The Abuse of Appetite.

The appetite is one of the least appreciated of Nature's gifts to man. It is generally regarded in this workaday world as something to be either stuffed or starved—to be gotten rid of at all events with the least inconvenience possible. There are people who are not only glad that they have been endowed with sound, healthy bodies, for which nature demands refreshment and replenishment, but they are actually ashamed to have it known that they are sustained in the usual manner. The reason of this we are at a loss to conceive. Everybody admires beauty, and there can be no true beauty without good health, and no good health without a regular and unvarying appetite. We are disinclined to let appetite take any responsibility on itself. If we happen to consider it too delicate we try to coax it with highly-seasoned or fancifully-prepared food. There are times when this may seem necessary, as in case of a person so debilitated as to depend for daily strength on what he eats. But, usually, the cajoling process is a mistake. If the appetite of an individual in fair bodily condition be occasionally slender, it is no cause for alarm, and it should be allowed to regulate itself. It may be safely considered Nature's protest against some transgression, and it is wise not to attempt coercion.

At certain seasons, as in spring and summer, the appetite of even the most robust is apt to fail, and the relish for meats and heavy food to wane. This is all right enough, for animal diet in warm weather heats the blood, tends to headache, and is generally unwholesome, unless sparingly used. On the other hand, fresh berries, fruit and bread are cooling, corrective, and what the palate most craves. Don't be afraid to go without meat for a month or so, and, if you like, live purely on a vegetable regimen. We will warrant you will lose no more strength than is common to the time, and that you will not suffer from protracted heat, as when dining on the regular roast.

Many persons regard a hearty desire for food as something unrefined, indelicate, and to be constantly discouraged. This is a greater and more harmful mistake than that of coaxing the appetite. It is just as necessary for the man who works only with his brain to eat beef and mutton as for the man who labors solely with hands. The stomach and the brain are twins; the former being the elder, and having the prior right to care. Let that be well provided for, and it will sustain its brother. The people who strive to check a wholesome and natural appetite, are the people who regard dinner merely as a feed, not the center of an agreeable sociable custom and as the domestic event of the day. We are sorry for the them, as they must regard eating at all as a solemn and prosaic duty, obligatory on them because they have a bias in favor of living. We all know that we must eat to live, but we by no means live to eat because we enjoy what we eat. We are not gourmands because we relish chops, nor are we invalids because we want strawberries.

A good appetite is a good thing; but not if it is to be worried by urging or by neglect.

THE PEABODY SHELL.—Newspaper readers will remember that on the morning of the 1st of April last the daily journals printed a telegraphic dispatch, alleging that the grave of the late George Peabody had been broken into and the coffin desecrated by the removal of the silver handles, name-plate, and other costly mountings. The announcement was widely circulated by the telegraphic wires and newspapers; and, although it was all fool's day nobody dreamed that it was untrue. The same instruments that gave the report circulation were busy the next day announcing that it was an April Fool's hoax. Every effort was made to discover the author of the sell, but without success, and probably he would forever remained unknown had not the rascal himself confessed it on his death-bed. The Boston Trav- eller thus reveals the mystery: "Thos. Appleton, who was the originator of this hoax, died at Providence, R. I., some weeks ago, but before his death he confessed his guilt, and explained the manner of its commission. For a number of weeks he said he had been pondering over the question how he could inflict a stupendous hoax upon the country. This thing, that thing, and the other were thought of and found impracticable, until finally, he wrote the dispatch mentioned above. The next step in the plan was to send the dispatch to the office of the New England agent of the Associated Press, which, with the aid of a salem lady was sent; and unsuspectingly the employees of the Boston office of the Associated Press, besides manifolding it for every Boston paper, sent it far and wide. As has been stated, there was a great hue and cry to discover the author of the hoax, but those few who were let into the secret deemed it best to remain silent. Now, however, that he is dead, and the obligation removed there can be no objection to the publication of the details, even though it reflect some discredit upon his memory. Whatever may be thought of the cruelty of the hoax, there can be no question that it proved a great success, humbugging two-thirds of the newspapers on both sides of the Atlantic."

What is Under the House?

One great fault in building houses in both city and country is to make them too low on the ground. There should be distance enough to allow a free circulation of air, say three feet between the floor and earth. All rubbish, shavings etc. should be cleaned away before siding up, and a good ventilation should be kept open to insure dry, sweet air under the floor. Much sickness is caused in many families from low underpinning and close, damp, stagnant air, carrying miasma into the floors of dwellings. Many houses are built on flat ground, the earth thrown around the outside, making a sink under the house to hold water. This is wrong. It is much better to raise the ground under the house, and even gravel or cement before building. At any rate ventilation under the house should always be attended to. We do not believe in cellars under the house in our climate, but wherever there is a cellar, it should be open, and always kept clean of decaying substances. Guard against the enemies of health that lurk under the house. Cellars are the greatest nuisances we have. There is no excuse for them. Build conservatories on the ice-house plan, instead.

The prizes were distributed at the Imperial Riding School, by the Archduke Ramer, at one o'clock, who, facing the other Archdukes, read a short address, in reply to which Archduke Charles Louis stated that he had received his Majesty's command to publicly have read a list of names of exhibitors to whom diplomas had been allotted by jurors. Baron Schwarze then read the list and returned thanks.

THE UPPER AIR CURRENT.—The scientists are not agreed as to an easterly air current over the temperate zones. Prof. Newton has written a letter to the Graphic in regard to the transatlantic balloon trip, which by no means endorses the theory. The learned Professor begins at the upper limits of the atmosphere and argues downward. His reasoning is based on the phenomena attending the passage of meteors through the air. They enter the atmosphere at a height of seventy miles, and usually disappear at a height of forty miles. Sometimes the train is visible for several minutes. When this is the case, it assumes the form of the letter S, indicating that it comes in contact with currents of air moving in different directions. The average altitude of these trains is fifty miles, and the average length from five to ten miles. At the bottom of the atmosphere the movement of the clouds show ever varying air currents. Between the highest clouds and the lowest meteor train lies an unknown region, in regard to which we know nothing from actual observation. This is the general drift of Prof. Newton's interesting argument, which closes as follows: "But it seems to me more rational to suppose that the complex system of currents at the bottom of the atmosphere is in direct connection with that at the top, and that there is a little complex system of currents and winds, throughout the intermediate space. Of course the general drifting of the air in the temperate zone to the east is unquestioned."

To Remove Stains.

If you have been picking or handling any acid fruit, and have stained your hands, wash them in clean water, wipe them lightly, and while they are yet moist, strike a match and shuf your hands around it so as to catch the smoke, and the stains will disappear. If you have stained your muslin or gingham dress, or your white pants with berries, before wetting them with anything else, pour boiling water through the stains and they will disappear. Before fruit juice dries, it can often be removed by cold water, using a sponge and towel if necessary. Rubbing the fingers with the inside of the narings of apples will remove the most of the stain caused by paring. Ink, also, if washed out or sopped up from the carpet with cold water immediately when it is spilled, can be almost entirely removed. Ink spots on floors can be extracted by scouring with sand, wetted in oil of vitrol and water. When the ink is removed, rinse with strong pearlsh water.

Don't Crowd Your Trees.

Few persons escape making the great mistake of planting trees too close together. This is especially observable in a majority of cases, where trees are planted in groups upon the lawn. While the trees are small they look too scattering, therefore, few persons can withstand the temptation of crowding them on account of the improved appearance at the time of planting, forgetting that in a few years a portion must be removed (which is seldom ever done), or all will be ruined. Evergreens, in particular, are as a rule planted too close, and the deformed specimens to be seen in both public and private grounds in all parts of the country show the folly of this sort of practice. The trees are planted when only four feet high and half as broad, but a half dozen years makes a wonderful change in size and appearance, and unless planted ten or twenty, or more feet apart, their branches become interlaced, and the symmetrical beauty of each crowded specimen destroyed. Give room or plant a less number, is a safe system to follow.—Rural New Yorker.

Wisconsin and Iowa.

These States are about the same in size and age. In 1860 Wisconsin was superior in population a hundred thousand. But within the next decade it lost its superiority and came out well 150,000 inferior. The secret of this revolution is that Iowa runs down two degrees further south than Wisconsin, that is, into the grand agricultural belt into which American population is irresistibly gravitating. There is no other obvious reason why migration should set from Wisconsin to Iowa, rather than from Iowa to Wisconsin. But the course and amount of that migration are remarkable. In 1870 the Wisconsinites living in Iowa were 24,300, while the Iowans living in Wisconsin were less than one-tenth as many, namely, 2,423. This Wisconsin exodus to Iowa has mainly grown up since 1860, when the natives of Wisconsin living in Iowa were only 5,121, less by more than 19,000 than the number ten years afterwards.

But Iowa is now full. No more public land there. None that is desirable has been for years. Nebraska is a new Iowa. Identical in location, or running half a degree further south, of similar soil and rolling prairie, equally healthy, with access to markets both mining and military, westward, and above all with more railroads at the start than Iowa could build in twenty years, Nebraska is born with a gold spoon in her mouth. Nowhere are more homesteaders and pre-emptors hastening. But many who start for government farms, conclude to buy of the the Burlington & Missouri River Railroad Co., finding its lands near the iron track priced lower than school lands, on long credit, low interest, accessible by free passes, the first pay-day of any part of the principal put off four years, etc., etc.

The Oldest Horse in the World.

Twenty-nine years ago last spring a horse was brought from Vermont to Boston for sale, being then eleven or twelve years old. Strange as it may appear, that horse is still living, and is now forty or forty-one years of age. He was purchased at that time by the late Cyrus Reed of Lexington, and is now owned by his son, John Reed, one mile from the Lexington depot. Notwithstanding his great age, he has been most wonderfully preserved, and is able to perform light work, and is often seen on the road, working as faithfully as he did a quarter of a century ago. He was fortunate to have been born in an age when speed was not the only requisite for a good horse, otherwise his bones might long since have mingled with the dust; but he bids fair to last several years longer. To stand before this venerable old horse and ponder upon the even has passed through, and to realize that he is the only survivor of all the horses born in 1833, makes us feel like paying respect to his age, and calling up on the society with a long name to secure him against all labor in the future.—Our Dumb Animals.

During the past month the number of prisoners received at the State Prison was 14; the number discharged 14. There was only one death, that of a prisoner named John Stinson, who died August 6. Through the clemency of the Executive there was one pardoned—Robert McCrae, who was allowed to depart August 26. The total number of prisoners inside the walls is 626, which is a little below the general average.

OUR SITUATION.

Montesquieu expresses an opinion which doubtless would be strenuously objected to in our day if advanced otherwise than facetiously. "A man is worth what he will sell for, in some countries he is worth nothing; in others less than nothing."

From this it would seem that if production depended upon demand, our homogeneity would be seriously affected by the well-known laws holding good in case of other commodities. The above quotation has, perhaps, occurred to us more forcibly as a quiet spectator, looking upon our local difficulties, than to those more actively engaged in striking the steel.

Among our people who are intimately interested in the present controversy, a great deal of anxiety is being felt relative to the antagonizing positions taken by some of our best citizens, upon the school question, anxiously watching every movement, repeatedly asking what is being done, upon what basis are they acting, or what efforts are they making to settle the difficulty. On the one side are the friends of the old School Board, practically advocating succession of officers, the control of the school by the church, and national jealousies.

We say practically advocating these principles, because they are not substantiated by word, but when results are closely scanned, unmistakable evidence is found that concert of action has elected the officers of our School Boards for many years past, and almost exclusively from one denomination. Such a thing could not happen for a long series of years without concert of action, and concerted action could not so long maintain its unity without a knowledge of what it was for; at least, denominational representatives have been re-elected as members of this School Board for so long a time, that persons outside of that particular denomination thought they saw an object for such proceedings, and began to agitate the question of equal rights, and as the old regime received opposition, it developed itself stronger and stronger, more conclusively showing that they had some scheme to foster, requiring and receiving quite unanimous effort. With these feelings predominating, the school question has become the central idea in conversation.

The culminating point was reached, when the old regime was displaced, and reorganization was effected through Legislative action.

A command from this source had been seriously overlooked, although the precise wording of the new law was known to the old Board, it was permitted to become the law without opposition, after which they seek by learned legal accumen to set it aside upon technical illegal points, paying largely therefor.

The members of the new Board, on the other hand, are claiming to represent and advocate American ideas and institutions, the dismemberment of Church and State, the Constitutional rights of every man, be he saint or sinner, and a more economical administration of school affairs with the people's money.

They are men upon the field of official duty with no previous history to recount. They are also sustained by a learned legal opinion, according with Legislative enactment, and have already got nicely at work in their new harness.

Now the question for the taxpayer of this city to solve is, which legal gentleman's opinion is worth what it sells for, and which is worth less than nothing? Certainly the policy of both parties cannot be sustained.

Both parties have rights to be protected, both undoubtedly have wrongs to be adjudicated. Will a judicial decision, if sought for, correct these evils, and give their rights under the old, or new dispensation?

We can see no reason to hope for anything but a long continued struggle, lasting perhaps for years, from any decision which lawyers may procure.

As to who shall control our school affairs, we have no personal preference, but as to how it shall be done, we are, as parent, guardian, deeply interested, and we care nothing about any prejudices that may be engendered against us because of any action we may take upon this question.

We cannot charge the "Old Board" and their friends as only to blame, we know that many who desired a reform in school matters, persistently neglected to manifest a proper responsibility of their duties by always making it convenient to keep away from school meetings, retaining, however, the right of criticism.

This is an error into which too many have fallen; the apathy formerly manifested by those who are now crying reform we presume was one reason of developing so much strength for the old Board, which was always ready and willing to do as was by them thought best.

It is true that the friends of the "Old Board" would fain have us believe that there is no such issue in controversy that the Reformed Church shall control the schools, or that any efforts have been made with that end in view, and could the opposite party rely upon assertions, they could readily believe there was none, but in impartially reviewing the result of action, which speak louder than words, they think themselves compelled to entertain the idea that there is a slight variation somewhere, that there is a hidden mystery which prompts the difficulty, that the clerical and lay members of some of our Reformed Churches could not become so active in the controversy for the public's good alone.

Denominational selfishness should not be tolerated in the management of our schools. Superstition and pharisaism should be excluded, and he who plays the sycophant for the purpose of gaining favor, is not of those whom we would place in charge of our common schools.

A JOURNEY TO SAUGATUCK.

Correspondence of the Holland City News.

I shall endeavor to explain to the readers of the News, not only what I saw, but what Esau beheld on a recent visit to Saugatuck. Perhaps some malicious persons may venture to insinuate, that even with the aid of a microscope, nothing interesting can be found in said metropolis, to those doubters we will say—amen.

We purchased a ticket via corduroy road and express stage; and, full of hope, esconced ourself among the downy cushions which do not sequester themselves among the recesses of the Holland and Saugatuck stage.

At this stage of the proceedings, we will omit the description of the beautiful scenery through which we passed, the picturesque sand hills, the lovely hemlock stumps, the city of Grapeshot and the attractions peculiar to the region—and imagine ourself seeing the spires of Saugatuck glistening in the sunlight of a summer day, on which we entered its sacred precincts.

To say we were surprised, but feebly expresses the emotions that thrilled our soul, as we ascended a hill and beheld the apology for a blot upon Michigan's civilization at our very feet.

As the stage approached, the natives, attired in their store clothes, rushed to the windows, and out into the street. We had always felt assured that we were a second edition of Adonis, but until this occasion, no other mortal eye entertained the same opinion.

Perhaps we should consider that the admiration came from the untutored dwellers in the wilderness, far from civilization's deleterious influences, and where the roar of the almost omnipresent railroad is never heard, but nevertheless, we thank the first citizens who favored us with a glimpse of their Sunday clothes, and such brilliant and complimentary remarks as "Why! what a mouth!" "What pretty feet he wears!"

Upon a fence by the side of the path we were shocked to behold a board bearing the legend, "Holland St." Now, really, ye wise men of Saugatuck, is not this carrying things too far? We will confess that Holland is not yet, what she will be when the Blast Furnace is completed, but what have we done to merit such disgrace? The fire was bad enough, but to have in addition to that calamity, a Saugatuck foot-path named after her is unendurable.

Turning a corner, we are pained to behold Ben Butler tacked to a fence—his name we mean. This we could survive, for we are now assured that although Massachusetts might elect a man for Governor that "steals spoons," yet the fact of his having his autograph pasted to a Saugatuck rail-fence, would be almost too much for a New Englander.

The procession finally halts in front of a cabin which we are informed is "the hotel," and the following conversation takes place between the driver and a gentleman from Boston, who had the misfortune to be one of the passengers:

"What hovel is these?"

"This is the hotel, sir."

"Are you sure this is a hotel, Mr. Driver?"

"Yes sir, this is the X—House, the best in the city, sir; why do you ask?"

"Well, if this wigwam is the hotel, for Heaven's sake drive me to the Court House."

"I don't know what you want," murmured the driver faintly, but his voice was lost in the Boston gentleman's pathetic sympathy for a town with such a gorgeous hotel, which he was quoting freely from the Sunday School books.

We sadly entered the hotel, although the landlord was forced to take refuge from the Boston man's wrath upon the roof. After devouring a dinner that would have done justice (?) to Delmonico, the Boston man invited us to indulge in a walk. We wandered down to the river, where we met a delegation of citizens, who had loaded an old steamboat with flags and banners, and who wished to show us their beautiful river. The Boston man had looked with weeping eyes upon the vast multitude assembled to do us honor, and now whispered:

"Friends! Countrymen! and Lovers!"

Every eye was upon him as he anxiously added, "Is this a river, and does it run?"

A thousand voices answered, "It does!"

With two diminutive tears dimming his wild blue eye, he murmured, "Anything that can run, and don't get out of this barbarous country I don't want to ride on."

The multitude slowly dispersed, and we walked back to where the stage starts from for Holland. We did not attempt to discover any more beauties in the city, although the Boston man had the editor of the Saugatuck "Howler" brought to him, and thusly conversed with said editor:

"Are you a man?"

"Yes sir, although your question would seem to me superfluous, as any—"

"Do you publish a paper?"

"Yes sir, 'tis with feelings of pride that I class my unworthy self among—"

"Can you read?"

"Sir! I fear I do not comprehend."

"Well, if you can read of civilized lands, and still remain here, I would advise you to bury yourself, when Barnum comes, as he will undoubtedly visit this locality in search of specimens."

But the stage starts, and we are once more going toward Holland, and civilization. To anyone wishing a change of climate, and something to make them appreciate Holland, we earnestly recommend a trip to Saugatuck.

"Esau."

The report was adopted and ordered entered in the minutes. The committee on "Ways and Means," to be assisted by the Clerk and City Attorney, were instructed to make a detailed statement of estimates for city expenses for the current year. The Clerk was instructed to procure and report the profiles of streets made at a previous date.

The committee on "Public Buildings and Property" were instructed to devise a plan for improving the "Market Square" and the Public Square, according to means at hand for such purposes.

Later dispatches from New York indicate that the great balloonists are beginning to see stars before starting. The work of inflating the great balloon was commenced on the 10th and when about one fourth filled with gas the balloon became unmanageable; Prof. Donaldson was compelled to cut a hole six feet square in the canvas before the monster could be brought into subjection, and the departure for Europe or some other place will take place to-day. The following dispatch will convey the impression of the comparative stamina of the projectors of this scheme:

QUARREL BETWEEN WISE AND DONALDSON.

Special Telegram to the Inter-Ocean.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Wise and Donaldson had a serious quarrel this morning. Wise manaces Donaldson, and charges him with incompetency, recklessness, etc., and announced that he will leave the car and canoe behind. He says he will shoot Donaldson if insubordinate. Donaldson will reply to-morrow in a card charging that Wise is afraid to go and wants to break up the enterprise. He says the car was made expressly for Wise's accommodation and declares he will go if he goes alone, without boat or car. The opinion here is that Wise is demoralized. Donaldson is cool, and he and Captain Lun will go without fail the next trial, Saturday morning.

ASHORE.—We learn that the scow

Cousin Mary, went ashore near Clapper's pier, on Sunday last. She was lying at the pier, being loaded with stove bolts when the sea began to raise, the wind being adverse, the captain concluded to hold to the pier until the wind abated, but his calculations failed, the vessel broke away and drifted ashore, breaking her bow-sprit and jib-boom. She can be got afloat with but little further damage to the vessel.

Local News.

The Phoenix Hotel changed hands again this week, Mr. King retiring and Mr. J. Rider the former proprietor assuming command.

STATE FAIR.—People attending the State Fair at Grand Rapids should call at the Star Clothing House and look at their goods. See their new advertisement for fall and winter clothing.

Rev. W. A. Bronson preached his farewell sermon at the M. E. Church, Sunday evening last, to a crowded house. He awaits the action of general conference for his future field. May success attend him.

The enterprising firm of Cappon & Bertsch will soon commence erecting a large addition to their tannery, 18x66 ft.; their rapidly increasing business demands more room and they are going to have it.

We notice that our old friend Cloetingh has removed his stock in trade to the new building of Hoogesteger & Mulder, corner of River and Ninth streets; where he will be happy to meet all his old customers and as many new ones as may want anything in his line.

Mrs. Hendrick Joldersma met with a severe accident on Wednesday last; a horse attached to a wagon was lead to the pump for water, when it took a sudden fright and began to run round the house. Mrs. J. eager to assist in catching the animal came so near as to come in contact with the wagon which struck her in the side fracturing two of her ribs.

Mr. Chrouch, the Superintendent of our schools in this city, informs us that they now have about 360 pupils in attendance, together with a full corps of teachers, which latter was completed by the engagement of Miss Lotie M. Andrus, formerly of the grammar school department of the school at Watervliet. She has the grammar school department of our school here.

A good chance to make a bargain is now offered by one of our public spirited citizens. To any one who will put up a good brick building three stories high and put in a first class stock of dry goods, an eligible lot on Eighth street centrally located for business will be given free, title perfect. This is decidedly the best offer for a business ever made in this city. For further particulars inquire at the office of "Holland City News."

In company of Superintendent Fassett and members of the Board of Education, we visited the Union School on Wednesday last. We found all the teachers busily engaged in "teaching the young idea how to shoot." Some of the departments are well filled with pupils, while in others many more are to come. The average attendance is daily increasing, teachers and scholars seemed well pleased with each other, and we could discover nothing in or about the school, but what indicated energy and ability, and a desire on the part of the teachers to make our school the model institution of the county.

LECTURES.—We notice that the cities and villages around are preparing for an unusual literary feast during the coming winter. The literary societies are securing the services of eminent lecturers to visit them during the winter. If our city is to have anything of the kind this season it is time that arrangements were made with that end in view. All the more prominent speakers will soon have their programmes for the season completed, when it will be impossible to secure any of them. A course of lectures was given here last winter with much better success than was anticipated, and we believe gave entire satisfaction to all who heard them. Shall not the effort be repeated this winter? Now is the time to start the move, who will do it?

During the week engineer Brayton has been surveying different routes for a track to the site of the Holland Iron Works. One through 14th street, 16th street and 7th street, with but little difference in distance. It would seem that if the future interests of this city were consulted but one route would be entertained by our citizens, and that the one running along the Lake, and we presume that if proper efforts are made this route can be secured as cheaply as any of the others; at all events we should make strong efforts to secure the lake route.

HATS.—Passing the store of D. Bertsch the other day we noticed a large crowd gathering in and around the building, and supposing that some one was injured we rushed in for an item, when we discovered the cause of so much disorder. Mr. Bertsch had just opened a large assortment of the noblest styles of hats ever offered in this city and at such exceedingly low prices that every body who saw them was eager to get one. The rush was great but a good supply is left for those who want a new hat. Go and see them.

We have just received a copy of the Grand Rapids Business College Journal, a paper devoted to business education of young men desiring to become proficient book-keepers, and thoroughly versed with the laws of trade. Judging from the favorable notices we have seen of this institution, we believe it one of the best institutions of the kind in the West, and any young man or woman who would make themselves valuable as clerk or book-keeper should at once take a course of instruction at this Commercial College. Mr. C. G. Swensberg and his assistant will take especial pride in graduating you with the highest honors.

AN ACT OF CRUELTY.—Chapped hands and face are the most serious annoyances that farmers, and people who labor much out of doors, experience from exposure. Exposed persons, especially children, repeatedly suffer from great cracks upon the hands, that often bleed. It is cruel to allow one's self or others to suffer in this way, when the means to positive prevention are so easy to be had, and so cheaply, as to pay ten cents for a cake of Hand Sapolio. Hand Sapolio is not only better than the costliest soap for removing dirt, but it prevents chapping, and renders the skin soft and pliable. Sold everywhere.

PRISON FOR LIFE.—The monster, Canavan who committed the outrage on the little girl at Muskegon last week was taken into court last Tuesday and through counsel pleaded guilty to the terrible crime he was accused of. Judge Giddings said to the guilty one that he should impose upon him the extreme penalty of the law, imprisonment for life at hard labor in the State Prison. The prisoner seemed relieved at hearing the sentence being glad at the probability of leaving Muskegon alive. The Judge delivered no lecture to this criminal, merely said to him. "Do not hope to see the open world outside your prison walls again; you will not go out thence till you go feet foremost to a felon's grave." After sentence he was immediately taken to the train and conveyed rapidly away to his prison home.

The annual meeting of school district No. 1, township of Holland, was, according to previous notice, to be held in the Union School House, on Monday, the 1st inst. The school-house, however, was locked by the Board of Education, hence the meeting adjourned from there to the 1st Church. The meeting was then called to order by Prof. C. Doesburg, Director. The Moderator, Dr. B. Ledebor, not being able to be present, Mr. I. Cappon was elected Moderator for the evening. After the opening of the meeting with prayer by Rev. Dr. Phelps, the Moderator, p. t., stated the reason why the meeting was held in the church. The Director read the annual report in the English and Holland languages, which was adopted without any remarks. From the report it appeared that the receipts for the school year just closed, amounted to $5,894.00, and the expenditures $5,894.20. The different recommendations for raising moneys by tax were adopted. The two trustees whose terms of office expired, viz: Dr. B. Ledebor, and Mr. T. Keppel, were re-elected for three years, after which the meeting adjourned sine die.

MANHOOD: HOW LOST. HOW RESTORED.

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Oliver's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHOEA or seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Exhaustion, etc.; also, Capacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Gonorrhea, EPILEPSY and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance.

Price in a sealed envelope only six cents. The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine, or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.

The Aperient and mild Laxative properties of Dr. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are the best safeguard in cases of eruptions and malignant fevers. Their balsamic, healing, and soothing properties protect the humors of the fauces. Their sedative properties allay pain in the nervous system, stomach and bowels, either from inflammation, wind, colic, cramps, etc.

Directions.—Take of the Bitters on going to bed at night from a half to one and one-half wine-glassful. Eat good nourishing food, such as beef-steak, mutton chop, venison, roast beef, and vegetables, and take out-door exercise. They are composed of purely vegetable ingredients, and contain no spirit.

Vinegar Bitters are not a Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whisky, Proof Spirits and Refine Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonic," "Appetizer," "Restorative," etc., that lead the sufferer on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the Great Blood Purifier and a life-giving Principle, a Perfect Restorative and Invigorator of the System, carry off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition, enriching it, refreshing and invigorating both mind and body. They are easy of administration, prompt in their action, certain in their results, safe and reliable in all forms of disease.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Stomach, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Hiccups, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. In these complaints it has no equal, and one bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible.

For Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood when ever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape and other Worms, lurking in the system of many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Says a distinguished physiologist: There is scarcely an individual on the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of misery.

No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Typesetters, Gold-beaters and Miners, as they advance in age, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS twice a week.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled neck, Gout, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc., etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters act on all these cases in a similar manner. By purifying the Blood they remove the cause, and by resolving away the effects of the inflammation (the tubercular deposits) the affected parts receive health, and a permanent cure is effected.
