim Home cemetery. It seems that considerable of this was going on and this publication printed a scathing editorial condemning this lowdown larceny. Of late years it appears not so much stealing of flowers has been going on, but 30 years ago graves were robbed of flowers after a funeral party had departed.

Nick Jonker has traded his city property, consisting of two houses and lots, for a farm to Klaas Borgman, located three miles northeast of Holland.

Henry S. Bosch of Holland has secured the contract for building the cement walk in the Saugatuck school grounds for 8c a square foot. There are six hundred feet to lay. Note: For many years Mr. Bosch was city inspector.

The Holland Lyceum and Roller Skating rink is the name of a new organization with Henry J. Wickering as president, Gerrit J. Hemmel, secretary, George Mooney, member of that organization used it for drill and practice and as a rink—occasionally staging "grand balls." It brought in enough revenue to pay for the upkeep of the band for many years. The writer, among others, got his turn in putting skates on lady patrons. The managers worked without pay. The place was heated by two large round oak stoves. Patrons were bailed on one side, frozen on the other. Ben Mulder met Mrs. Mulder for the first time on that rink.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Police have been informed by Kardux and Karsten, grocers, on River ave. and 7th st., that a man from the rural districts had called several times for bottles of lemon extract—one time buying as many as three. The man was followed and was noticed to go into a "near-beer" parlor. He went to a remote table ordered "near-beer" and was seen to drop in a quantity of the lemon extract. The man was watched and it was noticed that the combination made the patron more convivial, but the police could do nothing about it since selling extract and near-beer separately was legal. Note: That was the beginning of the Volstead law, supposedly as a war measure. At first all sorts of intoxicants were used to "spike" near-beer, even grain alcohol being used. When bootlegging became an art after a few years, liquor, especially the stronger kind, in small packages became an easy matter, in fact it became a racket.

Fifty colored men passed through Holland which was an unusual sight considering this city has only one colored man and he is half white and was born here. They were the waiters' staff for Hotel Ottawa at Ottawa Beach. Note: This fine hotel, burned 18 years ago, was managed by J. Boyd Pantlind of Hotel Pantlind of Grand Rapids and then, as now, this hotel is manned by colored waiters.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hume, west 10th st., Saturday a daughter.

George Steketee, the local grocer, is riding around in a new Buick six. Note: Mr. Steketee was then located on East Eighth st., directly west of the Steketee Dry Goods store.

There was a whole page of interesting soldier letters printed 20 years ago. These were from Jacob Spruit, Louis B. Dalman, Esther (nurse in France), Lloyd J. Purchase, Earl Muesen, and others.

Thousands visited the opening of the new People's State bank. This issue of the News is replete with pictures of the exterior and interior of the beautiful new structure. Also pictures of the officers. The building cost $150,000, and is of Italian architecture, rather unique for a bank building, but very attractive nevertheless—even the Italian balcony effect in the front is not forgotten. The News devotes two full pages to this enterprise.

Ottawa County Makes Leather For Divine's Auto

BILL HATTAN'S TANNERY HAS PRODUCT OF HIS ESTABLISHMENT EVERYWHERE

"The Tan Barker," a leather company magazine, gives some interesting news as this relates to the Ottawa-Eagle Leather Company at Grand Haven and Whitehall. This is a tannery our old friend, Bill Hattan, and his son, have been conducting for a great many years, and they make exceptional leather there, and the article states that two famous jappers, namely, Al Widman and Nick Carter, have their product the world over. They are connected with the above-named tannery.

It seems that these leather artists finished leather in President Roosevelt's inaugural car, and later furnished the leather in the new car of Father Divine, a colored cultist, who was making the long pages of the metropolitan dailies these days. Father Divine has a car worth $25,000. However, the story is better told by the leather magazine which follows:

THE TAN BARKER

Al Widman and Nick Carter, jappers de luxe who finished the leather used in President Roosevelt's inaugural car, have scored again. Leo Logan of Los Angeles office sold some of our top grain leather japped by these two gents to Father Divine who recently purchased a large estate on the Hudson directly opposite the President's ancestral home.

It makes the Tanbarker staff very happy to realize that such good Democrats as Messrs. Widman and Carter have been selected as finishers to two important national figures. Leo Logan writes as follows:

"I talked with Bowman and Schwartz, 328 West Colorado, Pasadena, and they gave me full details on the car. Bowman and Schwartz Company, makers of special de luxe automobile bodies, are justly proud of the limousine they built for Father Divine. The upholstery in the interior of the car is a beautiful blend of Eagle-Ottawa Viennese and boarded special green and a trim of dove gray. The car is a special Duesenberg, built on a 160-inch chassis. Owing to the extreme size of this car, special large hides of turtle grain lanau leather had to be put through E. O.'s tannery so that the top could be made with as little piecing as possible. The limousine leather top is carried well back of the long sweeping rear design of the most ultra modern effect."

"The fenders, which are all built in, no running boards, a special folding step that works automatically with the door, was especially designed by the makers, Bowman and Schwartz."

"The seats are arranged on the car so that executive work can continue while enroute. There are two large upholstered chairs in the extreme back of the car for Father Divine and his aide called John the Baptist, and immediately in front them four chairs to be occupied by four secretaries. The front seat will seat four persons comfortably side by side, accommodating ten people in all."

"The car is capable of 110 to 130 miles per hour and is equipped with special radio and dictaphone. It is a $25,000 car and is beyond any doubt perfection of transportation."

FREAK CAT ENTERTAINS VISITING TOURISTS

A. C. Schmidt, operator of a garage and filling station here, has a cat which appears as though it was wearing boxing gloves. The kitten, now four months old, has 28 toes in all. The kitten has eight toes on each forefoot and six toes on each hind foot.

The kitten is proving quite an attraction for tourists.

Ten years ago Charles K. Van Duren ran for Probate Judge, Archie Vander Wall, for sheriff, Cornelius Steketee for treasurer; Ben Peter Ryegeers for sheriff; James J. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Geerlings and Miss Ruth Geerlings and son, Clyde, motored to Walkhills, New York, where Clyde Geerlings and Miss Arden Van Arndon of that city will be married. This was a Hope college romance, both graduating from that institution in 1926. Mr. Geerlings will teach in Lawville, New York.

Henry O. Meantz of Allegan, owner of a flock of sheep, numbering 136, will discontinue sheep raising. So many dogs have been ravaging the flock that the sheep have become unproductive because of fright and the many killings.

The only "permanent wave" that lasts is "Old Glory." Note: That was a positive statement ten years ago—let us hope it still is and will remain so.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Lester Klaasen—a son, J. Lester at Holland hospital.

The News devotes a half column to the marriage of Miss Norma Kardux and Chester Van Lopik, of Zeeland, which took place at Third Reformed church, Rev. Richard Vanden Berg of Zeeland officiating.

MANAGER OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE CONGRATULATED FROM THE NETHERLANDS

Mr. Stephan, newly elected manager-secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, received a postal card from The Netherlands from Miss Winnie Buma, formerly with the Holland Gas Company, in which she sends congratulations as follows: Dear Mr. E. P. Stephan:

Just received my copy of Holland City News of August 4th and saw your appointment for Director of Holland Chamber of Commerce.

Surely was pleased and thought Mr. Stephan must be congratulated also by me, even though far from home just now. I expect to return to our good U.S.A. the latter part of September and may drop in then. Hearty congratulations from Winnie Buma

P. S. Hartelijk Gefeliciteerd met uw benoeming. Literal translation: Hearty congratulations upon your appointment.

SCHOOLS OPEN NEXT WEEK

According to announcements made this week by school officials in the city, schools in Holland will open Sept. 7, in keeping with the request of the state department of public instruction, which asked that schools open a day later than usual as a safety measure to avoid Labor Day traffic.

Holland public junior and senior high schools will begin at 8:15 a. m., while public elementary schools will open at 8:45 a. m. St. Francis de Sales school will open with high mass at 8 a. m., Wednesday, according to Father John West-dorp.

Holland Christian schools will open at 9 a. m. Hope college classes will convene on Sept. 21, although the college will be open for registration after Sept. 13. Teachers' meetings will immediately precede the opening of all local schools.

COW IS POISONED

Robert Keag, Fennville, had the misfortune to lose a cow Monday. She broke loose from her stake and wandered around somewhere to get into some poison. It is thought that she found some spray sacks and probably licked off some of the adhering poison.

RETURN FOR THE NETHERLANDS

Mrs. Kay Buurma and granddaughter, Miss Gertrude Vischer, who left for The Netherlands on June 10 on the New Amsterdam, flagship of the Holland-American line, returned on the Statendam and arrived in Holland today.

They spent three months visiting relatives in The Netherlands, and took in all the places of interest there. They say they had a pleasant visit, but are happy to be in America again. There is nothing like America to them.

ASHES OF THE LATE H. H. HILLMAN TO BE BURIED IN LAKE FOREST SATURDAY

The ashes of the late Herbert H. Hillman, former resident and former mayor of Grand Haven, will be buried in Lake Forest cemetery on Saturday beside the remains of a young son who died 11 years ago. Grave-diggers will be conducted by Rev. J. V. Roth at 2 p. m.

Mr. Hillman died March 17, 1936 at Los Angeles, Calif. The ashes were accompanied by Mrs. Edna Hillman Stach, Los Angeles, formerly Mrs. Hillman, and a daughter, Jean Hillman.

HOW DEBT SERVICE IS FIGURED ON NEW LIBRARY-MUSEUM

The trend of debt-service cost to the City of Holland is generally downward, according to a study of the city's outstanding bond issues made by the University of Michigan bureau of government and the university bureau of economics.

The analysis made by the university shows that addition to the city's outstanding bonds of the proposed $85,000 issue for a new Library-Museum Building which will be voted upon September 13, would not disturb the general trend and would add only slightly to the annual debt-service budget of the city.

Under the plan on which city taxpayers will vote September 13, the Library-Museum bonds would be retired at the rate of $4,000 per year for 15 years, and $5,000 per year for the last five years of the 20-year period. Thus there would be a constantly shrinking interest charge on the unpaid balance.

The university analysis showed that on the basis of the present assessed valuation of the city, the Library-Museum building would add to the property tax-bills only 44 cents per $1,000 of valuation. This would shrink as the total valuation of the city increased as it may be normally expected to do. On this basis, the owner of a $2,000 property would pay less than 90 cents per year as his share of the new building.

The Holland Lions club, through its secretary, Russell Haight, today adopted a resolution, asking property owners in Holland to study carefully the $150,000 combination Library-Dutch museum bond issue, which is to be voted upon at the primary election Sept. 15. The resolution follows in part: "Be it resolved, that it is the sense of the Holland Lions' club, as expressed by its duly elected board of directors at a meeting held August 30, that this proposal is of such importance to the city of Holland that each citizen entitled to vote on it should give it careful consideration and fully acquaint himself with the merits of the proposal before casting his ballot Sept. 15."

Dr. and Mrs. James K. Ward left today on a motor trip through northern Michigan and Canada.

Sad But True

The increase in the Navy, Congress has considered, is for self protection, not aggression - at least, that should be understood. We are still living in a world in which nations must be able to defend what they have if they wish to keep it.

The United States is no exception.

Americans have recently given abundant evidence that they do not wish to be involved in any more wars brought about by Old World greed or stupidity.

And neither do they want Old World stupidity or greed to bring the horrors of war to any portion of this continent.

The only way to prevent that is to build and maintain a navy strong enough to keep any enemy, from Asia or Europe, from coming within striking distance of our shores by water or air.

Free Treatment

Most of the Federal funds presently available for combating syphilis will be distributed as grants to the state for free treatment clinics. The decision seems a wise one, since it accords with successful experience abroad in fighting venereal disease. The offer of free treatment on a broad scale has been the groundwork of the programs followed both in England and in the Scandinavian countries.

After breaking down the taboo that in many cases prevented victims from seeking treatment at all, the first step in these programs was to make treatment readily obtainable. Otherwise the effort to inform the public of the dangers, and of the curability, of venereal diseases might have resulted only in a rich harvest for quacks and malpractitioners.

In England these two steps alone have accomplished a halving of the prevalence of syphilis without resort to the compulsory treatment that undoubtedly has made possible the vast progress of Sweden, Denmark and Norway.

Compulsory treatment may not be adaptable to the American temperament, but at least treatment can be made so readily available that no excuse will remain for neglecting or refusing it. Much more than the modest $3,000,000 now to be distributed by the U. S. Public Health Service might be used, we think, to encourage practical state action against the plague.

CHARLES McLEAN POINTS TO PROBLEMS YOUTH FACE AFTER COLLEGE

(Grand Haven Tribune)

Charles McLean, a young man from Holland, who has been attending the University of Michigan camp for young men on Lake Whittemore, near Ann Arbor, spoke before the Rotary club yesterday on "Youth."

He stressed the difficulties that confront young men and women, who have been sheltered through high school and college days from the world at large, as they are forced to make the adjustments necessary to earning a living and meeting the problems of life.

He urged that programs be carried on in communities and in the schools, to constantly bring before the boys and girls something of what he must face and how he will attack his problem.

He believes that the N. H. A. movement and the C. C. C. camps established under the present presidential administration, have done a great deal to help thousands of young men and women to either find themselves or to gain a place where they may earn a living.

The speaker pointed to the amount of crime found among the young men and women today as the result of mal-adjustment and inability to get employment. He urged that communities wake to the problem and attempt to provide jobs for the youth as the graduate from the high schools and colleges.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY

I am a candidate for the office of Prosecuting Attorney in Allegan County.

No one questions my ability to perform the duties of this office. I have had the necessary experience. I have defended many criminal cases during the ten years I have been in practice as an attorney. Never have I defended a person charged with a crime, knowing that person to be guilty.

If nominated and elected for this office, I would not prosecute those whom I knew to be innocent and would use all of my ability and energy to convict those who were guilty. If I am elected you will secure a competent lawyer to represent you as voters and taxpayers.

Sincerely yours,

CARL E. HOFFMAN

No. 4270. ORDER FOR HEARING ON TRUSTEES PETITION FOR INSTRUCTIONS AND PUBLICATION

At a Session of the Circuit Court for said County of Ottawa, held at the Courthouse in the City of Grand Haven, Michigan, on the 25th day of August, 1938.

PRESENT, THE HON. FRED T. MILES, Circuit Judge.

Plaintiff having filed a bill of complaint in the nature of a petition praying instructions respecting performance of its duties involving trust relations under an express trust, and it appearing from such bill or petition that personal service upon all of the beneficiaries of said trust, being holders of Certificates of Participation issued under the provisions of a Depositors' Agreement dated June 28, 1933, providing for the reorganization of Peoples State Bank of Holland, a Michigan banking corporation, within this State will be impossible, impractical or unduly burdensome by reason of the multiplicity of the number of said certificate holders, the absence of some of them from this State, or otherwise; and it appearing to the Court that the purpose of such bill or petition is to obtain the instructions and directions of this Court as respects the power of the plaintiff under the Depositors' Agreement referred to above to borrow money from Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the purpose of consummating the plan for the payment of a final trustee's dividend and the termination of the trust, as set forth in the body of plaintiff's bill of complaint, and its further power to mortgage and pledge all of the assets of the trust fund created under the Depositors' Agreement, except cash and current exchange, to secure said loan, and it appearing further that plaintiff's bill of complaint also prays that if the Court shall not grant relief as aforesaid, it shall decree that an exigency has arisen not contemplated at the time of the creation of the trust by the aforementioned Depositors' Agreement, and that as a result thereof, plaintiff possesses the power and authority to borrow money from Reconstruction Finance Corporation for the purposes mentioned above and also possesses the power and authority to pledge and mortgage all of the assets of the trust, except cash and current exchange, as security for said loan.

Will Not Hunt Allegan Deer

Even though the deer herds in Allegan County continue to menace farmers' crops, the Conservation Commission will not authorize an open season this fall.

The Commission accepted a report of their game officials who studied conditions in that county and interviewed farmers and sportsmen and conferences since the last commission meeting with various sportsmen's organizations and farmers' groups and with many interested individuals in Allegan County regarding an open season on deer in that county during 1938. We have concluded that public opinion is decidedly against such an open season. Even the members of the Hamilton Farm Bureau, where most of the damage complaints have originated, are opposed to an open season as prescribed by present law. These people are desirous of some 'special season' or measures, such as limiting the number of hunters, and issuing permits to farmers; but they are opposed to a regular open season, although they are inclined to favor some 'special regulations,' such as bow and arrow or 'permit' hunting.

"Leaving out public opinion and considering only the deer herd and its future, we would recommend that Allegan County be closed except for the townships of Heath, Valley, Clyde and Manlius, where the deer are most numerous and where damage complaints are most likely to originate."

FIVE HUNDRED HEAR TOY REPUBLICAN GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE

It is estimated that at least five hundred people listened to Harry S. Toy of Detroit deliver an address from the steps of the Masonic Temple at Centennial Park. It is difficult to estimate how large the crowd was since the efficient loud speaker carried the speech so it could be heard anywhere around Centennial Park where many cars were parked.

Henry Cook of Holland, chairman of the Ottawa County Toy-for-Governor Club opened the meeting shortly after 8 o'clock, who introduced Mayor Henry Geerlings, who in turn presented Mr. Toy. Mr. Geerlings welcomed the candidate to the city and said that he felt that it was an excellent way to get the voters interested in a campaign and to get the information from the candidates who later may be the servants of the public.

Hearing the different sides, Mr. Geerlings stated, would give the voter an opportunity to get full information on all political subjects as this relates to state politics. He stated that then the voter could vote more intelligently. For at least an hour Mr. Toy landed hard on Frank Murphy, the present governor, and he especially took to task Frankenstein, named by Mr. Murphy to the State Welfare Commission. Mr. Toy said Mr. Frankenstein had no place in this welfare commission nor in the affairs of our state government, but apparently Murphy was not asking for Frankenstein's resignation. He stressed the fact that if he were nominated and elected governor of Michigan, his first act in official capacity would be to eliminate the man in question. Toy challenged Murphy on his labor policy and stated that today Michigan was in the worst condition in years. Employment has decreased and unemployment has mounted to new records; and WPA rolls have increased amazingly. Mr. Toy stated, "I favor labor both organized and individually. I recognize the right to bargain collectively or individually with the employer. I am strictly opposed to any employer or industry which uses lawless methods to suppress labor. Business and industry must go ahead. Labor wants to go to work, the farmer wants a fair price and a good market for his products, but nothing tangible it seems has been accomplished by the state administration to bring that about. If I am named governor, I would like to give industry, business, and the producer the faith and confidence to go ahead, to expand its producing units, and to employ men and women again who are now on relief and the WPA. This is the only means of bringing better times and more happiness. With renewed faith on the part of industry and business, capital construction will proceed

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The regular annual meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held Monday, September 19, for the purpose of electing officers. A special Board meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Nick Hoffman, Waukasoo, for the purpose of arranging this meeting and other fall activities. It is very important that members of the auxiliary attend at the regular time and place.

The women of the American Legion Auxiliary went on a very benovolent errand, going to Soldiers' Home, Grand Rapids. They took with them their "basket of plenty" consisting of candy, cigars, writing paper, shaving cream, stockings, and other needful things for the less fortunate soldiers. The Holland unit gave the boys chocolate bars and packages of gum each and besides allowed them to choose from the basket such things for which they had need at the moment. It was a very thoughtful gesture and the Soldiers' Home family was very much pleased.

The committee going to the Soldiers' Home consisted of Mrs. Martin Japiga, Mrs. John Roseboom, Mrs. Nicholas Hoffman, Mrs. John Mills, and Mrs. Ed Slooter. They made the visit there Tuesday.

BOUWS FAMILY HOLD REUNION

The Bouws family reunion was held last week Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Bouws of New Groningen. The reunion celebrated the 40th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bouws, grandchildren of the original Bouws family. About a hundred attended the reunion, which featured a lawn supper and an interesting program. The Beckforts and Lubbers string quartet provided music for the affair.

Officers elected at the reunion were: president, Lambertus Bouws of Buchanan; secretary, Jennie Mulder of Holland; and treasurer, Mrs. Anthony Mulder of Holland. Another reunion of the family will be held at the Bouws home at New Groningen next year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bouws are the parents of nine children: Lambertus Bouws of Buchanan; Mrs. A. Mulder of Zeeland; Richard Bouws of Holland; John Russell, Clarence, Julia, and Gordon Bouws, all of New Groningen, and Mrs. Clayton Van Dyke and Mrs. Rufus Van Ommen, both of Zeeland.

Members of the Birthday Club were entertained by Mrs. Art Van Kollen Tuesday at her home on Central Ave. Prizes at games went to Mrs. Shud Althuis, Mrs. Abel Smeenge, and Mrs. Peter Prins. Refreshments were served to those attending, among whom were Mrs. Smeenge, Mrs. Althuis, Mrs. Prins, Mrs. Dave Vereke, Mrs. Mickie Dyke, Mrs. John De Haan, Mrs. Stanley Elferdink, Mrs. Dick Boter, Mrs. Bert Slag, Mrs. Dick Van Tatenhove, and Mrs. John Ter Vree.

Mrs. Anna Cook, formerly of Zeeland, and who spent the winters in Miami, Florida, left for Seattle, Washington, to live. Her two daughters have moved to Seattle. They formerly lived in Miami. Mrs. Cook is the widow of the late James Cook of Holland who later moved to Zeeland and conducted a flour mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vander Heuvel and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bontekoe are on an extended motor trip to Wisconsin.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN AND THRESHER

The barn on the Boersen farm at Zutphen was destroyed by fire last week. Cause of the fire was laid to sparks from a threshing machine, which was working on the farm. Also destroyed in the fire was the separator belonging to Mr. Henry De Weerd.

This is the second time in two years that Mr. De Weerd has suffered this loss. The first burning occurred on the farm of Nick Meyer, when the barn on the Meyer farm, and its contents, was likewise destroyed by fire.

YOUTH BADLY INJURED ON ZEELAND FARM

Marinus Dykgraaf of North Fairview road, near Zeeland, while operating a manure spreader on the farm of his parents, became caught in the machine and was seriously cut in the right leg, Tuesday.

Medical aid was immediately summoned, and it required several stitches to close the wound. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Dykgraaf of North Fairview road.

HOLLAND GIDEON CAMP IS WELL ATTENDED

Several Holland businessmen were present at the organization meeting of the Holland Gideon camp held in the Warm Friend Tavern. Thirty members have been enrolled in the local camp to date.

Officers were elected at the organization meeting. They were: president, Rendert H. Muller; vice president, George Mooi; secretary-treasurer, Benjamin L. Van Lente; chaplain, George Schulling; Bible secretary, Fred Beuwkes; and chorister, William J. Brower. Meetings are planned once per month by the Holland camp.

The Gideon program includes the placing of Bibles in every school in Ottawa County at the present time; Bibles have been placed in the hotels in Holland. Bibles will soon be placed in the Grand Haven schools and Grand Haven jail with appropriate dedication services. The organization will conduct many church services in Ottawa County churches during the coming months.

Mr. Karyon A. Palmer, field representative of the Gideons of Chicago, Ill., spoke to the Holland group of the work of the Gideons, whose work is international in scope, placing Bibles in hotels, prisons, hospitals and similar institutions.

Altogether the Gideons have placed 1,500,000 Bibles in various institutions up to the present time, this total being distributed in 22 foreign countries as well as the United States.

Mr. Harry C. J. Roepers of Grand Rapids headed a group of Gideons from Grand Rapids to organize the Holland camp.

The Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Ten Hoeve and family of Brooklyn, N. Y., spent a few days in the city with relatives last week.

Watching the Birds Now Is Interesting

FLOCKING OF BIRDS FORE-TELL SUMMER'S END

Swallows began flocking several weeks ago. Martins collect on telephone wires toward evening, sitting tight together like beads on a string. Grackles flock to their roosts at night, making a nuisance of themselves. Cowbirds and starlings have their roosting places, too, where they concentrate at night prior to the big move south. These roosts and concentrations will increase night by night, until finally you wonder if there could be another bird in this part of Michigan. Then, some evening, you will find the woods silent. The birds will have left. It is a sure sign that autumn is on the way.

Birds that feed on winged insects are the first to leave. That includes the swallows, martins and the flycatchers. A cold August morning is their signal for southward flight. Redwings flock in the harvest fields. Bobolinks don their gray traveling suits and gather into little bands. Flickers are roving through the woods in small flocks, spending much time on the ground. Goldfinches are attracted to ripening sunflowers. All these birds are getting ready for the great adventure of migration—the call of the uncharted air lanes which remains one of the mysteries of the bird world.

Along with the urge to migrate, there is a desire to explore. Some of the larger species show this by roaming about before finally leaving for the south. It is in late August and early September that people report bands of white egrets on Michigan lakes. Recently a group of white pelicans was seen. Michigan-bred ducks fly east and west across the state with no regard to flight lanes.

From the north comes a horde of Arctic birds, on their way to warmer weather. They may be seen on Michigan beaches; sandpipers and sanderlings, yellowlegs, phalaropes and other wading birds. Early October brings the flight of wild ducks. First are the pintails and teal, little, fast-flying ducks at which the gunner hopes to have a shot or two because of the earlier opening of the season this fall. Then come the bluebills, blacks and mallards, together with the red-heads, canvasbacks, and all the other birds of late autumn waterfowl. By that time, it will be late October. November and the goose flight will be just ahead. Summer will be only another memory.

PEOPLES STATE BANK TRUST FUND TO MAKE ANOTHER PAYMENT TO THOSE HOLDING CERTIFICATES

Some time ago the Peoples State Bank of Holland paid to depositors 50% of their deposits when the bank was closed in 1932. In an announcement made some three months ago, the Depositors Corporation, in charge of the remaining participating certificates, made known that some time this fall another "substantial payment" would be made.

Five years ago the Peoples State Bank before its reorganization submitted a plan to the depositors which was then adopted. According to the terms of this depositors' agreement the period is up and cannot be renewed. Consequently, the trustees were confronted with a problem of disposing of the trust assets which remained unliquidated. Negotiations began last spring through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, a government agency, asking for a loan against these trust assets in order to secure as large a payment to depositors as possible at this time. After considerable negotiations and thorough appraisals covering several months, this government agency has offered to advance the sum of $156,818 against a pledge of all the trust assets.

It appears, however, that the government requires that the trustees obtain the approval of the Circuit Court of Ottawa County for this loan, and Judge Fred T. Miles will be called upon to pass upon this matter and give his approval. It seems that in order to get the proper legal machinery going, the holders of participating certificates are entered into a friendly suit; but since there are nearly 3,000 of these, living not alone here, but throughout the country, it would be physically impossible to get service on so many, and the expense would be prohibitive, not alone to these depositors but to the trustees of the trust fund as well. It is, therefore, permitted by law to select twelve of these certificate-holders, two holding amounts ranging from $1 to $1,000; two, from $1,000 to $2,000; two, from $2,000 to $3,000; two, from $3,000 to $4,000; two, from $4,000 to $5,000; and two, of $5,000 and over. The bank authorities through their attorneys, Lokker and Den Herder, make it plain to these defendants, emphasizing that this is only a friendly suit, brought only for the purpose of satisfying the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and that the trustees, through the Judge's decision, have the authority to borrow this money in accordance with the terms of the depositors' agreement. It must be thoroughly understood that the naming of these twelve certificate-holders is no reflection upon them or their credit and carries with it no responsibility. In fact, they are doing a favor to the depositors who did not come in those brackets or were not chosen as defendants. None of the twelve had any knowledge of such proceedings until served with a labyrinth of type-written pages that would take a day to read and months to digest. When the legal publicity has been made, found elsewhere in this issue, then the matter will come up in Circuit Court for the Judge's decision.

It must be understood that these proceedings have nothing to do with the present reorganized Peoples State Bank, which took place some five years ago. The present bank carries none of these assets. Before the bank was reorganized, the slow-liquidating assets were put into a trust fund and these were liquidated as far as the five-year limit permitted, but since this time period is up, the government agency, under the RFC, so-called, is loaning on the assets remaining and it is this money that will be paid to the depositors as a second dividend this fall. This, however, is not all of the story. As soon as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation takes over these assets, it is understood that officials will endeavor further liquidations on those assets upon which a loan was made.

It is the contention of the trustees of the trust that in due time there will be a third payment made, the amount of which will largely be in accordance to what extent the government agency liquidates the remaining assets. The newly-organized Peoples State Bank, as was said before, has nothing whatever to do with the liquidation or the paying of certificates. The present bank was put on a solid footing some five years ago and is operating under the government act which is a guarantee to depositors of an amount of up to $5,000 for each depositor through Depositors' Insurance which is a federal law.

Proceedings similar to the ones started in Holland have already been completed in three Allegan and Ottawa County banks, and Judge Fred T. Miles ruled on all these cases, and to certificate-holders in those banks the payments have already been made.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Phillips, 119 East 20th St., a daughter, Louise Harriet; to Mr. and Mrs. David Boyd, 157 East 28th St., a daughter, Gretchen Ann; at Butterworth hospital, Grand Rapids.

Outside Folks Watch Vote On Library Museum

CONSUL FOR THE NETHERLANDS AS WELL AS HEAD OF STATE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION MAKE COMMENT AND GIVE INFORMATION

Interest in the proposed new Library-Museum Building, on which Holland city property owners will vote at the Sept. 13 election, extends far beyond the limits of the city, according to letters of inquiry received recently by the Netherlands Pioneer and Historical Foundation.

Experts on library and museum matters, as well as prominent Netherlands throughout the country will be watching the results of the balloting here.

William G. Bryant, Detroit, consul for the Netherlands, who has shown great interest in the Netherlands Museum since its establishment here two years ago through W. P. A. cooperation, has expressed the opinion that "the building, if and when completed, will become an outstanding attraction in the City of Holland and will be the source of the greatest pride, not only to the citizens of Holland but to all those of Netherlands birth and descent."

The need for proper library facilities was stressed by H. A. Uveling, president of the Michigan Library association and a member of the State Board for Libraries which allots state aid library funds.

"Experience has demonstrated clearly," Mr. Uveling wrote, "that a library inadequately housed never fulfills its best purpose. But given a favorable opportunity to develop, a library quickly becomes an important educational influence in the community."

"As the present government programs provide the best opportunities for obtaining aid for library development since the Carnegie interests in 1919 discontinued giving funds for such purposes, it is hoped that a great many cities will avail themselves of the present opportunity. But regardless of the means used to obtain better library facilities for the City of Holland, I hope that something will be done."

Under the terms of legislation enacted at the last state legislature, the State Board for Libraries allots funds for the aid of local libraries. The Holland library would be eligible for increased allotments under this act, if it were housed in a modern building.

Lee A. White, director of public relations of the Detroit News, writes:

"Naturally, the decision of the voters of Holland will be based on their wisdom, experience and sturdy citizenship, and no outside group as myself has a right to advise or question their judgment at the polls. Nevertheless, as a citizen of Michigan, taking pride in the achievements of the people and pleasure in a knowledge of their background, and as an occasional visitor to Holland, eager to see it multiply its attractions, I would be most happy to learn that the city had decided to undertake the magnificent enterprise, with Federal aid."

"The time has long since passed when it was necessary to justify library projects, whether in highly cultured communities such as Holland, or those less favored but equally ambitious. Apparently, though, there is less appreciation than there should be of the contributions which a museum, historical in nature, can make to the cultural life of an American community. We have, as a people, been too neglectful of our creditable past. It is a mark of our progress when we begin to take pride in our heritage and preserve for future generations those things which evidence the achievements of our forefathers and establish our cultural background."

Other letters have been received from Richard P. Rasmussen, executive secretary of the Cranbrook Academy of Art; John Tjarda, of the Briggs Manufacturing Co., Detroit; Eugene L. Van Antwerp, Detroit councilman; George Kamperman, treasurer of the Detroit Museum of Arts Founders' Society; Clyde W. Burroughs, secretary of the Detroit Institute of Arts; W. K. von Weiler, attaché to the Netherlands consulate at Detroit.

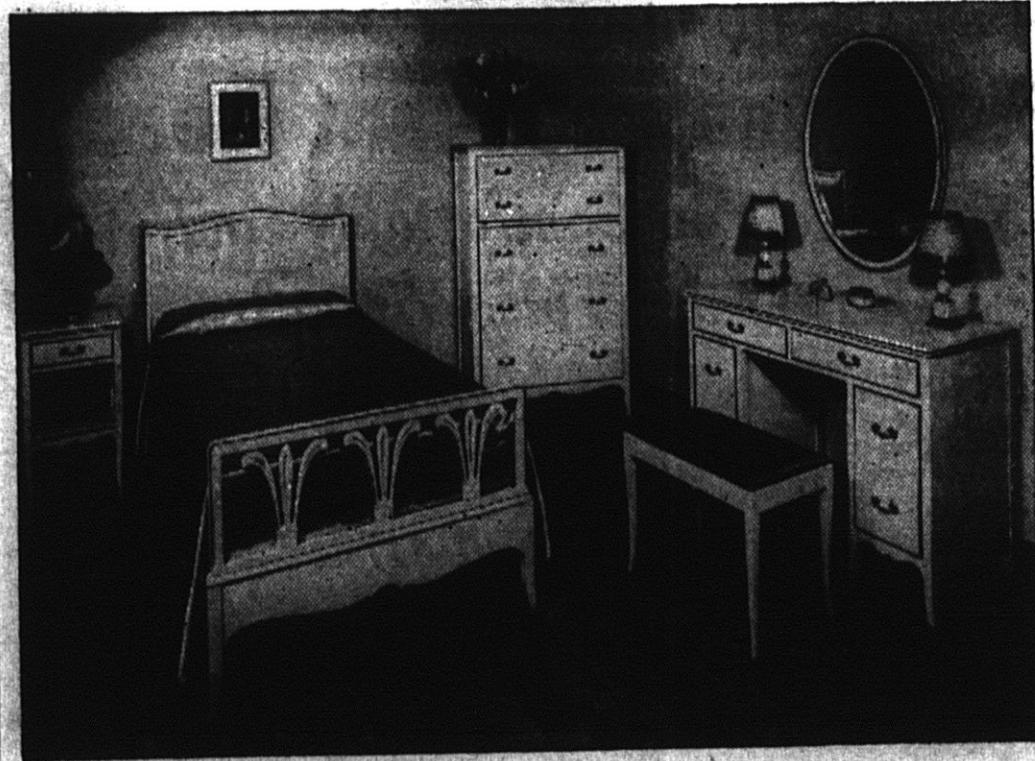

LADIES AUXILIARY OF VFW ARE MAKING PLANS

Holland members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are at present considering hospital projects on behalf of the Michigan Veterans. Formerly each auxiliary has been asked to give $18 annually to the work, but this has been judged unfair, since it has worked a hardship on the smaller auxiliaries, while larger ones could have given much more liberally. Under the present revised set-up, the apportionment will be 30¢ per auxiliary member, of which there are 4,000 in the state.

In a communication received from Pearl Keagle, department hospital chairman, by the local auxiliary, contributions of various articles of comfort and dress are being sought. They include pillow cases, new ties, handkerchiefs, socks, combs, tooth brushes and paste, puzzles, shoe laces, magazines, stationery, and other items.

Pedro and bridge parties are held at the hospitals the second Wednesday of each month, beginning Sept. 15. Bunco parties will be held the third Mondays of each month, beginning Sept. 19. Refreshments and prizes are needed for all of these events. Anyone in Holland having a contribution to make may phone either 4688 or 2829 and notify local auxiliary authorities of the same. The Holland auxiliary will stage a party for the entertainment of the hospital veterans the latter part of October.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

SUGGESTIONS this week should be for the long week-end rather than for Sunday dinner. The two chief requirements are plenty of food that will give mother a holiday as well as her family and guests. If possible serve a hot roast on Saturday that will do for Sunday and Labor Day both. Frankfurters are a better suggestion for Labor Day picnics than hamburger as the latter should be ground the day it is used.

Fruit suggestions include watermelon, apples, peaches, pears, plums and seedless grapes.

Low Cost Dinner
Boiled Smoked Shoulder
Mashed Potatoes Creamed Cabbage
Bread and Butter
Watermelon Milk

Medium Cost Dinner
Baked Ham Candied Apple Slices
Scalloped Potatoes Green Beans
Bread and Butter
Peach Pie

Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner
Clam Broth or Oysters
Roast Stuffed Young Turkey or Chicken

Browned Yams Green Lima Beans
Fruit Salad Lemon Dressing
Balls and Butter
Ice Cream with Peaches Cookies

The South is the background of her story; West Virginia is the state "Crying an Angel" and "Concerning Husbands" are subjects by Thyrza Samter Winslow and Fannie Kilbourne, respectively. "Mother and Son" by Kathleen Norris is a very gripping story that is replete with interest throughout. Earning a Living—

The best inheritance that parents can leave their children is the training and knowledge necessary to earn a living. Earning ability is more precious than material possessions.

For twenty years we have trained young people to earn a living by serving as secretaries and accountants.

On Tuesday, September 6, we again invite the enrollment of ambitious and intelligent young men and young women who desire to win independence early in life.

A Man and His Money

The round-the-world flight just completed by Howard Hughes and his four companions demonstrates more than the progress aviation has made since Wiley Post accomplished the same feat in 1933 but took twice Hughes' time in which to do it.

The remarkable achievement in the air that is at the moment on everyone's tongue in this country shows, also, that we still have in the United States men of great wealth who are not content to fritter away their money and waste their time and health in idleness.

An heir to millions while still a youth, Howard Hughes has made good use of the advantages money gave him to promote the cause of flying through the screen, through making spectacular flights himself and, now, through financing and leading a record-breaking air trip around the globe.

A fool and his money are soon parted, but men like young Hughes use the money they have earned or inherited for the benefit of their fellow-men.

Slim-Winged Nighthawks Fly South

If, between now and Labor Day, you see a flock of slim-winged birds flying erratically about, hunting for insects in the air and if these birds have a broad white patch across the wing, you are fairly safe in calling these birds nighthawks or bullbats. They are on their way South. They are neither hawks nor bats, as every bird student knows. Instead, they are members of the goatsucker family, close relatives of the whip-poorwill with which they are often confused.

Nighthawks were once believed to be on the way to extinction in Michigan, but today they are actually multiplying. It is well that they are. Nighthawks have small bodies, but enormous stomachs, which they cram with insects, caught on the wing in their large mouths. As many as 1,800 flying ants have been found in a single stomach of a nighthawk. Potato beets, striped cucumber beetles and grasshoppers are favorite food.

Nighthawks build no nest. They lay their eggs on the ground, on flat rocks or even on gravel roofs. The nighthawk pictured on the roof of a downtown Detroit building. When disturbed near the nest, the bird makes believe it is injured. It droops its wing and clucks to call attention to itself and away from the eggs or young.

Winter cold and preying enemies hold few terrors for well-fed bobwhite quail, game bird specialists of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey say. When food supplies are scanty or covered with snow or sleet, winter is likely to take heavy toll.

PRICKLY PEARS AND BABOONS

American farmers may think they have their troubles, but other folks have troubles, too.

Down in South Africa the prickly pear, a species of cactus, has spread so alarmingly that acres of farmland have been rendered unfit for crops.

The government came to the aid of the farmers by introducing a parasite, "Cactoblastus Cactorum" which lays its eggs on the thick leaves of the prickly pear. When the grubs are hatched, they feed on the leaves.

Just when the insects were blasting the cacti with some prospect of success, down trooped dozens and scores of baboons. They like to eat prickly pear fruit in summer, and when this supply of food was threatened, the baboons intelligently tore open the prickly pear leaves and ate the grubs.

The farmers of the Cape midlands are now organizing to exterminate the baboons, to give the parasites a chance to exterminate the prickly pear.

American farmers may have to fight corn-borer, Japanese beetle, grasshoppers and boll weevils in various parts of this country; but they don't see a baboon unless they visit a zoo, and the prickly pear is not as yet a menace.

Garden Enemy No. 1

The appearance of Japanese beetles in the heart of New York City is pretty good proof that no part of the country is safe from the depredations of this Asiatic pest.

Arriving in New Jersey in 1916 in nursery stock, these pretty but destructive little bronze-green insects started right out to take over the land.

At least a dozen insect parasites have been introduced to combat them.

They have been quarantined. They have been trapped. They have been fought with arsenate of lead and carbon disulfide.

And yet they have thrived and spread widely in the Eastern states. The female beetle lays her 60 eggs in July or August.

They begin to hatch in about a fortnight.

After passing through a wormlike stage the mature beetle emerges and begins to attack vegetation.

Apples, cherries, grapes, corn, and many other plants and fruits fall prey to its voracious appetite.

Japanese beetles continue to eat until freeze-up, when they go six inches to a foot into the ground, whence they emerge the following summer.

The plant pathologist of the New York Botanical Garden says that if every garden and lawn were dusted over with arsenate of lead, this would provide "a high degree of protection for the next five years."

Lapping the Field

In foreign countries, Americans are usually regarded as prodigal people. But the life insurance totals paint a very different picture.

No country in the world even approaches the United States in the total volume or per capita coverage of life insurance. To use a racing term, we have "lapped the field," with the second country far behind.

Equally important, it is not the wealthy man but the average man who has contributed most to the growth of life insurance. Big policies constitute but a drop in the bucket. Smaller policies, ranging from one to ten thousand dollars, make up the vast majority of the $120,000,000,000 of life insurance now in force in this country.

A prodigal people? We may be in some ways—but not when it comes to safeguarding the future of our dependents and ourselves.

The conference is alternately held in the U. S. and Japan. The happy smiles belong to Miss Margaret Tricinski of the University of Washington and Ichiro Katsura of Keio University, Tokyo.

MICHIGAN UNDERGROUND

Enough gypsum to supply plaster to care for construction in the United States for the next 200 years is estimated to be contained in the deposit found near Alabaster in Iosco county, Michigan, one of the largest in the United States.

We might add that in less than three years oil has been discovered next door in Allegan county amounting to millions, yet one little find in this great country of ours.

A country bursting with the growth of fruit and vegetables found in the temperate and torrid zones; with food stuffs enough to feed the world all available on the top soil, and a veritable mine underground extending from Maine to California, with new developments and new discoveries made every day—such as oil and alabaster in Michigan; the finest transportation system on earth; the finest tool shops in the world—and still we don't seem to be able to manage.

There is good hope that the calendar always will remain a subject for pleasant if not especially important debate, in spite of anything the World Calendar Association or any other earnest body of the sort may try to do about it.

Somebody always will be dissatisfied, glory be!

A Tip to Managers

The major league baseball clubs that are disappointing their fans this season might take a tip from Venezuela.

A special dispatch from Maracaibo to The New York Sun reports that practically every baseball team with any prestige in Venezuela has a "madrina" or godmother, who is young and pretty, who wears its cap and colors, acts as the team's mascot and sweetheart, and pitches the first ball in every game.

The effect upon the players is said to be much the same as that exercised by the ladies of old on the knights who fought their heads off for a smile of feminine approbation.

We pass on the tip, for what it is worth, to those who have the welfare of the Great American Game at heart and its future in their hands.

NO FISHING

Michigan conservation officials are watching with interest the effect of an order issued by Minnesota's Gov. Benson that prohibits winter fishing in all of Minnesota's lakes from Jan. 1 until the ice goes out. This is being done to conserve the fishing resources for the summer tourists. The claim is made, as it has been in Michigan, that ice fishing is destructive of summer fishing and that if this form of fishing is banned it means better sport for the summer season.

The same demand has been made several times by the resort interests in this State, but so far only a few lakes have been closed by the Michigan Conservation Commission. If the Minnesota experiment works out well and demonstrates that ice fishing is harmful and that summer fishing improves

PIRATES

If the English starting continues to show an increase in numbers, as it has over the past five years, the time is coming when it will be useless to put up compartment houses for purple martins. Starlings are gradually driving the martins out of homes they have occupied for years and they are ably abetted by the English sparrows. Many persons in the outlying districts of Detroit complain of the starlings' habits and state that martins that formerly came to their grounds in mid-April have entirely disappeared. There is little that can be done to control this bird during the nesting period. They will fight persistently to occupy any house with an entrance hole large enough to permit them to enter and in the end they gain sole possession.

MOTORISTS PROTECTED FROM BUYING STOLEN CARS FROM OTHER STATES

To protect the prospective purchaser of used and new cars from out of state, Leon D. Case, Secretary of State, has recently inaugurated a system of checking motor and serial numbers of cars purchased out of state.

Before the title of the car is delivered, the department of state investigators or branch managers, make a physical investigation of the car to make certain that the actual motor number and serial number on the car correspond to those on the bill of sale or certificate of registration and title of the former state.

By this method it has been discovered in a great many cases that the numbers do not correspond. In such instances the incorrect number is checked against the stolen car report to eliminate the possibility of a dealer or individual buying a stolen car. If no stolen report is found, it is then necessary for the seller to have his home state correct the error and certify the same before Michigan will issue a certificate of title.

Experience has shown that the average driver has no idea as to whether the motor number on his certificate of title is actually the one embossed on the motor of his car.

"It's Smart to Drive Safely"

Connecticut has just held her first statewide highway safety conference, under the sponsorship of the Connecticut Highway Safety Commission. A pioneer in the field of highway safety, her efforts have been rewarded with a steady decline in traffic fatalities within the state during recent years.

Especially stressed at the conference was the vital necessity of educating drivers, young and old, to the fact that "It's smart to drive safely."

Education is strictly a local problem, and as President Hoffman of the Studebaker Corporation, said: "It can only be solved successfully by creating the right mental attitude toward safe driving. There must be a social taboo on drinking and driving. There should be a social taboo on young girls going out driving with young men who have had even one drink. In short, drivers must learn that, instead of being smart and sophisticated when they mix drinking and driving, they are enemies of society—potential murderers!"

Every state in the Union must follow the example set by Connecticut if the nation's highways are ever to be made safe.

Waste Not, Want Not

Americans must go easy on their consumption of coal if they do not want to shorten its present life expectancy.

At the present rate of consumption this country's coal supply will not last more than 3,686 years!

The International Labor Office in Geneva estimates the world's anthracite and bituminous coal reserves, at this time, at 4,600,000,000 metric tons of 2,200 pounds each.

The Soviet Union has only 1,075,000,000 tons to our 1,975,000,000,000, but owing to the fact that it is extracting it only one-eighth as fast as we are, this supply will last Russia, at the present rate of consumption, for 35,478 years.

Canada's supply is good for 25,310 years and Germany's for 1,961 years.

Great Britain is in a bad fix: for its reserve of 200,000,000 tons will be exhausted in 868 years.

All these estimates as to the duration of the coal reserves of the various coal producing countries are based on the assumption that the average rate of extraction from 1925 to 1935 will continue.

Whether that rate will rise or fall in the future is impossible to say.

The development of hydroelectric power and the widespread use of oil in place of coal have already taken a load off the coal mines—and caused no end of trouble for mine owners and miners alike.

What the future will bring forth, we shall see in due course, or those who come after us will.

WOMAN WEIGHING 98 POUNDS GIVES BIRTH TO QUADS; ONE DIES

A woman weighing only 98 pounds, living at DeQueen, Ark., gave birth to quadruplet girls last week but one of the infants died a few hours later.

The mother is Mrs. H. T. Valentine, 27-year-old wife of an orchard worker. She was reported in satisfactory condition.

The three surviving babies were given drops of nourishment at a hospital here and kept under heat control units with frequent administration of oxygen. Dr. G. L. Kimball said they had a chance to live.

Old Foes Snarl

The sharp retort by Moscow to Tokyo's demand that Soviet troops be removed from Changkufeng hill is in substance a statement that the Japanese are all wet when they say the hill is their territory and that Russia will put soldiers anywhere it pleases on its side of the international boundary.

Both sides may be bluffing. If so, the next bluff seems to be up on Japan which already has its hands very fully occupied with the Chinese war.

When Is a Pike Not a Pike? Told by Sportsman

"PICKEREL MAY MEAN WALL-EYE OR NORTHERN; MUSKIE ALSO MEMBER OF FAMILY

By George Wells
(Grand Rapids Herald)

Picture the bewilderment of the poor angler who, having caught a fish of the pike family, attempts to display it before a group of brother fishermen.

"A pickerel," argues the first, "is a wall-eye pike. This fish is a northern pike or grass pike." "You boys are both all wet," asserts the third angler, "that fish is a grass pickerel, and will turn into a muskie!" And so the argument goes on and on, with each angler firmly refusing the identification of the other.

A lack of information concerning the pike family is more or less common, mainly because of the confusion of names given these fish in various parts of the country. When a fish is a "grass pike" in one county and a "pickerel" in the next, it is difficult to effect an arbitration.

Pike Is Common

The most common fish in Michigan, belonging to the pike family, is the great northern or spotted pike. This fish, common in the Great Lakes, and in most of our inland rivers and lakes, attains a weight of 25 to 30 pounds, and is a voracious feeder and fighter. It, too, is often called a pickerel, but the identification is readily found in the form of oval cream-colored spots on a greenish background, and the yellow striping of the lower fins. There are also identifying scale arrangements on the cheeks and gill covers, but this is too complicated to be remembered by the angler. The larger pike are excellent eating, but the smaller members of the family are blessed with a multitude of forked bones, which prevent placing them in the top bracket as food fish. These fish, when small, are quite generally called "grass pike."

Next in popularity with Michigan anglers is the wall-eyed pike or pike-perch. This fish, with a generous distribution in the state, while not a fighter or voracious feeder like the great northern pike, is yet a game fish and moreover excellent eating. The wall-eye seldom attains a weight of over 10 or 12 pounds in our waters, and cannot be mistaken for any other fish after noting its fin arrangement and general coloration. Because the fish is not a pike at all, but a member of the perch family, the fins and dark mottled green color is that of a perch. The basic color of the fish is a dark green—sometimes almost brownish—with darker mottlings which have no regular shape and are not clearly defined. The wall-eye is generally called "pickerel" in the southern part of the state, and in other localities may be known as "jack-salmon" or "summer pike."

Great Fighter

The third fish belonging to the group classed as "piques" is the widely-sought muskellunge, a fish of wide distribution, although not particularly numerous in our waters. The muskellunge, also called masquingone, muskellunge, etc., grows to weights in excess of 50 pounds, and is a fighter of great renown. In shape it greatly resembles the great northern pike, while the coloration may vary in various waters. If the fish is striped with dark tiger-like streaks, it is known as a "tiger" muskie, while if marked with dark spots it is called a "leopard" or spotted muskie. Neither type of fish has markings which in any way resemble those of the northern pike. We hear so much of the "pickerel" that a few words concerning this eastern fish might not be amiss. The true eastern chain pickerel is a small fish, seldom attaining a weight over 4 or 6 pounds, and is rarely found west of the state of Pennsylvania—practically never in Michigan waters. The fish may be readily identified by the very striking chain markings which decorate its sides. Once seen, this fish can never be mistaken, for its color and markings are unlike any fish found in Michigan.

Summer Pike

For several years we heard, and were puzzled of a fish called the "summer" pike, and it was some time before we discovered that this name was a distortion of the sauger pike—a dwarf species very closely allied to the wall-eyed pike. We cannot attempt to go into the various sub-species in this family, which are as numerous as those of the salmon family, but for a summary might say that if the fish has lighter streaks or spots upon its sides it is a great northern pike, while if the fins are those of a perch, and the sides a mottled green, the identification of a wall-eye is complete. The muskie, with its dark spots or stripes upon a lighter background of color, is seldom mistaken by the fisherman.
