It was fairly well clothed and the hands were soft, indicating that he had not been doing manual labor. In the coat was the name G. W. Pearce, evidently placed their by a tailor. The man was a stranger and was seen on the streets last Thursday morning. A purse found in the pockets was empty.

First Excursion in Years

For the first time in years the Holland Interurban will have an excursion rate in effect during the West Michigan State Fair at Grand Rapids next week. The rate will be 75 cents round-trip for those who return the same day. The tickets include city car fares in Grand Rapids. There will be half hourly service through the week with extra cars during the rush hours and no doubt many will take advantage of this low rate which will be in effect but a short time to visit the big Fair at Grand Rapids.

Unable to use Hendricks any longer the Benton Harbor baseball management decided that Zeeland had more good pitchers, and secured Hatchie Karsten to pitch yesterday against Paw Paw, rival claimants for the Southern Michigan independent championship. G. J. DIEKEMA

Re.nominated to Congress by big Majority

Facts about the primaries

Diekema carries the district by 2430.

The only place in which Diekema did not get a majority was at Grand Haven where he lost out by 46.

Louis Oosterhous who was at first thought defeated for prosecuting attorney is elected over Corrie Coburn by 156.

D. De Kleine of Grand Haven and Dr. David Cook of Holland were both nominated coroner without opposition.

Cor. Andre did not get enough votes in Grand Haven running behind Welch by 45 and only carried Holland by 10 votes. His majority in the county however is about 1250.

John Van Anrooy will not have quite the majority at first expected. A. J. Ward's strong run in Grand Haven cutting it down. He carried Holland by 581. His majority in the county will be 456. 5 townships are still to be heard from but as these only cast 250 votes it cannot alter his election.

Jacob Glerum made a decisive run over McEachron and Averell. His plurality will be at least 1250.

Walter Clark will be the legislator in the second district and Chas. McBride who has no opposition will be legislator in the first.

It looks as though John Van der Werp will beat Tom Bolt who was up for second term for State Senator by a small majority.

Osburn is nominated governor by a plurality of at least 25,000. Kelley run second with Musselman a close third,

Townsend for U. S. Senator is nominated over Burrows by 30,375

Revised returns from Iona shows that Diekema made a slight gain instead of 504 his majority is 530.

It appears that Fred T. Miles and C. Vander Meulen have been nominated circuit court commissioners over Raymond Visscher although Visscher had a majority vote in Holland; Miles and Vander Meulen both received assistance from Olive and Holland township.

John Q. Ross of Muskegon is nominated attorney general by a close margin.

It seems to be difficult to get returns in full. The News has been in communication with Grand Haen all the morning and accurate figures seem hard to get. This is undoubtly brought about by the new system it being the first time a primary has been held in the county to nominate a county ticket.

Vos has been in South Dakota, Milwaukee and Chicago since being at large, and was now working his way towards northern Michigan. Vos said he took a freight for Holland on the night of his escape, received aid from someone and then went to Chicago, where he left his partner Gayel, the pirate. BIG NEW BUILDING

$10,000 Carriage Hall Erected at West Michigan State Fair.

ITS 30,000 SQUARE FEET OF FLOOR SPACE WILL BE CROWDED BY UNEXCELLED VEHICLE DISPLAY.

The increasing attendance during the past few years at the West Michigan State Fair, which will be held at Grand Rapids, Sept. 12-16th, this year, is a well deserved compliment on the part of the people of western and northern Michigan to the gentlemen who comprise the management of the fair and who have given so liberally of their time and means to building up an institution that the commonwealth of Michigan may be justly proud of.

Three years ago the increasing demands for additional space in which to suitably display vehicles compelled the erection of a new Carriage Hall. A handsome building 130 feet wide and 220 feet long was built containing floor space of nearly 30,000 square feet, thereby adding to the large building space already used, and every foot of this large increase was filled during 1908 and 1909. Last year, after the Fair had closed the most successful week of its existence, so great had been the demand for better accommodations and larger space for agricultural and horticultural exhibits, which heretofore had been housed in cramped quarters, that the Fair management decided to use Carriage Hall for that purpose, and this year this great building will be renamed "Agricultural Hall" and will be devoted entirely to farm products.

This left the Fair without adequate room for the exhibition of vehicles, and, therefore, believing that an expenditure of $10,000.00 would be justified by the added satisfaction of all concerned and appreciated by the public, a new Carriage Hall, an exact duplicate of the one erected in 1907, has been recently completed, and every available foot of this 30,000 square feet will be used for the exhibition of fine carriages and automobiles, and the patrons of the West Michigan State Fair will this year see an exhibition of vehicles that will equal any exhibition of a similar nature given anywhere.

A new cement floor has been laid in Horticultural Hall, and this building is now one of the most modern and up-to-date exposition buildings in the middle west. Special premiums, amounting to over $800.00, are offered this year for competition among the counties of Michigan, and without question the fruit exhibition will be the finest ever seen in Michigan and one of the most interesting features of the fair.

The erection of this new mammoth building required so much space and the space heretofore used for the exhibition of farm implements having proven inadequate last year, it was decided to move the implement field north of its former location, and this increased facility has been added for the better display of farm machinery, which will unquestionably add greatly to this feature of the Fair.

The changing of the implement field to a new location brought up another question. In the opinion of the business committee of the Fair the horse stables were not considered adequate to the needs of the owners of the fine horses that the large purses offered by the speed department bring every year. The speed stables have been torn down and new stables, modern and commodious, have been built this season, and these splendid improvements, with a fine, broad cement sidewalk from the south gate to Manufacturers' Hall, makes the West Michigan State Fair the equal of any similar institution in his part of the country. No State Fair can offer better facilities both to the exhibitor and the interested spectator, and with the many added attractions that the management will offer this year, will make the Fair of 1910 bigger and better than any Fair ever held on the grounds of the West Michigan State Fair. We know that the appreciation of the people of the state will be shown by even a greater attendance than that of last year.

BEAUTIFYING THE FAIR GROUNDS

West Michigan State Fair Making a Park of the Fair Grounds.

Since early spring a large force of men under the direction of Superintendent Pratt, have been busy at the West Michigan State Fair grounds, planting flowers, trees, shrubs, etc., and a much more attractive appearance than ever before will greet Fair visitors when the big exposition opens on Sept. 12th.

This is along the lines of the policy adopted by the State Fair management in making Comstock Park gratifying to the eyes, as well as enriching the mind by the splendid exhibits and other attractions that will constitute the Fair his year.

The policy of beautifying the Fair grounds is carried out over the entire Fair grounds. Many new flower beds will be found in various locations, and in the course of time Comstock Park will be one of the beauty spots of Grand Rapids. The removal of the implement field north of its former location, the laying of new cement walks and the erection of new buildings along the most modern lies, in connection with landscape gardening will eventually make Comstock Park one of the finest fair grounds in the country.

Diekema's Record

The Republican voters of the 5th congressional district have seen fit to nominate Gerrit J. Diekema as their candidate for the congressional election. The fight against Mr. Diekema was carried on with unusual vigor by his opponent Deacon Ellis of Grand Rapids who in his earnest desire for political victory resorted to an attack upon Mr. Diekema's record in congress, endeavoring to show that the latter had not voted for the interests of his constituents upon certain tariff measures. These charges defeated Mr. Ellis decisively.

The people today are posted on the record of their representatives and resent the imputation cast upon their intelligence by an attempt to convince them that white is not white but black. They care not whether these charges are made through malice or whether they are made rashly without due consideration by those who instigate them. Either reason to an inteligent people is equally odious.

Mr. Diekema won out upon the face of his record. It must indeed be a source of pride to him to know that his past record nominated him, that the fight was waged upon that record and that the only charges made against it were obviously untrue. If Mr. Diekema is given his just compensation in the November election he will be returned to Congress where he will go on making the same sort of record that helped nominate him for the second term Age and experience will broaden him and his character will remain strong and the new problems that will burden him as his congressional prestige enlarges will be solved in such a way by the Congressman from the Fifth District of Michigan that Mr. Diekema may never fear to submit his record to his friends and constituents.

The Credit System

While the plan of selling goods and accepting monthly payments has its place in household economy there is grave danger of carrying it too far. A dollar or five dollars a month, as the case may be, looks small at the time—it is small, taken singely—but when a creditor is struggling along with too many of these little accounts he is apt to stumble before he is aware.

The great trouble is that it tempts people to buy too much which they could get along without. There are too many who owe their financial downfall to the piano bought on this plan.

Then when trouble does come there is a reaction which will surely count many marks against the author of the method. If one man is oppressed by it he not only censures the one who over-persuaded him, but his friends join in the cry; the dealer is for the time—and it may be for all time—boycotted because of the unwise purchase.

There are many gilded traps which may be set in the paths of the unsuspicious. But do they pay? Everytime you make a sale which results unfavorable you lose more than you gain; for public favor is worth very much more than the profit on a single sale. The plan of installments has its advantages. It has a distinct place, especially among salaried people. But the abuse of it has no place among thinking people. The tradesman who makes a business of crowding his goods upon people promiscuously with the argument that the payment is so small that it will not be missed is bound to reap in a measure a part of the tares which he is sowing. The aim should be to sell goods; but to sell them in such a way that the result shall be a mutual gain.

Lottery for Government Revenue

Cuba has the usual trouble of governments that develop statesmen faster than profitable places can be found for them. At the election this fall a decided effort will be made to abolish the government lottery and elect men who will assure the solvency of the republic by economy rather than by this doubtful means. It seems that the result of the lottery has been great poverty on the part of the workingmen of the Island, all of them spending everything they can earn on the tickets. Children are without clothing and proper food. If this eighteenth century scheme for raising public revenue should fail Cuba may be compelled to adopt modern financial methods. It would be an advantage to the citizens if such a result should follow the coming election, but many who make politics a business will oppose it because the effect would be to reduce their opportunity for personal profit.

Americans invented the steamship, the telegraph, the telephone, the electric light and the reaper. Then an American spoiled it all by inventing the phonograph.

Primary Returns in Holland

With the exception of the defeat of Attorney Sooy, for the prosecutorship, Holland's candidates went thru the primaries to easy victories, Charles McBride having no opposition for the nomination as representative from the First district of Ottawa county to succeed the late D. B. K. Van Raalte, and Dr. D. G. Cook having a similarly easy time for nomination as coroner. Van Anrooy's victory over A. J. Ward and Charles E. Bosworth was impressive.

County Officers in City and Zeeland.

Sheriff Andre had only a slight advantage of 10 votes in this city receiving 536 to 526 cast for John Welch. In Zeeland he fared slightly better receiving 165 to Welch 42. The vote throughout the county came in very slowly, some of the districts not yet having been heard from, but Andre is a sure winner having carried every township reporting.

For clerk, Jacob Glerum received 553 votes in Holland, and 152 in Zeeland; Fred F. Mc Eachron 380 in Holland 54 in Zeeland; H. H. Averill 77 here and 12 in Zeeland. Holland gave Hubert Pelgrim 642 for county treasurer and Fred Gordon 373 while in Zeeland the former received 127 and the latter 72. Glerum ran way ahead in Grand Haven and most of the townships gave him small majorities.

It is conceded that John F. Van Anrooy made a great run the nomination of register of deeds, Holland having given him 793 votes to 252 for A. J. Ward and 28 for Bosworth. In Zeeland Van Anrooy fared nearly as well with 106 votes to his credit while 44 were cast for Ward and 58 for Bosworth.

The vote on prosecuting attorney stood as follows: Coburn 374, Sooy 328 and Osterhous 335. In Zeeland Coburn was popular receiving 113 votes, with Osterhouse 68 and Sooy 42.

Hubert Pelgrim of Olive, the candidate of this section of the county for the treasurship left vacant by Walter Clark, polled a big vote in all this section against Fred Gordon of Nunica, his majority in Holland City being nearly 300.

The fight for Circuit Court Commissioner was made on slips and following was the vote by wards: 1st, Raymond Visscher 59; C. Vander Meulen, 59; Fred T. Miles 46. 2nd, Visscher, 19; Vander Meulen 6 and Miles 4. 3rd, Visscher 18; Vander Meulen 27 and Miles 9. 4th, Visscher 23; Van der Meulen 26 and Miles 26.

As Drain Commissioner Edwin Fellows led in the city with a vote of 282 while Zeeland gave him 109. F. E. Stone came in second with 172 votes in the city and 25 in Zeeland. The Foster received 139 votes here and 43 in Zeeland, while R. L. Johnson received an even hundred in Holland and 19 in Zeeland.

There was little comment on the small vote by the members of other parties than the Republicans Tuesday, as there were but one or two offices for which more than one candidate had been named and no effort had been made in behalf of the contesting ones or even to get out a strong party vote. The general interest in the Republican candidates completely overshadowed the other tickets upon which candidates were nominated, mainly for the reason that nomination on the Republican ticket been equivalent to election. The same equivalent to election. The same condition holds true to a considerable extent in the Senatorial, Congressional and Gubernatorial fights at the November election, though some Democrats have expressed a conviction that ex-Mayor Edwin Sweet of Grand Rapids, the Democratic nominee for Congress, and Lawton T. Hemans, of Mason, the nominee for governor, stand a good show for election this fall.

Holland Fair Bee

With the primaries out of the way, the directors of the Holland Fair have decided upon next Friday as the most suitable date for the annual fair "bee" and announcements are being sent out to those who are generally most interested in the progress of the exhibition to come to the grounds Friday ready for the regular stunts. Clearing up the grounds, repairing the fences, building stands and grandstand and putting in the finishing touches on the track are the main stunts which will be performed and businessmen, farmers, and directors alike will take a hand in the work. Refreshments will be served to all the workers at noon and it is hoped that there will be a big turnout.

Diekema's Reception

Something over 200 representative repnblicans from Grand Rapids and nearly 400 from here gathered at the home of G. J. Diekema on 12th street for the purpose of showing him the delight and satisfaction with which the result of the primaries had filled them. Through the courtesy of traffic manager Floyd of the Holland Interurban two special cars were furnished for the Grand Rapids delegation. The Burton Heights band also accompanied them to Holland.

It was through the offorts of Dr. Perry Schutz that a delegation was sent to show their pleasure in the choice of the congressman.

Among those who participated in the affair were the following: Jacob Steketee, Peter Lankester, W. Millard Palmer, L T. McCrath, Alderman Eugene Smith, City Clerk James Schriver, City Comptroller George Tilma, Robert D. Graham, Frank J. Cook, J. J. Van Zoeren, Andrew Fyfe, Claude Hamilton, E. J. Smith, Jacob VandenBerg, Isaac Wagemaker, A. Okma, Albert Van Zoeren, Nicholas Minnema and George Hoek.

The reception took place about 8 o'clock when all marched to the Diekema home led by the band and singing "But Diekema goes to Congress just the same." At the arrival Congressman Diekema was there ready to give them a royal welcome.

The spacious lawn was brilliantly illuminated and a large number of chairs had been arranged on the lawn and porch. Several of the congressman's fellow citizens were seated on the porch and also the members of his family. Dr. Kollen president of Hope college officiated as master of ceremonies.

Following brief belicitations from several of the party from several of the party from here and Grand Rapids, Congressman Diekema responded to the insistant calls for a speech. He then spoke in short of his gratification in seeing the confidence and good will of his fellow citizens.

He also spoke of his intentions to work even harder in the future than in the past for the interest of his constituents.

After Diekema's speech, Dr. Kollen introduced Senator Fyfe whose emphatic speech was received with much enthusiasm. Jacob Steketee, as vice counsel of the Netherlands, gave a short but interesting talk, after which City Comptroller Tilma was presented as, "one who controls many things". He gave a very interesting and at the same time humorous speech, which met with a hearty approval from all.

Dr. Schutz was then introduced by President Kollen as the one to apply the plaster to the wounds that had been made, and he paid a graceful tribute to Mayor Ellis ability as executive of Grand Rapids and reminded all present that the duty of all members of the party now, is to unite in the support of the party's choice.

Pastor Twenty Years

Rev. G De Jongh, pastor of the Reformed church in Vriesland has closed the twentieth year of his work as pastor there. Almost without intermission he has been able to occupy the pulpit, never taking more than a three weeks' vacation. During the twenty years over, 150 children were baptized; 274 members were received on confession; 77 were received on a test: 90 funeral services were held; and about 100 marriages performed. A matter that deserves notice is that during these years $10,248.84 was given by the church to the work of foreign missions; $4,151.33 to domestic missions and $987.08 to the board of education. When Rev. De Jongh entered the pastorate there of the members who were present 30 still survive: The church has at present a membership of 154. Rev. De Jongh is a graduate of Hope college and of the Theological seminary of Hollond and entered the ministry 23 years ago. His first place was the Reformed church at South Blendon.

Victory for Boone Brothers

Racing at the Gratiot County fair at Ithaca brought the Boone's horses home inside the money, Alamazoo coming in an easy second in the 2:13 pace. Mollie Wilkes outclassed the field in this event and won in three straight heats, the best time being 2:17. Thursday in the 2.25 trot, the local horseman took down third in each heat. Aby Pop took three straight heats and the race after losing out in the first heat, in which 2:20 was made. B. C. Begham driver of Maccabee Hall" was thrown from the sulky in the final heat of the 3:13 pace and suffered a broken collarbone and two smashed ribs.

The next day Boone brother stable also had winners. Charley Harrington was returned first in the 2:35 pace, while Queen Vitalis took the 1:19 pace after five grueling heats.

In the slow pace, Charley Harrington took the opening heat in 2:22, but La Verne came in strong and beat the big bay in the next two heats and looked to have the race. Boone had something up his sleeve, however, and took the fourth and fifth heats going in 2:21¾.

The 2:19 pace was a great race, the Boone mare taking last in the first heat. The second was won by Boone in a hard drive in 2:19, but in the third Queen Vitalis dropped back to last place again and was placed seventh in the two deciding heats, she steadied down and won easily from Carnival Girl.

In the car which went north Saturday morning were Pocatella, a green trotter belonging to Johnny Kleis, Lightfoot, Hub Boone's fast little pacer, and Sadie Brooks, the speedy little mare belonging to Casper Belt. The horses were sent to Howard City, and will make the remainder of the circuit with the Boone stables.

The Holland Merchants were defeated at Grand Haven on Labor Day by the fast Beandry team of that city. The Merchants were very much handicapped since a number of the regular players were absent. Steffens did the twirling for the Merchants and was in fine shape stricking out 13 men. The difficulty for the Merchants to get safe hits off Davick, the Grand Haven twitler resulted in the score of 5 to 0. The Merchants have just finished a very successful season winning 17 and losing only 6 games.

BUTTONS AND BABY AID A FAIR PRISONER'S ESCAPE

WOMAN GIVES CHILD TO POLICE WHILE SHE GETS HER DRESS FASTENED.

East St. Louis, Ill.—Frank Wible, sheriff of Sullivan county, Indiana, who came here to capture Mrs. Lizzie Clinger, twenty-two years old, wanted in Sullivan, Ind., is minus his prisoner. A button-up-the-back gown aided Mrs. Clinger in the clever ruse by which she escaped from him and Detective Purdy.

When Sheriff Wible reached East St. Louis he asked the police for aid in finding the woman. He and Detective Purdy traced her to her home and there arrested her.

"I can't go back to Indiana like this," Mrs. Clinger said. "I'll have to change my clothes."

"I'll Have to Change My Clothes."

Sheriff Wible courteously told her she could go into an adjoining room for her toilet.

"Will you please take care of baby while I dress?" Mrs. Clinger asked, sweetly.

Of course Sheriff Wible would. He and Detective Purdy amused themselves with the baby, while the rustle of feminine apparel came from the adjoining room. Then there came a plaintive voice:

"Oh, I must have some one to button up my dress. Can't one of you gentlemen do it?"

Sheriff Wible blushed and Detective Purdy stammered.

"Not for mine," the latter gasped. "A couple of policemen over here got fired, not long ago, for being in the room while a woman prisoner dressed."

"Well, I'll have to get somebody," Mrs. Clinger replied through the portieres. "I tell you; let me run over to Mrs. Fleming, next door, and she'll button me up."

Sheriff Wible gave a sign of relief from an embarrassing position and hurriedly agreed.

Mrs. Clinger left the house and Sheriff Wible and Detective Purdy sat down to play with the baby while they waited for Mrs. Clinger to return.

An hour later they were still waiting. They went to Mrs. Fleming's to learn how many buttons were on the dress that required such a length of time to button. They found Mrs. Clinger had not been there.

LOST YELLOW COW LOCATED

Owner's Suspicion Is Aroused Because of Variation in Size of Neighbor's Herd.

Green Lake, Pa.—An application of lampblack had so changed the color of a yellow cow belonging to Frank G. Lauer that it took two weeks before the owner and two constables empowered with search warrants could locate and identify the animal under most peculiar circumstances.

Lauer's blooded Jersey cow had wandered from her moorings several weeks ago and despite all efforts to find her no trace of the missing animal could be found.

A herd of five cows on a farm, close by, occupied by a tenant, numbered six on clear days, and only five on rainy ones. This aroused suspicion, and, accompanied by Constable John Bitting of Red Hill, the owner of the lost cow examined the strange animal, for whose presence Mr. Bracey could not account. After a rigid examination Mr. Lauer gave it up, saying:

"She has the size, the missing tooth, and one hoof is chipped, but my cow was a yellow color."

Just then the constable stroked the cow gently, when the color of both his palm and the cow's coat of hair changed slightly, and after repeating the operation with increased pressure a bright yellow streak was revealed and the yellow cow was found and taken home.

Girl Makes Record Swim.

Boston, Mass.—A fifteen-year-old Dorchester girl, Rose Pitnoff, succeeded in swimming from Charlestown bridge to Boston Light. This feat has been attempted many times by most of the best distance swimmers of the east, but heretofore has been accomplished by only one person, Alois Aderle of New York. Seven men vainly competed against Miss Pitnoff. The girl was in the water 6 hours, 50½ minutes.

RATS CAUSE OF GHOST SCARE

Rodents Pull Electric Wire, Causing the Light to Rise and Fall and Frightening Men.

There are probably few persons who would confess to a belief in ghosts, spirits, specters, or spooks, as told in stories. But when some mysterious circumstance occurs at night time they are among the first to think of ghosts as an explanation of the phenomenon.

This, perhaps, was the case with Elmer Sampson and Art Anderson, who were startled and mystified as they were sitting in the office of a livery barn one evening recently when the electric light hanging from the ceiling began to rise and fall.

It is said that Mr. Anderson, who thought a ghost was in the attic, suggested that they give chase to it with a pail of water. It was finally decided that Mr. Anderson should get a lantern, while Mr. Sampson got a ladder, that they might investigate the attic for the cause of the disturbance.

The young men felt relieved at finding that two huge rats had been tugging away at an old umbrella, the handle of which had become hooked behind the electric light wire. Every time the rats pulled on the umbrella the lamp would rise.

WEARING ROSES DANGEROUS

Trainer Attacked When She Pins Blossoms to Corsage—Beasts Mistake Them for Meat.

A lion tamer came from her hot tent and sat down for a chat.

"An admirer, in my younger days," she said, "once sent me a bouquet of red roses, and I wore them in the ring to do my act. They came near doing for me. I had got my eight lions arranged in their pyramid when the lion at the top saw the red roses in my corsage. He mistook them for meat—lions have poor sight—and down he leapt. He came for me open-mouthed. Though I fired a blank cartridge in his face, he made with his paw a sweep at the roses that ripped me open from chin to waist. The other lions bounded forward. They weren't angry. They were hungry. I had intelligence enough to perceive that, and just as they were leaping on me I tore off my roses and threw them across the ring.

"The big brutes left me at once, and while they sniffed the roses with disappointed growls I staggered out of the iron door. I was young at the time, young and light-headed, or I'd have known better than to wear anything red amongst hungry and near-sighted lions."

How Thackeray Worked.

If ecarte is to be held responsible for Thackeray's appearance as an author, his erratic methods of work contributed equally to his early death. He wrote invariably with the printer's devil in attendance.

"I can conceive nothing more harassing in the literary way," wrote Motley to his wife in 1858, "than Thackeray's way of living from hand to mouth. I mean in regard to the way he furnishes food to the printer's devil. Here he is just finishing the number that must appear in a few days. Of course, whether ill or well, stupid or fertile, he must produce the same amount of fun, pathos or sentiment. His gun must be regularly loaded and discharged at command. I should think it would wear his life out."

Motley's fears were realized within a few years.

Art Leads Language and Science.

The fact is that art is working far ahead of language as well as of science, realizing for us, by all manner of suggestions and exaggerations, effects for which as yet we have no name; nay, for which we may never perhaps have a direct name, for the reason that these effects do not enter very largely into the necessities of life. Hence alone is that suspicion of vagueness that often hangs about the purpose of a romance; it is clear enough to us in thought; but we are not used to consider anything clear until we are able to formulate it in words, and analytical language has not been sufficiently shaped to that end. . . . It is not that there is anything blurred or indefinite in the impression left with us, it is just because the impression is so very definite after its own kind, that we find it hard to fit it exactly with the expressions of our philosophical speech.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Points for Church-Goers.

A clergyman was smoking a cigar under an oak.

"My congregation coughed this morning," he said, "I could hardly make myself heard. It was most annoying."

"Well," said the physician, "the next time they cough, tell them to press the upper lip just beneath the nose. Pressing the nerves in that quarter will stop the most obstinate cough, and, by the same token, it will stop a sneeze too.

"I'll tell you how to stop the hiccoughs. You press hard on the cheek, right in front of the ear. Those nerves there control the hiccoughs as money controls politics. You need only press—the nerves will do the rest."

In Line.

"Have you taken any steps to demonstrate that women are fitted for modern controversy?"

"Yes, indeed," replied Mrs. Votington; "we have already named a number of eligibles to a Sapphira club."

Diekema Nominated

Standing squarely on his record in Congress during the whole of an eventful campaign, Congressman Gerrit J. Diekema was renominated as the Republican candidate for the Fifth District in the primaries Tuesday, his majority over George Ellis in the district being estimated about 2,300. Coming through Ottawa and Ionia counties with handsome majorities, the local man surprised even his friends holding Ellis even in his own stronghold of Grand Rapids. The vote was much lighter than was expected, but the loss fell mainly in the Diekema column and a heavier vote would have brought an even larger popular majority.

This vote in Grand Rapids was the surprise of the campaign, as Ottawa county was the Diekema stronghold and Ionia county had been conceded by the Ellis forces after the local man had concluded his whirlwind trip through it. But Ellis and his forces had confidently counted on a 3,500 majority in Kent which would overbalance the other two counties, and were appalled when the early returns showed Ellis hardly holding his own. Ellis conceded his defeat at 11 o'clock, when the returns from the Furniture City showed the strong Diekema sentiment.

Diekema sprung his greatest surprises in carrying the country districts of Kent by a small majority, the 101 which he secured above those totalled by Ellis helping a great deal to cut down the 342 margin by which Ellis carried Grand Rapids City. This gave Ellis the county by 241 majority, which scarcely cut into the 2600 which Diekema rolled up in Ottawa.

Holland Gives Diekema 849 Majority.

This city rallied as strongly as ever to the support of their pride, and out of a total vote of 1,167, Diekema got 1,008, giving him a majority of 849 over the Grand Rapids mayor. Ottawa county gave him a majority of over 2,000, returns from every precinct except the Third Ward. Grand Haven giving Diekema 2,935 to 852 for Ellis, a clear majority of 2,083. The remaining district will give him 100 more.

The earliest reports from Ionia showed the Diekema strength, Lake Odessa coming in with 100 majority. Ionia City returned 53 majority for the local man and his total in the county will approximate 500.

The vote in the various wards here was light, Diekema failing to poll a vote equal to that in his first campaign against Russell, while the Ellis vote about equalled that cast for the present land commissioner. Diekema got 183 majority in the First, 32 in the Second, where only 70 votes were cast, 213 in the Third, 210 in the Fourth, and 211 in the Fifth. John F. Van Anrooy, the local candidate for register of deeds was the only candidate whose majorities even approached those of Diekema.

Mr. Diekema went to his campaign headquarters in Grand Rapids to hear the returns, but a large number of his friends gathered in his local offices and anxiously watched the progress he had made as indicated by telephonic returns from all over the district. Before midnight, the news that Ellis had acknowledged defeat was received, and the exultant crowd dispersed quietly. There was absolutely no disorder on the local streets last evening to indicate that an election had just been decided.

Holland Township, as in other campaigns, went almost solid for Diekema giving him 286 votes to 15 for his opponent. Blendon showed an even greater preponderance, returning 150 Diekema votes against 3 for Ellis. Jamestown, Olive, Robinson, Allendale,—all came through with similar majorities. It was in the First and Second wards of Grand Haven alone that Ellis showed strength, and Polkton gave the local man but 142 to 114 for the Grand Rapids candidate.

Zeeland City, where it was claimed that Ellis would make a great showing gave Diekema 171 to 59 for Ellis, and the township voted 133 to 20. Diekema's majority in the county against Ellis fell short of his majority against Russell two years ago by almost exactly the difference between the heavy vote at that primary and the light vote yesterday, indicating that the loss was due mainly to the apathy of the voters.

A FIDDLER LURES COYOTES TO DEATH

PLAYING OF OLD-TIME MELODIES DRAWS ANIMALS WITHIN RIFLE RANGE.

DAD PLAYS AND SON SHOOTS

Ninety-Five Slain While Entranced by Strains of "Home, Sweet Home" and "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight."

Eli, Neb.—Having read of music being used to induce cows to give larger quantities of milk and of birds being charmed by the playing of a mouth organ, John Peterson, owner of a large ranch a few miles south of this place, has tried his violin on coyotes with great success.

Peterson is considered by folks in this community as being an artist on the violin. He plays for all the country dances, and fills an important niche in a local orchestra. He has a local reputation of "making a fiddle talk."

After reading stories in the newspapers of how animals and birds were attracted by music, he said to Mrs. Peterson: "I'll just try it on those pesky coyotes."

A few days later he and his son, Henry, sixteen years old, took a repeating rifle, a large supply of ammunition and a violin and repaired to a shed near the center of the 5,000-acre sand hill ranch.

Seating himself on a soap box in the doorway of the stable, and grasping his violin, Peterson began to play. He ground out the "Devil's Dream," "Fisher's Hornpipe," "When the Flowers Bloom Again" and a dozen other similar airs. None of them brought the coyotes.

Peterson was a little skeptical and somewhat disgusted. Then he tried some of his best "ragtime." Hardly had he finished his first selection when there came a yelp from over a hill to the left, and a little later an answering yelp from the right, followed by still others from other directions. Coyotes commenced to appear and in a few minutes the stable was encircled by the animals, all sitting on their haunches, howling in unison, and evidently trying to keep time to the music.

Peterson sawed away on his instrument, but not a coyote would come within the range of Harry's rifle. Then the fiddler decided to try something more plaintive. Dropping ragtime, he started to dish out "Home, Sweet Picking Off the Coyotes.

Home." Hardly had he struck a dozen notes when the circle of coyotes, like one coyote, arose to their feet. They stopped howling and commenced to walk toward the stable.

By the time that Peterson had finished "Home, Sweet Home," the animals were within a quarter of a mile. When he stopped for a moment they also stopped. Again he played ragtime, and the coyotes squatted upon their haunches and commenced to howl, apparently disgusted. They began to retreat.

But Peterson was equal to the occasion and he quickly began to play "We Shall Meet to Miss Him" and "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" The effect was like magic. Apparently electrified by the music, the coyotes snuffed the air, and, striking a rapid gait, began to close in on the stable.

Harry began to shoot with unerring aim, and an animal, sometimes two or three of them, fell at each crack of the rifle. Animal after animal went down, but this did not seem to create any consternation among the pack. On they came, and from window to window the boy went, shooting at the advancing column, while his father kept on playing dreamy melodies. The lad fired until all his cartridges were gone. As the last shot was fired the father laid down his bow. Immediately the unwounded coyotes fled for the hills.

An investigation showed that 95 animals had been killed, while nearly half that number were wounded so as to be easily put out of commission.

HOUSE ONCE USED AS FORT

Historic Structure Was Built in 1642, According to Tablet Bearing Its History.

In the town of Rensselaer, N. Y., which lies directly across the Hudson from Albany, there stands an old weather-beaten building to which is attached a great deal of historic interest and import. It is unoccupied and is surrounded by tall weeds that the hand of neglect has fostered and raised in abundance. It is built of brick, is two stories in height, and the marks of many years stand prominent upon its battered front.

A large tablet on its wall stands out boldly to the public gaze and proclaims that the structure is supposed to be the oldest building in the United States. The date of its erection, according to the tablet, is 1642. The building was erected as a manor house and place of defense and was known as Fort Crailo. While marching to attack Fort Ticonderoga, in 1758, Gen. Abercrombie made his headquarters there. The tablet finally declares that Army Surgeon R. Shuckburg composed the popular national song, "Yankee Doodle," while upon the grounds near the old building.

Gun holes may be seen in the front of the historic old structure, and the old flag pole, standing on its roof, is still prominent to view. Doubtless there are many stories of bravery and courage which have never stolen into the pages of history connected with this manor house of the seventeenth century.

The building is substantial even yet. It will see many years of standing before the hand of decay can tumble it into ruin. The house is one of the remaining relics of the days when our nation's spirit was tested and tried.

WORK OF NOTED EXPLORER

Livingstone's Geographical Survey Amounted to More Than His Preaching in Africa.

Livingstone's field of geographical endeavor was the region of the great lakes of equatorial Africa. His object was primarily to extend the operations of the London Missionary society, under whose direction he was working. Dr. Livingstone never wholly relinquished his missionary character, although in 1857 he resigned from the society and in his later years in Africa his geographical explorations amounted to much more than his preaching and his medical service. His last work, after parting from Stanley in March, 1872, was directed toward the solution of the Nile problem. After promising reconnoissances he essayed such a detailed survey of the basins of the Lualaba and the Laupula rivers as he hoped might establish the watershed between the river systems of the Congo and the Nile. Before his work was finished he died, May 1, 1873, at Tshitambo's village on the shore of Lake Bangweolor. The determination of the fountain-head of the Nile was effected only after sifting out the results of the observations of many explorers, and this investigation was not completed until long after Livingstone's time. This fountain-head is the source of a little stream situated just north of 3 deg. S. in longitude 29 deg. 30 min. E, at a height of 6,114 feet above the sea, in the northern extremity of the mountains bordering the northeast coast of Lake Tanganyika: this stream becomes the Ruvuvu river, and that becomes the Kagera or Alexandra Nile and empties into Victoria Nyanza on its west coast.

Character From Cigars.

Character from handwriting and palmistry we are acquainted with, but a Paris contemporary announces that dispositions can be gauged from cigars. The man who smokes, we learn, is easily recognized. His lips show it, without his speaking. He who fixes his cigar deeply in the mouth is of a nature resolute, skeptical and abrupt; one who bites off the end of his cigar is careless, thoughtless or listless. When the cutter is used to nip off the end, the smoker may be considered as a man of caution. The user of the amber holder may be considered a delicate person. The man who smokes his cigar to the end is a faithful friend, a constant husband and of persevering nature. If one is in the habit of throwing away the cigar when only half smoked he may be considered fickle, blase and a trifler. Furthermore, characteristics can be deduced from the habit of allowing the cigar to die out. Such a person suffers from want of memory. He may have aptitude for mathematics, but he is not selfish.

Holy Roman Empire.

The Holy Roman empire, or German-Roman empire, began with Charles the Great, king of the Franks, who was crowned emperor of the west in 800. He proclaimed himself the representative of the ancient Roman emperors and asserted theoretical authority over the nations of west and central Europe. This empire was called holy because of the interdependence of the empire and the church. In general it comprised the German-speaking nations of central Europe and had for a long time a close relationship with Italy.

According to one authority the Holy Roman empire was in reality the German-Italian empire established by Otto I., the Saxon king who was crowned in Rome by Pope John XII., on February 2, 962.

At best this empire of history was ideal rather than real. It never actually existed in the form of a genuine central government, fully recognized by those within its boundaries.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDIES

THE SAVIOR'S TEACHINGS

"MANY ARE CALLED BUT FEW ARE CHOSEN."

Matthew 22:1-14.—September 11.

MANY of us have not in the past sufficiently discerned that none of the lessons of the Great Teacher were given in literal language—that they were all symbolical; as we read, "Without a parable spake he not unto them."—Matt. 13:34.

In today's Study we have another beautiful parabolic lesson respecting the Kingdom. We might inquire why the Bible is so full of these lessons concerning the Kingdom? Is it not because the Kingdom of God is the only hope of the world? Are we not learning this more and more? Faith in the coming Kingdom of God under the whole heavens began to grow dim within less than two centuries after the death of the Apostles. Instead of longing, hoping, to become the Bride of Christ, to be associated with him in his glorious Kingdom for the overthrow of Sin and Satan and Death, and for the uplifting of mankind during a reign of a thousand years, a new faith and a new hope came in, contrary to the Scriptures. This unscriptural hope instructed Christians that they should expect an earthly Kingdom of their own establishment, in which the popes would reign as representatives of Jesus, and the cardinals and bishops as representatives of the apostles and the "little flock," to whom the Kingdom is promised. Thenceforth the work of the Church, to "build one another up in the most holy faith," gave place to the unscriptural course of neglecting the Church and laboring for the world, under the unwarranted assumption that it is the duty of the Church to convert the world. As to how much injury has thus been done it is difficult to estimate. For the sake of numbers standards have been lowered and worldliness has been recognized, until today Christendom is in a sad plight as respects true doctrines and high moral standards.

As Messiah is to be the Great King of earth during the period of his Mediatorial reign, it is the Father's good pleasure that he should have a "Bride." And this Gospel Age is set apart for the finding and development of this Bride class of many members. The Kingdom is the great prize which the Father is to bestow upon his Son—to be shared by the Church, the Bride of Christ. The parable of today's Study outlines the call of this Bride class or Kingdom class from Jesus' day down to the completion and glorification of this company. Nowhere is Jesus represented as calling his own Bride. This is foreshown in Abraham, who typified the Father, and Isaac, who typified Jesus; and Abraham's servant, sent to call Rebecca to be the Bride of Isaac, typified the holy Spirit, whose work during this Gospel Age is bringing to Christ the Bride class—"the very elect."

So this parable shows that the King sent forth the call to the Marriage. The Jewish people, the children of Abraham, according to the flesh, had been invited to this high honor from the time of the giving of the Law Covenant at Sinai. Century after century they waited for the announcement to be made to them that the nuptial feast was ready. Finally, when Jesus came, the announcement went to them, All things are now ready! Come to the feast! Meantime, they had become overcharged with the cares of this life—business, politics and religious schemes of their own concocting. They manifested no interest in the announcement and even beat some of the servants, the Apostles and others, who sought to help them, and to draw their attention to the Great Feast, which was their special privilege.

The Almighty was wroth and sent the Roman Armies and "destroyed those murderers and burned up their City," Jerusalem, in A. D. 70. Then the King said to his servants, The wedding must take place even though those who were bidden are not worthy. Go ye therefore into the highways and as many as ye find bring to the marriage feast. As the city represented the Jewish nation, so the highways represented the world in general—the Gentiles—to whom the message of the Kingdom was sent after fleshly Israel had first enjoyed the offer and but partially improved it. Another statement of the parable shows three different classes:—

(1) The Jewish rulers who rejected him.

(2) Those called from among the streets and lanes of their city and gathered to the spirit plane by Jesus and the Apostles.

(3) Then the report was given, "We have done as thou hast commanded and yet there is room." Then the message went forth to go everywhere among the Gentiles and urge them to come in, until the house should be filled—until the elect number for whom the feast was provided would be found. Our Study states that the wedding was furnished with guests—good and bad. In other words, the offer of a share with Christ in his Kingdom has attracted some naturally very fallen, as well as some better favored by nature. But the arrangements of the Great King are such that the "wedding garment" covers all the blemishes of the most imperfect as well as those of the least imperfect.

The latter part of our Study shows a discrimination and judgment ultimately to take place amongst those invited to the wedding and accepted. As none were permitted to enter in without a wedding garment—without an acknowledgment of the merit of Christ's sacrifice—so none will be permitted to remain and participate in the wedding festival except those who maintain their standing of confidence in Christ. Any who take off the "wedding garment" will be sure to be expelled from the privileges enjoyed and will go out from the light and blessings afforded to this favored class, into the "outer darkness" of the world and of nominal Christianity, in which shortly there will be a great time of trouble, symbolically represented by the "weeping and gnashing of teeth."

Are we not even now in the time of this inspection of the guests? And are not all Christian people who cast away their confidence in the sacrifice of Christ and who accept Evolutionary theories and Higher Criticism taking off "the wedding garment," and will they not all eventually find themselves in outer darkness, in confusion, in bewilderment? And will they not be sadly distressed in the great time of trouble which the Scriptures declare to be near?—Daniel 12:1.

WHAT YOU SAW 30 YEARS AGO

On Wednesday morning last the people of Grand Haven living on Water street, near the wharf, were suddenly awakened by a loud noise, which, upon investigation proved to be caused by the explosion of the boiler on the tug Jerome, owned and run by Heber Squires, Jr. The tug was lying at the dock near the Goodrich warehouse when the explosion took place. The captain, Moses Gerard, says he was asleep in the pilot-house, and heard a noise like something breaking loose, which awakened him. He went to sleep again, and the next he knew he was lying on the dock about forty feet from where the tug lay, scalded and considerably bruised, but, strange to say, not seriously hurt. The fireman, Henry Walker, says he was in the engine-room, also asleep, when the explosion occurred. Before he lay down he says he made a good fire, and had about 30 pounds of steam on. He does not know what caused the explosion. There was no one else on board. Fragments of the boiler and other debris are scattered around for several hundred feet. A stick of wood smashed an out-house three hundred feet away, and another broke the railing around the Andre's house porch. Some smaller fragments went through the windows, but did no damage except to break glass. The pilot-house was knocked into kindling-wood, and how the captain escaped alive is a mystery. The tug is a total loss. She was valued at $2,800, and was insured in the St. Paul Fire and Marine for $1,000. Sensations are the order of the day in Grand Haven now-a days.

On Wednesday Martin Clark of this city was notified that at a certain point about one mile north of the bridge an old one-horse wagon was standing in the woods, and had been there for about two weeks. Mr. Clark visited the spot and found in the wagon: 10 lb sugar, some small groceries, a lantern, a girl's skirt, 3 grain bags, 1 package of corned beef, etc. One of the grain bags is marked "Van Zylen, Grand Haven, Mich." Beyond this there is nothing to lead to any identity. The wagon is in a secluded spot, and it is difficult to see how it ever got there. There were also five empty berry crates on the wagon and an old quilt. The above is published with a view of leading to some clue which might explain this mysterious seclusion.

Mrs. M. Van Houston, 287 W. Thirteenth St., Holland, Mich., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble for many years. The pains through my back, loins and under my shoulders caused me untold agony and at times I could hardly bend or exert myself in any way. Whenever I caught cold it settled in my kidneys, greatly aggravating my suffering. As a further indication of kidney trouble, the kidney secretions became unnatural. I was restless at night and was unable to sleep well. I finally procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Doesburg's Drug Store and had used them only a short time before I was cured. I gave a statement for publication in 1900, telling the above facts and am very glad to confirm it now. Best for the Hands.

THOSE BUSY NEW YORKERS

How They Drive and Rush and Then Waste Valuable Hours In Idleness.

How they do drive and rush and sweat to be sure; falling over each other, trampling each other down in their mad struggle to get ahead in the pursuit of the round, rolling dollar, just beyond the reach of their grasping claws.

How they run up the stairs of the elevated railroads! How they cannot be persuaded—any of 'em—to wait for the next surface car, but cling perilously to the step and engorge the doorways! How they pack and jam the subway stairs and platforms in a surging mob, shouldering like football players, crushing little children, subjecting men and women alike to the most arrant outrages in the intrusion upon each other. How busy, how hurried they are. There is not time enough in the day for them; they are driven by whips of worse than scorpions, and they leap and run and scourge, breathless and panting, in their strife for precedence, the New York Evening Sun says.

And yet—several thousand persons, men, women and boys, on their hurried way to their frantic toil recently, stopped for an hour or two or three to gape at the empty air in front of the city hall, because it had been advertised that a man would start some time today from that spot and walk to California. It is heaven's mercy that no cat happened to get up a tree anywhere in town last night, nor any dog was heard yelping at a closed window, nor any bird with a broken wing was to be seen anywhere, nor any man started to mend a chimney or a lofty flagstaff. If any of all of these tremendous cataclysms had occurred at the same time with the pedestrian's departure half the working population of New York might have been smitten motionless, and stood staring for hours in the effort to quench their magnificent curiosity.

USE FOR BLOTTING PAPER

In Germany It Is Made to Take the Place of Waste for Cleaning Machinery.

In Germany blotting paper is used to clean machinery. Tow, woolen refuse, sponge, cloths and jute waste are the materials usually employed for the cleaning of machinery and parts of engines which are soiled by dust and lubricating substances. The better varieties of cotton waste are very good for scouring purposes, but the cheaper grades are charged with dust, and in using them a sponge cloth, specially manufactured for the purpose, is employed. In using blotting paper for scouring purposes the use of cotton waste is decreased and the sponge cloths are entirely dispensed with. On an average the German workman received under the former system 250 grams of cotton waste, one new sponge cloth and one or two renovated ones every week. Now he is supplied with 150 grams of cotton waste, and about eight or ten sheets of blotting paper, at a cost of 2½ cents, or one-third the cost of the cotton waste. The paper is not only cheaper, but it does not soil the machinery with fibers and dust, as do the woolen refuse and the sponge cloths. It is also less combustible than other cleaning materials, and if it should be caught in the machinery while engines in motion are being cleaned it tears easily and the workmen run no risk of having their hands drawn into the machinery.—Harper's Weekly.

Gen. Logan and Staff.

Just before the capture of Savannah, General Logan with two or three of his staff entered the depot at Chicago one fine morning to take a car east on his way to join his command. The general, being a short distance in advance of the others, stepped upon the platform of a car and was about to enter it, but was stopped by an Irishman with "You will not be goin' in there." "Why not, sir?" says the general. "Bekase this is a leddies' caer and no gentlemen'll be goin' in there without a leddy. There's wan sate in that caer over there, if yees want it," t the same time pointing to it. "Yes, I see there is one seat, but what shall I do with my staff?" "Oh, bother your 'staff!'" was the petulant reply. "Go you and take the sate and stick your staff out of the windy."

Saw the Light.

"The subject of tips—made in Europe and closely imitated in the United States—always furnishes something new to the American tourist," said a man just back from Europe. "I had some clothes made in London. The tailor came to my hotel with a boy who carried his parcel, to 'have a fit.' He wore a high hat and prince Albert coat, and but for his shoes would have passed for well dressed. After the fit was over and the garments were packed up he was leaving the apartment when our English servant reminded me of the tip. I was afraid and, if I had overcome the fear, did not know the limit, and asked the servant to perform the operation. When they had gone I was told: 'You want your clothes to fit, sir, don't you?' And I saw the light."

An Expert Accountant.

Mrs. Newly—Don't you like my new hat, dearest?

Newly—Yes-s, it's all right.

Mrs. Newly—Well, I bought it on your account, dear!

Newly—Yes, you usually do.—Brooklyn Life.

"Sings to Beat the Band."

Bert Morphy is the man, and if you think his name should be spelled with a "u" instead of "o," ask Morphy, but look for story of early Irish history, which he takes a long time to tell.

Bert Morphy is an Irishman known over the entire world as "The Man Who Sings to Beat the Band." His voice, while highly cultivated, is the loudest and has the greatest power of any known living baritone. Mr. Morphy is a graduate of Oxford and has a wide acquaintance in musical circles in many different countries. He has been secured to render several selections each day at the West Michigan State Fair in connection with the brass band that will give daily concerts in the grand stand.

The celebrated baritone, known as "The Man Who Sings to Beat the Band," will give selections every afternoon at this year's West Michigan State Fair, which is to be held in Grand Rapids, Sept. 12-16th.

Mr. Morphy's voice can be heard at a great distance singing to the accompaniment of a brass band of 75 to 100 pieces. He is an attraction different from anything ever offered at the Fair, and will be greatly appreciated by those who hear him.

AN EDUCATED HORSE.

An Animal That Reads and Writes, Dresses and Undresses Itself.

Among the special features that will be exhibited during the West Michigan State Fair, which will be held this year, Sept. 12-16th, at Grand Rapids, will be "Mazeppa," one of the most famous horses of the world, owned and educated by Prof. Backenstoe.

This animal is a magnificent specimen of horse flesh, is almost human in its understanding of the commands given to it and in the rapidity with which it demonstrates its knowledge of the requests made by Professor Backenstoe. Mazeppa can read and spell, dress and undress itself of a complete suit of clothes, including shoes and stockings and goes through other performances of a like manner with marvelous intelligence.

Those who are lovers of the horse will have a delightful hour in which this celebrated animal demonstrates the patience of its teacher and the intelligence with which it has received its instructions.

New Cement Walk.

A new cement walk 14 feet wide has been laid from the main entrance at the south end of the West Michigan State Fair grounds to the south entrance to the main building, heretofore called Art Hall, this year, Manufacturers' Hall. This improvement will greatly add to the convenience of the visitors to the Fair, doing away with dust, if the weather is dry, and with mud if the weather is wet.

Manufacturers' Hall.

"Art Hall," so called, at the West Michigan State Fair is no more. This huge octagonal building with which all Fair visitors are familiar has been rechristened and this year will be known as "Manufacturers' Hall." The character of the exhibits in this building will be the same as heretofore and the change of name is obviously justified.

EUGENE D. CONGER.
Secretary West Michigan State Fair, Sept. 12 to 16, 1910.

Local.

The pulpit in the Wesleyan Methodist church, left vacant when Rev. A. R. Merrill was transferred to another charge, has been filled by the appointment of the Rev. M. J. Badder and the new pastor will preach his first sermon in the church Sunday. Rev. Badder has been in charge of the church of his denomination at Waldron, Michigan.

News has been received here from Wallace, Ida., concerning the safety of Haney Bergen, son of Rev. J. Tallmadge Bergen of Dubuque, Ia, formerly pastor of Hope church here, and Orrie Brusse, son of Mayor Brusse of this city. The young men went west on a business trip a few weeks ago and all trace of them was lost as for several days they were in a western city surrounded by forest fires.

During the drafting here Thursday, the local club put in a draft for Woldering, the star pitcher of the Michigan State league. Woldering has been twirling very consistent ball for the Holland team and is believed to have a brilliant future before him in mound work. "Babe" is a Holland product, and he is being paid $200 per month. The price paid for Woldering was $400.

Commissioner of Schools M. M. DeGraff has sent out a call to the teachers of the county to attend the combined Institute and association meeting for teachers that will be held in Winants chapel Thursday. On Friday a similar meeting will be held in the Berlin High school for the teachers of the northern part of the county. Prof. John C. Phelan of the Rural department of the Western State Normal schoel will conduct the meetings. Plans will be discussed for the year's work and it will be a general inspiration meeting for teachers.

A new pipe organ has been shipped to the M. E. church of this city by the Hinners Organ Co., and will be placed in the church as soon as it arrives. It is what is known as a Carnegie organ, Andrew Carnegie having sent a check for $1,000 to the local church with the understanding that the members of the church raise an equal amount for the purpose. This rule has been more than complied with the total cost of the organ being $2125. The dedication exercises of the new organ will be held on the evening of Sept. 15 with an organ recital under the direction of Alle D. Zuidema, of the Detroit Conservatory of Music. Mr. Zuidema's pupil George Dok will also play several selections. Congressman G. J. Diekema has consented to deliver an address at the exercises and Rev. W. P. Whitman, pastor of the church will also speak.

In one of the prettiest games ever seen on a local lot the Holland Merchants defeated the South ends by the score of 1-0. This game decided the championship of the city and the Holland Merchants had to play gilt edged ball to win as Prins the much talked of pitcher of the South Ends was in fine trim, never being in much danger all through the game. Hadden, who did the twirling for the Merchants also was pitching in fine form, allowing but one scratch hit and striking out eleven men, while Prins was found for two two-baggers and a single and fanning 10 men. With two down in the eight Steffens went to first on a dead ball, stole second and came home on Enstroms screaming double to left field. The fielding of both teams was a feature and a large crowd witnessed the game.

Batteries, South End—Prins, Wieren; Merchants—Hadden, Rosendal.

Again the time for the opening of school is here and many of our young people have left to teach in other schools. It is estimated that between 25 and 50 of our young people will leave either to study or teach in other schools. The following will leave for other respective places soon. Prof. J. M. Slagh left for Manistee, Mich., to begin work as professor in Latin at the Highschool of that place, Prof. H. Rottschafer returned to Bellevue where he will teach science and mathematics. Supt. John C. Hoekje began his work in the Zeeland school this week. Jacob Heemstra Hope College '10, will take up his work as superintendent in the Sioux Center, Ia., public schools, the position vacated by J. C. Hoekje. Mae L. Brusse left for Orange City as instructor in the Classical Acedemy and Dr. Bernie De Vries will asume his duties as instructor in the dentistry department at the U. of M. In two weeks Hope College will open drawing large numbers here to make up for those who have left us.

GIRL IN MAN'S CLOTHING FOUND WORKING AS BARBER

KNOWN AS JIMMIE, SHE WON PRAISE FOR HER SKILL WITH RAZOR.

Newark, N. J.—Persons who have been going regularly for the last few weeks to the barber shop of Sebastian Salano, in No. 615 Springfield avenue, this city, to get shaved and shampooed, got a surprise the other day when they learned the young man known to them as "Jimmie," whose chair they all sought because his touch with the razor was so light, was Mary de Marco, an Italian girl. Her hair had been cut short and she wore a natty blue serge suit with such grace that her disguise was perfect and none suspected she was a woman masquerading in a man's clothes.

The young woman might have kept up her disguise for many weeks more without Salano's customers being any the wiser had not the police got wind of the case and exposed the trick by arresting the barber and his girl assistant, whose skill with the razor was increasing his business daily. The police also arrested Albert Rosso, another barber, of No. 318 Sixteenth avenue, who was implicated by the young woman.

The trio were arraigned before Magistrate Yuill in the Fourth precinct court and there the story came out of how the young woman had been forced to work in the barber shops of both men. She told the magistrate she lived in Irvington, and made the acquaintance of Rosso through Salano. Two months ago Rosso invited her to go with him to Maplewood, she asserted. The young woman alleges she was drugged and when she regained her senses she discovered her hair had been cut off and she was dressed in a man's suit of clothes. She found herself in Rosso's barber shop, and when she asked him what had happened to her she alleges he told her he had cut off her hair and had burned her clothing.

She said she obeyed Rosso's instructions to work in the barber shop, and as she was familiar with the use of a razor she had little trouble in keeping up the disguise. She got tired of the job and fled to Salano's place and begged him to help her. Meantime she still wore her disguise and shaved the men who came to Salano's place.

Magistrate Yuill held Rosso in default of $1,500 bail and Salano in $500 bail. The young woman was held as a witness.

CASTS GEMS INTO QUICKSAND

Burglar Throws Away $2,000 in Treasure When Police Chase Him Into Swamp.

New York.—Somewhere in a four-acre swamp which faces on Featherbed lane, an old Dutch theroughfare in the outskirts of the Bronx, there is a parcel of silverware and jewelry valued at $2,000. The valuables are working downward through the mud and quicksand, and probably will never be recovered. The treasure was stolen by a burglar, who "jimmied" his way into the flat of a wealthy real estate operator.

The burglar had an easy time, because the family had gone out of the city for two days and the servants had a holiday. While he was at work, however, a woman saw him and called the police. The burglar heard her and fled.

The thief ran into the swamp and hid in the tall marsh grass. When the policeman found him fast in the quicksand his booty had disappeared. "I threw the stuff into the swamp," he said. "Nobody will ever get it."

Sprouts In Lad's Nose.

Nashua, Ia.—O. B. Taylor's little son had to be taken to a specialist to have a grain of corn removed from his nose. The boy had pushed the kernel up his nostril some time ago and his parents supposed it had passed through into his throat, but a few days ago the boy began to have trouble with his nose and when taken to a specialist and examined it was found the kernel was still lodged there. It was removed, and when brought to light it was found to have sprouted.

WOMAN GOES TO JAIL DOOR TO DIE

DISTRESSED AND STARVING BRIDE FAINTS NEAR IMPRISONED HUSBAND'S CELL.

MAN HELD AS COUNTERFEITER

Woman Says Helpmeet Is Innocent, Having Been Arrested Through Mistake But Begs Privilege of Sharing His Lot.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Faint from lack of nourishment, seriously ill, and without a place to shelter her, the prostrate form of a woman was found lying on the stone steps of the entrance to the county jail just after the big outside doors had been thrown open the other morning.

The woman proved to be Mrs. Annie Bruwarski. She had gone to the big prison, where her husband, Stanley Bruwarski, is confined on a charge of counterfeiting, to die. The case is one of the most unusual and pathetic that has confronted the county officials in years.

Mrs. Bruwarski was carried into one of the anterooms and revived. On recovering consciousness she asked:

"Please take me to my husband. I feel that I am going to die and want to be with him when the end comes."

Being informed that was impossible she requested that she be allowed to see him for a few minutes, Warden Edward Lewis granted the request. The interview was a brief one. Then the husband, who is a United States prisoner, was led back to his cell. His wife swooned again.

After considerable work she was revived. In reply to a question she said:

"I lived at East Pittsburg until yesterday, but had no more money to pay rent. My husband is the only one I can go to. I am too sick to do any kind of work and am hungry. If I could only be with him it would be some comfort to me. What is his lot is not too hard for me."

The word "hungry" had scarcely left the woman's mouth before preparations were being made to overcome this feature of her misfortune. She ate ravenously and then continued her harrowing story.

"My husband went to the grocery store where we lived in East Pittsburg one day to pay a bill. He was given a lot of money in exchange for what he handed the storekeeper. He came home and showed it to me. I put the money in a trunk along with our savings. We were getting along fine and had only been married a few months.

"I was very happy until one day my husband came home and said they were going to put him in jail. It was something about bad money. I could not understand it all. He said he was going away and would send for me. H took nearly all of our savings with him. Men came and asked for him, but I told them he had gone. Then one day I was told he was in jail. I managed to get along until I got sick and could not work.

"All of my friends that used to know me before I was married would not help me. They said my husband was a bad man. I spent nearly all my money for something to eat two days ago and have not had anything since. The last dime I had I spent to ride in on the car from East Pittsburg. I wanted to see my husband for a little while before I died."

Bruwarski was arrested in Boston on a charge of having in his possession and passing counterfeit money. He was brought back on requisition papers. In default of bail he was placed in jail for trial. Since that time his wife has been compelled to shift for herself, despite the fact that she is a young delicate woman of less than twenty years.

The woman so thoroughly aroused the sympathy of Warden Lewis that he immediately interested Director of the Poor H. W. Ochse. She was removed to his office. Her story was thoroughly investigated and found to be true in every respect

THAT CLASS OF BAD BOYS

Sunday School Attendance Enforced With Trunk Straps by God-Fearing Parents.

Every Sunday school in the old days had its class of bad boys. They would not have been there had not God-fearing and consecrated parents with trunk straps persuaded them that such attendance was for their best good.

A long-suffering and saintly mother-in-Israel usually taught the bad boy class, because she felt that it was her duty. And she would rather have died than shirk her duty! It would have been easier to have died! A mean boy by himself is pretty bad. But put from seven to ten of him in a class, and the way the combination acts and thinks would disgrace the reform school.

Last summer on a visit to the old home I met several of these bad boys. Two of them were in the legislature—perhaps a national ending—and two others represented the community in the penitentiary. One was in business in the town and several had "gone west" and were trying to pick a living out of reluctant communities in that section.

I have often wondered if the Sunday school did that bunch any particular good. Water is certainly wasted on a horse that is not thirsty. Still, if we are going to take a trip through the desert, is it not our duty to lead the horse up to the watering trough, and kick him once or twice in the ribs, even if he will not drink?—Exchange.

SOUL RESEMBLES EASTER EGG

Man Leaves Body In St. Louis Boarding House and Goes Traveling With Spirits.

A gentleman who in his mundane existence goes under the name of Hermanus Ruebenguhl left his body in a St. Louis boarding house, he says, and went traveling in his unclad soul. He reports an enjoyable trip and a very sociable time with kindred spirits with whom he hobnobbed while on his journey.

All the souls he met were about the size and shape of goose eggs, but colored according to their characters. Blue souls, for example, were superstitious; red, bloodthirsty; white, uncultured. High livers had pink bands or dots on the soul eggshell; humorists were green, and brown souls were deceptive and not to be trusted.

A mass meeting of assorted souls must look like a collection of Easter eggs if Mr. Ruebenguhl's facts are reliable. He is relating his experience in a lecture tour of the middle west, and apparently is expecting to keep soul and body together with the proceeds.

Health.

The body has rights, and we have duties toward it. The body is the lifelong companion of the mind, and it cannot be unimportant how it is treated.

One unbridled passion is enough to destroy the beauty of life. One excess, if it does no more, can mar the grace and harmony of the whole. "He that striveth for the mastery must be temperate in all things."

The duty of a wise care for health is bigger than merely adding to our personal happiness. To a large extent it determines the efficiency of our lives. Many a man learns after it is too late that he would have been fit for better and more work if he had always preserved the sane and sensible bearing toward the laws of health and life which experience teaches. No one in these days has any excuse for ignorance of the common practical rules of health. There are a good many popular books on the subject.—Hugh Black.

Mother of 13 at 35.

Perhaps the limelight of publicity never would have shone on the family of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Seiglar of East 23d street if the gauntlet had not been thrown down.

Somebody down in Pensacola, Fla., sent out a news dispatch to the effect that there lived there the mother of thirteen children at 37 years. Six of the Florida children were twins too, and for this the Missouri family believes the Florida folk should be penalized a few points. None of the Missourians are twins. And the Missouri mother was only 35 when the thirteenth baby was born. This, Mr. and Mrs. Seiglar believe, should establish incontestably for Missouri the record.

They didn't appear at all grieved over the situation when a visitor called. All of the children are at home—the eldest is 19 and the youngest 4½. Six are girls and six are boys. A son died in infancy. None is married.—Kansas City Star.

Big Haul From a Georgia Tree.

A telephone message from Terrell, Catawba county, Georgia, furnishes the following interesting story.

Monday afternoon Luther and Lester Sherrill, Fred Settlemire, Ransom and Walter Eades sallied forth to rob a "bee tree," and taking their axes they began chopping on the butt of an old red oak tree measuring three and one-half feet in diameter. It was not a great while until they struck hollow and to their delight as well as suprise out walked an old possum. After carefully fastening her to a split limb another raid was made, when nineteen baby possums were captured. The tree was finally felled and from nearer the top they caught two pretty gray squirrels, captured a swarm of bees and gathered a small quantity of honey.
