HOLLAND MAN MADE $100,000

W. E. Lockhart of Sioux City, Iowa came thro' Holland to visit his brother Theodore who lives south of the city. Mr. Lockhart, twenty years ago, was a telegraph dispatcher at Shelby on the C. & W. M. line and was one of Holland's boys. Shortly after that time he moved west and finally located at Sioux City, Iowa, where he went into the restaurant business.

This new venture was a success from the start, and with other successful enterprises he invested in, he made upward of $100,000. He is now touring the country in his large car. He says that Holland is the prettiest and the best located city of any of the towns he has come across in his travels.

Mr. Lockhart may eventually locate in Holland.

PRICE HERE AND ABROAD

Editor of The Holland City News: I note in the Press of Aug. 27 an article by Bryon W. Holt, chairman of tariff reform committee, New York in which prices of farming tools, etc., are compared as sold here and for export to Canada or Europe. The usual one-sided view that a freetrader usually regales us with is given also in that article. If the statement was the whole and not a one-sided statement of the matter it would prove that Canada and Europe are a paradise for farmers, and the miracle of all is that they persist in coming to the United States instead of the flow of emigration being the other way.

The Cleveland administration and congress of 1892-1896 tackled our tariff and we all know the result: Supposing it were true that the tariff had raised the price on all a farmer buys 15 to 37 per cent; what of it? The price of all he has to sell are from 50 to 100 per cent higher than in the Cleveland era of low tariff glory. The wonder is that the farmers do not cry out for a little more tariff more tariff taxing.

Now as to prices outside. I was in the Netherlands in 1903 and again in 1906. In the first year named I visited an agricultural fair. I saw on exhibit an American mower, selling here at that time at retail at $45. I inquired the price there and the reply was 160 guilders, that is, $64 American money. I saw a shed where were exhibited small farming tools, such as field hoes, garden hoes, spades, shovels, grain scoops, hay forks, manure forks, etc. Taking a field hoe, such as I had paid 35 cents for here at De Pree Co.'s hardware store. I asked its price. The answer was one and one-half guilders, that is, 60 cents American money. Now note that the mower was of 1901 make and out of date here and the hoe had the label on the handle of our state prison at Jackson. It may be true that the export price is below our wholesale price, though I do not believe it, but the price to the consumer is far higher there than here. Then note this fact: the farm laborer's wage for a twelve-hour day averages 1 guilder; his hoe that he works with costs him one and a half day's work. Suppose our American farm laborer earns but $1.40 and we all know he gets more per day; he gets four hoes for a day's work, or in other words his day's labor has six times the purchasing power of that of the Netherlands man.

In Cleveland's days wheat brought 46 cents a bushel and was largely fed to cattle and horses. O, what a glorious time for the consumer. Yes, if he could have sold his labor, but he could not. They stood around your street corners or were seen wending their way to the soup kitchen that charity, provided. Suppose you can buy no more for a day's work now than then, the difference is that now that labor is employed and feeds itself; then it stood idle on the street and the soup kitchen was the result. If those who have become voters since 1896 hanker after the experience of their fathers let them vote for "tariff reform" and the Democratic Party. C. Van Loo, Zeeland Mich.

FERRIS-WILSON CLUB

A large and enthusiastic audience greeted Woodbridge N. Ferris candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket. So well pleased are the local democrats that they intend starting a Ferris and Wilson Club.

The leading democrats are already taking the necessary steps towards organizing.

Wrong Impression

An item appearing in that State Press and which is liable to create confusion among the voters of the state, reads to the effect that: All voters are compelled to register before they can vote at the November election. This is not true, but only holds good in cities whose charters especially provide for re-registration this year. Holland does not come under this head. In this city we register every eight years and as registration took place four years ago there are still four years more before a re registration takes place.

Of course this does not eliminate the regular registration day at which time new voters and voters who have changed their place of residence can register. This will remain the same as it always has been.

Meeuwse Drain Case up

The drain case of Dan Meeuwse, et. al. against the Ottawa County Drain Commissioner is being tried in circuit court today. Diekema, Kollen & TenCate are representing the complainant and Smedley, Linsey, & Lillie are appearing for the defendant. The case has been on since yesterday and will be followed by several other important matters which will keep the court in session for another week. Cases are also set for September 30 which will probably keep the August term in session until the first of October.

Cubebs Versus Cigarettes

William Hovenga who was recently arrested by Officer Steketee, who found him in The Palace pool room smoking cigarettes was tried before Justice Robinson yesterday. Prosecutor Osterhaus appeared for the People and Henry Rottschaffer of Ann Arbor pleaded for the boy. Rottschaffer contended that the boy was smoking cubebs instead of cigarettes and as proof, he had five other boy witnesses to substantiate these facts. Finally the boy was asked where he had purchased the cubebs but this he declined to state to the jury. The jury considered the evidence given by Officer Steketee of more value than that given by the five boy witnesses and brought in a verdict of guilty. Justice Robinson fined Hovenga ten dollars which he promptly paid. The jury consisted of Len' Vissers, Fred Steketee C. Blom Jr. Corneil Dornbos, Peter Notier, and John Oxner.

Barney Rickson Gets More Jobs

The board of county road commissioners met in an all day session at the court house Monday. Many representatives of road roller companies were present at the session and each was given a chance to interview the commission regarding their rollers. All bids were rejected however. Only one bid was received for hauling the gravel to Peach Plains road. Barney Rikson, the grading contractor, who has a number of grading jobs through out the county, was given two more contracts Monday, and will have the jobs of grading a mile of road on the proposed Muskegon road, and two miles on the Zeeland town line road.

PARTICLE TO TROUSERS

Muskegon, Mich., September 18—Two daring robberies in less than a week, in which the burglars entered residences, took the trousers of the male members of the families into the yards and emptied the pockets, are puzzling the local police. At the residence of Peter Zinn, Monday night the burglars secured $14 and a watch, while last night former Patrolman Charles C. Knedler lost his trousers and $23. His son's trousers, which were hanging in a clothes closet, were also removed. The wearing apparel was found in the back yard this morning.

He graduated from Hope College three years ago and has since been taking a theological course at the New Brunswick Theological Seminary. Some time ago he received the appointment for the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed church, as missionary to North Japan.

DRENTHÉ

Talk about your bumper crops of the west, the prairie farm has got to go some to beat Michigan soil of this locality, especially in the vicinity of Drenthe. And when it comes to knowing how to maintain the fertility of the soil the Drenthe farmer can show the westerner around some. As evidence of the above the recent report of E. G. Brouwer, a prominent Drenthe farmer will be interesting.

Mr. Brouwer the past week dug up a hill of potatoes on his farm in which he found 69 tubers large and small. Mr. Brouwer's farm is located a half mile south and a quarter mile east of the village of Drenthe and all other crops on the place are in proportion. His land is valued at $200 per acre.

"HOLLAND, THE CITY OF ADVANTAGES" IS TITLE OF VOLUME SOON TO APPEAR.

Work on "Holland, the City of Advantages," a handomely illustrated book, depicting both in picture and photographs the many thriving industries, the numerous health resorts and the splendid agricultural advantages of this city and surrounding territory, which is being published by the Dearborn Corporation, Holland's newest industry, for the local Board of Trade, is progressing rapidly and promises to be the greatest advertisement the city ever had.

Harry Wilkinson, the author, specially engaged by the Dearborn Corporation, to compile the publication met with much success on his several visits to the city, a majority of the manufacturing industries supporting the publication loyally, while the remainder have promised to do their part toward making the publication a success.

Retailers are also interested in this means of advertising the city because they realize that it will greatly increase the city's population through the new industries it is instrumental in bringing here, thus creating a bigger and better market for their goods. Officials of the Board of Trade are much gratified over the progress of the work and promise to give it a national circulation when completed.

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by all dealers.

The full amount which the high school will cost will be about $110,000 the balance being expended for the site and for other purposes.

The building committee of the board of education met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of opening and tabulating the bids. There were about 50 men present and the meeting was held in the Board of Trade room in the city hall. ### E. P. DAVIS GIVES HIS IDEAS ON EXTENSION MATTER

So Says Manager, And This Company
Will Not Extend Mains to Macatowa and Zeeland.

In regard to the proposed furnishing of gas to Macatowa and Zeeland, E. P. Davis, manager of the local gas plant, gave the following interview to the Holland City News:

"Our company has not deemed it necessary to call public attention to the improvements that it has been compelled to make at its works in order to give service but has taken it for granted that the fact is known from observation that the improvements recommended and stated by Col. Pratt to be necessary have been made. My attention however has been called to a recent article published in the Holland City News and I am led to think there is some misunderstanding in reference to the company's financial condition. After the amendment to the company's franchise was defeated the men who organized the Holland City Gas company and who were responsible to the investors who put their money in the enterprise, personally loaned the company enough money to make the present improvements in order that the company might give service and preserve the investment of its stockholders even though this investment has been a losing one. The Holland City Gas Company as a company is not proposing to extend its mains to Macatowa Park nor to Zeeland. This is an undertaking of others the only interest the Holland company has in the matter is that it may have an opportunity to furnish additional gas for which it now has ample capacity. The Holland company is still in financial straits and is dependent entirely upon the generosity of those who organized the company. Col. Pratt's report demonstrated conclusively that the company was losing money and what Col. Pratt said in his report is still true. The earnings of the company last year were not sufficient to even 5% on the valuation fixed by Col. Pratt."

Mr. Davis said that in view of past events he hoped for once the people of Holland would believe the Gas Company's statements and said that the city had paid Col. Pratt $1000 to find out that the Gas company had been for years telling the truth about its operations and that the county of Ottawa had paid upwards of $15000 to find out that the company's officials were not a lot of crooks. Mr. Davis said that one thing he knew the people would believe and that was that the service now being rendered is very much better than it has been in the past and that a great improvement has been made therein. In fact Mr. Davis said that for some time past the Gas Company had not received a single complaint as to the quality of gas or pressure, except in a few cases where the trouble in the service pipes. The company is making just as good gas as can be made from coal, he continued, and while the heat units on a test made by the city engineer do not always come up to the 600 mark prescribed by the council yet that is something that could not be avoided. There is just so much in coal and the coal varies in quality. Mr. Davis says he is extracting all the heat he can from the coal as he receives it. Mr. Davis says that 550 heat units is the usual number prescribed for coal gas plants and that on that basis the gas furnished is of the very best quality and especially taking into consideration that since the city commenced to test the gas about a year ago the average of the company has never been below 596. Mr. Davis thinks that if the persons who use the gas do not find any fault with it and are satisfied that the politicians ought to be satisfied too.

FEET ARE INJURED WHEN IT STEPS ON BLAZING BOARD.

Fire broke out at about 1 o'clock Friday night in the house occupied by the family of B. Gallie, 13 East 9th street. Both departments immediately responded to the call and they saved part of the building. The downstairs was pretty well gutted by the fire and much of the furniture was destroyed. The upstairs was occupied by George Allen but this part was not touched by the flames. The fire broke out in a closet under the stairway but the cause is unknown.

When the fire was discovered Mrs. Gallie ran out of the building carrying a young child. She placed it on the walk and proceeded to try to save some of the furniture. The infant left alone ran back into the building and stepping on a piece of burning wood its feet were injured so that medical attention was necessary.

DE PREE CHEMICAL COMPANY BRANCHES OUT SOME MORE.

Plant Grew From Small Beginning;
Its Products Go to All Parts of The Globe.

The De Pree Chemical company has let the contract for a large addition to its present factory equipment to Mr. A. Postma. The building will be erected on the vacant lot owned by the company lying just south of the present plant and extending to Sixth street, the building to be a 28 ft. wide by 84 feet long, three stories and a basement. This will be the third addition to the factory building originally erected in 1907. The business of the company has grown steadily since its original incorporation until today they occupy floor space of over 30,000 square feet, and probably no institution in the city can show a healthier or more rapid growth.

The business was originally incorporated for the purpose of manufacturing and marketing a formaldehyde fumigator, with small capital, but with the growth of its business its capital was gradually enlarged, and its articles of association amended to permit of the manufacturing and marketing of other specialties, and the company is gradually broadening out in this direction.

It is today a very important factor in the manufacture of embalming fluid, being one of the five largest concerns of this kind in the country. The company recently shipped a car load of embalming fluid to a jobber in Minneapolis, which was the largest individual order for embalming fluid ever taken, and is at present accumulating in its factory an even larger carload shipment going to the Pacific coast.

Several other preparations have been originated and are now ready for the market, and it is the purpose of the company to gradually extend its operations along these lines, selling their products through the sales organization that has so successfully marketed its other specialties.

Its formaldehyde fumigator is now known throughout the entire country as the standard fumigating device of the country, and is in use by the health departments of over 70 per cent of all the cities in the United States of a population of ten thousand or over. In addition to that these fumigators are being used by the Territorial Health Department of Hawaii, and are being used extensively in China, and but recently a good sized shipment was made to Cairo, Egypt.

MRS. PARDEE TO BE CHIEF CHARACTER IN "GIRL AND SOLDIER."

Rehearsals for the military cantata "Girl and Soldier" are in progress for the performance tomorrow night.

The piece is based on incidents preceding the Spanish-American war, with scenes at Richmond, Va., and at Tampa Fla. The part of the Spanish girl Inez, will be taken by Mrs. Pardee whose rich voice and charming personality suit the part to perfection. It is her duty to the Spanish government to ingratiate and entertain the American officers to obtain secrets of army movements. ## MILWAUKEE'S MORNING AFTER Milwaukee is recovering from its Socialist spree and is counting its money to find out how much its brief orgy cost. The calculation took some time, for the accounts of the repudiated administration were left in much confusion, and it is only now that anything like a clear idea of the waste is becoming known.

According to the reports submitted within the last few days by the city controller, the extravagance of the Socialist regime exceeded anything in the previous history of the city. The commissioner of public works adds testimony as to the compensation of Milwaukee received for this unprecedented outlay of money, and declares that every department of the municipal government shows an enormous wastefulness. Citing the paving expenditures, he says that of the paving laid in the last year of the Socialist control 50 per cent had to be torn up and rebuilt. There was a pretense of economy in this item, but the cheap quality of material used has cost more through immediate repairs than the more enduring pavements laid at a higher expense.

The lesson should be plain to all, inspired by the best of motives the Socialists were mere theorists, gaining office by that easiest of methods, criticism of other people, but displaying in practice faults that were doubly worse than those they condemned. Inexperience and inefficiency never succeed in individual affairs and they are as disastrous in public life.

THE COLONEL'S DOUGH BAG

George B. Cortelyou became President Roosevelt's private secretary Sept. 16, 1901. He remained in that confidential position for over a year and a half. President Roosevelt took him into the cabinet Feb. 16, 1903, as the first secretary of the department of commerce and labor. Mr. Cortelyou remained in that confidential position until June 22, 1904, when he was personally selected by President Roosevelt to act as chairman of the republican national committee for the campaign of that year.

The late Cornelius N. Bliss was treasurer of the republican national committee in the same campaign. President Roosevelt would have preferred him to Cortelyou as chairman. In an official statement issued from the White House Nov. 4, 1904, President Roosevelt said he chose Cortelyou for chairman "after having failed successively to persuade Mr. Elihu Root, Mr. W. Murray Crane and Mr. Cornelius N. Bliss to accept the position." In his recent reply to the Standard Oil-Penrose charges Roosevelt describes Mr. Bliss as "a New York business man of stainless probity and integrity."

He was treasurer of the national republican committee when Mr. McKinley ran for president both times, and continued in that position while I was president.

Yet for all his intimacy with both Cortelyou and Bliss, for all his obvious knowledge of their campaign methods, for all his inevitable knowledge of Mr. Bliss's source of revenue in the two McKinley campaigns, for all his active interest in every phase of his own campaign in 1904, Mr. Roosevelt was not only totally ignorant of any campaign contribution from the Standard Oil Co., until after $100,000 had been received from the trust and spent, but Mr. Roosevelt was also totally ignorant of the fact that Bliss, and not Cortelyou, was in full charge of campaign collections. And so Mr. Roosevelt wrote to Cortelyou, not to Bliss, to warn him not to accept any Standard Oil cash—two or three weeks after the cash had been accepted, according to the sworn testimony of Archbold, the Standard Oil remittance man.

Mr. Roosevelt made the same mistake more than once. He wrote a second time to Cortelyou and finally telegraphed him. And all the time Cortelyou had nothing to do with it. Cortelyou had said so under oath, to wit at a congressional hearing in Washington, July 11, 1912:

I had practically nothing to do with the matter of collecting. That was entirely under the supervision of the treasurer of the committee (Mr. Bliss).

Too bad Mr. Roosevelt did not know that. No doubt it never occurred to Mr. Roosevelt that Mr. Bliss, who had been republican treasurer in the golden harvest campaigns of 1896 and 1900, would even think of taking money from a trust in 1904. Had this occurred to the colonel's usually alert mind he would have been able to call Mr. Bliss off right there and then, and so save himself much tedious embarrassment in 1912.

But it isn't as embarrassing as it might be. Thank goodness, Mr. Cortelyou told the colonel just the other day that he had shown Bliss those letters and telegrams back in 1904, and that Bliss said "no Standard Oil money had been received." And besides, Mr. Bliss is dead.

These are the shingles for economical builders to buy. Have had a ten-year test—no painting or repairs are ever necessary. Reynolds Asphalt Shingles are fire resisting and do not color rain water. 8x12 1/2 inches and lay 4 inches to the weather. Beware of imitations. ## WHAT YOU SAW IN THIS PAPER WHAT YOU SAW 35 YEARS AGO

Blom and Spijker have moved their place of business to the Michigan House, near the Chicago depot, and have added all kinds of cold eatables to their former business.

A son of Mr. Rozenboom, about 14 years of age was bitten by a rattlesnake in his right wrist on Wednesday last, while playing near the swamp. The father and son came running down town in terrible distress and went to Dr. Morris, who administered some powerful antidotes. The boy will get well.

WHAT YOU SAW 30 YEARS AGO

Prof. Kollen and lady returned last Thursday from a trip through the Western States.

The most interesting event of the week to many of our citizens, was the farewell address of, and the public reception tendered to Rev. Dr. Hoedemeker, on last Tuesday evening. At an early hour the College Chapel was filled with people from this city and a great many were to be seen in the audience who had come from their homes in our neighboring towns and hamlets.

A curiosity not often seen in this part of the country exists in the garden of Mr. D. Cutler in the shape of a banana tree in full blossom. If the fruit should ripen it will add another attraction to the Michigan fruit belt.

WHAT YOU SAW 25 YEARS AGO

Saturday evening Mr. Lucas De Klein of Drenthe, while milking a cow, received the force of a kick from the animal in the abdomen. He was somewhat started, but felt no particular pain and resumed his task. Shortly afterwards he was taken with a fainting attack and went to the house and laid down. Physicians were summoned immediately and they did all in their power for him but without avail. He died Tuesday night from the injury.

Cards were issued and sent out last Monday announcing the marriage of Mr. William Z. Bangs and Miss Josephine V. Kiekintveld on Thursday, September 8. The many friends of this young couple join the "News" in wishing them a happy and prosperous voyage through life on their matrimonial bark.

WHAT YOU SAW 20 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, while engaged about the tannery, John J. Cappon met with an accident which might have resulted more seriously. A brick, falling from a height of about sixteen feet, struck him on the side of the head. Fortunately it glanced producing however a slight scalp wound and rendering him senseless for awhile. Dr. O. E. Yates was called in to dress the wound.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Johannes De Weerd Wednesday—a daughter.

John L. Sullivan, the great slugger, has been vanquished, and from now on takes a back seat among the fistic fraternity. His successful antagonist is James J. Corbett, who laid him out in a hotly contested and bloody ring fight at New Orleans, Wednesday evening. It took twenty one rounds to do it in, and besides his honors? Corbett also rakes in a $35,000 purse.

WHAT YOU SAW 15 YEARS AGO

Messrs. W. H. Beach and James Cook have purchased the large flourishing establishment known as the "Little Wonder Mill" from H. H. Karsten at Zeeland and will take possession next Monday. The plant was established in 1894 and has proven a profitable investment.

George John Steggerda and Miss Sena Ter Vree were married at the home of the bride Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. J. Van Houte. They will reside on East Ninth Street.

Cards are out announcing the wedding of Miss Anna Dykema and Nick Kammeraad on Wednesday evening, Sept. 22nd, at the residence of the bride's parents.

The remains of Albertus Van Duren arrived here from Grand Rapids on Monday morning. A short funeral service was held at the home of his brother, G. J. Van Duren, Rev. T. J. Bergen, officiating.

Last Friday afternoon death removed an aged and respected widow in the person of Mrs. Rieterella Ver Schure. Although 82 years of age she was sound and vigorous, physically and mentally until a week before her death when she sustained a stroke of heart failure.

WHAT YOU SAW 10 YEARS AGO

Cornelius De Roo, was one of the chief attractions at the fair yesterday. With Ray Hadden as a subject he gave an exhibition in hypnotism and spiritualism and the excellence of his oratory drew the largest crowd of the day to his temporary stand. He imitated the professors of hypnotism to perfection and touched upon questions of the day in an entertaining style. So impressed were John J. Rutgers, candidate for register of deeds, and A. B. Bosman, president of the fair association, with his oratorical accomplishments that they advanced him a salary for his days work.

METERS IN LOCAL FACTORIES

At a meeting of the board of public works Monday it was decided to put all fire connections of manufacturing concerns on the meter basis. At present the factories have water connections at their plants for protection against fires but they are not metered. The Board has decided to change this system and at each plant a meter will be put in. Since the putting in of meters will be considerable of an expense the board had decided that the city stand half of the expense and the concerns are to pay the other half.

This action on the part of the board of public works is in keeping with the action recently taken to find out just where all the water goes to. Without a complete system of meters the department cannot tell when there are leakages or not. All that can be determined at present is that much more water is being used than is paid for. Recently it was determined to find out just where the water went and if a complete system of meters has been installed and is still more water is used than is recorded on the meters it will be a sign that there is some leakage perhaps in the pipes.

CHRISTIAN REFORMED BOARD HAS NO FUNDS TO STATION THOSE CHURCHES FURNISH.

Although for many years the Christian Reformed church of America has found great difficulty in securing missionaries to work in its field, the time has now come when the church finds mission field has established among the Indians of New Mexico and Arizona, a board of five members was appointed to take charge of it, as well as call men to the field. Two missionaries and a number of helpers were secured by this board. Further attempts were made to secure helpers, but after 15 calls had been extended the board gave up.

A movement was then started to have the individual churches call as well as support the missionaries. The Eastern avenue church of Grand Rapids was the first to respond to the call, and Rev. J. W. Brink, then pastor of Broadway church, was secured. He went to work with the support of that church. The churches of Paterson, N. J., were the next to respond and Rev. D. H. Muyskens was secured and sent to the field. Since that time the churches of the Classics of Muskegon, the churches of Roseland, a suburb of Chicago and the churches of Holland, and the Colbrook and Alpine avenue churches have declared themselves willing to send missionaries.

The board of the church must supply the funds for building the home of the workers to live in, as well as the station where they are to perform their work. Funds have been received to supply these places for all missionaries except the one which the Colbrook and Alpine avenue churches of Grand Rapids intend to call. According to the members of the board, it will do no good for these two churches to call a missionary, as the board could not place him.

The Alpine avenue church has been working over a year trying to support a missionary and now after forming an alliance with the Colbrook church to do so, it finds its plan frustrated.—G. R. Herald.

HAD BEEN LOST ON TEN ACRE FARM; FOUND ON GRAVEL ROAD.

When J. H. Heimbaugh lost a $700 diamond on his ten acre place along the lake shore he had little hope of ever recovering it. The diamond was lost from his ring and he prized it very highly because of its intrinsic value as well as for other reasons. All he knew was that the diamond had been lost somewhere on his 10-acre lot but he had no idea where to look for it. A search was begun and a great deal of time was spent by all the members of the family in looking for the valuable stone. Finally almost by accident the maid found the stone in the loose sand on the gravel road near the place.

"Five years ago two doctors told me I had only two years to live." This startling statement was made by Stillman Green, Malachite, Col. "They told me I would die with consumption. It was up to me then to try the best lung medicine and I began the use of Dr. King's New Discovery. It was well I did, for today I am working and believe I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure that has cheated the grave of another victim." Its folly to suffer with coughs, colds, or other throat and lung troubles now. Take the cure that's safest. Price 50 cents and $1. Trial bottles free at Walsh Drug Co., George Lage or H. R. Doesburg.

FORMER HOLLAND PLAYER TO SHARE IN WORLD SERIES MONEY IF BOSTON WINS

The fact that Boston is likely to win the pennant in the American League is of more than passing interest to fans in Holland, because of the fact that Neal Ball, the former Holland player, is a member of the Boston team and will share in the world's series money.

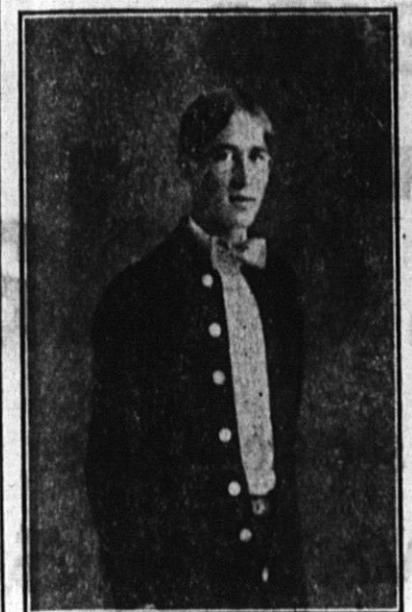

According to a local man who is well up on base ball, Neal Ball's share in the rake off which is likely to be either about $3500 or $2500, depending on the team which wins. Judging from other years and from the capacity of the baseball parks in which the series will be played each member of the winning team will get about $3500 as his share while each member of the losing team will get about $2500 as his share. And the chances are that the sum will be a little better than that this year.

Neal Ball has been with Boston since the first of July having been sold to that club by Cleveland. If Boston wins the American League pennant, the transfer will prove a lucky one for the former Holland man from a financial point of view.

EDWARD BROUWER OF THIS CITY GOES INTO BUSINESS

Edward Brouwer of this city has purchased the Madison Square Printing plant in Grand Rapids and has taken possession. It is a well established printing shop with three presses. Young Brouwer, who is only 20 years old, has been interested in printing for a number of years. He learned his trade in this city, having been employed by the Holland Printing company as in a number of the other shops in Holland. For the past two or three years he has been operating a foot press at his home and in this way he has learned most of the tricks of the trade.

SIXTY-SIX YEARS AGO SATURDAY LITTLE BAND WHICH SETTLED HOLLAND SAILED FROM ROTTERDAM

The most significant epoch in the history of Holland is being observed today, the sixty-sixth anniversary of the day when the first band of emigrants, under the leadership of Dr. A. C. Van Raalte, left Rotterdam on the American brig Southerner, commanded by Capt. Crosby, to find homes and liberty in the country over which waved the stars and stripes, the flag of freedom. For some time previous to the emigration of the little band, whose history is the history of this city, meetings has been held in Amsterdam and the idea of leaving the Netherlands has been discussed. Times has grown hard, and there seemed no prospect that a better condition of affairs could be brought about. Emigration seemed to be the only remedy open to the laboring people. America was settled upon as offering the best advantages. The Southerner reached New York, November 4, 1846.

From New York the party went to Albany, thence through Buffalo and Cleveland to Detroit. Here Dr. Van Raalte left the remainder of the party and came to western Michigan. The land contiguous to Black lake seemed the most favorable location.

Dr. Van Raalte was directed by an Indian guide to the spot where now stands the prosperous city of Holland which honors him as its founder. The country at that time was almost a wilderness, the only white settlers there being Missionary Smith, Isaac Fairbanks and G. Cramer. Dr. Van Raalte sent a few days in investigating the natural advantages offered to the colonists here and returned to Detroit to collect his scattered band. A party of Americans from Allegan were induced to instruct the Dutch in the art of chopping trees, building log houses and making roads, and the herculean task of making a place to live began in earnest.

An old Indian church which was conveniently located served as a lodging place. The first work was the opening of a road from the home of Isaac Fairbanks to Black lake. The first buildings erected were two log sheds, 16x30 feet in size, with roofs of brush, and these were used as receiving barracks for newcomers long after the first settlers had built for themselves more comfortable homes. In these buildings occurred the first death and the first birth.

The first winter was very severe the snow much of the time being over two feet deep. The cold weather was on before anything further than the first log sheds could be built. Supplies were brought from Allegan and the lack of roads made this a difficult task. Death visited the colony and Mrs. Notting was the first to go, while seven others followed during the winter. The first child was born in the family of Mr. Laarman and the second in the family of John Schaap. The first marriage was that of Lambert Floris and Janke Meyerink.

With the spring of 1847 emigrants began to arrive by the hundred and it was with difficulty that they were supplied with the necessities of life. Provisions were carried on the back for 10 or 20 miles and lumber was rafted at Saugatuck and floated down.

The religion for which the ancestors of the members of this colony had suffered was not forgotten in the new home and before the fall of 1847 arrived, a log church, 35x60 feet, with a shingle roof, had been erected. The old world idea of building a church in the cemetery was carried out in the building of this first house of worship and it was located in the southwest corner of Pilgrim Home cemetery. It was also considered a good idea of having the church situated so as to be easy of access to those residing in the country. A few years later the old Van Raalte church was built in town, despite strenuous opposition, and this church is Holland's landmark today. The log church was also utilized for a schoolhouse and public meetings.

From the first days of the settlement public meetings were held, at which affairs of the colony were discussed. The first township organization was launched in 1849, but the Hollanders had not yet become citizens and therefore could take no active part and had no right to vote until 1851. During these first years

The Holland high school class of 1913, will send its share of graduates to the University of Michigan next fall. Out of a class of 40 about 15 have already signified their intention of going to the university. Lowell McClellan, Corne Dronkers, Henry Boeve, Clifford Kalser, Andrew Tiesenga, Purlier Burkholder, George Smith, Edward Cathcart, Gertrude Kanter, Helene De Pree, Rose Slioter and Helen Fairbanks will enter the freshman class at U. of M. this fall.

Mrs. A. Heldke of 31 E. 17th St., won first premium on every article she exhibited at the Grand Rapids state fair, (art department.) But for the negligence of the management of the Indianapolis State fair which failed to return her goods in time, Mrs. Heldke would without doubt have drawn 25 premiums. As it is was there were only seven articles in the exhibit, each of which was decorated with the blue ribbon. At the close of the G. R. show the exhibit, including that which had been in Indianapolis, was shipped to the Michigan State fair in Detroit from whence it will go to Springfield, Ill.

Mrs. Heldke has also entered some goods at the Holland fair.

the colonists resolved themselves into a small democracy. All of the public affairs of the colony, whether religious, educational or social, were discussed and arrangements were made for the building of roads and bridges, for churches and schools, and the matter of labor was circulated.

Some of the first lumber to arrive was used to build a depot for the reception of the large number of emigrants who arrived during 1847 and 1848. This reception home was located just south of the "old channel." The majority of the colonists who came during this time landed at the mouth of Black lake, having come all the way by water. They journeyed from New York to Buffalo across the Hudson river the Erie canal, and then by streamers or sailing vessels around the lakes. So many of these emigrants arrived during the first year that C. Vander Veere was appointed as agent to receive them.

As the number of the colonists increased it was seen that the small amount of land that had been cleared would not furnish provisions for so many people, and every cleared spot within ten or fifteen miles was planted with potatoes, corn or buckwheat. Fish was appreciated for food, and A. Schilleman was sent to Saugatuck to learn the American way of catching them.

In June, 1847, a large delegation arrived here from the Netherlands, and after spending some time in looking for a location, finally decided on the site of the present city of Zeeland.

A colony store was one of the first business ventures of the colonists. A fund was raised and goods were bought in New York and Albany. B. Grootenhuis was appointed manager. Much bad luck attended the enterprise. Many of the goods which had been counted upon for winter supplies were delayed in transit, and did not arrive until spring. The next year the store was closed.

The first year of the colony was hard. The number of the colonists had increased so rapidly that it was impossible to supply the necessities. Houses were scarce and the food was of the coarsest. The climate was different from that they had been accustomed to and many fell sick with malarial diseases and from lack of proper care a large number died. There was only one doctor among the emigrants, who was aided by Dr. Van Raalte. As the summer advanced the amount of sickness grew alarming. The whole colony seemed to be but one bed of sickness. Physicians were summoned from abroad and gloom and despair reigned supreme. But when the cool days of fall came, the weather had a good effect and the sick recovered. So many had died that the colony seemed to be full of orphans and an orphan home was erected, but never used, as the little ones had found homes in other families.

During the fall of 1847 the village was platted. The administration and sale of lots was placed in the hands of a board of trustees, of which Dr. Van Raalte was the head. The price of lots was first placed at $10 and $15, but was soon advanced to $40 and $45. The money thus realized was used in building roads and bridges and in public buildings. In 1848 a postoffice was established, with Henry D. Post as postmaster. The first mail was brought by private route from Manlius. William Notting was the first mail carrier. Routes were soon established to Allegan, Grand Haven and Grand Rapids.

The first religious services were held in the open air, and all of the first summer the people worshiped under shady trees. Until 1867 the colony was a unit, when the village severed from the township and became incorporated as a city, with Isaac Cappon as the first mayor.

Too much cannot be said in commendation of Dr. Van Raalte. His presence was felt during the sad times of sickness and when death visited the colonists he was a tower of strength. He was always ready to aid, to counsel, to direct, and though like all leaders he received a share of the blame it was acknowledged by all that though he had made some mistakes, his course was the best for the colony. He was a man of liberal education, with decision and tenacity of character, the very man to be a leader in such an undertaking as the colonization of a new country, and as long as the city of Holland stands, he will be honored as its founder.
