CITY AND VICINITY.

Miss Katherine Conlon, of the violin department of Hope college School of Music, arrived in this city Tuesday morning on the steamer "Holland." Miss Conlon has been spending the summer coaching with Herr Carl Becker in Chicago, and will reopen her studio in a few days.

Miss Jennie Werkman, of the millinery firm of Werkman sisters, will return this week from an extended visit with relatives in St. Paul, Minn., Chicago and Milwaukee. Miss Werkman has also visited the leading millinery houses of Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Paul and other cities and will bring back the season's new styles in hats.

The Rev. Dr. Helderling, one of the leading clergymen of Amsterdam, Netherlands, was the guest of Dr. G. J. Kollen at dinner Saturday evening. Rev. Helderling arrived in America a few weeks ago to visit friends in Philadelphia, and will spend some time in sightseeing before returning home. He is now en route for Seattle, Wash., and will also visit Yellowstone Park.

Prof. J. B. Nykerk, who was expected in the city this week from a summer spent at Oxford, England, writes friends here that he missed the steamer sailing August 29 and will be unable to get a steamer until Sept. 12, when he will sail on the "Reindam" of the Holland American line, reaching this city about Sept. 22.

While riding to Alpena Beach Monday afternoon, Nettie Sullivan, the 12 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Sullivan, living on West Fifteenth street, had her right hand caught between a telephone pole and the hay rack on which she was riding and badly bruised. She was brought to the city and Dr. H. Kremers dressed the injured member. The little girl is a twin sister of Georgia Sullivan, who was drowned June 27, near Bertsch's ice house.

Prof. Frank Meyer of Cleveland, Ohio, has been engaged as assistant instructor in Latin and Greek at Hope college, to relieve John W. Beardslee, Jr., who has been granted a year's leave of absence. Prof. Meyer is a graduate of Western Reserve university, and has taken post graduate work at Chicago and Harvard universities. Prof. Meyer was for seven years instructor in Latin and Greek at Hillsdale college and comes to Hope fresh from a year's work at Harvard.

The Pere Marquette railway company is authority for the statement that they will not have an idle car in Michigan within sixty days. In fact, a car famine is predicted for the middle of October. Out of the 2,505 cars that have lain idle during the past month over 500 have been taken up during the last ten days in the handling of the early crops; and the large harvest of all kinds which are in sight, especially that of fruit, will, it is said, swamp the Michigan railways with business. For this reason the Pere Marquette are running their car shops over time in an effort to meet the certain demand for cars.

Some 300 Holland people took in the excursion to Muskegon Labor Day. In all the surrounding cities and resorts Labor Day was appropriately celebrated. A crowd of about 75 came over from Chicago to Castle Park for the day and things were lively. In the morning a base ball team from Waukegan played the Castle, the former winning by a score of 9 to 5. In the afternoon an exciting game of indoor base ball was played and there were fireworks in the evening. At Jenison Park the H. O. H. Concordia made things lively. In addition to a fine program of sports and refreshments, addresses were delivered by Congressman G. J. Diekema, Lieut. Gov. Patrick H. Kelley and Henry Uden Masman.

OUR LIBRARY AND ITS LIBRARIAN

This city does not yet boast of a Carnegie library—not because Holland is not worthy of it, but simply because Carnegie has not "opened up his heart" to us, or perhaps the Hope college Carnegie gymnasium is spoiling our chances. But we are doing pretty well even without the aid of the Steel King's money. The history of a city's library is often peculiarly indicative of the intellectual history of that city, and this is all the more true when the library is not a gift but a growth.

Just how much of a growth our library is becomes apparent in going back some thirty five years. We quote the following from the library report made May 15, 1875 by the library committee, T. Romeyn Beck and T. E. Annis:

"The number of volumes is 186, besides a few returned to the library recently and uncatalogued, and nine volumes of Public Documents. These embrace a judicious selection of standard works in various departments of literature, religion, science, history, etc. The committee is glad to notice the fact in passing that novels—yellow covered and otherwise—which so often form the staple of our ordinary circulating libraries, are almost wholly wanting. During the past year over $100 was expended in the purchase of 56 books, forming a handsome addition to the volumes already belonging to the library. The books are numbered from 1 up to 186, catalogued, the appraised value of each set being placed opposite to the title in the catalogue and labelled with printed rules for their use, adopted by last year's board."

This was a handsome nucleus for a library. Extremely small it certainly was, but it is not fitting for the citizens of these later days to "mock with a disdainful smile the short and simple annals" of our library of thirty five years ago. Most of us will indeed smile at the naive remark about the library's fiction, but that remark is very characteristic of the Holland of those days. People looked with suspicion upon all fiction and most of them even on all non-religious books. The story is told of one pious old Dutch lady who could not read the English language. During house cleaning time she was in the habit of destroying all books and periodicals in which she could not find the word "God." But since that day a more cosmopolitan taste has been developed, so that today our library, in variety at least, is as fine as any in a city of this size.

The number of books found upon the shelves of the library is nearly 6,000 to be exact 4978, and about one half this number is fiction. This is evidence enough that the ban against fiction has been raised since the days of Dr. Beck; and moreover, the library board is just as proud of its fiction department as of any other. The next in order of importance is history, then biography, and then travel. A distinctive unique feature of our library is its Dutch department. The introduction of Dutch books last year was an experiment, and the experiment has proved so successful that about November 200 volumes will be added to the original fifty.

Holland can justly be proud of its public reading room. In 1901 when the library was moved into its present quarters, this reading room was established. With walls decorated with pictures of considerable artistic merit, bookcases filled with the best books of reference, and tables covered with the best periodicals in the country, the reading room is worthy of a great deal more patronage than it receives. In the reading room are fully 200 books of reference, 31 monthly magazines and 33 weekly and daily papers. The approximate value of all books and periodicals found in our library is $7500. We dare say not one person out of ten had any idea that the value of our library ran into the thousands of dollars, and not nearly a large enough percentage understand its real worth from the culture standpoint.

However the public each year shows a greater appreciation of the library. The increase in general circulation this year over last year was 26 percent. The increase in the circulation of fiction was 23 percent and of non-fiction 51 percent. The new system of loaning two books, provided one is non-fiction, has proved very satisfactory. Fiction however is most in demand with travel, biography, and history following. In fiction the historical novel is a favorite. The average daily circulation of books is 101 and the largest daily circulation this year was 403. The growth of the public's interest in the library is shown from the fact that since 1901 the number of library hours has been increased from six to 29 per week. The Dewey card system of cataloging the books is being put in, and when completed, it will greatly facilitate the rapid circulation of books.

The first librarian of the Holland library was H. D. Post and some of his successors were L. T. Kanter, Dr. O. E. Yates, Mrs. George H. Sipp and the present librarian, Miss Jennie Kanter. The real value of a library depends to a great extent on the librarian. He or she has opportunities for moulding public taste that few people enjoy. For this reason Holland, in addition to being proud of its library, should be doubly proud of its librarian, for Miss Kanter would be a credit to a much larger library, in more technical part of the work not only, but also as a sympathetic moulder of the literary taste of the public. She possesses the rare power of breathing the spirit of life into many a volume hitherto dead to some readers, by a hint or a word about its contents, and thus often opening up fields of untold wealth.

The South Haven City Hospital has bought a lot and is preparing to build a modern hospital costing about $6000, having accommodations for twenty or more patients. The hospital is a legally incorporated body with leading citizens for trustees. To raise the money for immediate use they have authorized the issuance of ten bonds of five hundred dollars each, payable one bond a year for ten years.

Herold Gorange was the only one of the boys who went from Allegan to enlist in the regular army who was accepted. He went last week to Columbus, Ohio, and from there to Virginia Wednesday. Gorange's father was a commander in the United States navy at one time, and he and his brother had the honor of bringing the obelisk, Cleopatra's Needle, which now stands in Central Park, New York, over from Egypt. Harold's longing for army life seems quite natural, as he also had two uncles in the navy.

Political meetings with "canned speeches," as well as "canned music" may be a feature of the current campaign locally. Lists of the speeches made to phonographs by candidates Taft and Bryan have been received by O. G. Bacon, together with suggested programs for either republican or democratic meetings, or for joint debates. Interspersed among the tabloid speeches on the tariff, trusts, labor, anti-injunction, currency, guarantee of bank deposits, would be suitable musical selections. The programs could be made of any desired length, those suggested being intended to consume about an hour and a half. The matter of holding such meetings will be considered by the local party committees—South Haven Tribune Messenger.

The Montague Observer says some fine things about Prof. J. Wiggers of this city, who is superintendent of schools at Montague: "Among the many able superintendents of our schools none have brought it to a higher standard than it is today. Prof. Wiggers is by nature and education an instructor. He puts his whole heart and life into his school work. His education has been received from such institutions as the University of Michigan, Michigan State Normal and Hope College. A more practical, thorough school man would be hard to find and those who have the honor of receiving a diploma from his hands can be assured they merit it and have received an education that is solid and substantial. Thoroughness is the policy of our schools under the management of Supt. Wiggers and his best recommendations are those who have graduated under his supervision."

I have suffered from kidney trouble ever since I was a small child and it has caused me a great deal of pain and annoyance. There was a dull aching across my loins and kidneys and my back was so weak that I would become tired after the least exertion. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and as they were recommended by responsible people in this vicinity I decided to try them. I procured a box of St. G. L. Lage's drug store and from the relief I obtained, I do not hesitate to advise any one suffering from kidney trouble to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

Cleveland's Appeal for Taft

Naturally, Mr. Cleveland's appeal to his fellow-countrymen to vote for Mr. Taft is exciting something like consternation in the inner circles of the Democratic party. The appeal was written only a short time before his death, and was directed particularly to his fellow-Democrats. It was his intention to write two other letters on the political situation during the campaign, death overtook him before he had completed his task. So far as is known he wrote only the one letter which has just been made public. In that one, however, he made his position plain.

Mr. Cleveland pays a high tribute to the qualifications of the Republican candidate. "Personally and officially I have had the opportunity of knowing many things concerning Mr. Taft that were not a matter of general knowledge, and with a keen interest I have watched his large share in the conduct of our national affairs in very recent years. His excellence as a federal judge in Cincinnati is something not to be underestimated or overemphasized, for should he come to the presidential chair the qualities which made him a judge of high ability, which I know him to have been, will be the most needful to him as president of the United States. His high ideals of honesty and of relative justice, his great capacity for severe labor, and his humorous wisdom in the face of serious problems are attributes equally valuable and commendatory to a people seeking him in whom they may repose the trust of their collective interests while they turn their increased attention to their pressing individual demands."

For these and other reasons which he cited, Mr. Cleveland foresaw that the Republican party was moving "on to a safe victory" in November. It is evident by the references to Bryan which he made in his letter that he believed this year's defeat would loosen the Nebraska's grip on the Democracy for good, although there are some Republicans and Democrats who, regardless of the beating that is just ahead of him, believe that Bryan will capture the candidacy of that unfortunate organization in 1912 or 1916. Mr. Cleveland, then in the presidency, voted for Palmer, the candidate of the National Democracy, in 1896. But there is no candidate in the field this year whom we would call Democratic. If Mr. Cleveland had lived to November that stalwart old patriot would have cast a ballot for William H. Taft.

The Dutch and Venezuela

There is now a very good prospect that President Castro, of Venezuela, will shortly receive a much deserved castigation. The Dutch government has carefully sounded Washington as to just how far it may go in chastising Venezuela without infringing upon the provisions of the Monroe Doctrine, and it is understood that our Government has practically given Holland a free hand, provided only that no attempt is made to acquire territory as a result of any punitive steps that may be taken against the South American Republic.

President Castro has not only sent the Dutch Minister about his business in a most unceremonious and unusual way, but has broken off all relations with Holland by withdrawing the exequaturs of Dutch Consuls and refusing to permit the German Minister, to whose care Dutch interests have been confided, to hold any communication with the Dutch government.

The act which has probably incensed Holland the most however and has made arbitration impossible is the curt demand made by President Castro for an apology for the action of the mob in Curacao in defacing the escutcheon of the Venezuelan consulate and for the failure of the cruiser Gelderland to salute the Venezuelan flag, although by Castro's own action all relations between the countries had been broken off.

While it is somewhat humiliating to witness the castigation of an American republic by a European monarchy everybody will admit that Holland has received sufficient provocation and President Castro has made himself so generally obnoxious to all foreigners that both the United States and Europe will welcome his castigation, and the world at large will be disappointed if the Dutch are any way lenient with him.

Although Holland can only be rated as a second class power, she is very formidable by comparison with Venezuela. The Dutch are a rich nation, have an enviable fighting reputation and possess a fairly formidable navy, considering the needs of the country. It will not involve Holland in any financial straits to send a fleet to Venezuela, and although it may not be deemed advisable to invade the country and attack the capital, the ports will be blockaded to a certainty and all coast fortifications are pretty apt to be bombarded. President Castro will in all probability resist, as he has resisted before under similar circumstances, but as soon as the blockade commences to materially cut into his revenues he is pretty certain to experience a change of heart if the revolutionists of Venezuela do not make away with him before the Dutch have had a proper opportunity to settle scores.

Practically everyone of the leading powers, including the United States, is on bad terms with the Castro government, and most of them are no longer represented at Caracas. The Brazilian Minister at the Venezuelan capital has been refused permission to look after the interests of France. This is a most unusual procedure, as even in time of war the minister of a neutral power is always permitted to look after the interests of subjects of belligerents and to preserve the official archives, which, according to international usage, enjoy diplomatic immunity from seizure. Castros seemingly cares as little for international customs and observances as he does for the rights and privileges of foreigners residing in his country.

"Stick to the farm" is the president's advice, and it ought to be easy to follow with an $8,000,000,000 melon to cut as the result of this year's crop.

Some men have all the luck. A Wisconsin man has married a deaf and dumb girl worth $2,000,000.

Mr. Taft has struck another keynote: "Are the Bryan promises of 1908 worth any more than those of 1896 and 1900?"

It is estimated that the population of the United States in 1930 will be 142,091,663. As Mr. Bryan may then be preparing for his ninth battle he may develop great industry shortly in kissing babies.

Castro is a pretty bad man, but it is not believed he can beat the Dutch.

Cuba has a surplus of $5,000,000. How provoking this must be to a lot of Spanish grandees who are compelled to sit around home and live on restricted incomes.

Aguinaldo has made a fine start in his determination to master the art of politics. He is a candidate for alderman in one of the Manila wards.

If Peary doesn't find the north pole, the next thing anybody knows Roosevelt will be going in search of it.

Fatal Accident—On Saturday last several persons from Pigeon River went duck hunting. Among them was Fred Kemma, a very respectable German aged 34 years who was shot in the abdomen and lived but a few hours. The party had left their boat for a stroll on the bank of Lake Michigan near Port Sheldon. Returning to the boat Mr. Kemma stepped into it to arrange the guns, when the hammer of one caught on the side of the boat causing it to discharge, the contents taking effect as above stated.

Considerable improvements are being made in and about the City Hotel. Large double doors are being put in between the room formerly occupied by Mrs. Wheeler as a millinery store and the main office, and the old store will be handsomely fitted up for a sitting room for men, and the rear part of that large room will be separated and kept in readiness for a sample room for traveling agents. In addition to this it is proposed to prepare the vacant ground immediately east of the hotel for a croquet ground. When completed these improvements will add considerable to the attraction of this hotel for its boarders and transient guests.

On Saturday afternoon last a fire alarm was sounded by the steam tug Twilight, and every eye was turned toward Black Lake at once. It was soon ascertained that Van Dyke & Co.'s saw mill was on fire on the north side of Black Lake. The distance from the city made it extremely doubtful if we could get there in time to do any good, whereas we could see the windward side of the mill enveloped in flames before leaving the city with the hand engines. However, our firemen pressed teams of horses in their service and left for the scene of action at a gallop. A tow boat lying at Harrington's dock also took over a lot of men to assist—if in time to do so; but the brave mill hands and owners reinforced by Geo. Metz and his hands from the tannery, formed a pail brigade and after a heroic struggle of fifteen minutes completely subdued the flames and put out the fire. It was a hard fight, well fought, and our firemen arrived too late to render assistance.

Our public schools opened last Monday with about 620 scholars in attendance, an increase of about 70 over the attendance of last year. This fact makes it necessary for the board of education to hire a teacher which will be done immediately. The school is presided over by efficient and experienced teachers, and we now have as good a public school as any in the state. The various departments are in charge of the following teachers: Miss Nellie Walker, High School; Grammer school, Mrs. J. S. Higgins, No. 4; Miss C. Pfanstiehl, No. 3; Miss E. Dutton, No. 2; Miss A. Breyman, No. 1. Primary, Miss Nellie Zwemer, No. 4; Miss Sarah Ledebor and Miss A. Cunningham, No. 3; Miss C. Vaupell, No. 2; Miss Maud Zwemer and Miss H. Pfanstiehl, No. 1, and Mr. G. P. Hummer, Superintendent. Our citizens have reasons to be proud of the manner in which our schools are run, and nothing should be left undone to assist the superintendent and teachers in maintaining the present degree of excellence.

Rumor has it that two of our tanning institutions are to be consolidated and the capacity of the same greatly increased. We hope this rumor is founded on fact.

E. J. Harrington starts up business in Fennville with an immense stock of goods. Mr. Harrington has sold goods in this city for a number of years and has always sold at prices that has drawn custom from abroad. We congratulate the people of Fennville in securing so good a business house in their midst.

A very sad accident happened about six miles south of this city in the township of Filmore on last Monday. A Hollander by the name of Koster was working for Mr. Vos shingling a barn, when in some unaccountable manner he stumbled and fell, rolling off the barn to the ground and striking on his head, broke his neck. He lived about 10 minutes after the fall. He leaves a wife and family to mourn his untimely end.

Another couple was made happy last Tuesday, the contracting parties being Albert J. Huizinga and Miss Minnie Benwkes, both of this city. They were married at Zeeland by the Rev. J. Kremer. Mr. and Mrs. Huizinga left the same day for Chicago where they spent their honeymoon.

Married last Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. E. VanderVries at the residence of the bride's parents in this city, Miss Annie J. Kruidinier to Henry Van Woerkom of Grand Haven. They left for home Wednesday.

One of the notable events of the past week was the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Finch on Thursday. The evening was warm and pleasant and Mr. Finch's residence and grounds were pleasantly lighted with Chinese lanterns. A large number of their friends assembled to congratulate them, bringing many valuable and useful gifts. As usual on such occasions the venerable couple were duly remarked. Mr. Finch is a veteran of the war of the rebellion having enlisted from Holland in the 2nd Michigan Cavalry, Phil Sheridan's first regiment, and one of the pleasant features of the occasion was a formal visit from the G. A. R. boys. Mr. Finch was gravely called out to the street to see a man, and was then captured, placed in a splendid upholstered rocker and brought in in triumph by his comrades. Mrs. Finch was then placed in a beautiful chair by his side, the flag of the Post was hung over them and they were then formally congratulated in speeches by the committee appointed for that purpose. Among the visitors from abroad were Mr. Finch's elder brother from Racine, Wis., Sheriff Finch from Allegan and quite a number of friends from Kalamazoo.

Married in this city Tuesday afternoon by Rev. H. Geerlings, Jacob Geerlings of the Times office and Miss Sarah J. Verschure. The wedded couple took the steamer for Chicago in the evening and are doing the Fair. They will be at home, on Fourteenth street, after Sept. 25. The News tenders congratulations.

Fire broke out in the City Mills Wednesday afternoon and but for the prompt arrival and efficient services of the department, might have resulted disastrously, especially in this dry weather we are having. It was caused by a break in the brick arch in the rear of the boilers. Fortunately the fire was held within the limits of the engine room. The smoke emerging from the windows of the main building, however, for a while misled the efforts of the department. The damage will not exceed $300 and is covered with insurance.

By reason of the financial stringency the library building on the college campus progresses slowly. The slate roof is being put on now, upon the completion of which further work may have to be suspended for a while.

Architect Wm. H. Johnston of Chicago was in town this week and spent a day at Macatawa park looking over the new Chicago Beach addition, with a view of selecting for himself a building site for a summer home. It is estimated that he will soon be followed by others and that the Beach will soon be populated by a large number of Chicago people.

The hardware store of J. A. Van DerVeen was burglarized during the night between Monday and Tuesday and about 200 pocket knives, some razors and pennies were taken. They made their entry through the basement window. The next day one of the knives was found near the orchard of J. A. TerVree. Sheriff Vanly has offered a reward of $25 for the apprehension of the thieves and Mr. VanderVeen will give a like sum for the return of the goods. That same night the store of Rutgers & Tien in Graafschap was also entered and among the missing goods were watches and rings and two pairs of shoes. There is reason to suspect that both burglaries were committed by the same parties. One mile south of the village of Graafschap two pairs of old shoes were found the next day.

Republican County Convention

At the Republican County Convention held in the courthouse at Grand Haven, Tuesday, the following men were nominated on the Republican ticket:

Representative, First District—Hon. D. B. K. Van Raalte.
Representative, Second District—Hon. A. Lahuis.
Judge of Probate—Hon. Edward P. Kirby.
Sheriff—Cornelius Andre.
Clerk—Fred McEachron.
Treasurer—Walter H. Clark.
Register of Deeds—A. J. Ward.
Prosecuting Attorney—C. C. Coburn.

Circuit Court Commissioners—Louis Oosterhouse, Arthur Van Duren.

Coroners—Wm. De Kline, D. G. Cook, M. D.
Surveyor—E. H. Peck.

Edward P. Kirby was elected chairman of the county committee by acclamation and Jacob Glerum was made secretary by the same method. The following committee was appointed by the convention:

Allendale, James Philips; Blendon, Leonard Reus; Chester,

Charles L. Bean; Crockery, Fred O. Gordon; Georgetown, F. M. Chamberlain; Grand Haven township, W. F. Kefgen; Holland, D. B. K. Van Raalte; Jamestown, Leonard Pikaard; Olive, John Ovens; Polkton, Harrison H. Averill; Robinson, Charles E. Stearns; Spring Lake, William Savage; Tallmadge, W. H. Stoddard; Wright, Charles Wells; Zeeland township, A. G. Van Zooren; Zeeland, 1st ward, Joy E. Heck, 2nd ward, James Cook; Grand Haven, 1st ward, Albert Kiel, 2nd ward, Dan F. Pagelson, 3rd ward, James Verhoeks, 4th ward, Fred Smith; Holland, 1st ward, Arthur Van Duren, 2nd ward, John Vanden Berg, 3rd ward, E. P. Stephan, 4th ward, Henry Kammeraad, 5th ward, Henry Van der Warf.

Committees were appointed after some discussion to select delegates to the senatorial convention in Grand Haven Thursday and the state convention in Detroit. The delegates to the senatorial convention are: First district, Jacob Glerum; John Ovens, Wm. H. Beach, Luke Lugers, J. W. O'Brien, William Brusse. Second district, Charles Wells, L. R. Patterson, John Jackson, Jos. Gotten, Charles Bean, O. Schaap, J. A. Garfield.

The delegates for the state convention were W. I. Lillie, delegate at large, N. J. Whelan, D. B. K. Van Raalte, C. K. Hoyt, Martin Van Duren, J. B. Mulder, James Verhoeks, Second District, Wm. Savidge, Albert Lahuis, Seth Couburn, Millard Durham, C. C. Lillie and Robert Johnston.

The convention was called to order by Hon. Edward P. Kirby. Hon. N. J. Whelan was appointed chairman of the convention. He made a short address in which the "keynote" was to face the enemy with a solid front, to sink all differences after the convention and put in as many licks as possible for Diekema, for Warner, for Taft and for the whole Republican party.

Three committees were appointed by the chairs as follows: Permanent Organization—Messrs O'Brien, Van Duren and Durham; Credentials—E. P. Stephan, Dr. Brown and J. Ovens; Resolutions—E. Westveer, Luke Lugers, B. Van Raalte, Sr.

While these committees were getting ready to report Con. G. J. Diekema was called upon for a speech and he made a regular "rip snorter" of a campaign address. In well turned phrases and eloquent periods he compared the records of the two candidates. He annihilated the Commoner by looking up his record on such questions as Protection, Free Silver, Imperialism and Public Ownership of Railroads. Each of these weak points in the record of the Democratic leader he balanced with a favorable point in the record of Mr. Taft, as he referred to the work the G. O. P. candidate has done in Cuba, Japan and the Philippines.

The fight for sheriff which was due immediately after Hon. E. P. Kirby had been renominated for Probate Judge by acclamation, passed off in smoke. Andre of Georgetown received the nomination on the first ballot. He received 116 votes, while Dykhuis of Holland received 63 and Nyland of Georgetown made the nomination for Dykhuis and J. W. O'Brien for Nyland.

The nomination of candidates for the offices of Clerk, Treasurer, Registers of Deeds, Prosecuting Attorney and Surveyor were made by acclamation. There was some rivalry in nominating one of the court commissioners. When the vote was taken Louis Osterhouse won out over Chas. Sole. There was also a struggle over the coronator from this district, Dr. D. G. Cook winning out over Dr. Mabbs. The Pere Marquette ran a special train to Grand Haven for the delegates.

Floral Exhibit at Public Schools

Tomorrow afternoon the pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades of the city schools will display the flowers which they have grown from seeds distributed by the Woman's Literary club and they cordially invite the other pupils of the schools with their parents and friends to call and look at their flowers. There will be an exhibit in each of the five school buildings at the same time, where committees of club women will assist the teachers in receiving the guests. Prizes will be given in each room to the pupil making the most artistic display; other prizes between the two or more rooms of each building and a grand prize to the school building having as a whole the best exhibit. Because this is the first attempt at flower culture by many of the children and as the season has been usually unfavorable to the growth of plants great credit is due those who have succeeded and much interest centers in this their first free exhibit.

The Dutchman and His Beer

(In the following article J. J. DeKraaker and Anthony Ver Hult, the now famous Hope College travelers, give some interesting pictures of social life in the Netherlands. The accompanying illustration, they tell us, is the most palatial cafe in Rotterdam.)

Dear Editor, Holland City News:—

It takes a long time for an American, especially if he has lived in Holland, Mich., to become acquainted, or rather, accustomed to the ways of living here. In a city like Rotterdam late hours are kept, and as a result people arise late in the morning; so late in fact that it is a common thing for a mijnheer and his family to partake of their morning ontbijt about 9:30 or 10:00 a. m. This morning lunch generally consists of a boterham with cheese or sausage, which are two famous things to eat in the Netherlands. Dinner comes about 2:30 p. m. This consists of meat, potatoes and vegetables, for potatoes here are potatoes, and not classified as vegetables. Go to what ever cafe or restaurant you will, and look over the menu card and you will always find potatoes and vegetables mentioned just to illustrate. We attended a missionary rally near Breda in 't Sischbosch. A refreshment tent had among others, this sign: "Bier en Wijn Geen sterke drank." Near the sign stood two divines, drinking their beer. I mentioned this fact to a gentleman who is doing work like Mel Trotter and he told me that one could always get "bier en wijn" at such rallies, and also, that he had noted no signs of prohibition thus far. The saloons here have no screens like our Michigan saloons, but the bar-room is fully exposed to view. All saloons have chairs and tables, for most people sit down to quaff the flowing bowl. Bar-maids take the place of our American bar-tenders. On a warm evening, if one takes a stroll down the street, he will see father, mother and the children sitting around a table drinking their beer. And many of the "Proeflokaast" have two large doors extending across the entire front, and when the place opens up these doors are turned in so that there is absolutely nothing which obstructs the view. And separately. For dessert one gets pudding with a little colored juice poured over it, which has the taste of some fruit, perchance a very distant taste of a Michigan peach or a California orange.

Sometimes we ask for pie. Then you should see the expression on the face of the kellner (waiter.) The oldest kellner in the country could not tell you what pie was though his life were threatened. They will ask you what pie is, and we attempt to explain how it is made but the kellners shake their heads; then we tell them it is something made by "Ma" Strong, the cook at Van Drezzer's Restaurant, which makes the puzzle all the greater and more difficult for them, but reminds us of good old juicy apple or lemon pie as handed out at Van's.

Some people in the U. S. A. may tell you that the Temperance movement is growing strong in the Netherlands. We beg to differ with them.

everybody drinks his beer, not inside with the curtains drawn and the doors locked, but out in the open, where the public may see them. If Mr. Seif had his brewery here he would not have to deliver beer at the back door, after the sun goes down. And few people become drunk. The Hollander drinks his beer like he does all things, slowly, carefully and moderately. Imagine if you can a place like "Dave's Place" with a beautiful bar maid behind the bar, a front entirely open, tables and chairs in the front of the saloon and out on the walk, and sitting there drinking Dave's Silver Foam, the respectable people of Holland, Mich. While here we can imagine it, but when our thoughts take us back to good old Holland, Mich., the vision fades and we again hear: "Wet or Dry, Wet or Dry."

The Holland Sugar Factory Put in the Shade

Chris B. Cook, who left this state seven years ago is visiting his relatives at Port Sheldon. Mr. Cook has spent the seven years in the vicinity of Denver, Colorado. The reason of his leaving for the west was ill health, and the climate of Colorado has done wonders for Mr. Cook. He is as hearty and hale now as the next man.

Mr. Cook, who by the way used to be the Port Sheldon correspondent for the News, speaks very highly of the state of his adoption. He is engineer in the Loretto Academy and it was only with difficulty that he could arrange for a three weeks' vacation. "Colorado," says Mr. Cook, is a state of opportunity for a young man. The possibilities are wonderful there in many lines of industry. "Holland boasts of its large sugar factory," continued Mr. Cook, "Well Colorado has Michigan beat to a cinder in the beet industry. Near Denver two years ago a beet sugar factory was built in which you could put three factories the size of the Holland plant, and then there would be room to spare. And this is all the more remarkable when you consider that six other sugar factories can be seen with the naked eye from that very spot."

Mr. Cook will return to Colorado in about three weeks. He is enthusiastic over his new home and declares he would not live anywhere else.

DEATHS

The home of Bert Slagh, on Col. lege avenue was saddened early Saturday morning by the death of one of the twin babies born seven weeks ago. It was the little girl who succumbed to that dread baby malady, summer complaint. Lillian Clarice was her name and as a seven weeks old babe this little mite was unusually bright and gave promise of being a vigorous healthy child. Funeral service were held from the home, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. D. R. Regenerns, aged 75 years, died at the home of her daughter Mrs. J. Y. Huizinga, one mile east of the city on Eighth Street last Thursday. She is survived by two daughters and one son. The funeral services were held Saturday at two o'clock from the house.

This afternoon at three o'clock occurred the marriage of Miss Christina Haan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Haan of Muskegon and Sybrant Van Noord of Jamestown at the future home of the young couple half a mile east of Jamestown.

The ceremony which was witnessed by over 200 relatives and friends was performed by Rev. J. Post, pastor of the Jamestown Christian Reformed church. To the strains of a wedding march played by Miss Emma Van Noord, the bridal party entered the parlor and took their places before a floral arch. The bride wore a becoming gown of white organdie elaborately trimmed with lace and carried a large bouquet of white asters. She was attended by Miss Cornelia Schutter who wore pink organdie trimmed with pink satin and carried pink asters. John VanNoord, brother of the groom, was best man.

Both young people are well known throughout the county. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received.

Notes of Sport

(Bill Halley, Sporting Editor)

Well they clashed once again and the baseball championship of the city has once more been decided. The Independents and the Interurbans crossed bats Monday morning at the Nineteenth street grounds, and the former showed their superiority by winning out in the score of 5 to 0.

Carl Shaw, Holland's choicest slab artist, did the twirling for the victors and was in the pink of condition as far as delivering the goods was concerned. The Independents secured their runs in the second, third and seventh innings. But five hits were secured off Shaw.

Ossignac, who has been plying ball in the blue grass state, stopped the wound for the street car lads, and proved to be the easiest puzzle the Independents have solved for some time.

Batteries—Interurbans, Ossignac and Elton; Independents, Shaw and TeRoller.

Not being satisfied with one struggle for a Labor Day, the champions left at 11 o'clock for Allegan where the Tiger aggregation defeated them by the score of 7 to 0. Well, the lads were "all in" as the trip on the cars had tossed them considerably; they scampered out on the pasture without replenishing the inner man at the usual time. Added to these features, TeRoller sustained an injury and was forced to retire from the game, thus making a weak team for the Tigers to combat with. The winners played good ball, La Due, who tossed them for Allegan, being in fine form.

Batteries—Independents, Woldering and Rottschaefer; Allegan, La Due and Tripp.

Saturday next the Independents will play their second game with the fast Ceresotas, champion semi pros of Grand Rapids. The first game was a closely contested struggle, the Grand Rapids men winning by the score of 1 to 0. The Independents are out for revenge and the game promises to be very interesting.

In one of the bloodiest and fiercest battles ever fought Bill Papke, the "Illinois thunderbolt" won the middle weight championship by knocking out Stanley Ketchell, the "Michigan cyclone" in the twelfth round of what was to have been a 20 round go Monday afternoon. At no stage of the fight did the Grand Rapids boy have a look in, he being in an almost helpless condition after the first round. Much credit is due Ketchell for the gameness he displayed.

Abe Attell, the American feather weight champion and Owen Moran, the best that England produces in that line, fought a 23 round draw Labor day. Each contestant was very careful in not allowing many openings, thus making the second draw between these little fellows.

Battling Nelson, the durable dane, clinched his hold on the light weight champion title yesterday, by defeating Joe Gans, the colored demon, with a knockout in the 21st round, of what was to be a 45 round go. It was Nelson's fight all the way thru. While Gans is now ready to retire, Nelson will take on the best of them.

196 River St.

"Kaintuck"By JOHN W. VAN ZANTEN

The Mountaineer has a keen sense of honor. If rightly approached he will prove a most amiable and accommodating companion. He will often go miles out of his way to show a stranger the right path or a ford over a river. His cabin is always open to any passerby who may be in need of supper and a night's lodging. It is only within recent times that he has consented to receive any remuneration. On the other hand he is very "touchy." If any slighting remarks be made about the country or anything but the deepest regard be shown for his women folks or if the stranger displays so little discretion as to wear kid gloves and polished boots the mountaineer is not slow to show his resentment.

The lawlessness of the mountaineers has often, and with justice, been severely condemned. They are ever ready to take the administration of justice in their own hands. It is only within late years that they have begun to place any confidence in the courts. Not less than ten years ago this community was continually harassed by the depredations of one of these "law and order" societies, who had chosen the ironic name of Peace Brothers. Their methods closely resembled those of the Ku Klux Klan of the South. For several years they had complete control of the courts and committed the grossest crimes under a semblance of justice. They hate to have their "shootin iron" get rusty and it does make life so interesting when you are liable to lose it any minute. Gradually, however, a strong fearless prosecution of all wrong doers has brought about a welcome change.

The natural resources are nothing to boast of. Several attempts have been made for oil but no "strike" has yet rewarded their efforts. The older natives love to tell how that years ago in a distant valley a well was sunk with good results. The promoters were afraid that the neighboring property might rise to exorbitant price and so they stopped the well and tried to keep it a secret. The neighbors are still waiting for the promoters to come back under some other name to buy up their property. Thus far they have waited in vain.

The religious and moral standards leave much to be desired. In fact it seems that the letting down of the bars has been very general. A community that exhibits a marked deficiency in any department of public morals soon shows symptoms of degeneracy all along the line. This becomes very evident in all matters pertaining to religious instruction. The preachers are free from the slightest suspicion of "book learning." In fact any sign of erudition would prove a decided drawback. Aided perhaps by the superstitious nature of the mountaineer religion has come to mean nothing more than a hysterical experience at some furious revival. Each mountain preacher has from five to ten stations at which he holds forth. It is a matter of small consequence on which day of the week he happens to arrive. The word is soon passed among the neighboring cabins and when the bell rings the audience has long been present. A series of meetings extending thru six or seven days is called a "protract." Two or maybe three preachers combine, for the work is decidedly strenuous. The people come in from miles around. From five in the morning till about four in the evening (any time after noon is evening) the service is almost continuous. A short recess is allowed for lunch but this is really unnecessary. A mountaineer seldom remains seated longer than twenty minutes. It makes no difference at what point in the sermon he feels the call of the wild. Up he jumps and out he stamps and while the preacher storms on he perches on some nearby rail fence for a visit with his friends who have left earlier. As soon as one preacher has exhausted himself another takes his place, much after the order of a relay race. The style of preaching is to a great extent historical. This however, does not exclude reference to many things outside sacred history. Sometimes the preacher has committed to memory some sophomoric effervescence in which the "rumblings of Aetna," "the gleaming astrals" and "plastic hand of nature" take no inconspicuous part. It forms good padding for any sermon and sometimes the exigencies of the case call for its repetition in the same sermon. At some time during the "protract" a funeral sermon is preached for any who may have died since the previous meeting. Often times a person may have been dead and buried over a year before the sermon is preached. This however, does not hinder it in the least from becoming the occasion for the boisterous manifestation of profound grief. The funeral sermon is the climax of the "protract." Amidst the wierd, mournful songs, the high pitched, monotonous drone of the preacher's voice, they join hands, and working themselves up to an extreme state of nervous excitement soon give evidence of having "got religion." This perverted idea of religious experience has led to the most deplorable results in the daily life of the people. One experience of getting religion at a revival suffices for the ample enjoyment of this life and of that to come. The private life may aid or hinder to a certain extent but the main thing is to "get religion."

Many agencies are at work for the betterment of these deplorable conditions. A large institution at Berea, Ky., comprising both academic and industrial departments, offers accommodations for from 800 to 1000 students yearly. Many, however, only attend three or four months a year. The Domestic Mission Boards of the Reformed Dutch, the Southern Baptist, Presbyterian and Christian church have established day schools and Sunday schools and are gradually adding industrial departments. Altho the mountaineer resents the idea that he is the object of missionary effort he is not at all slow to avail himself of these means of advancement. The results are most gratifying for beneath the rough, uncouth exterior there lies a mind, keen and alert. The fiery independence of the Irish and the canniness of the Scott are always in evidence and combine to make the mountaineer a very promising subject. When we consider the "stern men with empires in their brains" that this region has given to our country we feel that these mountaineers need but a "square deal" to prove their right to be true American citizens.

Col. Gardner's Trip to Europe

Dr. G. J. Kollen received a letter from Col. Cornelius Gardener, stationed with his regiment at Fort Crook, in which he tells of his trip through the Netherlands. Col. Gardener is a Hope College graduate. The letter follows:

Fort Riley, Kan.,
Aug. 16.

My dear friend Kollen:

We returned to Fort Crook Aug. 6 from Europe and I am now here at a manœuvre camp with my regiment; my family is, of course, at Crook. I remain here till Sept. 30, when we return to our post. Mrs. Gardener and I enjoyed our stay in Europe immensely. We spent most of the time in Holland, two weeks in Belgium and a week in Soudon. We were going to spend 2 weeks in Ireland, but just then I received word that the manœuvres were to be a month earlier than expected, so I gave up 3 weeks of it, so as to be with my regiment. We were handsomely entertained by Dr. Kuyper and became acquainted with his three charming daughters and through them with many other nice people in den Haag. In Middleburg and in Amsterdam I called upon the Dominies you gave me the addresses of. We were in Zwolle, your birthplace, I believe. In fact we visited every place of importance in Holland including five watering resorts. I found many relations of mine on my mother's side, including an uncle 70 years old; also the house where I was born and my mother died and the very bed where I first saw the light, an alcove bed. Your letters of introduction were of great service to us and I wish to express to you my appreciation of the trouble you took to write them.

Sincerely yours,
Cornelius Gardener.

Crushed by Trunks

Fennville, Sept. 8.—Baggage man Snyder on the Pere Marquette run between Grand Rapids and Chicago who was taken from his train at Fennville Saturday night is still suffering from injuries which may prove serious.

The baggage car was filled almost to its capacity with trunks of home-going tourists. The trunks were piled four deep along the sides of the car, leaving a narrow passage between.
After leaving Saugatuck, in swinging around a curve, the trunks toppled over, and Baggage man Snyder was caught beneath them. He was discovered at Fennville and was unconscious.
He was attended by physicians at Fennville, who feared that he had sustained internal injuries.

Near Fennville a Pere Marquette
train was held up a few years ago.
Finding the baggage man unconscious
in his car awakened instant memories of that episode, and there was considerable excitement on the train and in the town while the impression lasted that another holdup had been perpetrated.

Michigan's Apple Crop

The Michigan apple outlook is far from encouraging this year, taking the entire state and viewing prospects for both early and late apples.

The irregularity is very noticeable after taking a considerable number of reports and investigating impartially.
Still the country is in a bad way when Michigan does not produce some fruit
of all kinds and there are quite a number of people in the trade who believe that when the smoke has cleared away that Michigan will be there with the apples. But the carelessness of many growers is responsible for a class of fruit that is deplorable in the section where stock takes on such a beautiful color.

However, many points report a better grade of fruit than the average for Michigan and a great many dealers would prefer to have more quality and fewer apples in the Wolverine state than has been the rule in the past.

Fruit growers in this vicinity say that about 75 per cent of the full crop of fall apples will be O. K. The quality will be very good. No ideas have been expressed as to the prices.

"Yellows" In Peaches

The yellows being found to be very prevalent in the peach orchards in the various parts of the state does not seem to have reached these parts.

The yellows commission find the disease is spreading rapidly in some peach growing sections, but they are taking such precautions that but little of the diseased fruit will get to the market.

The reason for the spread is said to be largely due to the fault of the growers of peaches. While one or-chardist will carefully watch and take all precautions against the yellow invasion and root out the infested trees
on discovery, his adjoining neighbor is lax in attending to his orchard and as a consequence the unwatched orchard becomes a menace, and results
not only in a total loss to the owner
but infects orchards that are contiguous.

"I have not found one case of yellows in the peaches I have received thus far," said D. F. Boonstra of the City Grocery and Meat Market. It is the same with other grocers and dealers in fruits. "The farmers around Holland seem to take great precautions against diseases of fruit trees."
"Just what is the cause of the yellows I guess is not known. It is usually found wherever peaches are grown."

"The yellows on a badly infected
peach looks as if it had the measles, it has little red spots; cut it open and you will find little red streaks leading to the pit. The safest way to eat a peach is to break it open. A peach that is infected will show streaks."

But few trees have been cut down on account of the yellows in Holland township.

School Opens

The familiar voice of the school bell was heard Tuesday morning after a silence
of many weeks and 2000 youngsters, warned several days ago by the fragrant aroma of "Heinz Catsup" that school days were near at hand, arose
a trifle earlier Tuesday and were hustled into unaccustomed fresh waists and shoes and stockings, long since discarded.

Supt. Bishop's office was about the busiest place in town Tuesday as it always is on the first day of school.
Parents with children starting in to school, pupils just come in from the country schools and teachers awaiting orders, filled the office to its utmost capacity.

Monday afternoon in room 1, on the Central building, Supt. Bishop met the teachers and presented to them the plans for the year's work. Nearly all the teachers were present at this meeting.

Many of the teachers have returned from long trips and delightful vacations spent in various parts of the country. Miss Edith Demorest of the Central kindergarten spent the summer in Europe.

There are many new teachers this year and a good proportion of Holland girls among them. Miss Georgia Pratt will again be in charge of the music while Miss H. Marina Vander Veen, a graduate of the Chicago Art Institute succeeds Miss Genevieve Weston, now Mrs. A. J. Helmer, as supervisor of drawing.

The buildings have been thoroughly renovated during the summer months. The High school building has been given a new roof, while the assembly room has a new steel ceiling and new powerful electric lamps.

WHAT BEAUTIFUL HAIR.

How often do we hear that exclamation
of a certain woman's hair or a certain man's hair.

A prominent scientist and hair specialist emphatically states and has proven, that any man or woman can have luxuriant, lustrous hair, by using a famous prescription called Parisian Sage.

Parisian Sage is now made and sold in America. Walsh Drug Co.,
the druggists, is the agent in Holland and the readers of The News can buy from them for only 50 cents a large bottle.

Walsh Drug Co., know that Parisian Sage will beautify the hair cure dandruff and stop falling hair, and for that reason they sell it under a guarantee to cure or money back.

If you cannot obtain Parisian Sage where you live, you can get a bottle
for 50 cents from Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y., express charges prepaid.

September Weather

Just at this time when the managers of local resort hotels and the cottagers are figuring on closing house and leaving, Weather Man Schneider, of Grand Rapids gets out some figures on the temperature in the month of September.

If the weather man's figures for the past 10 years can be relied on as a criterion of what next month will be the hotels might well stay open and the cottagers remain at the parks.

Schneider's record shows that more than half of Septembers during the last 10 years had 90 degrees temperature as late as Sept. 25. Mr. Schneider does not hesitate to state that it is nothing unusual to expect 90 degrees temperature any time up to the 18th or 15th of the month.

There are years when September is cool almost from the start but as a rule September is hot.

Beginning with 1897 the record of the weather bureau showed that in September that year the temperature reached 95 degrees as late as the ninth.
In 1898 the temperature was ninety degrees or better until September 5. In 1899 summer did not end until September 16. On Sept 16 that year the temperature reached 98 degrees.

In 1900 the temperature was 90 degrees or better until Sept. 11. In 1901
it was 90 degrees or better until Sept.
7. In 1902 September was unusually cool; 82 degrees was the highest recorded by the thermometer. The following year was moderately cool. In 1904 September was moderately cool again.

In 1905 September was way below
normal and the maximum was but 80 degrees. There was quite a reversal of form in 1906, which was noticeable for the extreme heat in September. It was good and hot all the time up to the 18th in September that year. Last year was comparatively cool again.
August this year has been quite cool and September stands to bring forth a lot of hot weather.

Sixteen cents was the rich haul that some amateur robbers made out of J. S. Dykstra's store. Monday night. They gained entrance through the back door. This is the second time this summer this store has been burglarized. The other time the robbers also obtained only a few cents.

On page seven of this issue is the second and last installment of the article on Kentucky by John W. Van Zanten. This concluding installment contains an exceptionally interesting description of revivals in the mountain regions of Kentucky.

A reception was held Friday evening at East Holland for Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schaap who were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jelsema, in Grand Rapids Wednesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Schaap will reside in East Holland. Mr. Schaap is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Schaap of East Holland. For several years he has been in the dairy business, being owner of one of the prominent milk routes in this city.

At a meeting of Rural carriers held at the News office Tuesday evening the report of Al Tindholt, a delegate to the annual convention of the Michigan R. R. Carriers' association at Jackson was read. Tindholt reported that the Michigan association was the largest in the union and that it was heartily in favor of doing all in its power for the old carriers who were getting beyond the age when they are unable to perform their duties.

The Rev. Richard Shires, a retired clergyman, who lives on a farm near Coopersville, was brought to jail by Sheriff Woodbury last Thursday night on an assault and battery charge. The prisoner is charged with having drawn a gun on people in his neighborhood with whom he had trouble. The unfortunate man seems to be broken in mental and physical health somewhat and he stated that his case had been misrepresented. He hopes to have matters adjusted and then hereafter keep clear of all parties concerned in the present trouble. Mr. Shires attempted to leave the jail Thursday evening without permission, but was brought back by Sheriff Woodbury. He was formerly the pastor of one of the churches in Grand Haven.

The Zeeland public schools opened Tuesday morning with 476 in attendance. There are 37 newcomers in the kindergarten. There are 73 scholars in the high school, of whom 14 are nonresident pupils. The teachers are as follows: Janie Pruim, kindergarten; Anna Huizinga, first grade; Edna Hosford, second grade; Rika Kamferbeek, third grade; Blanch Townsend, fourth grade; Bessie Bottume, fifth grade; Flossie Loew, sixth grade; Pearl Shelly, seventh grade; Mrs. J. E. Heck, eighth grade. High school, F. J. Wheeler, superintendent; Mable Wilhelm, Anna Stapleton, Rannie Baker, Edna Braumbaugh, music and art. Peter De Leeuw has been appointed janitor.

A faucet left open in the third story of the Peck block at Allegan let water overflow, doing considerable damage in the barber-shop of Underkircher & Parks. The plaster was soaked off a large part of the ceiling, making a bad mess, besides damaging the furniture. This happened Sunday night, and about ten days before a similar thing occurred in the same place. It will be remembered that the same thing happened in Holland a few weeks ago, first on the second floor of A. Steketee's store and a few days later above the clothing store of Notter, Van Ark & Winter. It seems that local history also is fond of repeating itself, and that strange occurrences like these come in epidemics like disease.

An apple picked in the orchard of Leonard Klein, north of this city was brought into this office, that has most apples in this part of the country beat for size. This rosy checked specimen was 14 inches in circumference and 4½ inches in diameter. This is not fishy because ye editor took the measurements himself. It furnished a good sized lunch for the whole editorial and composing force, with a big core left over for the office devil. His official satanic majesty saved the seeds so that when he shall be president of the United States, which he hopes to become some day, he can make his speech of acceptance in the approved fashion on his farm "in the shade of the old apple tree."

Tomorrow! What? Fair Bee.

Fair Bee tomorrow—Do not miss it.

John Vanderstins has bought the entire stock of table linen and napkins of the Wise estate at a ridiculous low figure. Beginning next Wednesday these linens will be placed on sale at less than manufacturers' cost. Wise's always carried a good line of linens and a chance like this will not come to you again.

"The Riverman," Stewart Edward White's new novel, will appeal more directly to the folk of his native state than anything he has written since "The Blazed Trail" of blessed memory. For it is a composite story of the Grand and Muskegon rivers and of real men, the print of whose spiked boots disappeared from Grand Rapids only a few years ago when the last wooden sidewalk vanished from Canal street. And "The Riverman" is in the vein of which Mr. White is the greatest master—a story of battling against the elements and of the hard, rugged timbermen who fought, loved and worked as men with salt, red blood did and may always be expected to. Mr. White is a native of Grand Rapids and his stories of lumbering operations in the regions of the Kalamazoo and Grand rivers have made this section of Michigan famous in literary history.
