United Fund Division Heads Are Appointed

William G. Oonk, vice-president, Peoples State Bank, Kenneth D. Stam, vice-president, James A. Brouwer Co., and Paul Elzinga, vice-president, Elzinga & Volkers, Inc., have been named to top leadership positions in October's Greater Holland United Fund-Red Cross drive.

Charles Kupsky, campaign chairman, said Oonk will head the commercial division and that Stam and Elzinga will serve in like capacities in the retail and construction sections of the drive.

The $168,424 goal have been established for the three divisions, Kupsky said.

Stam and Elzinga headed the retail and construction divisions

Over 700 firms and employees will be solicited in behalf of fund for 46 agencies included in this single campaign through volunteers working in these three areas of the drive. Division quotas totalling $33,880 of Philip Baron, Gary Bartlett, Edward Bosch, Jack Van Liere, Harry Newhouse, Richard K. Boyd and Melvin Veldhoff will serve as section majors in the commercial division.

Calvin J. Hulst, Erwin Koop, Robert Gosselaar and Robert Riksen will serve as section majors in the retail division.

Section majors are presently recruiting a sufficient number of workers to adequately cover their respective areas of the drive.

Section majors and workers in the three divisions will attend a 7:30 a.m. "dutch treat" breakfast Thursday at the Warm Friend Hotel to review assignments and obtain campaign materials.

Although the campaign is scheduled to start Oct. 1 it is imperative that the organizational phase be planned and consolidated considerably in advance. This is especially true this year since there must be a thorough coverage of all prospects and increased giving by all contributors in order to meet the $168,424 goal which represents an increase over last year's requirements of 12.8 per cent, Kupsky concluded.

United Fund Endorsed By Labor

As in past years, the Holland AFL-CIO Labor Council has again wholeheartedly endorsed the Greater Holland United Fund-Red Cross 1968 campaign in support of 46 health, welfare and youth guidance agencies and organizations in this 'single' community-wide effort to raise $168,424 to meet the cost of the many vital services to be provided during 1969.

In advising Campaign Chairman Charles Kupsky of action taken at the council's recent meeting, Al Wassink, council president, stated that the importance of union members giving adequate support in this effort is being emphasized in the AFL-CIO Labor Council's publication.

Wassink also stated that through the Council labor is being urged to provide full cooperation in carrying out employee solicitation in those firms employing members of local unions.

The following members and their union affiliation were named to the UF Campaign Advisory Committee at the Council's recent meeting: Al Wassink, Local 931, Chairman; Lawrence Harrison, Local 1481; Robert Kruijthoff, local 1481; Howard Boles, local 1908; John Hindert, local 4035; Richard Robert, local 284 and Pat Nordhoff, local 406.

Four area residents were arrested by Ottawa county sheriff's deputies Tuesday night in connection with the theft of an 18-foot inboard motorboat in which they spent some 36 hours adrift on Lake Michigan.

Deputies identified them as Sam Hays, 24, of Holland; Tom Boos, 26, of Saugatuck; Patricia Pudil, 32, of Hamilton, and Laurie Hays, 23, of Saugatuck. Deputies said the Hays are not related.

The four were being held in Ottawa county jail in Grand Haven awaiting court arraignment slated later Wednesday.

Holland Coast Guardsmen initiated a search for the missing boat Monday afternoon after Stan Eurich of Holland reported the inboard had been taken from his dock.

They were spotted some 36 hours later by a Coast Guard search plane around 6:15 p.m. Tuesday. The four were then drifting in the boat at a point 18 miles due west of Grand Haven.

The Fennville board at its meeting Monday night delayed its decision because of the recent millage failure and the need for school buildings in Fennville district itself. Prospect for joining later was not ruled out if school district citizens indicate interest.

The board declined a $3,500 grant from the Mott Foundation for the community school program inasmuch $2,000 is not available from the general fund to complete the program. It was stated that Mott funds will not be made available later since other school districts are making requests.

Supervisors Take County Road Tour

GRAND HAVEN — A tour of county roads and parks arranged by the Ottawa County Board of County Road Commissioners for the Ottawa County Board of Supervisors Tuesday strengthened liaison between the two bodies, focusing attention on both achievements and problems of the road commission.

The bus tour, starting at road commission headquarters in Grand Haven, took the county officials over county roads and bridges to all sections of the county with stops at the Hager Hardwood Park near Hudsonville where plans call for an extensive arboretum development, at Tunnel Park where shifting sand present a continuing problem of erosion, at the new sanitary landfill in Park township, new bridge construction over Grand River at Eastmanville, and at Deer Creek Park on Grand River at the foot of 60th Ave. in Polkton township.

The tour also took the group east of Eastmanville on Leonard Rd. past the three trees encroaching on the right of way resulting in court action against the road commission by the Eastmanville Improvement Association. A court opinion about a month ago ruled in favor of the road commission. With no appeals scheduled, the commission is now free to continue its program of removing trees within 10 feet of county roadways.

Engineer-Director Ronald Bakker also explained functions of the sanitary landfill being established off 160th Ave. between Riley and James Sts. in Park township which will serve the southwestern area of the county including Holland city. The commission is building a road a quarter mile long leading into the 40-acre area far removed from residential areas. It is expected to be ready by Oct. 1 when Holland city's sanitary landfill will be abandoned.

Bakker said the county has obtained a land use permit for this area of public owned land. The operation calls for depositing wastes two feet above the water level, compacting such wastes at two-foot depths and covering with six or eight inches of sand before depositing more wastes. When wastes are built to the established levels, two feet of earth are added. The land eventually is slated for recreational uses.

A temporary office will be established on the site and a pay gate will be some distance from the road. Bakker emphasized that all wastes going to the landfill must be covered to control neighborhood litter. Rates are based at 50 cents per vehicle carrying up to one cubic yard of waste. Small loads are based on 50 cents per cubic yard and commercial packers at 35 cents per yard.

Bakker estimates the 40-acre landfill will suffice five years. At Hager Park, a street sweeper, the newest piece of equipment for the road commission, was demonstrated for the supervisors. The sweeper mounted on a truck chassis can go to locations at speeds up to 50 mph, but in operation moves at speeds as slow as a mile an hour. It bears the customary triangle on the rear denoting slow moving vehicles.

Neal Van Leeuwen and Richard Osseward of the road commission accompanied the supervisors on the tour. Midday lunch was served at Hager Park, arranged by Richard Smalenburg, county park superintendent.

Dr. Rider Speaks at 107th Annual Hope Convocation

Hope College opened its academic year Thursday with the 107th annual formal convocation in Dimnent Memorial Chapel.

Dr. Morrette Rider, dean for academic affairs at Hope, presented the convocation address calling for the rise of a brand of higher education directed to moral purpose, the needs of society and the future of man without losing the best elements of traditional education.

"I hear much of what is referred to as rebellion among our young adults, but this rebellion can quite properly be thought of as the proper assumption of responsibility and a long overdue attention to problems requiring change," said Dr. Rider.

"Any challenge to an accustomed way of doing things can be termed a rebellion. But if this willingness to change patterns can be accompanied by competence, then the most vital of the values we seek can become the foundation for our future."

Dr. Rider saw the solution to many of the country's most vexing problems in a liberal arts education.

"We are now beginning to realize that technology and the good old American know-how will no longer suffice; that we need the broad and liberal brand of education which is the province of the liberal arts college," he said.

Dr. Rider sees the college as a place for controversy and debate, but only as a means for developing responsible leadership.

"The man and woman whose knowledge and skills has led to wisdom has not only a more satisfying education, but is the source of leadership in almost every area they enter. . . . It does mean that the college must be a center of controversy and debate. This is a prime value of democratic society and that debate and disciplined dialog may bring reason and knowledge to bear upon your education," he said.

A member of the Hope faculty for 21 years, Dr. Rider called for increased awareness by institutions of higher education to what its students are saying.

"If students of today seek moral purpose and the development of a life philosophy in addition to competence, then the failure of colleges to accept this role will inevitably result in expanded student protest, disenchantment, and very probably a decline of democratic civilization," he warned.

Dr. Rider stressed that the purpose of Hope College goes beyond the classroom.

"At Hope we strive for a vital relationship between religion and contemporary life. We seek to promote a sense of Christian community and citizenship. . . . In practice we follow the religious convictions of the Reformed Church, but reminding ourselves that to think and to think hard is a religious duty and that a religious opinion incapable of changes makes a mockery of study, thought and prayer. There is a religious conviction by consensus on this campus, but it is open for free examination and questioning. Let inquisitor and critic both be kind and seekers of the truth."

Dr. Rider closed with a challenge to the student body: "We invite you to share in this adventure of the mind, but also in the development of competence and responsibility. The unequipped and destructive revolutionary is no match for the competent, responsible and interested person, young or old, who is willing to analyze change and lead our nation in the pursuit of truth."

Dutch 'Run' To League Victory

Before a good sized crowd in Riverview Park Friday night the Holland High Dutchmen successfully opened the football season with an impressive 14-0 victory over the Muskegon Heights Tigers in a Valley Coast Conference contest.

Coach Dave Kempker felt this was "at least as good an opener as we've had since I've been here," and was "pleased with the entire team effort, even the guy's who don't play a lot."

The game started slowly with the initial first down made by the Tigers with 30 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

Holland had a good opportunity in the second quarter when Rick Berens recovered a Heights' fumble on the Heights' 32 yard line.

Holland advanced to the Heights' seven on a ten-yard run by Ken De Boer, but a 15-yard holding penalty shoved the Dutch back and on the next play Williams intercepted a Leenhouts' pass.

However, Holland came out in the second half with an awesome display of power running and aggressive defense.

Following the second half kickoff Holland drove 62 yards in 12 plays with the touchdown coming on a two-yard quarterback sneak by Jim Leenhouts with 6:26 remaining in the third period.

Bernie Rosendahl converted the extra point.

The big play in the drive was a first down off tackle run by Gary Lound on a fourth and three situation from the Heights' 33-yard line.

Heights' immediately attempted to open up their attack with end runs and roll out passes but Holland's defense exhibiting tough line play and a tremendous pass rush was too much for the Tigers as Ken De Boer intercepted a hurried Scott pass on Holland's nine yard line.

Holland iced the game with 8:52 remaining in the game on a six yard burst off tackle by Gary Lound. The run terminated the game.

ed a 76 yard drive that required eight plays.

Rosendahl again made the conversion attempt.

Coach Kempker cited the running of backs Ken De Boer (87 yards in 15 attempts), Gary Lound (77 yards in 15 carries) and Tom Riemersma (26 yards in 8 carries) and also the blocking of his offensive line. Holland was able to "grind it out" according to Kempker who felt the offensive blocking picked up after the first quarter.

Defensively Scott Boss, Rick Geerlings, Fritz Steininger, Rick Berens, and the whole defensive line kept constant pressure on the Tiger quarterback Rommie Scott.

Line coach Ray Backus felt Holland "improved as the game went along" which is born out by the fact that Holland gained 167 of their 212 yards in the second half.

This is the first time Holland has beaten the Heights in three years and since 1927 Muskegon Heights holds a 29 win, 12 loss, one tie margin over Holland.

Holland (1-0) travels to Niles (1-0) next Friday for a 7:30 p.m. non-league contest. Niles defeated Buchanan 26-0.

Both Dennis Wilson and Rodney Berkompas made four tackles each for the Panthers and Silva came up with four assists.

Meteorologist Tells Rotary About Forecasts

Although many scientific methods are used in determining the factors that make up our weather, forecasting remains an imprecise science, according to an expert who spoke to Holland Rotary Club members Thursday noon.

James Zollar, chief meteorologist at the Environmental Sciences Survey Administration (ESSA) station at the Kent County Airport in Grand Rapids, said long range predictions are comparatively easy to arrive at, but short range forecasts are especially difficult.

Many methods of observation that have been in use for years are still applied, he said. These include cloud study and comparison of air pressures. Combined with these are more sophisticated probes, such as frontal analysis, high altitude measurement of wind direction and velocity by means of radio, and photography of cloud formations by satellites.

Some satellites, he said, circle the globe at altitudes of 20,000 miles or more. These send back photos which, with other data gathered by observers throughout the world, are fed into central information stations. Regional ESSA headquarters are then supplied with detailed weather maps which help meteorologists to predict the course likely to be taken by weather factors within the next few days.

In severe weather conditions, radar is used to identify and locate storm "cells," which are towering mass formations of clouds.

Guests at the meeting included Vern Fuder who showed a preview of the motion picture "The Restless Ones" which is coming to the Civic Center for three days starting Oct. 10.

THE ART OF THE POSSIBLE

Politics is said to be the art of the possible. It is the method by which an idea becomes a program and a program becomes a way of life. It is clear to those of some experience that the idea or ideal that inspires a program always suffers some modification when it becomes a program. The ideal and the reality never quite jibe. Every politician knows this. He knows he can't get his way one hundred percent. He has to trade a little of his idea for some practical support if he is to get some of his idea worked into a going program.

Most of the politicians at the recent conventions understood this. Rockefeller tried, but found it was impossible to capture enough votes. McGovern had a go at it, but found he couldn't make it. These two men have now capitulated to circumstances and will try to further their ideas as much as possible by supporting the nominee of their respective parties. This is sensible politics.

The youngsters who were so enthusiastic about Senator McCarthy, were, we are told, "heartbroken," when their hero failed to capture the Democratic nomination. This is a sign of inexperience. To those who calculated the possibilities realistically, McCarthy never had a chance, and to be heartbroken over impossibilities is futile. McCarthy himself, in fact, ought to get on with the possible and stop sulking like a disappointed child. It should have been clear to him, too, that he never had a chance. But he can, if he gets in there, perhaps give his party's candidate a turn of mind or an emphasis that reflects something of his own thinking.

Politics is not a business for impractical idealists or for those who must always enjoy complete victories. It's really only for those who have so strong an ideal that they are willing to achieve it piecemeal by those programs and policies that at the moment are the most productive. Politicians are expected to do what they can, not to revamp the world in one campaign. Those who sulk and weep at one defeat are not the ones we should rely on to build a better country brick by brick.

Sunday School Lesson

Sunday, Sept. 22
Mission to the Nations
Jonah 3:1-5, 10; 4:1-4, 11
By C. P. Dame

The book of Jonah has a message which our times needs. It teaches the truth that God loves the world and that He is no respecter of persons. Many people ignore God all the time but God does not ignore them. I. To some of His servants God gives a hard assignment. He gave one to Jonah and it scared him. II Kings 14:25 says that Jonah, the son of Amittai, lived and prophesied during the reign of Jeroboam II, between 785 and 750 B. C. We are not told anything about his call to the prophetic office or whether he preached in his own land.

When God called Jonah the first time he tried to run away. He learned what some people are learning today that no one can run away from God. It is foolish to try to do so. Jonah, the runaway, had some unpleasant experiences on his journey. He landed in the sea and was swallowed by a great fish which spewed him out. Jesus mentions Jonah's experience.

Jonah did not want to go to the wealthy, wicked city, which had mistreated his beloved land. He was afraid that his preaching might bring the spirit of repentance to Nineveh which would result in its safety. Jonah heeded his prejudice rather than the command of God. The assignment God gave him was too hard for him and so he ran away.

II. God sometimes gives His servants a second chance. The word of God came to Jonah the second time and this time he went. God told Jonah where to go and what to say—"preach unto it the preaching that I bid thee." God gave him a message. God has given the preachers of today a message—the gospel. Well, Jonah preached the stern message, "Yet forty days, and Nineveh shall be overthrown."

The people "believed God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them, even to the least of them," even the king acted and made a proclamation that all should show signs of repentance. God was pleased but the preacher was displeased and angry and told God so in his prayer. Now Jonah should have been delighted that his preaching got a response. The preacher wanted his prophecy fulfilled rather than a city spared. III. God's servants need to be taught. Jonah sat outside of the city under a booth which he had made waiting to see what would happen to the city. "And the Lord God appointed a plant, and made it come up over Jonah that it might be a shade over his head, to save him from his discomfort." This made Jonah glad.

On the next day "God appointed a worm which attacked the plant, so that it withered." The sun arose, a sultry east wind blew, the hot rays of the sun beat upon Jonah's head and Jonah showed his anger and wanted to die. And then God talked to the peevish, selfish prophet and reproved him for being angry at the death of a plant and added the words, "And should not I pity Nineveh, that great city, in which there are more than a hundred and twenty thousand persons who do not know their right hand from their left, and also much cattle?"

Jonah knew that God was gracious. He had learned that from Moses. Therefore he too should have shown this gracious spirit. God has shown His mercy in sending Jesus Christ into this world to save people from their sins. The Church has received the gospel. God's good news, and now it is the task of the church to make it known.

Will Spiro Agnew Carry Agnew?

A couple of heretofore relatively unknown Agnews have been popping up in the news lately and both have hopes and aspirations about the coming election.

One Agnew can trace the Agnew name back to Anagnostopoulos, the other back to Johnsville. One is the Republican vice-presidential candidate, the other a small community 14 miles north of Holland on U.S. 31.

Agnew, Mich., population 100, was named after a Pere Mar-

Spiro T. Agnew

By Robert Gibson
quette railroad executive who swapped a railroad depot for the dubious immortality of having the community named after him.

Before that it was called Johnsville, named after John Behm, a weary foot-sore pioneer who so saw no reason to travel farther and settled there with his family.

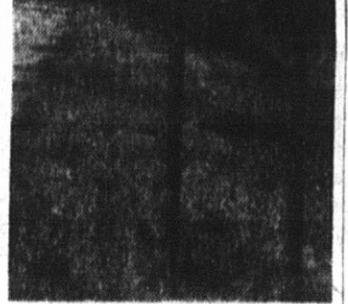

Agnew's railroad depot disappeared some time ago and there are no longer any Agnews in Agnew.

Nor are there any Anagnostopoulos in Agnew.

Moreover, the Agnew of Anagnostopoulos descent was seldom mentioned in Agnew during a recent Sentinel survey there to sample resident's opinions on the political candidates and platforms.

The residents of Agnew probably know about as much about the other Agnew as any residents anywhere. In general, he's Nixon's choice and if Nixon is your choice Agnew probably is too.

In Agnew, Agnew is for the

Agnew, Michigan

most part Nixon's choice only and Agnew's choice, based on this survey appears to be mostly somebody else.

The sudden knowledge that left the nation momentarily astonished that Spiro Agnew was a vice-presidential candidate was evidently something less than exciting in Agnew, Mich.

Agnew residents appear to find no fascination in the coincidence of names and if they were once tickled by it, it is now subliminal.

Considerations of major platforms and political personalities overwhelm any novel notions Agnew's residents may have to play a name game and Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace are the candidates foremost in their non-sense discussions.

Vice-presidential candidate's names, Agnew or otherwise, appear to have little bearing on the big issues and their names seldom came up spontaneously.

Fred Retzlaff, 1960 Lake Michigan Dr. not amused when asked if Agnew will carry Agnew, isn't worried about such things as vice-presidents. His candidate hasn't picked one yet.

Retzlaff claims he is unhappy with both major party candidates and wants to "get something better than we got."

He said he voted for the "Johnson gang" last time but is dissatisfied with the administration now and the way it "knows how to spend money."

Retzlaff referred to Nixon as a "three-time loser" but thinks Nixon will make it.

"Wallace," he said, "is better than both candidates together."

"He's a good American who believes in good American living and he's not worrying about getting a vote," Retzlaff said.

There's nodoubt in the mind of garage owner John Zimonick, either, an Agnew resident for the past 23 years.

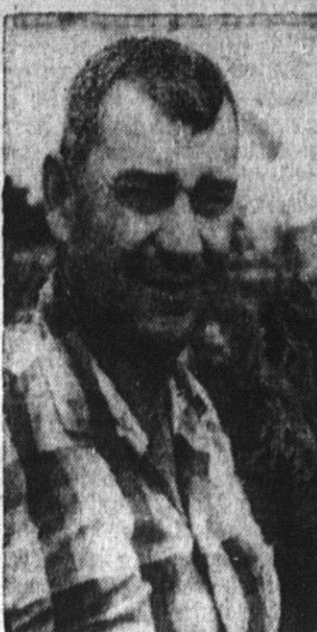

"Wallace is the only one that will do us any good," he said and was quick to point out that "a lot of people around here feel that way."

"If Wallace's name isn't on the ballot, I'll write it on," he said.

Blueberry farmer Vern Brower, 14950 Lake Michigan Dr., said he is basically a Republican but will vote for the man who will do the best job.

The President's job, in Brower's estimation, is primarily the Vietnam situation and he said the best man for it is Nixon.

"The situation we're now in,"

John Zelenka

... choosing with no choice

Vern Brower

... maybe it rubs off

Mrs. Henry Brolick

... leaving the fold

Ed Sheehan

... Nixon didn't pay off

William Maschewski

... the best isn't good

Marjorie Schroedter

... better to switch than sink

Fred Retzlaff

... Johnson blew it

Mrs. Art Chaffee

... Hubert will do his own thing

John Zimonick

... sensing the mood

he explained," is similar to the Korean action and with Eisenhower and Nixon being in then, perhaps Nixon will have some experience and be able to relate it to Vietnam."

When asked about other candidates, Brower said he admires Wallace for "saying what he thinks" and believes "some of the things Wallace says makes sense."

Undecided at present is Ed Sheehan who works for the city of Grand Rapids and raises Christmas trees on his farm on 168th Ave.

Sheehan said he is noncommittal because he is "waiting to see how the platforms compare at election time."

Although he has adopted a wait and see attitude about the major political party candidates he is sure about one thing, he won't vote for Wallace.

Sheehan said he voted for Nixon last time but lost three five dollar bets when Kennedy won.

John Zelenka, 16127 Winans, President of Zelenka Nurseries Inc., claims the political convention method of producing candidates "doesn't give the people their choice" and wants a return to the primary system.

Zelenka said he is opposed to the present administration, particularly it's Vietnam policy and the methods used the U.S. gov-erty and farm programs.

"Under the present farm program," he said, "you can't make a dime as long as the government subsidizes the unproductive farmer." Zelenka said he favors a return to a supply and demand system.

He said he favors the Nixon platform at present but also thinks that "Wallace's policies on some items are extremely good, but not his racial attitude."

Marjorie Schroedter, 1116 168th Ave., who has "been voting Republican," is "Wallace all the way."

"I don't think much of the other two," she said and feels that "Wallace is the man to best handle today's situation on communism and so forth."

"Our country is going quite Communist and I don't like that at all, so for that reason I'd like to see him in," she said and added, "if we don't fight it now, we'll be sunk."

As far as William Maschewski of 15328 Lake Michigan Dr. is concerned, "there really isn't a good candidate on the list," but in making a choice believes "Wallace is the best one on the ticket."

"He will clean up one situation, anyway," Maschewski said. "Voting is for parties," he pointed out, "not for president."

Mrs. Art Chaffee, 16318 Winans, is for Humphrey although she would have preferred the late Sen. Kennedy.

"Hubert will make a good one," she said. "He'll not necessarily go along with the present administration's policies, he'll make his own."

In regards to the present administration her opinion is, "they're doing the best they can."

Mrs. Henry Brolick, 16336 Lake Michigan Dr., claims she is "primarily a Democrat" because the Democratic party is for the working man, but quickly added that she is "not fond of the candidate."

"I've never been in favor of Nixon or the Republican party," she continued to squelch the notion that she might be joining the Nixon camp.

Not happy with either she is considering the third party. "Wallace is more for the people," she said. "He's my favorite right now."

In the background is the completed mural for the playroom walls executed for the League by Mrs. Jean Evans, former League member and local artist. ## Mural, Panels Complete For New Pediatrics Ward Individual wall panels and murals in the Holland Hospital pediatric ward have been completed and will be ready when the new wing is completed.

Junior Welfare League financed the panels and murals as well as other projects in the pediatric ward amounting to a donation of more than $10,000, the largest single donation to the new ward.

All of the donated funds were from the profits of League's cookbook, "Eet Smakelijk," first published in 1964 and now in the fourth printing. More than 16,000 cookbooks have been sold with all proceeds pledged to the hospital project.

Cookbooks have been sold and sent to all 50 states and as far away as Kenya, Africa. Both Lucy and Lynda Johnson, daughters of President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson received copies of the book before their marriages.

The panels are hanging in various rooms in the new ward and contain scenes from the large mural in the playroom. All are interchangeable and blend with the muted colors of the rooms.

Mrs. Jean Evans, former area artist and League member, completed the huge project late this summer from sketches made previously.

The mural and the small panels depict many common, small animals in different roles in hospital life. Children who will occupy the rooms will be delighted with the interpretation of the artist.

Mrs. Ray Backus and Mrs. Ronald Boeve are co-chairmen of the cookbook project this year. Mrs. George Becker is League president.

New Pediatrics Wing in Use

The new pediatric department in Holland Hospital is a quiet place — a sharp contrast to the old quarters on the third floor of the original building.

The move to the new, carpeted quarters was made Monday afternoon, transferring eight patients to a new department designed for 28 beds on the ground floor of the new addition. An influx Tuesday boosted the census, and patients there today after some discharges leveled off at 14. There were 15 beds in the old department.

Except for teenage rooms, pediatric patients enjoy free tv on sets controlled by nurses with audio controls at each bed.

Each room has its own mural keyed to a large mural in the play room. All were done by Jean Evans as part of the Pedes program of the Junior Welfare League which also provided furnishings and draperies.

These youngsters were the highest scorers in their states on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, given last February in 17,500 schools nationwide. The Semi-finalists constitute less than one percent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the United States.

The Semi-finalists show high promise for leadership in their adult careers, according to John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. "They have already demonstrated both high intellectual capacity and a readiness to develop their abilities," he said.

"These students deserve credit and honor. They bring honor to their families, who deserve much credit, as do their teachers and their communities. Their future success, however, will depend increasingly upon their ability to become productive at the high intellectual levels of which they are capable," Stalnaker said.

Semi-finalists must advance to Finalist standing to be considered for Merit Scholarships, since all winners will be selected from the finalist group. Semi-finalists become Finalists by receiving the endorsement of their schools, submitting scores from a second examination, and providing information about their achievements and interests.

Every Semi-finalist who becomes a Finalist will be considered for one of the 1,000 National Merit $1,000 Scholarships, allocated by state. Many will also be considered for the four-year Merit Scholarships provided by some 400 corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations.

Winners of four-year Merit Scholarships may receive up to $1,500 a year for four college years, depending on their individual need. Winners of the National Merit $1,000 Scholarships will receive one-time stipends of $1,000 upon enrollment in college.

High school grades, accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities, and school citizenship of the finalists are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting Merit Scholarship winners.

Names of the winners in the 1968-69 Merit Program will be announced by early May 1969. Some 18,700 students have received Merit Scholarships in the thirteen annual programs to date. Nearly $60 million in financial assistance to Merit Scholars and their colleges has been expended or committed through the Merit Program to date.
