Will Break Ground Soon For Vocational Building

Ground will be broken soon for the new building just west of the Junior High school gymnasium facing 16th St. which will house the Vocational school, the board of education was informed at its regular monthly meeting Monday night.

Brick and steel have been ordered and the brick is expected by Nov. 1. A. E. Van Lente, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, told the trustees. Brick on the new building will match that of Junior High school. The new building will be 12 feet from the gymnasium. It will be 44 feet wide and more than 100 feet long.

Tentative plans for housing the music department on the second floor of the building may be changed to make regular class rooms for the Junior High school, which then would be able to accommodate the seventh grade instead of maintaining East Junior High school, it was pointed out.

On recommendation of School Supt. Carroll C. Crawford, the board voted to impose a fee of $2 a semester for those students who borrow music instruments owned by the school. Reasons given are listed as follows: (1) If a student has an investment in an instrument he will use it more carefully than if it were used free; (2) It will discourage students from entering classes when they are not serious about learning to play an instrument; (3) Fees will help care for cost of repair and replacement of school instruments.

The fee will not be imposed for the heavier instruments such as basses which students are not likely to purchase themselves. If a student is financially unable to pay this rental fee, he will still be given the instrument to use.

Supt. Crawford also announced that plans have been adopted for classes to instruct 108 students in safe driving each Friday conducted by Malcolm Mackay of the faculty who attended a driver's education school at Traverse City Aug. 27 through Sept. 1. It is hoped a dual control car will be obtained for the students to use in practicing, Crawford said. The instruction will be in lieu of one day per week of physical instruction for the boys and study hall for the girls.

Announcement was made that the younger Auxiliary room taught by Mrs. Dena Schutmaat has been moved from East Junior High school to Washington school, so that children in this room will be in the same building with children of their own age.

On recommendation of the committee on teachers of which C. J. De Koster is chairman, the board voted to confer upon former Supt. E. E. Fell the honorary title of superintendent emeritus. This title which carries no duties or salary is customary in colleges and is bestowed on superintendents of schools, De Koster pointed out.

The board also approved the committee's recommendation to employ Carl Schulz as instructor in the Vocational school on a yearly basis on an annual contract instead of an hourly basis.

Bills allowed amounted to $29,882.20 of which $22,270.75 was for teachers' salaries.

Vice-President De Koster presided in the absence of President Martha D. Kollen who was ill. All other trustees were present.

Hart and Cooley Strike Unsettled

Employees of the Hart and Cooley Co. remained out on strike Tuesday after voting unanimously Monday afternoon to stay away until demands for a 10-cent-an-hour raise are met by management.

The management will continue its job evaluation study which will be completed in another two or three weeks, according to Manager Joe Kramer who contends that this will automatically adjust wages scales where they should be. He said the work is being conducted by independent outside engineers. He added that there have been no cuts in wages nor reduction in hours since V-J day.

Several employees continued "peaceful picketing" Tues. in order that nothing in the way of supplies enters or leaves the plant, but have not interfered with office personnel or maintenance men, according to Andrew Smeenge, chairman of the bargaining committee and president of the AFL machinists' lodge 1418 with which employees are affiliated.

Smeenge said there have been no general increases since 1941 and that the membership feels that the demand for 10 cents an hour is very lenient. He said U.S. Conciliator Rickett and Grand Lodge Representative Edward Merckert met Monday morning with union representatives and management but that nothing had been agreed upon. The two men together with Homer Provance, union business agent of the district, also were present at the afternoon meeting of the employees.

No new developments were reported Tues. in the strike at the Chris-Craft Corp. where employees have been out on a sympathy strike since Aug. 29.

Duel Fyffe, 41, oil well driver residing in Allegan, was assessed fine and costs of $107.15 after pleading guilty to a drunk driving charge before Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith Wednesday.

The charge was the result of an accident which occurred at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday on River Ave. between Seventh and Eighth Sts., in which Fyffe's car crashed into the rear of an auto waiting for the traffic signal. This machine was pushed against the car waiting ahead.

Driver of the car hit by Fyffe was Richard Bell, 21, route 4, and driver of the machine ahead was Louis Dierken, 46, Grand Rapids. Fyffe's car was damaged in the front and the other two cars in the rear.

Mrs. David Higgins, residing in a hotel in Allegan, traveling with Fyffe, suffered a bruise on the forehead when she was thrown against the cracked windshield.

Fyffe who was given an alternative of 60 days in jail was attempting to raise the money to pay. His driver's license will be revoked and his name will be added to Holland's liquor blacklist.

This Group Will Direct JCC Canvass for Homes for Vets

Every home in Holland and outlying areas will be canvassed next week beginning Monday to locate accommodations for the hundreds of veterans now returning to the city.

The canvass will be conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce under the direction of Bert Selles, chairman of the Veterans Housing committee, assisted by the JCC auxiliary and a large number of women formerly affiliated with OGD block mothers.

Purpose of the canvass is threefold: (1) To find which homes if any are available now; (2) To find out which homes could be made available with remodeling; (3) To find out how many families need accommodations.

Veterans Counselor Cornelius vander Meulen has reported that he has far more applications for accommodations by returning veterans than he has been able to supply. He expects conditions will be increasingly more critical within the next six months.

"Although next week's canvass is essential for fact-finding purposes, I strongly urge all owners of properties which could be put in shape for housing returning veterans and their families to give the matter their immediate consideration and to communicate these facts to the canvasser who calls," vander Meulen said. He added that the greatest need is for two and three room kitchenette apartments.

Selles said many persons who have extra rooms available but who would not normally consider renting them have expressed their willingness to do so temporarily, at least, for patriotic motives. He also stated that the questionnaires are drawn up to assemble pertinent data and all information will be treated as strictly confidential. The canvass is expected to be completed by Thursday. The area to be covered extends north to Lakewood Blvd. south to 40th St. west to Central park on the south side, to Pine lodge on the north side, and to the Waverly road on the east side.

Orthopedic Clinic Here This Week

Arrangements have been completed for an orthopedic clinic in Washington school today and Friday, which will be conducted by the Michigan Crippled Children's commission in cooperation with the Ottawa county health department and Holland board of education.

Dr. Clarence Snyder, orthopedic surgeon of Grand Rapids, will be the examining physician at the request of the county medical society. He will be assisted by nurses and physical therapists of the commission. H. Groop, vocational rehabilitation worker in this area, also will be present to interview handicapped individuals who may be interested in furthering their education through help from the agency.

A total of 150 out of 379 orthopedic cases, registered with the health department have been contacted by the staff of the department. Physicians have been invited to refer cases who may need the advice of an orthopedic specialist. Necessary x-rays will be taken at Holland hospital. There is no charge for the service.

The civic health committee of the Woman's Literary club, under the direction of Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, chairman, is in charge of lay volunteer help to assist at the clinic. Other individuals in various parts of the county will be called upon to transport children if necessary. The commission makes available two cars to the county for transportation purposes.

Any child up to 21 years of age who has any bone, joint or muscle defect may come to the clinic for examination and advice. The parents are asked to call the health department for an appointment.

Sent here by Her Majesty Queen Wilhelmina, the diplomat who at that time was Dutch minister to America, a position now held by Dr. Alexander Loudon, witnessed the Wednesday afternoon children's parade at which 2,000 children in Dutch costumes marched through the commercial section.

Fourth White Star Goes To Western Tool Works

Western Machine Tool works will soon fly an army-navy "E" burgee with four white stars, following an announcement from Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson that the local company has been honored a fifth time "for outstanding services in the production of war equipment."

Company officials were informed that the government no longer will issue "E" awards since most war contracts have been canceled. Four stars is the maximum carried by any firm.

The first pennant was presented June 21, 1943, when silver pins were awarded to employees. The first white star was awarded in December, 1943, the second in July 1944, and the third in February, 1945.

Give Her Plane and She'd Fly Food to Netherlands

"Holland needs help desperately. If somebody would give me a bomber, I'd fill it full of food and stuff and fly there this minute!" So said 1st Officer Louise Schuurman, colorful aviatrix with 34 years of service with the Air Transport auxiliary in England, who stopped briefly in Holland with her parents, Netherlands Consul General and Mrs. Jan A. Schuurman. The Schuurmans arrived here Friday and left Saturday for their home in Chicago.

Miss Schuurman, whose rank in the British ferrying organization is equal to that of captain under the American setup, flew from England to The Netherlands last June shortly after its liberation. There she visited her uncle Fritz, her father's brother, conductor of the Hague symphony orchestra.

"Uncle Fritz hadn't had much to eat during those last months, she said, and she declined to comment on the plight of other relatives. "I get so mad when I think of it, I'd better not say anything further," she explained, however, that conditions were so bad there, people here wouldn't be able to comprehend the misery.

Miss Schuurman said she wanted to fly ever since she was nine, but her father didn't approve, so it wasn't until about five years ago that she started taking lessons in New York. She was supposed to go to Yale after being graduated from Finch Junior college, New York city, but then over Yale for flying. "I'd still throw anything over for flying," she said.

"So she got her pilot's license and became an instructor in the flying school in New York, but with the attack on Pearl Harbor, all flying was 'frozen.' It was at this time that Jacqueline Cochran, famous aviatrix, was recruiting women fliers for the ferry command and sought Miss Schuurman, who joined readily and was among the first five girls to be shipped to England.

"In England, we learned to fly all over again, but the training was very thorough and prepared us for all types of flying up to the big four-engine jobs," she said.

Their main jobs were flying planes to maintenance airfields and then to squadrons all over Europe. Flying in England, she said, required certain techniques. The ever-changing positions of the barrage balloons offered a constant hazard to air travel. The minute routes, usually different every day, keeping with military intelligence, required "on-the-ball" flying. A mis-maneuver would invite artillery from below where gunners were no respecters of insignia, even if they could identify them through the fog.

Weather conditions in England were responsible for most difficulties in flying, Miss Schuurman said. The skies were constantly alive with planes of all types. "It's a wonder there weren't more accidents," she said.

The day before D-day she happened to be flying in southern England and came across the ship leaving for the Normandy invasion. Seeing thousands of ships covering hundreds of miles, all heading for one objective, was a great sight, she said.

Destruction and death caused by V-1 and V-2 bombs in England in 1944 were far worse than caused by the blitzkrieg at the beginning of the war, she said.

Contrary to opinions expressed by many American servicemen, Miss Schuurman said the English people are "just wonderful," and have a very good sense of humor. "Naturally, their way of living is different and their living standards aren't quite so high. They don't have facilities for the mass production which operates in America, but they're used to their way of living and don't want to change," she said.

The auxiliary is "folding up" since there is no further use for the service, she said. While in operation, it had fliers from all over the world, including a Siamese prince who was killed when his plane crashed into a hill.

The members were billeted out in private houses and Miss Schuurman struck it lucky in being assigned to a huge estate.

"But the food left plenty to be desired. I don't expect to order bread, potatoes, cabbage, Brussels sprouts, lamb or mutton for a long, long time," she said.

No fruit was available, she added. "Once I went 'fruit crazy' and paid $3 for a single peach, and it was good!" Grapes, she said, cost two cents apiece. "That doesn't sound much, but just count the grapes on a bunch and then figure how much it would cost," she challenged.

And she wants to continue flying—any kind of plane will do. She has about 1,500 hours, much of which she logged before going to England. "We couldn't pile up hours in England. The island is very small and the planes are very fast, hence two hours was about as long as any trip in England lasted." She sailed back to Canada last week—"too much luggage for flying."

Miss Schuurman is credited, officially or unofficially, with being about the first to hear of the invasion of the Netherlands back in 1940. She heard the radio report one midnight in New York and called her father at his hotel. Consul Schuurman immediately called the ambassador in Washington who had not been informed of the developments.

The consul, perfectly willing to let his daughter take the spotlight, interrupted before the interview was over to thank the local people for their help in providing food and clothing for the suffering people of the Netherlands.

"The seriousness of conditions in Holland cannot be imagined. Both the government and private enterprise are doing their utmost to remedy the situation, but throughout next winter, it still is going to be extremely difficult because of lack of transportation, fuel and food. The people of Holland appreciate the wonderful effort made by the American people and those of Dutch descent in collecting used clothing, sending parcels, contributing money and in keeping up the morale in the face of tremendous odds."

In consular service since 1937, Mr. Schuurman has served successively at London, Hamburg, New York, San Francisco, Shanghai, Hankow, Berlin, London, Paris, Smyrna, Montreal, Ottawa, New York, New Orleans and Chicago. He has been in this country since 1939 and has been in Chicago since last October.

His daughter arrived in Canada about a week ago and the Schuurmans, delayed by car trouble, are in Toronto a few days. During their brief stay here, Miss Schuurman visited the women who were the Netherlands' pioneer fliers and a plane at the airport.

Local CE Group Hears Dr. Poling at Retreat

Nine local persons returned to Holland Sunday night after attending the annual week-end Christian Endeavor union leaders' retreat at Waldenwoods which highlighted messages by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, pastor of Baptist Temple in Philadelphia and president of the World's Christian Endeavor union. Dr. Poling traveled 150,000 miles by air visiting chaplains and Christian Endeavor workers in foreign countries in eight trips to the Atlantic and two to the Pacific war zones.

Dr. Poling, who has spoken in Holland on several occasions, told of his visits in the United Kingdom, France, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, India, China, Australia, the Philippines and the Caribbean. Traveling as an accredited war correspondent, he said his leaves were arranged so that he could visit Endeavor executives in many countries.

He mentioned it was just a year ago that he had met with Gen. Douglas MacArthur whom he described as a great general and a great Christian. He was a man of profound faith and daily prayer. He said the Christian Endeavor rehabilitation program in the post-war world will not be one of physical relief so much as a strong effort to revitalize the once stricken nations. He explained that the World Union will assist in financing in a modest way the work of executives in Poland, Romania and throughout Europe and would help in rebuilding the headquarters in London which was completely destroyed with the loss of several lives.

Answering a question on the "religious temperature" of churches in this country in regard to the returned service men, Dr. Poling said many churches have not kept abreast of current needs. "The returned vet who has been 'touched' overseas may not find that certain something to 'warm' him in his home church. He won't shake a fuss—I wish he would—but he'll probably slip away into that vast horde of millions of Americans who are not identified even irregularly or indifferently with the church. But we can standardize an answer to this question because every service man is a separate personality and each problem is an individual one," Dr. Poling said.

Rev. George Douma of Grand Rapids, formerly of Holland, spoke at two assemblies Saturday and Sunday morning. The theme of the retreat which attracted more than 150 leaders of the state was "Endless Service." The retreat was held at Waldenwoods, which will be the theme of a large program to be launched by Endeavor leaders in Holland Nov. 11 through Nov. 18, featuring world-famous personalities.

Leon N. Moody, city recreation director of Holland, directed information and recreational conferences at the retreat. Others attending from Holland were Mary Vande Wagon, Edna Cook, Betty Van Vleet, Cora Lamm, Louise Van Buren, Robert Stoppels and Delbert Vander Haar.

The boys ran away and left their bicycles which officers picked up and through the licenses were able to identify the boys. The chief said the youths apparently meant no harm other than kissing the girl.

Rotarians Enjoy Annual Outing at Castle Park

Holland Rotarians, attending the annual outing at Castle Park hotel Thursday afternoon and evening, voted the dinner to be the "best of the year" with a large attendance enjoying the ball game and recreational facilities of the resort.

The softball game between teams captained by O. W. Lowry and President Marion de Velder, was won by the de Velder team by a score of 24 to 6. Interesting highlights were the sight of Dick Miles with his spike shoes, Jay Pette without shoes, and numerous errors by both sides. Some umpires included Jim De Pree, at the plate; O. S. Cross, first base, with John Good resting on a bench at third. (There should be many sore arms and legs today.)

President de Velder presided at the dinner with Rev. W. C. Warner pronouncing the invocation. Later the Rotary Four, with Willis Diekema at the piano, conducted a song fest consisting of several selections. Members of the club were mentioned in the songs, outstanding of which was the "Rotary Wheel," a composition by Mr. Diekema, judged by the group to be suitable to send to Rotary International because of its singability and adaptability to any group.

Guest Rotarians were Rev. Peter H. Pleune of Louisville, Ky.; Lee Heymans of Detroit; David Vaughn of South Bend, Ind.; and Frank Peck of Allegan. Philip Hugenin of Sarasota, Fla., also was a guest.

Holland High Will Use Modern 'T' Says Camburn

The modern "T"—deceptive backfield formation which is becoming increasingly popular—will be employed by the Holland High school football team this fall, according to Coach Paul Camburn.

The high school team, which opened practice Saturday Sept. 1, scheduled a scrimmage practice at Riverview park last Saturday in the first body contact drills of the season.

The "T" is by no means a new formation, in fact, it is about the oldest in existence, but the way it has been developed by George Halas of the Chicago Bears and Clark Shaughnessy of Stanford University has made it increasingly popular. It is a forward step in offensive football.

It is called the "T" because the backs form the letter "T" when they line up. The quarterback directly behind the center, the fullback a few steps behind him, flanked by the halfbacks.

There is probably no other backfield formation which requires more speed and maneuverability on the part of its backs and linemen than the "T" because the line is balanced, three men on each side of the center. Many coaches have seen the great advantages in the "T" but do not use it, feeling they do not have the personnel for it.

The quarterback in the "T" system must have mental dexterity in addition to manual and physical ability. He must be able to pass and run.

The "T" calls for a strong center of the line to keep the quarterback protected (the center handles him the ball while he handles the ball and the line must also be able to execute one-on-one blocking on offense instead of double teaming. Almost every play develops from the quarterback spot. The lateral is often put into use.

Coach Camburn has Jack Van Dorpe, letterman of last season; Don Van Ingen, Bill Hinga and Ken Bauman, working out at the quarterback spot.

The center is more important in the "T" because as Camburn put it, "He is a full man instead of half a man." In the modern "T" the center keeps his head up, handing the ball to the quarter, and he is thus in position to execute a block while in other formations he has his head down concentrating on centering the ball to the backs.

One of the important things about the "T", at least as far as Holland is concerned, because it is generally smaller than other Southwestern conference teams, is that it is not a power system. It is quick-opening with the accent on speed and maneuverability. Opposing linemen do less charging because of the balanced line of the "T" which may run plays over one side as often as the other.

A part of the "T" formation which has become popular recently is the man-in-motion, "I would rather keep the opposition guessing as to whether we will employ the man-in-motion or not," Camburn said.

2 out of 3 rural telephones are dial operated today

ONLY ONE out of ten rural telephones was dial operated in 1937. Today two out of three have dial service. That illustrates some of the progress that has been made in improving rural telephone service.

Now that the war is over, bringing dial service to still more rural customers is only one of many improvements Michigan Bell plans to make as rapidly as sufficient materials, trained manpower and manufacturing facilities become available.

We have developed important new devices and construction methods which will make telephone service available to more rural folks. We intend to add more lines so there will be fewer parties per line.

We are conducting market and rural opinion surveys, so that we can more exactly meet the wants of telephone users. We are studying special features designed to make telephone service more valuable.

This indicates the way we are resuming our rural construction and improvement program. The program began long before the war. In 1940 we incorporated into it a rural construction plan suggested by the Michigan Rural Communications Committee, a group of agricultural leaders. But the entire program had to be curtailed because of wartime shortages.

Its resumption is an important part of Michigan Bell's 5-year, $120,000,000 post-war expansion and improvement program. Of course, it will take time, for much telephone construction is slow, painstaking hand work.

However, we will work constantly toward our goal of providing the best possible rural service, to the largest number of people, at the lowest possible cost.

Strikers Return, Foremen Still Out

Bohn Aluminum plant No. 11 was operating Monday, following a walkout of employees Tuesday, Sept. 5.

However, all was not settled satisfactorily as foremen who struck Wednesday did not return to work but formed a picket line. There was no violence or disturbance.

Harold Oostendorp, spokesman for the foremen's group said the foremen failed to return to work because the management refuses to recognize the foremen collectively. He said the foremen struck because they feel the management discriminates against them without regard for fairness or postwar security as promised during the war.

Henry Derksen, head of the plant's bargaining committee which is affiliated with the CIO, said nearly 100 per cent of the employees of the day shift reported for work this morning, following action at a meeting of the employees Saturday night. He said the foremen's strike has no connection with the strike of the employees.

E. O. Goerke, plant manager, said he had no statement to make other than the plant was operating today.

There are 83 national cemeteries in the U.S.

Grand Haven, Sept. 13 (Special)

The case against Hildrey McFarlin, 41, Negro, 315 Madison St., who has been confined in the county jail since Aug. 18 on a charge of breaking and entering in the night time was dismissed in circuit court Monday upon a motion made by assistant prosecuting attorney Louis H. Osterhaus who said the complaint in the case did not sufficiently and properly charge an offense known to the law. City police alleged that McFarlin broke and entered the home of Mrs. Morris Johnson, 316 North Second St., Aug. 18.

The 30-day jail sentence imposed upon Lewis Kennedy, 22, route 1, Hudsonville, by Justice George Hoffer July 17, which was appealed to circuit court, was set aside by the court Monday and Kennedy was placed on probation for one year and required to pay $50 fine immediately and $3 a month costs. Kennedy was arrested by the sheriff's department July 17 on complaint of Elton Parish, route 1, Hudsonville, who had been working on Kennedy's farm in Allendale township. The assault allegedly occurred following an argument July 16 over Parish's treatment of a cow.

George Howlett, 30, Grand Rapids, who was placed on probation for an indefinite length of time March 27 when he pleaded guilty to two separate bastardy charges, was brought into circuit court Monday for violation of his probation. Paul Camburn of HHS Contemplates Starting Lineup

After a week and a half of practice with almost four complete teams Coach Paul Camburn of Holland High school is making rough outlines of a starting lineup today. The Dutch eleven plays its first game Friday night, Sept. 21, in Traverse City.

Camburn will have a better idea of who will start against Traverse City following a scrimmage Saturday.

Although the Dutch outfit has several veterans in the line and backfield it will be lighter than last year's Holland team. Camburn can field a team averaging 176 pounds in the line and 155 pounds in the backfield but it may not be the most aggressive eleven he can mold together.

On the inside track for the important quarterback spot in Holland's "T" formation is Jack Van Dorpe, a letterman. But Van Dorpe has been bothered with the flu lately which has forced him to limit practice drills. Bill Hinga and Ken (Fuzz) Bauman are pressing for the job. Also out for quarterback is Don Van Ingen.

Vying for the left half position are Joe Caravia, Jack Veldheer and Dale Van Eck; for right half—Ken Van Taterhove, Ken Kuipers, and Chuck Zwemer. Kuipers, a letterman guard last season, has been shifted to half by Camburn and has shown some resemblance to his brother, Bob, who graduated last season. He was Holland's plunging fullback who apparently headed for All-State honors until he suffered a knee injury.

Bob Harrington, letterman, is at the top of the list of fullbacks, although Dale Baker, Tom Walsh and husky Bob Israels are pressing him for the starting assignment.

Warren Nysson and George Botis, both lettermen, seem to have the best chance of starting at ends a week from Saturday but Leo Vander Kuy, all-conference basketball center, and Bud Vander Wege, who has great possibilities, are also possible starters. Maurice Schepens, Jack Barendse, Bill Prince and Fred Lindsay are also vying for end positions.

All-Conference Stan McClure, diminutive, rugged guard on Malcolm Mackay's 1944 team, has been shifted to tackle to put more weight in the center of the line to protect the quarterback in the "T" formation. McClure and letterman Jerry Groeters may be Camburn's first string tackle choices although he has a wealth of strength at that spot in Bob Greening, Bob Bocks, Corrie Van Duren, Don Van Kampen and Gordon Barendse.

Camburn has a couple of big guards in letterman Rudy Blik, 230 pounds, and letterman Poogy McCormick, 185 pounds. McCormick is a strong man when the chips are down. Other guards are Bob Allen, Chet Onk, Herm Sager, Floyd Malchow, Merle Boes and Ken Hopkins.

Bob Van Dyke, big center of last season's second team, is giving Neal Exo a battle for the starting center position while Ken Doezeman and Ken Etterbeek are other prospects.

Camburn needs to bring his boys a long way before the opening game a week from Saturday. The deceptive "T" formation requires a lot of practice and Camburn isn't cutting anybody out as a starter yet.

Gratitude Expressed in Letters of Netherlands

"Dear Ruth: I thank you for the beautiful sweater. I enjoy it very much. It is a very pretty one. So writes a 14-year old Dutch girl, the daughter of a Dutch girl, the Netherlands to Miss Ruth Vander Leek, 31 West 19th St. Miss Vander Leek, a junior in Holland Christian High school, is a member of the Girl's Knitting club sponsored by Miss Margaret Geritsen, a history teacher at Christian. For more than three years now, girls have been knitting under Miss Geritsen's supervision with yarn provided by the Ottawa-Allegan Chapter of American Relief for Holland.

Another letter from Arnhem from the C. de Haard family, is addressed to Mrs. Dena Bos of 61 East 18th St. Mrs. de Haard writes: "Mrs. Bos: Your coat fits me perfectly well and the material is beautiful, blue with a little white dot. We have lost everything through these Huns and therefore I am very happy with this coat and I thank you also in the name of my husband and three children who are 11, 10 and 4 years old. This coat is one of those donated during the drive for old clothing held last fall in many churches under direction of the local chapter of American Relief for Holland.

Mrs. Francina Dedel, 18 East 12th St., who has been knitting for many years now, received a letter from Miss B. Wenckes of Rotterdam a volunteer worker with the Help Action committee of the Red Cross.

Miss Wenckes writes: "Among the many clothes we received we found also your little note. To get your small letter is nice and there are many. But your letter is in our language and from one of our own people and that makes it doubly nice. The quantity of goods pouring into our looted country is indeed enormous. It exceeds our highest expectations. The clothes, among which your gift was, have been distributed in Rotterdam and vicinity. Speaking for these people, we thank you very, very much.

"Rotterdam is heavily damaged. The entire inner part of the city has disappeared. Also, many other towns have suffered more or less damage. Amsterdam got off very well—only the Carlton hotel is destroyed. That is to say, terribly hit and Schiphol airport does not exist anymore. Bursum has not been damaged at all, not even a window is broken. The most terrible of all has been the hunger. The ration of the last months of the war was: 400 gram (less than a pound) bread a week, 1 kg. (less than 2 lbs.) potatoes, almost no vegetables, 1 ounce cheese and from time to time, a little bit of butter, about 1/4 lb. for three or four weeks. But that belongs, fortunately, to the past."

Officers of the Ottawa-Allegan chapter of the American Relief for Holland, expressed pleasure that goods produced by women volunteers, working individually or through their church committees were now being distributed to the sorely needed people in the Netherlands. Explaining the system of distribution, Willard C. Wichers, secretary of the chapter, pointed out that all goods are shipped through American Relief for Holland, Inc., which is the only agency licensed by the President's War Relief Control Board. All relief supplies in the Netherlands go to HARK (Hulp Actie Roede Kruis) the receiving agency for Netherlands Volkskracht (Peoples Restoration Movement). All religious groups, and relief agencies are represented in Netherlands Volkskracht.

"We have a picture of Holland," Wichers pointed out, "as a country organizer for relief beyond all others. At the present time, Dutch churches are not engaging in relief work. Since liberation, the churches have turned their attention to promoting moral and social welfare, and to pacifying the millions of idle and homeless people until economic life can be restored."

It is possible according to word received from national headquarters of American Relief for Holland, to consign relief goods to a specific group in the Netherlands. However, receipt of such goods by any group will be taken into consideration by HARK in subsequent distribution of relief.

The local chapter this week received a contribution of $250 earmarked for food for children in the Netherlands. The food is being purchased by the local chapter of the American Relief for Holland and will be delivered in the Netherlands as a gift from the individual donor.

A $150 gift from the Ladies society of Berculo Christian Reformed church recently was used to purchase children's panties, basques and anklets. A women's society of First Christian Reformed church of Zeeland recently donated more than $100 which was used to purchase blankets for relief in the Netherlands. Purchases are made locally wherever possible. The local office on the third floor of the city hall will receive any additional contribution which may be earmarked for whatever use the donor desires.

Game Club Lets Contract For Seining Lake Lake

The Holland Fish and Game club, following a recent directors' meeting, has contracted with Edward Borchers of Spring Lake to seine for carp in Lake Macatawa the coming season. Operations will start in October and will probably conclude next April in keeping with the club's program for removing noxious fish from the lake.

Borchers has been seining Grand river bayous for the Grand Haven Fish and Game club for the past four years.

Directors also voted to make the rearing ponds and grounds on M-21 available to commercial bait dealers to rear minnows and propagate angle worms and night crawlers.

About one-half the area of Lake Erie lies in Canada.

Woman's Brother Presumably Dead

Navy Lt. Benjamin C. Hubbard, Jr., 28, of Grand Rapids, a brother of Mrs. C. B. Stewart of Virginia park, is "presumably dead," according to a navy department message received Saturday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Hubbard of Grand Rapids.

Notification that the officer was missing was received the Friday before the Jap capitulation was announced. He was aboard the destroyer escort Underhill which was attacked by a "suicide submarine" July 24 in the Philippine area.

Two surviving officers of his ship have indicated that the lieutenant was killed in the blast which sank the craft although the navy has not yet officially listed him as dead.

The Underhill was in a squadron 200 miles from Leyte when the attack occurred. As radar and anti-submarine officer, Lt. Hubbard directed the fire, sinking one sub and ramming a second which apparently touched off a "suicide" charge which blew up the stern of the Underhill and destroyed the sub. Those lost or missing about the American ship totaled 126.

Lt. Hubbard was graduated from Ottawa Hills high school, Grand Rapids Junior college and the University of Chicago. His wife and son reside in Norwood, Ohio.

Only one member of the hospital, an enlisted man, was lost in these attacks. One bomb exploded less than 100 yards from the nurses quarters but fortunately the nurses were on duty at the time and escaped injury. The hospital met its greatest test during the German breakthrough in December. Patients poured in from the "Battle of the Bulge" every minute of the day, while the nights were made sleepless by the continual rain of buzz bombs.

Seaman 1/C Harman Maxwell Jones, route 1, Saugatuck, is a member of a Seabee detachment in the Philippines which was engaged in building a huge staging area for U. S. military forces when news of Japan's surrender was received. The unit was on its second Pacific tour of duty when hostilities ended. Seaman 1/C Clarence W. Walwood of Zeeland is aboard the USS Nevada and is assigned to the lookout division, whose members constantly scan the seas and skies from their stations high up in the ship's super-structure.
