Local School District Now Free of Debt

Holland school district has paid off all its debt, Supt. Walter Scott told the Board of Education at its monthly meeting Monday night in E. E. Fell Junior High School.

He said last bonds on the 1953 bond program calling for $900,000 for building Thomas Jefferson School and making improvements at other elementary schools were paid on Sept. 1. There will be public recognition between halves of the football game Friday night at Riverview Park.

The school debt does not take in outstanding debt of the Apple Avenue school district which is now a part of the Holland district. This debt will be paid from taxes levied only in that district until a new bond issue is voted. About $9,000 remains outstanding in a 1953 issue and $112,000 remains outstanding in a 1957 issue.

Supt. Scott gave the following unofficial figures on Holland's 1953 bond issue for $900,000. A total of $967,000 was collected in taxes; delinquent taxes amounted to $3,000; dividends, $30,547; interest paid, $69,566; premiums paid in calling in bonds, $21,600; collection fees, $1,100. A final audit is awaited.

When the 1953 bond issue was voted, terms called for running 18 years through 1971. With the bonds callable, it was paid off in six years.

A discussion on the bond situation led to other improvements, both planned and accomplished, and Building Consultant Arthur Read reported on both subjects. He said office and classroom alterations have been completed in the high school including powered ventilation and storage facilities in the science areas.

In Junior High School, the music department transfer has been completed and the former band room remodeled into library. The former cafeteria kitchen has been converted into new classroom, and two classrooms have been made from the former choral room areas. The new machine shop and new music rooms in the annex building are essentially completed and are in use. A shortage of special acoustical covering and some light fixtures will be remedied in a few days and without interference with classes.

Read also submitted a brief outline of previous detailed plans on caring for an enlarged school district by renovating the present junior high and high schools into a junior high system, building a new high school for 1,500 students, and providing more facilities for elementary needs.

One estimate to meet needs for a district consisting of seven surrounding school districts called for a total of $3,150,000. Another for a smaller district of approximately 3,800 students by 1965 called for $2,050,000.

Read said it would be assumed that the new senior high school should be of economical but enduring architecture, designed on a unit plan with flexibility of many interior partitions to allow for actual changes of classroom spaces when required. It provisions for future expansion would insure that additions of space could be without expense of demolition or alterations. Costs for a new high school building are listed at $1,800,000 for 1,500 students or $1,200,000 for 1,000 students.

Judge Awards 2 Judgments

ALLEGAN (Special)—Two consent judgments were awarded Thursday by Circuit Court Judge Raymond L. Smith to the parents of a four year old girl.

In one judgment, Mrs. Cornelia Jandernoa of Leighton Township filed suit against Jack VanVolkerburg, in the name of her four year old daughter Janis. The plaintiff asked a judgment of $20,000. A judgment of $1,350 was awarded.

Mrs. Jandernoa claimed that her daughter Janis was injured in an accident Aug. 19, 1958, which was caused by VanVolkerburg. As a result of the accident, Janis suffered skull, brain and torso injuries.

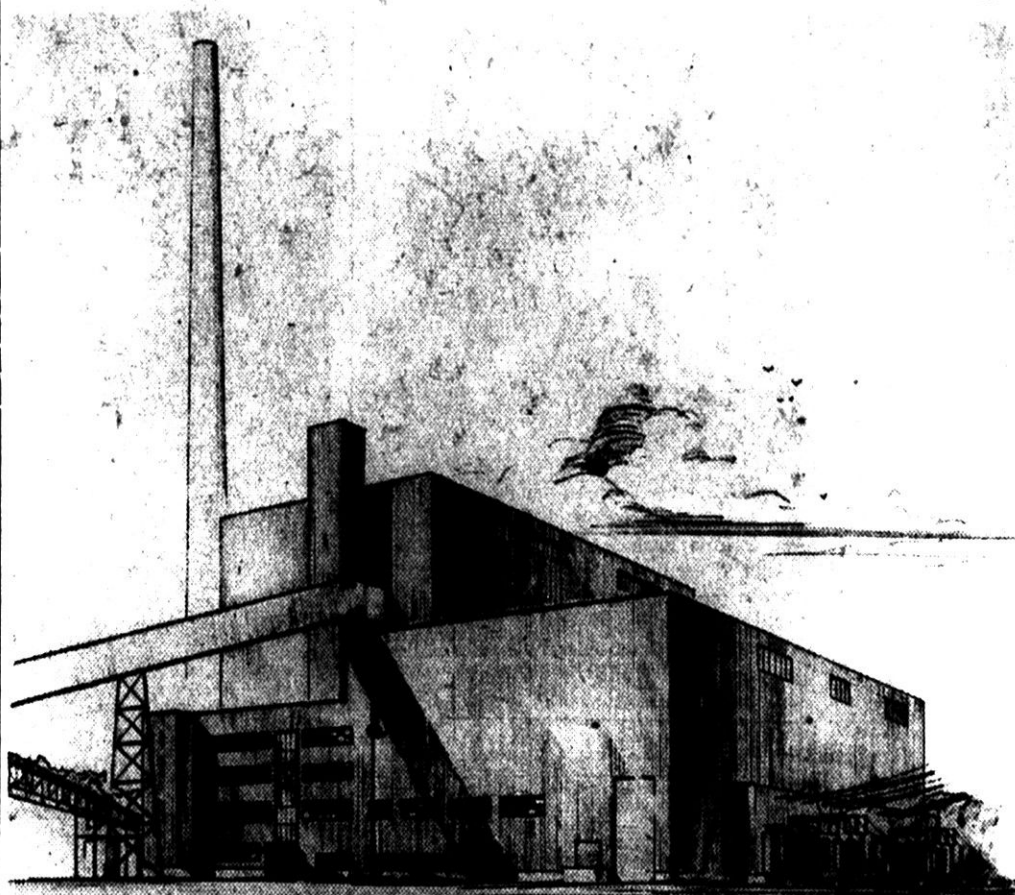

In the other consent judgment, Mr. Jack Jandernoa charged that his daughter suffered pain, disability and distress which will continue into the future. A judgment of $900 was awarded.

Police Go On 'Round-Up' To Corral Stray Horse

Lady Gold, a saddle horse owned by Henry Pothuis of 320 East 24th St., was back in her corral Wednesday after Holland police put an end to her moonlight walk early Wednesday morning.

Police rounded up Lady Gold at South Shore Dr. and Graafschap Rd., about 7 a.m. Wednesday, and led her to the police station, after several residents called to report the stray horse that "just walked by my place."

Pothuis said Lady Gold apparently pushed open the gate on her corral and walked off sometime after 10 p.m. Tuesday. He picked her up at the police station about 8 a.m. Wednesday. Police said Lady Gold apparently caused no damage on her adventure.

SKETCH OF GENERATING STATION—This is the architect's sketch of Consumers Power Company's new steam-electric generating station in Port Sheldon Township on Lake Michigan at the mouth of the Big Pigeon River. The 1,150-acre plant will contain two units of 265,000 kilowatts each and is scheduled to go into operation with the first unit in 1962. Preliminary construction started several months ago and ground for the plant proper will be broken in 1960. The installation will include conventional coal-burning boiler, steam turbine and components, and will produce enough power in its first unit to meet all the electrical requirements for a city the size of Grand Rapids. The plant's first turbine will be supplied by Allis-Chalmers and the architecture and engineering is by Commonwealth Associates, Inc.

Black and Veatch Engineer Explains City's Sewer Needs

Holland's need for a new sewage disposal system was explained to City Council Wednesday night by Tom B. Robinson, engineer for Black and Veatch, consulting engineers of Kansas City, Mo., which firm made recommendations to the Board of Public Works following a complete study of Holland's program the past year.

A special election will be held in the 16 precincts in Holland city Oct. 19 for the purpose of bonding the city for $2,900,000 to bond, ramp and extend the sanitary sewer system. Only persons who own property assessed for taxes will vote, or the husbands or wives of such persons.

Persons not already registered as city voters have until Monday, Sept. 21, to register with the city clerk's office in City Hall. The office is open until 5:30 p.m. on week days, from 8 a.m. to noon on Saturday, and on the final day Monday from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. for the convenience of voters.

Robinson outlined work of the Black and Veatch firm on the local sewer program. Back in 1953 the firm studied the sewage problem and found at that time, that the city system already was overloaded and that relief sewers would have to be constructed. Even then, the Holland system constructed in 1927 was considered obsolete. Because Holland at that time did not contemplate city growth such as has been accomplished the last year or more, only minor interim repairs were made to correct problems.

With annexation programs greatly enlarging the city, the Board of Public Works a year ago asked Black and Veatch to review the situation, and the previous report was brought up to date, with emphasis on the fact that the overloaded situation was even worse than before and the treatment plant taxed even more.

The Black and Veatch report recommended constructing a new plant, deeming it impractical to expand the existing plant. The report also recommended sewer trunks into the new areas, particularly a large relief sewer in Pine Ave. which would relieve the Central Ave. sewer line, as well as extend service into the southern area newly annexed. The new trunks would be of sufficient size to take care of extensions to new areas served by gravity.

The program also includes trunks to the Plasmann Ave. area and South Shore Dr., and east into Holland Heights Area. This basic program designed to serve 30,000 persons would cost an estimated $2,900,000 and should be sufficient until 1975.

Then a question period followed. Councilman Ernest Phillips was assured that even without extensions to new areas in the city, Holland is definitely in need of a new sewage system. This is due to continuing growth as well as changing habits requiring larger usage of water through such appliances as dishwashers, automatic washers, garbage disposers and air conditioning.

Councilman Richard Smith asked about costs to the taxpayers. He was informed that a good share of the cost would be borne by sewage service charges which go into effect in Holland this fall. Costs on taxes would be about 2.8 mills but since the 1958 taxes included approximately 1 mill for sewage operations, the net increase would be 1.8 mills. On a $4,000 assessment, 2.8 mills amount to $11.20 and on 1.8 mills about $7.20.

It was pointed out that millage would decrease as total assessments increase. Mayor Robert Visser pointed out that the millage has decreased for Holland Hospital and Civic Center.

Councilman William Heeringa asked about time on the project.

If the program passes at the Oct. 19 election, Engineer Robinson said work would probably start next summer and the project would take two to three years in all. The financing program calls for 25-year bonds at a 4 per cent rate which Robinson regarded as a realistic figure even for the present money market which is way up. He said general obligation bonds generally are under revenue bonds, pointing to the 4.03 per cent interest rate for the electrical bonds sold here a few weeks ago.

Councilman John Van Eerden was informed that the first sewer lines were laid from 1900 to 1908 in Holland with the present treatment plant built in 1927. Councilman William De Haan was informed that the proposed system should be sufficient until 1975 and that the system is designed so that more units can be added.

City Manager Herb Holt said a week never passes but that somebody refers to an article on new sewage methods which presumably are much more economical than the conventional methods. Engineer Robinson said he probably was referring to the Zimmerman process of the Sterling Drug Co. which is for disposing of sewage solids only. He said such judge digesters are being installed at two plants under construction and that no such systems are actually in operation at present. He said all engineering firms are closely watching the new process, but he doubted they would be economical for small cities.

The entire discussion took just 25 minutes.

Tall, statuesque, Sally Green, who won the title of Miss Fennville on her 16th birthday Saturday, was chosen from a field of eight by a panel of judges which included Carmel Quinn, Irish singing star.

Runners up were Kathy Bishop of Allegan and Miss Martin, 16-year-old Josephine Uzso. The new Queen is a junior at Fennville High School, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Green of route 1, Fennville.

Public School Enrollment Now at 3,698

Holland public schools had a total enrollment of 3,698 as of noon Monday, the Board of Education was informed at its monthly meeting Monday night.

The total represents a decrease of 18 from last year. Largest significant drop is in the ninth grade which lists 287 students, compared with 478 last year.

There is a possibility that eighth grades from Montello Park and Maplewood Schools may join the local eighth grade. Montello Park district votes next Monday on annexing to the Holland district.

Enrollment by schools follows: Apple Avenue, 75; Jefferson, 347; Lincoln, 373; Longfellow, 394; Van Raalte, 311; Washington, 285; total elementary, 1,785; junior high, 748; senior high, 1,165; grand total, 3,698.

Enrollment by grades follows: Kindergarten, 296; first, 261; second, 263; third, 226; fourth, 225; fifth, 219; sixth, 228; seventh, 242; eighth, 203; ninth, 288; 10th, 287; 11th, 463; 12th, 415; special education, 80; grand total, 2,698.

The finance committee submitted a report on last year's audit which revealed a per capita cost per student for the year ending last June 30 of $357.91. Broken down, this includes: administration, $12.96; instruction, $291.26; operation, $38.02; maintenance, $8.03; fixed charges, $5.9; auxiliary and coordinate, $2.63; total, $357.91. Supt. Walter Scott said this figure might be a little higher than the average due to services offered.

The report also disclosed four of the 36 individual accounts in the Student Activity Fund showed deficits, but investigation revealed that three had shortages of about $1 which represented an audit charge, and one had a deficit of some $7 but was awaiting a release of state funds which would more than offset this deficit.

With the school cafeteria made into classrooms, a cafeteria account of $2,000.27 was distributed as follows: JHS instruction, $60; secondary texts, $170; elementary library, $335.09; JHS library, $335.09; HHS library, $335.09; maintenance of furniture and equipment for Junior High, $85; capital outlay—furniture and equipment for Junior High, $660.

Supt. Scott credited Holland people with a fine record in tax payments. He said delinquent taxes in the years 1952 and 1953 amounted to less than $100 and were charged off. Total delinquent taxes for the five-year period ending in 1958 amounted to $12,202.89. The largest amount in 1958 represented slightly over one per cent of the levy.

He added that while city taxes were higher this summer, school taxes actually were lower.

Scott also announced that Van Raalte district appeal to the State Board of Education to transfer about 10 per cent of its district to an adjoining district will be heard Wednesday at 10:45 a.m. in Lansing.

This request was previously turned down by the Ottawa County Board of Education.

Queen Saskia will be a guest of Hope College during her brief visit and will be introduced at the All-College Variety Program in Diment Memorial Chapel at 8 p.m. as the guest of honor. She will speak briefly at the event. At 9 p.m. she will attend the all-college dance in Holland Armory and will be escorted by the senior class president, Mel Ver Steeg.

NEWSPAPERS, OLD AND NEW—Herman Kiekintveld, who started work with the Holland Sentinel just 50 years ago today, displays a current newspaper and one dated Sept. 23, 1909, issued just one week after he first started work as a newsboy. During World War I, Herm started full time at the Sentinel, earning $1 a day. Back in those days the paper was known as the Holland Daily Sentinel. (Sentinel photo)

Herm Started Work With Sentinel Just 50 Years Ago

It was just 50 years ago Wednesday that Herman Kiekintveld came to work for The Sentinel.

Back on Sept. 16, 1909, Herm was just 11 years old and he was hired as a newsboy. That was when The Sentinel was published in a building next to the DuMez store on East Eighth St. Press-time was anywhere from 4 p.m. to midnight and newsboys played hide and seek in large wooden packing boxes behind the DuMez building.

In the 50 years that have elapsed, Herm has seen The Sentinel grow into a full fledged daily employing some 50 fulltime persons and he has seen the city grow in like manner.

In the early years as newsboy, Herm earned $1 a week for peddling papers and doing a few odd jobs at the newspaper plant. Then he became a fulltime employee during World War I and earned the munificent sum of $1 a day. He learned to set heads, set copy, melt type metal, and fold papers. The newspaper was run off as a single sheet at a time, coming off the press in flat bundles of 500 sheets folded two times. These had to be laid out and run through a drum cylinder press which took four or five hours. Later The Sentinel got a flat bed press.

Those days are in definite contrast to prestime at The Sentinel today when papers roll on a new 40-page Goss press in a new wing at speeds up to 30,000 an hour. Daily run is over 13,000 today.

Herm followed The Sentinel when it moved to the second floor of what is now the Owl restaurant on River Ave., and to the present plant on West Eighth St. after C. A. French purchased the newspaper in 1928.

Equally as significant has been the growth in the community. Herm remembers when the round house was located at the tracks between 11th and 12th Sts. Sam Miller operated a restaurant at bus, Ohio, Evansville, Ind., Pittsburgh, Pa., Baltimore Md., Richmond, Va., Chattanooga, Tenn., Oklahoma City, Okla., Redstone Arsenal and Guided Missile School. She plans to leave New York about Oct. 18.

At appropriate times, she wears the traditional Volendam costume of her native Holland city, lacy cap and wooden shoes.

Saugatuck Landmark In Ruins

SAUGATUCK (Special)—The Mount Baldhead Hotel, a two-story frame landmark since 1900 and located on Water St., on the east side of the Kalamazoo River, burned to the ground late Tuesday afternoon with losses estimated at more than $75,000, fire officials said.

The fire in the 37-room hotel was believed to have started in a group of appliances in the kitchen. It completely destroyed the hotel's south wing and left a shell of the north wing. No one was injured in the fire.

Saugatuck Fire Chief Bill Wilson said the alarm was turned in at 5:05 p.m. by Mrs. Henry Hungerford of Saugatuck and when firemen arrived the building was completely engulfed in flames.

Firemen from Holland and Douglas were called immediately, Wilson said, and a dozen Holland firemen, under Capt. Teno Vande Water, arrived at 5:30 p.m. with a pumper truck. Including volunteers, about 50 firemen battled the blaze and had it under control at about 7 p.m.

Wilson said the fire may have started in any one of the appliances, two refrigerators, a deep freeze and a hot water heater, all located against one wall in the kitchen.

Only a bumper pool table and a soft drink cooler were saved in the fire, Wilson said. Wilson praised the speed with which the Holland firemen got to the scene.

Smoke could be seen for several miles and attracted many spectators. Saugatuck police and state police from the South Haven State Police post diverted traffic away from the fire.

Firemen had difficulty getting the screens off the second floor windows and had trouble getting at the fire on the second floor.

Three cruisers which were tied up at the dock were pulled to safety by outboard motor boats but the dock was destroyed. The Island Queen, excursion boat, docked nearby, was moved up the river.

Saugatuck firemen remained at the scene until 1:30 a.m. and Wilson had four men remain through the night.

Hotel owners Mr. and Mrs. W. B. (Bud) Edgcomb were at the Allegan Fair when the fire broke out and returned about 6 p.m. Edgcomb said he checked every room before leaving for the Fair.

A sales convention of 40 men from the Goodyear Tire Co., of Indianapolis, Ind., were in the hotel over the weekend and checked out at 4 p.m.

Maintenance man Raymond (Barney) Cartwright of Saugatuck reported he was sleeping in the hotel and ran out when he saw the flames.

Edgcomb said the building is covered by insurance. He plans to tear the rest of the building down but doesn't have any immediate plans for rebuilding. The Edgcombs lost all of their personal belongings.

They purchased the hotel four years ago from Harry Jackson of Saugatuck. Jackson said he had operated the hotel for about 35 years.

The building, which was estimated by Jackson to be more than 100 years old, was formerly located at the east end of Water St. and was built originally as a shingle factory and was later used as a warehouse. The building was moved to its present site around 1900, Jackson said.

Edgcomb said the hotel had closed on Labor Day with the end of the resort season.

Sparks from the fires jumped the river and started a few small grass fires on the west bank of the river according to ex-Saugatuck Police Chief Joe Dempski.

Many of the Saugatuck firemen were attending a Lions Club outing at the Douglas golf course. Bud Bekken, owner of one of the cruisers tied up at the dock, was notified of the fire while on the golf course and was fighting the fire in his golf shoes.

Muhamet is charged in the death of Patrick Boyd McCarthy, 17, West Olive, who was fatally injured when Muhamet's truck struck him on the shoulder of US-31 a mile north of M-50 Aug. 8. McCarthy and a companion, Leroy Hiltman, were repairing a motorcycle at the time. Hiltman was critically injured was released from a Muskegon Hospital last Saturday.

Emergency Vehicles Need Right of Way

An urgent plea to motorists to quickly yield the right of way to emergency vehicles using sirens or flashers or both, was issued today by Ottawa County deputies.

Deputies said there have been several instances recently in which motorists have failed or refused to permit a cruiser or ambulance, rushing to the scene of an accident, to pass. They stated that it is more than stubborn discourtesy; it is a needless risk of human life.

All emergency vehicles, sheriff's department, police or state police cruisers, ambulances, fire fighting and rescue vehicles carry equipment and trained men capable of saving the lives of critically injured persons, if brought to the scene in time.

Delaying these vehicles also increases the danger of additional injury and destruction at the scene, caused by a lack of trained men and equipment to divert or direct traffic, remove injured persons from danger areas, or stop fires from spreading.

Individual motorists are asked to remember the serious consequences of obstructing the path of these vehicles. Deputies said that from now on, drivers who do not pull out of the path of a vehicle with a siren or flasher will be arrested.

Injuries Hit Hope; Mack Breaks Thumb

Paul Mack, Hope College's first string quarterback, broke his right thumb Friday and will be lost to the Flying Dutchman for two weeks. Coach Russ De Vette reported today.

Mack, a Holland junior, is Hope's top passer and the break is on his passing hand. He must wear a cast for two weeks. Dr. Otto van der Velde, team physician said.

Several Hope players were sidelined with injuries this week. The Hope training room was a busy place Friday as the players sought relief from muscle injuries.

First string guard Chuck Truby missed practice because of a pulled back muscle while starting tackle George Peelen pulled a leg muscle during the drill.

Halfback Bob Bonnette has a pulled thigh muscle and halfback Bob Teall pulled a muscle in his hip. Guards Kurt Van Gendern and Elmer Phail and tackle Ralph Jackson have been bothered with pulled leg muscles and Gordon Nederveld has an injured shoulder.

Ron Busch, reserve guard, will be lost for a couple of weeks with a chipped bone in his ankle. Sharky Vander Woude is still out with a broken blood vessel in his elbow and Paul Watt is still recovering from a truck accident.

Duane Voskuil, starting right halfback on the "5c club, still has not reported for practice. Voskuil had a summer job in Germany and coaches believe he had difficulty booking passage for this return.

Hope, despite all of the injuries, formed two teams this morning and held a game-type scrimmage at Riverview Park.

Howie Glupker, freshman from Grand Rapids South, ran the first string from the quarterback spot. Jerry Hendrickson and Jim Mohr were the halfbacks and Steve Slaght, fullback.

Ron Boeve and Ron Bronson ran at the ends with Peelen, Mike Blough and John Hubbard at the tackles and Gene Van Dongen and Bill Huibregtse at guards. Ty Rupp ran at guard and also at fullback while Jim Vander Wege worked at center.

Put Out Dump Fires
Holland firemen went to the city dump at the foot of College Ave. at 4:30 p.m. Thursday after officials decided the high winds made the dump fires a hazard. Firemen were on the scene for 40 minutes putting down the fires, officials said, and workers smothered the fires by bulldozing dirt over them.

New Rule Effects Penalties Called Inside 30-Yard-Line

Holland High and Hope College football teams will be playing under a new rule this season which says that a 15-yard penalty inside the 30-yard-line and a five-yard penalty inside the 10-yard-line shall be half the distance to the goal line.

This rule was approved by the Michigan Athletic Association and the NCAA. In Michigan it marks the return to a rule which was in effect prior to 1948.

Under the new rule, the penalty applies from the 30-yard-line goalward. The 15-yard half-distance provision is only in effect inside the 30-yard-line while the five-yard penalty is in effect inside the 10-yard-line.

For example, Hope College is playing Albion College and Albion, the defensive team, commits a violation on the Albion 20-yard-line calling for a 15-yard penalty. Hope would be awarded the ball on the 10-yard-line rather than on the five-yard-line.

Or in the case of the five-yard penalty, take as an example that

Holland is playing South and Holland is on the South five-yard-line when South is charged with offense. Rather than the ball moving to the one-yard-line as in the past, the ball will go to the two-and-a-half-yard-line.

The rule is in effect at both ends of the field. At the other end of the field, take for example if Holland was on its 14-yard-line and received a 15-yard penalty, the Dutch would be penalized to the seven-yard-line rather than back to the one as in the past.

But if Holland was on its own 14-yard-line on offense and South committed the foul, then the ball would go the full distance, 15 yards out to the 29-yard-line.

In the past a 15-yard penalty inside the 15-yard-line meant the ball was moved to the one-yard-line. The same was true on a five-yard penalty which occurred inside the five.

The change in rules reduces the possibility of penalty for a minor infraction being equivalent to awarding a touchdown.

Dutchmen Plan Baseball Team In Holland Again Next Season

The Holland Dutchmen, after enjoying one of their most successful seasons in a number of years, will again field a baseball team in 1960. Although they failed to profit financially, crowds at home games during the first half of the season indicated a reviving interest in independent baseball.

"We should do even better next year," Gabe Kuite, winding up his fifth year as president of the Dutchmen Boosters Club, said as he pondered the future of the club after it was discontinued last year because of lack of interest and support.

The team and club officials staged a picnic Thursday night at Kamp Kwanis and discussed plans for next season and reviewed the progress of this season.

Kuite said one of the biggest reasons the team (formerly called the Flying Dutchmen but which now plays under the name H. E. Morse) decided to reorganize was because of the higher caliber of players.

"We had a good ball club, one that had to come from behind to win a lot of games," he said. "Some of our former (American) Legion players learned quite a bit in their first year with the club and should be right in there next year."

Kuite said that attendances at home games climbed throughout the first part of the year but started to decline when three players took time off to play in the National Baseball Congress tournament last month in Wichita, Kan.

He also pointed out that the "outside" (Southwest Invitational) tournament in Holland caused the attendance to drop off the last month of the season. "All those (tourney) games made it impossible to schedule our own games," he said. "We're hoping to sponsor our own tournament here next year," he added.

The total paid attendance at 19 home games in Riverview Park was just under 2,500, an average of about 131 per game. The overall attendance at home was approximately 3,800 or 300 persons per game.

The largest paid attendance was recorded on July 4 when 249 fans bought tickets to see the Dutchmen play the Chic Painters of Grand Rapids in a feature game.

The average expenditure per home game, which includes balls, bats and other equipment, umpires, use of field and lighting, ran well over $30, according to records compiled by Mrs. Kuite, Booster Club treasurer. Ticket sales were handled mostly by Booster Club members who sold season tickets to Holland area merchants and businessmen, and also by selling at the gate. Harold Peerbolt directed the ticket sales.

Kuite expressed his hope that the Dutchmen, first-year members of the Southwestern Michigan Baseball Conference, would get into a new league next year. "Under the setup this season, we had to bear the brunt of the expenses of all those home games," he said. All but two of Holland's 14 league games were played in Riverview Park.

Kuite felt that despite an average showing the second half of the season the Dutchmen could do well in a new and stronger league. "Russ Woldring did a really fine job in managing the club, and that brought out the best in a lot of players," he said.

Kuite also lauded members of the Boosters Club for their work connected with the team. Among them were Russ Vande Poel, who scheduled the games; Ray Wilkins, club secretary; Mrs. Kuite and Peerbolt.

Christian School Enrollment Up Over Last Year's Figures

Enrollment figures released Saturday by Supt. Bert P. Bos of the Holland Christian Schools showed that there was an overall increase of 39 pupils over last September. Total enrollment in the local school system is 2,422 compared to 2,383 students last year.

The biggest increase of students came in the junior high grades (seven and eight) with a gain of 56 for a total of 338 compared to last year's 282 figure. The next biggest increase came in the kindergarten with a boost of 26 pupils.

This year's kindergarten class of 211 pupils is the biggest in the history of the school Bos reported. Offsetting the big increase in these two departments is a one pupil loss in the total elementary and a 16 student drop in the high school.

The enrollment total in the elementary, including kindergarten, is 1,301 compared to 1,302 last year. The high school this year records a 783 figure compared to last year's 799.

By schools the figures show 471 in the Central and Fifteenth Street Schools; 446 in the South Side; 262 in Maplewood; 224 in Rose Park and 236 in West Side.

Enrollment by grades show kindergarten, 211; first, 189; second, 189; third, 174; fourth, 198; fifth, 165; sixth, 175; seventh, 198; eighth, 140; ninth, 176; 10th, 205; 11th, 215 and 12th, 187.

An interesting sidelight on the enrollment figures, compiled by Bos, shows that in the 10 year period from 1949 to 1959, the enrollment in grades eight and below has increased by 96 per cent. From 1954 the enrollment in these grades has jumped 30 per cent, he said.

The superintendent also reported that the new figures show that the teaching load of teachers in grades 1-6 is about 32 pupils per teacher. Meanwhile the three kindergarten teachers are responsible for 65, 70 and 76 pupils respectively, Bos said. He said there are still 14 out of 37 teachers in grades 1-6 with 35 or more pupils in their rooms.

The high school pupil teacher ratio is just over 30, he said while the load of the junior high teachers is almost 34, he said.

Glen Rocky Dies of Injuries Received in Crash at Marne

MARNE (Special) — Glen Rocky of Muskegon died early today in Grand Rapids Butterworth Hospital of head injuries received here Saturday night when he crashed headon into the concrete retaining wall during the 25-mile feature race at the Berlin Raceway.

Glen Rocky ... second Marne fatality

Rocky, 32-year-old veteran driver, had forged into second place past Ralph Baker of Saugatuck on the 28th lap of the 50-lap event and then hit the wall.

The impact at an estimated 80-100 miles an hour speed completely disintegrated the car. A mechanical failure of the steering mechanism or a stuck throttle caused the crash, track observers said.

Rocky, who was the point leader at the Marne track this summer, was unconscious when taken from the car and rushed to the Grand Rapids hospital.

It was the second death in the history of the Marne track. Walter Galaski of Coopersville died of injuries received in a smashup last year.

Another accident occurred in the featured race when a blown tire sent Bud Meyering crashing through the cement wall on the 37th lap. Meyering was admitted to St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Rapids on Sunday.

Gordy Vander Laan of Grand Rapids turned in one of his best driving performances of a 10-year career to win the 25-mile season championship race for super modified stock cars before 4,200 fans.

Following Vander Laan across the finish line were Dick Carter, Jim Flint, Bob Knight, Bill Sherman, Ed Vander Laan, John Logan, Norm Brown and Jim Born.

Title honors in the strictly stock car main event went to Mort Anderson of Greenville.

Herm Ten Brink of Holland was a heat race winner in the strictly stock car event along with Flint, Flip Thompson and Bob Diephouse of Muskegon.

KALAMAZOO SHOPPING MALL.

Have you visited the shopping Mall at Kalamazoo? We have, and we hope that many people from this area also have taken advantage of this opportunity. No doubt many also have had occasion to visit the Toledo Mall.

Shopping Malls and beautifying the main street or shopping areas near the center of cities could become a civic trend as time passes and this could serve in helping to beautify areas all over the country. With communities becoming older, there is always room for improvement. We find that whole areas are being torn down and new modern buildings are appearing in their places along with the shopping malls and parking facilities.

The two cities mentioned have taken a definite stand. While Kalamazoo has put in a permanent mall, Toledo is still on a trial basis.

A year ago Grand Haven closed part of their downtown area for a Mall on their main street and for a while we thought this was a step in the right direction. However, people in that community were of divided opinions and after several weeks, it was discontinued. This year very attractive flower boxes were placed on the main street.

The parking problem is ever with us and many of us who work downtown use the parking meters at times to the disadvantage of people who might want to use them for a few minutes to transact their business. Our new parking lots and the face lifting and remodeling of fronts and backs of stores are progressing slowly.

From information at hand the Kalamazoo Mall has been a success financially as well as pleasing and attractive. It also is a safe place for people to shop. From our observations we are sure that the people are enjoying the Malls with the plantings, the freedom from traffic as well as the civic pride. Both Kalamazoo and Toledo, Ohio, have received national publicity and this is all to the good.

Think it over, people, and then if you have time in your busy day write your opinion for publication. Please hold it to 300 words and sign your name and address.

God's Promise of Peace
(Book of Zechariah)
Zechariah 7:8-12; 8:4-8; 12:13
By C. P. Dame
(Based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and used by permission.)

We are living in a world of many troubles, much tension, grievous unrest and a universal longing for peace. We talk about peace but we make preparation for war and we continue the cold war. This lesson tells us about peace. It is the kind of a lesson that gives hope.

I. God demands right conduct. The prophet Zechariah was born in exile and came to Jerusalem for a definite purpose. His name means, "he whom Yahweh remembers." He was young in years but he worked with Haggai, a prophet who was older. The two made a fine team. These two men lived in a time of discouragement. In the year 536 B.C. the Babylonians had carried the Jews into captivity. They had destroyed both the city and its temple. Cyrus conquered Babylon in 539 B.C. He gave permission to the Jews in captivity to return to Palestine and a number of them did so. They began building a new temple but they were stopped. This discouraged the people. For a number of years nothing was done to finish building the temple, the people were all busy building their own houses. Zechariah preached from the year 520 B.C. to 516 B.C. encouraging the nation to build the temple.

A delegation from Bethel had come to Zechariah with a question about a religious feast—should it be kept up? In answer the prophet said that God demands right behavior. The Lord is primarily concerned about executing judgment, showing mercy and compassion, and about stopping exploiting widows, orphans, strangers, and the poor. A religion that expresses itself only in feasts and ceremonies displeases God.

II. Man may refuse to obey God. In times past many objected to God and the same is true today. The prophet reminded his hearers how their fathers had refused to listen to the prophets sent to them, "they refused to hear, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their ears, that they should not hear." Some people hear the Word of God with their ears but it does not touch the heart and hence they do not change their ways. Hardness of heart is not peculiar to any particular age. Sinners harden their hearts against God.

III. The Christian religion is a religion of hope. The Old Testament prophets saw the tragic conditions of their times but they spoke of a glorious future. Zechariah predicted a wonderful future for Jerusalem. In there would be old men and women. It is a credit to a city when its old people, living in retirement are content and happy. In addition there would be many boys and girls playing in the streets. The city that does not hold in high regard its children and young people has a low standard. On the other hand the city that makes abundant provision for its young people is progressive. When there are both old and young people in a city the prospects for growth are commendable.

Kindly note that the blessing of God will bring both spiritual and material rewards. The people who know that they belong to the Lord and the Lord belongs to them are a contented people. And when a people obey the Lord and keep His commandments material blessings follow. Zechariah spoke of material blessings. It is still true that the practice of Christian principles brings peace of heart and mind and material blessings. God wanted Israel to be a blessing—not a curse—and He longs to see His people today to receive blessings and to be a blessing.

operating in emergency areas. When Mrs. Lambers and 14-year-old Darlene Eshenaur of 472 West 19th St. went around to the doctors they received an estimated half-ton of assorted drugs and medical supplies worth an estimated $3,000. Wednesday Miss Eshenaur, Franks, and Mrs. Lambers (left to right) loaded a truck with the drugs which will be sorted, listed, and sent to Formosa on U.S. Navy ships.

Sentence Imposed in Sewer Case

J. Lindsay Miller, 45, of 495 Lincoln Ave., who was found guilty of putting in a private sewer system at his home without a permit and not in accordance with health department regulations, was sentenced by Municipal Judge Cornelius vander Meulen Friday to pay $25 fine and $9.50 costs. A 15-day jail sentence will be suspended if a sewer system is installed in accordance with health department requirements within 10 days.

City Sanitarian James H. Hensley signed the complaint against Miller Aug. 20 and Miller pleaded not guilty the following day. At the trial Aug. 27, Judge vander Meulen took the case under advisement and found Miller guilty on Sept. 3.

At the time he found Miller guilty, Judge vander Meulen issued a lengthy opinion which likely will be set a precedent for other septic tank sewer systems. In it the judge pointed to dangers of draining sewage into a public stream which children find attractive and he pointed to possibilities of spreading disease and contamination, both to children who like to play in such streams and to persons living on said stream below the Miller residence or other persons using the stream for various purposes.

The opinion pointed out that Miller had begun to construct a dry well within 16 feet of the stream which is in violation of the ordinance. The opinion also quoted Hensley's July 2 letter to Miller which stated: "Waste lines from your dwelling were expelling sewage into a water way which is in direct violation of city and state laws. You are requested to make application with this office for a permit and make corrections as required by law."

Another letter dated July 9 requested Miller to appear at the sanitarian's office to show cause why legal action should not be taken. Testimony shows Miller did appear in response to one of these letters and that there was a discussion about the matter but no indication that a any definite plans were submitted for approval to the city sanitarian. On Aug. 20, Miller had commenced to dig a dry well without having obtained permission, resulting in the complaint.

The board also made plans for a "John R. Dethmers Day" to be observed Oct. 28, put on by the Ottawa County Bar Association. Dethmers started out as an attorney in Zeeland, became justice of the peace, then prosecutor of the county, followed by attorney general and finally chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court.

The board adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

Exchange Teacher From Chile Will Teach Spanish Here

A newcomer to the Holland High School faculty this year is Julia A. Fernandez of Temuco, Chile, here as an exchange teacher under the Fulbright commission.

Miss Fernandez, a petite seniorita from the sister continent, will teach first and second year Spanish in the high school while Mrs. Margaret Lashua of Holland teaches English in Santiago. Miss Fernandez' home town of Temuco lies south of Santiago, the capital of Chile, the long, long country which is only 221 miles wide but extends 2,627 miles along the west coast of South America.

Back home in Temuco, Miss Fernandez taught English. And back home in Holland Mrs. Lashua taught Spanish. Now they both teach their native languages. That's turnabout fair play.

Miss Fernandez, who has had several years' experience on the high school or liceo level (Spanish term for secondary school which includes both junior high and high school), expects to place emphasis on conversational Spanish in teaching classes here.

She will be here for one year only... at least that's what her visa provides. On her arrival she stayed for a time with Ruby Calvert and Gladys Wiskamp of the high school faculty, but now that school has started, she is making her home with Miss Gertrude Ede, Spanish teacher at E. E. Fell Junior High School.

Miss Fernandez' teaching assignments in the high school are not as yet associated with the elementary Spanish program. For several years, elementary schools have been teaching Spanish or German starting in the fourth grade. The German program has now reached into the ninth and 10th grades in the high school and Spanish has extended to the eighth grade in junior high.

For those students pursuing foreign languages, classes are held twice a week alternating with gym classes during the seventh and eighth grades, but full credit courses for German are available in the ninth grade. In time, both foreign language programs will be coordinated with the high school program.

Julia A. Fernandez

Miss Fernandez is not a newcomer to America. She spent her junior year at Wheaton College in Norton, Mass., and then returned to graduate from the University of Santiago with a degree as state teacher, majoring in English.

The tiny teacher (five feet, 98 pounds) likes Holland and the United States. "People are so friendly and informal here," she said. "They are genuinely interested in newcomers and anxious to make one feel at home."

Man is more like our Creator, I think, when he shows his love even to the dumb and helpless who cannot know Him or say their thanks.

Edmund Harling, Viscount Allardycce

Give $1.00 Worth of Love

In the year ended last July your Ottawa County Humane Society Shelter admitted nearly 4,000 animals.

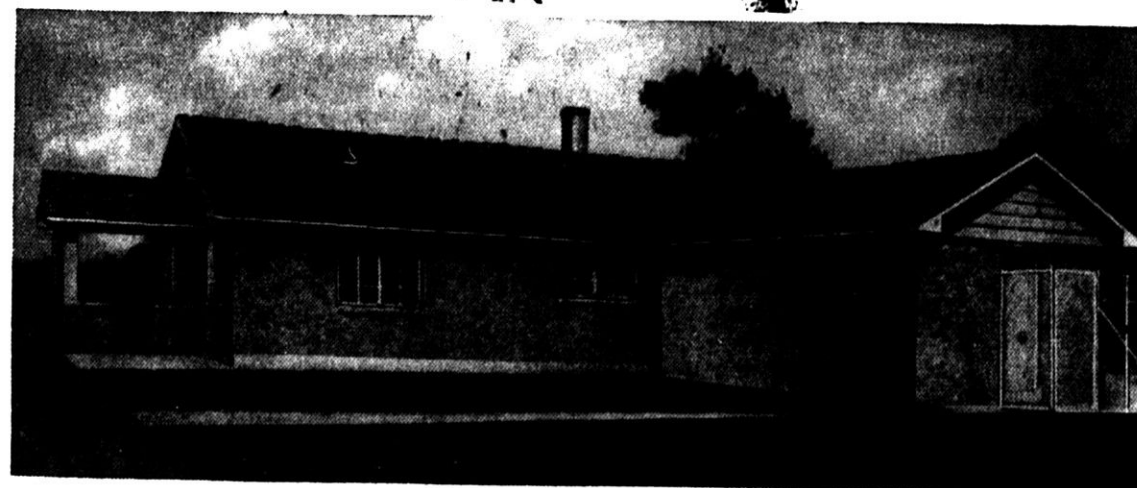

Some 850 of these were placed in good homes where they are repaying human kindness with love and devotion.

Hundreds of others, the lost and strayed, were gratefully redeemed by their owners.

The sick and the unwanted were mercifully put to sleep.

Our humane mission is made possible only by voluntary contributions: the Society receives no tax support. A small contribution from you will enable your Humane Society to continue this work of caring for the dumb, the helpless, the lost. Though these creatures themselves may never know the many hands that helped them, you will know your good works.

When the solicitor calls on you during the membership campaign which starts tomorrow, please give our appeal your serious consideration. Adult memberships in the society are only $1.00; children's, 50c. If no solicitor calls at your home within the next few days, your contribution mailed to the shelter will be especially appreciated.
