Holland Included On Mailing List Of Lottery Racket

A lottery racket uncovered by FBI included victims in Holland, Postmaster Harry Kramer said today.

About 24 persons received letters from Jamaica where a sweepstakes horse race is to take place on Dec. 26. The letters aren't delivered by Holland postmen, but persons to whom the letters are addressed are called into the Post Office so the letters can legally be opened.

The United Press reported 12 persons over the country were arrested as alleged members of the $2 million sweepstakes ticket ring.

FBI men followed expressmen's trails to persons who received packages of tickets printed in Miami, Fla., and nabbed them in a roundup that covered six states.

The case was broken by a Royal Canadian mounted police, who found a batch of tickets on a traveler who crossed the Canadian border. The FBI in Buffalo, N. Y., noticed that they were printed by the Franklin Press in Miami.

Ed Mason, agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, said "the racket was smashed" before it could get started "with a resultant saving in cash money for Americans who might have bought the illicit tickets."

The polio-conscious kids are at it again!

This time the West 18th St. crowd staged a circus and invited their dads and moms. They charged pennies too, and together with contributions from more generous parents cleaned up about $10 which they presented to Gabe Kuite, polio campaign chairman for Holland.

The big event was held in the back yard of Roger and Allen Buurma on West 18th St. Carol Cook served as emcee and also took her spot to do some baton twirling.

Judges' Stand Hit at Allegan

Allegan (Special)—"Someday this judges' stand is going to get hit and I wouldn't be surprised if it were today," remarked soundman Bill Collick Sunday as he watched the stockcars rocketing around Jones speedway.

About an hour later, as he picked himself out of the wreckage, Collick had reason to think he was psychic.

For Art Broadhurst, Otsego substitute driver had hit on a corner post sent the stand tottering to the ground, and the four race officials were dumped in a mud puddle.

No one was injured among the four—Collick, Carl Jones, speedway proprietor, and Joe Foster and Earl Soyster, judges. But one of the six foot maple poles which supported the stand had been clipped off at the ground and another pulled from its base.

Jones planned to set a crew at work today setting up the stand for this afternoon's races—30 feet back from the track.

Court Order Puts Child in Hospital

Allegan (UP)—Probate Judge Harold F. Weston Tuesday had signed an order permitting hospitalization of a 13-year-old girl whose father previously refused her medical aid because he claimed to have "healing powers."

The child, youngest of 11 in the family, was taken to Borgess hospital in Kalamazoo late Monday afternoon by Helen Miles, county welfare agent, and a county health nurse. The child is under the care of a specialist.

The baby's father, Benjamin Risner, Gunplain farmer, offered no objection when the court took charge. He was ordered to appear in probate court Sept. 15 when Judge Weston will determine whether the child shall become a ward of the county.

The child was found to have infection in both ears with a threat of mastoid complications developing. The father allowed a physician to see the child last Saturday but refused treatment or hospitalization.

It was evident, the physician said, the child had a temperature of 101 degrees. He gave the baby a 50-50 chance of recovering.

The petition to have the court take over care of the child was filed by Willis Brown, Gunplain township supervisor.

1st Lt. Robert J. Parr, Mrs. Parr and their daughter, Cynthia, who will be a year old next week, are en route to their home at Fort Benning, Ga., after a visit with Mrs. Parr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mrok, in Holland. Lt. Parr had just returned from Korea where he spent 23 days with American soldiers teaching the use of the new super bazooka which stopped Communist tanks. (Sentinel photo)

Back From Korea, Officer Lauds American Soldiers

"Don't ever sell the American soldier short. I never saw braver men than those in Korea."

That's the statement of 1st Lt. Robert J. Parr, 28-year-old West Pointer who stopped in Holland a few days to pick up his wife and daughter after a two-month jaunt to the other side of the world which included 23 days in Korea.

When the UN troops were having trouble stopping Korean tanks early in the war, Lt. Parr and two enlisted men were sent from Fort Benning, Ga., to Korea to instruct American troops in the use of the new 3.5 rocket launcher, a super-bazooka infantry weapon which succeeded in stopping the foe.

The flight to Korea took practically no time at all. "Yes, we stopped in Tokyo, but only took time for a sandwich."

Lt. Parr said when the American soldier says he doesn't care much about Korea, he really means it. Korea is a land of rolling hills with rice paddies in the valleys. It isn't tank country, but when one side has tanks and the other hasn't, tanks are bound to be effective. American soldiers didn't think much of New Guinea either.

Although Lt. Parr and his two non-coms were supposed to be in a "safe" place way back, there were plenty of times when it wasn't too healthy over in Korea. "People over here are always saying they don't know what it's all about and Korea is so far away. That may be true, but think of the American serviceman in Korea. If you think Korea is far away, think how far from home he is!"

He added it's still an infantryman's war and manpower is still the most important factor. "The other side seems to have tremendous reserve power. More men and more equipment would be the best morale builder for our side," he said.

Lt. Parr, who comes from a suburb of Los Angeles, Calif., was graduated from West Point in 1945 after a three-year accelerated course. He was sent to occupied Germany for 2 1/2 years and met the girl he later married in Heidelberg. She was then a captain in the Wacs. They were married two years ago in Holland.

Lt. Parr arrived in Holland Friday night and his family left Wednesday. While they were here, they also joined in a family reunion in the John Mrok home at 9 River Ave. Mr. and Mrs. John Mrok, Jr., of Houston, Tex., and Stanley Mrok of Hollywood timed visits home too.

For his work in Korea and among the troops in Yokohama and Hong Kong, Lt. Parr received a personal commendation from Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond for his successful mission.

Lt. Parr was a bit modest about the commendation. He didn't want to say anything, but Mrs. Parr was bursting with pride and told a. to the press.

When it comes to the military, Capt. Parr still outranks Lt. Parr.

Holland Reserves In Field Artillery Being Deactivated

An active reserve Army unit in Holland is in the process of being deactivated, it was learned Tuesday.

Members of Battery C, of the 467 Field Artillery battalion, turned in clothing and equipment Monday night after being in the battery since Jan. 1, 1950.

The deactivation order affects 17 men and three officers. The battery met twice a month at their headquarters on the second floor of the Sentinel building, under command of Capt. Daniel Clark.

Only developments pending to complete the order are turning in of equipment and receipt of actual orders from battalion headquarters in Grand Rapids.

Members of the company now go on an active status and probably will be called back into active service on an individual basis, Capt. Clark said. He added that one battery member already has received orders to report for physical.

There is a possibility that some of the men will be assigned to the 5537 Camp and Station unit in Holland under the command of Maj. A. S. Kolm, Clark said.

Highlight of the battery's short existence in Holland was a two-week training session at Camp McCoy, Wis., in July. The battery specialized in the 155 mm. self-propelled weapon.

Clark, who has been an artillery man for 17 years, said that the battery could have continued on an active status as a heavy tank company, but a vote of members decided against it.

Detroit Company Will Move Here After Completion

Firm to Provide Jobs for Several Local Residents

Ground was broken Saturday for a new $150,000 factory on Ottawa Beach road. The H. E. Morse Co. of Detroit recently purchased a nine-acre site directly west of the Chris-Craft Corp. property for the factory building which will have 31,000 feet of floor space.

The Morse Co. is moving its operation from Detroit to Holland and will be housed in the new building which is scheduled for completion in approximately nine weeks.

Initially the new factory will provide employment for 40 persons, of which half will be women. As the industry adds new processes, the employment figure will increase.

Negotiations were carried on with the Morse Co. by W. H. Vandewater, secretary-manager of the Holland Chamber of Commerce.

The Morse Co. manufactures small parts from precious and semi-precious metals.

The fireproof building will include six feet of masonry work, four feet of glass brick and five feet of paneled above the glass brick. The roof will be concrete slab with tar and gravel.

D. Wilkinson Construction Co. of Detroit is general contractor. The factory building will be located 120 feet from the road and face east. The remainder of the property will be landscaped and fenced in.

Henry E. Morse is president of the company. It was organized seven years ago.

It is hoped that the project will be completed in nine weeks. However, the firm will start moving equipment from Detroit Nov. 1, Morse said.

Local labor and supplies will be used as much as possible in the construction work.

Morse pointed out that about half the employees must be skilled workers and the remainder non-skilled.

The property is located in Holland township.

State Park Enjoyed 'Pretty Good' Season, Park Superintendent Says

The summer season at Holland State park, which officially closed with the Labor Day week-end, was "a pretty good one," Park Superintendent Clare Broad said today.

"Although the weather cut down attendance from last year, it was a good year," Broad said. "We didn't have any serious accidents, no drownings or even near-drownings, and everything seemed to go along all right."

Broad pointed out that only one person was injured at the park this year, and that happened Labor Day when a child ran in front of a car.

"But we don't know how serious it was. It couldn't have been too bad because someone picked up the child and took him away in a car before we could even get their names," he added.

Attendance to date at the park has reached 800,486, as compared with a figure of 1,274,054 for last year at the same time. The total attendance for 1949 was 1,320,574.

The drop is blamed on weather conditions, and is true of all state parks, and not only at Holland. Although the official closing was Labor Day, the park will remain in operation as a service to the public until cold weather prevents it, Broad said. This means that stoves, tables, plumbing and one bath house will be available while park workers are doing maintenance work on the grounds.

Life guards went off duty at the park after Labor Day. The staff reached a peak of 12 employees during the summer, and now is down to five workmen. Of these, only three will be left during the winter. The rest are seasonal employees, and most of them return to school or college during the fall.

Broad pointed out that people showed much more consideration about cleaning up picnic areas after use toward the last part of the season.

"Picnic areas are being left in good condition," he said. "We don't have so much paper picking to do, and we surely appreciate it."

"But," he added with a wink, "we could stand more of this consideration."

Broad is making plans already for next year. "We hope to have more picnic stoves and tables for public use," he said.

Camp permits issued are keeping more space this year than at attendance did. Until Sunday 1,820 camp permits were issued, as compared with 1,960 for the entire year of 1949. And campers kept rolling in until the last of October, Broad pointed out.

Attendance last week-end was fair. Visitors Saturday numbered 6,000, and 3,500 persons entered the park Sunday before the rains came. That sort of stopped them, Broad said.

Attendance for the week was 33,600, which included 18,000 visitors on Labor Day.

"We're coming along," says Al Vanderbush, coach of Hope college's football team as his squad has its first taste of the rough stuff Tuesday.

"We look a bit sloppy but you have to expect that for the first scrimmage." However, the tackling was sharp and the ball carrying was good.

Vanderbush expects to field a light, inexperienced line with fast, shifty backfield which can really move. The line is the big problem along with finding a capable quarterback.

Here is Vanderbush's position by position analysis of the team: Ends: Prospects: GOOD. Jack van der Velde, defensive back returns to team with Buzz Bauman, the team's best pass snagger on offense. Bob Visscher will work with van der Velde on defense.

Tackles: Prospects: FAIR. Leterman Gene Nyenhuis is back and will probably run with Fred Yonkman, another monogram winner. Defensively sound. Newcomer John Newton switched to tackle to add depth. This position should improve.

Guards: Prospects: FAIR. Most uncertain position on the team and possibly its weakest link at least for the present. Gerry Groters and Neil Droppers are leading candidates. Not too much weight. Lloyd Beekman should help with Jim Van Hoeven the most promising freshman.

Center: Prospects: GOOD. Captain Gene Campbell brings back his 200-pound frame to lay a permanent claim on this position. Herm Nienhuis of Zeeland, will see plenty of action.

Quarterback: Prospects: FAIR. Another question mark. Ron Schippers and Bill Hinga have turned in good work so far in drills. However, each is relatively untested in game action. Game experience will tell.

Halfbacks: Prospects: EXCELLENT. So excellent in fact, that Vanderbush said he would not name a starting duo until shortly before each game. Ron Appleborn, Dutch Van Ingen, Eddie Leverette and, the newly reported

Ventura School Reunion Held at Van Lente Home

The annual reunion of women who attended Ventura school, was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ben Van Lente, route 4. Seventeen women attended.

A potluck dinner was served from a table decorated with flowers and flags in patriotic colors. The program included numbers given at a Christmas entertainment 44 years ago. Shortly afterwards, the school house burned down in 1906 and a new school was built, one of the few one-room school houses still being used today.

Ethel Rockwood Sheffield read a poem given by John Groders, "Just for Christmas." Ethel Ausicker Von Ins read a poem given by her brother, Rollin Ausicker, "The Turk," and Hazel Depledge Bocks sang "I Don't Wanna Play in Your Yard," which was popular at that time. She was dressed in gingham and a sun bonnet.

A highlight of the program occurred when Jean Jennings Wilson, the Ventura school teacher in 1906, held opening exercises the same way she did then, with roll call of old students, a verse from the Bible, the Lord's Prayer and singing of old-time songs.

A song, "Little White Schoolhouse," was sung by Mrs. Bocks, Kate Nichols Boyce and Cora Ausicker Ten Hagen, all dressed like "kids." Recitations were given by Darlene Von Ins Riemersma, Mabel Soderburg Ruys and Mrs. Ten Hagen.

At election of officers, Mrs. Von Ins was named president and Mrs. Boyce, secretary. It was decided to meet next year at the home of Mrs. Sheffield in Hastings.

PAYING PARTY DEBTS

When Congressman Gerald R. Ford, in a speech at Jamestown, expressed the opinion that "America has lost faith in Secretary of Defense Johnson and that he should be replaced," his words had implications that go far beyond the actual statement itself. It is doubtful if the congressman from this district had those implications in mind; he was of course speaking as a Republican and he was putting his finger on a party issue.

But it is not a party issue, because the Republicans are just as vulnerable on this point as the Democrats. For while Ford suggested that a given cabinet member should be replaced, due regard for the interests of the American people suggests that no president should make the kind of appointment that placed Louis Johnson in high office. But all presidents do it. They are all equally guilty in paying their party debts by filling their cabinets with men who are but indifferently qualified for the duties they are supposed to perform.

Johnson was appointed — not even Truman denied this — because he raised a lot of dollars for Truman's election fund. No one has ever claimed that he knew any more about America's defense problems than the first fairly intelligent person you meet on a stroll around the block. The president had incurred a debt and he had to pay up. So he dipped into the pockets of the American taxpayers to provide the salary the defense secretary receives.

But that is fairly unimportant. After all, that amount is tiny, comparatively speaking. But the president risked taking out of millions, perhaps billions, of those "tax payers' pockets in waste and mistakes that an amateur on the job would incur. Nor is that the worst. The president risked the lives of American boys when he entrusted the job of national defense to a man who had no other qualification than that he was a good money getter for the party.

But presidents of both parties have always done that kind of thing. Cabinet posts are more often than not filled as payment for party debts. This has become so much a matter of course that it is taken for granted and does not even cause a lift of eyebrows. The assumption is that it is all right because everybody has always been doing it, in the Republican as well as in the Democratic ranks. The Johnson case is merely a little more flagrant than the ordinary.

What would happen if a newly elected president should fill his cabinet with men who were really fitted for their job, not because they were good party men, or came from politically strategic states, or could keep blocks of votes in line? Too idealistic? Perhaps, but a more honest way of paying party debts. If we can make this possible by electing men who would run our government with playing politics. Our tax dollars would really do marvels. Our waste and mistakes would be much smaller.

Bethlehem Chapter, OES Has First Fall Meeting

Sunday School Lesson

September 17, 1950
James, the Leader in the Jerusalem Church
Acts 15:13-20

By Henry Geerlings

In the New Testament there are mentioned at least three men by the name of James. The James which is prominent in the gospels is James the son of Zebedee and brother of John, one of the three disciples who were specially close to our Lord. The only specific bit of information which we have about him outside of the gospels is that he was put to death by Herod Agrippa I shortly after the king's own death in

A. D. 44. Another apostle was named James the son of Al-phaeus, who is probably the same as James the less, the son of Mary. We are given no further information concerning him. The third James, who is always meant when we read the sayings and deeds of James in the Acts and epistles, is James the Lord's brother about whom we study today.

The insistence on Jewish rites made an undesirable class known as Judaizers. These were believers who carried over their loyalty and prejudices for the old ways and insisted that Gentiles must first become outwardly Jews before being accepted as inwardly

Christians and granted church membership. These made no end of trouble. The problem was to quiet these Judaizers and hold both them and the believing Gentiles in the church.

When at its worst, this controversy in Antioch sent Barnabas and Paul to Jerusalem for an opinion and decision as to procedures. These experienced men of God could keep the practical side of the matter uppermost, and so were well-balanced messengers to present the case.

In Jerusalem the scene has the semblance of a trial with witnesses and a judge. It is a serious case for the church. World missions are concerned. Barnabas and Paul are present, so is Peter.

Discussions had gone on for a while. Peter testifies for the defense of his own experience and conviction. Such testimony has weight. Then Barnabas and Paul speak. There is profound silence. It is a tense situation.

His wisdom, authority, skill and fairness could be depended on. He listened and then summed up the case, being eminently fair to both sides, but reaching a conclusion on the evidence and supported by the Scriptures. He reviewed Peter's testimony and found it specifically backed up by the words of the prophets. He was a level headed church leader. He was unbiased.

He held his opinion, without any needless talk, until the whole case was aired. He reached his own conclusion without fear or favor.

In studying this lesson with its relation to world missions, the place of James must not be overlooked. It is leadership like James that is needed now. Firm men but yielding to truth, men who have hard-to-shake conviction

but still are not slaves to prejudice. We need Scripture swayed men at the head of the church.

The eloquence of men cannot swing them to any pet notion.

They are swayed only by "Thus said the Lord." The outlook for world missions would have been different, at least for the time had not James decided the case as he did.

The verdict was that the believing Gentiles were not to be annoyed about Jewish rites when the evident requirement for acceptance as Christians and church members was belief on the Lord

Jesus Christ. This was applicable to Jew and Gentile alike. This was the official silence for the trouble-making Judaizers.

But the verdict had something in it for the Gentiles who became Christians. They were not to pester the Jews by practices that they knew were aggravating to Jews who were fellow Christians. They could gain nothing by offending

the Jews, even though they were much annoyed by the unjust demands of the Jews. This verdict was put in writing, so that it could be used as an official document in case this trouble arose elsewhere.

The central truth coming out of this first conference is that we shall be saved through the grace of Christ. The church must always get back to that authoritative declaration. This is the fundamental truth about salvation. Faith in Christ makes salvation the possession of the believer.

When all Christians make as much of this simple statement as they should, there will follow a

State Sen. William C. Vandenberg of Holland kept an alert watch on the statewide election results Tuesday night and early today that poured into The Sentinel over a specially leased election wire. Vandenberg led in the GOP lieutenant governor race from the outset and piled up an overwhelming margin over his closest rival as time wore on. Early this afternoon he had compiled more votes than any other candidate seeking nomination for a state office.

Election Sidelights

It was an unplanned "open house" at the Sentinel offices last night as candidates and long-time party workers gathered around to keep pace with the latest returns.

And tabulating returns for 48 candidates from 35 precincts (that number seems to grow every year) is a long hard grind involving endless telephone calls, a conglomeration of figures, transferring returns to the master sheet (see table on page 10) and a long siege at hitting the adding machine.

When the last workers decided to call it a day shortly after 4:30 a.m., all returns for the county were in with the exception of Blendon township and a few scattered Democratic votes.

About 9 a.m. today, the Blendon returns came in—too late to be included in the table.

At one point in the evening, the Sentinel staff had a surprise visit from Mrs. John Antas of Mary Jane restaurant, bringing a gallon of coffee and bacon and egg sandwiches. Thank!

Although voters were cautioned again and again to mark only one side of the ballot, several ballots had to be thrown out in each ward because both sides were marked. There was quite a lot of confusion in sorting the ballots too. Maybe the legislature will offer a better solution next time.

One first ward voter sacrificed his vote, but gave way to self expression when he defaced the Republican ballot. Presumably a rabid Democrat, the voter marked that side of the ballot properly, but then he wrote "no good" behind nearly every name on the Republican side.

Another confusing issue on the part of some voters was the Sunday liquor sale question which is scheduled for the general election

Nov. 7. This vote will determine whether the sale of beer and wine will be permitted in Ottawa county on Sunday.

One sixth ward voter threw down her ballot in disgust when she learned the issue was not up for vote Tuesday.

One of the most excited candidates getting returns at the Sentinel office Tuesday night was

William C. Vandenberg, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor. And why not? In Holland city alone he polled more than 2,500 while his three opponents received just a little over 400 votes.

When Vandenberg cast his vote at Froebel school Tuesday,

he recalled it was the same room that he was in when he started school in Holland 10 to these many years ago.

Oysters were among the first foods to be successfully canned in the U.S.

An estimated 200,000 persons are employed in the retail coal business.

Holland In 1916

(Following is the 475th in the series of weekly articles taken from news of the Holland Daily Sentinel published more than 35 years ago.)

One of the most enthusiastic conventions ever held in Grand Haven convened Tuesday at the court house when the Republicans of Ottawa county assembled, began a story in the Wednesday, Sept. 13, issue of the Holland Daily Sentinel published in 1916. The old Ottawa County Republican committee was called together and unanimously selected G. J. Diekema of Holland for chairman of the convention.

Lauding President Wilson and the acts of the Democratic administration, the "Dummies" of Ottawa county met in the Grand Haven City hall, Tuesday afternoon and rushed through the business to be done so that the Holland delegates and those from this vicinity might catch the late afternoon train homeward bound. Allegan Classes Shifted to End Half-Day Sessions

First Grade Members Of North Ward School To Go to South Ward

Allegan (Special) — Starting Monday, two groups of north ward pupils will have classes in other schools to eliminate the half-day sessions. Supt. Arthur Kaechele announced today.

Third and fourth graders began school Thursday on a split-day schedule.

The new plan causes some inconvenience and transporting of students, Kaechele said, but was the choice of the board of education as the best solution under the crowded conditions.

North Ward first graders will be taken by bus to the south ward, where the first grade room has been divided by a temporary partition. After the first week, lunches will be served at the school. The pupils will be returned by bus to the north side after afternoon classes.

North Ward fourth graders will have classes in the Dawson school gymnasium after Wednesday. This space is being outfitted with desks and classroom supplies.

Sixth graders will move into the basement room formerly occupied by the first grade, leaving the kindergarten, second, third and fifth grades in possession of their own rooms on a full-day schedule.

Saugatuck — George J. Sewers, prominent Saugatuck fisherman, was elected commander of the new U.S. Coast Guard auxiliary flotilla organized at Saugatuck Sunday.

It was the first Coast Guard auxiliary unit in this area to be re-established since the war. This non-military branch of the federal arms was charged during those years with safety in boating, through education and co-operation on a voluntary basis, and to assist the regular Coast Guard in emergencies.

The present policy remains unchanged, according to Victor Nelson, Coast Guard auxiliary division captain of Grand Rapids, who conducted elections.

Other officers elected at the meeting in the Saugatuck Marine: Ed Demeter, vice commander; James Murray, training officer.

Officials said generally qualifying members of the Coast Guard auxiliary either own a motor boat, plane or were "ham" radio operators.

Padnos Pushes Scrap Iron Value

The public is often interested in the worth of scrap iron to the national economy. It is with this in mind that the Louis Padnos Iron and Metal Co., dealers and brokers in scrap iron and steel, whose offices and plant are located in Holland, choose to call to the public's attention the following statistics:

It is a known fact that every ton of purchased scrap (scrap iron and steel) consumed is the metallic equivalent of two tons of iron ore, one ton of coal, and nearly one ton of other raw materials. The present monthly consumption of about 2,500,000 gross tons (2,240 pound ton) of purchased scrap is equivalent to the pig iron it would take 80 blast furnaces to produce. This would have consumed five million tons of ore and 4,500,000 tons of coal, limestone, and other raw materials monthly.

Knowing that the only materials that can be used to make iron and steel are iron ore (pig iron) and scrap it is significant to recognize that the supply of high grade ore is diminishing and consumers are reaching out to Labrador, Liberia, Venezuela, and other overseas sources. As this nation grows older and it depletes its resources of primary metals it must become increasingly conservation conscious.

By operating its facilities in its present locations in Holland, the Louis Padnos Iron and Metal Co. offers the citizens of this community the opportunity of processing its complete salvage out through to the ultimate advantage of both the vendor and consumer. This means that the vendor can depend on receiving the highest prices for his salvage and the public in general has the assurance that there is no wanton waste of its precious natural resources.

Salvage can no longer be considered the step-child of industry and relegated to the back alleys and dumps. It is an industry grown to manhood and must be so considered in our present day civic planning and thinking.

Junior Chamber Assumes Control Of Youth Center

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has taken over control of the Youth Center.

At a meeting Friday night, four members of the Jaycees were appointed to the Youth Center board of directors. New members named were Willis Welling, John Benson, William Douma and Don Myaard. They replace Milton Hinga, Mrs. Mayo A. Hadden, Mrs. Peter Van Dornen and E. D. Hanson.

Mrs. Adrian Van Putten, president, and Henry S. Maentz, treasurer, will serve on the board until next Thursday at which time two replacements will be elected from the Jaycee auxiliary.

"It is the opinion of the retiring board that giving control to a younger group will add new life to the Youth Center," Maentz commented. "And with the addition of new equipment, it is hoped that more interest will be shown than was last year."

Immediate plans call for installation of a television set and renovation of equipment. Welling said the television set would be installed early next week.

Mrs. J. G. Van Leeuwen will continue as supervisor of the Youth Center.

Lennox Boasts Satisfied Buyers

The aim of every business man is to handle an excellent type of merchandise that will completely satisfy his customers. In advising local persons to prepare now for the winter months ahead, Harry Koop, local dealer of Lennox gas, oil and coal heating equipment, was reminded of a letter he received last winter from a satisfied customer on South Shore Dr.

The letter reads: "We had our oil tanks filled January 16 and we were very happy to learn we had used only 353 gallons of oil since June 20, 1949. I thought you might be interested in knowing this, and to know how very much satisfied we are with our oil burner."

"Last year, our total expense for the entire year was only $98.48 as we had burned but 727 gallons of oil. According to our friends, this is very unusual so our success must be attributed to the Lennox burner. I know you are always interested in hearing from satisfied users."

"If at any time you have a prospective customer to whom you wish to show our installation, you may bring them to our home. You may also use our name as reference for we have nothing but good things to say about the Lennox oil burner."

Mr. Koop has been in the furnace business for 30 years. He has been local Lennox dealer since 1945. The Lennox line of heating equipment is built in sizes ranging from 65,000 up to 225,000 BTU and complies with the national safety regulations and is approved by the American Gas association.

The Lennox dealer advises local persons to buy their gas heating equipment immediately while a supply is available.

Mr. Koop's office is located at 116 East 14th St. He maintains warehouses at 120 River Ave. and 133 Fairbanks Ave.

Dutch Mill Popular For Private Groups

The homey atmosphere of the Dutch Mill restaurant's Colonial banquet room has made it a favorite for college parties, business meetings, families and wedding parties. June R. Van Raalte, owner-operator of the popular restaurant, takes pride in her dinners and there is always "something just a little extra" to please the guests.

The Colonial room is gaily decorated and reflects the mood for whatever occasion it is being used.

The dining room, known for its tasty food and wide range of choice, is open 7:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. daily, and Sunday from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. The staff which serves the patrons, is carefully selected to make eating out a pleasure.

Careful buying in quantity helps keep the cost of preparing and serving meals as low as possible in these days of high prices.

The Dutch Mill restaurant is a member of the American Restaurant association, a national organization of approved restaurants in which membership is limited to one restaurant in each city.

It is estimated that half of U.S. traffic moves on 300,000 miles of city streets.

Christian Schools Record Increases In Enrollments

A record enrollment for the Holland Christian schools was announced today by Supt. Bert P. Bos. Although official figures are not recorded, the total today shows an increase of more than seven per cent or 106 more pupils.

The overall total of pupils in all grades is recorded at 1,436 compared with 1,330 last September. Bos said the increase was notable especially since no ninth grade pupils from Zeeland have enrolled here this year. Zeeland keeps its own ninth graders and has enrolled over 40 pupils in this class.

The increase was greatest in the grades through the sixth with 67 more students listed. The total today is 745 compared with last year's 678. In the junior high school, an increase of 29 students is reported. The high school lists a gain of 10 students. The junior high totals 185 and the high school, 506.

Totals by schools show 304 in Central Ave.; 301 in South Side; 30 in the Fourteenth Street Christian Reformed church, and 295 in the Fifteenth St. school.

Grade totals include: kindergarten, 105; first, 112; second, 128; third, 109; fourth, 99; fifth, 90; sixth, 104; seventh, 93; eighth, 92; ninth, 115; 10th, 164; 11th, 117; 12th, 110.

In reviewing enrollment figures during the last 10 years, Bos said that lacking 38 pupils, the school's enrollment has increased 100 per cent. A total of 737 students were enrolled in 1940.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Koning, 233 West 18th St., and the groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Japinga, 266 West 20th St.

The church auditorium was attractively decorated with bouquets of white gladioli, ferns and candelabra at the altar and white gladioli and white ribbons on the pews.

Mrs. William Zonnebelt, organist, played prelude music and the wedding marches. Soloist was Roger Northuis, who sang "Because" preceding the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The lace was repeated in the front panel of the skirt, which had three unpressed pleats on each side in front and a shirred back which fell to a train. Her three-quarter-length veil fell from a skull cap of white satin. She carried a white Bible with two green orchids.

GRANDSTANDING...

with PETE BOMMARITO

(The sixth and final article in the series on Southwestern conference football prospects.)

Back on the home front Holland high goes into its third week of drills under Bob Stupka in preparation for its opener against Grand Rapids Creston Saturday night. (Changed from Friday.)

And Stupka and his erstwhile cronie Curly Wiegierink are singing Dutch versions of the St. Louis Blues. And the old refrain seems to be "Lack of Depth Blues."

Loss of key men through not turning out for practice has left Stupka with what seems to be just a first string and not much in the reserve ranks.

Jack Draper has departed for the Marines. Exit one first class defensive back. Guard Jack Kuipers and center Glenn Essenburg have not as yet turned out for practice. Back Max Doolittle, who was slated for plenty of action this season, has mysteriously disappeared.

All this has left Stupka sad and lonely.

His only alternative is to develop his boys to double in brass. Several men have been learning two positions in case of injury.

Tom Maentz, promising end, has been working out at the quarterback slot to spell Ron Bekius. The quarterbacking has looked much better, according to Stupka. Both Bekius and Maentz have been turning in improved ball-handling, passing jobs.

At fullback Stupka has converted end, Frank Van Dyke to the bucking post in the event anything happens to regular Bob Tasma. Van Dyke, a full on the reserve team last season, looked good in Thursday's scrimmage.

Stupka is worried further by the lack of weight in the center of the line. He is working several candidates at the guard posts with small but scrappy Don Schutt, showing the most in drills thus far. Danny Hazebrook and Rex Young are other likely looking candidates along with transfer student Walt Burns. Young is the heaviest at 190.

Lack of depth at the tackle posts has Stupka in a lather. The showing of Paul Klomprens is heartening. Roger Hill is a steady performer. Beyond these two thus far the outlook is bleak.

At the flanks, Stupka is better pleased than he thought he might be at the start of the season. Bob Armstrong and Rog Eggers have improved with Maentz and Van Dyke ready for call in case of emergency.

Center is another trouble spot. Roland Vander Ven is working at the offensive snapper back slot but defensively the Dutch are practically non-existent. Failure of Essenburg to turn up has hurt this position.

The first string backfield is practically set with Bekius, Tom Carey, Ron Dalman and Tasma forming the array. But reserves are critically lacking.

Van Dyke and Maentz will help but an injury to a key player may put the damper on a successful

Chix Take Last Game in Series With Neighbors

Contest Rings Down Curtain on Baseball For 1950 Season

The Zeeland Chix rang down the curtain with a bang on the 1950 baseball season for Holland's Flying Dutchmen with a 6-2 triumph over the local team to take the rubber game of a five-game series.

The largest crowd of the season turned out at Riverview park Thursday night to see right hander Bob Dangi dole out five singles to the Dutchmen, and be backed by an eight-hit attack including three extra base blows.

It was the third straight victory over Holland for the imported Chix chucker after the Dutchmen started the series in the usual manner by taking the first two contests. Besides the prestige of triumph, the Chix also won a free ride to Detroit and tickets to a Tiger ball game donated by area businessmen.

Holland started the scoring in the first with two runs. Leadoff Ron Fortney walked and took second as Lou Humbert beat out an intended sacrifice bunt. Both runners advanced on a pass ball and Fortney crossed on an infield bouncer by Lou Borgman. Humbert scored a moment later on another infield out off the bat of Frank Wlodarczyk.

After that, Dangi was master of the situation and allowed only three Dutch runners to advance as far as second.

Meanwhile, his mates whittled the score in the bottom of the first when leadoff Kelly Roelofs walked and came all the way home as Gus Walters lifted a long fly to deep center and the Dutch gardeners couldn't decide who should make the catch. Centerfielder George Czernik hit the ball in his glove, but dropped it when leftfielder Gene Schrotenboer crashed into him. It would have been the third out.

Shortstop Howie De Jonge knotted the count in the fourth with a long home run over the right field fence.

Then the axe fell on starter Clyde O'Connor in the fifth. Jack Sheridan opened the frame with a single to center and scored as Don Wyngarden sent one into the bushes along the right field fence for three bases. Walters' single sent Wyngarden home and O'Connor to the showers.

Reliever Humbert retired the next man but walked Sherwin Loumas. Singles by Junior De Jonge and John Raterink sent two more tallies across to give the Chix their 6-2 margin. After that, Humbert shackled the Zeeland bats except for a decisive double by Walters and a sharp single by Sheridan.

The only other scoring opportunity for the Dutchmen was in the third. Fortney led off with the first of two hits and Humbert reached first when catcher Walters threw his attempted sacrifice wide trying to nab Fortney. Borgman's attempted sacrifice turned into a double play as Dangi speared the pop bunt and doubled Humbert off first.

Dangi, a Grand Rapids right hander, threw third strikes past 11 Dutch hitters. He walked two, and was never in serious trouble after the third. In fairness to the Dutchmen, however, it must be said they were hitting the ball hard at times, but right at the defending Chix.

Walters, with a double and single, and Sheridan, with two singles, led the winners at the plate. Fortney had two safeties for Holland, and the others going to Humbert, Schrotenboer and Whitney Witteveen.

The Chix contest closed the 1950 schedule for the Dutchmen, with a record of 18 wins and 15 losses—three at the hands of Zeeland.

Central Avenue Notches Class C Softball Title

Central Avenue church wrapped up the class C softball crown by edging Steffens Food Market 3-2 in the final Holland softball game of the season Thursday night at Fourth St. diamond.

A four-hit, three-run outburst in the sixth inning put the new champs over. With Preston Bos of Steffens, tossing one-hit ball the one run Steffens had scored in the first inning looked singularly large.

But the roof caved in about Bos in the sixth and Central walked off the field with the bunting. Lamar was the winning hurler.

Nurses Sought As Instructors For Red Cross

One phase of the civilian defense program of the Red Cross will get off to a start within the next few weeks with the recruitment of registered nurses for training as Home Nursing instructors.

With the likely entry into military service of doctors and nurses, people will again have to look to their own homes and families for care during illness. Thus, the Red Cross is preparing to train instructors who will teach to home makers, teachers, office girls, etc., the fundamentals of home nursing. The care of the bedridden, care of the new mother, and the new baby—these will be stressed.

The training for instructors will be given in Grand Rapids Oct. 9-18. Prior to this year any registered nurse was qualified to teach a Red Cross Home Nursing class, but through their own request, a training course is now required. Many nurses found that they knew the techniques well enough but found it difficult to explain and demonstrate to others. Some had been used to teaching nurses and found that teaching lay people was much different and on occasion more difficult.

Thus, they asked for a course of instruction on how to teach. A 30-hour course was established. Anyone interested is asked to call the local Red Cross chapter for further information.

Ann Arbor Firm Is Held Liable In Damage Suit

Ionian Girl Awarded $11,000 Judgment in Allegan Court Case

Allegan (Special)—Road contractors working together on a job may be held liable separately to injuries on the project, Judge Raymond Smith ruled this week.

His opinion filed in circuit court awarded $11,031 damages to Geneva Van Houten, Ionian, who was hurt in an accident on M-50 in 1928. Her companion in the mishap, Harry Denny, also of Ionian, was given a no cause of action verdict.

Defendant Louis Garavaglia, Jr., and his Ann Arbor firm of contractors, were ordered to pay Miss Van Houten's verdict. Carl Goodwin and Sons, Allegan road contractors, were not held liable for any cost.

Judge Smith said the accident occurred on a highway adjacent to M-43 which the Garavaglia and Goodwin firms were paving. The former company was hauling fill dirt over M-50, and was found negligent in overloading its trailers two to four tons, causing the road to break down. The judge said the firm was further negligent in inadequately warning motorists of the deep hole which lay across the highway, the hole that Denny struck and caused him to hit a tree.

Miss Van Houten, fiancée of Denny, was awarded damages for a permanent injury to her right leg which made it a half-inch shorter than her left leg; for facial lacerations, and loss of wages.

Denny's loss of damages was due Smith said, to the court's belief he was guilty of contributory negligence. Denny failed to slow down at a "road under repair" sign, Smith declared, and did not see the hole in the road at all.
