Biography

Albertus Pieters was born February 5, 1869, at Alto, Wisconsin. His parents were Rev. and Mrs. Reolf Pieters. Hope College awarded him an A.B. degree in 1887 and an A.M. degree in 1890. The Western Theological Seminary awarded Pieters a D.D. degree in 1891.

In that same year, Pieters and his wife, Emma (Hope College, 1887), departed the U.S. as missionaries to Japan. While practicing evangelism in Japan by word and newspaper, the Pieterses had six children, two of whom died, while two more developed debilitating illnesses. Forced by circumstances to return to America in 1923, Pieters accepted the chair in Bible at Hope College (1923-1926), and the Dosker-Hulswit professorship of English Bible and Missions at the Western Theological Seminary (1926-1939). He wrote at least six theological books, and died in 1955.
