Drive Scheduled For Oct. 22-29; Workers Organize

Committee Screens Various Requests; Red Cross Included

Holland will stage its annual Community Chest drive this year Oct. 22 through 29 to raise $66,050.20 to cover the several agencies which derive their funds from this united fund campaign, it was announced today by Edwin Raphael, president of the Holland Community Chest board of directors.

This year's goal was arrived at following a 3 1/2 hour budget meeting of the board Monday in which all requests were carefully screened. The total this year is one of the highest ever adopted for a Community Chest drive.

For a second year, the American Red Cross will be included in the Chest drive, and persons who regularly contributed to both funds will be asked to boost their Community Chest contributions in view of the fact that they will not be solicited during the traditional Red Cross fund drive next March.

This year's $66,050.20 quota is broken down as follows: Camp Fire Girls, $9,455.60; Muskegon Area Guidance Clinic, $4,100; Visiting Nurse Association, $3,600; Council of Social Agencies, $500; American Red Cross, $19,994.40; Boy Scouts of America, $9,000; Salvation Army, $6,000; Michigan United Fund, $10,717.20; Prestatie Huis (Achievement House), $1,900; administrative fees, $773; total, $66,050.20.

This year's goal is $13,966.80 more than last year's goal of $52,143.

James Taylor is serving as campaign chairman this year, assisted by Ken Wheeler as co-chairman. The two chairmen already are organizing the drive which will follow much the same program of previous years, and will announce appointments soon.

Eliminated for a second year is Cancer, which according to President Raphael refused to enter the Chest campaign. Raphael said Community Chest offers the people a "one-shot" drive and has not authorized any separate drives for Cancer.

Members of the board of directors are Raphael, president; B. P. Donnelly, Jr., vice president; Mrs. John Tiesenga, secretary; Robert Wolbrink, treasurer; Mayo A. Hadden, Willis Welling, Kenneth Wheeler, George Heeringa, Victor Van Oosterhout, James Taylor, Mrs. Vernon D. Ten Cate and the Rev. William C. Warner.

Four Local Boys In Trouble Again

Four Holland children with long juvenile records were picked up Monday night after a two-county bike stealing spree.

The boys, ranging in age from 12 to 14, stole the bikes in Holland and from the Maplewood School after skipping school.

They pedaled the bikes to Ely Lake near Fennville. On their way back they stopped to raid a farmer's orchard who spotted them and gave chase.

In the scuffle the boys left their bikes and ran off. Allegan County Deputy Henry Bouwman, returning from an accident investigation, picked them up on US-31 near the big curve south of Holland.

Juvenile Agent Avery Baker said three of the boys, who are brothers, have been in trouble a number of times.

Baker said all attempts to find them a foster home have been unsuccessful. He said he is still looking for a foster home but doubts if he will have any luck.

Earlier Tuesday the same train was involved in a collision with a car at the Allegan crossing between 24th and 32nd Sts. near US-31.

Ottawa County deputies said a car driven by Harold Owen, 62, Battle Creek, had stopped for the train when his vehicle was struck from behind by a car driven by Floyd Allen, 41, of 15 North Seventh St., Grand Haven.

The impact pushed Owen's car into the side of the slow moving freight train. Dorothy Allen, a passenger in her husband's car, was treated by a local physician for bruises to both knees.

Deputies said the two cars received minor damage.

Holland Could Lose $108,500 Grant Asking New Study

Question of Purchasing Cottages Near Channel Is Stumbling Block

The possibility of a five - year delay in the beginning of the widening of Holland Harbor was suggested to members of the Chamber of Commerce and civic officials Wednesday by Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr.

The Holland personnel questioned Ford on what could be done about financing plan "A" of the survey recently completed by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Under plan "A" the south side of the harbor from the old Coast Guard station to the lighthouse would be widened 130 feet. The federal government will donate the Coast Guard land to the harbor and will tear down the buildings.

But seven cottages, which are privately owned, will have to be removed and the land donated to the widening project by a local governmental unit. Whether Ottawa County, Park township or the city of Holland will have to furnish the funds has not been decided.

Some persons have held out for a new survey of the harbor, one which would result in a straight channel, instead of the bend which would still be present under plan "A."

Ford said a new survey would require about six months after the House Committee on Public Works had authorized the re-studying of the project. Then the findings would have to be submitted to the Chicago division of the Corps of Engineers, to the main headquarters in Washington, to the State of Michigan, to Congress and then to the appropriations board.

Ford also suggested that by 1959 or 1960 the St. Lawrence Seaway would be completed and he would expect a "deluge" of requests for federal aid to harbor projects.

The Holland representatives also were informed that the $108,500 now set aside for part "A" would quite likely be given to another purpose, should Holland decide to request another survey.

"The local people should carefully weigh the bad effects of a five-year delay if affirmative action is not taken," Ford said.

If affirmative action is taken, Ford said the entire widening project would probably be completed by the end of 1958.

Total cost of the widening project is estimated at $495,000 including the appraised value of the cottages along the south side of the present channel. The cottages have been valued at between $50,000 and $60,000.

"This would be a good time to make a maximum effort to get local assurance of obtaining and removing the cottages, Ford said.

The possibility that the State Waterways Commission would donate some of the money necessary to give local assurance was discussed by the group.

NAM Speaker Hits Tax Rates

A representative of the National Association of Manufacturers Monday night told Holland Kivianians that "one need not necessarily be rich in order to be penalized by the current tax rates."

Speaking on what he called "high discriminatory rates of income taxation and what to do about them," was Harvey W. Frye, program director of the Central Division of the NAM.

Frye illustrated his talk in the Warm Friend Tavern with a slide film and said "I come as a shock to many to learn that the man who pays taxes on $8,000 does not merely pay twice as much as the man who makes $4,000—he pays nine times as much."

He explained in detail the NAM Five-Year Tax Reform Program, which plans a gradual series of tax reductions to bring personal and corporate rates down to a maximum of 35 per cent. The NAM feels that within five years the expanding economic growth of the country will create a surplus of 12 billion dollars, which would then be used to create new jobs for the new workers who are now growing up.

In the second heat event, Sandy Sanders rolled his car over on the track and was hit by Bob Starback. Both cars were badly damaged but the drivers escaped serious injury.

Low of 32 Listed During the Night

Holland got considerably more than a "taste" of frost last night when the mercury plunged to 32 degrees, the lowest temperature so early in the season that weather observers can remember.

While the full extent of frost damage could not be determined today, there was no doubt that the early low-blow had considerable effect on certain garden crops.

The season's first frost occurred while it was yet summer in the nation. Fall will officially arrive Saturday at 8:36 p.m. EST.

The 32-degree reading early today was the lowest reading for all of September for several years. The September low last year was 34 and the low in 1954 was 34. During the third week of September last year, the temperatures ran in the upper 80's and even 90.

At 11 a.m. today, the mercury had climbed to 53, but topcoats and gloves were much in evidence.

Clerk Estimates 500 Local Voters Not Registered

8,250 Now Eligible With 149 Received Since August Primary

With only 18 days left to register for the November General Election, City Clerk Clarence Grevenogd Monday announced that 149 new registrations have been received since the August primary election.

Grevenogd estimated that there are 500 more voters in the city who are eligible to vote and have not yet registered. Total registration for Holland city now stands at 8,250.

There were 8,881 registrations for the 1952 presidential election, but a new method of removing those who have moved or who have not voted in four years will probably keep the 1956 total a little lower.

He said voters who voted in the 1952 election, but not since, will be eligible for this fall's balloting, but will be reminded that their names will be removed if they do not vote this time.

Grevenogd said the four - year period of non-voting is optional with the city, and that larger cities often require a vote to be cast every two years.

Only those voters who have not voted in more than four years or who have never voted before are required to register. However, those who have changed their address since they last voted are required to notify the city clerk either in writing or in person if they desire to be eligible.

The city clerk's office in the city hall is open from 8 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. until noon on Saturday. Final date for registering for the November election is Oct. 8.

QUIZ CONGRESSMAN — Zeeland citizens Tuesday afternoon took advantage of Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr.'s mobile office by stopping to chat with him in his trailer at Main and Elm Sts. Ford estimated that an average of 40 persons a day have called on him since he started his tour of Ottawa and Kent counties Sept. 10. The average is the highest since he began visiting constituents several years ago. Here Zeeland post office employees present their problems and suggestions to him. (Sentinel photo)

Zeeland Citizens Visit Rep. Ford's Mobile Office

ZEELAND (Special) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr. and his mobile office made its first visit to the Holland area Tuesday afternoon when he greeted constituents at Main and Elm Sts. in Zeeland. The Zeeland stop, fifth on Ford's seven-week tour of 24 places in Kent and Ottawa counties, was greeted by Mayor Robert DeBruyn and over 20 residents who conferred with the congressman during the first two hours. The office remained open until after 8 p.m.

Ford said his idea of traveling through the area he represents has been "very successful," and estimated more than 40 persons have visited him each day since he began his tour on Sept. 10.

He said the number of complaints received have been less than 1955 and most visitors want information or make suggestions. Social security, veteran's affairs, farm problems, small businesses, and servicemen's affairs have been the most asked about phases of the federal government, he said.

Qualifications for social security, veterans' pensions and benefits, assistance for small business and parents wishing to have their servicemen sons transferred or in some other way helped have been at the top of particular inquiries, he said.

Legislation on taxation, agriculture, social security, and civil defense has been suggested, Ford mentioned.

Not much has been said about foreign aid or military preparedness, but Ford pointed out that his trip is just beginning.

Speaking of the military draft, he said the plan now being followed is to encourage young men to choose the military for a career at the expense of the draft, but added that without the draft, the whole purpose would be defeated.

Ottawa County 4-H News

by Willis S. Boss
4-H Club Agent

Norma Keppel from Zeeland and Karen Naber from Holland attended the annual R.Y.U.S.A. conference held at the University of Wisconsin in Madison last week. They received this trip award for having worked as counselors at camp this year.

Two hundred rural youth from 18 different states gathered for 4 days on the campus and discussed "Rural Youth Meets a Changing World." Many delegates had the privilege of hearing talks given by many nationally known speakers — Martha Kohl, from the National Safety Council; Ed Pope, from Washington D.C.; Howard McFarland of the Cooperative Institute, Washington D.C. Students from five foreign countries also expressed their ideas, to give the delegates a look at the foreign picture.

Stephen Bosworth, from Jenison, is the outstanding member who will be representing Ottawa County and the state of Michigan in the Waterloo 4-H dairy judging contest this weekend.

Steve received this honor after last week's judging at the state fair. He is one of the top four judges in the state. Congratulations! We hope that this encourages and inspires more members to strive for this award trip.

Roger Jewell from Coopersville spent two days in Detroit as guest of the Detroit Community of Railroads. They visited a meat packing plant and had discussion on subject matter afterward. They visited the Detroit stockyards and were to be guests at the ball game between Detroit and Washington today.

Roger won this trip for being the best beef showman as well as for his past experience with beef animals.

Neil Zuidema from Holland and Mrs. Russell Lowing from Conklin, the two district representatives from Ottawa County Council, traveled to the Oceana 4-H camp on Sept. 19 and met with the other counties to discuss the following problems: 1. Obtaining and keeping new leaders. 2. Parent Co-operation. 3. County Problems.

Delegates of our local County Council gain much news and many ideas to benefit our county program from these meetings.

Clubs are organizing for the winter program in many parts of the county. We plan to hold leadership training meetings in the districts in October and would like to have all new leaders as well as old ones come to these meetings.

Also, in talking to some of the older members and leaders, I have found that a 4-H club has helped many communities to make them better communities. The club has taken girls and boys off the street, provided entertainment, helped boys and girls over the rough years and made them better citizens. If you would like to start or join a club, drop a line to the 4-H Office, Courthouse, Grand Haven. We will be glad to hear from you and to talk it over with you.

Colombian Visitor Lauds U.S. Education System

Guerrilla skirmishes still mar the Colombian back countries eight years after the worst fighting in the South American country a Colombian educator in Holland said.

Conservative and liberal elements and Catholic and Protestant religious groups engage in bloody fighting "regularly," according to Abel Sierra, registrar of a Colombian high school, visiting with the Rev. and Mrs. Alvin Schutmaat at 215 West 15th St.

Sierra had praise for the American school system of elective subjects and early vocational choice.

Schools in the United States, he said, "prepare students to face reality and make them competent at their chosen jobs. They try to make better citizens out of students. This is good because it keeps the democratic process alive."

In contrast, he said Colombian schools are directly controlled by the government and indirectly by the Catholic church.

Students have no choice of subjects throughout their five years of primary school and six years of high school, Sierra said, and do not begin specialized training until they reach the university.

"There is no organized guidance system in our schools," Sierra said, "and students choosing their professions often can do nothing but follow their father's trade."

Protestant schools in Colombia, he said, are liberal and will accept all kinds of students, including Free Thinkers. Free Thinkers are considered atheists in his country, he said.

The Colombian government said last year that Protestant schools could not enroll Catholic pupils. As a result, Catholic students enrolled without claiming their religion.

Comparative religion is a compulsory course along with academic subjects, he said, with almost all Christian religions covered.

Fighting among diverse factions was most serious in 1948, when 44 persons were killed or injured. 181 primary schools closed and 46 churches destroyed in anti-Protestant rioting.

Even now, Sierra said, persons accused of thinking against the government are likely to be expelled from schools or taken out and shot by the police. Guerrillas in the hill country often engage government troops or officials in combat, he said.

"They will never stop the guerrilla" war he said, "Once in a while President Rojas Pinilla's soldiers will march on the guerrillas, but they hide in the hills and can never be wiped out."

Sierra met the Schutmaats while the Holland family was doing missionary work in Colombia. He is in this country to study American education and said he had visited many of the schools in and around Holland while he was here.

Protestant schools in Colombia, he said, are liberal and will accept all kinds of students, including Free Thinkers. Free Thinkers are considered atheists in his country, he said.

Unhurt in Mishap

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—Joseph Martin George, 33, South Bend, Ind., escaped injuries at the railroad crossing on US-31 in Ferrysburg at 1 p.m. Friday when he veered his 1950 flat rack trailer into a pole to the right to avoid striking a switching train.

The truck, loaded with steel, became wedged against the pole. According to state police, the driver had the green light and there was no switchman at the crossing to warn motorists, as is customary.

Carson City was named for Christopher "Kit" Carson, a famous frontiersman.

AWOL Soldier Nabbed Stealing Gas From Truck

An AWOL soldier was captured Thursday night and two others were being sought after they were caught in the act of siphoning gasoline from a truck in the rear of Brewer's City Coal Dock Co. on Pine Ave.

Allan Ranny Graves, 18, route 2, Hamilton, is being held in the Holland jail pending arraignment on charges yet to be determined.

Graves and two others fled the scene when they were surprised by a Holland detective and a reserve officer who had staked out the area because of previous thefts.

The officers had been waiting in the darkness for more than two hours when Graves and the others drove into the yard with the lights off on their car.

They backed their car alongside of a truck. From the car's trunk they removed two five-gallon drums and a piece of garden hose.

Within seconds the youths had the cap off the truck's gas tank and were filling up their drums. The officers stepped out of their hiding place and ordered the youths to stand still. With that the trio took off running in different directions.

Officers fired several shots into the air but the trio just ran faster and disappeared into the darkness. Graves gave himself up to officers at the scene minutes later.

Other Holland officers and Ottawa County deputies arrived to aid in the search for the two others but failed to find them.

Graves is the father of a three-week-old baby and was home on an emergency leave. He was due back to Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. two weeks ago.

The Kingdom Triumphant
Revelation 7:9-17
By C. P. Dame

(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and used by permission.) The Christian Church must always sound forth a triumphant note. The Book of Revelation was written in a time of persecution in order to encourage the Christians and to tell them of the final victory of the faith over paganism. I. Heaven is the goal of Christians. This truth is often overlooked in our day. In a vision John the Apostle saw "a great multitude which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues," and they were standing before the throne and before the Lamb "clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands."

This mixed and cosmopolitan multitude was the redeemed of all time. The throne John saw symbolizes the eternal power, authority, rule and dominion of God. The Lamb John mentions suggests Jesus the Saviour and the sacrifice He made for our sins. The throne and the Lamb belong together.

The multitude was arrayed in white robes. White in Scripture symbolizes holiness. Palms speak of victory. Holiness is bound to win the victory. The whole multitude sang: "Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the throne and unto the Lamb." These people ascribe all the glory to God for their salvation. This multitude recognized the fact that they had been saved from the tragic consequences of sin through the power of God. The angels too praised God. In heaven there is great unity—the passion of all is to glorify God.

II. In heaven all serve the Lord. Here the church often faces suffering. One of the elders asked John who the white-robed people were. John answers the elder, "Sir, thou knowest" and then the elder told John that the vast multitude had come "out of the great tribulation, and have washed their robes and made them white in the blood of the Lamb." These people resisted evil and gained the victory through the atoning death of Christ. Note that it is taught here that the redeemed in heaven are there because they have washed their robes in the blood of the Lamb. Christ saved them. And in heaven the saved serve and worship.

The tribulation mentioned here refers to all the persecutions and evils which the church suffered during its long struggle upon this earth. Once the redeemed suffered from hunger and thirst but in heaven they hunger and thirst no more. At one time they endured scorching heat and wept much but all has changed and now they rejoice and God meets all their needs. Mark what is said here about the Lamb—He is in the midst of the throne—He who is the exalted Lord will shepherd His flock and minister like a good shepherd to all their needs. Nothing that here caused pain and distress will be found in heaven.

The early Christians were encouraged by the prediction that eventually evil would be overcome. Today there are many evil forces battling against the church. The certainty of victory should hearten us and give us courage and perseverance. The assurance of victory comes from God—we believe His promises.

1. Christians of all ages need encouragement.
2. The ultimate victory over evil is assured.
3. God deserves the honor—not man.
4. A great glory awaits all Christians.
5. In heaven we shall worship and serve.

When such people indulge in their art of phrase making they usually do so face to face with their audience, and like the cowboy in the story they "say it with a smile." The smile saves the wit and neutralizes the contempt.

When a candidate does the same thing the smile cannot be seen by his audience. The phrase appears in cold print, or at secondhand in the voices of the radio and television speakers. A term applied to the opposition that would be recognized as completely harmless if accompanied with the gleam of humor in the eyes, may turn into what sounds like a sneer.

At any rate, some of Stevenson's backers are conscious of the danger and have been warning him against the habit. But it is to be hoped that he will not become too conscious about his phrase making. His quips have been a delight to many, and even his opponents ought to welcome the injection of a little humor into the drab business of politics.

Ottawa County Farm News

Richard Machiele
County Agricultural Agent

In connection with the clean grain program in which the Federal Food and Drug act prohibits the contamination of grain by rodents, we suggest two types of poison baits which can be used for poisoning rats. They are as follows: (1) Corn meal — 65 percent; rolled or ground oats — 20 percent; powdered sugar — 5 percent; vegetable or mineral oil — 5 percent; anticoagulant poison (0.5 percent concentrate) — 5 percent; (2) Corn meal — 45 percent; rolled or ground oats — 45 percent; vegetable or mineral oil — 5 percent; anticoagulant poison (0.5 percent concentrate) — 5 percent.

This bait must be protected to prevent weathering, to keep the bait attractive and to keep other animals from disturbing the bait, or eating it. The best protection is a box-like bait station, fastened down out of the way, but easily opened for adding more bait. An entrance hole should be cut in each side and the bait exposed in a shallow flat pan. A piece of wide plank nailed at an angle against a wall is also a good place to bait rats.

Locate the stations in the vicinity of the storage and along natural travel routes leading to the storage. Rats like to move along buildings, fence rows or rubbish piles but not across clear areas.

There is one caution. An anticoagulant poison will kill any warm-blooded animal which eats enough of it. Cats and dogs should not be permitted to eat any dead rats or mice poisoned with this material.

Three corn days are slated for Michigan this fall. These events will be on the following dates: Oct. 2 on the farm of Richard Marshall near Albion in Calhoun County; Oct. 4 on the Coats & Son farm, near Coats Grove in Barry County; and Oct. 9 on the Lynn Street farm, near Yale in St. Clair County.

These corn field days are similar to the one we had in Ottawa County last year. There will be tours and demonstration areas starting at 9:30 in the morning. The corn trial demonstrations will conclude the morning program and in the afternoon, field machinery will be exhibited and demonstrated.

Demonstration plots will show visitors how 2, 4-D can control broadleaved weeds in corn with different forms, rates, and times of application being tested.

Using corn instead of oats as a companion crop for forage seedings will be illustrated with wide-row and band seeded alfalfa. Other plots will show how minimum tillage seedbed preparation can cut labor and yet produce yields fully as good as with conventional methods. Rate of planting tests will provide visitors with comparisons in populations of 8,000, 12,000 and 16,000 plants per acre of a 90 day and a 105-day hybrid. Fertilizer demonstrations will illustrate that corn needs nitrogen urgently for the rapid mid-season growth.

Farms in the United States now number 4,782,000 according to the summary of the latest Census of Agriculture released by the U.S. Department of Commerce. This represents a decline in the number of farms from 1950 to 1954. Every state except Florida showed a decline in the number of farms from 1950 to 1954. There are now fewer farms than at any time since 1890. This is not necessarily an unhealthy trend, however. Farming seems to be aligning itself on sounder business and production foundations. Fewer, but more efficient, farmers are today producing food in record quantities.

Grand Haven Girl Fined On Delinquency Charge

GRAND HAVEN (Special) — Patricia O'Callaghan, 18, of 830 Washington St., Grand Haven, paid $25 fine and $5.50 costs in the Grand Haven Municipal Court Tuesday afternoon on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

City police allege Miss O'Callaghan permitted two girls, 16 and 14 years old, to remain in her home Monday night, knowing they were of school age and that they were runaways from their homes in Muskegon Heights. The parents came to Grand Haven and took the girls home.

Deputies Charge Pair With Additional Thefts

Two youths arrested Thursday night for siphoning gasoline at Brewer's Coal Docks face more trouble.

Allagan deputies said warrants have been issued against Allen Graves, 18, route 2, Hamilton, and Harry DeRidder, 18, of 148 West 10th St., charging them with larceny and burglary.

Deputies said the pair admitted, in signed statements, they stole fender skirts and a tail pipe from a car at the Allagan County Fair and broke into Serr's fruit stand on US-31 and took melons and an alarm clock.

They also are charged with thefts of gasoline in Allagan county. The two came up for sentence in Holland's Municipal Court Friday for the gasoline thefts at Brewer's. They remained in Holland jail under bond.

Restaurant, Boat Works Entered by Burglars

Two burglaries south of Holland in Allagan County are under investigation by Deputies Andy Vander Vliet and Earle Telman.

Deputies said unknown persons entered the Roamer Boat Co. and the Howard Johnson Restaurant on US-31 sometime during the week-end.

In each case entrance was gained by smashing a window. The cigarette and stamp machines in the restaurant were smashed open and money taken. A check was being made at the boat company to determine what is missing.

Two Trials Set For Sept. 28

GRAND HAVEN (Special) —

Sept. 28 has been set as date of trial in the east of George Ives, 46, Grand Rapids, who pleaded innocent to two charges in Municipal Court Monday. Ives was charged with speeding and failure to report a personal injury accident following an accident July 30 in Spring Lake township in which his car sideswiped a tree and then ran headon into another tree. Ives and a companion were given a lift to Muskegon where both refused medical aid. He was traced through his license number. Ives received two fractured ribs and a slight concussion in the crash. The trial will open at 9 a.m.

A second trial will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Sept. 28 for Mrs. Ruth Holmes, 30 Nunica, who pleaded innocent in Municipal Court Monday to a charge of drunk and disorderly. Mrs. Holmes was arrested Sept. 15 in Spring Lake township by state police. She furnished $50 bond.

William Hill, 40, route 1, Baldwin, pleaded guilty Monday afternoon to a simple larceny charge and unable to pay $25 fine and $6.10 costs is serving nine days in the county jail. He allegedly stole a .38 caliber revolver Sept. 12 from Mrs. Katherine Simpson in Park township. Sheriff's officers made the arrest.

Open Doors in Christian Endeavor
Matthew 25: 14-31
by Darrell Franken

To the Leader: The parable of the talents is a good ruler to measure what we are doing for our church and for its master Jesus Christ. The opportunities for service are unlimited. There are hundreds of doors that are open, hundreds of places where we can use our talents. In the past year how many "open doors" did your society go through? How many places did your society use each one's talent for the benefit of your church.

Last week this column suggested some Scriptural and Functional Principles of Christian Endeavor. Since this topic deals with putting our talents to work it seems proper and necessary to re-emphasize one of them again... The Project.

How important is a project for the welfare of your society? Many people say it is the key to making your society an active one. "Faith without works is dead," and so too, A Christian Endeavor Society without works is often dead.

Leader's Outline

Tell in your own words the parable of the talents. (Matthew 25: 14-31) Then point out what the parable teaches.

1. It teaches that God has given us abilities which we are to use while He is preparing our eternal reward.

2. The servants are all confessing Christians who are working for Christ and the advancement of His Kingdom.

3. The talents are our master's goods which have been given us to use.

4. Trading represents Christian activity. What we have we are to use for God's glory. What we don't use, we lose.

List of Open Doors

After giving a short devotional talk on this parable you, the leader, could begin listing some activities which are Open Doors for your society. Again, use a black board so everyone can see what you are thinking about, and ask your group to add to the list.

1. HELPING YOUR SOCIETY: Each officer or departmental chairman has a job to do. List the duties of each of the following: President, vice president, secretary, treasurer, devotions chairman, extension chairman, missionary chairman, church activity chairman, recreation chairman and publicity chairman. Miss Judith Oudersluys Wed in Chapel Ceremony

Western Seminary Chapel was decorated with arrangements of gladioli, double candelabra, palms and ferns, Saturday evening, Sept. 15, for the wedding of Miss Judith Mary Oudersluys and Jack Howard Brink. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Oudersluys, 181 West 11th St., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Brink of Grand Rapids.

The bride's father, assisted by the Rev. Christian Walvoord, performed the double ring rites at 8 p.m. Miss Mildred Schuppert was organist and Mrs. Jack Leenhouts sang "The Pledge" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Betty Robert of Fremont and Miss Helen Allen of Mancelona, classmates of the bride at Butterworth Hospital School of Nursing, were maids of honor. William Wild of Grand Rapids attended the groom as best man and Jack Schneider of Grand Rapids and Richard Oudersluys, Jr., were ushers.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice forming an illusion neckline with a lace collar. Lace applied at the hips, forming lace sprays on tulle, fashioned the bouffant skirt. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was secured by a scalloped lace cap embroidered with pearls and sequins. She carried a colonial bouquet of sweetheart roses.

Attendants' gowns were styled alike of royal blue taffeta with princess paneled front, scoop necklines, brief sleeves, bow trim and full waltz-length skirts. They carried colonial bouquets of white roses and baby pompons.

Mrs. Oudersluys chose for her daughter's wedding a beige lace dress with matching accessories. She had a corsage of brown baby orchids. The groom's mother wore a navy sheath dress with matching jacket, winter white accessories and a corsage of white baby orchids.

At the reception in the Seminary Commons Room, Mr. and Mrs. Arie Van Bree of Caledonia presided as master and mistress of ceremonies. Holland, Creston Play to Tie In Season's Football Opener

Dutch Dominate First Half and Bears the Second

GRAND RAPIDS (Special) — Dominating the first half play, Holland High's gridders pushed to a two-touchdown lead, only to have the Grand Rapids Creston football team come back and do the same thing in the second half with the result a 13-13 tie before 4,200 fans at Houseman Field Saturday night.

The Dutch, who picked up a total of 139 yards on the ground in the first half and 75 through the air, scored once in the first and second quarters.

Taking the ball at the midway point of the first quarter on their own 26 yard line following a Creston punt, the Dutch began to move. Terry Otting broke loose on the first play for 20 yards to the Holland 46. Using a ground game, Holland pushed to Creston 35 in five plays but a clipping penalty put the ball at midfield.

Here, Tom Steel uncorked the first of two 25-yard first quarter pass plays. This was taken by Wes Kuylers on the Creston 42 and he was driven out of bounds on the Polar Bear 25.

Three plays later, Steel again let fly and this fell into the breadbasket of end Larry Alderink, waiting on a goal line. Alderink dropped in the end zone with 3:37 remaining in the first quarter. Ron Kuylers' kick was good.

Creston had one series of downs in the second quarter after Jack Magoon recovered a Ron Kuylers fumble but again, was forced to punt.

The second Holland drive began on the Dutch 38. Ron Kuylers ripped through for 20 yards right off the bat and then three plays later tore around end for 15 more to put the ball on the Creston 23.

In two plays the Dutch went to the Creston 18 but an offside penalty put them back on the 23. Here Steel threw wide to Ron Kuylers who took the ball on the Bear 22 and raced down the sidelines to score. The kick attempt hit the cross bar and was no good.

Holland made 37 yards rushing in 11 plays and 25 yards passing in the second quarter, tops for the game.

In the third quarter, the Polar Bears, with the help of Chuck De Shane, son of the former Detroit Lions' star, took over. De Shane recovered a Ron Kuylers fumble on the Creston 42 early in the period.

Following a penalty, Don Sekell, Creston's fine quarterback, heaved a long one to De Shane, who grabbed it on about the Holland 27 and was knocked out of bounds on the Dutch 13.

Dick Petrovich then circled end for 13 yards and the score at 6:20 of the third period. Anderson's kick was wide.

Holland managed to have the ball only 11 plays in the third quarter and picked up a net 18 yards while the Bears had 60 rushing and passing.

Creston opened the fourth quarter by taking a punt on their own 23. And then they moved. In 11 plays, the Bears covered the 77 yards, going around, through and over the tiring Dutch.

Dave Annis shot off tackle for the final 10 yards and the TD at 6:19 of the fourth. Then he took the ball between guard and tackle for the important extra point.

The determined Dutch had one more chance and after taking the kickoff began to move. Steel hit Otting for a 21-yard pass on the first play to the Creston 36. Then six straight rushing plays put the ball on the Polar Bear 11.

Here Steel, trying a high pitch out, fumbled and De Shane recovered for Creston on the 19. With 2:57 remaining, the Bears opened up for their final chance at breaking the tie.

Sekell let fly and completed one pass after picking up a first down rushing, a play covering 31 yards to Annis on Holland 34.

With the clock running out, Sekell again heaved a completed pass to Annis on the Dutch 16, but a clipping penalty nullified it. Time ran out with Creston on the Holland 35.

In the fourth quarter, the Bears made seven first downs, more than the other three quarters combined and picked up a total of 115 yards.

NOTES: Tom Steel's cool-headed running of the Holland eleven showed the Dutch quarterback is taking up where he left off in 1955.

His passing, done with an appearance of nonchalance, worked six out of eight times. Holland was penalized 65 yards in the first half and only five in the second half.

The work of Dale De Ridder, as a line backer, late in the game was a high point. His alert play may earn him a starting berth.

Creston, with Don Sekell, a fine passer, threw only twice in the first half and failed to connect.

Holland had the ball for 27 plays in the first half and Creston 23 times.

In the second half, Holland had the ball 17 times and the Bears 26 times.

Holland made six first downs in the first half and three in the second while the Bears made four in the first half and nine in the second.

Don Black, in his fourth year at Creston, is the head coach.

Holland meets Niles Friday night in the home opener. Niles, unbeaten in 1955 and only the tie with Holland to mar the perfect season, lost to Kalamazoo Central, 26-0, Friday night.

A new rule, allowing one man to come to the bench to talk over plays with the coaches during timeouts, was in effect. This rule only applies to games played in Grand Rapids.

GOP Volunteers Receive Honor Pins for Service

Rep. Gerald Ford Pays Unexpected Visit to Gathering in Zeeland

ZEELAND (Special) — Several women received service pins for 10 or more hours of work for the Republican party at a meeting of the South Ottawa Women's Republican Club Thursday afternoon in Zeeland City Hall. The group receiving pins Thursday afternoon are the first of a growing list of volunteers currently working on getting out the vote in November.

George Van Koeveing, Ottawa county Republican chairman, presented pins to the following: Mrs. Vernon D. Ten Cate, Mrs. Gerald Van Wyk, Mrs. Riemer Van Til, Mrs. Clyde Geerlings, Mrs. Jay Den Herder, Mrs. Harry Wetter, Mrs. Russell Dijk, Mrs. Edward Page, Mrs. Wendell A. Miles, Mrs. H. P. Harms, Mrs. Q. W. Lowry, Mrs. Al Hoving and Mrs. Egbert G. U.

U. S. Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Jr., paid a brief surprise visit to the women's meeting before appearing at the opening luncheon of the DAR chapter. He commended the women for the role they play in putting endless hours of work which often tends to be dull and unspectacular, but which is the backbone of party power and victory.

Carl C. Andreasen of Holland, a 5th district delegate to the national convention in San Francisco last month, related his experiences at the convention. As one of Michigan's two members on the platform committee, he had gone a week early for preliminary meetings on platform work, and he blasted any thoughts that everything about the GOP convention was pre-arranged and dictated to by higher-ups. "We really worked hard," he said.

Andreasen was assigned to the veterans committee, one of 10 subcommittees working on platform subjects. He said U. S. Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois headed the all-important civil rights committee, although all members of the resolutions committee had some voice in all proceedings.

Andreasen said he had pleasant experiences in helping a group of Detroit colored people get their desires across to the committee heads.

Andreasen also spoke of some of the special entertainment and parties which marked the national convention, but added he could find no champagne at the governor's party where champagne was "supposed to flow like water." He said most delegates were kept too busy attending meetings and convention sessions.

To date, the groups which have been canvassing homes in the Holland area for the Republican survey have raised close to $1,000 toward the $30,000 quota assigned to the county. Mrs. Bruce M. Raymond, president, presided.

Ray Dannenberg, route 4, stop and go light, US-31 and Lakewood, $9.30; Michael P. Cassone, Rockford, speeding 40 in 30-mile zone, M-21 in Holland township, $9.30; Alex H. Andrules, Fennville, no Michigan operator's license, US-31 in Holland township, $6.30; Carl Ray King, Lansing, expired operator's license, $5.30, and speeding 45 in 35-mile zone, Park township, $9.30.

Eugene R. Subocz, Grand Rapids, speeding 70 in 55-mile zone, M-21 in Holland township, $19.30; Linda Veltman, of 515 West 32nd St., Holland, improper passing, US-31 in Holland township, $9.30; Dorothy B. De Pree, Chicago, red light, US-31 and M-21, $5; Robert Carlton Grissin, Lockhart, Fla., improper passing, US-31 in Holland township, $10.

Kish, LaPorte, Ind., improper passing, US-31 in Holland township, $10; Roosevelt Baker, Gary, Ind., improper passing, $5, and no operator's license, US-31, $5; Shirl Webbert, of 1811 Paw Paw, right of way, 120th and M-21, Holland township, $14.30; William J. Trickey, Toledo, Ohio, red light, US-31 and M-21, $10.

Dean R. Smith, Charleston, W. Va., no operator's license, M-21 in Holland township, $10; John B. Prentiss, St. Louis, Mo., speeding 75 in 65-mile zone, US-31 in Olive township, $10; Berger Juell, Chicago, speeding 80 in 65-mile zone, US-31 in Holland township, $15; William Millhoff, Kokomo, red light, US-31 and M-21, $7; Otis J. Port Sheldon Zoning Proposal Goes to County

Port Sheldon township's zoning proposal will be submitted to the next meeting of the Ottawa County Zoning Co-ordinating Committee as a result of Thursday night's third public hearing on the proposal at the Port Sheldon township hall.

Only about 10 township residents were present at the two-hour meeting, which had been expected to draw a large crowd.

The proposal sets aside a large portion of the west central part of the township for industrial use by a public utility organization. Most of the land so designated has been purchased by Consumers' Power Co. for location of a steam generator.

The proposal, if accepted by the county, will be returned to the township board for approval. Residents will then have 30 days to file a petition requesting a referendum, should they be opposed to the zoning.

Zoning board chairman Ed Measom, who presided at the meeting, pointed out that Port Sheldon is the only township in the county not now having zoning restrictions, and said the proposal would safeguard the township and improve it at the same time.

The proposal divides the township into residential, commercial, industrial, agricultural and recreational zones. Over 95 per cent of the industrial zone has been purchased by Consumers'.

A question about other industry coming into the township was raised and Measom said any other industry must present an application to the appeal board, and that the board would suggest or recommend sites. In the event the industry was not desired by the community, it could be prevented from entering, Measom said.

Other aspects of the proposal require that minimum lots in the residential district be set and that houses must occupy at least 480 square feet. In the commercial district, state codes of housing and plumbing, and national electric codes must be abided by.

In areas zoned agricultural, housing for migrant workers must be approved by the zoning administration.

Bulldogs Score On Long Pass in Final 3 Minutes

GRANDVILLE (Special)—Striking through the air, the Grandville Bulldogs passed for two touchdowns and set up a third to down the Zeeland Chix, 19-14 in the football opener Friday night here before more than 3,000 fans at Wedgewood Field.

With Doug Japiga pitching only six passes in the game, the Bulldogs completed four and turned two into touchdowns.

The final aerial, thrown with about three minutes remaining, sailed from quarterback Japiga on the Zeeland 38 to right half-back Fred Mac Eachron on the 28. He took it over his shoulder and was off.

This touchdown erased the 14-12 Zeeland lead which had been set up in the first half as the Chix scored each time they had the ball.

Zeeland took over on the Grandville 44 with a couple of minutes gone in the first period after the Bulldogs had failed to gain. And with dives through guard and tackle working, the Chix scored in 10 plays.

Ron Bekins, the only starter from Zeeland's undefeated 1955 team, and Dave Den Ouden, junior fullback, led the drive. Ron Beyer, quarterback and captain, scored the touchdown going over from the one.

Ron Komejan, back to kick, took the low toss from center and circled end for the conversion.

But the Bulldogs weren't daunted. They returned the kick to the Grandville 37. A five-yard penalty put the ball on the 32 where Japiga uncorked his first aerial of the night.

This one Mac Eachron gathered in at midfield and romped all the way to the Zeeland 14 before he was brought down. Glenn Smith, Grandville fullback, drew in the end and swept the 14 yards to score.

Smith, who converted only after the third touchdown missed on the first placement as the ball hit the bar and bounced back on the playing field.

Zeeland took the kickoff to the Chix 36 as the first quarter closed. With the offense working the best of the game, Zeeland reeled off four first downs and moved the 64 yards in 15 plays for the second touchdown.

A fourth down 18-yard pass from Beyer to right half John Bloemendaal, good to the Grandville four, was the payoff play. Bekins knifed tackle from two yards for the second touchdown and Komejan converted to put Zeeland ahead 14-6 with about three minutes left in the first half.

Japiga again started pitching and on second down found Jerry McKenny, a big end, who picked up 27 yards to the Grandville 49.

On the next play, Japiga again heaved downhill, and his favorite receiver, Mac Eachron took in the ball on the Zeeland 45 and was off and away. Smith's kick was wide.

Zeeland came back in the third quarter but the offense bogged. The Chix managed to pick up two first downs in the third quarter, all they got in the second half and couldn't get moving. The Chix were held to eight yards in the final quarter.

Highlighting the Zeeland third quarter action was an intercepted pass by Lavern Slagh at midfield and returned to the Grandville 32. The Chix moved down to the Grandville 17 but were stopped.

Marv Feenstra, Zeeland tackle, recovered a Grandville fumble in the fourth period on the Zeeland 33 to stop another Bulldog push, featured by a 30 yard dash by Smith.

A 15-yard penalty put the Chix on the 18, forcing a kick. Grandville took the punt on their own 46 and made a first down to the Zeeland 40. Japiga sneaked to the 38 and then threw the game winning pass.

Unbeaten last year and carrying a five-game winning streak, the loss snapped Zeeland's string. The Chix open at home next Friday against Oshtemo, 1:30 losers to Kelloggville Friday.

Teenaged Killer Stands Mute on Murder Charge

GRAND HAVEN (Special)—Seventeen-year-old Mrs. Helen Thomas Friday stood mute when arraigned on a charge of first degree murder in the slaying of her husband Aug. 13 in their Jenison Park home.

Circuit Court Judge Raymond L. Smith then entered a not guilty plea for Mrs. Thomas and ordered her held for trial during the October term of court.

She was brought to court from the Ottawa County jail in the company of Mrs. Alice Johnson, a clerk in the sheriff's office, and her attorney, Randall M. Dekker of Zeeland.

Mrs. Thomas, through Dekker, waived the reading of the charge while her attorney told the court she would stand mute.

The brief hearing took less than five minutes and Mrs. Thomas stood quietly during the proceedings and said nothing.

Prosecutor James Bussard said the trial date would be determined on Oct. 8, which is the opening date of the session.

She was returned to jail after the hearing and started her second month behind bars.

Mrs. Thomas spent the first weeks in a small cell but was transferred to the second floor bullpen on the 10th day. She is the only prisoner in the bull pen which normally houses a dozen persons.

The teenaged killer said she spends her time sleeping, reading and listening to the radio.

She said she receives a number of letters, many from persons she does not know.

Mrs. Thomas shot and killed her husband, Emmerson, with a 20 gauge shotgun after a day-long argument.

DAR Hears Rep. Ford At Opening Luncheon

Speaking on "The American Constitution and the World Today," U. S. Gerald R. Ford told members of the Elizabeth Schuyler Hamilton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Thursday afternoon that the U. S. Constitution is the foundation of American society. The event was the opening luncheon of the season at Legion clubhouse.

"True, there were conflicts in the colonies," Rep. Ford said, "but the net result was the preservation of our rights and privileges — made secure by this important, even sacred, document. Just re-read the constitution and see how uniquely our individual freedoms are protected. Our magna carta has survived our conflicts and world conflicts and has been our guide through all our problems."

Rep. Ford pointed out that Communistic countries have nothing like the American constitution. With three branches in American government, no branch can usurp the rights of the others. He compared America's economic progress with that of Russia and called attention to the bountiful living Americans enjoy under free enterprise.

"Be vigilant in guarding our Constitution. What we do and think is important — and we must use our Constitution as a guidepost," he said. A question period followed.

Mrs. Earl F. Price, regent, urged that the flag be displayed during Constitution Week Sept. 17 to 23. A special window display on the Constitution will be in the J.C. Penny store window that week in charge of Mrs. R. M. Champion, Miss Lida Rogers and Mrs. Randall C. Bosch.

Mrs. R. F. Keeler gave a memorial tribute to the late Mrs. C. C. Wood. Miss Laura Boyd led devotions.

Library Adventures

By Arnold Mulder

A good many years ago I contributed an article to a national magazine under the title, "Serious Books and Fiction." Coming across it the other day in an old file, I found that it could be reprinted today without the change of a word; it would be as relevant now as it was then.

A librarian had just made an annual report to his board, and through it to the public, patting himself and his library and the community on their respective backs because the past year had shown a decline in the reading of fiction and a corresponding increase in the reading of what he called "serious books."

Years ago my article had been sparked by a librarian's report that was almost word for word in the same terms; the percentages were slightly different, but in both cases the librarian felt that it was somehow more admirable to have a reading public devoted to "serious books" rather than to fiction.

I have never been able to see any logic in that point of view. A great novel is not a whit less serious than even a great non-fiction book. Going back a hundred years, Herman Melville's "Moby-Dick" and Henry David Thoreau's "Walden" were written in the same decade. Both are supreme great books, but the librarian I quoted would classify "Walden" as a "serious book" and "Moby-Dick" as only a novel, the reading of which is somewhat less than desirable.

The logic becomes even more fallacious when great novels are compared with trivial non-fiction. There is far more culture and learning and mental stimulation in a novel like "Moby-Dick" or "The Scarlet Letter" or Tolstol's "War and Peace" or Dostoyevsky's "The Brothers Karamazov" than there is in such non-fiction books as "The Power of Positive Thinking" or "Why Johnny Can't Read."

The latter two examples of non-fiction are not exactly trivial, merely commonplace, the fruit of commonplace minds. All the novels I named—and there are many, many more, both old and new—are the fruit of the greatest thinkers of their day, the most sensitive artists, the most deeply serious minds.

Why, I ask again as I asked years ago, is it more laudable to read non-fiction books and to call them "serious" than it is to read great novels?

It is of course obvious that a vast majority of the works of fiction that the average public in the average community withdraws from the public library is trivial, of value only to kill a little time. But it is just as obvious that the same thing is to be said of the non-fiction books that circulate in an average community.

Nor are librarians the only ones who display a bias against fiction. It has been my privilege to read a number of dissertations on "Moby-Dick," dissertations with which graduate students won the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in literature. Those papers were of course non-fiction, and the universities granting the degree considered them "serious" enough as partial basis for degrees. Those same universities would never have dreamed of awarding a degree to Herman Melville who wrote "Moby-Dick." The dissertations merely commented on Melville's thinking, but because they are non-fiction they are held to be more "serious" than the book they reflect.

From one point of view Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn" is one of the most truly serious books in our literature.

Gebben-Verplank Vows Spoken

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Dale Gebben

Miss Linda Wallace Verplank and Vernon Dale Gebben were united in marriage by the Rev. John den Ouden in First Reformed Church of Zeeland on Sept. 7. The double ring rites were performed before a setting of gladioli, mums, ferns and candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Verplank, 140 Lawrence Ave., Zeeland. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duke Gebben of 140 West Central, Zeeland.

The bride chose a princess style gown of taffeta with a front bodice of heavy lace and iridescent which were taken from the wedding gown of the bride's maternal grandmother. The gown featured short sleeves and a bateau neckline. A floor-length skirt with lace appliques fell into a chapel train. A crown of iridescent and seed pearls held the fingertip veil of illusion. The bride wore short gloves and carried a bouquet of stephanotis, phalaenopsis and ivy.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. James Walsn of Holland, maid of honor; Miss Judy Verplank, cousin of the bride; Miss Donna Gebben, sister of the groom and Miss Phyllis Head of Pontiac as the bridesmaids. The new Mrs. Gebben is a graduate of Zeeland High School and will begin her senior year at Michigan State University this fall. The groom is a 1956 graduate of the University of Michigan.

Dog Notes

by Peter Boggs

Hint For Hunting Dogs

A young setter was sent to a farm in the country while his master spent the winter in the city. The following fall when taken out to hunt, he persisted in barking when he came across a pheasant or rabbit scent. His owner couldn't understand why a pure-bred setter would give tongue while trailing a pheasant. A little research developed that while boarding at the farm he had been allowed to run loose every day with a beagle hound owned by the farmer. Evidently the beagle taught the young setter to hunt along beagle lines while they roamed the woods and fields together.

Never take a pointer or setter in the field with a springer or cocker. The pointer or setter may find and point a bird and then the cocker or springer is likely to run in and flush the bird, thereafter making the bird dog uneasy on his points. Cockers and springers hunt alike and can be taken out together but they never should be allowed to run with a dog of the hound or terrier strain as they are likely to develop a voice.

A Cure For Noisy Dogs

The other day I was asked to give some advice on how to quiet two Scottie dogs a friend of mine owns and kennels in his back yard. My friend told me his neighbors had been complaining that every day while he was away at work the two dogs would go on a barking spree-much to everyone's annoyance.

I asked only one question. It had to do with when the dogs were fed. I learned that some days the dogs' owner would feed them before he left for work in the morning. Other days he would feed them at night when he returned, or maybe his wife would feed them sometime during the day. I suggested that the two Scotties be fed every day at the same time and that if they were done in two or three weeks he would find that the dogs had quieted down.

A dog not fed at the same time each day will be looking for, expecting and often demanding food all the time. That was the case with my friend's two dogs. They had learned that if they barked enough there was a chance someone would bring them food. So most of their barking was for this reason.

The Question Box

Question: I have just bred my female fox terrier. I feed her once a day in the evening. Should I now increase the size of this meal and what should I give her to eat?

Answer: A female in whelp should not be fed only one large meal a day. Instead she should be provided with two or three medium-sized meals consisting of lean meat, preferably cooked, mixed with vegetables and dog meal biscuit.

Overload Fine Paid

GRAND HAVEN (Special)

Vander Wagen Iron and Metal Co. of Ferrysburg paid $58.80 fine and $4.30 costs in Grand Haven Municipal Court Thursday afternoon on an overload charge.

The driver of the truck, Robert August Vander Wagen, of 306 Orchard St., Grand Haven was arrested by Sam Hartwell, Sr., weighmaster for the Ottawa County Road commission Thursday on the Fruit Rd., north of M-104 in Spring Lake township. The truck, loaded with refuse gravel, had an alleged overload of 7,950 pounds.

Johnson ran 82 yards to score and then passed for the extra point.

But that ended the scoring. Holland threatened again in the third and fourth periods but neither time could push the ball over.

Muskegon, late in the contest moved the ball to the Dutch nine yard line but lost the ball on downs. Holland took over as time ran out.

Coach Loy Lovitt's local lads picked up 135 yards on the ground and five through the air. The Big Reds made 120 yards rushing and 26 on passes.

Hill, a bespectacled ballcarrier, was the only player to have a long run.

On our way to Luxembourg we had to make a train connection at Coblenz, Germany, but we missed it. After talking to the guides we finally decided to check our four heavier bags through to Luxembourg since we had to change again at Trier. Porters were scarce in small towns, so we found that this was the best way to work it out. We had an hour and a half to wait, so we walked across to a small hotel and had a nice lunch.

The waiter gave us some very interesting literature on Coblenz and Trier which sold us on the idea of seeing Trier if at all possible.

On the next train we met a number of men from the U. S. Air Force who were stationed near Trier. We changed to a two-car train which turned out to be a milk train, and at every stop people got on or off. There were many fishermen and from their descriptions of their catches, they seemed to be as good story tellers as our fishermen in the U. S.

I forgot to tell you that Anne did the impossible. Since we were to pass Customs, we were told it would be best to have the baggage checked in Coblenz by a German customs inspector if possible. Our guides said that this man was off duty, but Anne went off on her own and with no speaking knowledge of German and by means of a three-way telephone conversation through an operator that spoke English, she turned up with the man and the bags were inspected.

Because of the mix-up in our plans we were not met at Luxembourg but we saw our bags put on a cart, so we followed the cart through the rain to our hotel across the street from the station.

In this Grand Duchy their official language is a mixture of French and German, although at the Rotary Club, the meeting was conducted in French. Although they coin money, Belgian money is more commonly used.

Luxembourg, the capital, is an old fortified town of 50 castles connected by underground passages and ramparts. Count Siegfried I, built the first castle in 963, and as the country was ruled in turn by France, Spain and Austria each added more fortifications.

Holland High's football reserves, knocking out a long-time "jinx" stopped the Muskegon seconds, 8-7 Friday afternoon in the opener for both clubs at Riverview Park.

It marked the first time in several years that the Dutch have been able to defeat a Muskegon team and reversed last year's 44-0 game.

The baseball score contest had all of its scoring in the second quarter.

Ken Hill, a husky halfback with a lot of drive, broke through the line to block a Muskegon punt early in the second period and fell on the ball in the end zone to give Holland a two-point safety.

Later in the quarter, Hill swept the end for seven yards and scored Holland's only touchdown. The try for extra point was blocked.

Holland kicked off to the visitors and the ball was returned to the 18 yard line. Here Bob Johnson, pushed his way through center, broke into the Dutch secondary and was away before the Dutch defenders could get a clear shot at him.

Johnson ran 82 yards to score and then passed for the extra point.

But that ended the scoring. Holland threatened again in the third and fourth periods but neither time could push the ball over.

Muskegon, late in the contest moved the ball to the Dutch nine yard line but lost the ball on downs. Holland took over as time ran out.

Coach Loy Lovitt's local lads picked up 135 yards on the ground and five through the air. The Big Reds made 120 yards rushing and 26 on passes.

Hill, a bespectacled ballcarrier, was the only player to have a long run.

On our way to Luxembourg we had to make a train connection at Coblenz, Germany, but we missed it. After talking to the guides we finally decided to check our four heavier bags through to Luxembourg since we had to change again at Trier. Porters were scarce in small towns, so we found that this was the best way to work it out. We had an hour and a half to wait, so we walked across to a small hotel and had a nice lunch.

The waiter gave us some very interesting literature on Coblenz and Trier which sold us on the idea of seeing Trier if at all possible.

On the next train we met a number of men from the U. S. Air Force who were stationed near Trier. We changed to a two-car train which turned out to be a milk train, and at every stop people got on or off. There were many fishermen and from their descriptions of their catches, they seemed to be as good story tellers as our fishermen in the U. S.

I forgot to tell you that Anne did the impossible. Since we were to pass Customs, we were told it would be best to have the baggage checked in Coblenz by a German customs inspector if possible. Our guides said that this man was off duty, but Anne went off on her own and with no speaking knowledge of German and by means of a three-way telephone conversation through an operator that spoke English, she turned up with the man and the bags were inspected.

Because of the mix-up in our plans we were not met at Luxembourg but we saw our bags put on a cart, so we followed the cart through the rain to our hotel across the street from the station.

In this Grand Duchy their official language is a mixture of French and German, although at the Rotary Club, the meeting was conducted in French. Although they coin money, Belgian money is more commonly used.

Luxembourg, the capital, is an old fortified town of 50 castles connected by underground passages and ramparts. Count Siegfried I, built the first castle in 963, and as the country was ruled in turn by France, Spain and Austria each added more fortifications.

Although we arrived late in the evening, our friends, the Schultes, were waiting for us. We met them two years ago and we had a most enjoyable reunion.
