School Board Hires Law Firm To Aid in Election

Further Details to Be Discussed by Citizens
Committee Tonight

In preparation for the coming special school election scheduled Nov. 2, the Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting Monday night employed the law firm of Lokker, Den Herder and Boter of Holland to serve as legal counsel for handling proceedings on the proposed bond issue.

The board decided in July to call the special election to raise funds for additions to Longfellow and Van Raalte schools, and a new building to replace Lincoln and Froebel schools. Amount needed was set tentatively Monday night at $650,000.

Further details will be discussed at a meeting of the Citizens' school committee tonight in room 209 in Holland high school.

The local law firm will handle all the legal proceedings before the election, and afterwards if the issue passes. The board is thinking in terms of four mills for seven years to raise the desired amount, but it will be the duty of the law firm to study all angles of the election, tax structure and sale of bonds. The local firm entered a low bid of $950, of which $475 is to be paid before election. Other bidders were Lansing and Detroit firms.

President C. J. De Koster announced committee appointments for the year, pointing out there were no changes over last year. Appointments follow: Teachers, Jay L. De Koning, A. E. Lampen, C. J. De Koster; schools, John Oert, Margaret De Pree, Harry Wiskamp; claims and accounts, Oert, Sadie Grace Wintert, ways and means, Lampen, Vernon D. Ten Cate; school forest, Lida Rogers, De Pree, E. J. Yeomans; citizens' school committee, De Pree, Wiskamp; playground, Wiskamp and Hartman.

Supt. C. C. Crawford submitted the status of outstanding school bonds, listing amount of bonds outstanding July 1, 1949, as $106,000. Amount to be retired this year is $7,000 and final payment on bonds 1955-56 totals $30,000. Interest required for bonds until final payment totals $19,735, and total bonds and interest to be paid by 1955-56 are $125,735. Interest rate on bonds for Washington and Junior high is 4 1/2 per cent.

The board voted to turn over $25,000 of the current operating fund to the building and site fund, the ways and means committee to make recommendations on its investment.

The board also earmarked $200 as the schools' contribution toward the new electric score board at Riverview park. It also awarded a contract to Woldring Plumbing Co. to install a new boiler in Lincoln school at a price of $2,011.45, the amount to be appropriated from working capital reserve. It also appropriated $350 for retubing part of the boiler at Washington school.

The board also approved employment of Marvin Prins as bus driver and custodian in Junior high school, of Mrs. Irene Borton in the office of Holland high school, and Mrs. Alice Fortney at Washington school.

Thirteen teachers were granted supplementary salary for attending summer school and three for outlined trips. Attending summer school were Robert Van Voorhees, Case Tech, Cleveland; Earl Borlace, University of Michigan; Esther Veenhuis, A. & M. college, Colorado; Esther Van Dyke, University of Michigan; Russell Welch, Western Michigan; Austin Buchanan, Harvard university; Margaret Van Vyven and Malcolm Mackay, Western Michigan; Lucille Donivan, Hope; Esther Peterson and Crystal Van Anrooy, University of Colorado; Marian Dame, Western Michigan; and Joan Vander West, Michigan State.

Marion Shackson, Gladys Wiskamp and Ruby Calvert qualified for trips. The latter two toured Western United States and the former Eastern United States.

Three other teachers qualified for degrees this summer and subsequent salary adjustments. Ed. Ward Donivan earned an M. A. degree, and Esther Sluyter and Elinore Ryan, A. B. degrees.

Trustees De Pree, Winter and Lampen and Supt. Crawford were appointed to represent the local board at a meeting of the Michigan State Association for Boards of Education at Michigan State college Sept. 29.

Claims and accounts for August totaled $67,753.07 of which $30,102.39 went for teachers' salaries. All trustees were present. President De Koster presided and Lampen gave the invocation.

Two Persons Hurt In Six Accidents Within Two Hours

Two persons were injured, one seriously, Monday afternoon and evening in six accidents within two hours in the Holland area.

In at least two of the accidents, drivers blamed rain and slippery conditions for the mishaps.

Most seriously hurt was Melvin Hartz, 15, of South Bend, Ind. He was reported in a "fair" condition today at Holland hospital. X-rays were taken this morning to determine the extent of injuries and it is possible that he may be returned to South Bend later today, hospital authorities said. He received a possible brain concussion.

Hartz was hurt in an accident four miles south of Holland on US-31 at 4:45 p.m. He was riding in a car driven by his brother, Russell Mack Hartz, Jr., 20, of South Bend. Russell told Allegan deputies that his right wheel went off the road onto the shoulder and when he tried to get back on, he lost control of the car.

The vehicle rolled over into a nearby field. Russell said he was traveling between 45 and 50 miles per hour and the shoulder was muddy and road was slippery.

The injured youth was unconscious when taken from the overturned car.

Irving L. Wolbrink of route 2, and Jean Anderson, 16, of 649 Lake St. Saugatuck, were involved in an accident at the scene of the Hartz mishap. Allegan deputies said the Anderson car ran into the Wolbrink car that was parked at the scene. The rear of the Wolbrink car was "badly damaged," Miss Anderson said her car skidded when she applied brakes.

Dale Myaard, 10, of 240 East 11th St., received body bruises in an accident at 271 East 11th St. The car was driven by Myrtle Smith of 271 11th, who told police the boy ran into the side of her car as she was driving into her driveway.

The youth was treated at a local physician's office. The mishap occurred at 4:30 p.m.

Cars driven by John Masselink of 230 West 18th St., and Arthur E. Axelsson of Berrien Springs, were in an accident at River Ave. and 17th St. at 6:30 p.m. Masselink was given a ticket for making an improper right turn.

Marvin Beukema of 2 North River Ave. and H. Bonzeleer of route 4, were drivers of cars that came together on North River Ave. at 4:50 p.m.

And at 5:45 p.m., cars driven by L. G. West of 517 Lakewood Blvd., and Bernard R. Shashaguy of 669 Graafschap Rd., crashed at the intersection of Harrison Ave. and 15th St.

World War I Company Reunites at Macatawa

A group of World War I buddies and their wives, had their five-year reunion last summer at Macatawa hotel. They liked it so well, they came back this year and hope to make the get together an annual affair.

An estimated 75 members of the First Infantry Co., Third Officer's Training school, and their wives arrived at the hotel Friday for the three-day reunion. Their nickname is "The 77ers."

They are the only company of World War I officers having reunions in the United States. Simon Den Uyl, member of the company, is host.

Every corner of the United States is represented in the group visiting Macatawa. They are 75 members of the original 200-man company.

This year is the first time that two members have ever attended a reunion in 31 years. The two newcomers to reunions are Jim Bryant of California, and Harry Cook of Washington. Each drove more than 2,000 miles to attend the fete.

One member flew to Holland from London, Eng. to attend last year's reunion. Business on the continent this year forced him to forego the event. A few telegraphed last-minute "can't make it" notes.

Les Batdorff, president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and the only elected officer of the group, presented a few of his own songs. Batdorff is a song writer. Just plain relaxing and talking over old times will occupy the group today and Sunday.

However, they discounted the drowning angle after dragging the bottom.

Allegan-Bennett Road Argument Stalled in Court

Approach to Singapore
On Saugatuck Estate
Started Controversy

Allegan, Sept. 15 (Special)—The Allegan county road commissioners—David A. Bennett squabble over a sand-blown road has been pending in Allegan circuit court for one year.

Millionaire perfumer Bennett, recently ensnared in the Senate investigation of "five per centers," owns a 140-acre estate on the north side of the Kalamazoo river at Saugatuck.

The legal issue involves a road that ends abruptly on Bennett's estate and public access across his property to the government pier and Lake Michigan beach. Bennett had a fence built at the end of the roadway.

That started the controversy. Allegan road commissioners alleged legally, if not actually, the roadway continues from the point where the fence was erected to Lake Michigan and further contend that encroachment of this roadway was illegal.

The case went into Saugatuck Justice Leslie L. Junkerman's court last September and a "no cause for action" verdict was handed down. Allegan Prosecutor Chester Ray, counsel for the commissioners, appealed to circuit court.

That's where the matter rests. Late last week, Ray asked to be excused as the commission attorney. He said the matter is becoming too involved and claimed he couldn't spare the time.

He suggested that the commission get a new attorney before placing the matter on the October court calendar.

"With funds running low already, the commission is not anxious to recover a road that never was fit for auto travel," Homer Ward, highway engineer said.

"But so long as people feel they have a right to use the trail—and Bennett keeps it closed—the burden falls on the commission to seek a court decision."

Saugatuck residents want their access to the historic site of dune-buried Singapore, to fishing on the piers and swimming at the beach. Bennett points out fishing on piers is discouraged by the U. S. Army engineers.

Bennett says he expects to benefit Saugatuck far more by further improvements and beautifications than residents would derive from the old road.

Local Merchants Headed by Good

Election of George Good as president of the Retail Merchants' association of the Chamber of Commerce was announced today at a coffee kietz session of merchants at the Dutch Mill. Good will succeed Tony Last.

Dale Fris was elected vice president in a ballot conducted by mail. Results on a poll among merchants on possible change of the Saturday night schedule also were announced, but no further action was taken since the return of 64 opinions out of 200 distributed was not considered a fair cross-section of the city.

The vote stood at 27 for no change and 37 for a change from Saturday night to another night. Out of the 37, there were 27 who favored a Monday night opening.

Driver Pleads Innocent In Hamilton Accident
Allegan, Sept. 15 (Special)—Charles Dillinger, Battle Creek truck driver, who was central figure in crash Aug. 12 in Hamilton involving six vehicles, pleaded not guilty when he appeared Monday before Municipal Judge Ervin Andriens on a charge of failure to have car under control. Trial was set Sept. 23.

The crash occurred when a large empty oil tank transport driven by Dillinger hit a small trailer loaded with 18 bags of cement drawn by a car driven by Justin Boerman, route 1, Hamilton.

The impact scattered and broke the cement bags and the tanker slid 50 feet before hitting the James Koops car parked at the curb. Mrs. Koops who was waiting at the curb was thrown to the pavement and was hospitalized. The Boerman car crashed into the rear of a parked '49 model owned by Howard Loftis, Grand Rapids drug salesman who was calling on Dr. H. W. Tenpas. The Loftis car hit a panel truck which in turn hit another car. The latter two were not damaged to any extent. Only damage to the tanker was a scratch and a damaged gas tank.

Bob Kouw and Henry Oosting, local realtors, are in Grand Rapids today attending sessions of the Michigan State Real Estate association. They left this morning to attend a convention breakfast. Later they expected to attend panel discussions of problems of the real estate business.

City Seeking Title To Pine Court Housing Project

Council Authorizes Request of Government
Under Recent Change

The city of Holland is seeking ownership of the Pine Court veterans' housing project from the federal government.

Common Council authorized the city to petition for title to the units, located on West Eighth St. between Pine and Maple Aves.

The action came at the regular meeting Wednesday night. The public housing administration in Washington informed council, through a bulletin, that recent congressional action now makes it possible for cities to gain title to housing projects formerly controlled by the Lanham act.

City Clerk Clarence Grevenog said more than half the units are vacant. Under city ownership, units could be dismantled as it is determined they are no longer necessary.

With an ultimate goal of slashing fire insurance rates in Holland, council approved the Safety commission recommendation to install five new fire hydrants, replace 42 old-type hydrants and install five new alarm boxes.

The Board of Public Works will install the new hydrants according to Fire Chief Andrew Klompman's directions.

Ald. Peter Kromann said present hydrants are inadequate. Their pressure limits fire fighting ability considerably, Kromann said.

"If we ever had fire in the city hall, we couldn't get water to the attic," Kromann said.

However, he also cited the 86-point program that is necessary to reduce insurance rates in the city. Kromann said the Safety commission is working toward the 86 points necessary to bring Holland into the class five fire insurance bracket.

Class five would reduce industrial and commercial fire insurance rates in the city by almost five per cent, Kromann said.

Ald. Bert Slaght announced that workmen would begin installation of the new traffic and walk lights at Eighth St. and River Ave., Eighth and Central, and Eighth and College Ave. today.

At the same time, council okayed "safe clearance" controls on the new arcs to give fire engines the right of way.

The controls, operated from each engine house, will cost $519.65 and be paid for out of the gas and weight tax fund.

Klompman's Coal Co., lowest of four bidders, was awarded the contract to insulate the city hall at a cost of $965.

After an Ordinance committee recommendation, the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids to install storm sash on the city clerk's, treasurer's and other city hall offices. The job will include a survey to determine heat leaks in the city hall.

Ald. Earl Ragains reported progress in negotiations with two parties interested in building roller skating rinks in Holland. Ragains promised a report at the next meeting.

In other action, council okayed Gay Gines' application to operate Gay's restaurant at the former site of Smith's restaurant on River Ave.

An application to sell soft drinks at the Earl Taylor and Son Texaco service station at 752 Michigan Ave., was approved.

National Guards Seeking Recruits

Holland National Guard Co. D will launch a 60-day recruiting drive Sept. 19 in conjunction with guard units throughout the nation.

The local company seeks seven men to bring its complement up to authorized 112 men, and two officers to make the allowed five.

Youths 17 years of age, and not more than 35 years of age, and who are physically fit, are eligible to enlist.

Since reorganization began in 1946, the National Guard of the United States has expanded to 358,000 men.

Through the 60-day recruiting campaign, the guards are attempting to add 45,000 men to their ranks.

Any persons interested are requested to contact the local company office in the Armory.

West Ottawa Soil Benefits May Be Cited in Congress

Grand Haven, Sept. 15 — Soil conservation accomplishments over 10 years in sand-blown Ottawa county may be reviewed in the Congressional Record to bring increased appropriations in United States conservation service.

This suggestion came from Rep. Albert S. Engel, R., who branded the $39 million appropriation for soil conservation in this country pitifully small in comparison with the $16 billion outlay in one bill for national defense.

Engel said he believes that once Congress realizes the values of soil conservation work there will be "little trouble" in upping appropriations.

Dr. H. H. Bennett, chief of the United States soil conservation service, chief guest at an old-fashioned farmers' picnic at Berlin fairgrounds celebrating West Ottawa's 10th soil conservation anniversary, believes the SCS will need up to $100 million a year in some future peak year to reach a goal of a soil conservation plan for all farms by 1970.

With the technical assistance of government soil conservation service farm experts, Ottawa farmers can boast of having turned desert into oasis in 10 years. Shifting and blowing sand was stabilized with planting of beach grass and later with pine trees. Farmers have learned to realize an unexpected profit through the sale of Christmas trees.

They planted the trees to halt the march of sand dunes, the sweeping away of top soil and spreading of sand "blowouts" but on many farms the sale of trees has become the chief source of farm income.

Dr. Bennett toured tree farms and other soil conservation practice farms before picnic time. He was accompanied by E. C. Sackrider of East Lansing, state soil conservationist; Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Grand Rapids; State Senator John B. Martin, Grand Rapids, and Clarence Reenders of Holland.

Citizens' Group Drafts Program To Aid Election

All Schools Represented
On Committee; Special
Vote Scheduled Nov. 2

A re-organized Citizens' school committee gathered in Holland high school Tuesday night to lay plans for promoting the special election Nov. 2 to raise funds through taxation for elementary school buildings in Holland.

Dr. Lester J. Kuyper again is serving as chairman of the committee composed of parents of students representing all schools.

Issues in the new election will include proper legal authority for raising $650,000 for additions to Longfellow and Van Raalte schools, and a new school to replace Froebel and Lincoln schools. The exact millage and length of time will be decided later by the Board of Education after a study by legal counsel on what constitutes the best type of bonds. The board expects a seven-year period will be adequate for current needs.

Voters again will face two ballots. The first issue, open to all qualified voters, will be to raise the present tax limitation of 15 mills. Recently enacted legislation now requires a simple majority instead of the two-thirds majority which heretofore defeated three such elections in Holland.

The second issue, open only to property owners, will provide the necessary legal structure to raise the $650,000. Like the first issue, a simple majority is necessary.

The committee took action to follow the lead of the Board of Education in conveying the story of school needs to the public. The board will provide literature for use in the campaign. Information on school needs, present facilities, real estate tax rates, tax comparisons throughout the years in Holland, and comparisons with other cities of like size, was distributed at Tuesday's meeting.

Personnel of the citizens' committee follows:

Members-at-large — Dr. Lester Kuyper, Mrs. Clarence Becker and W. A. Butler.

Holland high — Henry Maents and Mrs. Jacob Van Voorst.

Junior high — Adrian Buys, Mrs. Adrian Kiasen and Ward Hansen.

Froebel — Willis De Cook, Richard Aardams and Irvin De Weerd.

Washington — Melvin Van Tatenhove, Mrs. Richard Ouderals and Russell Vander Poel.

They were selected out of a field of 12. Other nominees were Henry Ter Haar, Hollis M. Baker, William Weststrate, Dick Zwiap, Cornel Brewster, Clarence Becker, Robert Horner and Robert Visser.

A return of 315 ballots was reported by the balloting committee. This represents a high percentage of return.

Dredge Goes Down Near Grand Haven

A dredge which left Holland harbor early Sunday Monday lay submerged in 10 to 12 feet of water in Lake Michigan 500 feet off shore about four miles south of Grand Haven.

Details of the sinking were not available, but it was believed plans were under way to refloat the dredge which together with a scow was being towed by a tug owned by Capt. Thomas Mahan of Grand Haven.

The dredge, owned by the Tri-Cities Dredge Co. of Grand Haven, was in use several days in dredging work at the Texas Co. oil docks in Holland, just east of the North and South American boat docks. It was a relatively new dredge built on an old wooden scow.

The tug was towing the dredge and a scow loaded with discharge pipes. It was estimated the submerged dredge was from 30 to 35 feet long and 18 to 20 feet wide.

Hurricanes Play Bears Saturday

Rain Monday night moved the Holland Hurricane practice session indoors.

The Canes play the Highland Park Bears Saturday night under the arcs at Riverview park. Highland Park scored a 14-6 upset over Jackson last week and are primed to beat the Canes this week.

In the only other Michigan Football league game last week, Fenton defeated Ypsilanti 14-6 in a non-league tilt.

Coaches Jay Van Hoven and Ed Damsen emphasized that "offense" would be the pass-word to practices this week. The Canes were held to nine yards rushing last Saturday night by the Grand Rapids All-Stars.

However, both mentors said they were more than satisfied with Saturday's showing. They pointed out that many players didn't get into uniform until last Thursday and didn't have a chance to work as a team unit.

Southwest Loop Opens Season

All the Southwestern conference schools swing into action this week-end with the Holland high squad meeting Grand Rapids Creston at Riverview Park Friday night. The other conference schools also take on outside opponents. Benton Harbor entertains Harrison Tech of Chicago Friday and Grand Haven matches its squad against Ludington at Grand Haven.

St. Joseph travels to Kalamazoo for a contest with the Maroon Giants while the favored Big Reds of Muskegon open against Grand Rapids Catholic at Hackley Field. Saturday Oscar Johnson's defending champion Muskegon Heights eleven plays host to Grand Rapids Union, the 1948 mythical state champions.

Details Arranged For Rifle Club's Novelty Matches

John Clark, vice president of the Holland Rifle club, announced the final details of the novelty shoot Tuesday, Sept. 13, at Pine Creek range.

According to Clark, the match, which is open to the public, will be held at a range of 200 yards. The target is a life-size deer silhouette.

Each section of the deer is given a point value depending on the area and location. The heart and spine, being more vulnerable, are given a value of five, while less strategic portions are scored accordingly.

Each competitor will fire a string of five shots for a possible score of 25. A time limit of five minutes is permitted for the series.

Each shooter will be charged 25 cents for his five rounds, the proceeds of which will be divided among the top three winners on a percentage basis. Each competitor may fire as many series as time permits and all ties will be broken according to the official rules of the National Rifle association.

Shooters will be allowed to bring their own rifles equipped with any sights. Telescopic sights will be allowed. The lone exception is that rifles under .25 caliber will not be permitted.

The club will furnish rifles for those people who do not bring their weapons. These are the M-1 Garand models.

The range will be open at 9 p.m.

2 Mishaps Occur Near Same Spot

Two accidents occurred in almost the same spot on M-21 Thursday night, three-quarters of a mile east of Zeeland.

In the mishap at 7:10 p.m., a Greyhound bus ran into the ditch. It was carrying many passengers but no one was hurt.

According to the driver of the bus coming from Grand Rapids, he was slowing down to stop as required at the PM siding. However, he noticed an oncoming semi that was traveling at a high rate of speed.

He pulled the bus off onto the side of the road. However, when he attempted to stop in the rain on the slippery shoulder, the heavy vehicle slipped into a ditch.

A bus was sent from Holland to take the passengers while a wrecker labored to get the bus out of the ditch. The entire incident took about two hours and traffic was stalled for an hour and a half.

In the other accident, at 10:30 p.m., a car driven by Louis Stegenga of route 1, Holland, ran into the rear of a car driven by Lee E. Smitters of 221 South Wall St., Zeeland, according to officers who investigated.

Mrs. Lee Smitters, who was riding with her husband, received right leg injuries.

Damage to the front of the Stegenga car was estimated at $600 and $150 to the rear of the Smitters car.

Deputies Louis Vis and Art Lampen investigated both accidents. Stegenga was given a summons for failing to have his car under control, thereby causing an accident.

Officers Installed At Meeting of WCTU

New officers were installed at a meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance union Friday afternoon at Third Reformed church. Mrs. Paul E. Hinkamp was in charge.

Officers are Mrs. B. Smith, president; Mrs. A. Knipe, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. Kuyers, recording secretary, and Mrs. G. Slaghuys, treasurer.

Mrs. B. Smith led devotions. During the business meeting, annual reports were given by chairmen. A memorial service was conducted for the late Peter B. De Jonge, who was an honorary member of the union.

Tea was served by Mrs. T. Schuppert.

Michigan Ranks Third in Year's Apple Tonnage

Nation's Bumper Fruit Crop Reaches Peak; Market Prospects Low

From Our Washington Bureau
Washington, Sept. 15—Michigan, long "first" in cherry production, ranks third this year in apple tonnage, according to recently released Department of Agriculture estimates.

With the nation's bumper 10 million ton fruit crop higher this year than any except 1946, estimated increases over last year's short apple crop are set at 45 per cent.

Michigan will more than double her apple crop, harvesting 11 of the nation's 127 million bushels in 1949. This will be topped only by Washington with 30 million bushels and New York with 18.

Marketing prospects are less favorable, with fruit price prospects dipping lower than any time since 1942. The Agriculture department lists three factors expected to bring prices considerably below the 1948 level. These are: 1. bumper production; 2. slow movement to processors due to considerable carry over of last year's crop; 3. the prospect of small commercial exports because of the general dollar shortage in other countries.

Some states with earlier apple harvests have already reported marketing difficulties. In a few instances the Department of Agriculture has stepped in with emergency aid. To help move California Gravenstein apples the Agriculture department bought 135 carloads in August. The apples will be used in school lunches and institutional feeding programs.

Canned peaches were also involved in the early-season federal "assist" program.

Department of Agriculture estimates for principal Michigan fruit crops include: Grapes, second for the nation with 35,000 tons (New York is first); plums, second for the nation with 4,800 tons (California is first); peaches, 4.1 million of the nation's 75 million bushels.

Only Michigan cherries show a decline for 1949, but still top the national list with 57 thousand tons compared with last year's 72 thousand.

Check Heating Equipment Now

For next winter's safety, take a look now at your heating equipment. There is no quicker way to expose your family and possessions to danger of fire than to neglect a home heating unit, according to fire safety officials.

Fall is the time of the year, they say, to have dirty or defective equipment cleaned and repaired. Every stove or heater is a potential hazard and thousands of home fires are caused annually by neglect of the heating equipment. Special attention is advised for chimneys and flues. Keep them clean, in good repair, securely supported and at least foot from woodwork or combustible materials. Excessive heat on flammable surfaces will start a fire as quickly as sparks.

Flammable ceilings, floors and walls near heating units may be made fire-safe by covering them with fire-safe materials, such as asbestos cement board.

Another good way to prevent home fires is to clean the basement regularly. All ashes should be stored in metal cans and never mixed with rubbish. If you have piles of ashes or rubbish in the basement now, remove them before another heating season starts.

Where there are accumulations of old boxes, furniture, paper, combustible trash or debris, fires can get a quick start and spread rapidly. If there is no city rubbish collection, or no built-in incinerator, burn the rubbish in an incinerator made of sheet metal or in a wire mesh burner.

Never allow cleaning, polishing or paint rags to accumulate. This kind of waste material, if kept in a warm place, may ignite spontaneously.

DAR Luncheon Opens Season

A fall luncheon Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. McKenna of Waukegon began a new season for the Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Hostesses were Mrs. Harold B. Niles, Mrs. John J. Mikula, Mrs. William Eaton, Mrs. Dwight Yntema and Mrs. John Bosman. The luncheon table was attractively appointed with zinnias and other summer flowers in shades of red.

Mrs. Bruce Mikula, regent, presided at the meeting. Miss Laura Boyd read the address of the president-general, Mrs. Roscoe Z. O'Brien, which was given before the continental congress last April. Topic of the address was "We Build Ideas," which centered on the DAR's sponsoring of an educational program to build good citizenship and promote patriotism.

During the session, reservations were taken for the regional meeting to be held Wednesday, Sept. 14, in East Congregational church of Grand Rapids.

The Rev. Marion de Velder, pastor of Hope church, consults with Elsie Stryker, new director of Christian Education, on the new educational program which the church is inaugurating. The new religious education program will operate on a well organized curriculum in which text books used will eventually form a permanent library. Miss Stryker has had wide experience in such educational work.

Hope Church Starts New Educational Program

Hope church is inaugurating a new program of Christian education, one that will serve all classes from the nursery to the young adults.

Outstanding feature of the program is its material and text books, a layout which will provide each pupil with a permanent library of some 32 books by the time he is 21. This collection tells the complete story of Christianity.

Directing the education program is Elsie Stryker, who arrived in Holland Aug. 15. Since then she has held staff meetings with Sunday school teachers to set up the curriculum for six separate departments. These are the nursery, kindergarten, junior, junior high, senior high and young people. It will operate mainly through the Sunday school, although considerable week-day activity also is planned.

Work is carefully graded and planned for age levels. The program particularly enlists the cooperation of the home and aims to strengthen home ties. The curriculum was developed by the Presbyterian church which spent seven years in study.

Magazines will be sent each quarter to parents and Sunday school teachers on correlated material and helpful suggestions. Such magazines will recommend books as well as provide articles on successful family living.

The new program is administered by a board of education set up by the consistory. Members are Mrs. I. J. Lubbers, Mrs. W. G. Winter, Jr., Carolyn Hawes, Mrs. Craig Trueblood, Harold Haverkamp, Millard Weststrate and Clarence J. Becker. Miss Stryker and the Rev. Marion de Velder are ex-officio members.

Miss Stryker was born in Middlebury, N. J., near New Brunswick. She received a bachelor of letters degree from the New Jersey College for Women of New Brunswick and a master of arts degree from Biblical Theological seminary and New York university in New York city.

She has served as director of education at a Reformed church in Flushing, N. Y., taught Bible and religious education at Tennant college in Philadelphia, taught Bible at Beaver college in Jenkintown, N. J., and directed Christian education at Desert mission in Phoenix, Ariz. She also conducted week-day religious education for the Virginia Council of Churches which pioneered in such work 20 years ago.

The new director traveled extensively in Europe before the war and made a special tour of what was called "Lutherland" in Germany. She found the Netherlands particularly interesting and spent considerable time in Volendam and Marken.

Of all her experiences, she found a week-long program in daily vacation Bible school on the floor of Grand Canyon near Phoenix the most interesting. Here she taught with a group of leaders of other denominations among the Hava Supai Indian tribe in a tiny school. The tribe has only 200 members. The location could be reached only by an eight-mile trip down a narrow trail on horseback.

Mrs. Lawrence Walker entertained a group of neighbors Wednesday afternoon, honoring Mrs. Elsie Nichols on her birthday anniversary. Bunco and refreshments were the entertaining features.

Mr. and Mrs. Harve Cronkrite and daughter, Mrs. Dorris Davidsmeyer of Lansing, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nye Sunday. Mrs. Cronkrite is a sister of Mrs. Nye.

Mrs. Mary Reid, mother of Mrs. Frank Nye, is critically ill at Harpers Nursing home in South Haven.

Mrs. Oscar Huggins, who has spent several weeks in Bay City with her brother, Dr. Dwight Mosier and family, and her brother, Earl Mosier and family, Lansing, has returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Mosier for an indefinite stay.

Miss Margaret Schmidgall will entertain a friend from Elmhurst, Ill., over the week-end.

Mary Jean Burgh will return to her home in Ann Arbor Sunday after a two weeks' visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nye.

Use Old Pieces In Dining Room

Traditional dining-room furniture such as the Eighteenth Century mahogany or walnut sideboard with marble top, the Seventeenth Century tapestried chairs, and even the more austere Shaker, and combine and cherry pieces, can combine harmoniously. A dining-room with great originality and style can be developed by using such pieces (either antiques or reproductions).

Paint the walls and woodwork dark misty slate-blue; the ceiling a very pale gray-blue. Use straight-hanging gathered curtains of lacquer red with plain valances of the same material. Over the sideboard or buffet hang a group of old black-and-white prints or steel engravings framed alike in simple frames on white mats. Books of interesting prints of classic statues, costumes and the like can usually be found in old book-shops. Build the group of pictures almost up to ceiling height.

On the buffet arrange interesting piece of glassware such as decanters, oil and vinegar bottles, and footed compotes. In the center of the dining-table use contrasting flower combinations, such as golden-yellow with white.

THE BEGINNING OF BLAH

The 1950 congressional elections are still more than a year off but election blah has already begun in real earnest. Thus William H. Boyle, the new chairman of the Democratic national committee, gave it as his solemn opinion that that election is likely to be "the most important non-presidential vote in our history."

That takes in a lot of territory.
It is hard to see how the Democratic chairman could have taken in more, except that he might have omitted the qualifying adjective "non-presidential." But there have been non-presidential elections during two world wars, during the Civil War, the Mexican War, and the War of 1812, and when a national party chairman suggests that a coming by-election in peace time is likely to be more important than any of those polls in hours of crisis, he is saying an unusually big mouthful.

Nor it is necessary to confine the parallel to by-elections in war time. The people of the United States have passed through some pretty critical periods, as witness the decade before the Civil War,
and when a national party chairman suggests that a coming by-election in peace time is likely to be more important than any of those polls in hours of crisis, he is saying an unusually big mouthful.

But of course such a statement is not meant to be taken at face value. Presently the chairman of the Republican national committee will say virtually the same thing, only he will suggest that the country is surely going to utterly smash if the Republicans are not returned to power. The sensible voter will not pay much attention to either statement. Such talk is political blah, not a serious thing like objective evaluation of what the future holds in store.
The national chairman know this and the voters know it.

Mr. Doyle, for instance, must know that his statement is pure political rot. Or if he means seriously what he says, his knowledge of American political history is so shaky that he ought to go back to school. For the next 12 months and more we will have to be reconciled to reading and hearing such blah. A considerable amount of cynicism on the part of the voters will be a wholesome thing.

Psalms for Daily Living
Psalms 15:24; 143
By Henry Geertlings

These Psalms have a very practical message for daily life and conduct. The moral demands and ethical requirements of religion constitute major emphases in this hymnbook of the Scriptures. These songs point out the ways that lead to character. They provide guidance for crucial decisions of experience. They inspire courage to choose the right and refuse the wrong.

Certainly the psalmists recognized all moral and ethical duties as divine commands. They stressed the religious foundation and motivation of right conduct. They believed that life on earth should be set to a divine standard.

In the Naval conservatory at Washington is a master clock which is set by astronomy. Its time is determined by astronomers looking through their telescopes and observing the stars in their courses. Each hour master clocks in Western Union offices in all the principal communities of the United States are electrically set by the high standard of the heavens. In like manner, all people who are right in their attitudes and actions set their consciences by the high standard of God in heaven. This is a fundamental claim of the Psalms.

Richard Moulton said that a chief task of the prophets in all ages has been to call men back to the most simple and elemental duties. Plainly a chief concern of the psalmists was to call back to the commonplace virtues and the elemental moral ideals which are the foundation of all true character. Cleanliness, purity, honesty, sincerity—these are the fundamental virtues that are stressed.

Psalm 15 describes the kind of man who can stand in the presence of God. Its demand for purity needs to be understood as the condition of fellowship with God.
But in answering its question the psalm gives us a fine statement of the ideal of a righteous character which prevailed in ancient Israel. Integrity must be the rule of the good man's life both in his relation to God and man. Without integrity of character none of the finer graces of the Christian life are possible. But this integrity should express itself in righteous deeds.

The Psalm condemns the putting out of our money to usury.
The word usury means with us the charging of excessive interest on a loan. This practice is rightly condemned in the modern world.
Those who take advantage of a man's necessity to charge very high rates of interest are growing rich out of human misery. In the situation which prevailed in the ancient world, capital was not productive, and most loans were to help a man out of some emergency. All of our modern society is based on credit. Money is loaned for productive enterprises. In such a situation the basic principle of the payment of interest seems to be entirely justified. But the determination of a just rate of interest involves many moral problems.

The 24th Psalm is a prophecy of Christ. It has reference to the progress of the individual who wants to be on higher ground.
Hands, heart and soul are mentioned as having an important part. The hands suggest his work, the heart his motives, and the soul his emotions. It is not only necessary to refrain from evil deeds but to do so from the right motives.

In other words, we are not to refrain from stealing because we are afraid that we might be caught, but because we know that such conduct will break our communion with God. This blessedness should be so precious to us that we will gladly deny ourselves the sinful pleasures of this world.
And when this is done a reward is sure to come from the Lord.

There is a compensation that comes even in this life. The knowledge of sins forgiven and of being in harmony with God surpasses anything this world can offer. The fact that we know we have been clothed in the righteousness of Christ gives us an assurance that enables us to stand in the severest of trials and temptations. It gives us an insatiable desire to rise constantly higher and closer to God.

In the 143rd Psalm there is a petition for an early assurance of the mercy of God. The loving-kindness of Jehovah with David was the secret of every blessing.
It is the crown of all blessings, the fountain from which all blessings flow. There is also a petition for divine guidance.

The Psalmist prays God to make him know the path he would have him pursue. He desires God to teach him to avoid the dangers which beset him and to order his conduct according to the divine will. It shows that David was conscious of his own weakness and ignorance. This is true of all of us. Even the most experienced and godly men need the direction of God in life. We have as much need of divine guidance as of daily food. We are surrounded with danger, encompassed by temptations and therefore cannot walk safely and live lives pleasing to God apart from divine direction.

ican Indians.

U.S. Engineers Release Report On Local Harbor

Recommendations Call For Better Entrance, Extended Turning Basin

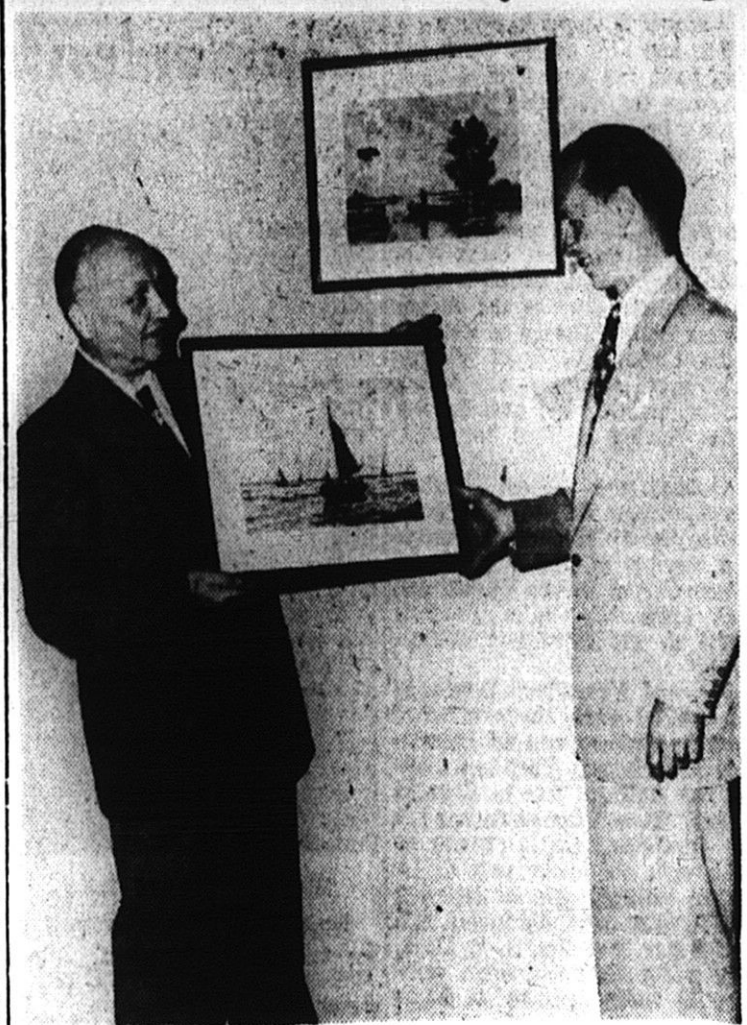

Official confirmation of recommendations for Holland harbor improvements was received today from the Corps of Engineers, U.S. Army, in connection with a public hearing held here Aug. 3, 1948.

The notice, signed by John R. Hardin, colonel in the Corps of Engineers, recommends that the bend in the entrance channel into Lake Macatawa be widened, and that a channel 110 feet wide and 21 feet deep, extending 2,600 linear feet upstream from the existing turning basin, be dredged in Black river.

The channel entrance recommendation specifically notes "that the bend in the revetted entrance channel into Lake Macatawa be widened from about 130 to 235 feet abreast the angle in the existing north revetment by constructing about 1,020 linear feet of the new revetment along the south side of the widened channel and removing the old revetment and land channelward of the new structure to a depth of 21 feet."

The second recommendation calls for an extension at the east end of the turning basin, 110 feet wide and 21 feet deep, extending 2,600 linear feet upstream from the existing turning basin with suitable widening in the vicinity of its junction with the basin and also that the width of the turning

Warm Friend Tavern Buys Paintings

Artist Jan de Wit Shows Paintings to Hotel Manager Gerald Helder

In an effort to bring out examples of true Dutch culture, the Warm Friend Tavern has purchased 17 original paintings from Jan de Wit, internationally known artist of The Hague who is visiting his son in Holland.

"Holland's Tulip Time is known all over the world, but we have been criticized for our failure to emphasize the cultural aspects in places outside museums," Hotel Manager Gerald Helder said.

To this end, he arranged for the purchase of the paintings, which he plans to hang in the lobby, Tulip room and other places. All of uniform size and frames, the paintings are mostly landscapes and seascapes. Some show the colorful cheese markets and costumes of certain classes that still wear the colorful garb. The scenes, all in water colors, show the picturesque way of Dutch life done by a contemporary artist.

The Dutch artist and his wife have been in this country several months and currently are seeking a six months' extension to avoid rough crossings which are likely to intervene if they leave on their scheduled November date.

They are visiting their son, Louis Charles, and his wife, the former Dorothy Lieveson, who were married 18 months ago. The son came here shortly after the war. The elder de Wits, though widely traveled, are here on their first visit to America. They spent a year in Capetown, South Africa, before coming here.

De Wit came to this country primarily to investigate art conditions, particularly methods and supplies. He also is on an incidental mission for the government to promote trade among the arts and re-establish dollar credit and exchange.

Before the war he maintained his own art gallery in The Hague, but most paintings were confiscated by the Germans.

basin be increased at 18 feet depth from 600 to 750 feet and that its length be extended upstream to join the new river channel.

Estimated total of the first cost and increased cost of annual maintenance for the recommended work to the United States are $522,100 and $5,600 respectively.

The official recommendation specifies that work on either or both of the above modifications of the project may be undertaken by the United States after local interests have complied with certain items of local co-operation without cost to the United States. They are:

1. Furnish all necessary lands, easements and rights-of-way for construction and maintenance of the project.

2. Furnish all necessary spoil-disposal areas for the initial dredging of the river channel and enlarging the turning basin.

3. Hold and save the United States and its agents from damages and claims for damage resulting from original improvement work and its subsequent maintenance.

Based on information now available, the reporting officers find that the principal reasons for recommending only the above improvements are that neither a larger and deeper outer harbor at Holland is justified at present, nor an alternate improvement providing for a straight entrance leaving from Lake Michigan into Lake Macatawa.

Officials also say the desired connections between the breakwaters and piers in the outer harbor would be injurious rather than beneficial to navigation and as a consequence they are not recommended for construction at this time.

The report also pointed out that all interested parties have the privilege of presenting their views on the subject matter of the report to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, a permanent body sitting at Washington, D.C., to which all examination and survey reports of this character are referred.

The hearing, authorized by the House of Representatives April 13, 1948, was held here Aug. 3, 1948, conducted by Col. J. O. Colonna of the U.S. Corps of Engineers in Milwaukee.

Motion Denied for New Trial for Cartwright

Allegan, Sept. 15 (Special) — Denying a motion leading to a new trial, for Everett Cartwright, Saugatuck, now serving a five to 14-year sentence in Southern Michigan prison at Jackson, Circuit Judge Raymond Smith ruled the court had been lenient enough in the case.

In an opinion, Judge Smith said Cartwright should not complain; he could have been sentenced as a second offender instead of on the forgery count.

He said he found no evidence that the man was not represented well legally or that he had not been apprised of his rights.

Seymour Padnos Attends Seminar

Seymour K. Padnos, of Louis Padnos Iron and Metal Co., was among the 222 graduates of the first annual Scrap Seminar, conducted Aug. 29 to Sept. 3 at Northwestern university, Chicago, by the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, the national trade association of the scrap industry.

At the seminar, executives of the scrap iron industry were given an intensive refresher course in the history and background of the scrap industry, the origin and preparation of scrap, the use of scrap by steel mills and foundries, labor and public relations, safety, administration and accounting procedures, and other phases of the industry.

Scrap is one-half the raw material utilized by steel mills and foundries to make new steel and castings of all kinds. In 1948 consumption and additions to inventories of open-market scrap reached a record of 30 million gross tons.

This tonnage was assembled from city and farm collections, ship breaking, auto wrecking and demolition, and included sales of obsolete equipment by railroads and the waste of metalworking factories.

Beaglers Train Dogs Near Lake

The Holland Beagle club is using the Coppersmith estate, located two miles northeast of Port Sheldon, as its dog training area. Ted Baker, secretary of the local club said the group has held one field trial on the estate.

Any member can run his dog on the grounds which have been planted with spruce and evergreens. The estate also has been stocked with rabbits.

State conservation regulations specify that a training area may cover not less than 80 or more than 240 acres. The area may not be used for hunting.

These areas serve as a solution for hunters' problem of teaching a pup how to smell out pheasants, since the law forbids a dog from getting within sniffing distance of a pheasant between April 15 and July 15.

Hunters are warned that all protected animals captured by a dog during the training period must be released immediately if unharmed; if injured they must be returned to the local conservation officer within 24 hours.

Dick Hewitt, 19, Saginaw, will appear Sept. 19 for a hearing on charges of assault and battery. He was freed on a $100 bond after he entered an innocent plea in Judge Ervin Andrews' court.

Ronald Baluvelt, 23, Doster, paid $25 fine and $6.85 costs for carrying a loaded deer rifle out of season.

Highways Near Allegan Getting Thorough Repairs

Allegan, Sept. 15 (Special) — Three stretches of state highways near Allegan are receiving thorough repair work in preparation for additional gravel, Homer Ward, county road engineer, said today. The county is doing the work on its state highway maintenance contract.

M-118 to Watson Corners, and M-40 to Paw Paw and M-89 west are being treated with chloride and additional clay. Although the state expected to re-pave south, bids have not been let.

Maintenance work will continue until the project is ready, Ward said.

Tourist Travel In West Michigan Hits New Record

Tourist travel in Western Michigan this year stretched to a new all-time record, according to West Michigan Tourist and Resort council reports.

Members of the tourist council executive board met at Macatawa hotel Friday afternoon to hear reports of the recently completed season and transact routine business.

Tourist business throughout the area was generally "good" according to a report submitted. However, the polio scare and cool weather the last two weeks in August made inroads into business.

It was reported that prices of food, accommodations and other tourist needs were about the same as last year in most instances, but service and other extras were better.

The recreation travel record appears to be general throughout the state. Traffic lines at the Straits this summer, through August, were 12.8 more than any other previous year.

The annual West Michigan Tourist and Resort meeting to be held at the Rowe hotel at Grand Rapids Oct. 6 and 7 was discussed. D. Lee Dolan, commissioner of travel for the Dominion of Canada and travel promoter, will be speaker at the main banquet during the annual meeting. Other details were discussed and decided.

In an effort to increase tourist trade in West Michigan and the Holland area, the executive board Friday voted wider circulation for the Tourist council book "Carefree Days." It was decided to accept display ads from "high class" restaurants and eating places. Circulations will be upped from 35,000 to 60,000.

The tourist council ended its fiscal year Aug. 31. According to a financial report submitted at Friday's meeting, more income was realized than anticipated and the treasurer has a balance in the bank totaling $800 to $1,000 left over.

President Joe Bachunas presided. The board was feted at a dinner following the meeting.

Zwemers Entertain on Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Zwemer, 37 West 22nd St., entertained guests Friday evening in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. An anniversary dinner was served at the Rainbow Inn.

After dinner, guests went to the Zwemer home where movies were shown. Gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Zwemer. The remainder of the evening was spent socially.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bartell of Muskegon, Mr. and Mrs. Roger E. Zwemer of Grandville, and Cornelius Zwemer, William Nykamp, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Nykamp, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Nykamp and Mr. and Mrs. Harold De Loof, all of Holland.

German Boxer is New Companion for Blind Man

Miner Dykman and Spike

Blind Miner Dykman has a faithful new companion these days—a 20-month-old German Boxer named Spike.

Spike was trained at the Leader Dog League just south of Rochester, Mich., and the 37-year-old Holland man spent four weeks there getting acquainted with Spike and learning how to handle the dog.

Dykman, whose sight has been failing since he was 18 years old, can only distinguish light from darkness. Until last year he was a hand sander at Holland Furniture Co., work he could do mainly by feel. And until he acquired Spike his world lay at the tip of his white cane.

ter, Carla Gayle, born to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne De Went, 531 West 22nd St.; a son, Terry Lee, born to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Prins, 257 Reimink road; a daughter, Jill Marie, born to Mr. and Mrs. John Hilbink, 198 West 14th St.; a daughter, Linda Ruth, born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Slenk, 22 East Ninth St.

The American Legion auxiliary will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the Legion club rooms. Election of officers is scheduled.

Miss Mame Ewald left this morning for Chicago, where she was called by the death of a brother, F. J. Ewald.

The film "Singing I Go," which will be shown at the Youth for Christ rally tonight, will be shown again Sunday at 9 p.m. at the Zeeland bowl, Lawrence St. park.

Ottawa County District Nurses' association will have a meeting and picnic Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the John Van Dam cottage on the Lake road, ¾ mile north of Lakewood Blvd. Food will be furnished. Members are asked to bring their own table service and a 25 cent gift.

Judson Leonard, recently appointed field executive for this district of the Grand Valley Boy Scout council, will attend a six-day region seven executives' conference at Green Lake, Wis. He will return to Holland following the closing session Sept. 17. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard are now living at 80 East 18th St.

Spike was presented to Dykman by the local Lions club, which made arrangements with the Leader Dog League. The League, largely sustained through voluntary contributions, turns out 50 units, blind person and his dog, each year. It is the second largest of three such agencies in the country, and the training center in Michigan is closer to 45 per cent of the blind population in the United States than any other school.

Since scientists claim that dogs are color blind and can distinguish only a dull gray, one might wonder how the dog and blind person cross street corners safely. The person listens for traffic sounds, and if he hears none, he commands the dog to go forward. From then on in the street the leader dog is responsible.

All dogs used are donated to the League and most of them are German Shepherds or Boxers. Dogs have three months of training before blind persons come. During that time, a report card is marked each week on the dog's obedience, reactions and orientation work.

The temperament of the individual is matched as closely as possible to that of the dog. The dog also is selected for the environment in which it will have to operate and the type of traffic which it will face.

Lions clubs began the work until they discovered it was too big a problem for one service club alone. In 1940 the name of the agency was changed to "Leader Dog League for the Blind."

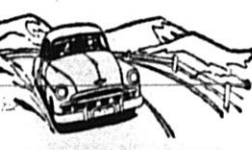

The Dykmans live at 68 Madison place. Mrs. Dykman is the former Geneva Wolters. They have a daughter, Myra, going on seven.

GR All-Stars Win Season Inaugural By Lone Marker

The Holland Hurricanes didn't have an offense Saturday night, but the local defense held the highly-touted Grand Rapids All-Star backs to a lone touchdown as the Stars beat the Canes 6-0.

The rugged game at Grand Rapids' Houseman field was the season opener for both teams and attracted upwards of 9,500 spectators.

Lou Paul made the only score of the evening as he ran into pay dirt from the one and a half yard line midway in the third period. Paul took the ball on a handoff from quarterback Jack Nelson, was almost stopped but broke away and went around end to tally.

Holland made just one first down in the game. That came on a 26-yard pass play from Ron Klamp to Ted Bos toward the end of the first period. The locals were bogged down on offense throughout the game, making just nine yards rushing. Holland made 33 yards on passes.

However, the local line was playing at mid-season form as it repeatedly held when the occasion demanded.

Highlighting the local defense was a goal-line stand early in the third period. Grand Rapids had just completed a 50-yard pass play from its own 48-yard line to Holland's two.

With first down and two to go, the Canine line stiffened and Grand Rapids gave up the ball four plays later on Holland's one and a half yard line.

Guard Jason DeVries was the best man of the field for Holland. He played both offense and defense. Other defensive standouts for the Canes were Mel and Al Klinge, Ed and Lloyd Boeve, George Botis, Jim Schurman, Bob Mesolowski, Stan Wlodarczyk, Loren Cook, Steve Stromeier and Lawrence McCormick. Grand Rapids, boasting many ex-Furniture City all-city selections, made 226 yard rushing, including 52 yards on passes. The Stars made nine first downs.

Bob Vandenberg, Elton Harris, Paul and Jack Nelson stood out for the Grand Rapids team on offense.

Holland kept the Stars deep in Grand Rapids territory during the entire first half.

The locals had their best scoring opportunities early in the game. After that pass from Klamp to Bos, Holland inched to the Grand Rapids 18-yard line.

On fourth down, Don "Red" Hulst dropped back for a drop kick. His boot fizzled off to the right and was grabbed by Paul on the Grand Rapids two yard line. Paul ran it back to the 27 to end the Holland threat.

The Canes were backed up to their own goal most of the second half.

Grand Rapids scored a second touchdown early in the final period on a 12-yard pass play after a hand-off. However, the play was called back because of backfield in motion and the Stars penalized five yards.

During the game, Grand Rapids completed six out of 16 passes for 53 yards. Three were intercepted. Holland made good three out of 13 passes for 33 yards.

Holland intercepted three Grand Rapids heaves while the Stars snared one local pass.

Vern Vandewater, Hulst and Klamp along with Fullback Don Moeller handled ball totting duties for the Canes. Klamp, playing both offense and defense, was a standout.

Man Chooses Holland; Judge Chooses Jail

Floyd Mackey, 50, of Ann Arbor, likes Holland area so well, he's going to stay 30 days. Mackey was arraigned in municipal court Tuesday morning on a drunk and disorderly charge. He was given a 30-day sentence, which was suspended providing he leave town within an hour. Police escorted him to the city limits.

Late Tuesday afternoon, he was re-arrested on a like charge. This morning Judge Cornelius vander Meulen decided Floyd better serve the 30 days.

Two persons paid fines in the local court. John Masselink of 230 West 18th St., paid $9 for making an improper left turn, and Donald W. Vander Til, 29, of Grand Rapids, paid $5 for running a stop street.

Simon Harkema, who at 79 still runs a 119-acre farm which specializes in choice Honey Rock melons, hands one of the samples to little Arla Hoving, daughter of one of his partners on his farm on Castle park road. Another specialty of the Harkema farm is the greenhouse which produces choice tomatoes each spring and chrysanthemums for shipment in the fall.

You Like Choice Melons? Harkema Knows 'em All

Simon Harkema has been an authority on melons for 20 years. Seven acres of his 119-acre farm on the Castle park road are planted with carefully selected Honey Rocks developed from seeds he obtained from Michigan State college.

At the peak of the season this year, the Harkemas harvested 185 bushels at one picking. At present the take is 30 to 40 bushels a day.

Melons are tested by the Harkema family after a good healthy vine has been selected and a melon cut open. If the melon doesn't meet the taste requirement, the seeds are not replanted. These round fleshy melons are being raised under irrigation to keep them juicy.

Resorters in the Castle Park and Macatawa area have been supplied with Harkema's produce for 40 years. Before the automobile there was no market for the melons he now ships to Grand Rapids. About a third of his crop is consumed locally.

Along with his summer melon crop, Harkema raises hot-house tomatoes. In the fall the fruits and vegetables give way to the lovely chrysanthemums that are shipped to florists.

A shed on the farm is the old one-room schoolhouse Mr. Harkema attended as an eight-year-old. The old District No. 3 fractional school, moved from a half mile east of the farm, holds many memories for Harkema at 79. The old blackboard is still in place.

Robert Harkema is his father's partner. There are several other helpers working on a partnership basis.

Local Girl Scores Twirling Victories

Connie Norlin, nine year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Norlin of 349 East 5th street has added more laurels to prove her baton twirling abilities. Little Connie participated in five contests during the summer and showed very well.

At the Michigan State fair held from Sept. 5-10, the lassie captured a second place trophy in the finals of the freshmen class. In the preliminary events, held a week previously for qualification in the finals, Connie notched a second place medal. Dorothy Bryan, 10 years old of Benton Harbor won both the preliminary and final contests while Donna Sharp, also 10, of Detroit took third in both tests.

Also at the International baton twirling show in Michigan City, Ind., Connie brought home a third division honor in the freshmen class. Later in the summer she appeared in "Music in Motion" presented by Wheaton high school, Wheaton, Ill.

Connie took a second division rating at the "Fish Festival" in Syracuse, Ind. to complete her summer of prize twirling.

Crowded Classes Cause Concern in Christian System

Problems pertaining to the increased enrollment in the local Christian schools was the major concern of trustees at its monthly meeting Thursday night. Serving as the basis for discussion was a detailed report on school enrollment presented by Supt. Bert P. Bos. In addition, the superintendent gave the revised statistics on the present enrollment.

The report showed that there are now 1,330 students enrolled in the Christian school system. This represents an increase of about 80 per cent over the enrollment of 1940 when 737 pupils were registered. It also represents a seven per cent increase over last year's total of 1,238. Bos also reported that the major share of the increase this year appears in the elementary grades, where there is an enrollment of 678—60 greater than last year. The high school 496 figure shows a gain of 20 students over last year and the junior high an increase of 12.

In an effort to ease the situation, the board authorized action to secure additional clerical assistance for those teachers with the largest classes.

To aid the overcrowded condition in the high school, officials are studying a plan to allow some pupils to remain at home for a study hour rather than using a school study hall. In another proposal, some pupils, who would ordinarily have a study session preceding the dismissal period would be excused one period early. Bos said this plan was followed on a lesser scale last year and worked out quite satisfactorily, but must be considered an emergency measure.

The board also announced appointment of Lawrence Brower as custodian in the Fifteenth St. building. Bos also reported to the board on a special maintenance and building relations class which will be held in the Holland high school. The course is to be taught by Charles Bradley of Michigan State college. The board authorized and urged attendance of school janitors. In other action the board reviewed requests of several parents in regard to transportation facilities for kindergarten pupils.

The superintendent expressed appreciation to four board members whose terms of office expire this month. The retiring members are Henry De Boe, B. J. Fyne, Marvyn J. Tiniholt and John Veltkamp.

The Rev. Louis Voskuil, president of the board, presided.

Autumn Is Best Time for Grass

Grass should be planted in the autumn, when rainfall is plentiful, according to Dr. James Tyson, Michigan State college soil scientist.

Fall planting gives the seed a good start and squeezes out weed competition that accompanies spring planting.

Tyson outlined rules for most effective planting.

Soil should be tested to determine lime content. If lime is needed, lime stone should be applied at a rate of 100 pounds for each 1,000 square feet.

The tract of land should be graded to get the proper slope. This allows drainage away from the house foundation. Tyson suggests alternately raking and rolling the ground until a firm seed-bed is reached.

A pound or a pound and a half of seed should be sown to each 1,000 square feet.

The soil expert recommends that the measured amount of seed for a section be mixed with enough dry screened soil to make sufficient bulk for even distribution.

A light raking after sowing stabilizes the seed, Tyson claims. Plant grass, and do it now, Tyson suggests.

Lean Pigs Bring Bigger Profits

There's no money in lard says Lyman Bratzler, meats specialist at Michigan State college. And he takes out a stubby pencil to do a little figuring and show why it pays farmers to sell their hogs at lighter weights.

Hog numbers are up all over the country. The use of vegetable oils has cut the demand for lard as has use of synthetic materials in soap making. So the demand for lard is low.

Result is that packers have to sell lean meat for a high price to pay for the low value fat. When hogs are selling for about 18 cents a pound, the fat on the live hog is worth only a third of that amount. Some packers, Bratzler reports, say they get more lean meat from a 200 pound hog than they do from a 300 pound hog. A 300 pounder will produce almost twice the lard a 200 pound hog will.

Bratzler believes farmers can't expect packers to pay good prices for a heavy hog when it dresses out so much of a low-priced product. Breeders have gone a long way toward developing a lean-type hog, but the present answer seems to be in selling smaller hogs.

Corn may be plentiful, but the farmers who continue to feed hogs to heavier weight are adding more headaches to the meat industry which cannot find an outlet for the surplus fat, Bratzler thinks.

North Dakota Farmer Works by Moonlight

Making hay while the sun shines may be the rule for most farmers. But Irwin Dittmer of eastern North Dakota puts his up by moonlight, when everything is cool and quiet.

Dittmer has scientific reasons for his unusual methods in the hayfield, according to an article in a farming magazine. He says, after 10 years of experience, that his system results in less work, practically no loss of forage and higher quality hay. All the nutritive leaves and fine stems are saved. Dittmer applies his system to alfalfa and sweet clover.

When the first blooms began to appear in the sweet clover, haying starts on the Dittmer farm. If a rain comes up, the work goes right on a 12-foot grain windrow is used, leaving a heavy windrow on eight or nine inches of stubble. A mower and side delivery can be used, he says, if the rake follows the mower immediately.

Nursery Stock Not Sold at Ag Offices

Inquiries are infrequently received in the Michigan Department of Agriculture offices regarding evergreen seedlings and other types of nursery stock. C. A. Boyer, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry, reports that the Michigan Department of Agriculture does not propagate or dispense any type of nursery stock, the department duties being confined to inspection and certification of all plant materials disposed of within Michigan.

Nursery stock can be purchased from licensed commercial nurserymen; and evergreen seedlings used for reforestation and windbreaks may be secured from the forestry department, Michigan State college and/or the forestry division of the Michigan Department of Conservation. Trees purchased from a state or federal nursery cannot be inspected and certified by the department, Boyer said, since Act 189 PA 1931 makes such inspection unlawful.

Names of commercial licensed nurserymen from whom evergreen seedlings and other plant materials can be purchased, will be furnished upon request to the department.
