Condition of Local Girl Is Reported Improved

Holland hospital today reported improvement in the condition of Miss Ruth Franks, 16, 19 West 31st St., who suffered a fractured right leg Tuesday night when she was struck by one of two automobiles which were involved in a crash at the intersection of US-31 and old US-31, two miles northeast of Saugatuck.

Drivers of the two cars were J. T. Anderson, 61, route 2, Newaigo, and Otto Resigue of Lake-town township. It was reported in Saugatuck today that it was Anderson's car which struck Miss Franks instead of the Resigue car as reported in Wednesday's Sentinel.

Pelgrim Quits; Brouwer Gets Appeal Board Post

Council Delays Selection of Geerds' Successor to Police Board

Two resignations, affecting the memberships of two local boards, were presented to and accepted by common council Wednesday night and was followed by the filling of one of the vacancies. The second was left unfilled until the next meeting, Wednesday, Oct. 2.

The resignations were those of Major Henry A. Geerds as a member of the board of police and fire commissioners and of George A. Pelgrim as a member of the appeal board.

William J. Brouwer, 52 East 14th St., was appointed to the appeal board after being nominated by Ald. William C. Vandenberg. Ald. Albert V. Faasen supported the nomination.

Faasen nominated John Knapp, 16 West 22nd St., to fill the vacancy on the police and fire board but council adopted a motion of Ald. Bernard Arendshorst, supported by Ald. Albert P. Kleis, to postpone action until council's next meeting.

Geerds advised council he is leaving the city soon for military training. He first revealed his plans Monday.

Mr. Pelgrim was a member of the zoning commission which assisted in drawing up the zoning ordinance in 1926. As this ordinance provided for the appointment of an appeal board, Pelgrim was appointed on the first board and served continuously since 1926.

Brouwer's appointment was his first to any local board. He was undecided about accepting the appointment.

CO. D MOBILIZES OCTOBER 15 FOR YEAR'S SERVICE

To Be Part of Contingent
Going to Army Camp
in Louisiana

Six Thousand of Michigan
Affected by Second
Summons

In compliance with orders issued Monday night by the war department in Washington, D. C., Company D, Holland's national guard unit of some 80 men, will be mobilized in Holland armory Tuesday, Oct. 15, for a year's active service in the army in Louisiana.

Michigan Guardsmen were included in a group of 35,700 called from five states and the territories of Hawaii and Puerto Rico only a few hours after a first contingent of 60,500 militiamen from 26 states were mobilized.

Altogether, about 395,000 guardsmen and army reservists are subject to a year's active duty. A third group of approximately 65,000 probably will begin service Nov. 15 and a fourth of 40,000 on Dec. 1.

Major Henry A. Geerds reported that he received the local company's mobilization orders while attending a meeting of national guard officers in Grand Rapids Monday night. The written orders will be received later as a matter of routine. Date of departure was not learned here.

In connection with the mobilization, it was announced that new enlistments will be received by the local company to fill a few openings that may result because a few married men, although their wives are the only dependants, are expected to withdraw from the guard unit.

According to United Press, the war department's orders affect the Michigan and Wisconsin 32nd division (except the 32nd tank company) and the 107th observation squadron headquarters at Wayne county airport.

The units will be sent to Camp Beauregard, La., after reporting for physical examinations and assembling equipment.

Maj. Frederick R. Anderson, commander of the 107th squadron, estimated that 6,000 Michigan guardsmen from throughout the state would be affected by the call.

The 32nd division mobilization will take nearly 1,500 men out of western Michigan.

Camp Beauregard, to which Michigan troops are scheduled to go for training, is six miles northeast of the city of Alexandria, La., a city of about 40,000 population. It is located on the Red river and is between Shreveport and New Orleans, being about 190 miles from the latter city.

The winter climate is mild, with freezing weather coming usually no more than two or three times a season.

The land is fairly level, with considerable scrub oak and with heavy grass.

With two full divisions, plus other units, being sent there, it is expected that the troops in training will be quartered in tents.

GUARDSMEN WILL RECEIVE CHECKS

Monday night will be "payday" for members of Company D, Holland's national guard unit.

Approximately $1,780 in checks have been received here from the state and will be issued to the guards at Monday's drill in Holland armory. The pay represents the 21 days at Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wis., during August. A guardsman who spent the full 21 days in camp will receive $21.

Willis A. Diekema, chairman of the committee on military affairs of the Holland Chamber of Commerce, and E. P. Stephan, secretary-manager, also plan to be present to distribute checks which will represent the difference in loss of pay for the guards who attended camp.

FARMER FOUND DEAD AT HOME

Condition of Body Shows
Death Resulted Three Weeks Ago

The body of Thomas Brown, 75, who resided alone on a farm about eight miles north of Holland, was found in a badly decomposed condition at his home Wednesday about 4 p.m. by Gerrit Veurink, a rural mail carrier.

Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith, acting as coroner in the absence of Dr. John K. Winter, expressed belief that Mr. Brown had been dead about three weeks. Finding of a receipt, dated Aug. 30 and issued by a local store on a purchase, indicated that Mr. Brown had been in Holland on that date.

Mr. Veurink found the body lying in bed after discovering that Mr. Brown had not removed an old age pension check which had been placed in the mail box last Friday.

Police said Veurink first discovered that a relief grocery order which had been left in a nearby shed had not been touched. He found the rear door locked but after gaining admittance, he found the body lying on the bed.

Mr. Brown was born, Dec. 28, 1864, in Park township to Mr. and Mrs. John Brown and he was born on the farm where he died.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Houting of North Holland and Mrs. Emma Aston of Bailey, several nieces and nephews. Grave services were to be held in Park township cemetery at 3:15 p.m. today, with the Rev. H. Maassen of North Holland Reformed church officiating.

HOLLAND MAN HURT IN CRASH

Driver Trapped in Truck
Half Hour But Is Not Badly Injured

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19—Physicians in Eloise hospital today said Herman De Fouw, who was trapped in the cab of his wrecked truck for 30 minutes this morning, probably would be released within a few days.

They said x-rays showed that De Fouw's injuries were not as bad as originally feared and that no broken bones had been found although he suffered several deep lacerations.

The accident occurred in Inkster when De Fouw's truck crashed into a parked trailer truck. Rescue workers required 30 minutes to remove a load of coffee so that De Fouw could be taken from his cab from the rear.

(De Fouw could not be positively identified, but Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius De Fouw, 86 West 17th St., have a son, Herman, 23, residing in Lansing who drives a truck for a coffee company of Lansing and whose district is in the Detroit area. De Fouw formerly worked for Western Union in Holland and was employed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Lansing a few years before taking the position with the coffee company about six months ago.)

LAUNCH STEEL FISH TUG AT SAUGATUCK

Saugatuck, Sept. 19 (Special)—A steel fish tug which had been under construction the past three months, was launched in Kalamazoo river at 10:30 a.m. today.

Louis Gotham and his son made the model for the ship and did all the work. Twenty-seven tons of steel were used in the boat. There are no rivets, the plates having been welded together with a home-made welder.

The tug is 63 feet long with a beam of 15 feet, six and one-half inches and six-foot draft. They plan to use it for commercial fishing.

The boat is the first one, other than small pleasure craft, to be constructed and launched in Saugatuck within the past 25 years. Students from the first four grades witnessed the launching.

CLEAR DEPUTY IN FAIR GAMING IN HUDSONVILLE

Miles Rules Evidence of Neglect of Duty Is Not Shown

Says De Vree Not Forced to Make Arrest With No Warrant

Grand Haven, Sept. 19 (Special)—Contending that the law does not compel an officer with no warrant to arrest a person for a misdemeanor, especially when the officer does not believe it is a crime, Judge Fred T. Miles, in an opinion filed late Friday in Ottawa circuit court, cleared Deputy Sheriff John De Vree, 61, of Hudsonville of a charge of neglecting his duty by permitting gambling at the Hudsonville fair Sept. 9, 1939.

In dismissing the charge against the deputy sheriff Judge Miles sustained the motion of Leland Phelps, counsel for De Vree. Arguments on the motion were heard by Judge Miles Thursday afternoon. Phelps and Prosecutor Elbert Parsons argued the motion after which the court took the case under advisement.

The charge against De Vree resulted from a one-man grand jury investigation before Justice of Peace Jarrett N. Clark of Zeeland. Following De Vree's arrest, he was given an examination before Justice Clark who bound De Vree over to circuit court for trial.

In quoting some of the opinion, the court stated, "Specifically, the respondent is accused of having knowingly and wilfully refusing and neglected to arrest, without a warrant, various persons whom it is claimed were violating the so-called gaming law on the Hudsonville fairgrounds, on the evening of Sept. 9, 1939."

"After respondent's arrest an examination was held before the magistrate issuing the warrant; the testimony there taken was reduced to writing; the magistrate held respondent to this court for trial. A motion was here made to dismiss the case and discharge the respondent. The claim is made by the respondent that, even if we assume that all the testimony that was given is true, still it does not show that he was guilty of the crime charged against him."

The testimony indicated that De Vree did not believe the games being played were illegal. No warrant had been issued for the arrest of any one operating such games and the court held that while an officer may arrest without a warrant for a misdemeanor committed in his presence, he is not compelled to do so.

The law permits him to make such arrest and if he does no action for damages can be maintained against him for such action. If a warrant had been issued and placed in De Vree's hands to serve then it would have been his duty to have served the warrant, but the law does not compel him to arrest a person for a misdemeanor, especially when he, the officer, does not believe it is a crime, the court ruled.

HOLD BOYS FOR HEIGHTS CRIME

Acting Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff was advised Wednesday afternoon by Muskegon police that Raymond Trevan, 17, and a 14-year-old minor who had identified themselves as "The Cisco Kid and the Human Fly," were turned over to Muskegon Heights police before Trevan was arraigned in circuit court on a charge of breaking and entering.

A petition for investigation of the juvenile's case has been filed in probate court. Trevan is the son of Louis Trevan, 151 East 16th St., but has been living with his mother at 341 Morris Ave., Muskegon.

Trevan is confined in the Muskegon jail awaiting sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of breaking and entering the Kroger store in Muskegon Heights. He was unable to furnish $500 bond.

Trevan was arrested Monday night by Muskegon police who questioned him concerning some cigarettes he was reported to have given to a companion. It was learned that he had a carton of cigarettes sometime ago when he was questioned by police for shooting fireworks.

Trevan and his 14-year-old companion admitted to police they broke into the Kroger store, the Wilson and Angell schools in Muskegon, and on last June 26, the East Junior high school in Holland.

Ft. Benning, Ga.

Having received an appointment to attend a three-month training course at Fort Benning, Ga., Major Henry A. Geerds, 588 Central Ave., is engaged in winding up his business affairs in Holland preparatory to leaving for the army camp.

Major Geerds plans to leave Holland Friday, Oct. 4, to report at the camp by Tuesday, Oct. 8. Although plans and training officer of the 126th infantry, Michigan national guards, he will attend the training school as a major and plans to join the 126 infantry in Louisiana when he completes the three-month course.

News that he had received the appointment was made public Monday when he informed members of the board of police and fire commissioners that he was submitting his resignation as a member of the board to common council. The meeting Monday was the last he will attend as a commissioner.

Major Geerds presented his written resignation to City Clerk Oscar Peterson at the board meeting and it will be presented to the council Wednesday.

Major Geerds was appointed to the police and fire board by common council Feb. 7, 1940, to fill out the unexpired term of Cornelius C. Steketee who resigned Feb. 5, 1940. His term would not have expired until 1942.

He described Fort Benning as a combat school for the U. S. army where all new equipment, weapons and munitions are given experimental tests.

At the suggestion of Mayor Henry Geerlings, the police and fire board extended Major Geerds a rising vote of thanks in appreciation of his services as a commissioner.

Major Henry A. Geerds

Major Geerds plans to resign as secretary-treasurer of the Holland City Depositors Corp. and as liquidator for the former Holland City State bank. Representatives from the state banking department were to come to Holland today to check over his books in order that he can be relieved of his surety bonds.

Cornelius Vander Meulen, one of the trustees of the segregated assets of the former First State bank, will take over the affairs of the former Holland City State bank, Major Geerds said. The two former banks are in the process of liquidating their segregated assets and several payments have been made to depositors.

Major Geerds has been associated with the Michigan national guard since Feb. 20, 1914. He is a World war veteran and a member of the Willard G. Leenhouts post, No. 6, American Legion. He was installed as chef de gare of the local Forty and Eight at installation ceremonies last Friday night.

GIRL DROWNED AT N. HOLLAND

Lois Bosman, 5, Wanders
From Home, Dies in Pond

A five-year-old girl wandered from her home to a pond behind a barn on a North Holland farm and was drowned Monday.

The child was Lois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bosman, residing one-half mile south of North Holland.

The mother, upon finding the child missing, waded into the water waist deep to retrieve the child's body from the pond. It was surmised that Mrs. Bosman saw the body from the shoreline or else traced the child's footprints to the water's edge.

Mrs. Bosman found her daughter's body about 10:45 a.m., only a short time after the child had wandered from the farm home. Police officers were notified and Police Officers Harris Nieuwma and Ernest Bear responded with the department's pullmotor. They worked over the body for more than an hour but were unable to restore life.

Lois Bosman was born July 10, 1935.

Other survivors, besides the parents, are three brothers, Kenneth, Warren and Robert; one sister, Donna, all at home; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Kate Bosman of North Holland and the maternal grandfather, Fred Lohuis of North Holland.

WILL AID TOWNSHIP LOWER FIRE RATES

In order that Holland township residents may benefit by a reduction in fire insurance rates, common council adopted a resolution Wednesday night in which it agreed to furnish fire protection to the township.

The resolution was submitted by Ald. Bruce Raymond who said that by its adoption the rates would drop from 6 cents to 4 cents. He reported that Fire Chief Cornelius Blom, Jr., had approved the resolution and that City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker had informed him it would not affect the present contract between the city and township.

By provisions of the resolution, the city agrees to furnish fire protection at all times unless for reasons beyond the city's control. The city also agrees at least to furnish equipment with a pumping capacity of 500 gallons per minute and manned by at least four men.

If for any reason, the resolution is rescinded by council, the city clerk will notify the Michigan Inspection bureau, the resolution provides.

SOLONS ACCEPT READ'S RULE ON SCHOOL BALLOT

Council Ends Plans for Vote on Change in Election Date

Only Legislature Able to Shift Time, Lokker
Points Out

The opinion of Attorney General Thomas Read that Holland electors are without authority to change provisions of its charter separate makes its school district a separate entity was accepted Wednesday night by common council.

After hearing a complete text of the opinion from City Attorney Clarence A. Lokker, council filed the ruling with the city clerk.

Read ruled Wednesday that several supreme court decisions had held that it was beyond the power of the electors of a city to change the corporate powers of the local board of education through adoption of a new charter under the home rule act.

Had Read ruled the action legal, Holland voters would have voted on a proposed charter amendment at the November election to change the date of the annual school election from the second Monday in July to the first Monday in April, the date of the annual city election. Council had approved this action Sept. 5.

Lokker told council that the attorney general and his staff recognized that the schools are a separate unit and that its operation can be changed only by an act of the state legislature.

Mayor Henry Geerlings expressed his appreciation to Lokker for his work on the question. Later he proposed that council adopt a resolution, thanking Lokker and Van Duren for their voluntary services.

Ald. William C. Vandenberg stated that it now becomes a duty to see that more people go to the polls and vote in the annual school election. Pointing out that one of the reasons for the proposed change was the one polling place for the school election, he proposed that the election be held in each ward.

Ald. James A. Drinkwater replied that "the people are to blame for not taking interest in our school affairs rather than council."

Ald. Albert P. Kleis inquired of the city attorney what steps can be taken to change the date of the school election. Lokker replied that as a legislative body or an electorate "we cannot make this change," adding that it would be up to the legislature. He called attention to the supreme court ruling, cited in Read's opinion, in which the control of the public school system is "delegated to and lodged in the state legislature by the constitution in a separate article entirely distinct from that relating to local government."

It was Lokker's opinion that such a change could be made through adoption of a new act or by repealing or amending the old act. If such a bill would be introduced before the state legislature, it likely would be referred to a committee for investigation and the legislature might even ask for a referendum first to obtain the sentiments of the people before acting, Lokker pointed out.

Kleis asked what could council do if it received petitions, asking that the date of the election be changed. Lokker's reply was that that particular section of the charter was not a part of the charter but had only been included in the revised charter "for convenience only."

FERRIS WILL BE HERE EN MASSE FOR GRID CLASH

Hope Expected to Take to Air in Opener Against Heavier Team

Hope and Ferris have met on the gridiron for 13 games off and on during the last 21 years and each time the Dutch have tied or beaten them, but this year the Bulldogs are determined to come out of the doghouse at any cost.

So determined are they in fact, that most of the student population at Ferris, which is the largest in history there, is coming down for the contest. The faculty is coming down en masse to give the instigators that extra boost and to watch Coach Money, Ferris' new coach who has had two undefeated seasons in Illinois, push his men past the yard markers.

Dean Odell Lamb notified Prof. E. P. McLean of the Hope athletic board yesterday that special buses would carry the Big Rapids aggregation here and that they desired a reserved section.

Hope regards the opening tussle at Riverview park at 8 p.m. Friday as a good test of its own strength and at the same time hopes to tame the Bulldogs for the 14th time. Coach Bud Hinga's men realize that they are tackling a much heavier team this year.

While Hope's probable lineup averages only 179 pounds, Ferris boasts an average weight of 196 pounds and includes two linemen over the 200-pound mark.

Topped in weight by almost 20 pounds a man, the Dutch will probably take to the air with Bob Montgomery, former Grand Rapids Junior star and Hope's heaviest man, doing the passing. They interrupted their scrimmage, blocking and tackling practices Wednesday night for their biggest offensive and defensive passing workout.

With Bill Jones at left tackle weighing 230 and Don Herzog at right tackle weighing 205, Ferris' line outweighs Hope 185 to 166 pounds per man. If Hinga starts Montgomery at quarterback, his 195 pounds will make backfield averages more even. Paul De Ben, Ferris' quarter, weighs only 140.

Coach Hinga (as all coaches do) when the opening tilt comes says he would have liked more time for practices but figures that the local gridmen have had as much as their first opponents and the Holland boys are in "pretty good shape." Reserve strength is questionable.

Whitey Riemersma of Grand Haven reported to practice for the first time Wednesday night. Harvey Koop of Holland who was the first to inscribe his name on Hope's 1940 injured list, also reported again Wednesday. He may play some, using a face guard.

Coach Hinga is not sure whether he will start Montgomery or Don De Fouw also of Grand Rapids, at quarterback. De Fouw at 165 pounds is the only sophomore who may start. Among other boys who were not regular starters last year but who may start this term are Art Kronmeyer of Holland, 172 pounds at right end, Bill Hakken of Grand Rapids, 170 pounds at left guard and Marv Den Herder of Holland, 165 pounds at fullback.

Bill Tappan of Holland who started as tackle last year has been shifted to center to replace captain Bob Powers and will start there against Ferris weighing 175 pounds. Bob Van Dyke of Holland, 176 pounds, who was injured last year may start at left tackle if George Vander Hill, also of Holland and weighing nearly the same, doesn't get the nod.

Hope Students Are Told of Confusion Over World

But Congressman Sights Gains Possible From Despair

Cong. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois addressed Hope college students at the 79th convocation exercises, which officially marked the beginning of the school year, in Hope Memorial chapel at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

A "substantial" portion of the district represented by Mr. Dirksen was once represented by Abraham Lincoln to whom the guest speaker referred frequently in his talk. He told of a 92-year-old Washington woman to whom Lincoln said when he was introduced 84 years ago, "What a world we live in today!"

In comparing that day with this, the speaker pointed out that even in 1940 "we have bewilderment, confusion and conditions which must be faced as stern realities of life."

He was impressed, he said, with the quietness of Holland and of Hope Memorial chapel and compared it with St. Paul's cathedral in England which a time bomb recently threatened. He also thought, he said, of the students at Oxford and what they must think as winged messengers of death assert themselves over seven-eighths of the earth and of students of other great universities who have been taken out of school to be put in a cockpit.

"People," he stated, "have not yet learned to live together." What hope is there, he asked, when from all this there springs a tragic pattern of complete despair and defeatism on every hand? But from that pattern, he emphasized, there is also a pattern of hope, especially for the oncoming generation.

President Wynand Wichers was chairman of the program and the Rev. Charles Smith of First Reformed church of Amsterdam, N.Y., led devotions. James T. Means and Robert William Cavanaugh two new members of the school of music, were introduced. Mr. Cavanaugh accompanied by Mrs. W. Curtis Snow sang "The Search for Truth" and Mr. Means played as a piano solo Schubert's "Impromptu in E Flat."

"FACT SCHOOLS"

One of the minor ironies of the present political campaign is the establishment of "Fact Schools" by political organizations. Now that one party has led the way, it seems inevitable that the other will follow suit. Both will seek to lubricate themselves with scientific inunction. The net result will probably be that the voters will dismiss the lubricant as "banana oil."

Our own Fifth district member of the Democratic national committee, Mrs. Thomas F. McAllister, is leading the way in the establishment of the "Fact Schools." She has been instrumental in enrolling 30,000 women in this project; they have been provided with cards that make them "students" in "12 fields of government." After an intensive course they become "graduates" and are entitled to "carry the facts about the Roosevelt administration" to independent voters. The idea is that each "graduate" will bring the "facts" home to at least 10 such voters. Mrs. McAllister explains that these "graduates" will become "fact-dealing reporters."

Now all that sounds admirable. Nothing could be more desirable for the independent voters, or for any brand of voters, than to get hold of a few facts. But getting facts—real facts—from any propaganda section of a political party is so fantastic that it belongs in the humor column. When Mrs. McAllister's "graduates" present "facts" about the Roosevelt administration to the independent voters they are inevitably facts that are hand-picked, that have been deodorized, and that are neatly slanted to show what the "graduates" want them to show.

There is nothing illegitimate in this—except perhaps the name. A fact, properly speaking, is such only when those who present it take no thought as to whom it will help or harm. The Bible speaks with approval of the man who "swears to his own hurt"—that is, who presents facts that will be to his own disadvantage, merely because they are facts.

Can anyone imagine such "facts" to come out of a political campaign? Facts in the real sense can hardly be expected from Mrs. McAllister's "graduates," but neither could they be expected from "fact schools" in the other party, if such "schools" should be established. It simply is not in the nature of the political animal, male or female, Democrat or Republican, to make statements in the scientific spirit of plain truth without regard to their effect on a party.

The average independent voter will have to rely on his own good horse sense to decide which of the rival candidates on the various levels and in the various parties are least given to wishful thinking or to unvarnished lies.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

World religious leaders are united in stating that whatever judgment may be formed regarding the proper procedure in settling world difficulties, it will not be denied that behind them all lies the human element. Men lost their hold on spiritual realities and have too often not realized their need of them. They have brought to accept as substitutes the supremacy of nation, race or class, rather than the sovereignty of God and the brotherhood of man as taught by Jesus Christ. The answer is back to God.

Why not accept the invitation and go to church next Sunday?

The Voice of Wisdom
Proverbs 4, 10-27

By Henry Geerlings

Anyone reading and interpreting Proverbs must bear in mind that there are many emphases of the religious life that are not stressed in it. Jesus plan for a perfect life was that one follow Him, and puts into practice His principles, until his life is transformed—made Christ-like and God-like.

In the Old Testament there are many sections more deeply spiritual than this book. The first books of the Old Testament present an impressive conception of God's universal law and its value. The prophets insist on carrying out God's principles for the benefit of the poor and needy. Others of the poetic books stress the intimate relationship of the soul to its maker. The book of Proverbs is not featured by any of these things. Rather it holds up the hard, practical, worldly-wise point of view of experience. It is age talking to youth. It is a voice saying, "I have lived longer than you, and learned from bitter experience the best thing to do. You do as I say, and avoid the pitfalls into which you would otherwise fall."

While this is a partial view, it has its deep value. It has in it as its name implies, many separate sayings. The book repays most careful study, but it must always be compared with the spirit of the rest of the Bible, and especially of Christ himself.

Very shortly before his death the late King George V was presenting a copy of the Book of Proverbs to a young man in Norfolk. Before giving it to the fortunate student he said he would like to tell him and the others in the school who were present that his grandmother, Queen Victoria, gave him a copy and advised him to make good use of it. He read from it frequently and he told him that it was the voice of wisdom and if he made it a rule of his life to read it regularly, he was sure that he would never regret it.

Sometimes people feel that the high level of religious experience among the psalmists and prophets is unreal and even forbidding. Their expressions of glowing faith, heartbroken penitence and calm trust, tempt us to say either, "If that is religion, I am sure that I want it," or "If that is true religion, I am afraid I have not got it." We should never forget that these experiences are the achievements of great souls, and of them only in their greatest moments. It is heartening, therefore, to see in the Bible the experience of lesser souls in ordinary moments. There is a place for religion on a more average level, where devout wisdom is applied to every-day life, and consecrated common sense is as truly religious as is blinding vision or burning sorrow. The sayings of Proverbs are for such common days.

No one can live continually in the grip of high visions, but no one can live truly except in the grip of homely truths, that make for honesty, courtesy, self control and wise dealings. Life must be intelligently directed, if men are to have the answer of a good conscience before God and man. If this is not affirmed strongly and practiced, then there is some truth in the suggestion that godly people have good intentions, but lack good sense, and religion suffers by being regarded as a luxury which busy people can do without. Proverbs, then is a book of applied religion, harnessed to common things.

The men who collected the wise sayings of Solomon and others loved wisdom. They belonged to a later day than the prophets, when religion was less emotional, perhaps less hopeful. It may be that they were too little concerned about the glory of nature and the glorious hopes of the future, but at least they were concerned to carry the ideas of righteous and even shrewdness into business, home and judgment hall. They were men of cultivated good taste.

They were guided over the errors and blunders to be found wherever men lived together. They saw the folly of drunkenness and sagaciously spoke of what it does to ruin health, reputation and usefulness. They saw the dangers of lust and spoke frankly about its effects and its punishment even in this world. They saw many ways of dishonoring parents, which the fifth commandment did not enumerate, and they made a catalogue of them. They snuggled over dishonesty, and rudeness, and gave advice on table manners and hospitality. They delighted, too, in the sheer artistry of saying ordinary things neatly, and collected epigrams to express well ideas too often dulled by use.

As they did this they spoke about the wisdom of God which controlled the world and gave it order. They praised the wisdom of God, seeing it to be the dominant factor in creation as in morals. This is the nearest the Hebrews ever came to being philosophers, for usually they loved to talk in picture-language rather than in abstract ideas.

BOARD STUDIES PLAN TO ADD TO PARKING LIMITS

Would Include Additional Streets in Hour Zone; Protest Heard

A proposal that the parking limits in the downtown business district be extended to include surrounding streets was presented to the board of police and fire commissioners at its regular meeting held at 5 p.m. Monday in the office of City Clerk Oscar Peterson.

The proposal came as a result of discussion on parking conditions in Holland, following the appearance before the board of Louis Eppinga of Montello park who protested his recent arrest for double parking on Eighth St. while he took a suit of his clothes to a cleaner.

The proposal to include additional streets within the one-hour parking limit was made by Commissioner Henry A. Geerds but he declined to submit a motion that such recommendation be made to common council as he informed board members he was resigning his post as commissioner due to his departure soon for military training.

The board referred the matter to its committee on traffic and marking for a thorough study with the idea of making some sort of a recommendation to council at a later date in order that it may be placed in effect next spring, if approved by the aldermen.

After Eppinga had been excused, Mayor Henry Geerlings expressed belief that police are "too strict" in their enforcement of the double parking limitations. He said he had received numerous complaints about such arrests and expressed belief officers could warn motorists instead of arresting them.

Acting Police Chief Jacob Van Hoff contended that if one motorist were allowed to double park his car without making an arrest, it would be necessary to allow all motorists to do likewise. He said it was a question of arresting all violators for double parking or to permit all of them the privilege of double parking.

Van Hoff also contended additional spaces were needed on downtown streets for the parking of cars while their drivers are making deliveries or purchases which require only a few minutes. He said present markings on streets and curbs are not sufficient but that signs are needed to set off these short-time zones.

Geerds said that if the parking district is extended, it would permit service for more cars. He suggested Eighth St. from Pine to Columbia Aves., Seventh, Ninth and 10th Sts. between the necessary streets as a new parking district. Geerds contended that when parallel parking was adopted over angle parking, space for parking cars was reduced one-third while automobile traffic has increased another third.

Commissioner William H. Deur also listed River and Central Aves. to 12th St. and College Ave. to possibly 10th or 11th Sts. as part of Geerds' new parking district.

Commissioner James Bore proposed that the matter be referred to a committee for a study with the idea that it can be placed in effect next spring. Van Hoff said it would be necessary to use additional officers to mark cars in this new parking area unless the board saw fit to purchase a newly-developed motorcycle which permits one officer to mark the cars in considerable less time than by walking the streets.

Eppinga who said he came here four months ago from Oak Park, Ill., said he did not park his car in a loading zone in this would be violation in his former city, since the loading zone did not designate that short time parking was permitted. He stated he was not objecting to his arrest or the payment of the $1 fine assessed by Municipal Judge Raymond L. Smith but said he didn't like the attitude of the board toward strangers to Holland.

Informing Van Hoff that his car was equipped with local plates, the chief told Eppinga that police are lenient toward outside motorists in regard to traffic violations but that the officers have no means of telling who owns the car if it carries local plates.

VAN LIEROP HEARS PARENTS ARE SAFE

John Van Lierop who has returned to Holland to resume his studies as a sophomore in Hope college after spending the summer in the upper peninsula, received word Tuesday from his parents in Ghent, Belgium, stating that the family is safe and that mission work is being carried on. The Van Lierops conduct an interdenominational mission at the Belgium Gospel Temple in Ghent.

The postal card on which the message was written contained a large German stamp and eagle. Before Ghent's surrender to the Germans, it was severely bombed although the mission was not damaged. A similar mission in Tienen, Belgium, was totally destroyed. At that time all the residents of Tienen had evacuated except the leader of the mission and a few helpers and the leader acted as intermediary in place of the mayor who had fled. It was through the missionary's efforts that the town was saved from total destruction.

Van Lierop's mother has expressed the desire of coming to America for safety with the younger children, but although the funds are available, there is no way of making the trip except possibly through Spain. His father will remain in Belgium.

During the entire summer, Van Lierop received one letter and two postal cards from Belgium. The one received this week was dated in July. He spent his vacation in the upper peninsula doing domestic mission work for the Presbyterian church. He conducted daily vacation Bible school in the morning, visited homes in the afternoon and took part in services in homes in the evening. Later he visited relatives in Cincinnati, Ohio. He hitchhiked wherever he went and traveled 2,800 miles.

The court opined that a night of argument without too much restraint on the part of jail attendants might be efficacious.

While the museum is not designed to preserve Dutch objects alone, the majority are of that nature because of the particular history of the community, he explained. An effort is being made to build a folk museum which will be unique in this country, and which will be especially significant now that the mother country is not a free country, he said.

Mr. Wichers invited the group to the museum, where they were taken on a lecture tour of the building. Tea was served in the Dutch Kitchen by girls in Dutch costume. Presiding at the urns were Mrs. W. J. Olive and Mrs. O. S. Reimold.

THEFTS LINKED IN THREE CITIES

Holland police expressed belief today that the person or persons who stole cash from three offices and attempted to break into four other offices in the downtown business district last week between noon and 1 p.m. are the same who committed similar robberies in Ludington and Traverse city.

Approximately $91.90 was stolen from the offices of Marjelle and Son, Lokker and Den Herder and Henry Oosting. Attempts were made to enter the offices of Nelson A. Miles, William J. Olive, Ruben Nyenhuis and Pete Elzinga.

Eight offices in four buildings were pilfered in Ludington Tuesday between 5:15 p.m. and 6 p.m. Ludington police said the entries were made or attempted in some instances by jimmying the locks with a knife or other implement and apparently in some instances by the use of a pass-key.

In Traverse City, a thief or thieves gained entrance to the office of the Trude real estate establishment and took $70 in cash, during the noon hour Wednesday.

One witness who saw the intruder in the Lokker and Den Herder law office here described the robber as about 35 years old, police said.

FAN 'KIDNAPED' AND TAKEN TO BALL GAME

Holland boasts of numerous Detroit Tiger baseball fans but one had to be "kidnaped" and driven to Detroit to see the Tigers battle the Yankees to maintain their first place position.

But that's the experience of William C. Vandenberg.

It appears that Andrew Klomprens, John Van Tatenhove, Dr. M. J. Cook, Dick Boter and Vaude Vandenberg started for Detroit Friday to witness the ball game.

Before leaving town, they stopped briefly at the Vandenberg place of business and William C. Vandenberg made the mistake of walking out to the car to talk with the group. Using force over his protests, Mr. Vandenberg was forced into the front seat between Klomprens and Boter and, with no means of escaping his abductors, he was driven to Detroit.

Social Events Augment Opening Days at Hope

With the 79th convocation exercises which officially mark the beginning of college over and registration nearly complete, Hope college students today began looking forward to the attractive social functions of the next two weeks.

Interest will probably be centered on five events, namely a tea for all girls, open house at the fraternity houses after the Hope-Ferris game, an all-college mixer, vesper services and a semi-formal reception for freshmen.

Orientation week is undoubtedly the most exciting for all freshmen. The 1944 class at Hope this morning had a special meeting during which time Prof. Elizabeth

Lichty, Paul Brouwer, Milton

Hinga and Thomas Welmers were introduced. Robert Montgomery of Grand Rapids, student council

president, conducted the class election.

A tea for all Hope coeds is to be held in Voorhees hall this afternoon at 4 p.m. with Miss Lichty, dean of women, as head hostess for this first social event at which freshmen girls will be introduced to upperclass women. Jean Wash-meier and Laura Rosenraad both seniors of Holland, are co-chairmen for the event, which is sponsored by the Women's Activities league. They have arranged violin numbers by Miss Pauline Loew and vocal numbers by Miss Marjorie Brouwer, both Holland sophomores, who will be accompanied by Sophomore Barbara Folsenbee of Flushing, N. Y.

Faculty members who will pour will be Mrs. W. Curtis

Snow and the Misses Laura Boyd,

Lichty and Metta Ross.

Fraternity houses will as usual hold open house following the first football game at which all new students will be introduced.

A semi-formal reception for freshmen which will be given by the student council in cooperation with the faculty next week Friday at 8 p.m. in the basement of the chapel, has been planned by a special council social committee meeting with Miss Metta Ross, adviser. Musical numbers have been included on the program and Dr.

State Hunt Laws Penalize Crop Owners, Wood Says

Ridicules Dog Quarantine as Ruse to 'Fatten Up' Wild Game

By Julius B. Wood

Under the glamorous pretense of protecting wildlife—so they can destroy it later—Michigan's well organized hunting clubs with pleasant sounding names are gradually putting this state back in the dark ages when a poor peasant's hand was cut off if he trapped a rabbit which was destroying his crop. The game, as well as the peasant, was for the sport of the baron on the hill. The peasant had no right to protect his property from destructive animals, and in Michigan the farmer or cultivator of a vegetable garden or flower bed already has been deprived of the same right on his own premises.

Michigan has a fables scare every summer. Dogs must be licensed and are prohibited from running at large at any time, if city and county officials enforce the law, but with an animal rabies hysteria officials become more active. Though veterinarians say there is as much, or as little, danger from rabies at one season of the year as at another, the state departments, which are used as official agencies to promote the scare, are dependent on to announce that at a certain hour of a certain day the danger from rabies will disappear. If there is danger from rabies, it exists whenever dogs run at large so what is the purpose of throwing the population into a needless panic through some months of the year and lulling them into a false security in other months?

The exact minute, known in advance, when rabies disappear in Michigan, is also the opening of the hunting season. How the hunting clubs, working through public officials, control the scare is shown when the big Detroit club sends press releases to newspapers and other publications, even outside the state, to warn the public of the Michigan dog quarantine and to assure hunters, whose privileges are protected, that the quarantine will be raised and dogs can run at large when the hunting season opens.

The quarantine with its noble pretense of protecting human beings, is actually to protect pheasants, rabbits, muskrats, squirrels, gophers, deer and such must not be frightened away from the growing grain, vegetables and flowers until the city lads take their flannel shirts and khaki caps off to the mounds for a few days fun. If they shoot a chicken by mistake for a pheasant—last year, a cow was shot—and trample what the state protected pests left of the crop, the owner can read in his history book that a humble peasant should be proud to sacrifice his little for the noble baron's fun.

A farmer in neighboring Allegan county shot a deer in his celery field. Celery is a back breaking crop, too valuable for a wild animal pasture. If a man had been destroying the crop, the farmer had a right to shoot at him but he must not shoot at a deer or even a rabbit. The deer can destroy a crop on which a farmer has worked for months to support his family so the hunters will have 15 days fun shooting at it—or themselves. The farmer was arrested. Neighbors, whose crops also were suffering, raised such a row that the state permitted the farmer to keep what remained of his celery and took only the deer.

Rabbits and smaller game are the worst pests. In a single evening, one rabbit which applies itself to the job, can eat all the sprouting beans or young vegetables in a fair sized garden or amuse itself by barking a tree or decapitating a score of seedlings without nibbling a leaf and leaving the tops where they fall, as neatly as if cut with a knife.

After several sowings in my small garden had disappeared as fast as the leaves appeared above ground, I wrote to the chief conservation officer in Lansing. He advised that, even on my own property, animals must not be shot, trapped or disturbed by dogs which might get rough with them. The hard working Ottawa county conservation officer was more practical and more helpful.

He drove 11 miles to call. The next day, he went to Grand Rapids and returned with one of the state's sturdy wire box traps—a 60 mile drive and the same 11 miles over again. The trap was placed in an attractive location and an alluring trail of corn laid to lead a victim past the "fall."

"What if a rabbit gets into it?" I asked when all was ready.

"Telephone me and I'll come and get it," he instructed. "I may not come right away so move it into the shade and give it something to eat as they are not too strong at this time of the year."

The trap was invitingly empty the next morning but the nocturnal visitors had been around as more leaves had vanished from the vegetables and some of the corn was gone. That night the free lunch was changed to fresh lettuce with the hope that it would be more attractive bait and the following night to carrots. By that time, the trap had become a family, part of the landscape and one morning a rabbit was in it.

The conservation officer was notified. With the entire county to watch, and this being the fishing season, he had left at dawn. Dusk was falling before his long rounds brought him to the rabbit—a use less catch which had compelled him to do close to 100 miles of driving and half a day of time. It was eased out of the trap and dropped wriggling into a gunny sack.

"What will you do with it?" I inquired.

"I'll take it a mile or so from here and let it loose," he explained. "It is against the law to kill them at this time of the year," which I well knew.

More bait was bought for the trap. During the next week, two more rabbits were caught. More will be welcomed. The procedure is the same in each case, though the hour varies when the officer finds time to collect a lone rabbit and taxi it to another pasture. Each rabbit means more driving and additional time and work for a state employee whose hours on his job, without this rabbit collecting, far exceed the legal 42-hour week. And its only purpose is to provide another rabbit for somebody else to shoot at.

A humorous angle might be that the rabbit always hops back to its old home and that the trap catches the same one every time. The facts are farcical enough without adding fiction. As the property owner is forbidden to rid himself of such nuisances, the state does the work for him—adding that job to the duties of an already busy officer. The state provides officers to catch unwanted rabbits and escort them around the country merely so they can be killed as "sport" a few weeks later.

A single Michigan club has 15,000 well fixed members who can support a capable lobby at Lansing. They appeal to sentimental public opinion to "protect" wild life though the hidden purpose of the protection is to "provide" wild life so club members and their friends can have the fun of shooting.

They promote a hysteria of fear to get a dog quarantine in certain months so the game will not be dog-shy and easier to shoot when the hunters and their dogs roam the countryside in other months. Laws and regulations have gone so far that working citizens are prohibited from ridding themselves of pests which are destroying their property.

As hunters also drive cars, a law providing a penitentiary sentence for automobilists who accidentally hit a rabbit or squirrel on the highways still is lacking in the effort to make the state a game preserve at the expense of agriculture.

Three Offices Robbed, Attempts Made on Four Others in Holland

Holland police, after two days of investigation, were faced today with the problem of solving a series of robberies or attempted robberies in downtown offices between noon and 1 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 10.

Cash amounting to approximately $91.90 was stolen from three offices and attempts were made to break in at least four other offices, police revealed.

The offices in which money was stolen included Marsilje and Son in the Holland State bank building, 1 West Eighth St., $57.40 and some checks; Lokker and Den Herder in the Peoples States bank building, 36 East Eighth St., $19.50; and Henry Oosting in the new Kroger building, 222 River Ave., $15.

Unsuccessful attempts were made to enter the offices of Nelson A. Miles, attorney, and William J. Olive, insurance, located in the J. C. Penney Co. store building; and Ruben Nyenhuis, building contractor, and Pete Elzinga, architect, located in the new Kroger building.

Evidence revealed that the thief or thieves gained admittance by prying loose the moulding from the door frame and releasing the lock catch with a file.

It is believed there were at least two persons involved in the crimes as one person, entering the Peoples State bank building, saw an unidentified man, apparently a lookout, standing at the head of the stairs on the third floor.

A short time later this same witness saw a man in the law office of Lokker and Den Herder, a robber or robbers attempted to rob the safe in the coal office of Teerman and Van Dyke, 121 East Seventh St., on the night of Aug. 27.

They were successful in breaking the handle off the door but failed to open the safe. However, police reported, $4.92 was stolen from a cash drawer.

Harry Wieskamp, manager of the local Montgomery Ward & Co. store, has reported to police that a brown zipper capekin jacket has been stolen from the local store.

sma. 70 East 13th St., plan to leave Saturday afternoon or Sunday morning on a week's trip through Canada. From there they will go to Boston, Mass., where Mr. Joldersma will attend the national convention of the American Legion to be held Sept. 23-26.
