Water Big Subject for City Council

City Council was beset with water propositions Wednesday night. It resolved the first one fairly easily, unanimously approving a water main in Washington Ave. from 32nd St. to nearly 48th St., following a public hearing which took only about 10 minutes.

But on proposals to furnish water outside the city, Council hit a snag in its parliamentary procedure and there was considerable confusion before conclusions were reached. In the final analysis, all propositions were referred to the Board of Public Works and the Planning Commission for study.

The first communication came from the Chamber of Commerce recommending that Council take action to grant city water privileges to existing industrial plants in the Beechwood area which make the necessary application for such services.

The confusion arose after Councilman Bertal Slagb moved that this communication together with requests from Holland Chemical and Chemical Co. and Conrad, Inc., be referred to the Board of Public Works for study and report of costs by next Council meeting.

Councilman Henry Steffens suggested that the Planning Commission be included in this study. Then Randall C. Bosch, president of the Board of Public Works, suggested that the Chamber communication and the specific requests from the two firms be kept separate in the study since there is more urgency in the latter than in the former.

Then ensued a rambling discussion on the total picture in which Bosch expressed the hope that one day the northside would be part of the city. Councilman Morris Peerbolt made a substitute motion to simplify the matter, referring the chamber communication to the Board of Public Works for study and report, and possibly consulting the Planning Commission.

Tulip Time New Features Considered

Several suggestions for new features for the 1962 Tulip Time Festival were submitted by Tulip Time Manager Chester S. Walz at a meeting of the Tulip Time board of directors Tuesday afternoon.

Some ideas involve big names as attractions as well as making full use of facilities for entertainment such as staging concerts and square dances on Saturday night as well as a variety program so that visitors could have a choice. A letter from Carter Brown of The Castle outlined suggestions for providing a setting of canals and a windmill for klompen dancing along with bleachers. The proposal was referred back to Brown for further study.

Plans also are under consideration for more bleachers along the parade route, particularly for Saturday's parade of bands. Use of movable bleachers last year proved successful, particularly on Saturday.

Charles Stewart, vice president of Holland Die Casting Co., was appointed grand marshal of the Saturday parade, succeeding Paul Van Valkenburgh who resigned the post recently when he became Legion commander. Stewart also is active in Legion work.

Park Superintendent Jacob De Graaf was appointed to take charge of a Tulip Time photographic contest. It was pointed out that prints and films could be used for festival promotion in the future.

Attending Tuesday's meeting were President Nelson Bosman, Donald Thomas, Mrs. Fred Stanton, Henry S. Maentz, Jacob De Graaf, Chester Walz, William H. Van de Water, Dwight Ferris and George Lumsden.

Resthaven Guild Board Plans Year's Activities

Resthaven Guild Executive board met Tuesday afternoon for a desert and business meeting at the home of Mrs. John Kobes, treasurer of the guild.

Plans for the fall and winter activities were formulated. Women's organizations of about 60 churches have membership in the guild whose purpose is to assist the board of Resthaven Patrons, Inc., in every way possible. The present project is the furnishing of the new wing of Resthaven home.

Guild meetings are open to all women and programs, both entertaining and inspirational, stress fellowship among women of Holland and surrounding areas. Individual memberships are voluntary and guests are always welcome.

Meetings are held on the fourth Friday evening of each month in various churches. Friday of this week the guild will meet in Graafschap Christian Reformed Church at 7:30.

Mrs. Opal Manthey, president of Unit No. 45, Michigan National Hirdressers and Cosmetologists Association attended an executive meeting in Lansing last weekend.

Calvin Alumni Plan Meeting

The annual fall meeting of the Holland-Zeeland Chapter of the Calvin Alumni will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in Bethany Christian Reformed Church.

Speaker for the evening will be Dr. Marion Snapper, Calvin College education department. He will speak on "The Role of the School in Changing Society."

Election will be held for several vacancies on the Alumni Board. Retiring officers are the Rev. James Lont, vice president, Mrs. John Tibbe, assistant secretary and Arthur Brink, treasurer. Dr. James Strikwerda will preside. Coffee and a social time will follow.

Persons who have attended Calvin College at any time are invited as well as husbands and wives of alumni.

Zeeland Asks Holland to Sell Water

City Council Wednesday night took under study a proposition submitted by Zeeland city to purchase water from Holland.

The proposition came in a letter from Zeeland Mayor D. C. Bloemendal, based largely on a report of Black and Veatch, consulting engineers of Kansas City, Mo., which studied Zeeland's water problems. The Kansas City firm had designed Holland's $3,000,000 water system back in the early 1950's.

The proposal lists three main features:

1. Zeeland would have to take all water at off-peak periods on the Holland system.

2. Zeeland could not sell water outside its city limits.

3. Zeeland should make a sizeable cash payment to Holland at the time agreement is negotiated.

Engineering reports revealed Zeeland's water requirements may reach 3.8 million gallons on a day of maximum use 30 years in the future. To meet such demand and satisfy the requirement of taking water in the off-peak period, it would be necessary to have facilities capable of delivering water to Zeeland at a rate of 7.6 million gallon per day during night time off-peak hours.

Required facilities would include:

1. A 20-inch transmission line from Holland to Zeeland.

2. 1.25 million gallon water storage reservoir in Zeeland.

3. Booster pumping station adjacent to new storage reservoir.

4. In 1974, a booster pumping station and an additional million-gallon reservoir in Zeeland. Cost of first three items is estimated at $631,000.

The proposal lists a cash prepayment to Holland of $150,000. With allowances for existing reserves, plus the $631,000 for new facilities, Zeeland would need a $780,000 bonding program.

Under a rate study, Zeeland fees Holland is entitled to a 6 per cent rate of return plus a 2 per cent depreciation rate for that portion of its system used in producing and delivering water for Zeeland. Zeeland also should pay Holland the actual commodity cost (chemicals, power and labor) for each thousand gallons purchased. The rate proposed consists of an annual service charge, increasing over the years as demands and use increase, and a commodity charge.

Under the proposal, Holland would realize a profit ranging from $22,000 a year in 1963 to $36,000 per year in 1981. This income would be in addition to the $150,000 cash prepayment.

Mayor Bloemendal's letter concluded with the suggestion that the Boards of Public Works of both Holland and Zeeland carefully study the proposal.

There was no discussion on the Zeeland offer and it appeared that the subject would be studied a long time before any decision is reached. For several years, Council has followed a policy of not making water available outside the city. Some exceptions have been made in the case of schools and industry but Council action was required in each instance.

GRAND RAPIDS—P. Ray Gemen, 134 West 31st St., Holland, was elected secretary of Independent Accountants Association of Michigan at the 14th annual convention which closed Tuesday in Grand Rapids. Meetings were held in the Pantlind Hotel.

Other officers named were G. Winston Sheffield of Grand Rapids, president; H. D. Weir of Detroit, vice president; Morris Williams of Detroit, treasurer; Lee Hurley of Marshall, auditor.

Guest speakers were Ray Jenkinson, executive director of the National Society of Public Accountants, from Washington, D. C.; Norman Holland of La Grange, Ill., vice president of the National Society and W. Slater of Columbus, Ohio, Governor of Fifth District of NSPA. Robert Geronowski of Lansing, a legal counsel of Gov. John Swainson, spoke at the banquet Monday evening.

Suzenaar said it was hard to get an accurate estimate on the number of shelters in the area since some people don't like to apply for building permits; others don't want the neighbors to know, and some don't even want their relatives to know. But Suzenaar estimated at least 100 private shelters in the local area, and pointed out that several businesses and industries are planning shelters in their place of business.

He said public shelters are fine in case of bombings, thereby providing protection from blindness, etc., but in the hour and a half (or thereabouts) after a bomb hit most people want to be with their families and head for home. A two-week period in a bomb shelter is indicated for protection from fallout.

Suzenaar said the fallout count is up locally, but it is not alarming or dangerous. He said governing bodies should give leadership in the survival program and be pointed to moral responsibility.

2,809 Pupils Enrolled at West Ottawa

An opening enrollment of 2,809 pupils for the West Ottawa school district was reported at a meeting of the Board of Education Monday night. A proposed budget of $984,877 was reviewed and approved for the school year, 1961-62.

The meeting followed a supper in which board members were guests of the West Ottawa Teachers Club at Kamp Kiwanis.

Contracts for three new teachers were approved. Mrs. Carol Rogers to teach kindergarten half time at Lakewood School, Mrs. Marian Groenevelt to teach kindergarten half time at Waukazoo School, and Mrs. Ruth Van Lente to teach first grade at Pine Creek School. Mrs. Lois Matchinsky also will be engaged as elementary art consultant on a part time basis, working with elementary teachers to develop a more effective art training program.

Senior High Principal Clifford Marcus was appointed to the Ottawa County Juvenile Study Committee replacing Mrs. Eileen Boss who served on the committee the past year.

The board adopted an interim policy for community use of the new school until after open house. Until then the school will not be used for public gatherings or for any purpose not directly connected with the education of children in grades 7 through 12.

For reasons of safety, PTA meetings will be scheduled in another elementary building. Parent-teacher conferences will be held but notices to parents will contain specific instructions on meeting teachers in order to avoid congestion and entry into sections of the building not yet complete.

A contract was approved with Mrs. Rollin Bazan to transport handicapped children to Holland public schools. After two months of study, a proposal of Edwin Raphael Co. of Holland was approved for translucent light control material in classrooms and fiberglass in library and administration areas.

An advisory committee will be appointed to determine use of buildings and rate of reimbursement for the new school. Permission was granted to the Magnichords to use the all-purpose room of Glerum school for choral practice.

Attending the board meeting in addition to regular members and administrative personnel were James Oonk, LeRoy Riemersma, Bruce Pearson and students Angela Donnelly and Nancy Pelon representing the school newspaper.

Rebuttal witness Dr. Edwin M. Williamson, a Kalamazoo psychiatrist, tossed a bombshell into the claim of the defense that Stephen was mentally ill.

Williamson was called to testify for the prosecution after defense attorney Gordon Cunningham had rested his case. The psychiatrist told the court that it was his professional opinion that Stephen was "not mentally ill."

A psychiatrist and two psychologists, testifying for the defense, emphatically said that Stephen was and is mentally ill.

Williamson said Stephen was "not suffering now or at any other time from mental illness." He had examined the youth on May 8, June 26, and on Sept. 8 and 9.

Williamson said, "You don't have to be mentally ill to murder or commit suicide. You can do a lot of things under emotional stress."

Prosecuting attorney Ervin Andrews asked, "Are there any symptoms of mental illness?" Williamson answered a terse, "No, sir."

The Kalamazoo doctor went into considerable detail during his lengthy testimony, in which he described the difference

Dutch Score 19-0 Victory In Opener

Scoring twice through the air and once over land, Holland High's football team opened the 1961 season with a 19-0 victory over Grand Rapids South before 3,200 fans Friday night in Riverview Park.

The Dutch struck twice on passes within a minute-and-a-half in the third period and then added a third touchdown early in the fourth period on a fine 56-yard run by Les Cornelissen.

Co-capt. Carl Walters, junior Dutch quarterback and playing his first varsity game, demonstrated great poise as he pitched first to end Larry Mannes for the initial touchdown with 4:44 left in the third quarter and then with 3:14 left struck halfback Jim Bouwman in the end zone.

Mannes' touchdown was a six-yard play. The 183-pound senior jumped up and caught the ball in the end zone two plays after he had snagged a 14-yard aerial and dragged his South foe to the six.

The first touchdown was set up on a recovered fumble by Tom Depuydt on the South 43. Holland failed to gain but on fourth down with Cornelissen back in deep punt formation, the senior halfback decided to run, picked up a strong block from Buzz Becker and skirted the end to the South 22.

Walters then hit on the two passes but his extra point attempt failed. Jim Bouwman recovered Sam Tucker's fumble on South's first scrimmage play after the kickoff and was rewarded on the next play as Walters struck Bouwman going away in the corner of the end zone. Walters missed the conversion and Holland led 12-0 at the close of the third period.

South failed to gain after the kickoff and punted to Holland on the Dutch 31. Chuck De Witt, also playing his first varsity game, took a pitchout and scooted 16 yards.

Following a penalty to the Holland 44, Walters pitched out to Cornelissen coming wide and the 165-pound senior skimmed the southern sidelines for 56 yards. Again it was a key block that made the run possible as Mannes came up and bumped down a potential South tackler to free his teammate, Walters converted.

South's Don Schlientz blocked a Holland punt in the closing seconds on the Dutch 20 and the game ended with the Trojans on the Dutch 18 for their only second half threat.

Holland's second half play improved after South had been the aggressor in the first half. The Trojans had figured Holland's offensive moves in the first half and the shooting linebackers were stopping the Dutch in their tracks.

This aggressiveness resulted in Holland picking up only eight yards rushing in the first half, while the Trojans, besides the strong defense, were running reverses effectively and made 89 yards.

But Holland's passing game was able to get them to the South six where the running game fizzled and the Dutch lost a chance to score. Late in the first period, a South personal foul gave Holland the ball on the Trojans 45 and it was the first time the Dutch had been in South territory.

Three Walters passes, two to Chuck De Witt and one to Mannes and two nine-yard runs by De Witt put Holland on the South six. But South's defense took over and squelched the drive.

A couple of effective reverses in the first period put South on the Holland 29 but the attack bogged. Bouwman intercepted a South pass late in the first period on his own 22 to end another threat and the half ended 0-0.

Coach Bill Hinga and his aides, Jim Jebb and Bob Weber, made some offensive modifications during half and the Dutch, 10 starting their first game, made the adjustments in the second half. "South was giving us trouble with 'stunting' and 'red dogging' but we made adjustments and the boys made them work," Hinga said.

He complimented Ron Konkin and Jack Dozeman for their work both ways and singled out Terry Nyland's defensive work at end. Tom Van Howe and Bouwman came in for mention as defensive halfbacks.

Hinga felt "conditioning" made a big difference since Holland was strong enough throughout while the Trojans tired and the defense weakened.

Holland's downfield blocking was a second half feature, especially the crushing key blocks thrown by Becker and Mannes to spring loose ballcarriers.

Walters completed 10 of 17 passes even though he was hurried on every attempt and threw frequently just as he was hit. He completed five of eight in the second half and five of nine in the opening half.

The Dutch open Lake Michigan Athletic Conference action next Friday night at Muskegon Heights at 8 p.m.

West Ottawa Loses 20-0 In First Tilt

ZEELAND — The West Ottawa football team lost its season's opener 20-0 to an explosive Forest Hills squad here Friday night.

The Rangers' long runs of 84, 65, and 61 yards were more than enough to offset any offensive drives that the Panthers could muster.

West Ottawa recovered a fumble early in the first quarter on the enemy 14-yard line to pose their most serious threat, but were throttled by a stubborn Forest Hills defense on the 16-yard line. Forest Hills took over the football and quarterback Spencer Wilcox outran the entire defense 84 yards on a sneak through the middle. Doug Stiles kicked the extra point.

Early in the second quarter, while deep in their own territory, quarterback D. Stiles ran 65 yards through the middle on a sneak before he was hauled down from behind by the losers' secondary near the 20-yard marker, but their attack was stalled and they could not score.

After both teams lost the ball in the second quarter because of fumbles and pass interceptions, Forest Hills marched from the Panther 30-yard line in six plays and scored on a one-yard sneak by D. Stiles. D. Stiles added the extra point and Forest Hills held a 14-0 halftime lead.

The losers completed the scoring in the third quarter on a 61-yard burst off tackle by Joe Gillard. Clarence Stiles missed the extra point.

Head coach Ron Wetherbee and assistant Peter Roon said the boys looked pretty good except for those long runs. They felt that Marty Vande Water, senior fullback; George Donze, junior halfback; Marinus Donze, senior end; and Larry Schaftenaar, senior halfback, played good games.

West Ottawa travels to Grandville next Friday to take on the Bulldogs in the Grand Valley Conference opener.

SOMETHING NEW AT HOPE — The Van Zoeren Library, on Graves Pl., is the new addition to Hope College this year. It is the first of many necessary campus improvements to emerge from the three-million dollar "Looking Ahead With Hope" campaign. The new library's construction was, in part, made possible by a gift of over one half million dollars in 1959 from the Dr. Gerrit John Van

Zoeren, a 1912 Hope graduate. The library features open stacks, the absence of interior walls and other unrestricted areas to provide freedom for those who use the facility. (Sentinel photo)

Zeeland Stops Coopersville 25-8 in First Football Game

COOPERSVILLE — Zeeland High's football team opened the season here Friday night with a convincing 25-8 win over Coopersville before 1,500 fans at the Coopersville Field.

It was Zeeland's ninth straight win over two seasons. The Chix were unbeaten in eight games last year.

The Broncos lighted up the scoreboard first as they recorded a safety in the first quarter. Zeeland quarterback Rich Miyamoto was caught in his end zone and downed for the Coopersville safety.

But the rest of the game belonged to Zeeland, coached by Jarold Groeters. The Chix scored twice in the second quarter after lengthy drives and added single touchdowns in the third and fourth periods.

Junior Jim Elenbaas ran 16 yards for the first Chix touchdown to climax a drive and end Rog Kroodsmas caught a pass from Miyamoto for the second tally. The play covered nine yards. Kroodsmas converted after the second touchdown and Zeeland led 13-2 at half.

Junior Dick Welch, 5'8", 150 pounds, scored both of Zeeland's second half touchdowns. In the third quarter he dashed off tackle from four yards out and in the fourth period he plunged over for one yard and the score. Zeeland failed to convert after the second half touchdowns.

Both second half drives started at about midfield. With Zeeland leading, 25-2, Coopersville, coached by Tom Miller, began to put its double reverses into action.

Jim Lillibridge scored on a 24-yard double reverse for the lone Coopersville touchdown. The extra point try was not successful.

The Chix ground game was again strong as Zeeland rushed for 262 yards. Miyamoto hit on six of 12 passes for 82 yards while the Broncos made 105 yards rushing and completed one of two passes for seven yards.

Penalties bothered Zeeland and the Chix were assessed 120 yards in penalties.

Zeeland opens Grand Valley League competition next Friday night and will play at East Grand Rapids.

Little Dutch Hand South 64-0 Defeat

Holland High's reserve football team crushed the Grand Rapids South seconds, 64-0 Friday afternoon in Riverview Park for one of the most lopsided wins ever recorded by the Dutch reserve team.

Fullback Walt Van Oosterhout, halfback Junior Ruiz and end Steve Bronson each scored two touchdowns for Holland while Bronson added another two points on a safety.

Van Oosterhout opened the scoring with a nine-yard plunge through the middle. This followed by Bronson's first touchdown scored from ten yards out when Bronson picked up a South fumble and scampered over the South goal.

Halfback Jim De Neff followed with a 15-yard smash off tackle and Ruiz followed with a 15-yard run for another tally. Bronson touched the ball just before it rolled out of the South end zone for the safety and Holland led at halftime, 30-0.

Quarterback Vern Plagenhoef completed three touchdown passes in the second half. His first aerial was a play covering 30 yards to end Darrell Schuurman.

Halfback Paul Wassenaar circled left end for 20 yards and the next Holland touchdown and the final score came on a Plagenhoef-Ruiz pass with Ruiz snagging the ball at the line of scrimmage and racing 30 yards.

Van Oosterhout skirted left end for 15 yards and the next Holland touchdown and the final score came on a Plagenhoef-Ruiz pass with Ruiz snagging the ball at the line of scrimmage and racing 30 yards.

Tom Pelon converted six of the eight times he tried. The other extra point was run over by Plagenhoef.

Coaches Tom Carey and Carl Selover used all 42 reserve team players in the game. Carey coached the first half but was called to Holland Hospital where his wife was expecting a baby

Hopkins scored once in the first period and added two more tallies in the third quarter. Church tallied two times to lead Hopkins. His first touchdown climaxed a 50-yard march in the opening frame when he plunged over for the four-yard line.

WATER

Our nation continues to plan for conservation of water and the reduction of contamination in our present supplies. When we consider water problems in our own area there is room for local and national planning. People not only want good water supplies for their businesses and homes but water for sewer facilities becomes increasingly important.

Michigan has thousands of lakes, large and small, and an increasing number of cities are finding it necessary to go to the larger lakes for their water supply. Some communities are levying service charges to take care of some of the expense.

Studies must be made in order for some expanding communities to meet water needs. In Holland there is a need for continuing study so that water for industrial purposes and fire protection in some areas can be provided.

Think it over carefully. Long range planning can save money for the taxpayers.

Hudsonville, Grandville Tie in Opener

GRANDVILLE — Hudsonville and Grandville opened the football season Friday night with a 14-14 tie at the Grandville High field.

Coach Dave Kempker's Eagles struck the initial time they had the ball and jumped off to an early 7-0 lead. Quarterback Bob Nyenhuis passed a 10-yard air to end Terry Gale for the scored after halfback Bruce Elenbaas had set up the play with a fine 68-yard run. Halfback Don McClow ran over for the conversion.

But the Bulldogs came back in the first period and took the kickoff and marched down the field with 210-pound fullback Tuttle driving through the middle for the final few yards and the touchdown. He then cracked the middle again for the tying extra point and the quarter closed 7-7.

Junior quarterback Bill Weaver threw a screen pass to McClow early in the second quarter and the play covered 72 yards to give the Eagles the lead. Larry Huyser ran the extra point and Hudsonville led at half, 14-7.

In the third quarter, Grandville used flat passes effectively and scored its second touchdown on a pass. The extra point was also a pass completion and the teams were knotted 14-14 at the end of the third period.

Hudsonville threatened in the fourth quarter but the Bulldogs had a strong goal line stand and Elenbaas romped 60 yards in the final period but the run was nullified by a penalty and another scoring threat vanished.

Nyenhuis received a pinched nerve in the first quarter and had to leave the game. Kempker lauded the work of Weaver, who came off the bench to direct the team in his first varsity game.

Kempker said his team agreed the defense in the game was "poor" and he said the Eagles had lots of work to do on defense in drills next week prior to the Friday OK League contest against Grand Rapids Lee in Hudsonville.

Sunday School Lesson

Gaius, a Christian Layman
3 John
By C. P. Dame

The work of laymen in the Christian Church is discussed much in these days. More and more work is assigned to the laymen in many congregations. In this lesson we are going to study a consecrated Christian layman.

I. Spiritual health is very important. Not all people think so. Three church members are mentioned in this short letter of John—two of them were fine members but one was undesirable. John calls himself the elder. Of Gaius John says, that he is "the wellbeloved" whom he loves in the truth. The soul of Gaius was prospering. It cannot be said of every church member that his soul is prospering.

Today a goodly number are prospering financially but sometimes financial success leads to spiritual failure. Gaius gave proof of his spiritual health. "For I rejoiced greatly, when brethren came and bare witness unto thy truth, even as thou walkest in truth." Some Christians reported to John about the fine life of Gaius and this made him glad. They told him that the divine truth—the gospel—was in him and that he revealed this by walking in the truth. The man who has salvation is bound to show it in his life.

Evidently Gaius was a convert of John as the words, "Greater joy have I none than this, to hear of my children walking in the truth" reveal. Every Christian worker is glad when he hears of his converts doing well spiritually. In those days Christian evangelists travelled from one congregation to another. Gaius was a man of some means and he used it in Christian service—he kept "open house" for these men whom he honored for their work's sake. By entertaining these men and sending them on farther, Gaius took a share in their ministry. When we help missionaries we do likewise. The spiritually healthy church members minister.

II. There always have been self-seeking members in the Church. John also mentions another member of the church—Diotrephes "who loveth to have the pre-eminence." This member was a typical church boss who wanted to be first in everything. The type is still here but there are fewer now. This member, sometimes a man, now and then a woman, is worthy, always ready to make propositions, insists upon his way, and works hard when he is at the head but gets sullen when he loses first place. What is the trouble? It is this—he is more concerned about himself than about the Christian Church.

John told Gaius not to follow that which is evil but that which is good for, "He that doeth evil hath not seen God."

III. Consecrated members are a blessing to a church. In the church to which Gaius belonged there was another excellent member whose name was Demetrius. Three fine things are said about this man. The first is: "Demetrius hath good report of all men." Every one liked him and spoke well of him. He is the kind of a member who attracts others. The second fine thing John says about him is that he has the witness of the truth—he had accepted the gospel and lived it day by day. The charge is made that some church members believe one thing but do the opposite but Demetrius was not of that kind.

There was an agreement between his profession and performance. The third fact John states about this fine church member was that he himself could testify on his behalf. If John was his pastor then he was in a position to witness and speak about him. The church member with a splendid reputation is a great asset to the Church. Both Gaius and Demetrius were consecrated laymen in the early church and they have had many spiritual descendants.

TRIAL IN SECOND DAY — James Scott Stephen, 16, is shown leaving the Allegan County Courtroom Monday at the conclusion of the trial's first day. The second day of testimony opened at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday. (Sentinel photo)

Prosecutor Rests Case; Defense Calls Witnesses

ALLEGAN — Allegan Prosecutor Ervin Andrews rested his case at 11:15 a.m. Tuesday after parading a number of state police and crime lab technicians in the murder trial of 16-year-old James Scott Stephen, accused slayer of two Jenison Park girls last May 29 in the Macatawa Hills.

Defense Attorney Gordon Cunningham has announced he will put Stephen on the stand in his own defense.

First prosecution witness called Tuesday was Richard Harold Gee, father of Carol Gee, 11, with whose death Stephen is specifically charged. The other victim was 12-year-old Margaret Chambers, a neighbor of the Gee girl in Jenison park.

Gee, who described his daughter as one who never caused trouble, was an all-A student and a second mother to younger children in the family, was followed by four witnesses associated with the state police crime lab in East Lansing.

Most dramatic incident was the showing of 26 color slides of wounds of Carol Gee shown by Dr. Edgar Kivela of the Michigan Department of Health who holds Ph. D. degrees in bacteriology and chemistry. At the outset of the slides, Stephen's mother started to cry and was led from the court room by Cunningham, followed by her husband. Stephen did not look at the slides and kept his eyes down on the table, his chin in right hand. There was no outward show of emotion.

Cunningham asked Kivela why it was necessary to show such pictures and Dr. Kivela said it was very difficult to describe exact portions of the body. Cunningham said Dr. Glaser had done very well the previous day with the use of a doll and Kivela said, "I wasn't here yesterday."

Cunningham also asked why color or was used and Kivela said bruises, etc., showed up better in color than in black and white, whereupon Cunningham said, "Yes, color is very effective in front of the jury." The prosecution objected, and the objection was sustained.

Det. Lt. Wallace Van Stratt, director of the crime lab, testified how he accompanied Det. Sgt. Daniel Mier to the Kerbs home to pick up the gun. Van Stratt, who said his main association with the case was handwriting, identified the handwriting of a note left in a motel at Levering, Mich., as that of Stephen Mier, detective sergeant of the latent print section of the crime lab, testified there were no identifiable prints on the weapon he had picked up at the Kerbs home.

Det. Sgt. Charles Meyers testified he had conducted ballistics tests on the weapon, firing a total of 33 test shots, and positively identified the gun as the weapon which killed the girl. He also performed distance tests, he said, and explained that powder marks found on the girl's sweatshirt indicated the gun was about six inches away for a shot in the chest.

Meyers said he could not get the gun to fire accidentally by jarring, nor could he get the gun to fire automatically, adding the trigger had to be pulled each time.

On examination, Cunningham established there were three ways to make the weapon fire automatically with the aid of some alterations, but Meyers said no alterations of any kind were evident when he received the weapon.

Before the morning recess, Lt. Van Stratt was recalled and submitted the projectile removed from the head of Carol Gee.

Andrews said he had a few other prosecution witnesses but would not call them.

First witness called by the defense was George Romeyn, 16, of West 32nd St., who testified he had known Jim for some time and that they had hunted and engaged in sports together. He described Jim as quiet and soft spoken, one who seldom fought, but he added Jim could be mean sometimes and described an incident when Jim poured gas over a bird and touched a match to it. On cross examination, Romeyn said he (George) had quickly killed the bird.

He testified he had gone into the hills with Jim the afternoon of April 29 but had spent only a half hour there, although they usually spent more time in the hills. On the way back he said Jim saw a bird and fired quite closely to George's ear, something unusual since Jim usually was careful with guns. He added he did not feel at ease with Jim.

Details of Shooting Unfold As Stephen Trial Begins

ALLEGAN — James Scott Stephen, 16-year-old Holland youth on trial here for the murder of 11-year-old Carol Gee of Holland on April 29, sat impassively through the first day of his trial Monday in Allegan County Circuit Court.

Court reconvened at 1:30 p.m. Monday, following the noon recess, with state police detective Charles Long on the stand for cross examination by the defense attorney.

Long told of his involvement in the case and gave an account of the trip from Kadoka, S.D., where Stephen was picked up, to Michigan. Long said the youth was very cooperative. He said they talked about sports, school and pheasant hunting.

Long said the youth showed very little emotion. When told that his parents were unhappy over what had happened, Long said Stephen said he wasn't happy either, "but I'm not going to cry."

Long testified that from background information he gathered on Stephen, the boy was an average student, well-mannered and quiet. Asked by Cunningham if there was anything to explain the shooting, a motive—Long said, "No."

Long recalled visiting the scene of the shooting with Stephen. He said the boy seemed indifferent to the matter. Long said Stephen climbed a vine and was swinging over a spot near where the girls' bodies were found.

At the scene of the shooting, Stephen chided Long for throwing away a cigarette pack. "He called me a littlebug," Long said.

Cunningham asked if Stephen seemed indifferent or detached from the events taking place, and Long said, "If he grasped what was going on, he didn't show it."

Cunningham asked Long if the trail of notes left by Stephen while he hitch-hiked to South Dakota made it easy to follow the youth. "Yes," Long said, "easier than most."

Following Long's testimony, the prosecutor called 12-year-old Marlene Gauthier of 730 Park Ave., Holland, a neighbor of Carol Gee, to the stand. Marlene said she and a group of girls were in the Macatawa Hills gathering flowers on April 29, the day the Gee girl and her companion, Margaret Chambers disappeared.

The quiet, blue-eyed blond girl told of seeing the two girls walking along a path in the woods and of seeing them later holding flowers they had picked.

Marlene said she and her group of friends had seen Stephen on the path shortly after seeing the Gee and Chambers girls for the first time. She said she and her friends said "hi" to Stephen, but he did not answer and one of the girls said "Gee, he's stuck up."

Allegan County deputy Conrad Zeedyk was called to the stand by Andrews and related how he was called by Mrs. Kerbs when she found the note left to her, in which Stephen told of accidental shootings and that he was heading out west.

Zeedyk told of the search on Monday, May 1, when the girls' bodies were located. He said he was present at the scene shortly after the bodies were found and remained with them from the time he moved them out of the hills with his jeep, through the autopsy, performed at Holland Hospital.

Under cross examination, Zeedyk said that the Stephen boy and his own son had been friends. They had played together and went target shooting together. Zeedyk said he took his son and Stephen to basketball games on occasion.

Cunningham asked if he had ever been to the Kerbs home in his capacity as a police officer. Andrews objected, but Cunningham said he was trying to establish what Zeedyk knew about the boy. Judge Raymond L. Smith overruled the objection.

Zeedyk said he had been called to the Kerbs home once on a matter of family trouble. He said Stephen and his 12-year-old brother, Kenneth, were present and that both looked scared.

Zeedyk said Stephen did not arrive at the home after the incident occurred around Christmas. The ground was wet and slushy and it was snowing, and Stephen had no shoes on when he came home. Zeedyk said he said Stephen appeared upset.

Zeedyk said he had never had trouble with Stephen, and that he "would know of no motive" for the shooting. He said Stephen appeared "quieter" since the incident.

The prosecutor also called Allegan County deputy Harry Smith to the witness stand. Smith accompanied detective Charles Long to Kadoka, S.D., and returned to Michigan with the youth.

Smith described a map which had been found among Stephen's possessions when he had been picked up. The map showed the route taken by Stephen from Michigan to South Dakota in pencil. Smith said Stephen told of receiving rides, mostly by trucks, to northern Michigan, across Wisconsin and Minnesota, to South Dakota.

Smith described the circumstances under which he and Long had taken a statement from Stephen in Kadoka on May 5. Long questioned the youth and Smith typed the statement. He said they had had no trouble in obtaining the statement from Stephen.

Smith said the youth had been picked up after he had asked the chief of police at an all-night restaurant in Kadoka where he could get a cheap room. Stephen was allowed to sleep in jail when he told police he had no money, Smith said.

The boy was polite and caused no trouble, Smith said. Cunningham asked if he could think of any motive for the shooting, and Smith replied, "No."

Dr. Daniel F. Glaser of Kalamazoo, the pathologist who performed the autopsy on the Gee girl, was called to the stand following the afternoon recess. He traced the seven bullet paths found in the girl's body with the aid of a doll and long pins.

One shot, he said, struck the girl in the back on the lower right side and emerged at the hip, and a second struck the right elbow, a non-fatal but disabling wound.

Glaser described what he called the fatal shot. It struck in the middle of the back, traveled upward and emerged from the base of the neck to the left. The bullet severed the spinal cord, he said, and lacerated the aorta artery, causing a heavy loss of blood.

Another shot in the back pierced a lung and emerged near the tip of the collarbone. A shot in the chest which entered at the third rib, emerged at the seventh rib. The girl had been shot twice in the head, one shot entering her forehead, lodging in the skull, and the second entered beneath the left eye, moving down and emerging below the right ear.

Glaser said that none of the wounds appeared to be contact or near-contact wounds. He said the girl was probably alive for two to five minutes after the shooting.

Andrews called Ernest Victor of 243 West Ninth St., brother of Mrs. Gee, to the stand. Victor said he had identified the body of Carol Gee at Holland Hospital.

Cunningham did not cross examine the witness.

State police detective William Chandler was called and related finding the gun hidden by Stephen in the attic at his home. He said he talked with Stephen's brother, and that the youngest told him several places where Stephen had hidden guns.

After checking under boards and sheds in the back yard, Chandler said, the gun was found in the attic under a piece of cloth. The gun had been broken down, Chandler said.

Chandler, who entered the search for the missing girls at 8 p.m. Sunday, April 30, said a spent .22 caliber shell was found in the hills at 3 a.m. Monday, and a second was found at 7:10 a.m., and turned over to the state police crime lab with others found in the boy's room.

Chandler said he had contacted the girl's parents and talked to Forrest Flaughter who found a small bunch of flowers on the path where the two girls had been seen. Chandler also talked to Becky Jesiek as to where the girls had last been seen, and helped to formulate a search plan.

The first two witnesses called to the stand Monday were Sgt. Edward Lenon, commanding officer of the Grand Haven state police post, and state police detective Charles Long.

Lenon described the search which uncovered the bodies of the two girls Monday, May 1. The search formation was a straight line which entered the Macatawa Hills going west. Lenon said he was in the approximate center of the line.

At 8:45 a.m. on May 1, Lenon said, Rex Webbert of Holland, who was on Lenon's right, called and said "Here's something." Lenon said, "I first saw cloth of red and told Webbert not to touch anything."

Then Lenon said he saw, under the leaves, a red jacket, gray sweater, green pedalpushers, white sock and black shoe. "Webbert called, 'Here's another one,'" Lenon said, "and I saw a rubber sole of what appeared to be a tennis shoe."

Lenon said he called for the crime lab crew. The second object was estimated by Lenon to be 25 to 27 feet downgrade from the first.

Andrews asked if the second object was the second girl, and Lenon answered, "It proved to be so." He said the area was heavily wooded and bumpy and was covered with leaves to a depth of two or three inches. He estimated that the bodies were about 40 feet from a trail through the woods, about 150 yards south of the Ottawa-Allegan County line.

Andrews called detective Long to the stand and introduced as evidence several photographs taken by state police at the scene of the shootings about a week after Stephen had been returned to Michigan from Kadoka, S.D.

Long described each of the pictures and told of the trip to South Dakota with Allegan deputy Smith. He told of taking the statement from Stephen on May 5 in Kadoka. The statement was read by Long and introduced as evidence.

In the statement, Stephen said he came over the hill and tripped and the gun went off about four times. He then said he saw the girls on the path and ran up to them and the gun kept firing.

Stephen's statement told how he dragged the girls off the trail and covered them with leaves. One of the girls' sweatshirt came off, and Stephen said he put it around the neck of the second girl and dragged her body down the hill and covered it with leaves.

According to the statement Stephen went home and later in the afternoon a friend came over, and he went back into the hills.

The statement told of Stephen's later meeting with Allegan deputy Zeedyk. Stephen said he told Zeedyk he had seen the girls walking south of the area where the shootings occurred. Long asked Stephen if that was a lie, and Stephen had replied, "yes."

In Stephen's statement he said he went home to bed Saturday night and got up the next morning and returned two tents to his scoutmaster Ray Stam. He then left his home on his brother's bicycle, left the bike in Holland, and started hitch-hiking north on US-31.

Stephen's final statement, when Long asked him if there was anything else he wanted to say, was "I didn't shoot them on purpose, because I had known them as friends for years."

Long said only he and deputy Smith were present with Stephen when the statement was taken. He said Stephen read the statement and signed it before himself and Smith. Long said Stephen was "not reluctant to talk about it."

Court recessed at 12:05 p.m. for the noon recess, and Long again took the stand for cross examination at 1:30 p.m.

The first-day session of the trial adjourned at 4:17 p.m. The jury had been seated in less than an hour after the trial opened at 9:38 a.m. Eight men and six women were seated on the jury.

Judge Smith told the jury that the Stephen trial was creating wide public interest. He said the jury should have no interest in the case outside of the facts presented in the court and asked the jury's cooperation to "not concern themselves with newspapers and radio."

Stephen appeared in dark slacks, white shirt, open at the collar, and wore a light blue sleeveless pull-over sweater. He sat quietly and watched without apparent emotion as witnesses in the case took the stand.

Holland Trims Athletic Budget

Slashes in the tentative Holland High School athletic budget were announced today in keeping with the plans of cutting funds in the operations of the public schools.

Principal Jay W. Formsma has instructed Athletic Director Joe Moran to "live within the anticipated income budget of $14,900." The "anticipated income budget" is the money expected to be received this school year from the athletic program.

Moran had tentatively suggested a budget of $20,000.24. But when the Board of Education instructed Supt. Walter W. Scott to chop $35,000 from the overall school budget, a decision had to be made.

It was suggested that the spring sports program be curtailed but Formsma felt the proposed budget should be cut rather than trim the program. An estimated total of $7,686 was sliced from the budget.

Athletic department expenditures in 1960-61 totaled $22,694.83 and Moran's estimated total was $21,888.41, difference of $806.42.

Holland offers a total of nine varsity sports, the only school in the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference, of which Holland is a member, to offer that many sports.

A total of $3,000 from the Board of Education for court and field rentals was deleted from Moran's estimated receipts because it was pointed out that the Board didn't have the money.

Also slashed was a $1,250 item for reconditioning of football equipment for the 1962-63 season. Formsma said funds for the reconditioning would be paid out of the 1962-63 budget.

Another item cut completely was meals for the athletic teams. "None of the teams will eat after athletic contests unless parents provide the funds," Formsma said. This includes trips to Niles and St. Joseph by the varsity football team and three trips by the reserve teams totaling an estimated $201.40.

An estimated $240 for meals after the Traverse City and Benton Harbor basketball games was also cut along with $50 for baseball team meals, $110 for track team meals, $70 for tennis team meals, $20 for golf team meals, $50 for wrestling team meals and $20 for cross-country team meals.

As reported earlier, $400 was chopped from the estimated $500 for filming of football games and the $200 for filming basketball games. A $200 fee for the band's participation in the football games was also dropped.

A $40 item to transport eight and ninth grade athletes to Riverview Park was also cut. Formsma and Moran said parents will have to take the youngsters to the playing site.

It was decided to stock less football equipment such as extra shoes and pads and the figure was chopped from $400 to $200. Funds for football and basketball coaches to attend clinics were slashed in half and the coaches will receive $110.

Basketball players must buy their own shoes. This was an estimated cost of $140 for 20 pair of shoes. Rental on basketball sites was estimated at $900, cut to $800 and suggested some practices could be held in new Holland fieldhouse.

An estimated $540 for new baseball suits was dropped and the number of baseballs cut from $192 to $140. A $400 item for new track equipment was also eliminated and track transportation was cut $30 from $200. Golf equipment was dropped $32 to $65 and traveling booster $25 to $75. A $100 item for wrestling was deleted while first aid supplies were dropped $75 to $207.

Cheerleaders were cut $50 to $150 and the $45 was eliminated for a football statistician. Brochure and newspaper advertising was dropped from $285 to $28.

Football laundry was cut $100 to $300 and it was suggested parents wash practice jerseys. An increase of $66 for varsity and reserve football insurance boosted the fee to $1,056. Holland is one of the few Class A schools still paying for school insurance.

A $20 fee for covering the photographers booth at Riverview Park was cut along with $10 to $30 for basketball scouting and $30 to $70 for miscellaneous basketball expenses. A cut of $62 to $100 was made for tennis balls and a $100 item for equipment was deleted along with $5 to $20 for cross-country laundry.

Moran said in keeping with the curtailment, one complimentary ticket will be given to public school employees rather than two as in the past.

Plans call for charging admission at athletic contests wherever feasible, such as junior high games and varsity wrestling matches as a means to obtain funds.

How America's workers save while buying a share in their country

Almost $40 million in U.S. Savings Bonds are purchased automatically every week on the Payroll Plan by America's wage earners.

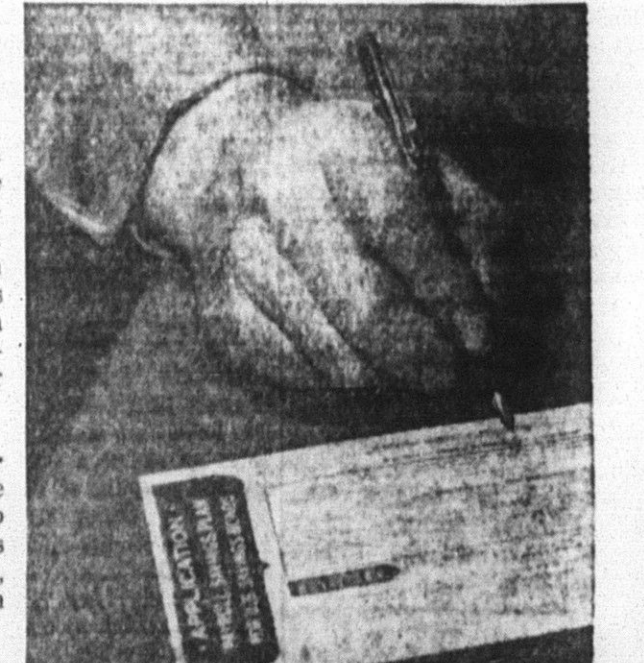

This is not a recent development. Members of organized labor have supported the Savings Bond Program since it began 20 years ago. That's because so many of them have found the Payroll Savings Plan a painless way to save for a home, a happier retirement, education for the youngsters and a better life for the whole family.

A workable plan for those "pay-day frustrations." All you have to do to start on the plan is sign up once with your employer. He sets aside whatever amount you say, buys your Bonds and delivers them to you—automatically.

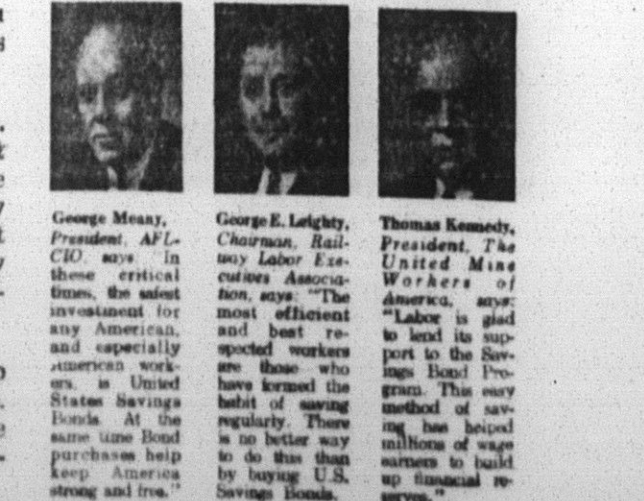

The result is you save some money every payday before you get a chance to spend it. And soon you won't even miss the amount that's set aside for you.

Invest with absolutely no risk. You can't lose the money you invest in Series E Savings Bonds. The Government guarantees it to grow 3 3/4% in 7 1/2 years. You can get your money with interest at any time. And if your Bonds are destroyed, you get new ones free.

Every Bond you buy is a step toward a secure personal future. What's more, every Bond is a share in a stronger America. Why not begin buying your shares today?

Grand Rapids Woman Victim Of Drowning

GRAND HAVEN — A 60-year-old Grand Rapids woman was drowned Sunday while swimming in Lake Michigan in Grand Haven Township. It was the second drowning in the area within a week.

The victim was Eleanor Mildred Morrison of 41 Union St., SE, Grand Rapids, home economist for the Grand Rapids Gas Co. She had been visiting at the James E. Spindle cottage on Spindle Rd. near Holcomb Hill, less than a mile south of Grand Haven State park.

Spindle, 71, Grand Rapids, pipeline supervisor for the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., first rescued Miss Morrison when she stepped into a hole near a sand bar. She encountered trouble again while swimming back to shore and at that time Spindle was unable to assist her. He had trouble making shore and lay on the beach about an hour before he could summon aid at a neighboring cottage.

A private plane which was searching the area for the body of 20-year-old Jerry Busman, who was swept from the Grand Haven pier last Thursday, spotted Miss Morrison's body and notified enforcement officials. The body was pulled ashore by Robert Stedright of Grand Rapids who was staying in a nearby cottage.

The two men in the plane, Leo Brown and Brud Frost of Nunica, spotted the body 100 to 125 feet from shore.

Dr. Peter A. MacArthur, medical examiner, attributed death to asphyxiation (accidental drowning). The body was taken to Kammaraad Funeral Home in Grand Haven and was transferred to Metcalf Funeral Home in Grand Rapids.

Miss Morrison for several years had headed the home economics department for Grand Rapids Public Schools and during World War II served with the Red Cross in India. Later she became home economist for the gas company.

A brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clare St. Clare of Sugar Heights, Ohio, are believed to be the only survivors.

State Police and sheriff's officers investigated.

Allegan Okays Tax Report

ALLEGAN — At a special session Friday, members of the Allegan county board of supervisors voted 27-9 to adopt a final order of the State Tax Commission setting the county's tax base at $166,042,900.

The order was issued by the commission as a result of an appeal by Otsego City Assessor M. C. Klintworth who claimed that the percentage of the total county tax base assigned to Otsego by the board of supervisors was "discriminatory."

As a result of a hearing held here Sept. 6, the tax commission reduced Otsego's share of the county equalized valuation from 8 percent to 7.3963 percent.

Percentages also were cut for two other cities. Allegan was reduced from 9.1 to 8.75133 percent. The report increased the percentage for that portion of the city of Holland which lies within Allegan county, up from 3.68 to 3.8040 percent.

Robert A. Eckhart, chairman of the State Tax Commission, pointed out that the new report is "final and binding for two years" unless revised by the commission itself.

The report showed that the city of Otsego is assessing its real and personal property at 75.84 percent of state equalized valuations, highest unit ratio in the county. Other unit ratios ranged as low as Valley Township's 42.14 percent.

The crash occurred when Alferdink's car crashed into the rear of a small foreign car on US-31 a tenth mile north of Ferris St., and caused it to roll over several times.

Stephen Says Shootings An 'Accident'

ALLEGAN — James S. Stephen, accused of murder in the April 29 shooting death of 11-year-old Carol Gee near Holland, maintained under cross examination Tuesday afternoon in Allegan County Circuit Court that the shooting was accidental.

Prosecutor Ervin Andrews prodded Stephens into repeatedly giving an account of the shooting. The youth stuck by his story that he had tripped "over a log or my feet" and that the rifle was "easily" fired three or four times.

Stephen said he had not seen the Gee girl and her companion, 12-year-old Margaret Chambers, until he got to his feet after stumbling. He said he saw the girls 100 feet or more away and started running toward them and kept firing. "I just remember hearing the gun go off," Stephen said. "I don't know what happened. Everything was so blurry."

Speaking in a voice that was barely audible, Stephen was asked several times to talk louder.

Andrews had Stephen show the jury how he fell. Stephen got down on his hands and knees on the floor, holding his rifle in his right hand. He said the rifle fired three or four times as he was falling. He said he had his finger on the trigger when he stumbled.

Stephen said he did not fully realize what had happened until he got home. Andrews asked Stephen if he thought of getting help for the girls, and Stephen replied, "I didn't think of going for help — I didn't think of anything."

Andrews showed Stephens the statement he gave officers in Kadoka, S.D., where he was apprehended after fleeing from Holland. The statement recounted details of how Stephen had tripped and the gun went off.

Andrews asked how far away the girls were when the gun went off. Stephen said he was not very good at guessing distances. Andrews informed him he had said 100 feet or more. Stephen replied "I've been asked so many questions, I don't remember."

"It's over and done with, and you want to forget it," Andrews said. Stephen replied, "I doubt if it's done over with."

"You knew you did wrong," Andrews said. "Yes sir," Stephen replied, "I didn't realize it until after I got home." Stephen recalled throwing the rifle down and dragging the girls' bodies off the trail and covering them with leaves.

He picked up the rifle again and went home, broke down the rifle and put it in the attic. He said he went back to the woods again and shot a bird. "But I didn't feel like shooting at it," Stephens said.

Andrews showed Stephen the note he had left for his mother, telling her he had taken $10.05 and was heading out west. Stephen said it was the first time he had taken anything. "I wanted to get away from my dad," he said.

He said he was scared and wanted to get away. "I felt my stepfather would beat me up."

Stephen recounted asking a policeman in a Kadoka, S.D., truck stop if he knew where he could sleep, and said he was taken to the jail.

Andrews asked why he gave police the name Jimmy Sinclair. "I don't know. I slept in a barn the night before, and I guess my mind was not too clear," he said.

Stephen said a policeman the next morning, Wednesday, showed him a picture "and asked if it was me." Stephen said, "I told him it was." He said a detective came in and asked if I wanted to make a statement. "I told him I might as well."

Stephen had been called to the witness stand by defense attorney Gordon Cunningham. He said he liked school and got along well. He said he had never known his real father and had been brought up by his stepfather.

Stephen recalled running stocking-footed in the snow to call police during a family fight. He said it had been unpleasant at home for a long time.

Asked by the defense attorney if he liked guns, Stephen said he did. He said he had three guns, a .303 British army rifle, a .22 and a shotgun. He said he went shooting often, sometimes two or three times a week, in the Macatawa Hills. He said he mostly shot squirrels, tin cans and twigs.

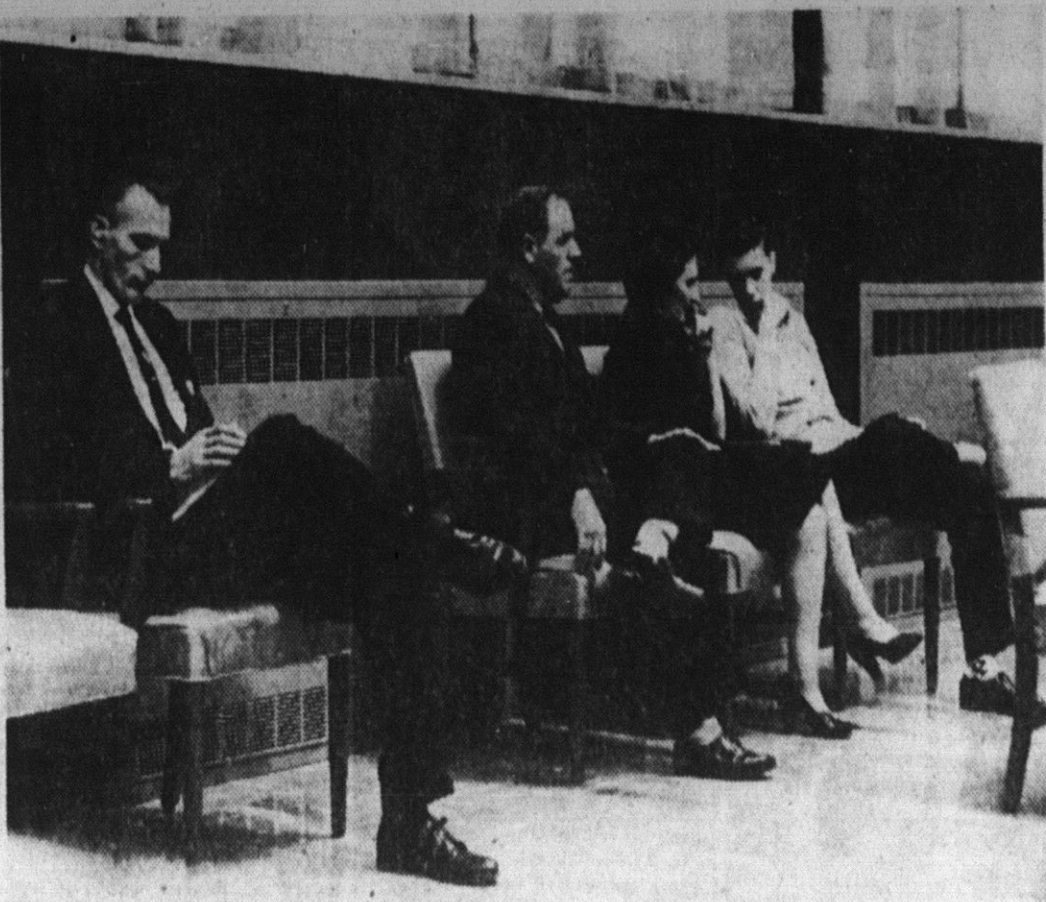

Stephen said he had been shooting twigs and leaves on April 29 when he walked toward the trail where the girls were shot to death. He said he felt he had done something wrong and felt sick. My mouth felt sticky," he said.

Stephen said he did not shoot intentionally and would not hurt anyone. He said he hadn't seen anyone up in the hills the afternoon of April 29. He had had no trouble with the girls or their families, and did not know the Gee family.

He said he did not usually go out shooting alone. "The girls were lying on the trail the first time I saw them," he said. "I was nervous and sick to my stomach." "I went back to the hills, but I didn't feel right. I was scared. Anything would have set me running," Stephen said.

The youth said he didn't feel good at all at night, and on Sunday he got up and didn't feel right. He wrote the note to his mother because, "I didn't want Mom to worry."

He related taking his brother's bicycle and starting to ride. When he left the bike on 14th St. near the Allegan spur of the C&O railroad tracks, he left a note to return the bicycle because "I didn't want Kenny to lose the bike on account of me."

Stephen said he walked to the highway, stuck out his thumb and got a ride to Muskegon with the first car going north. He said he got about "10 or 11 miles south of the bridge" the first night.

After staying at a motel in Levering, Mich., he left a thank-you note to the proprietor.

"Why did you leave the note?" Cunningham asked.

"I got the room for about a quarter of the price," Stephen answered. Cunningham asked if Stephen didn't think he'd get caught by leaving a trail of notes, and the youth said, "I wasn't thinking too much. I just thought about going somewhere."

Cunningham asked the boy why he decided to go west. Stephen replied, "I just got a ride there."

"You were not thinking, just running," Cunningham said. "Yes sir," the boy said.

Cunningham asked Stephen how he felt since being home. Stephen asked, "You mean Allegan? I'm relieved since I got back."

Stephen followed his mother, Mrs. Kenneth Kerbs, on the witness stand.

Mrs. Kerbs' testimony, charged with emotion, revealed how she had tried to be both a mother and father to her son. Mrs. Kerbs went when she said perhaps she "loved him (Stephen) a little too much."

Mrs. Kerbs said she had married Stephen's father in May 1943, and that he was killed in a plane crash in England in 1945, about three months after Stephen was born.

Her husband, Edward Scott Stephen, was an English citizen and was a navigator-bombardier stationed overseas when he was killed. "Jim never knew his father," she said.

Mrs. Kerbs remarried when her son was three years old. The family moved to Holland, and Stephen grew up in the Macatawa area.

Stephen was subject to colds which often developed into pneumonia, she said, and he often missed school because of illness. He was a quiet, considerate, good boy who had never been in serious trouble. His teachers thought he could do better in school, but he was very active in Cub and Boy Scouts, Mrs. Kerbs said.

The boy's mother said he had become withdrawn early this year and spent time alone upstairs for whole evenings. He talked about his real father during the last year.

She revealed that Stephen never talked to his stepfather much. "It caused friction when I stuck up for Jim," she said. Mrs. Kerbs said she and her husband fought in the presence of the children. Stephen, who was nervous and bothered by fights would say, "Oh ma, don't say anything."

Mrs. Kerbs broke down and sobbed when she told how Stephen had run out of the house shortly after Christmas last year to call police during a family quarrel. "It was cold and snowing and Jim ran out in his stocking feet," she said.

Mrs. Kerbs said that last winter Stephen had bought a rifle without permission. She said she found out about it the same day the rifle was purchased, but that her husband didn't know Stephen had the gun.

The boy's mother told of her son's odd behavior during the early part of this year. She said he would constantly stretch while sitting at home watching television. She said she had seen him go through the motions of shooting a basketball without a ball and basket.

Stephen would mumble whole paragraphs, Mrs. Kerbs said, and when asked to repeat, he would become sarcastic. She said she thought it was due to nerves. "I couldn't understand the boy. I couldn't reach him."

Mrs. Kerbs said she had come home from work on Friday, April 28, and found her son asleep on a couch in a sleeping bag. She said she hadn't know he had skipped school Thursday and Friday.

With tear-filled eyes, Mrs. Kerbs described events of April 29 and 30. She said Stephen seemed restless on Saturday morning and went to the store a couple times. He had called a friend to go out, and when the boy couldn't go, Stephen appeared to feel "down and out," Mrs. Kerbs said.

Stephen told his mother he was going to hunt crows after lunch. Mrs. Kerbs said she took a nap and woke up about 4 p.m. A friend of his called and Stephen said he was going out again. He was back for supper, Mrs. Kerbs said.

The boy's mother said he sat at home Saturday night and talked to her about cooking. She said his eyes were glazed as he watched television. He had had a sore throat and went to bed about 9 p.m.

Mrs. Kerbs said the Chambers asked her if she had seen the two girls, and Mrs. Kerbs asked her son, who answered, "No, mom."

She said she asked Stephen Sunday morning if anything was wrong, and went to work at a Holland restaurant. When she returned from work about 4 p.m., Mrs. Kerbs said she asked about both her sons. She said she went upstairs to see if they had taken their scout uniforms and found the bedroom light on.

Mrs. Kerbs sobbed as she revealed how she found the note Stephen had left her. "I didn't believe it," she said. "My husband didn't believe it."

She said she called Allegan deputy Conrad Zeedyk's home. Zeedyk was a friend of the family. Zeedyk's wife said she couldn't believe the note either. Mrs. Kerbs said Zeedyk arrived at the Kerbs home within about 10 minutes.

Mrs. Kerbs' testimony elicited tears from several of the women jurors. Stephen sat motionless during his mother's testimony, staring down at the table at which he was sitting with no outward show of emotion.

Holland May Play Game In Fieldhouse

Traverse City has told Holland High School that it will not play basketball in Holland on the afternoon of Jan. 27, 1962 and it may mean that Holland will play a contest this season in its new fieldhouse.

The Trojans played in Holland last season as part of a two-day trip. Traverse City played in Benton Harbor on Friday night and Holland on Saturday night.

But Traverse City officials told Athletic Director Joe Moran that they would not stage a similar arrangement this season because they felt the basketball team members didn't have enough rest between games if the contest was played in the afternoon.

They felt that two games in two nights affected the team's play here last year but have agreed to play the second game here at night as part of the two-day trip.

The afternoon game had been a game with Lake Forest on scheduled because Hope College that Saturday night in the Civic Center. All of Holland's other home games are scheduled in the Civic Center.

Holland's new fieldhouse is supposed to be finished in January and will seat more than 1,800 persons. School officials may decide to play the game in the new fieldhouse.

History of Dress Told at Meeting Of Sorority

A program, the "History of Dress" was presented Monday evening in the home of Mrs. James Kraus for the Eta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Mrs. Douglas DeMond, wearing Mexican clothing including silver and onyx jewelry and a hemp hat, began with early body decorations which included food stains, skins, and woven vegetation.

Later, she noted in the Roman Era, colors denoted rank in life; the more vivid the color, the higher the status of the wearer.

Mrs. Ronald Kobes told of the Renaissance era in which France set the styles. It was an age of extreme styles including colored hose and laces worn by men and women alike.

Mrs. Kobes was dressed in an oriental costume of brocade with a matching coat from Okinawa.

"You are There" skit was presented with costumes from Hawaii, 1920's bathing suits, and flapper styles. Appropriate music accompanied Mrs. DuMond and Mrs. Kobes.

A business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Kobes, included reports from membership chairman, Mrs. DuMond that Oct. 2 would be a get-acquainted meeting for rushees. Program chairman Mrs. Henry Mast presented each member with the program book. Mrs. Frank Bronson as ways and means chairman, Mrs. John Berry, publicity chairman, and Mrs. Leif Blodee, remembrance, gave their reports.

Mrs. Jerome Hurtgen is in charge of contests, the library file, and parliamentary procedure. Social chairman, Mrs. Kraus, gave final details for the potluck supper to be held Sept. 23 in the home of Mrs. William Kurth with the husbands as guests. Mrs. Ralph Stolp, service reporter, proposed compiling materials in envelopes for the United Fund Drive. This was accepted.

Mrs. Richard A. Mansfield was elected Valentine Queen for the Chapter.

House-to-House Solicitation Leaders Picked by Chairman

Mrs. Joseph W. Lang, chairman and Mrs. William H. Venhuizen, vice-chairman will head an organization of over 500 volunteer workers who will carry out the house-to-house solicitation in the October Greater Holland United Fund Red Cross campaign for $97,277.

Leonard O. Zick, campaign chairman, pointed out that the degree of organization and the number of volunteers required to cover all homes in the Greater Holland area greatly exceeds that of any of the other divisions of the drive. Mrs. Lang and Mrs. Venhuizen served in the same capacities in last year's UP campaign.

As in past years, employed persons will be solicited at their place of employment. Based upon past experience, there are many individuals, including housewives, not employed in local business and industrial establishments who wish to make individual contributions. The house-to-house solicitation provides these individuals this opportunity, Zick pointed out.

In addition to her campaign assignment and her work as Secretary of the Greater Holland United Fund, Mrs. Lang has many other civic and church interests. She is Secretary of the Board of Directors of Region 9 Camp Fire, Girl of America and a member of the Holland Council, Secretary of the Citizen's Committee for the Promotion of Decent Literature in Holland; Board member of the Altar and Rosary Society, St. Francis de Sales Church and immediate past-president and member of the executive committee of the Grand Rapids Diocesan Council of Catholic Women.

Mrs. Lang is an active member of the Hospital Guild, Woman's Literary Club and Holland Garden Club. Recently she has been extended an invitation to serve on the steering committee of the Detroit Arch Diocese Council for the national convention to be held in Cobo Hall in 1962.

Mrs. Venhuizen, a member of Trinity Church is an associate member of the Junior Welfare League and a member of the Garden Club and the Woman's Literary Club. She is also a member of the City Recreation Committee.

Majors and co-majors heading the 16 district areas in the Residential Division are: Mrs. Rene Bouillon, district 1; Mrs. George Fregio, district 2; Mrs. Jack Leenhouts, district 3; Mrs. Frank Gouws, district 4; Mrs. James P. Brooks, district 5; Mrs. Carroll W. Norlin and Mrs. William Russell Hornbaker, district 6; Mrs. Russell Bennett, district 7; Mrs. John Hutzik, district 8; Mrs. Joe Fabiano, district 9; Mrs. Robert H.
