Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey
For Coughs and Colds.

Anton Seif, charged with selling a liquor to a minor, has been bound over trial at the next term of circuit court.

The Wagner Male Chorus held their first rehearsal Monday night and about 50 members were present. Great interest was shown and some fifteen signified their intention of joining. The rehearsals will be on Monday evening by unanimous vote of the class.

Rev R. L. Haan, pastor of the Central Ave. Chr. Ref. church, has been named in a trio from which the congregation of the First Chr.
Reformed church of Grand Haven expects to call a pastor. Other members of the trio are Rev. E. I.
Kunk of Oostburg, Wis., and Rev.
T. VanderArk of Pella, Iowa.

Having been away from this city only a few days Old Bill Harkema found the attraction of Holland too strong to resist. Though under a strenuous promise to stay away from the city for a year he was found at his old haunts on West Tenth street Sunday afternoon.
Old Bill was decidedly "soused" and as a result the doctors claim he is very decidedly unwell, so that the police will have to hold him here until his health improves.

Proof that a divorce had been granted to Frank Primeau, the former local resident who was arrested in Lansing on Labor day, on a charge of non support preferred by his former wife, was sufficient to quash proceedings in the case, and Primeau was discharged when the case was heard before Justice Van Duren. Primeau produced a "pro confesso" divorce decree which he had procured in the circuit court at Saginaw on June 23. last, and although the warrant upon which he had been arrested had been issued some time previously, it was decided that the warrant was no longer in force.

A magnificent photographic reproduction of Sargeant's famous mural painting of "The Prophets" in the Boston public library, has been presented to Hope college by two of its alumni, Rev. H. V. J. S.
Peeke, a professor in the university of Tokio, and Prof. H. G. Keppel, of the university of Florida. The donors were college chums of the eighties. The reproduction is 15 feet long and nearly a yard high and it is enclosed in a handsome mahogany case. It has been placed in Winants chapel over the stage, it having been found necessary to board up two windows in order to accommodate it. The brass plate at the base bears the following inscription: "Presented in commemoration of a college friendship, H.
V. S. P. '87 and H. G. K. '89.

From all over Western Michigan come reports of heavy losses to crops through the unexpected cold snap which visited this section.
Potatoes, wheat and corn suffered most, although tomatoes, pickles and other vegetables were damaged to an alarming extent and the season was cut short. While Jack Frost's appearance was quite general, in some instances he left a freakish trail. Some farmers report losing crops on one side of the road while on the other side they were untouched. One farmer asserts that the frost killed several hills of potatoes in the center of a large field while the surrounding plants escaped. The same reports are circulated with reference to corn, the drill corn being nipped, while the adjoining rows were untouched.

Eight cars were wrecked, three burned and a big mogul engine thrown into the ditch near Salem in a rear end collision between two freight trains on the P. M. railroad Monday morning. The first train had stopped for water and the engineer of the following train was unable to see the caboose of the first train until he rounded a curve.
The second train was running about 25 miles an hour and could not be stopped in the short distance between the two trains. The engineer applied the brakes and he and the fireman jumped for their lives escaping serious injury. The big engine plowed through the caboose and seven cars and then ran down a 10-foot embankment before it stopped. The wrecked caboose caught fire and was destroyed with two cars loaded with peaches. The nearest available engine was at Williamston, 40 miles away, and it was nearly two hours before the track was cleared.

Emmell & Ginder, the new proprietors of the well known pool and billiard rooms in the Harrington building on E. 8th St., have placed Jake Japanga in charge of the establishment, and the local pool expert will manage it during the winter.

A new Wireless Co. has been formed in this city with headquarters at G. T. Haan's drug store. The new concern is a branch office of the United Wireless Co., and is the result of the fact that the station at Graham & Morton docks is too inaccessible for ordinary business.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nies have returned from a visit with their son Edwy at Charlotte and also attended the annual reunion of Mr. Nies' regiment, the 2nd Mich. Cavalry, at Alma. Mr. Nies was honored by being elected president of the survivors' association of the regiment and Mrs. Nies received a similar distinction from the 'Ladies' Auxiliary of the regiment. Mr. and Mrs. Nies report a delightful trip.

A delightful family reunion was held last Thursday at the home of Geo. Birkhoff, West 12th St., the occasion being Mr. Birkhoff's 82nd birthday anniversary. Letters of congratulation were received from many relatives and friends in other cities and the day was delightfully spent. Those present at the family dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Birkhoff, Mr. and Mrs. N. Birkhoff, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Birkhoff, Jr., Mrs. J.
B. Scully and daughter Dorothy all of Chicago and Prof. and Mrs. H.
Boers and son Rudolph of this city.

Chicago parties have been at Allegan during the past week inspecting the Kalamazoo river with a view of purchasing the water power here. An engineer was busy a week taking levels and making computations. The men claimed to desire to buy the dam, and the race and all of the flumes of many mills, with a view of improving the same and erecting a large electric plant, to be run by water. B. F.
Foster will start his canning factory next week. While the plant will not at first be conducted on a very extensive scale it is expected that it will grow and in time become one of the leading industries in the city.

Jerret N. Clark, a young attorney from Saugatuck, has purchased the law practice and library of Joy E.
Heck in Zeeland and will succeed the latter as Zeeland's lone "exulser" of the law. Mr. Clark is 27 years of age and is a 1907 graduate of the U. of M. He is a product of Allegan county and has had two years of experience in the practice of law at Saugatuck, where he was very successful. Mr. Clark goes to Zeeland well recommended, is admitted to practice in all courts and consolidating his own library with that purchased from Mr. Heck has access to an exceptionally good private law library. He has rented the residence of the late John Van Eene-naam where he will make his home.

At a recent meeting the residents and property owners along 18th St. decided on Westrumite for paving material on that street from Columbia avenue to Central. The pavement adopted is a type of Macadam in which the surface sheet is made of a mixture of crushed rock and liquid asphalt which affords a fine smooth driveway with the maximum of wearing qualities on account of the rock. It is noiseless and dust-less and it has been found in Chicago where many miles of it are in service, that it is the most easily repaired roadway possible. With the completion of the work, East 18th street will be the best paved residence street in the city.

Pursuing its general plan to improve the whole roadbed on the Chicago-Grand Rapids branch, one of the biggest jobs being the completion of the double track bridge across Black river at Waverly, the Pere Marquette is putting in new cement bridges and culverts all along the division. Workmen are now busy replacing the bridge at Tubergen, just south of here on the main line, with a steel and concrete structure of the very latest design. The track workers are also very busy between here and Grand Rapids, and the section between Zeeland and Grandville is having new rails of the heaviest kind laid as fast as the traffic will allow. With the completion of the work the Chicago division will be ready for double tracking at any time the road finds business of sufficient volume to warrant.

Known during his long service while head of the shipping department of the big West Michigan furniture company, as one of the most energetic young business men of Holland, Percy Ray has resigned to assume the managership of the Wolverine Furniture Co. of Zeeland, which was recently re-organized, the change being scheduled to take place Oct. 1. Mr. Ray has a large circle of friends who are confident that he will be able to put the Ze-land company on its feet again as soon as the trouble in which it is now involved is straightened out.
Mr. Ray's resignation left an opening in which one of the most popular of the city's men will be appointed, the monagement of the West Michigan announcing that H. P.
Burkholder, the P. M. agent here, who was recently promoted to the management of the Renton Harbor office with its big shipping business, would be Mr. Ray's successor. He will return from Benton Harbor at once to take up his new duties.

Dr. Wm. DeKleine, health officer of the city of Grand Haven, coroner of Ottawa county, and one of the best known physicians at the county seat, is going to give up his practice there and will take up his profession in Holland. Mr. DeKleine will take up the practice of Dr. E. D. Krem-ers, his cousin, who was recently appointed to the medical corps of the U. S. army with the rank of first lieutenant. Dr. DeKleine will be associated with Dr. H. Kremers, his uncle, with whom Dr. E. D. Krem-ers has long been associated. The opening is a particularly good one and the Grand Haven physician will step into an excellent practice already well established. During his residence in Grand Haven Dr. De Kleine has established a fine practice and made hosts of friends who will regret his departure. Since starting there the doctor has gained the absolute confidence of Grand Haven people and established an enviable reputation for reliability and skill.
Dr. DeKleine is a graduate of Hope college and the Northwestern university. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert DeKleine of Jamestown Center. He married in 1906 Miss Lottie Hoyt of this city, who with her mother, will reopen their old home on South River street.

The Return of John Dykman

A good newspaper story was concocted out of the alleged disappearance and return of John Dykman a farmer of East Saugatuck, about nine miles south east of Holland.
But on closer investigation it was found that the circumstances are not nearly as sensational as first reported. It was said that Dykman has mysteriously disappeared in the fall of 1908, taking some $9000 with him, and that he had just returned nearly penniless.

The facts of the case are a little more commonplace than appeared at first. Dykman with his family was living on an 82-acre farm near East Saugatuck and in 1907 the family proposed to retire. The farm was listed for sale with the Weersing agency at $90 00 per acre but no sale was made at the time. But about August 1908 Dykman sold his farm to his oldest son Charles.
There was however no irregularity about the deal, and instead of paying in cash for it, Charles paid a small amount down, so that the report that Dykman took $9000 with him is without foundation.

Mr. and Mrs. Dykman then rented a house through the Weersing agency at 320 West Twentieth street in this city and lived there till about Christmas time. It appears that about this time Dykman gave way to a wayward streak in his nature and disappeared, presumably to the Netherlands, to visit relatives.
Dykman had often discussed such a visit with his wife, but it seems no definite plans had been made for this particular trip.

He could not have had more than $1000 with him," said Weer-sing the real estate man, who is well acquainted with Dykman's affairs.
After a long visit Dykman has put in his appearance again, and although the affair is a little out of the ordinary, the family is simply trying to escape the notoriety that the facts hardly warrant. Mrs. Dykman is now living in Grand Rapids, but about three weeks ago opened negotiations to make Holland her home again.

Have you heard about "The Three Twins" at the Holland Fair?

Holkeboer Plays Hooky

"Holkeboer, Holkeboer, oh you kid!" said the admiring school boy this morning as the alderman from the fifth ward with blase smile meandered down the street. Holkeboer has suddenly become a hero in the eyes of the kid with dirt smirched face. For it isn't every alderman in this quiet little burg that can stir up a sensation like Holkeboer did last night during council meeting, simply by playing hooky. The school-dodging kid, always in dread of the truant officer and always looking upon the immaculate alderman as a superior being now sees in the city father's lapse a touch of human kinship, for even Holkeboer can play hooky.

The fact is Holkeboer was wanted at the council meeting last night and wanted bad. Paul Coster was there with his camera, and the other aldermen couldn't bear to have a picture without Holkeboer; but just watch the group when it is published; the handsome gentleman from the fifth ward is not there.

But "there's another reason" as the breakfast food man says. And it is whispered that there was a method in Holkeboer's proceedings.
The city hall commission's report on the bids was up for consideration but in spite of the fact that the mayor and aldermen were aching to take the matter up, they were power-

Was this the reason for Holkeboer's absence?

less to touch it, for Holkeboer suddenly loomed up as the all important and indispensable figure without whom the council stood dead locked.
Early in the meeting the mayor, who has always stood for the policy of going ahead on the city hall and giving the people what they want, sent the city engineer to the telephone to call up Holkeboer.

"His wife says he's left the house and gone to council meeting," was Naberhuis' report.

"That's what he tells his wife," said a spectator, and the other members chuckled at the idea of the dignified alderman stooping to such methods.

The mayor was relieved of his chair for a half hour's intermission while the annual appropriation bill was considered, and he got busy in fine style. After a little session with Fred Kamferbeek the valiant officers of the law were sent all over the city forming a sort of human drag net, and Holkeboer was the fish they were looking for. One of the officers took a look in at the 9th St.
Christian Reformed church where it was expected by the resourceful mayor that he might be attending a Sunday school convention. But, oh no, Holkeboer was too smooth for that. He was scarce in Holland and he stayed scarce, in spite of all the officers could do, and there will be nothing doing in the city hall line until next Wednesday night at a special meeting of the council.

At that eventful council meeting "when the roll is called, will Holkeboer be there?"

Please make your entries for the Holland Fair early. Avoid the rush on the last day by bringing a complete and correct list of entries to the Secretary's office, No. 9 East 8th street before Monday noon. By so doing it will save you a special trip to the fair grounds for the purpose of making entries, and will materially help to expedite the work of the secretary.

Saugatuck

The strained conditions between the Crawford Trans. Co. and the owners of the Str. Liberty were brought to a close last week by the purchase of the Liberty and the Douglas dock property of Devine and Zietsch by the Crawford Co. for $5,750. Rate cutting had been begun and the prospects were that money would be lost on the freight out of here this year and the business be badly demoralized so the public spirited citizens who realized the benefit of a direct line stepped in and offered to make up the difference to close the deal and give this harbor what we have so long been in need of and what outside boat lines have striven so hard to keep from us, a direct boat line to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Thorpe who bought the Sam Clipson place this spring have been doing considerable work to beautify their new home which they have named "Abbeey Park." Mr. Thorpe seems to be establishing a record for himself as a gardener. He has one cucumber 22 inches long and 2 1/2 inches in diameter which he raised from seed sent him from England.

When the back begins to ache, Don't wait until backache becomes chronic;

Till serious kidney troubles develop;

Till urinary troubles destroy night's rest.

Profit by a Holland Citizens' Experience.

Michael Schwarz, retired dairyman, 689 Central Ave., Holland, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family with great benefit. Last fall I caught a severe cold which settled in my kidneys and I was soon annoyed by dull heavy pains across the small of my back. I could not bend or lift without suffering terribly and my condition gradually grew worse. I was telling a neighbor of my trouble and he advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at Doesburg's drug store and after using them a short time I felt greatly relieved. I continued taking them and when I had used half the contents of the box, the backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble had disappeared. I give Doan's Kidney Pills my hearty endorsement."

SOLDIER IN HOME KILLS COL. EASTMON

MADDENED INDIAN FIGHTER MURDERS CAPTAIN OF BARRACKS.

CRAZED BY PREVIOUS CRIME

After Tragedy Walks Calmly Out of Building, Easily Disarmed by Guard and Locked Up Charged with Murder.

Dayton, O.—Maddened, it is believed, by the knowledge of a previous crime, Edward Leonard, aged 59 years, a private in Barracks 6 at the National Military home, the other day shot and killed Col. Oscar E. Eastmond, captain of the barracks, and seriously wounded Sergt. George W. Arnold and Private Warren Wright.

Leonard walked calmly into the office of the barracks, where Col. Eastmond was reading a newspaper, and fired the shots at the victim's head. Two bullets crashed through Eastmond's brain.

Rushing upstairs Leonard shot Sergt. Arnold and Private Wright. He then walked out of the barracks and down New York avenue to a point near police headquarters, where he was intercepted by Guard Robert C. Hemphill, who disarmed him without trouble. Leonard was placed in the county jail on a charge of murder in the first degree.

Leonard displayed no remorse. He spoke calmly of the tragedy. He declined to explain fully the cause of the shooting. It was supposed at first that he was jealous because of certain advancements in the barracks.

That Leonard was impelled by the knowledge of a crime committed possibly years ago developed by the finding in his effects of a diary. Under an excerpt from Kiepler on "Conscience" he had written the word "Sure." The excerpt read:

"The harboring of knowledge of crime closely resembles fear in its effect upon the human mind. While fear paralyzes secrets and disin-tegrates the faculties to a marked degree such knowledge may lie dormant for long periods of time only to burst out with redoubled fire, dwarfing the soul and betraying the unhappy victim. The end invariably is insanity."

After shooting Col. Eastmond, Leonard passed William P. Hammond, who was shaving, and pointing the weapon at him, said: "I'll shoot you, too!" but he hesitated only a moment and ran to the second floor, where he shot Sergt. Arnold, and then to the third floor, where he wounded Private Wright as he lay in bed.

Leonard imagined that Wright was at the head of a band of conspirators in the barracks, and he later stated that he intended to "make sure" of him, but reports from the Home hospital are to the effect that the wounded men will recover.

Col. Eastmond is survived by a widow, who resides in New York city. He first belonged to the First Maine artillery, but later organized the First North Carolina. A special act of congress brevetted him colonel for bravery and excellent service. He had been at the Soldiers' Home here for nine years, part of the time as manager of the hotel.

Leonard was admitted to the Home not long since from Boston. He was known as an Indian fighter of unusual bravery. He first became a member of Troop A, Sixth United States cavalry, in 1871, and was discharged honorably in 1880 at Fort Grant, Ariz. Before the year had passed he re-enlisted in Boston in Troop G, Fourth United States cavalry, and was discharged honorably at Fort Bayard, Mexico, in 1885. Little is known of his career after 1885.

Entered as second-class matter at the post office at Holland, Michigan, under the act of Congress March, 1879.

What's the Matter with Holland?

There is a rule fairly well established among sociologists that crime comes in waves, and that one crime, by a process of mental suggestion, gives rise to another. During the last few weeks Holland seems to be a living illustration of this rule. A wave of crime has passed over this city that is almost unparalleled in all its history. Some of the spectacular crimes have been featured in special editions of the state papers, and Holland has been very much on the map in the criminal annals of all the big state dailies, for the last month or six weeks. What's the matter with Holland?

First there was the crime that shocked the whole city and called forth a cry of horror from the state papers when a young girl was brutally assaulted and barely escaped with her life. Then came the great Post sensation, which is perhaps without a parallel in the criminal records of this state and in point of criminal daring surpassed even the famous Van Vliessen forgeries in Chicago some time ago. In the other case the officers did their best to apprehend the criminal, but in the famous forgery case not even a warrant has been sworn out. Again we say, What's the matter with Holland? Almost coincident with the Post disappearance, another young Holland man disappeared and was afterwards found in the Kent county jail. Again Holland received an unpleasant share of notoriety and the papers had a chance once more to ask this question. Not long after that the Boter robbery occurred. And even this week is not without its record of crime. The daring robbery in the office of the Graham & Morton Co. is the spicy bit of news offered to the state papers this time.

Is this record to continue or has the crest of the wave been reached and will calm little Holland go back to its time-honored record of quiet and peace? The News in calling attention to this wave of crime is not trying simply to call attention to the city's shame. But there is no sense in merely hiding the degeneration and ignoring the shame, for the eyes of the state are upon us. We must look conditions in the face and live down our record. But a sentimental idea of justice, which protects the criminal, is sure to make the pathway to further crime easy. In some of Holland's recent criminal cases conviction has followed, in some our really efficient police force have done their best to catch the criminals, but in others there has been a tendency to protect the criminal even from the brand of dishonor.

What's the matter with Holland? The question answers itself. Crime begets crime and unpunished crime is like sowing the wind and reaping the whirlwind.

The Biggest Fool Charge Ever

The Chicago papers of last Sunday featured a story of the arrest of E. P. Donnelly, until lately with the Holland Kessella Glass Co., but now employed by the company in their Chicago office. During the famous Mc Cann trial, without any warning Donnelly was unceremoniously seized by two detectives on charge of tampering with the jury. The detectives declared that Donnelly, who is a brother-in-law of McCann, the police inspector on trial, had winked at a jurymen.

The local man was fortunately able to clear himself. But it is bad enough as it is that a man of Mr. Donnelly's unquestioned integrity should be unceremoniously seized by a pair of hiring detectives, belonging as they do to the Chicago police force. The charge is so absurd that it would be ludicrous if it were not for the unpleasantness connected with such an unceremonious arrest. We know several people whom we would advise to steer clear of that police court, for their unfortunate slight defect in the control of the eye muscles would surely land them in a prison cell.

More Light

At last after much agitation and a great deal of perspiration and some very close calculation and some very serious meditation Eighth street is to have its electric arches. The agitation was done to a great extent by the News. Way back last fall when River street put up its arches we printed two editorials advocating the same course for Eighth St. And this spring we have been hammering away at it again and again, and although Will Orr must be given the lion's share of the credit for the success of the venture, we are proud of having been permitted to be one of the helpers in the work.

The perspiration was done largely by the telephone man. During all these hot weeks Will kept on the trail of some of Holland's reluctant citizens and conjured the shekels out of their unwilling pockets. It was an exhibition of fine public-spirited enterprise such as has been rarely equaled even in this city, and Mr. Orr can surely find his reward for his labor in the satisfaction that follows every act well done.

Lastly the calculation and meditation came in on the part of the merchants and property owners along Eighth street. Some of them gave willingly and thus made glad the heart of the telephone man. Some of them calculated for a long time and we respect all who honestly felt that it would call for a big sacrifice.

But a few—a very few—were given too much to a strain of meditation that threatened to quash the project, because they did not see direct returns from their money.

However the struggle is all over now. Most of those having stores and offices along the street have dug down into their pockets either willingly or unwillingly and the electricians are putting up the arches. No matter how the trick was turned, the main thing is that we are to have the lights. It is a feature which we feel sure no public-spirited man will ever regret.

The Critical Public

"The man who gets angry about what a newspaper prints of himself should return thanks a dozen times each day for what a newspaper knows of him and suppresses. Any fool can find things to print in a newspaper, but it takes a wise newspaper to find things to keep out."

All of which is very true, remarks an exchange. It is generally supposed that newspapers print everything they can find out that is anywhere near fit to print, but that is a mistaken idea. The average country newspaper refrains from publishing many things that might pass as news because it would reflect on the character or reputation of some individual and indirectly on his family and the town.

And this reminds us, and we presume others newspapers have noticed it, that if anything happens to get into the paper that does not please some subscriber—and we have known of such cases where the offended person has not and never had been a subscriber—it does not take long for the person to let the editor know all about it. On the other hand, a newspaper may say all kinds of good things about this same person, and throw bouquets promiscuously at others, yet not once in a hundred times will the compliment be noticed.

This goes to show what people take too much as a matter of course. A newspaper is expected to speak well of everybody, boom the town, and do a lot of hard work for "the good of the cause," for it costs nothing to run a newspaper—so too many seem to think. It is fortunate that most publishers are public-spirited citizens. They do much without hope of reward on earth, content if they see good accomplished through their efforts.

Good Feature of New Cigarette Law

While it is claimed that the new cigarette law is defective in some particulars, it at least has some redeeming features, and chief among these is the fact that it does prohibit the smoking of cigarettes in public places by young men under the age of 21.

That one fact alone is worth a good deal. The smoking of "coffin nails" by mature men is bad enough, but the big percentage has been among boys, and this clause should at least help to clear up the atmosphere in public places.

It is also claimed that the sale of tobacco is not prohibited and that is a weak point in the law. Tobacco can be sold and the cigarettes made the same as usual, but for all that there is still the provision prohibiting those under 21 smoking cigarettes in public places.

If the law is not what was originally intended by the drafter, it has at least accomplished some good, and is well worth a place upon the statute books.

"Oh where, oh where is Holkeboer gone?" To the north pole—cold feet.

Throwing everything else aside the News thinks that Peary is not a good sport, and doubtless this will "Cook" his goose.

Why is it that ninety-nine times out of a hundred the friends who borrow from you are fellows you couldn't get a nickel from if you wanted to borrow yourself?

Down East where there are some who spend $25,000 on a supper for a dog, and others can't get what a dog would ordinarily be satisfied with, is a good breeding place for Socialism.

Cooks get better wages than school teachers. Brain food don't have to be so well prepared as that you put in your stomach.

"R. H. Post has resigned as governor of Porto Rico and will return to this country."—Daily Paper. No doubt several of Holland's citizens are tickled to know of his whereabouts.

Notwithstanding the success of the aeronauts there are still many people who prefer to keep their feet on solid ground.

It remains yet to be told whether the north pole will develop any new species of game for Mr. Roosevelt to go up to kill.

There must have been three discoverers of the north pole, Cook, Perry and the man who stole Cook's flag. Let us hope the latter will give himself up and settle all controversy.

If the Home Coming Indians go on the war-path in Holland we would suggest arbitration through the mayor's suggested cabinet, which no doubt would be a good try out.

There are a lot of people hunting trouble out of season.

Presto change and Alderman Holkeboer disappears, and even the police are baffled.

Some clever safe blowers with a supply of nitro glycerine got in their work on the Graham & Morton safe in their office at the Holland docks some time between Monday night and Tuesday morning. Some $200 was secured by the robbers and they left no trace. Bloodhounds were put on their trail but without results. The robbery occurred some time between 10 o'clock Monday night when the dock was deserted after the departure of the Holland for Chicago and 3 o'clock Tuesday morning when Dock Foreman Simon Rose came down to meet the Puritan which is due about that time. Rose noticed the wrecked safe at once and Agent John Kress and the police were promptly notified. Gaining entrance through a window the robbers knocked the combination knob off the safe with a sledge hammer and put their nitro glycerine in the hole. No explosion was heard by anyone. The rifling of the safe was then an easy matter, but as Kress had made his remittance to the main office at Benton Harbor, there was little more money there than was needed to do business, the total not exceeding $200 although the agent is unable to arrive at an accurate figure without checking over his receipts.

A few minutes before 7 o'clock on Wednesday morning the fire bell called the people to fight a fire instead of going to work. A fire broke out in the engine room of the butter tub factory and although it was noticed very soon thereafter, it spread so fast and wide that before water could be got, the building was nearly enveloped in flames. But hand fire engines were on the ground in a few moments, but considerable delay was experienced in coupling to a drive well, and after it was accomplished it was found to be deficient in the supply of water. The fire department then changed her base, laid their hose to the river, about 1100 feet, and took water from there just in time to prevent the fire from spreading. The whole building with its contents was consumed.

Last Sabbath was a mournful day for the Methodists of this city. Rev. Wm. M. Coplin, who has been the pastor of the M. E. church for the past three years, closed his pulpit labors on that day.

The laying of the cornerstone of the schoolhouse on Monday last did not take place owing to an accident which occurred just as the ceremonies were to be commenced. That part of the floor upon which several parties were to be seated, among which were the common council, the Board of Education, Gee's band and a class of the largest pupils, was just occupied by about twenty-five or thirty girls, when the floor fell into the basement with a crash. The screaming and yelling for help by the frightened and injured girls was heartrending; that several of them would be hurt, if not killed, was evident at a glance. Willing and courageous hands ran into the basement to rescue the unfortunate little ones from their perilous position, which was accomplished in a few minutes. The wonder is that no one was killed. The most serious injury happened to Miss Katie Sooter, whose left limb was fractured above the knee; Miss Anna Meengs, Miss Anna Kruidenier, Miss Jane Oostema and a few others were more or less hurt and bruised about their heads and bodies. The blame for this most aggravating and shameful mishap seems to rest with the builder in the first place, and with the architect, who was on the ground, in the second place, who had neglected to put the necessary support under the floor. Moreover, good practical mechanics and architects assure us that the lumber used and the manner of construction of that first floor was entirely deficient. It seems so to us. The people have voted a large amount of money—or rather, will have to pay it—and are entitled to a first class building, and no first class building ought to contain rotten hemlock joists. It was a sad affair and leaves another blot upon the name of our city, and we deeply regret the accident and the cause of the accident, and we hope that the constituted authorities will see to it that the people will get "value received." We are informed that the corner stone will be laid on Monday next.

Mr. Sizer says it is called Kelley's Lake and that there is no bottom to it, or at least none has ever been found, and no one has ever yet caught or seen a fish there. This has appeared so odd that everyone who goes there takes a try, and all meet with the same startling result. The bait is always eaten off the hook, and not infrequently is the hook itself taken. Rural Delivery Celebration

Stations are being taken by the officials of the postoffice department at Washington for a fitting celebration in October to commemorate the 13th anniversary of the establishment of rural free delivery. This service was started in West Virginia with five routes running from three different offices in 1896. By the end of the third year 391 routes had been established at an annual expenditure of $150,021.

Up to the present time the installation and operation has cost about $170,000. There are 140,804 carriers, covering 40,919 routes. More than 20,000,000 patrons are served daily. Illinois has the largest number of rural delivery routes, 2,284. New York, the first state in population, has only 1,841 routes, while Pennsylvania, the second in population, has 2,168. Seven states have more routes than New York.

Postmaster General Hitchcock declares himself in favor of increasing the vacation period of letter carriers from 15 to 30 days annually, and moreover, has devised a scheme whereby these vacations can be granted in a manner that will save $250,000 this year in the cost of letter carriers' vacations. According to law, employees are allowed annually 15 days' leave of absence with pay.

Opening of Hope College

With about a hundred new students as well as the old students and a large number of friends of Hope College gathered in Winants Chapel yesterday morning, the opening exercises were held. The time-honored college yells, the good old song, "Old Hope, Thy Sons Around thee Standing," nine rahs for Dr. Kollen, and the new professors and various other exuberant student noises formed part of the exercises. After the usual devotional exercises and a pleasant address of welcome by Dr. Kollen, the speakers of the morning, Rev. A. L. Warnshuis and Rev. H. V. S. Peeke were introduced.

"Today men say the world is going to the dogs," was the trend of Rev. Warnshuis' remarks, "and our grandfathers said the same thing, and their great grandfathers before them, and even the primitive cave-dwellers voiced the same plaint. But the dogs are waiting yet and this old world goes right on progressing."

The speaker continued by outlining in what respects this age surpasses all other ages, and picturing a vision of still more wonderful progress. "Life is interesting today," he said, "and the interesting thing about it is that by planning man can almost make of himself what he wishes. Some men love merely to fill their stomachs, but they lose the zest of living."

"Now a college," continued the speaker "will not make a man a finished product. He must do his own planning and realize his own vision. The college life that is filled with hard work is bound to be full of satisfaction, but in order to attain the highest satisfaction the motive should be clear and direct, large enough for a whole life time, and high enough for all aspirations, which last is comprised in the 'words for Jesus sake.'"

In conclusion Rev. Warnshuis touched on Kipling's wellknown sentiment on the diversity of the East and the West, declaring that they were bound to come into close relationship.

It was a wonderfully eloquent address, and the speech that followed was no less so. Rev. Peeke spoke only a few minutes, because he had to catch a train out of the city. He emphasized some time-worn precepts and showed them under interestingly new colors. College life, he said, is the best time of a person's life because the student gets into contact with superior men and women. There is such a thing as passive influence of educational surroundings that is of immense value to the student. In the long run faithfulness counts, and every man, even though he is but a mediocre student, can be faithful.

This morning active work was begun in the college, in the various recitation rooms.

TWO BROTHERS KILLED IN DESPERATE FIGHT

TWO BROTHERS, ONE FIANCE, AND AN INNOCENT BYSTAND-ER ARE KILLED IN DUEL.

Rome.—The Latin temperament is ever ready to fly to extremes, and particularly when jealousy supplies the motive. Thus it was that the little village of Genzano, near this city, was a few days ago provided with all the elements of a lurid melodrama. Evaristo Apenni was madly enamored of a certain Esmeralda Bernoni, who, however, had given her heart to Arturo Caroggi. Between the Apenni and Bernoni families a good deal of rancor had arisen on this account, which had hitherto only found expression in scowling looks and muttered threats.

A few evenings ago, however, Evaristo Apenni, boiling with rage under the effects of a new repulse by the enchanting Esmeralda, was walking through the streets of Genzano, in company with his brother Saverio, when they met Achille and Cesare Bernoni, brothers of the fair enslaver, and the latter's father. A few brief but exasperating words were exchanged, and soon long-bladed knives were hissing through the air. The two Bernonis, on the one side, and the two Apennis, on the other, separated for a brief moment to get breath, and then fell to again with redoubled vigor.

The second round was brief but decisive. Hardly had the preliminary feints for advantage been exchanged before the Apennis' knives struck home and the Bernonis fell to the ground mortally wounded. But the battle was not yet over, for a new combatant appeared on the field. This was the Bernonis' father, who, maddened by the sight of his two sons lying on the ground with their life-blood ebbing away, pulled out his revolver and fired two shots at the Apennis. Neither bullet took effect. Achille Bernoni, however, although lying wounded on the ground, had yet sufficient strength left to enable him to draw his revolver also. Four times he pulled the trigger, and although he missed his antagonist, one of the shots struck a passer-by, Francesco Valente, who was killed.

Meanwhile, on hearing the firing, the carabinieri hurried to the spot, and on their appearance the Apennis took to flight. The father of the Bernonis was arrested with the revolver in his hand and his two sons were taken to the hospital, where they expired. After a brief chase Saverio Apenni was caught by the police, but so far Evaristo has eluded the vigilance of his pursuers.

FIGHT SNAKES IN A CAVERN

Three Pennsylvania Women Berry Pickers Fall into Mine and Battle with Reptiles.

Pittsburg.—Three women who went out to pick berries on a farm about three miles from Latrobe were rescued late the other afternoon by farm hands, after being buried in an abandoned coal mine for five hours, in which time they fought with a nest of huge snakes. Two of the women became hysterical on their release and are in a serious condition.

The women were Mrs. Maggie Maler, Mrs. Mary Sarfano and Mrs. Florence Lacey from Latrobe. As they invaded an inviting field of berries the earth suddenly yawned and swallowed them. All three fell about 25 feet through a break in the roof of an abandoned mine and into a pool of shallow water.

They forgot their injuries when they felt the snakes wriggling about them in the darkness, and, picking up broken timbers, they fought the reptiles and screamed for help. They killed 15 reptiles before their cries were heard by John Stump, and a party of farm hands.

Their efforts to raise the women were unavailing, as every time Stump went near the edge of the cavity the earth crumbled away. Finally, the men unhitched a team, and, throwing the lines to the women, drew them up one at a time.

BOUND TO GET THAT BARGAIN

Determined Woman Shopper Would Not Let Little Thing Like Closing Time Interfere.

"You're too late," said the man, "they're closing up." The woman looked at the door of the store where a boy was drawing down a curtain. "It's not six o'clock," she said determinedly; "they can't close 'till six o'clock. Wait here for me." She tried the door and found it opened to her hand.

The woman went in and found a scene of confusion. Shoppers were being skillfully hustled toward the door with due respect to their feelings, and down every aisle people were covering the counters with protecting covers.

Young women with mouthfuls of hatpins scowled at her and continued to put on their hats. Men in shirt sleeves who were carefully protecting the stock looked at her and said things to each other.

A procession of employees passed on its way to outer air and freedom and clouds of dust arose.

Outside the man stood on one leg and watched the curtained door. He tried to give himself the air of one waiting for a car, and hoped nobody would mistake him for a Johnnie waiting at the door for the ladies to get through work.

The stragglers grew fewer and fewer. The door opened less frequently to let them out. And at last through the door came the woman in triumph. She had a package in her hand and did not seem to observe that the man who let her out muttered and slammed the door after her, securely locking it.

"I've got it," she said triumphantly. "You see I just had to. The sale was only for to-day, and all their 50-cent ribbon was reduced to 39 cents."

FLOWER OF THE TEA PLANT

Said to Be Superior to the Leaves in Flavor and Hard to Adulterate.

It seems that the flower of the tea plant is much to be preferred to the leaf, says the Scientific American. The infusion of the flower is very sweet and has the same stimulating qualities as the infusion of the leaves. Moreover, the flower contains only about two per cent. caffeine, while the leaf contains as much as four per cent.

Tea leaves must be picked one by one; the flowers, on the contrary, are collected much more simply. The principal quality of the flower is the difficulty of imitating it.

Imitations of leaves are innumerable. Most astonishing adulterations of tea leaves are practiced in China. The oak, the eglantine, the ash, the strawberry, the laurel, the cherry, the chestnut, the olive, the elm, the apple and the plum—in fact, almost every tree that grows—offers its leaves freely to unscrupulous dealers for mixture. Even ordinary wood sawdust, properly colored, has been employed.

Fancy teas are adulterated with clay and other mineral substances. The tea flower is more or less proof against imitation.

LOST—Sorority pin at Macatawa.

VOODOOISM CAUSES KILLING OF COWS

LEADS TO THE WANTON SLAUGHTER OF MANY HEAD OF FINE CATTLE.

LIBERAL REWARD IS OFFERED

Only the Hide and Heart Are Taken from the Dead Animals, According to the Old Aztec Practice.

San Antonio, Tex.—An outbreak of voodooism is responsible for the mysterious killing of many fine cows in the vicinity of this city. Many owners of cattle living in the suburbs have looked in vain for their milk purveyors in the morning.

The gentle friend of the family was found to be missing and the instituted search usually disclosed her body in the chapparal. G. A. Davis of this city was one of the first to miss his valuable Jersey in this manner and since then others have sustained similar losses.

The odd feature of the case was that nothing but the hide and the heart of the animal were missing. At first it was thought that the animals had been killed for their skins, but a close watch kept over the dealers in hides has shown that so far none of the hides has been disposed of.

Sheriff Lindsey and his deputies have been working day and night to get a clew that might lead to a complete solution of the mystery, but so far they have not been successful. The offer of a substantial reward has now been called to their aid.

Though the Mexican population of San Antonio is a very orderly and law abiding one as a whole, there is enough of an indifferent element among them that would not be averse to committing these depredations if spurred on by what they would consider a religious motive. As is well known, the Indian strain is very prominent in the lower class Mexicans. As a matter of fact, in a large percentage of them the Spanish or other Aryan blood is a negligible quantity.

That some of the old Indian superstitions should have survived in them and be liable to periodical outbreaks is therefore not to be wondered at.

Indian voodooism, as practiced after the fall of the Aztec empire, is really nothing more than a continuation of the old Aztec religion, the principal feature of which was human sacrifice. The victims of the old Aztec priests suffered death by having their hearts torn out of their bodies by main force.

After the Spanish had succeeded in stamping out this barbarous practice the Indian tribes, still adhering to the faith of their fathers, though nominally Christian, took to sacrificing animals in the same manner that human beings had formerly been sacrificed, and, like all primitive people, thought to appease their gods best by sacrificing that which was considered most cherished.

In tearing out the animal's heart the object to-day is to get possession of the blood contained in it. To this fluid are ascribed a number of miraculous properties of a disease combating nature.

The authorities of this city and county are in no mood to permit as noxious a practice as voodooism to flourish under their very noses. Though a number of arrests have been made, more important clews are now being followed, and further developments are anticipated as a result of the reward offered.

Of all people the low-class Mexican is the least able to withstand the lure of money. Every effort will be made to get the high priest of the cult into the clutches of the law.

The punishments that will be meted out will no doubt be such as to make adherence to voodooism and its attendant features very undesirable.

Russia's New Naval Base.

London.—The Russian government has decided to abandon Kronstadt as the headquarters of the Baltic fleet. It is considered that Kronstadt, which is only 20 miles from St. Petersburg, is much too near the capital to be safe in these days of long range guns. The new naval base is to be Sveaburg, the island fortress five miles south of Helsinki.

"The Three Twins" at the Holland Fair. Come and be convinced.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Frodin left yesterday for their home in Chicago, after spending a successful season at the resorts.

A very quiet wedding, witnessed by relatives only took place yesterday morning at 9:30 at the home of Prof. John E. Kuizenga, when M. Verwey, daughter of Mrs. Isaac Verwey, was united in marriage to H. McAvoy of Grand Rapids. Mr. and Mrs. McAvoy will make their home in Grand Rapids.

Last evening the marriage occurred of Miss Julia Kuite and Henry C. Sprietsma at the home of the bride's mother Mrs. A. Kuite, 126 West Tenth street. Prof. Kuizenga, of Hope College, performed the ceremony and the ring service was used. A large number of guests attended the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Sprietsma escaped to Chicago in spite of all the vigilance of their friends. The young couple will make their home at 126 West Tenth street.

Nothing was done last night at the council meeting on the salary dispute. The Board of Public Works sent a communication to the council respectfully protesting against their previous action, and sent along with the petition of the employees at the water station for higher wages without recommendation. The council voted to file the communication and refer the petition back to the Board. As the matter now stands it seems that the city employees will not receive their raise until the council gives in on the salary raise.

At the meeting of the Board of Education Monday night, the regular routine business took up most of the time. A great deal of interest had been aroused in the meeting by the opinion handed down by City Attorney Van Duren that the purchase of supplies by any board from its members was illegal. When the long list of bills was read, among them accounts payable to Trustees B. Steketee and Henry Vanderploeg they were approved by the board. Dr. Mersen tried to bring the matter to a discussion but a curt motion to adjourn made by Mr. Steketee put a crimp in his plans and the matter was dropped for the time being.

Meetings will be held Thursday evenings, the membership fee being 50 cents with a weekly fee of 10 cents to pay for the rent of hall, music, etc.

This is the last issue of the News before Home Coming Week which will be the biggest event our city has ever seen. The Woman's Literary club will present "The Tie That Binds" a society drama, in Price's rink Sept. 22 and 24. The members of the caste have been working and were carefully selected with a view to the roles they are each to portray. Tickets are now on sale either from the ladies of the club or members of the caste for 35 and 50 cents.

Anthony Haverkamp, a graduate from Hope college at Holland, Mich. and who has completed the first year's course at the Seminary and who has been preaching in North and South Dakota the past year, occupied the pulpit in the Dutch Reformed church of this village Sunday. He delivered a worthy and interesting sermon which greatly surprised his many friends here. Mr. Haverkamp is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haverkamp of this village.—Sheboygan Herald.

Bitten by a rattlesnake which lay in a pile of wood from which he had been taking sticks to split, Thomas Damm a Hudsonville farmer walked a considerable distance to his home last Thursday night, and after suffering terrible agony during the night, died the next morning. The rattler lay underneath the wood and struck almost without warning, his fangs penetrating deep into the man's left arm. The injured man started to walk home, about a mile north of Hudsonville, but the poison began to act before he reached there, and he fell in the road several times. Physicians were called immediately upon his arrival but the poison had done its work and his arm was swollen twice its normal size and he died in agony.

Big Game

One of the biggest cards without doubt of Holland's Home Coming Week will be the game between the Independent of 1909 and the Old Time Independents of 1898. While in Detroit at the State Fair last week N. J. Whelan had a talk with Niel Ball and the famous Cleveland shert stop assured Mr. Whelan that he would surely be here to play his game.

The News has been in communication with some of the Old Timers as well as with various members of the present Independents and they are all enthusiastic over the game. Even Prof. "Rat" Rottschaefer will be here. Prof. "Rat" is teaching such intricate matters as conservation of energy and quadratic equations to the high school boys and girls at Bellevue, Mich., but the little fair there happened to come on the same dates as our Home Coming Week and so "Rat" will get a chance to play with his team.

Although the challenge of the Old Timers was accepted soon after it was made to the Holland team, the official notice which is here reprinted was sent some time later: Mr. Jake Van Patten, Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sir: The Holland Independents of 1909 accept the challenge of the Independents of 1899 for a game to be played during Home Coming Week. The game is to be played on the 19th street diamond on Friday forenoon, Sept. 24, 1909. The game shall be called at 9:30 and the receipts will be divided 50 and 50 after deduction of expenses.

Parties desiring to rent rooms to students will please notify Prof. A. Raap, 20 E. 24th St. State number of rooms, whether furnished or unfurnished, whether light and heat are included and cost of rooms. Also anyone who desires girl students to work for their board please hand in name and address.

DON'T WAIT

Take advantage of a Holland Citizen's Experience Before Its Too Late.

When the back begins to ache, Don't wait until backache becomes chronic; Till serious kidney troubles develop; Till urinary troubles destroy night's rest. Profit by a Holland Citizens' Experience.

Michael Schwarz, retired dairyman, 689 Central Ave., Holland, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family with great benefit. Last fall I caught a severe cold which settled in my kidneys and I was soon annoyed by dull heavy pains across the small of my back. I could not bend or lift without suffering terribly and my condition gradually grew worse. I was telling a neighbor of my trouble and he advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I procured a box at Doesburg's drug store and after using them a short time I felt greatly relieved. I continued taking them and when I had used half the contents of the box, the backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble had disappeared. I give Doan's Kidney Pills my hearty endorsement."
