HIT, RUN DRIVER KILLS HOLLAND GIRL, HURTS ONE

Gerrit Schutten, Father,
Suffers Head Injuries
in Accident

Other Two of Family Have Minor Injuries After
U.P. Crash

Gerrit Schutten, injured in the auto crash in which his daughter, Antoinette, 15, was killed near St. Ignace on Aug. 22, was returned to his home, 501 Michigan Ave., Saturday afternoon.

Examination in the Soo hospital, Sault Ste. Marie, revealed that although Mr. Schutten suffered severe head injuries he had no skull fracture nor internal injuries as had been feared. Fred Oldemulders, 372 West 21st St., close friend of the Schutten family, said, Mr. Schutten was confined to his bed.

Although reports received here indirectly said state police investigation showed the Schutten car had not been hit by another car, Mr. Oldemulders said state police were still investigating the possibility that the car had been struck by a hit-run driver. Mr. Oldemulders said his own investigation convinced him that another car had been involved in the crash.

James Langeland of the Langeland Funeral home left Saturday morning and met en route an ambulance which was bringing Mr. Schutten toward Holland.

Mr. Schutten and son, John, 10, suffered minor injuries in the accident.

The Schutten were in the upper peninsula to find relief for Mrs. Schutten's hayfever. They had rented a cottage at Elmwood for a week.

Mr. Oldemulders said the accident occurred so suddenly that none of the Schutten knew how it happened. The car went off the road, tipped against a tree and fell back. The damaged car was still in St. Ignace.

The body of Miss Schutten arrived in Holland Friday afternoon and was taken to the Langeland funeral home.

Funeral services were held on Monday at 1:30 p.m. from the home and at 2 p.m. from Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church, with the Rev. R. J. Danhof officiating.

Miss Schutten would have been a sophomore this fall in Holland Christian high school. She was born in The Netherlands and her parents moved to the United States when she was two years old.

Mr. Schutten is a local building contractor. The family has membership in Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church.

in Holland

Assistant Postmaster John Greengood will round out 35 years of service with the local post office Saturday.

Since the time the force has been increased to 11 clerks and 12 city carriers.

Water Hazard Again Added to Country Club Course

When excessive rains fall, an unwanted water hazard is usually added to the Holland Country club's golf course. Golfers who had used the course Monday were flooded out Tuesday. The peak, with water four feet deep in places, was reached Wednesday morning. The water then receded, but last night's rain counteracted the drop. The No. 4 green appears like an island just above the bridge in the above picture. The motor in the pump house (at right) was moved to higher ground.

CHILD LOSES LIFE IN WELL

Son of Mr. and Mrs. A.
Speet Drowns on Farm
Near Holland

Kenneth Speet, 2 1/2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Speet, was drowned in an unused well filled by the week's rain at his parents' farm home on route 6, Holland, at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

In addition to the rain that naturally fell into the well, some water had apparently washed into it filling it up about four and one-half feet. The boy's mother first missed him and decided that he must have gone outside. His body was located after about 10 minutes, but attempts to revive him were futile.

Kenneth was the youngest of eight living children. The boy who was the oldest died last spring. Kenneth would have been three in January. He is the nephew of Mrs. Louis Stokette and of Al Speet and Ben Speet of Holland.

Immediate survivors besides the father and mother are five brothers, Herman, Anthony, Marvin, John and Robert, and three sisters, Barbara, Cleo and Adriana, all at home.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday from the home. Burial will be in Graafschap cemetery.

DEADLINE NEAR FOR LICENSES

The Holland auto license bureau, the largest in the county, has about 1,500 full year plates to dispose of before the deadline for use of half year plates arrives at midnight Saturday. It is expected, Manager Alex Van Zanten said today, that about 1,200 of these will be sold before then.

Business at the bureau is about the same as every year just before the deadline. Approximately 200 people visit the bureau each day. The local bureau will be closed Labor day, so that drivers who have not obtained plates by Saturday, will not be able to drive over the long holiday week-end. No extensions will be granted. Half-year licenses, obtained during last February, expire now. Full year plates for 1940 will be good until March 1, 1940.

Two men are employed regularly at the Holland office which is open now during this week. It also is open this afternoon. The office, located above Yonker's drug store, is open daily from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Holland police today reported two accidents which occurred late yesterday afternoon and last night on Eighth St.

LOSS OF CROPS FEARED AS RAIN TOTAL MOUNTS

Downpour Since Saturday in Holland Is Near
Six Inches

Roads Flooded in Some Parts of County; No
Relief Seen

With lowland crops in Ottawa and Allegan counties under water and threatened or damaged, little hope was held today for a cessation of rains which have poured down in this vicinity for the past four days.

The forecast for lower Michigan was the same as it has been for several days—thundershowers tonight and Friday.

Rainfall since the "deluge" began Saturday night reached a total of 5.72 inches today and brought the month's total to 11 inches. For the 24-hour period, ending at 7 p.m. Wednesday, the precipitation measured .69 inch. After 7 p.m. it measured .48. The rain Sunday measured 1.83 inches. Monday's total was .93 and Tuesday's total was 1.79.

According to county agent reports, unthrashed grain and potatoes in Ottawa county may suffer severely, but, with exception of lowland crops, Allegan plantings may escape with minor damage.

Although the city engineer's office reported that no appreciable damage had been done in the city and that a general cleaning of the sewers was the only thing required, Montello park reported that some septic tanks there were filled with water and were not functioning properly.

Basements in homes on the low ground just east of the city were flooded to a depth of between one and one-half feet. Parts of the Holland Country club golf course were flooded.

Hundreds of acres of oats were covered with water north of Holland and were rotting, it was reported. Strawberry and pickle acreage also was completely covered, it was said.

Water was running across US-31 about a quarter-mile south of Port Sheldon and country roads were in bad condition. The ground is apparently full of water and there is no place for the water to go.

The Ottawa county road commission reported that water was running over the road two miles east of Holland on 16th St. and near the Holland Country club on the old Holland-Zeeland road.

Heavy rains also raised Sand creek, ten miles west of Grand Rapids to flood level and endangering traffic on M-50. The Ottawa county sheriff's department was called to install warning signals.

Dampness penetrating cables put about 200 phones out of service in the rural areas north and south of Holland.

Grand Haven, Aug. 29 (Special)—Unthrashed grain, standing in shocks in the fields, late potatoes and undug early potatoes, and Ottawa county's bumper crop of the peaches may suffer severely as the result of the heavy rainfall and continued damp weather of the past three days, according to L. R. Arnold, county agricultural agent.

Mr. Arnold said there was every reason to believe that grain left in the field had begun to sprout under the influence of the moisture and would be of either poor quality for human consumption or fit only for livestock feed. No thrashing can be done until the grain dries, he said.

Ottawa county has an unusually fine quality peach crop and weather such as the past few days will induce brown rot.

Blight has already appeared in late potatoes in the upper peninsula and northern Michigan, Mr. Arnold said, and he believes that unless cool dry weather comes soon, it will affect the late potato crop in this county. Hot, damp weather would most certainly bring it on, he said. He also stated that several farmers have already reported damage from rot to early potatoes in the ground.

Allegan, Aug. 29.—A. D. Morley, Allegan county agricultural agent, today said he expected more of Allegan county's damage would be from erosion than from loss of crops. Washouts, he said, are general throughout the county on high as well as low grounds.

Most of the damage, he reported, is in the celery, onion, corn and beet fields around Gunn swamp and around Fennville. Hot weather, if it came too quickly, would cause more damage through scalding, he said.

Crops outside the muck area are generally in fair shape. Roads are also fair but must be watched because they are softening.

On some sidehills, rain has followed cultivator paths down the hill and has caused gullies three and four feet deep.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Grand Haven, Aug. 29 (Special)—A divorce decree was granted in circuit court Wednesday afternoon to Bertha A. Moran, of Central Park, Park township, from Virgil D. Moran, a resident of Continental, O. Custody of the minor child was awarded to Mrs. Moran.

AUTO CRASHES HURT FOURTEEN

Dozen Hurt in One Mishap
as Car, Truck Collide
Near Holland

Twelve Indiana persons, five of whom were Negroes, were injured at 9:15 a.m. Sunday when an automobile and a pick-up truck collided on a curve five and one-half miles north of Holland on US-31.

According to Deputy Sheriff William Van Etta who investigated the accident, a borrowed car driven north by Miss Mattie Prince, Negro, 23, of Gary, slipped off the road and sideswiped the truck when Miss Prince temporarily lost control in attempting to get back on the road. Four other Negroes were in the car. The truck, which was being driven south by Harry W. Clark, 34, of Columbia City, Ind., carried three people in the front seat and four in the rear. It tipped over on the shoulder of the road.

Both cars were badly damaged and all the occupants of the cars suffered cuts. No arrests were made.

The injured of Columbia City were Mrs. Anita Clark, 37, who was taken to Holland hospital in an ambulance with a broken collar bone, body bruises and cuts; Clara Jane Clark, 10, chest injuries; Lura Jean Clark, 8, head injuries; Carl Clark, 5, chin and head cuts; Mrs. Ben Ward, 47, body bruises; Ben Ward, 51, chest bruises; and Harry W. Clark, 34, chest bruises.

The Negroes of Gary who were injured were Misses Prince, Alberta Wright, 31, Eva Bogaen, 30, Mattie Allen, 30, and Ruby Wright, 24. They received head injuries. Miss Wright and Ward were also admitted to the hospital for treatment.

Deputy Sheriff William Van Etta also reported an accident which happened Saturday at 10 p.m. at Dead Man's curve on the Park road in which Glendon C. Larsen, 31, of 117 East 14th St., Holland, misjudged the curve and smashed into a 700-lb. rock, hurling it approximately 150 feet.

The automobile in which Larsen and his wife were riding, turned over a few times and finally came to rest in the park between the two highways at the curve. The car was badly damaged. Both Larsen and his wife suffered body bruises.

Larsen was traveling east and hit the large rock at the west end of the small park.

GOV. APPROVES WARD CHANGE

City Clerk Oscar Peterson announced here that he had received Gov. Luren Dickinson's approval to the charter amendment relative to ward changes in Holland. The amendment was approved by common council last week. The governor's approval was necessary, however, before the issue can be voted on in the November election.

The amendment provides for a redistricting of the city's six wards to equalize the number of votes in each ward. A map showing the proposed changes is on display in the Chamber of Commerce window.

Rowland Koskamp Has Accepted Church Call

Rowland A. Koskamp, graduate of Western Theological seminary, class of 1940, has accepted a call to Third Reformed church of Raritan, N. J., to succeed the Rev. Edgar T. McCully, who is retiring. The Raritan church is a historic structure, the present building being erected in 1831. The congregation is composed of 75 families. Mr. Koskamp plans to leave with Mrs. Koskamp, the former Florence Vandenberg of this city, for Raritan, about the middle of September.

Mr. Koskamp, whose home was in Oostburg, Wis., graduated from Hope college in 1937. He also considered a call from the Reformed church at Chancelor, S. D.

HIS OWN MAN

Not the least of the Willkie assets, from the point of view of good politics in the best sense, is that he is his own man. Or at any rate he gives the impression of being his own man, which for political purposes is just as good. For the first time in a good many years the Republican party has a leader who is more than the incarnation of a political party, whose speeches are more than a composite of the ideas of party captains, whose acts are more than the execution of party conferences. The American people are beginning to guess that they are dealing not with a party leader but with an individual.

That will be all to the good, again from a purely political angle. If Willkie is the strong man he is supposed to be. People everywhere where the world over are always crying for a leader—a real leader not merely an official one. If he is the big man he is credited with being, then the fact that he is his own man will be his biggest asset. If on the other hand he does not have the goods, nothing will reveal this so quickly as the individualistic course the candidate is taking.

For good or evil, he is showing that he is his own man. There was his speech of acceptance, for instance. It has become traditional for the candidate of a party to make such a speech a synthetic one—the expression of the ideas of all sorts of factions in the party. The result often is flatness and innocuous desuetude. Mr. Willkie insisted on writing his own speech. In effect he told all factions in the Republican party to tend to their own business; he was going to express Wendell Willkie in Wendell Willkie's speech.

He carried this even to the point of insisting on his own rhetoric. It is natural for him to be colloquial in his expression, and he did not allow anyone to weed the colloquialisms out of his address. A more timid man and a less forceful personality would hardly have had the courage to use such an expression as "to kid themselves" in so important a speech. But the colloquialism makes the man come to life better than anything else could have done. In the same way it was usually a colloquialism that made Al Smith come to life in his best political days and that endeared him to millions.

It is refreshing to see in the front ranks of American politics a man who refuses to be an echo of anybody else or of any group or party, even in his rhetoric. Such a man's utterances may be rougher than those of men who have their speeches nicely ironed by smooth secretaries, but it seems likely that the American people are in a mood for roughness. The decision of Mr. Willkie, or more likely the instinct, to be his own man is the best politics that could be adopted in a campaign such as the country is facing.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Come, Follow, Abide, Go, is the program of Jesus for the individual life. First one comes to Christ, then he becomes a follower of Christ; he is bidden to abide till he is empowered for service; then he goes forth to live the Christ life in the world of affairs.

Praising God for His Blessings

Psalm 103:1-5; 10-18

By Henry Geerlings

Man's gratitude depends in some large measure upon what he thinks of God. If God is just an indefinite somebody or force to man he will find much reason to be grateful. There is, therefore, some ratio between a great conception of God and the gratitude of the man who holds such a conception. The writer of our lesson today had a great conception of God. He wrote out of his own experience with the Eternal. That is one reason why this psalm is so beautiful and appealing. We like to know what deeply religious men have felt. Experience counts. Experimental religion is unanswerable. What a man has proven in his own soul convinces us that religion has power and we may want the experience too. At least we may be moved to try it out in our own living.

So thoroughly persuaded is the psalmist, this fine poet of these ancient days, that God is good and shows it in his relation to him that he therefore calls on all that is within him to bless the sacred name. It looks as if this poet felt that such goodness as he had experienced at the hands of God demands the action of all his powers to express his gratitude and then he would fall far short of giving expression to all he felt. This is probable. No man, how reverent and pious and appreciative, can say all that his soul feels. Our deepest feelings cannot be spoken. When we try we only make a gesture at it.

There are not words enough in the dictionary to express all that a great soul feels. But the psalmist proposed to make a noble effort to show God that he did appreciate his blessing. That is most commendable. We do our best to show what is within and that is proof there is more than is expressed. Failure to say all we feel is not the sin, but failure to show any gratitude for blessings is the great sin. To be able to see no good at the hands of God or in the world is a calamity. Pessimism is more serious than we think. It says more than it intends to. It says not only that we do not see, but also that there is nothing to see. Pessimism is practically a denial of God's overruling providence. It is an indictment of the Eternal.

Our poet specifies why he has reason to commend all his powers in the act of praising God. He forgives the sinner and that is a big fact in the experience of any one. The man who does not want to be forgiven and has no joy in the consciousness of forgiveness has no sense of real values. He is just a bread-and-butter man with no spiritual sensitiveness. This poet sees God further as liberating forces across his soul so that moral and spiritual decay are prevented. He makes him to be a growing being, not a decaying one. His very goodness is curative and this is true when we are accustomed to think. He is also the answer to our deepest longings. We are hungry for him sometimes and we do not know it, but he satisfies the soul on its eternal quest.

Like a true poet the psalmist uses the fable of the eagle. It is said that it would soar aloft near to the very sun and then it would drop into the sea. From thence it would emerge with new plumage and new vigor. How suggestive of the invigorating process in the soul of man by reason of God's touch upon it.

God is a gracious God and he is slow to anger. He is a God of infinite patience. He must be else he could never get along with us. We are so thoughtless, so slow to learn the dangers of evil. He is good that he never punishes according to our deserts. We get off well at the hands of this kind-hearted God. He is the undiscovered God who is forever giving us another chance. It is one thing to forgive and blot out our transgressions and it is another to keep them against us in his book of remembrance. He removes them as far from us as the east is from the west and the east and the west never meet.

The poet rises to great heights when he conceives God as a God who pities us as a father pities his children. It is the pity that is born out of the mind that knows how hard our struggle in life is. It is the pity that knows our tendencies and our weaknesses. It is pity that would suffer and struggle with us up the steep hill of time. It is the pity that does not condemn until it is compelled to condemn. This father-idea of God is the greatest conception of God that the human mind can have. It was Jesus' idea and as we see this idea revealed in his own beautiful and gracious life and attitude toward men we are made aware of how much God really is to us.

Grace Church
Holds Picnic

The first annual Grace Episcopal church picnic held August 21 at Laketown park set a precedent for successful picnics. Cars left the church at 3 p.m. and on arrival at the picnic site the younger members explored the beach.

Because of the cool weather, the swimming and water sports were cancelled and the games were started earlier. The peanut scramble for children under 10 years of age was won by Rex Young and Peggy Mengelson. In the three-legged race for boys Miles Baskett, Jr., and Louis Borgman won first place.

In the three-legged race for girls and young women, Mrs. Gerald Kramer with Mrs. Roy Young tied for first with Mrs. Charles Stewart and Mrs. Verne C. Hohl. In the run-off, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Kramer were the victors.

Jess Mills won the nail pounding contest for men and Mrs. Arthur J. Mills kept the prize in the family by winning for the women. Everybody young and old entered the balloon blowing contest with Bob Borgman and Joyce Mills taking first places. In the center of a large circle a live rooster was unaged and Mrs. A. Harris grabbed the rooster and the prize.

All the children with suitable handicaps according to age carried eggs on spoons with numerous scrambled on the return trip. Sally Copeland and Louis Borgman managed to keep their intact to win the prizes.

Fishing for prizes delighted the younger children who could not compete in the other games. The Rev. Arthur C. Barnhart said the grace before supper which was furnished by each family. Mrs. Bert Habing and Miss Anna Dehn were rewarded with gifts for their contributions of lemonade and ice cream.

After supper the picnic committee was presented with enormous gold badges in appreciation for their splendid work. Roy Young was general chairman, assisted by Gerald Kramer, Arthur J. Mills and George Copeland. At this time the prizes were also awarded.

After supper the picnicers gathered around a camp fire while a quartet composed of Robert Mason, George Copeland, Roy Young and Leonard Dailey, led some songs.

An unorthodox ball game between the married men and the single men concluded the activities.

Smith-McLean Vows Are Spoken at Castle Park

In a charming outdoor wedding performed late Saturday afternoon at the summer home of her parents at Castle park, Miss Jean Elizabeth McLean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McLean, 191 West 12th St., became the bride of Julian C. Smith, Jr., son of Mrs. Julian C. Smith of Wilmette, Ill.

The Rev. E. Paul McLean of Hope college, uncle of the bride, officiated at the single ring service in the presence of the immediate relatives and close friends of the couple at 4:30 p.m. Vows were spoken on the terrace overlooking Lake Michigan against a natural background of shrubbery where a "tree" of white gladioli was flanked on either side by large vases of the same flowers. Clusters of white gladioli and ageratum also bordered the terrace.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a high neck gown of ivory faille silk fluffed with a long train and bouffant skirt which was draped over a petticoat of chantilly lace. The long French bodice was tightly shirred and the puffed sleeves were lace trimmed. She wore a finger tip veil which fell from a tiny net bonnet, and carried a duchesse lace handkerchief which was carried by the groom's mother on her wedding day. Her flowers were a bouquet of gardenias and Stephanotis.

Miss Peggy Kirchen was maid-of-honor. Her gown was of the same period and material in periwinkle blue. With it she wore a wine berry velvet pompadour hat, trimmed in ostrich tips of the same shade, and carried a bouquet of delphiniums and roses.

LOCAL GUARDS NEAR CLOSE OF M'COY TRAINING

Holland Unit Takes Part in Brigade Defense Problem

By Osborne K. Vos
Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wis., Aug. 29 (Special).—With their annual maneuvers almost at an end, members of Company D, Holland's national guard unit, are expected to begin counting the days when they will depart from camp and return to Holland, thus bringing to an end three weeks in camp which has been featured mainly by rain.

Camp maneuvers are scheduled to end Saturday, Aug. 31, after which the troops will entrain for their trip home.

Recently the local guardsmen participated in a large brigade defense problem in which they were a part of the advance guard. All troops of the 63rd brigade of which Company D is a part, were transported to the scene of action in quick time. Upon arrival, all men took up equipment and immediately went to cover.

The advance guard held off the attack of two imaginary enemies while the main body of troops formed the main line of resistance. After the main line was formed and ready for action, the advance guard withdrew to new positions with the main line of resistance. The front covered several miles and artillery was attached to the problem as the 63rd brigade is an infantry brigade.

On Saturday, Aug. 17, the men rolled all tents and laid out their personal equipment on their bunks for a thorough inspection. This inspection was taken to check the men on their equipment as to sanitation and cleanliness. The rest of the day, the guards enjoyed "bunk fatigue" in which to rest up and write letters home.

In the evening the privates and the non-commissioned officers engaged in a ball game which resulted in a victory for the non-coms by a score of 8 to 7. A prize was at stake to be furnished by the loser which added to the thrills of the game.

Homers by Dising and Pierson gave the privates an early lead of 7 to 3. In the sixth and seventh innings, the non-coms rallied on a series of hits and errors. A home run by Sgt. Dykema tied the score and a hard hit single through the pitcher's box by Sgt. Lokker gave the victors their winning margin.

Batteries for the losers were Pvt. Nash, pitcher, and Pvt. Zuiverink, catcher. The winning battery was Corp. Kemper, pitcher, and Corp. Max Welton, catcher.

At 7:45 a.m. Aug. 18 the company left for a three-mile hike which was to be a review of the complete 32nd division by its commander, Major General Fish. The 126th infantry band led the parade to the review field and also led the review with Company D, part of the first battalion closely behind.

Approximately 16,000 men comprised this mass review which proved to be the most colorful event of the three weeks training up to this time. Company D arrived at the review field at 9:15 a.m. and at 9:30 a.m. the complete 64th brigade was ready and waiting to march. The men were returned to their various camp sites in trucks.

The afternoon was spent in "bunk fatigue" but at 4:45 p.m. the whole regiment fell in for services conducted by Regiment Chaplain Major Lester Doerr. The message was delivered by Second Lieut. Calvin J. Young who was recently attached to the 126th infantry as a chaplain.

Pvt. Luke (Popeye) Lambers has turned out to be a photographer's model for the various officers and men with cameras with his realistic imitation of that comic strip character. He also is the company bookbinder for which he charges a small sum to shine the shoes for the boys.

Kitchen police were as follows: Pvt. First Class George Bruursma and Pvt. Norman Burrsma; Saturday, Pvt. First Class Marinus Bruursma and Pvt. E. Buttles; Sunday, Pvt. First Class H. Coppersmith and Pvt. A. De Boe.

Those on guard duty were Corp. G. Riphagen, Pvt. First Class Arthur Bremer, Pvt. J. Van Nul, N. Wagenaar and L. Sneller.

For several days, Corp. Jim McCormick has been exceptionally low in spirits but it was not until recently that his companions learned the reason. He hadn't received a letter from one of his many girl friends.

Word has been received that the 30 calibre machine gun platoon of Company D has received a mark of 200 out of a possible 300 on the firing range. The targets were realistic moving objects.

Parents and wives should not worry about the health of the guardsmen. A medical detachment is attached to each regiment including experienced army doctors. Any ailment of a guard is immediately reported to the first sergeant who sends the ailing man to the medics.

His case is diagnosed and proper treatment is given. If the case is serious, he will be rushed immediately to an army hospital at Camp McCoy. All care is taken in preventing any illness.

Camp sanitation is stressed and ordered. Companies are marked on cleanliness. All food and water is inspected. Only chlorinated water is allowed for the men to drink.

As to the rain, it has really fallen here. One night, the rain

COLD WEATHER FORCED END TO TIED TILT HERE

Dutchmen Ahead for Eight Innings in Game With G.R. Outfit

Holland's Flying Dutchmen and the Grand Rapids Krafts battled to a 6-6 tie at Riverview park last Thursday before the contest was called at the end of the 10th inning by Umpire Fred Scheerhorn because of the cold.

And cold it was, as it has been all week. By the end of ten innings cold had practically permeated the few fans who turned out and they were glad to leave, satisfied with another one of those always close Dutchmen-Kraft matches.

For five innings the locals led, 6-1, by virtue of two runs in the first when Barney Neifert tripled to score Ev De Neff who had walked, and scored himself on Driscoll's single and four runs in the third when they batted all the way down the line.

Lefty Van Wieren, pitching the first six rounds for Holland, allowed four hits and four runs in the sixth inning as Grand Rapids came within one run of tying.

Jay Stolonsberg worked his way around for the visitors in their half of the ninth to put the game into extra innings.

In Holland's big third inning, H. De Neff led off with a walk, Neifert singled to center where the Dutchmen were breaking through all evening. De Witt walked and Driscoll singled driving in both H. De Neff and Neifert. Elmer Van Wieren and Lauren Wenzel both singled to center and De Witt and Driscoll counted.

Driscoll, short stop, had a perfect night at bat, chalking up five singles in five trips to the plate. Two were singles to right, two to center and one to left.

Ken C. Vandenberg, a brother of Bill Vandenberg, made his first appearance with the team in right field.

Both teams used two pitchers. Pete Catt, who pitched the first three innings for the visitors and Ken Little, who finished, gave out 13 hits, walked four and fanned 11. Lefty Van Wieren and Bob Vandenberg totaled six strikeouts, passed four and gave 10 hits.

Bob Vandenberg was in top form in pinches of the last three innings, allowed two hits, walked one and fanned four.

In the 10th inning the Steffens team scored one run to take a 2-1 lead when Vodyke tripled and scored on an outfield fly. With the locals leading by one run Gibson after a walk and Van Order after a single, brought in the two winning runs for Allegan in their last time at bat.

MUCH WORK IN WEED CUTTING

Grand Haven, Aug. 29 (Special) — Carl Bowen, Ottawa county engineer, has reported that county highway department workers are being kept busy these days cutting weeds along the county's 1,500 miles of road which extends to 3,000 miles when both sides of the road are cut.

Work of cutting the weeds got under way after Memorial day and will continue "until the snow flies." The county has eight mowing machines and in some instances farmers are employed to cut down the roadside weeds.

The county engineer stated it is impossible to cut all the weeds before they go to seed as it would cost the county too much money. An average of six mowing machines is operated at all times. He pointed out that the county could spend all its money cutting weeds and plowing snow from the roads, thus leaving nothing for actual road work.

"This kind of mowing is very difficult, compared with mowing in fields because the mowers find tin cans, rocks, wires and sticks that people throw along the road and these break the machines, causing repairs to be made from time to time. While the repairs are made, it is necessary to take the machines out of service, therefore, they can't cover as much territory as one thinks."

Three new highway mowers were recently purchased by the county. M. Bowen stated that even though the weeds are cut along side the highway this does not prevent the seeds blowing from the weeds in the fields, causing other weeds to spring up after the others have been cut.
