Blaze in Roof Causes Damage At Local House

Firemen Answer Four Alarms This Morning; Trucks Pass Each Other

Holland city firemen answered four alarms Tuesday.

Most serious damage was done to a house belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wolbert at 140 East 18th St. Fire, smoke and water damage was not estimated pending further investigation.

Firemen cut water damage to furniture and clothing to a minimum by putting canvas tarps over all furniture and clothing. The large tarps were donated to the local fire department by Arnold Hertel Insurance agency.

It was estimated by Fire Chief Andrew Klomparens that several hundreds of dollars of damage was avoided by using the tarps.

Mrs. Wolbert said she was ironing just before she discovered the blaze. She said a noise came from the fuse box in the kitchen and her daughter, Marcia, who was helping, noticed all the electric clocks had stopped.

Mrs. Wolbert said she smelled rubber burning and thought the power had gone off. She went upstairs to hang up a pair of pants and saw smoke coming from a door leading to an attic in the rear of the upstairs. She opened the door and saw the entire inside of the roof blazing.

She went to a neighbors house to call firemen and then went to the corner alarm box.

Three fire trucks answer the call. They pumped water on the inside of the roof and later forced it up through shingles from inside.

Smoke was pouring out of upstairs windows when firemen arrived and for several minutes after they started pumping water. They used two new fresh air masks to investigate smoke coming from the basement.

At the same time the alarm to the 18th St. house rang, another call came from the Dutch Mill on Eighth St. Trucks from the two stations passed each other at the crossing of Eighth St. and Central Ave. One went to the Dutch Mill and used chemicals to put out a grease fire on the oven. The other answered the 18th St. alarm. Firemen answered an alarm to put out a grass fire at 23rd St. and Van Raalte Ave., behind the Bohn Aluminum factory. Before the trucks were back, firemen from the East Eighth station were sent on a "wild goose chase" to locate a fire, supposedly at 14th St. and Van Raalte Ave. No trace of a blaze was found.

Club Told Needs Of Government

Problems of governmental reorganization were presented to the Holland Kiwanis club Monday night by Edward Hutchinson of Fennville, state representative for Allegan county.

Recently named by Gov. Sigler to a joint legislative committee to study the reorganization of Michigan's executive branch of government, Hutchinson told of the need for streamlining state government to give the taxpayers a more efficient and more economic government for their tax dollar.

He stated that instead of more than 100 separate agencies, departments, commissions and boards, there should be about 18 to 25 departments. He pointed out that at the present time there are 26 departments concerning business regulations and eight different agencies dealing with labor and labor relations.

The Fennville legislator said that lack of physical space is presenting a huge problem to the new committee. He also said the Michigan people have been wary of a centralized government which presents an obstacle to streamlining state government. Reorganization is not of a revolutionary nature nor one that should be feared, said Hutchinson.

He was introduced by Dan Vander Werf, program chairman. Tony Last presided at the meeting.

Guests were Prof. Carthur U. Edwards of Charleston, Ill., H. C. Oliver of Grand Rapids, J. P. Norris of Detroit, the Rev. John H. Meengs and C. E. Chaddock.

Sales Tax Issue Tabled at Meeting Of Holland Council

Discussion Brings Out Two Sides to Voting On Detroit Suggestion

A request from the Detroit Common Council asking the Holland Council to urge a "No" vote on the proposal to repeal the sales tax diversion amendment was tabled by the local body at its meeting Wednesday night.

The letter was from Detroit City Clerk Thomas D. Leadbetter and similar letters were sent to all incorporated villages and cities in the state.

City Clerk Clarence Greengood explained that the City of Holland had received $84,918.96 from sales tax diversion last year. This year's total to date is $43,117.20 which means approximately $86,200 for this fiscal year, he said.

"This would mean that were we to lose the sales tax revenue, the property owners of Holland would have to raise $4.20 per thousand valuation in addition to present taxation to keep up our present activities," Greengood said.

A property owner with an assessed valuation of $5,000 would by some means pay $21.25 more per year and a manufacturing company with a $200,000 valuation would be raised $840 per year.

In discussion after a motion was advanced to accept the Detroit proposal, Mayor Bernard De Pree said he believed the legislature would allocate other funds if they took away the sales tax money from local governments.

City Attorney Peter S. Boler said the legislatures, both at state and national levels, are trying to take away funds from local sources. They want to hold the money and allocate it as they see fit, Boler said.

After the discussion, a substitute motion to table the matter for two weeks was passed.

The same opportunity for the appointment as assistant prosecuting attorney has been offered to Jacob Bonstein, Democratic candidate.

Scout Leaders Plan Program For 'Hoe-Down'

All Interested Adults Invited to Attend Fete At Allegan Lake Camp

Plans for the Ottawa-Allegan Boy Scout council "Hoe-Down" have been completed. "Hoe-Down" chief W. H. Vande Water announces the program schedule as follows:

Beginning with supper at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 10, events will start with initial troop meetings at 7:30. Each Scout will become a member of one of the four different troops known as the Rivermen, the Homesteaders, the Waggoners, and the Lumberjacks.

Each Troop will take up a complete and separate phase of the troop's program covering yearly planning, troop meetings, hiking and camping.

A general campfire program is scheduled for 10 p.m. Following this, a midnight snack will be served.

Saturday morning is taken up with regular troop activities; putting into practice the results of Friday night's planning.

The "big show" of the Hoe-Down will be Saturday afternoon when some 40 experts will demonstrate all types of skills in woodcraft, camping, and outdoor sports including marksmanship, archery, fly and bait casting.

According to Vande Water the Hoe-Down has a double purpose. It's first aim is to teach leaders the techniques of boy leadership—to give him the skills necessary to give boys the wholesome fun of Scouting. Its second aim is to give the leaders themselves a taste of the fun and adventure of Scouting.

Any registered Scout, and any men interested in becoming Scout leaders, may attend the Hoe-Down. The Scout office in the city hall, is taking reservations for the event.

Vande Water is assisted by a committee which was specially trained at Lake Geneva last spring. They are: Otto Dressel, Roger Gunn and Elmore Van Raalte of Holland; Tom Bosch, Grand Haven; Elmer Reenders, Spring Lake; Ed Benson, Coopersville; Howard Barney, Allegan and Fred Greenawalt, Wayland.

Ed Peterson of Allegan and Wilbur Husted of Grand Haven, members of the Council Training committee are also assisting with the planning and preparation.

Local Red Cross Upholds Separate Fund Drive Policy

Letter Bases Actions On National Charter Adopted by Directors

The congressional charter of the American Red Cross and a fund raising policy adopted last year by its board of directors, prevent Red Cross participation in the federated fund campaign as recently proposed by the United Health and Welfare fund of Michigan.

The above fact was revealed in a letter from the national Red Cross headquarters to J. M. Shackleton, president of the United Health and Welfare fund and a copy of the letter was sent to the Rev. William C. Warner, chairman of the Ottawa County Red Cross chapter.

According to the letter, the act of Congress which establishes the Red Cross, provides that "all power of government, direction and management of the corporation should be lodged" in a board of governors. It further says that the board of governors "may not assign or delegate to others, in whole or part, its authority or its obligations."

The letter said that the Red Cross board of governors unanimously re-affirmed the policy of the individual Red Cross campaign at a meeting Dec. 8, 1947.

That policy is that all fund-raising appeals, campaigns or collections of the American Red Cross will be conducted only in the name of the Red Cross and separate and apart from any other fund raising effort.

Rev. Warner said the board of governors consists of 50 members. Thirty are nominated and elected by Red Cross chapters. Eight are appointed by the President of the United States and 12 are elected by other members of the board.

"Thus, Red Cross chapters all have a majority voice in determining national Red Cross policies," he said.

"The action of the board of governors in re-affirming established fund raising policies of the Red Cross prevents the national organization or any of its chapters from participating in federated fund campaigns," Rev. Warner said. "Red Cross fund campaign policies are based on the experience of 30 years during which it has been demonstrated that the Red Cross must maintain sole control over its services and meet local, national and international obligations."

A communication from John C. Wilson, vice-president and manager of the Red Cross Midwest area was enclosed in the copy of the letter sent Rev. Warner. It pointed out that those Red Cross chapters which participated in joint fund raising efforts before the present policy lost the following:

Lost personal and direct relations with an active membership; lost financial and fiscal control over services and programs; and lost the communities' realization of responsibilities in meeting Red Cross national and international obligations, all clearly set forth in the organization's charter and in international treaties; they also failed to obtain minimum financial needs to perform local, national and international responsibilities.

In pointing out that the Ottawa county Red Cross chapter will conduct its own separate annual fund campaign next March, Rev. Warner said:

"The people of Michigan, of whom more than 800,000 are members of the Red Cross, must be given the opportunity to participate directly in all Red Cross programs, whether fund raising, services to members of the armed forces and their families, disaster relief, health education, or any of the many other volunteer services."

"Any deviation from the established fund raising policy would result in alienating the Red Cross from its membership and weakening the entire Red Cross structure."

Dog Club Posts Training Ground To All Hunting

Action Is Necessary Under State Statute; Membership Is Open

Holland hunters, who have been scouting western Michigan for likely fields for autumn shooting, reported to The Sentinel that a favored spot, known as the Copper Smith place, had been posted against shooting. So The Sentinel investigated and here are the facts:

The tract is owned by the Department of Agriculture and was leased to the West Ottawa Soil Conservation district.

"Our directors wanted the worst land blown soil in the county, so we could demonstrate what could be done in soil restoration," according to Robert Briola, soil specialist.

The tract contains 220 acres and is located in sections 26 and 27 of Port Sheldon township. Control of the land by the soil conservation district does not preclude other use of the land, Briola explained, so the 220 acres was sub-leased to the Holland Beagle club for use in training dogs. Terms of the contract are that, the Beagle club must conform to all state and federal laws.

Ted Baker, president of the Beagle club, explains that under terms of the use permit, the Beagle club must post the area against hunters. Club members themselves may not use guns on the tract, either. So when the lease was approved last July, the club conformed to state law and posted signs provided by the State Conservation commission. "This is the only spot in western Michigan where dog owners can train their dogs on live birds, and although we have 40 members from Muskegon, Ottawa and Allegan county, our club is no closed corporation and any dog owner who wishes to use the land for training his dog may do so by joining the club. And our annual dues are only $2," Baker told The Sentinel. The Beagle club obtained use of the tract under a state law passed in 1947.

"We are obligated to conform to all laws and to plant trees and provide cover for game birds," Baker said.

"We are obligated to conform to all laws and to plant trees and provide cover for game birds," Baker said.

"We are obligated to conform to all laws and to plant trees and provide cover for game birds," Baker said.

Michigan Shares Wildlife Funds

From Our Washington Bureau Washington, Aug. 26 (Special)—Michigan will get the biggest bite out of Uncle Sam's $10,780,620 to be used this year for restoration and development of wildlife resources in the 48 states.

According to Interior department officials, Michigan will receive $539,031, an amount equalled only by the grant to Texas.

The federal fund, derived from the 11 per cent excise tax paid by the manufacturers of sporting arms and ammunition, is apportioned to the states on the basis of land area and the number of paid hunting license holders in each state. But no state may receive more than five per cent or less than one-half of one per cent of the total amount. Michigan and Texas both received the maximum amount, which represented an increase of $125,842 apiece over last year. The minimum amount went to Connecticut, Delaware, Rhode Island and Vermont—$53,903.

Dutchmen Finally Take Decision From Black Sox

Holland Outlasts Invaders in Slugfest; Two Pitchers Used

If you don't succeed at first, try, try again.

Holland's Flying Dutchmen did just that this season, and the plan finally "paid off." The locals stopped the Grand Rapids Black Sox 8-6 at Riverview Park Monday night after four unsuccessful attempts earlier this season.

Holland's victory was not easy in coming, however. The locals had to overcome an early one run deficit to take the decision. Manager Bennie Batema had to use two pitchers, Lefty Clare Van Wieren and Bob Vanden Berg, to silence the Sox bats. Vanden Berg pitched shutout ball after he entered the contest in the seventh inning.

The locals took a three-run margin in the first inning on two hits, a stolen base and two walks, but Grand Rapids retaliated with two in their second inning on two hits. One of the hits was a line drive homer over the rightfield fence by Leftfielder Robinson.

Two more tallies in the fourth gave the invaders a one run, 4-3 margin. Holland knotted the count in the fourth on two walks and a pair of Grand Rapids errors.

Finally a three-run outburst in the fifth inning gave the locals a 7-4 lead—a lead which they never relinquished. Four local singles and two Black Sox miscues figured in the scoring. Another run in the sixth on three hits, upped the Holland total to eight.

Grand Rapids knocked Lefty Van Wieren from the mound in the seventh inning with three solid hits. Bob Vanden Berg, relieved him with one out, and retired the side with no further damage.

Holland collected 11 hits off Sam Robinson and Livingston, Grand Rapids hurlers, while the Sox touched Van Wieren and Vanden Berg for 10 safeties.

Manager Benny Batema also started two new youngsters in his preview of 1949. Jerry Witteveen started at first for the locals and Con Boeve maneuvered in centerfield. Batema said the two lads will remain on the Dutchmen squad for the remainder of the season as a start in his quest for younger talent for next year.

League All Stars Whip CA Club In Friday Tilt

Scoring five runs in the fourth inning Friday night at Riverview Park, the Wooden Shoe league All Stars edged the league leading Holland Color Ad club, 5-3 in a regulation nine inning contest.

The tilt was well played by the best talent that the Wooden Shoe loop could offer. It was the first All-Star contest sponsored by the Wooden Shoe leaguers.

Five All Star pitchers took the mound against Color Ad's Clairie Van Liere who went all the way. Pitching for the winners were Reimink, Kehrwecker, Ensing, Warner and Busscher. Schrotenboer and Waterway handled the catching chores.

Color Ad took a one run lead in the first inning when left-off man Van Liere walked and took second on an error. He then came around to score on Lou Humbert's bunt down the first base line.

The All Stars couldn't "dent" home plate until the fourth inning when they scored all of their tallies. Four hits, including one base blow by the Wentzel brothers from Hamilton, Gene Schrotenboer and Con Boeve accounted for the runs. Sandwiched in between the hits were a fielder's choice and an error.

The losers fought back valiantly in their fifth, annexing two more tallies to pull up to within two runs. Three hits and a fielder's choice accounted for the final markers.

It was a pitcher's duel between Van Liere vs. the All Stars for the remainder of the contest. The losing hurler struck out five All Stars and walked three batters in going the route. The five All Star flingers retired 11 Color Ad batters by the strikeout route, while issuing only two passes.

Van Liere permitted 11 safeties while his teammates were collecting six hits. Boeve, De Jonge and Leftfielder Wentzel each had two safeties for the All Stars while no Color Ad batter got more than one hit.

Ault, became the bride of Thomas H. Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cole of West Olive. The Rev. Palms and ferns filled in the natural setting of pine trees near the house, and tall baskets of gladioli and white asters and heavy white roping formed a chancel where the vows were spoken. A white carpet led from the house to the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a tissue tulle princess style gown fashioned with long sleeves, net yoke and scalloped bertha, the scalloping also edging the long front panel. The fitted bodice extended to a point in the back and the full skirt ended in a train. The bonnet which held her fingertip and bluish veil also featured the scalloping. Tailors Annex Tourney Win

Holland's Dykema Tailors moved into the second round of the Zeeland Softball tournament in Class B Friday night when they eked a 2-1 victory over the Grand Rapids Moose aggregation. It was Holland's first appearance in the Zeeland tourney this year.

Harve Vanderveen worked on the hill for the locals, and allowed but three safeties to the Grand Rapids aggregation. Meanwhile the Clothiers were garnering only four safeties off Bekkens and Stouten, Grand Rapids flingers.

Holland broke into the scoring column first in the initial inning when Wes Vryhof walked, was sacrificed to second by Gil Bos, went to third on a wild pitch and came into score on an error in right field.

Then in the third, it was Wes Vryhof again who scored the Dykema Tailor. He tripled after two men had been retired, and then came around to score on a single by Bos. This ended the Dykema scoring for the evening.

The Moose aggregation annexed its only tally in the sixth inning on two singles and a passed ball.

Vanderveen struck out eight Grand Rapids lads while nine Tailors looked at a third strike.

The Tailors will tangle with their next foe at a date to be announced next week.

Primary Election Ballot Changes Revealed by Clerk

Registration Banned On Day of Election By Recent Resolution

City Clerk Clarence Greengood has announced changes in election laws which will affect voters in the Sept. primary.

According to a recently passed resolution by the board of supervisors, electors will not be allowed to register at the polls on election day. The resolution was proposed to the supervisors by the City of Holland.

There will be only one ballot for the election and it will include both Republican and Democratic parties. One party ticket is on either side of the ballot.

Voters will not be allowed to split the primary ticket. If a person checks candidates of both tickets, the vote will be void and will not be counted for any candidate.

Ballots will be properly folded by election inspectors and after voting, the ballot should be folded in the same manner. The inspectors will alternate Democratic and Republican sides of the ballot when handing them to voters.

Spaces are provided on the ballot for write-in candidates. If a voter writes a name in the space provided, he must also put a check mark in the box opposite the write-in line.

Polls in each of the six wards will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m. Persons who are in line at closing time will be allowed to vote but no one will be permitted to enter the line after 8 p.m.

The city clerk also announced that absentee ballots will be available next week. These ballots will be mailed to persons who have applied before Aug. 23.

Persons who will be out of the city, or who will be unable to get to the polls by reason of illness, infirmity or blindness, can make application at the clerk's office for an absentee ballot anytime before the election.

All absentee ballots must be returned to the clerk's office before the polls close Sept. 14. Any persons wishing to cast his absentee ballot before that time is requested to have it in the clerk's office before election day if possible.

The above changes in election rules were outlined by County Clerk William Wildes at a school for inspectors in Grand Haven Thursday night.

Volleyballs From Ambush

THE AMBUSER WHO takes his space when he can find it is back after a vacation to say that if press reports that Jesse James is still alive, Jesse must be in the tourist business. There was once a time when a $3 bill was an important piece of money, but not any more.

The Ambusher won't mention where he went for his vacation because some of the resort operators in the northern part of Michigan might get sore. But, truthfully, the prices up there are higher than they have any right to be, higher indeed than the New England states, or neighboring states across Lake Michigan.

Take it easy gentlemen, or the lambs will go elsewhere to be shorn.

The Sentinel's publisher, W. A. Butler, who is serving on the Michigan Conservation commission, was telephoned the other day by a woman who called attention to the vegetation growing in Lake Macatawa.

"Why the weeds in the lake are so thick the fish can scarcely swim through them, and you should hear the noise when the fish come to the surface to get a breath of air."

So, without comment, Bill Butler handed the Ambusher a cartoon, drawn by John Darling, ace cartoonist on conservation matters. The cartoon has eight panels, beginning with the appointment to the state game commission.

Panel two shows a farmer telling the commissioner to keep pheasant hunters off farm lands; panel three shows the hunters squawking about being kept off.

Panel four shows the new commissioner awakened in the middle of the night by a big shot who was arrested for shooting quail out of season; panel five shows local biggies demanding a fish hatchery, a game refuge and a new lake; panel six shows auditors checking the expense account and find three postage stamps purchased without authorization; panel seven shows the commissioner's family coming home empty handed after a full day of fishing; and panel eight shows the commissioner in full flight.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvern Kapenga

First Reformed Church of Zeeland was the scene of an impressive wedding Tuesday evening when Miss June Meusen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Meusen of Zeeland, became the bride of Alvern Kapenga, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kapenga also of Zeeland.

The Rev. Abraham Rynbrandt read the ceremony before an altar banked with tall ferns, baskets of white gladioli, and candelabra. Large white bows and white gladioli marked the pews, and a white taper was placed in each window.

Elmer Lieverse, organist, played selections of nuptial music preceding the ceremony, and accompanied Mrs. Vern Nienhuis of Holland who sang "At Dawning," "Because," and "Oh Perfect Love" as the couple knelt at the altar.

Before the "Wedding March" from Lohengrin was played, the bride and groom each sang a verse of "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white marquisette, fashioned along colonial lines with a fitted bodice, an off-shoulder yoke edged in ruffles, and long tapering sleeves. The full skirt, which terminated in a long train, featured short ruffles in front. The fingertip veil of illusion with lace applique was held in place with a beaded tiara. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli and ivy.

Miss Elaine Meusen was her sister's maid of honor, and wore a colonial styled gown of blue dotted nylon made with an off-the-shoulder ruffle, and full skirt with ruffled edge. Her headpiece was a tiara of white and pink asters, and she carried a white maline edged colonial bouquet of asters.

New York City. The association is preparing for its 41st annual seal sale drive in Michigan.

He explained that the column did not appear on the editorial page because his father, the publisher, opposed the plan.

The Ambusher is in receipt of an official communication from The American Legion in Detroit. The Michigan Legionnaire, official publication of the American Legion, department of Michigan, was the 1948 winner of the legion's national newspaper contest. The Michigan Legionnaire is an 8-page monthly published at Detroit. It was launched Jan. 1, 1948 and is edited by C. C. Clark, Jr., Ann Arbor, a former newspaperman.

Second place was won by the Toledo Legion Press of Toledo Ohio, and third by the Idaho Legionnaire, Twin Falls, Idaho. Congratulations, Legionnaires.

The Ambusher was asked who started Father's Day.

Credit for originating Father's Day goes to Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash. In 1898, inspired by love and sacrifice of her own Dad, who reared his six children after the death of their mother, she proposed a special day for honoring fathers.

The Minister's Alliance and the YMCA took up her idea, but it wasn't until 1910 that the first Father's Day was observed in Spokane.

At that time, Mrs. Dodd explains, there was too much disrespect for fathers and typical songs of the day were "Father, Dear Father, Come Home with Me Now" and "Everybody Works but Father."

Shyly, the Ambusher mentions that the Holland Chamber of Commerce recently said "Orchids to You" in connection with The Sentinel's Tulip Time and Resort edition. Of course, there were a lot of other people at whom the item was directed and who deserved it but it was nice to see it in print.

Aquila and Priscilla

Acts 18: 1-3 18 26; Romans 16: 3-5; 2 Timothy 4: 19

By Henry Geerlings

Of all Paul's helpers none were to prove themselves more helpful than these two. A lonely man, he was in constant need of the comfort which such a home-making couple could provide for him.

A few years later Paul went to Ephesus and they accompanied him. He soon departed for Jerusalem however to attend one of the annual feasts, and his work was left in their hands. Meanwhile a learned Jew of Alexandria, named Apollos, had come to the city, and being eloquent and mighty in the Scriptures, was teaching diligently the things of the Lord, knowing only the baptism of John. In other words, he perceived that the times were out of joint and anticipated the coming of the kingdom; but the larger truths of the gospel were as yet unknown to him. In some manner he came under the influence of Aquila and Priscilla, and they expounded to him the way of God more perfectly. This appears to have been the first Theological Seminary of the Christian church. It was primitive, yet it may be doubted whether in all the world there was another institution of learning where the truth was more sincerely taught.

In Paul's first epistle to the Corinthians mention is made of these two people and the church that is in their home. This probably means no more than that at stated times the followers of Christ met and worshipped together at their family altar. Nevertheless the domestic circle is thus invested with a peculiar sanctity as the germ of that great organism which we call the church of God.

Later they were at Rome as Paul's helpers. It would appear that they had been involved in some sort of persecution from which they had rescued Paul at the peril of their lives. This is a strange contrast to St. Peter's in the Rome of today. That humble church in the home of the tent-makers had no Pope, no imposing college of Cardinals, no elaborate paraphernalia of worship; yet the blessing of God rested upon it.

The last mention of Aquila and Priscilla finds them back at Ephesus. There is a tradition that on the 8th of July the faithful couple were led out beyond the walls and beheaded.

The story of these two people is a beautiful idyl of home life. The religion of Christ is singular in the emphasis which it puts upon the privileges and responsibilities of the domestic sphere. It is said that when Sayka-Muni had discovered the Great Truth and had decided to devote himself to its propagation he came to his home in the night time, and finding his wife asleep with her infant son beside her, he softly kissed her, said farewell and went his way. This was the great renunciation. He saw his home no more, but sitting under the sacred Bo-tree, gave himself to meditation of the Christ. How striking the contrast between this and the life of Jesus. At the home in Nazareth he was subject to his parents; at the home in Bethany he found rest and comfort during the troubled years of his ministry; at the home in Cana he laid his benediction upon the delights of social life; and when he would portray the glories of heaven, he did not speak of a city, nor of a country, nor of a garden of delights, but of home, sweet home.

Here is also a pleasant picture of wedded love. Aquila and Priscilla are always named together as if they were inseparable. There was no strife for the preeminence. It reminds us what Jeremy Taylor said, "When God created woman, he made her not of Adam's head, as if she were to rule over him; nor out of his feet, as if he were to rule over her; but from his side, because he should ever love and honor and protect her."

In these days of loose thinking and looser living it is well to emphasize that wedlock is a divine ordinance. It is not a sacrament. This union was ordained of God in the time of man's innocence. The family altar is the heart of the Christian home. It is as true now as in the days of Old-Edom that God prospers the home where the ark abides. In the morning when each member of the household sets forth upon a day of unknown duties and dangers, is it not well to kneel together and offer prayer like that of the Breton mariner, "O Lord, keep me; my boat is so little and the ocean so wide." At eventide is it not well to invoke the protecting care of God? In the hour of sorrow, when sickness invades the home or when there is crape on the door, there are strength and hope and comfort in prayer. It is grave responsibility which a father takes who allows his children to grow up to maturity and pass out in the responsibilities of life without having heard his voice lifted in their behalf at the throne of grace.

But Aquila and Priscilla did not confine their attention to handicrafts. They were in the higher service of the kingdom of Christ. They were faithful in the preaching of the gospel. The supreme need of our time is not more preachers but more consecrated laymen; more men and women ready to exemplify their religion in the common duties of life.

Fans went away from the Zeeland softball tournament games Monday night talking of Junior Maatman's game-winning home run in the last of the seventh, Ebel's two-hit pitching and the 12-inning game which Borculo pulled out of the fire.

Maatman's circuit blow with two men on in the last of the seventh enabled North Holland to win 5-2 and eliminated Hart & Cooley from the tournament.

In the first game, Hart & Cooley scored the first run in their half of the fourth on two errors, a fielder's choice and a base hit. They added another tally in the fifth on two hits and one error.

North Holland came back in their half of the fifth to knot the score at two runs apiece. They scored the runs on three hits and an error.

The teams battled even in the sixth frame.

With one man out in the last half of the seventh, Blomers of North Holland was on second by virtue of a fielder's choice and Kapinga was on first after an error by Second Baseman De Neff of Hart & Cooley. The stage was set.

Dr. Barrett said the quarantine and vaccinations have had a marked effect on the rabies epidemic. The department officially listed 16 cases.

He also pointed to action taken by the Board of Supervisors recently requiring proof of rabies immunization or vaccination before owners may obtain new dog licenses.

Advertising Book Cites Fifty Top Paper Campaigns

Tenth Anniversary Edition Documents Significant Drives

Fifty advertisers won acclaim from the newspaper industry this week with the inclusion of their 1947 and early 1948 campaigns in the 10th anniversary edition of "The Blue Book of Newspaper Advertising," published annually by the bureau of advertising, American Newspaper Publishers association.

The new volume "offers impressive additional evidence of the reasons why national advertisers are making by far the largest investment in newspaper space on record," Harold S. Barnes said. He is acting director.

In 1947, the primary period covered by Blue Book campaigns, national advertisers put more than $369,000,000 into newspaper space, while their 1948 investment is running at an annual rate over $400,000,000, Barnes noted.

Chosen from campaigns submitted in answer to the bureau's annual invitation for entries, the case histories making up the 1948 volume embrace the work of 38 different agencies in 15 classifications of national advertising.

In scope, the 50 campaigns range from a corporation with a schedule of 1,578 newspapers to two companies test campaign, each employing only a single daily. In space-size, they go from the 14-line reader-style copy and the 70-line cartoons to full pages. Frequency ranges all the way up to a schedule of two or three times a week for 52 weeks. The range of techniques is equally broad.

Grocery product advertising again led in number of honored campaigns with 14 campaigns selected for inclusion. Automotive advertisers were second with eight; liquor, wine and beer third with five campaigns cited in the book. Industrial followed with four, transportation with three. Other classifications included were drug products, electrical, government, housing equipment and supplies, insurance, publications, public utilities, tobacco and wearing apparel.

Published as aids to more effective advertising, The Blue Book case histories capsule the objective, method and results of each campaign. Reproductions of representative ads are used to illustrate each story.

Many of the latest crop of campaign successes, the Bureau pointed out, show actual applications of the newspaper industry's now famed "All Business Is Local" concept of marketing.

The introductory campaigns of five new products were awarded places under the grocery products classification.

Full-page editorial-style ads was the introductory method adopted by one company. Cigar smokers were introduced via teaser copy to a new packaging method.

So marked was the success of an oil company's public relations test campaign in New Jersey that after one month it was extended over the entire marketing area.

An automobile company with full-page ads in 1,248 newspapers across the country, drew more than 4,000,000 people to its dealers' showrooms on "Introduction Day" of their 1948 car.

One-half million tons of wire are made into nails in the U.S. each year.

Local backers are confident their candidate will make a good showing in the primary election Sept. 14. They point to Ford's accomplishment in civic organizations in Grand Rapids.

Only State Farm offers the all-in-one policy. It is easy to read and understand.

The policy covers infants for $1,000 the second year. It is available to both men and women up to 65 years of age.

Mr. Van Lente also is representative for the Illinois Mutual Casualty Co. of Peoria, Ill. He handles every type of insurance including accident, health, family hospitalization, life and automobile insurance. He has represented State Farm for more than 21 years.

Ford Backers Confer On Campaign Issues

Jerry Ford, young Grand Rapids attorney, spent the day contacting local leaders to get suggestions for his campaign. Ford, a one-time Michigan football star and a veteran of World War II, opposes incumbent Bartel Jonkman for a seat in the United States House of Representatives.

Local backers are confident their candidate will make a good showing in the primary election Sept. 14. They point to Ford's accomplishment in civic organizations in Grand Rapids.

Heart Attack Fatal for Grand Rapids Man

Grand Haven, Sept. 2 (Special) — Ivan Franklin McLenthian, 51, of 4600 River Bend, Dr., Grand Rapids, died in Grand Haven about 8:30 p.m. Sunday following a heart attack. He was enroute to his home, with his wife and four children, after spending the day at Grand Haven oval.

He complained of finding it difficult to breathe and pulled off to the side of the road on Beach Tree St. An ambulance was called and he died before being admitted to Municipal hospital.

Surviving are the wife, Bessie and 10 children, eight daughters and two sons.

Allegan Farmer Marks Own Grave

Allegan, Sept. 2 — Leroy Irwin, 92, is taking no chances on having an unfinished gravestone when he dies. He has claimed the right to record his own death.

The gravestone at Hudson cemetery is marked: Leroy F. Irwin, 1856-1950. Whether or not he dies before or after 1950 doesn't bother Irwin. Important to him is the fact that he can die knowing he has a finished gravestone.

Probably the reason Irwin is particular about the grave markings of him and his wife, Eva M., who died in 1947, is the fact that his father's gravestone in Pawnee is not inscribed and he is unable to locate his mother's grave in Kent county. But he's taking care of that. He is planning to put up another monument alongside his own with his parents' names on it, despite the fact that they aren't buried there.

Irwin, who is in ill health now, had planned to go to Cuba in December because he hates the sight of snow drafts. Now he doubts that he'll get to see the coffee plantations and sugar cane but he's satisfied to know that he'll lie beneath a finished gravestone.

The Scollen generation has been attending the local college for many years.

Dr. Scollen has written articles in many leading medical magazines. He is a member of the Association for the Study of Internal Secretions, the New England Dermatological society, the American Speech Correction society, the Maine Medical association, the Cumberland County Medical society, the American Medical association, the New England Society of Psychiatry, the American College of Allergy and the Disabled American Veterans of "World War I."

Dr. Scollen says, "I am running for election to the United States Senate on the Democratic ticket because I believe that a conscientious physician, as a member of the United States Senate has an even greater opportunity of service to his fellow men. I believe that we need physicians in our government. It is a sick world."

To Serve in China Tysse Invites Visits to Shop

The Holland Radio and Appliance Co., offers radio service backed by years of experience. Requirements necessary for certification and bonding insure the best possible radio receiver maintenance, and the company is qualified to give excellent advice on the newer developments in radio and electronics.

There still are areas in the country where frequency modulation is not worth what it costs in view of what the customer is led to expect from it. It is even more true of television. It will pay the prospective owner to seek the advice of an expert as to the cost of the equipment he wants and what it will involve in construction and cost completely installed, and also what he can expect in the way of performance. Much equipment that will operate in metropolitan areas may be almost worthless in other areas. Mr. Tysse will be glad to discuss this with any one interested, without obligation.

You will also find a complete line of Universal appliances here, and the selection of this equipment and the other old name lines displayed for sale at this shop, is based on years of experience in this field. The shop is located at 448 Washington Square and you will find parking problems here much less severe than in the downtown areas. A wide selection of shopping facilities are concentrated in this neighborhood shopping district. You are invited by the friendly merchants in this area to explore them.

Mr. Tysse also announced that Ruth Kimber 109 West 19th St. won the top award for all Heinz employees for the month of July. She received $98.60 for her suggestion relating to the pickle quarter slicing machine.

Wac Capt. Hazel Ver Hey shows her father, Nick Ver Hey, an antique gold clock which the local girl brought home from China. Meanwhile, Mrs. Ver Hey holds $10,000,000 Chinese currency which is equivalent to $1 in American money. Among other souvenirs she brought back to this country are several pieces of hand-made linens, watches and embroidered pieces.

Heat Doesn't Bother Returned Wac Officer

"I don't mind this warm weather much," said Wac Capt. Hazel Ver Hey of 36 East 26th St., who is home after 27 months in China. She said this hot spell isn't as bad as the searing temperatures on such South Pacific islands as Guam and Wake where the boat stopped en route to San Francisco.

The local girl was attached to an Army group advising the Nationalists in Nanking, China. Although the operations of the American group are veiled by a curtain of military secrecy, Capt. Ver Hey said all China is in turmoil.

She told of how Chinese people live on a diet of rice. At times they have a few vegetables and are able to eke out some meat now and then. However, it is a case of rich persons eating good and the poorer classes are near starvation all the time.

Capt. Ver Hey debunked all these pictures and articles of Chinese people carrying their money in wheelbarrows and other carts. She explained the Chinese people always carry briefcases for their money and papers, but these wheelbarrow pictures are just propaganda.

The local girl was with a group of several Americans who were granted an audience with President Chiang Kai-shek. He appeared to be an amiable host on that occasion, she said. Miss Ver Hey said everything in China is strictly by formal invitation.

Capt. Ver Hey has seen Madame Chiang on several occasions. She said when the American group first arrived in the Chinese capital, the Madame was a frequent visitor. But her visits have been more widely spaced in recent months.

Miss Ver Hey said there are only a few Americans in the Chinese capital.

She left Shanghai July 21 aboard a Navy transport for the trip home. After brief stops at Guam, Wake and the Hawaiian Islands, the ship docked at San Francisco Aug. 18. Capt. Ver Hey flew from Frisco to Grand Rapids in less than 14 hours.

She will have a 30-day furlough at home and is awaiting orders for re-assignment in the meantime. Capt. Ver Hey said she doubts if she will be sent overseas for at least another six months or more.

She brought many souvenirs from China including several pieces of hand-made linens. However, one of her most prized possessions is the Breast Order of Yun Hui with ribbon.

All-Star Nine Beats Dutchmen On Two Errors

Bright Fielding Plays By Invaders Highlights Monday Night's Game

Two errors and a passed ball spelled out a 4-3 defeat for the Flying Dutchmen Monday night against the Lansing All-Stars.

The Capital city nine scored two of its four runs on miscues by the locals and another on a passed ball. Holland pushed across one of their runs after a wild pitch.

The All-Stars went into the lead their first time at bat. Reisser was safe on an error by Harold Van Wieren, went to second on a sacrifice by Coryell and took third when Al Hanson banged out a base hit. Reisser scored after Loren Wenzel dropped Don Mulder's throw to the plate.

Both teams went scoreless in the second, third and fourth innings. The Lansing nine added another run in their fifth on hits by Reisser and Nicol.

Holland bounded back with one run in their fifth. Mulder walked and went to second on Harry De Neff's single. Both runners advanced a base when Tony Wentzel walked. Mulder then rattled the Lansing pitcher enough to cause a wild pitch and came running across the plate.

The All-Stars scored again in their sixth on one hit, a sacrifice, a walk and an error by Wlodarczyk. The Dutchmen came back with their second run by virtue of hits by Van Wieren and Wlodarczyk, an error by the shortstop and a fielder's choice.

Each team scored in the eighth inning to make the final count 4-3.

Ralph Nicol, on the mound for the All-Stars, received credit for the win and Mike Skaalen was the losing hurler. Kenny Skidmore was behind the plate for the winners and Wenzel did the receiving for the Dutchmen.

Reisser and Hanson each collected three hits for Lansing while Van Wieren and Skaalen were the big guns at the plate for the locals with two hits apiece.

BPW Says Thanks To Citizens for Help in Drought

Board of Public Works officials said thank-you to local citizens Friday for co-operation during the sprinkling restriction. They said it was helping the situation during the hot spell and at the same time asked for continued aid in cutting water use.

Officials said they have been pumping more than 5,000,000 gallons of water a day. This is a record figure for local water pumping. The pumps on East Eighth St. have been in operation 24 hours a day.

At the same time BPW officials explained the local water supply situation.

The supply project is the result of a five-year study by BPW officials, consulting engineers, the U. S. Geological survey and the Michigan Conservation commission.

The entire Holland area was surveyed by making test wells and there is enough water in grounds in this area for any future use. This is the opinion of the BPW and the other agencies which were called in to give advice.

Officials explained that discovery of wells in the area near the city is adequate for any future need. This takes into consideration future expansion.

The project as it was accepted during the war has been plagued by material shortages and high costs since it was started.

The present well capacity, together with new wells on the overall proposed water supply project, will take care of demands of a population 50 per cent larger than present local needs.

According to officials it was decided to go ahead with the project only after careful study, testing, advice and research. Several water supply engineers have been retained from time to time for their opinions.

Material shortages of pumps, pipelines, fittings and other necessary items have held up work on the project. Pipeline to connect the three new wells on East Eighth St. were ordered 10 months before it arrived. The big pumps that are used by the city water works are specifically engineered and built according to specifications for each project.

Officials said their present course of supplying water was the result of study of several methods. The idea of getting water from Lake Michigan was vetoed for several reasons.

It was found Lake Michigan water would not be as good as the present water. Cost of such a project would be more than 50 per cent above the cost of the project now underway.

"We are positively satisfied with the present project and we know we are right in our source of supply. We are not trying to be demanding by imposing the restriction. Our first and foremost concern is for the welfare of the people, their health and any fire emergencies," officials said.

A balloon ascension was tops in aerial thrills in grandpa's day, and a big bag heading skyward is still quite a sight. Youngsters attending the Holland Furnace picnic last night saw Don Wood of Muncie, Ind., ascend 2,000 feet before parachuting to earth. Arrow points to Wood as he was snatched from the ground when ropes were released.

Throngs Jam Grounds For Company Outing

An estimated 3,000 persons ate chicken, watched a balloon ascension, a daredevil driving show and a fireworks display at the annual Holland Furnace company picnic Friday night at the company's picnic grounds. The picnic is an annual event for employees and their families.

Stacks of dinner boxes vanished in a matter of minutes after the "come and get it" signal was given to begin eating at 6 p.m. As a sidelight, three hamburg and hot dog frying stoves did a rushing business.

The picnickers moved to the bleachers in front of the newly built track after supper to witness a balloon ascension by Don Wood of Muncie, Ind. The parachute jumper cut loose from the huge bag at about 2,000 feet in the air and his parachute opened and guided down. It landed in a tree about one-half mile from the starting point.

The main attraction of the driving show was a car going up an incline, leaping a 50 foot gap, and landing on another incline.

The clowns kept the crowd laughing between daredevil acts. A fireworks display came after the thrill show.

According to sheriff's officers, more than 750 cars were parked in the newly constructed parking lot at the picnic grounds. Ten deputies were on hand to handle the parking.

Cooks, who prepared the meals, said they served 3,000 chickens, 1,200 hot dogs, 2,000 hamburgs, 100 cases of soft drinks, 150 gallons of potato salad, and large amounts of celery, pickles, beans, hard-boiled eggs and coffee.

As an anti-climax to the picnic, the Holland township fire department was called to the grounds at 12:20 a.m. to extinguish a brush pile blaze. Firemen said they stayed on the scene for 3½ hours, due to the difficulty in getting to the root of the blazing pile. They said there was little danger involved, although the sparks flew high in the air, which might have ignited in some other spot.

As many as 5,000 cars were unable to find parking space here and several thousands in Holland. In Holland, the trailer spaces were filled every day and many were turned away to park elsewhere until an opening was available.

Zeeland Chix Whip All-Stars In Benefit Game

Holland Team Held Scoreless for Eight Innings by Ver Hey

Ernie Victor, starting hurler for the locals, was forced to leave the game in the fifth inning in order to get to work. It was then that the Zeeland nine began their barrage of hits which meant the winning margin.

The invaders loosened a six-hit attack in their sixth which netted six runs and made the score 8-0. Zeeland scored its first two runs in the third frame on two hits, a walk and a stolen base.

In the big sixth inning, Wyn-garden led off with a single, S. Schrotenboer was out third to first. Roelofs walked and Fortney singled. Pitcher Bill Ver Hey also singled as did Derks and Walters. The rally was enough to send the Zeelanders far into the lead which they never gave up.

They added their final three tallies in their seventh on two hits, two walks and an error. The local All-Stars pushed across their two lone runs in the last half of the ninth inning. Two hits and two errors were enough to net the two tallies.

Bill Ver Hey was on the mound for the Zeelanders and he held the Holland star-studded lineup scoreless for eight innings, allowing nine hits along the route. Walters was behind the plate.

For Holland, Victor started, was relieved by Carl Reimink in the fifth. Kehrwecker relieved Reimink in the ninth.

Con Boeve was the standout player in the outfield for the local nine and Lou Humbert played inspired infield ball.

Boeve also led both teams in the hitting department with three safeties in four times at the plate. Jerry Witteveen collected two hits in four times at bat for the locals.

For the winning Zeelanders Derks, J. Roelofs, Wyn-garden and Fortney each had two hits.

An estimated 600 persons paid to see the benefit game sponsored by the Lions club for their Boy's league. It was in this Boy's league that most of the All-Stars got their start in baseball.

Salesman Faces Larceny Charge In Justice Court

Arthur Lee, 19, of Montreal, Que., was arraigned before Justice George V. Hoffer Wednesday on a charge of larceny of more than $50. He waived examination.

Lee, who has been employed as a magazine salesman out of South Bend, Ind., was working with a companion from door-to-door in Polkton township Tuesday afternoon. He called at the home of Charles Jewell, route 2, Coopersville.

After knocking several times, he discovered nobody was in the house. He sent his companion across the road to call at another house and went into the Jewell house. He took a wallet from a dresser drawer which contained $948.

In about one-half hour Jewell, who had been working behind the barn, came into the house to get the pocketbook with intentions of going to town and buying some articles, and discovered the wallet was gone.

He notified Sheriff's officers who checked the road and found out the name of Lee's companion. They traced the two men to a cabin north of North Muskegon.

Officers, with the aid of three Muskegon Sheriff's officers, went to the cabin and found Lee. They recovered $948. Three dollars had been spent.

It was found Lee is an alien and his three-day visa from Canada expired July 28. It is possible federal authorities may be called into the case, officers said.

Cattle Raisers Given Tips by MSC Specialist

Advises Farmers to Market While Prices High, Demand Great

Fat cows and heifers and heavy bulls intended for slaughter may well be marketed any time now while prices are high and demand is great, advises George A. Branaman, animal husbandry specialist at Michigan State college.

Sometimes steers and heifers are kept on the farm after grass is short and dry and there may be actual loss in weight. Prices for slaughter cattle off grass will doubtless drop some in weeks to come, Branaman believes.

Second growth in hay fields is often used best by opening the gate and allowing cattle to go back and forth from the dry pasture. September rains are expected to start the grass again and additional gains on unfinished cattle continue until hard frosts and freezing. Cattle quit gaining and often lose weight after hard frosts. Cattle started on feed early will help ease the meat situation and also get in ahead of more liberal runs of hogs.

It is often best to start feeding green corn in the milk stage, or to feed oats, barley and wheat, rather than to allow cattle to drift or lose weight on exhausted pastures. Most complete use of a corn crop is obtained when fed green from the field after the corn has been dented, Branaman advises. Cattle men in some Michigan areas turn steers into the corn field when kernels are well dented and they have been well pleased with the results for several years.

Extremely heavy runs of cattle on the market are not expected unless severe drought areas develop. Herds have been culled closely with breeding stock sold out completely in some cases. The specialist concludes that grass cattle will soon be coming to market more liberally; but if a big corn crop eludes drought and frost, there will doubtless be strong demand for feeder cattle.

Lack of Rainfall Damaging Crops

Lack of rainfall has caused a tremendous loss to farmers of Ottawa county, according to L. R. Arnold, agricultural agent. Prospects for crops were of the best two or three weeks ago. Hundreds of acres of corn and pickles are in bad condition. Of course other crops such as tomatoes, melon and beans on the upland are suffering likewise.

Crops on the lower soils are doing well and some bumper crops of corn are in prospect. In other cases pickles on lower soils are still looking good.

More and more farmers are thinking of irrigation. In several cases farmers who have irrigated this year are doing well. The Carmody farm, Marne, is an outstanding example. The Carmody put in irrigation in 1947. It has paid off. It would be difficult to find a finer stand of potatoes than is present on this farm. Miner Langeland, Lamont, is getting fine results on his 10 to 15 acres of sweet corn. His new irrigation system will go far toward paying off its cost in a single year. Without water he never could have secured such a fine crop as is now being harvested.

Arnold says that he has had several inquiries about irrigation of farms. He urges farmers to visit farmers who have installed irrigation systems. Some blueberry growers are much interested. Two plantations now have irrigation systems at work. Right now the blueberries are putting on their annual wood growth. Moisture is the determining factor.

Government Worrying About Grain Storage

Washington - The government has quit worrying about where to get grain. Its biggest headache now is where to store this year's bumper crop.

Some Agriculture Department experts fear an acute shortage of grain storage space will endanger the government's price support program and result in millions of dollars worth of grain going to waste.

Congress, which had a big hand in creating the present situation, probably will be asked to do something about it when the legislators return in January.

FLY FREE DATE

The heaviest fly free date of Allegan county is Sept. 20. Wheat sown ahead of this date may be infested with the fly which causes considerable damage to wheat. The list of certified wheat growers is in the County Extension office. Growers may consult this list for sources of certified wheat and rye seed.

OLD VEGETABLE

Eleanor Laich, 17 year old New Haven, Mich., 4-H Club leader, will enter her fine specimen vegetables in the forthcoming Michigan State Fair and Exposition, to be held in Detroit Sept. 3 through 12.

Bean Harvest Plans Should Be Made Now

The 1948 field bean crop has been going through trying conditions throughout the growing season but the answer to whether the harvest will be good, fair or poor will come soon.

H. R. Pettigrove, field bean specialist at Michigan State college, advises farmers to make their choice of harvesting method now.

He points out that the field stacking method is perhaps the surer way, but many growers feel it is a rather hard and tedious job. Some prefer to combine from a windrow and others bring beans to the barn for threshing.

Well-built bean stacks provide effective insurance against weather damage, and threshing can be done when convenient.

Beans that are windrowed with some green leaves usually require at least three or more days of curing before threshing. This means taking chances with the weather during that period. Beans that become wet in the windrow discolor and more cutting is necessary. Harvesting and stacking can be done at the same time, with the beans immediately placed in condition to withstand unfavorable weather.

Prepare early after you decide the method to use, Pettigrove says. If you plan to stack your beans in the field, be sure to get your posts and equipment ready. If you are going to combine from the windrows, be certain your combine is ready and available when you need it.

Late planting and dry conditions may cause the bean crop in some areas to be very late. Pulling and stacking bean plants before frost will result in a nice white bean, even though the post may be green when pulled. If the beans are fully developed there will be no shrinking of the crop.

Advocates Check of Fire Extinguishers

A reminder to check your fire extinguisher in September is given by Fred Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college.

Fire hazards increase during the winter months, Roth points out. The weather following Labor Day is still generally favorable enough for overhauling heating plants and for making sure that all fire protection equipment is in good order.

The specialist lists three basic rules to keep in mind in checking extinguishers. First, be sure it is an approved extinguisher, which means a unit that comes up to standards endorsed by Underwriters' Laboratories or Factory Mutual Laboratories. Second, be sure you have the right extinguisher for various hazards on your property. And third, be sure the extinguisher is in good operating condition at all times.

Junior Show at Fair Promises to Be Large

Livestock exhibits in the Junior show at the Michigan State fair are expected to be the largest since the war. E. D. Farwell, Michigan State college animal husbandry specialist, says that exhibitors may be either 4-H, or FHA boys and girls under 21 years of age.

Several new classes of hogs, lambs, and steers have been added this year. Production records kept on sows, ewes, and cows will be used in judging the production record classes.

A new feature this year will be a style revue by the 4-H and FHA girls as an evening attraction in the bandshell.

Michigan Farm Youth Gathering For Annual Show

This week promises to be a big one for 1,500 of Michigan's rural youth as they gather at Michigan State college for the 33rd annual state 4-H club show.

The young people are arriving in East Lansing today, bringing with them 1,500 head of livestock and countless other exhibits which they have worked on. Other exhibit classifications are home economics, canning, handicraft, gardening, flowers, crops, and achievement booths.

Livestock, other than horses, will be housed in the new Macklin Field stadium. Horses will be in the saddle horse barn and judging pavilion. Poultry will be shown in the poultry building on MSC's south campus. All other exhibits will be housed in the college auditorium. The week-long program will be highlighted by the judging of the exhibits that the boys and girls bring to MSC.

Plenty of entertainment has been planned. Two evening programs will be presented on Wednesday and Thursday nights. The 4-H style revue, with girls modeling complete costumes they have made, will be a feature of Thursday evening's program.

The young people will have an opportunity to demonstrate other skills. Special events planned include a plowing contest, sheep shearing contest, archery, and horse handling exhibitions.

The show will conclude on Friday.

Classes are offered for ewe and ram fleeces of each of the purebred breeds, and also classes for each of the six market grades of wool. Special prizes are offered for a county exhibit made up of eight fleeces from at least four different flocks from a county.

Blank reports that top fleeces from the Michigan show will be selected for the International Wool show at Chicago.

An educational exhibit of wool and woolen materials is also planned.

Apple Market Hit By Poor Grading

The Michigan bureau of marketing and enforcement is cracking down on growers, wholesalers and retailers who fail to comply with statutes governing sale of apples, Robert C. Blackburn told The Sentinel today.

"We estimate that apple growers lost between half a million and a million dollars last year because Michigan apples got a reputation for failure to make grade. We want to protect that market and will insist that growers and sellers grade and mark their product," Blackburn said.

Latest to pay a fine is Sam Wark, Fennville grower, who was fined $25 and $35 costs for selling apples in unbranded containers. The fine was imposed by Justice J. J. Jonkerman of Saugatuck. This case completed a transaction from grower to retailer of 60 bushels of apples grown by Wark. The wholesaler, H. Steenwyk of Holland, paid a fine for transporting the apples and failing to give an apple advertising stamp and the retailer, H. Brinks, Holland, was fined for selling the unbranded apples.

"All these men are experienced in fruit handling and know the law," Blackburn said.

Pasture-Fed Pigs Gain Much Faster

Experiments demonstrated that pasture-fed pigs gain 17 per cent faster on 15 per cent less feed than pigs fed on a concrete floor. Not only does the use of pasture save feed but sanitation is improved and manure is added to the soil.

To make maximum use of pasture in swine production it is necessary to start grazing early in the spring and continue late in the fall and early winter. August-born rye, seeded at the rate of one and one-half bushels an acre, has proved excellent for extending the pasture season.

Experiments also have shown that the vitamins and minerals stored by sows and pigs on rye pasture late in the fall prevent troubles that often occur in winter feeding. Sows and pigs will even root under the snow to get forage.

The use of rye pasture makes it possible to furnish pasture for hogs about nine months out of the year. An acre of rye pasture has provided forage for 25 growing pigs in the fall and five sows with their pigs in the spring.

Seek Pine Cones To Supply Seed

The expanded reforestation program on farms has created a tremendous demand for tree seed in Michigan, according to W. Ira Bull, Michigan State college forester.

He reports that in order to grow the planting stock needed for farmers, the MSC Forestry department must have large quantities of seed from most of the native coniferous species. These include white pine, red pine, jack pine, and white spruce. This seed will be purchased in the cones by the bushel or extracted seed will be bought by the pound, Bull reports.

This year prices which MSC will pay for the cones are: red pine, $8 per bushel; white pine, $1.50 per bushel; jack pine, $2.50 per bushel; and white spruce $7 per bushel.

Other coniferous seed needed by the Forestry department include Balsam fir, white cedar, Norway spruce, and Scots pine.

Cones collected in the Upper Peninsula should be delivered to Maurice Day, director of the Dunbar Forest Experiment station. In lower Michigan, cones will be handled by W. Ira Bull, Forestry department, Michigan state college.

Flames Consume Trailers, Shed

What started out to be a small fire to burn some papers, spread into a blaze which caused an estimated $2,800 damage Saturday afternoon at 182 East 38th St., between 38th and 39th Sts.

Two house trailers, a temporary lumber shed, and several feet of lumber were consumed by the flames. Clifford Harrington was the owner of the destroyed property.

Harrington praised the efforts of neighbors in the area who swarmed to the scene with hoses, buckets and milk cans full of water to help fight the fire. He said a jeep with 10 milk cans full of water came one-half mile to give aid.

Harrington said the neighbors helped check the flames which threatened to spread to some nearby buildings. The buildings contained lumber, plumbing fixtures and other valuable equipment.

Dry grass in the area was blamed for the fire.
