BALLOTS ISSUED FOR NAMING OF C.C. DIRECTORS

To Nominate Twelve Men in Preparation for Election of Six

Monday Is Deadline for Return of Forms by Mail Here

E. P. Stephan, secretary-manager of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, has sent out nomination blanks to the 269 members of the organization in connection with the annual election of six directors which will be held at an early date.

Each Chamber of Commerce member is requested to nominate six members from the membership roster which accompanied the nomination ballot. The 12 men receiving the highest number of votes will be declared nominated for the subsequent election to be held.

All nomination ballots must be returned to the Chamber of Commerce by 5 p.m. Monday, Sept. 9. Directors whose terms of office do not expire this year are Clarence J. Van der Vliet, William J. Brouwer, Frank L. Veenendaal, William C. Vandenberg, Henry Wilson and Andrew Klomprens. At Mr. Stephan's request the names of the retiring directors are not listed as there is nothing in the by-laws which prevent their being reelected and it was felt that all would have an equal chance if only those whose offices do not expire this year were listed.

Members of the election committee are W. A. Butler, chairman, Vaude Vandenberg, C. B. McCormick, Jacob Fris, Henry Ketel, Ray N. Smith and Ernest V. Hartman, the committee having been named outside the board of directors in compliance with the by-laws.

U.S. CROWN IS WON BY SLIGH

Holland Man Takes Part in Water Ski Tourney at Jones Beach

By placing second in the national open water ski tournament, held over the week-end at Jones beach, Glenhead, N. Y. Charles R. Sligh, Jr., of Virginia park, president of the Macatawa Bay Water Ski club, won the title of national amateur champion.

Mr. Sligh, who left Friday to participate in the tournament which was held under the auspices of the American Water Ski association, expects to return home sometime this afternoon.

Bruce Parker of Garden City, Long Island, made a grand slam of four titles in the meet and retained his national all-around water skiing championship. He placed first in the jumping slalom and optional riding events in addition to the all-around laurels.

Parker chalked up 80½ points while Sligh, as runnerup, scored 74 points. Despite wretched water and a sharp wind which made the surf choppy, the water skiers gave superb exhibitions. Only three tumbles which occurred in the precarious jump on the roller slide took place during Sunday's events.

In the slalom over a 300-foot standard course marked with 12 buoys, Parker nosed out Sligh and in the optional riding event, Parker eked out a one-point win over the local entrant.

Qualifying events were held Saturday. Sligh placed third in the jumping event over a four-foot jump board with 22 points. He placed eighth in the slalom event with 23 points.

On Aug. 24, the Holland entrant established a long distance record of 100 miles on the water skis, the course having been laid out on Lake Macatawa by Holland coast guardsmen. His time of three hours, 12½ minutes for the 100 miles was checked by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

ZEELAND MAN UNDER ARREST

Girl and Ransacking of Car Involved in Case,
Police Say

Charged with larceny from an automobile, Ary De Geus, 35, of Zeeland is expected to waive examination when arraigned formally before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith and his case will be certified to Ottawa circuit court.

De Geus was arraigned Wednesday afternoon but he was undecided about requesting an examination until he had a conference with an attorney, who said today he had made this recommendation to De Geus. He is being held in jail in default of $1,500 bond.

De Geus was arrested by Police Officer Ralph Wolrding Tuesday night after local police had been requested by Van Etta to be on the lookout for his car. Search for De Geus began Tuesday after the father of a 15-year-old girl had reported to the officer that De Geus had picked up his daughter.

Later, according to information given Van Etta, De Geus returned the girl to her home where she told her father that De Geus represented himself as an insurance agent who wanted a girl to write the names appearing on rural mail boxes. She said he drove her into the country and made advances toward her.

The girl's father supplied Van Etta with the license number of De Geus' car. While patrolling Eighth St. Tuesday night, Officer Wolrding spotted the car and took the driver to police headquarters.

Police said De Geus was intoxicated and a physician was called to verify his condition. Officers searched his car and discovered a folding camera, a suede jacket, several bottles of soft drinks and other articles. De Geus told officers that he purchased the camera about a year and a half ago in Milwaukee.

A short time later William Meungs, 148 East 24th St., called police headquarters to report his car had been ransacked while parked at the rear of the Warm Friend Service station at Seventh St. and River Ave. Meungs then came to police headquarters and identified the articles found in De Geus' car as being stolen from his auto.

De Geus told officers that he did not know how the articles got into his car, stating that another person had occupied it during the evening. He denied he ransacked Meungs' car.

De Vree, 58, of Hudsonville, charged with neglect of duty by permitting gambling at the Hudsonville fair Sept. 9, 1939, waived the reading of the information filed against him, on which information appears 24 names as witnesses. A Mr. Phelps, attorney of Grand Rapids, appearing for De Vree, asked the court to reconsider the motion made in justice court for dismissal of the case and asked to present arguments in support of the motion. The court set Thursday, Sept. 12, at 1:30 p.m., as the time for hearing arguments on the motion.

George Cochran, 17, 71 River Ave., Holland, and Herman Kliffman, 20, route 4, Holland, both entered pleas of guilty to charges that on Aug. 29 they falsely represented themselves to Peter Cook, a co-partner of the West End garage—Cochran as George Flag and Kliffman as Herman Johnson, and bought an automobile for about $150.

Kliffman had appeared in circuit court March 21, 1940, when he entered a plea of guilty to the charge of breaking and entering on March 28, 1940, was placed on probation by Judge Fred T. Miles for three years, sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and pay costs of $36. Kliffman likely will be sentenced for violation of his probation. Both youths are to appear for disposition of their cases Monday morning, Sept. 9.

Lee Hosler, 19, Grand Haven township, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of entering July 10 the cement block factory of John Holtrop and taking some motor oil. Hosler's case will be disposed of Monday. Hosler has been confined in the county jail following return from national guard maneuvers.

Anton Hauptman, 68, Grand Haven, entered a plea of not guilty, after waiving the reading of an information charging him with taking indecent liberties with a 15-year old girl June 15. The court reduced bond from $1,000 to $500 and it was expected Hauptman would be able to furnish the $500 bond.

James DeSanto, 17, 1302 Sheldon road, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile Aug. 12, belonging to Julian B. Hatton of Grand Haven. DeSanto also told the court he had taken a car belonging to George Norcross, attorney of Grand Rapids, from his Highland park cottage, and driven that car to Cleveland, O. DeSanto informed the court that just four months previous to the alleged offense he had been released from the Boys' Vocational school at Lansing where he had served nine months for a similar offense. DeSanto has been confined in the county jail since Grand Haven police brought him back from Cleveland, and upon his promise to appear in court Monday at 10 a.m. he was allowed to go home on his own recognizance.

Edwin Bennett, 31, Coopersville, entered a plea of guilty to supplemental information filed against him, charging him with second offense. Bennett on Aug. 3 entered a plea of guilty to a charge of polygamy, in that from Jan. 1, to June 5, he lived with Florence House with whom on Feb. 13, 1937, he had gone through a marriage ceremony at Angola, Ind., although lawfully married to Beulah Bennett.

The supplemental information charged Bennett with having on June 27, 1935, stolen $4 from the filling station of John Lillie at Coopersville, and that on July 18, 1935, upon his plea of guilty to that offense was sentenced to not less than 14 months to four years at Jackson. BODY OF FLINT YOUTH FOUND

Youth, Missing Following Drowning Here, is Identified

Missing since last Aug. 6 when he was drowned in Lake Michigan off Ottawa beach, the body of Richard Calcult, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Calcult of Flint, was found Saturday on a Lake Michigan beach, a short distance north of the entrance to White lake.

Tentative identification of the body was made Sunday by Capt. Charles Bontekoe, officer in charge of the Holland coast guard station, but actual identification was made Sunday by the youth's father through the bathing trunks the youth was wearing at the time he disappeared in the lake and by a chipped tooth. The body, in the water 26 days, was badly decomposed. It had drifted about 50 miles.

Upon reading a newspaper account of the finding of an unidentified body along the beach, Captain Bontekoe called Louis Eklund, sheriff of Muskegon county, who was not in his office at the time. In the meantime, Thomas Clock, Muskegon county coroner, called Captain Bontekoe who informed the coroner that Calcult was wearing green bathing trunks when he disappeared at the local beach. Upon being advised by the coroner that the unidentified body was attired in green trunks, Captain Bontekoe advised Mr. Calcult by telegram of the finding of the body.

Mr. Calcult went to Whitehall Sunday to identify his son's body after which it was removed to Grand Rapids. Funeral services were held Monday at 10:30 a.m. from the Sullivan funeral chapel, with burial in Pine Ridge cemetery, Bay City. The Calcult family formerly resided in Grand Rapids.

In addition to the parents, the youth was survived by one brother, William, and two sisters, Geraldine and Wilma.

Following recovery of the body Saturday, Sheriff Eklund and Coroner Clock launched an investigation to identify it. Rollie Merrick, Whitehall marshal and deputy sheriff, made the first report on the case to the sheriff's office. The body bore no marks.

Young Calcult was drowned in Lake Michigan while swimming in a heavy sea. Mr. and Mrs. Calcult and their three children had been visiting in Grand Rapids and had come to the beach here for the day.

For several days, Holland coastguardsmen and lifeguards at the Holland State park dragged the lake for the body and then continued to patrol Lake Michigan beaches several days.

Zeeland Man Asks for Damages in Kent Court

Grand Rapids, Sept. 5 — Jacob Meeboer, 22 South State St., Zeeland, who alleges he was injured Dec. 19, 1939, in Grandville when struck by an auto operated by Garold Huizenga, has asked $5,000 damages in a circuit court suit filed against William Huizenga and Garold Huizenga of Kent county.

GAR Room Status in Dark in Welfare Office Dispute

Solons Seek to Determine
Contents of City Hall
Cornerstone

Common council would like to know what's inside the city hall cornerstone.

It believes the oft-recurring question of who has a right to occupy the GAR room in the city hall might be answered by documents in the stone.

When the issue popped up again at council meeting Wednesday night, Ald. William C. Vandenberg jokingly suggested that the city hall might have to be torn down to gain access to the stone to learn whether it contains a petition or resolution of an early council.

However, council contented itself with adopting a resolution by Ald. John Menken that an attempt be made to obtain a list of items placed in the cornerstone. Such data, if obtainable, will be presented at the Sept. 18 council meeting.

But, before ending its discussion, council tapped the memories of older residents at the meeting in the search for a clue to the contents of the cornerstone.

DEATH CLAIMS G.R. RESORTER

Eaglecrest Vacationer Is Stricken While Driving
Near Mona Lake

Fred C. Kregel, 45, known in Holland as the "mayor of Eaglecrest park," was found dead in his automobile early Wednesday night on US-31 near Mona Lake.

Mr. Kregel resided at 942 Calvin Ave., SE, Grand Rapids. He purchased the first cottage at Eaglecrest park when it was opened by John Arendshorst and spent the summers for the past 12 years with his family at their cottage there.

Members of his family were at his cottage when news of his death was received there.

It was believed he was the victim of a heart attack. He was found slumped over the wheel of his car and there was evidence that he felt the attack coming on as his car had struck a tree after being driven off the highway.

He was a member of the firm of Kregel-Goez Sales and Supply Co. in Grand Rapids.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Ruth Kregel; two daughters, Betty and Joan; his mother and two sisters, all of Grand Rapids.

The charge results from an automobile accident which occurred Monday at 8 p.m. at the intersection of M-104 and US-15, one mile west of Nunan, between cars driven by Blumh and John Dekkenga, 23, of Grand Rapids.

Miss Mary Ellen Alkema, 19, of Grand Rapids, a passenger in Dekkenga's car, suffered a broken arm and lacerations. Blumh's wife is reported to have suffered cuts and bruises.

Chicago Motorist Fined on Auto Crash Charge

Grand Haven, Sept. 5 (Special) —Bernard W. Blumh, 49, of Chicago, paid a fine of $14 and costs of $1 to Justice George V. Hoff after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to yield right of way.

The charge results from an automobile accident which occurred Monday at 8 p.m. at the intersection of M-104 and US-15, one mile west of Nunan, between cars driven by Blumh and John Dekkenga, 23, of Grand Rapids.

Miss Mary Ellen Alkema, 19, of Grand Rapids, a passenger in Dekkenga's car, suffered a broken arm and lacerations. Blumh's wife is reported to have suffered cuts and bruises.

Reporting at the request of Menken, City Assessor Philip H. Van Ark said Dr. Phillip Callahan, state welfare director, contends that six rooms would be required for the welfare offices and must be supplied with outside ventilation. Chairman Charles Lowing of the board of supervisors, according to Van Ark, has informed Dr. Callahan the matter will be disposed of at the October meeting of the supervisors.

DEADLINE NEAR FOR ABSENTEE BALLOTS

Holland voters who find it impossible to go to the polls Tuesday for the primary election, either on account of illness or absence from the city, have until Saturday noon to apply for an absentee ballot, City Clerk Oscar Peterson said today.

Application for an absentee ballot may be filed with the city clerk in the city hall. Mr. Peterson already has received between 15 and 20 applications.

Registration books have been closed and voters are asked not to request the clerk to make any changes of addresses in their registration. Voters may obtain a transfer in registration, he explained, by going to the polling place where they are now registered where they will be given a transfer to their new ward.

ASSAULT CASE GIVEN HEARING

Zeeland Father Is Only
Witness Against Son
Before Court

Zeeland, Sept. 5 (Special) —Following the introduction of evidence Wednesday before Justice of Peace Jarret N. Clark, the examination of Vivian (Verne) Carlton, 36, of Zeeland, was continued until Monday, Sept. 9, at 10 a.m.

Carlton, charged with assault with intent to murder his father, Percy Carlton, last Aug. 4, was ordered returned to the county jail in Grand Haven.

Citations will be brought to the attention of the court this week after which the justice will dispose of the case. Carlton's bond has been set at $1,000.

Carlton was bound over to circuit court on his arraignment Aug. 5 before Justice Clark and later the case was remanded back to the justice court for examination.

The father, the only witness called to testify on Wednesday stated he was asleep when his son, armed with a 12 gauge shotgun, apparently came downstairs from his room to the one in which Mrs. Carlton was sleeping. He said he was aroused by loud talking and upon entering his wife's bedroom found his son was being held by his mother to prevent him from entering the father's bedroom.

He testified that his son turned slightly to his left and while in that position, the gun was pointed in the direction of the father. He then told of grappling with and disarming his son after both shots had been fired into the floor.

The father said his son shouted, "You are the guy I want. I am going to gut-shot you." He also testified that in his estimation the son was "crazy-drunk."

Louis M. Osterhaus, counsel for Carlton, made a motion based on the grounds "that the evidence did not show an actual assault on his father with the intent charged, and that the evidence further showed that he (Verne) was so intoxicated at the time as to make it impossible to hold him guilty with an intent to commit murder because in view of his condition, if he had actually killed his father, the manslaughter would be no more than manslaughter."

Elbern Parsons, prosecuting attorney, asked that defense counsel's motion be denied and that he be bound over to the present term of circuit court. Questioned by the court, the father said it would have been physically possible for his son to have shot him.

Kiels urged a roll call on the resolution, asserting it would be an "expression" vote to determine if aldermen favored the proposal. All 12 aldermen voted in favor of the resolution.

With this action taken, the city clerk expressed doubt that Mr. Den Herder could draw up the proper referendum ballot since this particular charter title involves about seven pages of the city charter. To determine what sections would have to be amended, a copy of the charter was obtained and part of title 30 was read in which it was found at least eight sections would require changing to conform with provisions of the proposed charter amendment. Raymond contended that by their vote on the resolution, aldermen were bound to present the issue to the voters at the fall election.

Boeskool was released on his own recognizance. The charges result from a collision of cars driven by Boeskool and James F. Schuiling, route 2, Holland, at 16th St. and College Ave., Tuesday night.

The following motorists have pleaded guilty to traffic violation charges: Roland Colton, 25, 156 Central Ave., failing to stop for through highway, $5; Merrick W. Hanchett, 588 Lawndale court, and Henry Datema, 44 East 26th St., illegal parking, $1 each.

Funeral Is Held Here for Joanna Niemeyer

COUNCIL WOULD INCLUDE BOARD ON CITY BALLOT

Meets This Afternoon to Act Upon Amendment
Before Deadline

Question Would Be Settled
by Voters of Holland
in November

Providing that the proper form of referendum ballot can be drawn up by 5 p.m. today, common council will meet in adjourned session at that hour to pass upon a proposed charter amendment that would change the date of the annual school election from the second Monday in July to the first Monday in April, the date when the annual spring election is held.

As it is proposed to submit the issue to the voters at the November election, council, according to the state election laws, must approve the form of the ballot within 60 days prior to the election. That deadline is today. The proposal would be sent to Lansing for approval by the governor.

The proposed change in title 30 of the city charter, entitled "Education," was submitted by Ald. Albert F. Kiels in the form of a resolution but council accepted the contention of City Clerk Oscar Peterson that the resolution did not contain the proper form of a referendum ballot, thus its legality might be questioned at a later time.

Kiels, in his resolution, proposed that the city attorney be instructed to draft the proper amendments for making this change and submit it to the governor, as provided by law, so that it could be submitted to a vote at the fall election for the following reasons:

1. To save taxpayers the cost of an extra election and the inconvenience of voting at an odd time.

2. To secure a more representative vote.

Ald. Bernard Arendshorst, Kiels' colleague, read the resolution after which Kiels moved for its adoption. Ald. James A. Drinkwater supported the motion.

Kiels then demanded an immediate vote on the resolution after Mayor Henry Geerlings proposed it be referred to the ways and means committee and city attorney for consideration. The alderman claimed the resolution was "legal in every manner."

Ald. Cornelius Kalkman, Sr., called for an "aye and nay" vote. After pointing out that council had overruled Kiels' request at the Aug. 21 meeting to delay action on a proposed charter amendment that would change the boundaries of the city's six wards if approved at the November election, Ald. Bruce Raymond proposed that attorney Jay H. Den Herder, in the absence from the city of City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker, be requested to draw up the necessary form of the referendum ballot and that council could meet today to accept it.

Mayor Geerlings requested a delay in the vote on the amendment until the spring election, stating that school elections had been held in July with no objections being made as to the date.

Ald. Henry Ketel said he felt no special meeting was necessary if aldermen approved Kiels' resolution but Menken said he had every faith in the city attorney but he wanted to know what the people will vote on when presented to them.

Kiels urged a roll call on the resolution, asserting it would be an "expression" vote to determine if aldermen favored the proposal. All 12 aldermen voted in favor of the resolution.

City-Wide Observance of Peace Prayer Day Asked

Mayor Geerlings Suggests Union Service Here on Sept. 8

Mayor Henry Geerlings has urged city-wide observance of the day of prayers for peace Sunday, Sept. 8, as designated by President Roosevelt.

"In a recent message the president of the United States bids the nation to invoke the Almighty for a righteous peace. I am sure that this message will strike a responsive chord in the hearts of all loyal Americans. The day designated in the second Sunday in September."

"Our country stands for religion. There is no page of our history without the mention of God. In the cabin of the Mayflower the Pilgrims began their solemn league and covenant in the name of God. In the Declaration of Independence the fear of God is emphasized. In the Emancipation proclamation the president invoked the gracious favor of God. Our forefathers came to these shores to find God and to express their faith in him."

"From that day to this the fortunes of our nation have been in the hands of godly men and women. On our coins we feebly express our corporate faith. Our cities and villages are dotted with churches that have become sacred shrines. The Bible is read in a great many of our public schools. The machinery of our government shuts down on the Sabbath."

"With these facts in mind it seems to me eminently fitting that the American people observe a day of prayer to ask God to grant to this land and to a troubled world peace and good will. As lovers of freedom we ought to sympathize with those who are deprived of the liberties we so richly enjoy."

"Prayer opens the whole world to our activities. It puts us into direct dynamic touch with the world. The power loosened through prayer is tremendous. The greatest thing any one can do for a war-torn world is to pray. It is not the only thing but it is the chief thing."

"May I urge the men and women of this community to attend divine worship in the various churches on that day and petition the Ruler of the universe to bless our republic; to give us to understand most deeply the meaning of patriotism; to love our country more deeply and worthily in the years that are to come, to be firm in its defense and to bring to a troubled world a lasting peace."

"May I suggest to the Ministerial association to, if at all practicable, sponsor a union prayer service in the afternoon in Hope Memorial chapel or one of the larger churches when we can jointly send our petitions to the Throne of Grace."

Van Ark reported he was in contact with Dr. Callahan this week about keeping the welfare office in Holland and the state director sent a Mr. Blackburn here Tuesday to survey the GAR room.

To determine whether the room had been dedicated for patriotic use, Van Ark said he conferred with various persons, including Henry Brusse who was mayor of Holland when the city hall was constructed, and who said he felt the GAR and the Women's Relief corps had jurisdiction over the room. Van Ark also reported he searched council records and on March 2, 1911, he found an item in which the Spanish-American veterans filed petition for permission to use the room for a meeting place.

Another notation on council records of this date sets forth that the GAR and WRC were given exclusive rights to use the room with junior service and upkeep to be maintained by the city and the request of the Spanish-American veterans was referred to the GAR post, Van Ark reported.

He expressed that it was up to council as to who had the right to the room, adding that he informed Blackburn that the room, if made available, would have to be fixed up for the welfare offices at no cost to the city.

Arthur Van Duren called council's attention to the fact that he was city attorney and a member of the building committee when the city hall was built. He said committee traveled about the state to inspect various city and council buildings and in Flint they found a building in which one room had been set aside for use by the GAR.

Van Duren stated that Otto P. Kramer, also on the committee, felt it would be a fine tribute to the Civil war veterans to include such a room in the city hall. He also said the committee had in mind two other uses for the room in later years in that it might be made available for the board of public works should it desire additional space or that it could be used by the welfare department to distribute goods and food to clients.

He said he had drawn up the resolution which Van Ark had found in the council's proceedings but that it was the council's plans to allow the GAR and its auxiliary, the WRC, to use the room only as long as the GAR existed as it was felt that an auxiliary could not continue without a main body.

Van Duren expressed belief that city property belongs to the city and that its control belongs to council. It was his ruling that the adoption of a resolution was only a temporary procedure and could not bind any future council, that such a permanent action would have to come through adoption of an ordinance or a vote of the people.

Vandenbergh sought to point out to the patriotic organization representatives that the city required additional room "to serve all the people—not just a few or a few organizations." He said he would require absolute proof that the room had been dedicated permanently for such use and not given temporarily to the organizations. He inquired of the WRC if it had anything in its records to show that the room had been so dedicated, otherwise its control would go to council.

Mayor Geerlings pointed out that Holland pays 30 per cent of the county taxes, thus the welfare offices should be kept here. In answer to a question from Menken, Mrs. Steketee said an effort will be made to locate a list of items contained in the cornerstone.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

SEPTEMBER'S arrival means that brisk fall days shortly will be in store for us if they are not already here as menus can be somewhat richer than they have been throughout the summer.

As a rising wholesale market has forced the prices of almost all meats up, poultry is one of the best selections for the main course and there are such a variety of ways to prepare poultry that one could also repeat during the week. Fresh hams are still one of the best meat buys and beef chuck is a good value.

The market is filled with a variety of garden and orchard produce so that, where the family budget will not stretch to the higher priced meats, fruits and vegetables can be used to advantage. In addition to Northwestern Greening other varieties of apples are in market this week. Those delicious late of fine grapefruit are coming in and are excellent for salads, fruit cocktails and desserts. Fresh prunes are plentiful and lend themselves to a variety of recipes.

Beets, both green and lima beans, cabbage, corn, celery, onions and squash are all very plentiful and low priced this week. There are any number of vegetable combinations which are delicious cooked together and almost every lunch or dinner should be graced by a vegetable salad for both as well as appetite appeal.

Among the best buys of the week in fish are mackerel, flounders, yellow tail, weakfish, whiting, sea scallops and sea bass. There are ample supplies of salmon coming into the market; medium sized shrimp are reasonably priced, as are hard and soft shell clams.

Suggested for Sunday dinner are the three menus which Miss Cora Anthony, of the . . . kitchen, has arranged:

Low Cost Dinner
Stewed Chicken with Dumplings
Baked Potatoes
Dutch Apple Cake
Bread and Butter
Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner
Southern Fried Chicken
Baked Sweet Potatoes and Apples
Stewed Beans
Hot Biscuits
Tea or Coffee

Very Special Dinner

REGISTERING OF ALIENS STARTS OVER COUNTRY

Holland, Grand Haven and Zeeland Post Offices Designated

Four Places Are Listed in Allegan in Checkup Over Nation

Postmaster Louis J. Vanderburg has started the registration of all aliens from Aug. 27 to Dec. 26 as required by the federal government in compliance with a statute adopted recently by congress and signed by President Roosevelt.

Mr. Vanderburg and his aides, including Assistant Postmaster John Greengrove, have received instruction sheets from Earl G. Harrison, director of registration, regarding the procedure to be taken in the registration of aliens.

In the nation-wide registration, aliens may register at any first or second class post office.

In Ottawa county, post offices in Holland, Zeeland and Grand Haven have been designated for the registration.

Allegan, Otsego, Plainwell and Fennville post offices have been designated in Allegan county.

Aliens of 14 years or more are required to register and those younger than 14 must be registered by their parents.

Regular registration forms will be submitted by those registering. Such forms which may be obtained at the post offices call for name, address, birthdate and birthplace; sex, marital status and race; height, weight, color of hair and eyes; entry into the United States; residence in the United States; occupation, employer and industry; activities, military or naval service, whether or not application for citizenship has been made; relatives; arrest record, if any; activities for foreign governments.

Generally speaking, Mr. Vanderburg said, foreign-born persons who have not become citizens of the United States are aliens. Persons with first citizenship papers must register. While the form to be filled out is not the actual registration form, it is the information demanded at this time. Upon registration, fingerprints will be taken.

A fine of $1,000 and imprisonment for six months is prescribed by the new law for failure to register, for refusal to be fingerprinted or for making registration statements known to be false.

Registration is free. It is not necessary to pay any person and the government, through post-offices, will assist in the job.

After registration, the law requires all aliens and parents or guardians of aliens to report changes of residence address within five days of the change to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

Many million aliens are known to have residence in the United States.

High Egg Standards Developed by Hamilton Farm Bureau Program

The farm bureau board, however, was not satisfied even with management became interested in the improvements and in 1937 the United States grades and government grading. The Hamilton farm bureau was instrumental in having the federal-state egg grading service started in Michigan and the first contract for the service was signed by this association.

Ben Nykamp is the federal inspector.

The Hamilton bureau was organized in 1920 as a service agency for farm bureau members in Allegan county and at first handled eggs as current receipts. Farmers were not satisfied with their returns but at that time eggs were only a sideline.

About 1931 the board of directors decided that there was a future in the egg business if quality eggs could be produced and marketed. A poultry improvement campaign was launched which brought better birds into the county. Better feeding and flock management practices were adopted. The farmers collected their eggs at least three times daily and all eggs were thoroughly cooled before casing and delivery to the farm bureau plant.

Approximately 1,000 cases of eggs are now handled here weekly on the basis of the U. S. grades and each producer receives for his eggs an amount in accordance with the quality he delivers to the plant. The success of this quality program is shown by the fact that 60 per cent of the eggs handled by the association grade "U. S. extras." This has resulted in raising the price level for association members and also, to some extent, the price level for the entire area.

The progress of the Hamilton quality program is well known throughout the state and groups from many farm organizations and educational institutions make trips to Hamilton to inspect the plant and study their methods. Hamilton eggs receive top market in Detroit, Chicago and other consuming centers.

THOSE TOLERANT DUTCH

Now that the religious issue has once more been injected into a major political campaign by Mr. Wilkie's blunt repudiation of all those who would make religion or race a test of Americanism, it may be interesting to take a look at the history of religious toleration in the development of the American system of government. On the question of toleration Mr. Roosevelt of course has the same point of view as that expressed by Mr.
Wilkie. Although there have always been numerically important groups who have refused to subscribe to the fundamental doctrine of toleration that the constitution itself enunciates, the leaders in American 'political opinion throughout our history have almost invariably stood for toleration.

But it is not too well known that the idea of toleration stems in large measure not from the British 'founders of this country but from the Dutch. In general the people who came over on the 'Mayflower' did not believe in religious toleration. Much of the history of the colonial period in America was a history of hostility to religious toleration, to the extent of the direct persecution of many religiousists who did not agree with the religious figure that was in power. An early figure in the Bay Colony, Nathaniel Ward, who was one of the most learned lawyers of his day, declared bluntly that religious toleration was a crime against God and the state, and he scornfully declared that if the colony allowed it it would be no better than the occupied Low Countries—namely The Netherlands.

And that is the interesting point.
Even away back there in the seventeenth century the Dutch people subscribed to the then revolutionary doctrine of religious toleration, and they have never wholly receded from that policy. In England itself it was not until well into the nineteenth century that religious toleration finally won.
In America such liberal spirits as Franklin, Washington, and Jefferson succeeded in writing religious toleration into the constitution;
but more than a century before that time Holland had begun to take toleration for granted.

Within the decade when the New England theocracy hanged 19 persons for the 'crime' of witchcraft, and when most of the British descended people of New England still felt that religious toleration was a political crime, the Dutch sovereigns of England, William and Mary, imposed at least a partial toleration on the American colonies and eliminated church membership as a qualification for citizenship.

Wendell Willkie and Franklin Roosevelt, and all American leaders of today who enunciate another doctrine of religious toleration, are echoing what had already become a vital part of the Dutch mind 300 years ago. If it had not been for the growth of toleration in the little land of dykes such American leaders might preach a different doctrine today.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Work and worship have a great deal in common. For they are both forms of glorifying God. One glor-ifies him by praise and prayer, the other by service to his children.
And it is when we think of our work in just such terms, that it comes closest to worship and assumes a genuinely religious meaning. There is no form of useful work which cannot put on spiritual dress, and range itself side by side with prayer and adoration. There was a time when it was thought that divine service meant withdrawal of one from his fellow creatures. To be fully religious he had to live in a monastery away from the actual needs of the world, and there say prayers, fast, and punish the body in various ways.
Life and religion were separated, and only one place was divine, the place of retirement. We know better today. Religion has gone out into the world, into the professions, occupations.

The founder of Christianity was a workman. Christianity stands in pencil when it forgets that Jesus knew what it meant for a man to labor with his hands, to find the joy that comes when with skill

he uses mind and body to minister to the needs of men. Work was not a burden which Christ reluctantly assumed. It was a means of fellowship with God, for Jesus said, "My Father worketh even until now and I work." Jesus knew that creative work gave meaning and splendor to human life.
The inspiration of church attendance enables one to do better and more effective service throughout the week. Why not accept the invitation to go to church next Sunday?

Inviting Others to Worship God
Psalm 96

By Henry Geerlings

The psalmist was always glad when he was given an invitation to go to church. There must have been some good reason for his emotion. We go there we like to go, that is, to places wherein we have pleasure. He was a man who got a thrill at the prospect of going to church. He must have felt that there was value in the worship of Jehovah.

We have communion with God through worship. When we are thoughtful and reverent and have not gone to church just to hear a sermon, we are conscious of being in the presence of God. Of course, God is everywhere and we should have eyes to see him everywhere, but in the hour of reverent and thoughtful worship we are pursued of a special presence in the sanctuary. When we sing our hymns of praise we feel that we are singing to someone. We feel that our souls are going up to this presence and we feel a pull upward. Nobody can worship with a sincere heart and a glowing mind and not feel that he is enfolded by a something greater than he himself is. This is not imagination.
This is fact. Nobody with a reverent and searching mind can even hear a great poem read without feeling the lifting power of it. Our souls respond to the beautiful and the good and the true. And as we think intently about God, who is all beauty and all love and all goodness and all truth, we cannot be unemotional and cold and indifferent.

Hebrew worship had a long history, from the days when Abraham, as head of his family, acted as priest at a rude outdoor altar, to the days when, in the richlywrought temple, skillful choirs and musicians dignified and glorified the worship conducted by priests and Levites. Very moving, and probably rather noisy and dramatic, must have been some of the ceremonies, but they reminded men that strength and beauty were in the sanctuary, while the harp and trumpets, sounding like the sea's roar, reminded them of the whole creation's praise, as the notes of a great organ do in our worship.

Among us, worship has good features the temple worship lacked. It is permitted everywhere, whereas the glorious singing of the psalms was found only in the temple in Old Testament days.
Our worship is congregational, everyone being privileged to share, whereas of old the choir and priests did all, the people watching rather than joining in, except at special times.

But there are good features that we tend to lose. Because we worship anywhere, there is a tendency to worship anyhow, and we are lax in insisting on the proper setting for worship, worthy leadership, the fit expression of great ideas. There is difficulty in getting people to worship intelligently and actively.

Worship has in it what people give to God and how they do it and how they receive it. When worship is attractive it reaches out to others, bent on having a whole world of worshippers, not according to one form, but in one true spirit and purpose. Worship must always put God in the front as its worthy object. Worship is old.

The psalmist issues an appealing call. We ought to feel that appeal. God's blessings are ever new for us. They are blessings that we do not tire of. We like to have them.

How broad is the invitation? It reaches all who need it. The scope of the invitation is all the earth.
God is supreme over all gods. It puts zest into our worship if we know God's supremacy, without making us narrow or selfish. We want the ends of the earth to have knowledge of God.

If we worship in the right spirit it is a silent testimony to our faith. We confess that we love God, his house and his worship.
We testify to those who once went but have grown cold and to those who have never cared to join in public worship that they too ought to go to the sanctuary. But this silent testimony is not enough. We are to invite and to urge others to go also. We can remind them of the lurking danger that comes from failure to join others in divine worship. We cannot go to church and sing and pray and listen and think together without coming very close to one another in the great brotherhood of souls.

The worship habit can be cultivated. We may go to church and not worship; but it is more likely we shall not worship if we do not go. The custom of churchgoing is one of the most hopeful evidences of a growing Christian life. We thereby place ourselves in an environment that is congenial to true worship. Some persons think that they should not urge others if these others do not feel like going. We feel the stimulus that comes from the example set by others, and they in turn are helped to Christian fidelity if we are faithful to our vows. And this applies to church-going as it does to anything else. The delinquencies of a few have their effect on others. We may not know the value of worship in the Christian congregation until we begin to absent ourselves from it. One method of cultivating regularly for ourselves is to try to interest others in the church. In this way worship will mean a great deal to us.

Unit Arrives

Holland national guardsmen, including four officers and 82 enlisted men arrived home via special train at 12:40 a.m. Saturday—five minutes ahead of schedule—
from the three weeks' maneuvers at Camp McCoy in Wisconsin.

Tired, but in good shape and with only a few colds, they were anxious to get home. As is usual with those returning from camp, however, some have said and more will say in the next few days that they wished they were back in camp.

A crowd of about 150 persons met them at the station and followed them to the armory where they stayed until all the packing had been completed.

A truck also met them at the depot and made three trips in transporting supplies to the armory. Ten guardsmen under Lieut.
Richard Smeenge were in charge of loading the truck.

The rest marched to the armory under the direction of Capt. H.
Austin Lucas, and there they spent a few hours putting away their supplies after which they all left for home.

None of the men has to recover from sickness and the only thing remaining to be done is the drying of tents, blankets and overcoats.
Returning men stated that it rained 11 out of the 21 days of camp.
A slight rain was encountered just as the guards left the camp shortly after noon Friday. Overcoats were hung up, blankets were laid out and tents were laid across horses in the basement of the armory.

After Holland's baggage car and two special coaches had been switched off, Grand Haven, Muske-

on the same train, continued home.

POCKETBOOK WITH LARGE AMOUNT OF
MONEY RETURNED

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Vanden
Bosch, residing on route 3, Zeel-

The reason was that Mrs. Van-den Bosch's pocketbook, containing $200 in cash and checks, which was lost Friday night, was returned to them Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff William Van Etta.

The officer found the pocketbook on the highway, east of Vriesland while on patrol duty Friday night. It was through a name on a pay check, issued to Mr. Vanden Bosch that the owner of the money was learned.

The purse contained seven $20 bills, one $10 bill, a pay check for $39 and two refund checks amounting to about $11.

Upon returning the purse, Deputy Van Etta learned that Mr. and Mrs. Vanden Bosch had planned a trip Friday night but prior to their departure she left the purse and her handkerchief on their car's fender. Later, Mrs.

ing the purse on the car fender

ALMANAC

DUTCH WIND UP SEASON BY WIN OVER KAZOO, 3-0

Vanden Berg and Balch in Mound Duel Each Give Up Three Hits

The Holland Flying Dutchmen wound up their regular summer series Labor day morning in Riverview park by beating the Kalamazoo Quailies, 3-0.

To whitewash one of the best Kalamazoo nines, the Dutch needed only three singles in the sixth inning aided by an error and a long fly ball to bring in the three winning tallies.

The entire fray was definitely a pitcher's battle with Balch and Bob Vanden Berg each relinquishing only three hits. Vanden Berg gave a single in the second to B. Chronert and advanced him on a walk but otherwise the first five innings were both hitless and scoreless and the visitors went the three-up-three-down route.

Balch gave out all three in Holland's big sixth inning. He fanned six and passed none while Vanden Berg fanned 11 and passed two. Holland AB R H E.

Dutch Relief Delegates Hear Monthly Reports

Delegates attending the monthly meeting of the South Ottawa—North Allegan Chapter of the Queen Wilhelmina Fund held in First Reformed Church, Zeeland, recently were informed by Treasurer Maynard Mohr that more than $1,400 had been received from the churches to date.

At this time it is still impossible to conduct relief work in The Netherlands itself, but the refugee problem remains acute. The chapter officers reported an urgent appeal has been received from the American Friends (Quaker) Service committee for money to extend relief to several thousand of destitute Hollanders in the areas of Toulouse and Montauban in unoccupied France.

Chairman Cornelius Vander Meulen pointed out that many Hollanders traveling in America were stranded and the most destitute have been cared for and in most cases have found employment which makes them self-sustaining.

Preliminary plans were considered for participation of the women's organizations of the churches in knitting and sewing of garments as well as collecting new and used clothing for distribution abroad.

TO TRAIN FOR DEFENSE JOBS

Grand Haven, Sept. 5 (Special) —Classes being set up in Grand Haven for foundry workers and power sewing machine operators in the national defense industrial training program were to start early this month, according to Claude A. Bosworth, director of vocational education in the public schools.

The national defense industry committee, appointed by the community advisory council a week ago, met last week and decided to institute the classes. Drake Engine Co. facilities have been offered by A. E. Jacobson and Paul A. Johnson, for use of the foundry classes, and the Peerless Glove Co. facilities by A. W. and Barton Elliott, for the sewing machine classes.

Later it is expected that offers by the Challenge Porcelain and Stamping Co., and the Challenge Machinery Co., for use of their plants, will be accepted. The necessity for utilizing industrial plants in training workers in the program exists because the school buildings here have no facilities. The industries named give the use of their buildings and machines, but all supplies, materials, instruction, administration expense, light, heat and power, are paid by the schools.

Two kinds of classes are to be instituted—one for those preparing for employment, to be held five six-hour days a week, and classes for supplementary training of those now employed, to be two or three hours long and held evenings. The local defense industry committee, composed of representatives of employers, organized labor, relief agencies and the state employment service, plans the courses and certifies those to receive training.

The committee survey reveals that need now exists, or is likely to exist, within six months, for power sewing machine operators, foundry workers, cabinet makers, machine shop operators and sheet metal workers.

A number already employed require supplementary training and investigating the supply of now unemployed trainees, the committee found adequate numbers on the state unemployment, WPA and NYA rolls, and in the CCC.

HOTEL NAMES ESSENBURGH

Acting Manager Is Given Permanent Ranking by Directors

Leroy Essenburg, 32, route 6, Holland, was named last week by the tavern's board of directors as permanent manager of the Warm Friend tavern. Mr. Essenburg had been serving as acting manager since the death of Manager W. H. Lillard in an auto accident in May.

The directors chose Mr. Essenburg from a long list of applicants and explained that they were interested in having a manager "a good Dutch boy whom the people of this city could understand and whom they would be glad to cooperate." He is not a hotel man, they explained, but is well-grounded and his organization experience should qualify him.

The fact that the hotel during the last few months under his direction has been doing better business than last year at this same time also shows that Essenburg is able to direct the hotel and its staff of 60, it was pointed out.

Essenburg was born, raised and married here. He attended Holland high school and business college. Previous to his appointment as acting manager of the hotel he had charge of cost and production at the Holland Furnace Co. for six years. He was also assistant secretary at the Re-Nu Parts Corp. for five years during its peak. He is the son of Mrs. Peter Mulder, 670 Michigan Ave.

ROTARY HEARS MAYAN STORY

Dr. Walter M. Simpson of the Kettering Institute of Medical Research, Dayton, O., addressed the Holland Rotary club and guests at the Macatawa Bay Yacht club last Thursday. He showed a set of color photos of the Mayan civilization from Central America. This group lived in an area about 500 miles in diameter, mostly in Yucatan, El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala, which antedated Greece and Rome, and which, he said, was the most remarkable in the world.

One may go to Porto Barrios, Guatemala, on a four-day United fruit boat trip from New Orleans at half of what it would cost to go to Florida, he stated.

Guatemala covers an area about the size of Ohio and 90 per cent of the population are descendants of the ancient Mayas.

Many 18,000-foot mountain peaks, volcanoes, and beautiful rivers abound. One of the beautiful band shells of the world is located in Guatemala City. There are 100 churches in this city, many beautiful ones, some dating back to the Spanish colonization from 1524.

The Mayas are of Mongolian descent, and came from the Orient, via Aleutian Islands and Alaska. Today much of the excellent work in this civilization has been carried on by the Carnegie Institute of Washington. A former Holland student, Maurice Steggeda, is doing much work. The director of this work has been Dr. Sylvester Morley.

A half million people lived at one time in Yucatan alone in this civilization, and from 1527 Spain has been there in colonization.

The ancient Mayas did some work in fever therapy, probably some of the best ever found in the world in this type of medication of disease treatment about 2000 years ago. Honduras and Yucatan contain many chambers for heated stones. Some of these are still in use, particularly in the mountain regions.

AMENDMENT TO ZONING LAW TO BE ASKED HERE

Appeal Board, Committee Asked by Council to Study Matter

Listing three reasons for his motion, Ald. William C. Vandenberg, at Wednesday night's common council meeting, moved that the city's zoning ordinance be referred to the appeal board and "some council committee" with the idea that it be studied for the purpose of amending it to meet present day conditions.

Supported by Ald. James A. Drinkwater, the motion was adopted and Mayor Henry Geerlings designated council's ordinance committee to meet with the appeal board. In his motion, Vandenberg also proposed that the group submit a report at council's meeting Sept. 18 or to report "progress."

As reasons for his proposal, Vandenberg first referred to a special committee's action in refusing a building permit to William C. De Roo for the construction of a two-family home at 24th St. and Central Ave. and then to council's action in referring to the appeal board the application of Edward Donivan for a permit to remodel a home at 65 West 15th St. into a two-family dwelling.

He also called attention to the plan of a property owner to construct a four-family apartment home on the northeast corner of 10th St. and College Ave. but is prevented from doing so because the zoning ordinance prohibits such a building in class A residential district.

WENZEL HOMER LEADS HOLLAND IN WIN OVER G.R.

Vandenberg Holds Scales to Three Hits for 2-1 Victory

Wenzel's right-field homer with one man on in the second inning and Bill Vandenberg's three hit pitching won for Holland another close late-season victory, 2-1, over the Grand Rapids Scales in River-view park Friday night.

Postponed earlier in the week because of rain, the game Friday became the first of three week-end contests, one of the last for the Hollanders before they enter the G. R. prize-money tournament.

Rain fell only a few minutes during the game.

Don Van Lente, Dutch shortstop, was on base Friday night after a double when Wenzel homered with two men already down on strike-outs. Holland was in scoring position later with two men down but Den Hollander, who pitched all the way for the Scales usually struck the third man out.

He allowed eight hits, struck out 13 and walked two. Vandenberg fanned 11 and walked one.

The Scales' only run came in the seventh when Stevens singled to center and scored on an out from second to first.

They left five men on base and Holland left eight.

Vandenberg himself garnered as many hits as he allowed and made seven assists at first, once after catching a bounder with his bare hand.
