For all Protestant churches the debt represents 5.6 per cent, of the valuation, and for all Catholic churches 16.9 per cent. Speaking of chickens, about the most royal birds in this section and without doubt as handsome fowls as there are anywhere are the five Black Orpingtons owned by Messrs. Webster and Edward Horan jr., and kept by John Katherler on Western-ave. Early last spring those gentlemen sent to New Jersey to the original Black Orpington importers for a setting of eggs, for which they have admitted since, they paid one dollar each. From the setting they got but five chickens, two cockerels and three pullets, but they are more than two-thirds grown and have all their new feathers. They have the beautiful green color which Black Orpington breeders so greatly seek to develop and the shape of the fowls and the many other points give evidence of perfection. It does not take an experienced chicken fancier to see the beauty of those fowls. Their owners have had many flattering offers for them but will not let them go at least until after the Allegan show.—Allegan Gazette.

"The Alderman's Pay"

Not a little talk has been occasioned from the fact that the aldermen have seen fit to submit to the people along with certain other propositions pertaining to changes in the city charter the question of a raise in salary that will double the present amount now paid each alderman and will raise the mayor's salary from $100 to $200 if approved by the voters.

It is well that both sides of this question be discussed before the matter comes to a vote. Our contemporary the Sentinel has seen fit to argue both sides of the question in a somewhat lengthy article and without coming out flatly for or against the raise, has said that a little is worse than nothing and that if there is to be any raise it should be a substantial one.

That is all very well, acting upon the hypothesis that the aldermen and mayor are serving the city simply for the pay that there is in it. But the News believes that hypothesis to be incorrect. Now and then there may be an occasional official who has eyes for the meagre salary that is to be paid and makes the run for election but by the time his election expenses are paid out of the fifty dollars that is paid at present he has to dig down in his pocket for the "money" to pay for the cigars that he must smoke at the meeting to show that he is a good fellow."

The first salary paid to aldermen of the city of Holland was $50. This salary has been the same through a long period of years during which time Holland has grown from a small town to a thriving city. At no time has anyone of intelligence in Holland supposed that the sum paid the aldermen was adequate or intended to be adequate to repay them for their time and labor. It was merely an appreciation of their energy and zeal exercised on various occasions in the city's behalf. Indeed $100 would not now be adequate but it would help show the appreciation of the people for the outlay of time made by the aldermen. Few people realize that the actual time spent in the council meeting constitutes about one fifth of the time spent by the aldermen in behalf of the city.

That men serving for nothing will be serving from purely patriotic motives and consequently will be better men in the council is an argument of little weight in this case for the sum to be paid, after considering the outlay of expense incidental to the office, amounts in the end to nothing or practically nothing. The alderman should receive enough at least to defray the legitimate expenses thrown upon them by reason of their office and $100 in these times is surely no more than enough for that.

The Fair and Market Day

The Holland Fair as it comes to the people of Holland and vicinity today is largely an evolution. It is not so long ago that many citizens in the community can still remember in exact detail the old Market Day in Holland when the farmer folk from far and near drove into town with loads of farm produce of every description, cattle, sheep, poultry, in short everything that the fertile farm lands of Ottawa and Allegan county yielded up to the tillers of the soil.

The older citizens can yet remember the long array of loaded farm wagons, covering often many city blocks. The hustle and confusion of the traders engaged in buying, selling and trading; the chatter of the children, brought from the farms to the city to be present at the market; the curious crowd of disinterested bystanders of which many a present day citizen of Holland can recall, with himself a part and parcel of the same; the harmless gossip of the women who came with their families for a days outing at the market; the healthy love making of the lads and lasses carried out shyly while those responsible for the support and maintenance of the family were driving keen bargains among themselves. Such was the old market day.

But the Fair with its racing, its exhibits, its side show, its refreshment stands, its strenuousness, its "jollity, frivolity and fun" has gradually absorbed many of the features of Market Day—but not all.

Today the farmers and their wives bring to town the result of their best work and place it side by side with the work of their neighbor that it may receive the trial and judgement of competent judges, that the people may all have an opportunity of seeing what the farmers of Ottawa and Allegan counties can produce. All this is well. It stimulates industry and fires the farmer folk with ambition to excel, to bring forth the best fruit of their labor and show it with pride to their neighbors.

But at the Fair there are others than farmer folk. Nearly every citizen of Holland, every household-er and housewife turns out at least on one of the days of the Fair to see the work of the farmer. The thought often comes to the visitor that such potatoes as those on exhibition in baskets at the Fair would look well in the bin in his cellar. That such apples as those on the little wooden plates would be of use to him by bushel or barrel in the winter that is approaching; that such turnips, squashes, pumpkins, such produce, would be serving a better purpose doubled or trebled in quantity in his home.

Perhaps under proper arrangements there would be opportunity at the Holland Fair for the householder or the city merchant to find bargains in buying produce, poultry and such things that would never be found otherwise but that at the old Market Day were there in abundance. This is a feature of Market Day that the Fair has not but the time may come when the Fair will adopt the feature and become even more profitable to both farmer and townsman.

No Cause for Action

The jury in the medical case of Julia A. Golden against Dr. Frederick D. Smith, brought in a verdict of no cause for action, after being out but a short time. All of the testimony was closed Thursday Messrs. Osterhous and Farr and Congressman Diekema occupied the time during the morning session and Walter I. Lillie closed up the arguments in the afternoon. Judge Padgham charged the jury immediately and delivered a fair and impartial charge.

Apparently the members of the jury did not spend much time arguing the case in the jury room as they were not out over an hour. The quick return of the jurors was rather a surprise to the interested parties on both sides. The verdict was a great blow to Mrs. Golden who has gone through a great deal in her suit to recover damages from Dr. Smith, whom she charged with negligence and malpractice. Mrs. Golden asked damages from the doctor, whose treatment she claimed was responsible for a condition of septic poisoning, which nearly cost her her life.

Dr. Smith, naturally was greatly pleased with the outcome of the case, which though he won, cost him a goodly sum of money to fight. The doctor's claim is that he was perfectly right in his treatment of the patient and was in no way responsible for the septic condition which developed in Mrs. Golden's system and caused her a long and dangerous illness.

The case has been one of the hardest fought of any ever tried in the Ottawa county circuit court. Both sides stubbornly fought every point in the trial and every bit of testimony was carefully sifted before it passed without objection.

Some of the best medical talent in the middle west was called to testify on both sides and the doctors gave some excellent testimony which was enlightening to the jurors, attorneys and medical men, who were in attendance.

Grand Haven has been stung once or twice, but this is not the only town that gets it according to some reports which come sifting in occasionally from our neighbors. Holland is using an oil preparation on its streets and it is said is satisfied with the results. A little bird has flown out with the story that Holland paid 25 cents per gallon for the oil and received an over abundance at that, when other cities for instance, pay but three cents. Then too, Holland's new city hall is alleged to be costing more than was estimated. One of the luxuries of the new building is said to be a large, handsome marble slab bearing the names of the city officers. This is said to have cost a few—Grand Haven Tribune.

The oil put on the streets here was placed there entirely at the expense of the contractor as a demonstration. It did not cost the City a cent. It is true that it costs 25 cents per gallon and that Crude oil can be bought for 3 cents per gallon but the application just made in Holland was 90 per cent water. The city it must be admitted paid for the water. The slab in question did cost a few—very few, though. No fewer than $50 all told for which an allowance had been made in figuring the cost of the building. There are a few more things we could say to the Editor of the Grand Haven Tribune to enlighten him, but we are too busy with our own business to day. Ed.

A. J. Ward has decided to take up his residence in Grand Haven. It is alleged that he has his eye on the City Clerkship.

Michigan Beets Beat Germany's

"Michigan is very likely to be the banner beet sugar state in this country," said F. R. Hathaway, of the Michigan Beet Sugar company. "Last year we were second to Colorado, but Michigan beets are showing a much higher sugar content than those in the irrigated Colorado districts. In Colorado the farmers are paid a flat rate of $5 per ton for their beets, while Michigan farmers are paid according to the percentage of sugar content. Last year the average price per ton was $6 and our beets are improving every year, the percentage of sugar content having increased from 13 per cent to 17 per cent. Last year the farmers were paid $6,000,000 for sugar beets and it is worthy of note that 80 per cent of the farmers stay with the factories year after year."

"It may surprise you to know that Michigan beets are the equal of German sugar beets in everything but production per acre. The average in Michigan is 10 tons to the acre, while in Germany the average is 13 1/2 tons. Our sugar content is just as high and the production is increasing as the farmers are using improved methods and giving the beets more attention. There are now 16 factories in the state and the industry is one of which the state can be proud, thanks to the effort of Senator Burrows, for the industry would have been throttled out but for the winning fight he made in congress."

Do You Sell or Use Milk?

Health Officer Godfrey assisted by the State Dairy and Food commissioners is carrying on a thorough examination of all dairies including stables, milk receptacles, barn yards disinfectants and ventilation.

The milkmen, must from now on, be ready to stand rigid examinations upon the following questions: Full name? Number of cows? Condition of cows? Are they clean? Do milkers wash their hands before milking? Are the stables clean? Is milk taken from stables as soon as drawn? Where is the milk kept till delivered? Is a cloth or wire strainer used? Is the barn yard clean? Are the stables whitewashed? Is any disinfectant used? Are the stables ventilated? If so, how?

The examiner fills out blanks on which all the above questions are asked, adds the date of the examination, year, month and day, certifies that the examination has been made personally by him and that the answers made are correct.

This insures to milk users ample protection against unclean methods and offends to the milk dispensers a safeguard against unjust and malicious insinuations.

Gets $500 Reward

When J. Boyd Pantlind of Grand Rapids, and owner of Ottawa Beach hotel on an auto trip with his family was passing through Paw Paw, something went wrong with the machine. He got out, ducked under the car and fussed around till all was lovely again and then the party proceeded.

A few miles on and he discovered that an envelope containing $125 in cash and $7,000 worth of diamonds was missing from an inner pocket of his coat. At once he suspected that it had fallen out while he was tinkering with the auto, and a quick return here was made. The spot where the repairs had been made was located, and while several of the party were searching about in the sandy road, up sauntered Jim Marshall with an inquiry as to what was up. Upon being enlightened, he produced the identical missing envelope, which he had found lying in the road and handed it over.

Tickled at recovering what he had almost given up for lost, Mr. Pantlind drew out his checkbook and a fountain pen, filled out a blank check and handed it to Marshall. Then he drove on rejoicing, and Marshall stayed behind, also rejoicing, for the check was for $500.

Hope College News

The first meeting of the Ulfilas club, the Dutch literary society was held Monday evening. There was an unusually large attendance at this opening meeting which speaks well for the future success of the club. Following the address of the president, Eldred Vander Laan, came the following numbers which were greatly enjoyed by the members: "Zomer Leven in Chicago" by Clarence Dame, a humorous poem on the club yell by Benj. Wynveen and a description of Dutch student life by Prof. A. Raap.

Tuesday evening in Winants chapel the Y. M. C. A. gave its annual reception to the new students of the college. About 175 members of the faculty and student body were present. Addresses were made by E. O. Schwitters, president of the Y. M. C. A. and by Dr. Kollen and Prof. J. E. Kuizenga. Next week the joint reception of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. will be held.

Rev. J. J. Bannings of Pasumalai, S. India, has plans in contemplation for the organizing of a Fraternal Society there similar to the one at Hope College. He has written to the officers of the local society for information concerning the charter, by-laws, etc., which will be furnished him at once. The name of society in India will be "Segathersa Sangam," which translated means "A Society of Brothers."

About 36 students have enrolled in Prof. Raap's special class in Dutch.

Wiley's Egg Test is Simple

It is real easy to tell when eggs are fresh and when they are not without breaking the shell, according to statements made by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the government's chief chemist, at the "high-cost-of-living" hearing being conducted by a House subcommittee.

Dr. Wiley not only explained, but also demonstrated, a practically infallible method. He had a big glass beaker about three-fourths filled with a 10 per cent solution of common table salt. Into this he dropped the eggs. All the fresh eggs sank to the bottom of the beaker, while the eggs that were not fresh floated a fourth or a third out of the water.

The eggs used that day were all labeled. Some of them were laid the day before, and Dr. Wiley knew this to be a fact, for one of his faithful inspectors hung around a chicken yard about laying time and collected the eggs before they got cold. Dr. Wiley explained that to the committee to relieve any doubts the members might have had as to the authenticity of the exhibits in the case.

Lifting Cats and Rabbits

It is a mistaken idea that the proper way to lift a full grown cat is by the nape of its neck without supporting the lower part of its body with the other hand. It is true that the mother cat carries young kittens by grasping in her mouth the loose at the back of her offspring's neck, but a tiny kitten is a very different matter from a large cat, and, indeed the only way to lift a kitten without squeezing or hurting its soft little body is to lift it by its neck. But after it has grown larger its own weight is too great to be supported by such a bit of skin and fur as is so grasped by the hand, and many a cat suffers perfect tortures by being held in this manner and is quite helpless to run or struggle, as in such a position certain of its muscles cannot be controlled, and it is absolutely at the mercy of its unfeeling tormentor.

The same rule should be observed in lifting rabbits by their ears. They should always be partially supported by the free hand and not allowed to dangle with their whole weight straining from their large but necessarily delicate ears.—Watchword.

Some Good Ones

As everyone who has visited London knows, said a young man formerly attached to our Embassy at the British capital, "the number of passengers carried on certain buses is limited by regulation."

"Once a kindly Irish conductor, though quite aware that his bus was full, had permitted a young and sickly woman to squeeze in. The bus had not proceeded far before the usual crank spoke up. 'Conductah!' he exclaimed. 'You've over your number, y' know!'

"Have I, sir?" asked the conductor with affected concern. Then, beginning to count from the opposite end, leaving the complainant until the last, he repeated: 'Wan, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen—I have, sir, an, be the Lord Harry, ye're the wan. Out ye go!'

"And out he did go."

Reuben and Ruth were gazing at the congested traffic in the city street when a disabled taxicab, towed by a motor truck, passed.

"That's the proper way to do it, b'gosh!" cackled Reuben.

"Do what?" said Ruth.

"Why, take 'em to the lockup with a come-along when they're arrested for speedin'," said Reuben.

Bishop Wilson, of the M. E. church tells of a young preacher who went out fishing for trout, accompanied by a couple of young ladies.

A farmer who was also out fishing called to the young clergyman:

"Ketchin' many trout, Sonny?"

"I am a fisher of men," said the young preacher with dignity.

"I see you've got the right kind of bait," was the reply.

Refused to pay for G. H. Trip

The common council last Wednesday night showed that they are watching the city's pocketbook carefully, and especially in connection with the city hall. Some time ago they passed a rule allowing F. N. Jonkman pay for no more than one hour a day. So when in the claims and accounts a bill was presented calling for $21.55, Ald. Jellema demurred. It was found that Mr. Jonkman, on advice of the city hall committee had made two trips to Grand Haven to inspect material shipped from there, and the expense for the trips footed up to $9.50. The aldermen did not object to the trip being made because they were necessary, but claimed that the Rickman Sons should foot the bill according to the contract. The bill was consequently allowed with the $9.50 stricken out.

PLOT TO PLUNGE PAINTERS FROM A HIGH BUILDING

COWARDLY ATTEMPT TO WRECK A SCAFFOLD BY THE USE OF ACID.

Pittsburg.—What at first was thought to have been an accident, which almost resulted disastrously to many pedestrians in Fifth avenue, has turned out to have been a dastardly attempt at murder, presumably the work of a fiend or insane man. But for the twisting of a guy rope on a scaffold and the presence of mind of the three men working on the Hotel Antler, they, and possibly some of the passerby four stories below them, would have been crushed to death.

A reward of $250 has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who put acid on the scaffold.

Painters in Peril.

ropes, which it is claimed parted one rope as neatly as if it had been cut with a knife when the weight of three men was placed upon it.

The contractor found evidences of acid having been applied to the part of the rope which broke. This, he thinks, was done by some person trying to kill all the men at work when the scaffold would fall. He does not suspect who could have placed the acid on the rope, which for several nights has been put into a barrel and allowed to remain standing on the sidewalk in front of the Hotel Antler. Whoever applied the acid to the rope did so in one spot only, so that it would require some little weight to pull it apart after it had destroyed the manila tissue of the rope.

The boss had to climb down a rope from the fourth story to the scaffold to release the twisted guy rope and relieve the men who were suspended in the air and holding on by their arms and legs in imminent danger of losing their hold and their lives at the same time. He was cheered by the great crowd that gathered as he slowly swung himself loose and let himself slide down the ropes to the scaffold.

The accident happened shortly after noon, when the three employees, John Thompson, Herbert Clems and William Blackburn, were preparing to raise the scaffold upon which they were working cleaning the granite front of the hotel, from the fourth story to the fifth. The rope on the right hand side of the scaffold parted near the scaffold without warning and Thompson, who had been pulling on the guy rope on that side, just tightened his hold and hung suspended in the air as the scaffold fell from him.

Clems and Blackburn, with rare presence of mind, on the opposite end of the swinging ladder each grabbed as the other end dropped, one catching the scaffold and the other the ropes on the other side. The guy rope twisted and held the scaffold from falling clear and each of the men clung desperately, while the crowd below scattered and gathered on the other side of the street, expecting any minute to see the men drop to certain death.

Contractor Smith was eating in the hotel when he heard a cry that the scaffold had broken. He raced up the stairs until he reached the fifth floor and, swinging out of the window, he grabbed the suspended guy rope and slid down to where he could release this rope and allow the swinging ladder to descend to the pavement.

LOST CASH FOUND BY HENS

Roll Dropped by a Farmer Is Discovered Being Fought Over by His Chickens.

Logansport, Ind.—Ray Morts, living ten miles north of Logansport, came to the city intending to deposit $500 which he had received for his wheat. On reaching the bank he discovered the money was missing from his pocket.

Immediately he telephoned to his wife, and was chewed when she said she had found the cash.

Notes of Sport

Holland High school came out of Saturday's game with Allegan victors by a 10 to 0 score. The boys feel much encouraged over the result of this first game which was regarded as a test of their strength as the team is light and unused to the new foot ball rules with their many radical changes. Besides this there were but three of last years veterans in the line up. Next Saturday Holland plays Otsego High here. Other games are scheduled with Grand Haven, Muskegon, Allegan and Benton Harbor.

Ray Rinkus, a local base ball pitcher of considerable ability has pitched himself into the good graces of the Reed City fans by winning a 3 to 1 victory from the Marion players, a team composed chiefly of ex-leaguers. The game was played for a $100 side bet. Rinkus has spent the summer in Reed City pitching for the Independent team of that place.

Herman Meppink and Dick Dogger are playing a five game series this week for the city pool championship at Smiths' billiard parlors. Up to date Dogger has taken two of the games.

Services were Impressive

Dr. Bernard De Vries opened the program with a prelude and the invocation was pronounced by Rev. E. J. Blekkink. Rev. John Balcom Shaw of Chicago spoke on "What Think Ye of the Christ?" Dr. J. W. Beardslee's charge to his son was filled with pathos and deeply affected the audience. The ordination and installation was conducted by Rev. Lawrence Dykstra. Prof. Kruijenga's charge to the people and Dr. Steffen's charge to the pastor were full of valuable hints and both referred to the new pastor and his work in terms of high praise.

Abraham De Kwak

A man came over from the Netherlands in 1855 and first settled at Grand Haven. He soon removed to Ionia. He raised celery and was a brewer. At Ionia he was converted to God, gave up the brewing business and turned all his beer into Grand river. The following article which I find in the Ionia Daily Standard of Sept. 15 will no doubt interest your readers as it has me. In these days of formalism and doubt it is refreshing to hear a voice that gives no uncertain sound.

The Evening News reporter at Durand rounded up Uncle Abraham De Kwak the other day for an interview and sent to his paper the following:

"The Lord and I are partners," said the little old man with a bright smile. "He grows the celery and I harvest it and sell it. The Lord can get along without me but I could not get along without him. 'He says to me Uncle Kwak, so long as you work patientiv and well, we shall be partners, and you shall have a living' and so I travel all over around my home, which is Ionia-Lowell, Saranac, Greenville, Ada and Muir. It is not often I get as far away as Durand. But I am having good luck, thank the good Lord."

Abraham DeKwak is a quaint and pleasing figure, with his broad wooden yoke over his shoulders, from it suspended either side the big basket of celery which he raised himself. His eyes are clear and keen, despite his 82 years. There is not a sour or disappointed wrinkle in his round smooth-shaven face. He has been smiling at the world so long that he couldn't be morose or ill tempered if he tried. "How long have I been raising celery?" he said. "Bless you, for more than 70 years. My father raised it before me in Holland, and I helped him. I have been in America 55 years, and all the time I have been watching the celery grow, and caring for it and harvesting it and selling it to people who like clean wholesome food."

"Uncle Kwak" as he is affectionately known in his home town, is a class leader in the Ionia Methodist church and has been active in religious circles for more than half a century. "I am licensed to preach in the Methodist church" he explained; "but I cannot read or write so I keep on with my celery and do what I can for the church besides."

The yoke which he wears on his shoulders—a queer old country affair—is painted black. Across the back in bright yellow letters appears the motto: "My yoke is easy, my burden light; my masters will is my delight."

My Master sent me that message 1900 years ago," said Uncle Kwak. "I've borne this yoke a long time. I get tired toward the end of the day, but I think of that message, and it seems no weight at all. I won't be peddling celery much longer. My race is nearly run. Often I wonder" the smile grew wistful, "if there will be any celery to tend in the heavenly gardens. If there is I know my partner will let me tend it." And Abraham De Kwak went on his way calling, "Celery, Celery."

Making Money

Some men make their money in business—some in stocks—some by toilsome saving of their daily wage; but we submit to you the unquestioned fact that more men have reached a comfortable competence through the ownership of property, houses and land which bring in a fixed income; or a sure increase in value, than in any other way.

Business requires your sole attention; stocks mean sleepless nights and days of worry—while property works by itself for you without your care.

Select it—set it to work—it takes care of itself and will take care of you.

A good example of this sort of investment is found in the exceptionally good bargains we offer below.

WISE AND FOOLISH VIRGINS

Matthew 25:1-13—October 2

"Be ye therefore ready also; for the Son of man cometh at an hour when ye think not."
—Luke 12:40.

THE Great Teacher in today's Study tells us further about his glorious Messianic Kingdom and concerning those who will be accounted worthy to share it with him—as his Bride. This parable has not been of general application all through this Gospel Age. It applies merely at the close of the Age—at the present time, we believe. It does not take into consideration the world, nor even the nominal Church, but solely, only, the true Church, the Virgin class. The word "virgin" signifies pure, and in using this term the Lord implies that he is referring only to those who have been justified, by faith and consecration, because by nature none are pure; none are holy; none are virgins.

Five Wise—Five Foolish

One of the special lessons of the parable is to show that amongst the pure, the wise, the consecrated people of God, there are two classes. For a time these will be all together—unseparated. But in the fulfilling of this parable certain circumstances and conditions and truths will develop and separate these two classes of saints, virgins.

The parable shows all the virgins as sleeping, waiting for the coming of the Bridegroom. Apparently, there is no difference; but really there is a difference—the wise had a larger supply of oil than had the foolish. Then came an announcement of the presence of the Bridegroom and a call to go forth to meet him. This implies that something from the prophetic Word at the appropriate time will call the attention of all the Virgin class to the presence of Messiah. But at the Second Advent it will be as it was at the First Advent, when John said to Jesus, "Behold there standeth one among you whom ye know not." We are not to expect the Second Coming of Christ in the flesh, but as a spirit being.

We are to remember that the Scriptures outline two distinct features connected with the Second Coming. First will come the parousia or "presence" of the Lord, recognizable only by the Wise and Foolish Virgins. In his parousia or "presence" he will test and prove his Church, dividing them into wise and foolish virgin classes—the wise virgins to become the Bride class and the foolish virgins to become the class who will experience a second grade of salvation—coming up out of great tribulation and becoming the Bridesmaids, so to speak, "the virgins, the Bride's Companions, who follow after her" (Psalm xiv, 14). These will attain great blessings in spiritual life, but fail to gain the prize of joint-heirship with the Lord in his Throne, in his Kingdom.

Later on will come the manifestation of Christ with his Church, in power and great glory, in the setting up of his Messianic Kingdom and in the overthrow of everything contrary to it. Concerning this manifestation we read, "When he shall appear, see, also (the Bride class), will appear with him in glory."—Col. iii, 4.

er and great glory, in the setting up of his Messianic Kingdom and in the overthrow of everything contrary to it. Concerning this manifestation we read, "When he shall appear, see, also (the Bride class), will appear with him in glory."—Col. iii, 4.

It will be in the time of the presence, the parousia, of the Son of man, for the gathering of the "elect," that all the Virgins will be awakened by the message of the Truth. Some will be able to appreciate, others will not be able to appreciate his presence. The latter will need to "go and buy" the oil, the wisdom, the understanding, of the Divine Word. It will cost some of them considerable of self-sacrifice and humiliation to learn their lessons. Such as obtain the oil in time will join the party that will go in with the Bridegroom to the marriage feast. Then the door to that High Calling will close forever.

Thank God that it is not as we once supposed—that the door of mercy is to close, shutting out the foolish Virgins of the Church, together with the whole world of mankind; and, as we once supposed, shutting them into eternal torment. The parable merely shows that the closed door will exclude any others from coming into the Bride class, to be joint-heirs with Messiah in his Kingdom. The door will close because the full number elected and predestinated to this high honor will Jesus came. He came not to damn (condemn) them more, but that they through him might have life (John x, 10; iii, 17).

Life! Did they not have life? No. All human life was forfeited through father Adam's disobedience. All mankind are dying as a result. A Life-Giver, a Savior from death (and not from eternal torment, was what was needed.

The first work of the Savior is the redemptive work of Calvary. His second work is the selection of his Church to be his joint-heirs in the Kingdom. His third work will be the saving of Adam and all his race from sin and death—from all the mental, moral and physical degradation which came through father Adam's disobedience.

and through his children being born in sin and shapen in iniquity and in sin conceived by the mothers.

The saving of the Church is a great work! How faithful we should be if we have heard, if our eyes have seen, if our hearts have tasted of the grace of God in this wonderful privilege of becoming members of the Bride of Christ. However, we cannot suppose that the saving of merely a handful of select ones is the purpose of God in the creation of the world and in the redeeming of the world. On the contrary, this elect "Little Flock" is spoken of as a "first-fruits unto God of his creatures" (James i, 18; Revelation xiv, 4). This implies an after-fruitage much more numerous. While God does not propose to save anyone out of death and to life eternal contrary to the individual will, he does propose that every creature lost in Adam and redeemed by Jesus shall be brought to a clear knowledge of the Truth, that they may be saved. He does propose that only the willingly obdurate shall be lost; and their loss will be the loss of life—as the Apostle declares, "everlasting destruction."

WHAT YOU SAW IN THIS PAPER

35 Years ago To-day.

A sad case of suicide was discovered on Thursday last.—About two months ago a young man, named Carl Yohansen, came to this place, from Sweden bringing with him his wife and one child. They were very poor and his first object was to obtain employment. He went to the Lake Shore and applied for work at De Coudre's mill. This was given him and on being informed that he could have work all winter if he wished, he seemed much pleased and expressed his thanks in broken English. Three days after his arrival he complained of being sick and said he would go to Holland, obtain some medicine and return the next day. That was the last seen of him, alive.

A few days after his young wife, about twenty years old, walked down to the Lake Shore, with her baby in her arms, in search of her husband. She remained at the residence of Mr. George Murdock, where she received the kindest of treatment, for several days; during which time every effort was made to find the missing man. As the search proved fruitless the poor woman became almost heartbroken. In a strange land, unable to speak the new language with the additional weight of sorrow occasioned by the continued absence of her husband, her position can better be imagined than described. This suspense lasted for two weeks; when on Wednesday afternoon the man was found.—A little girl named Amanda Brown while picking berries in the woods suddenly came upon the body of a man hanging by the neck to a tree. She was of course frightened at the ghastly sight and ran home.

A report of the affair was brought to this place Thursday morning and it became our duty to assist the coroner at the inquest. This resulted in a verdict of suicide. The dead man had cut a leather thong from his boot and fastening one end to a small tree placed his neck in the noose, killing himself by falling forward. His feet and knees were on the ground so death was occasioned by strangulation.

The deceased had a brother-in-law residing near the railroad, who was notified of the fact. The suicide's wife was at her brothers house. She was informed of the sad affair, after the brother had started for the scene of the tragedy, as it was not considered advisable for her to see the horrible sight. The poor woman did not stop but rushed from the house.—The jury and officers' had just returned from viewing the body and reached the road, when we saw a woman running towards us.—The sight of the basket found near her husband's body told the story to her. With one of those long, terrible screams that ring in your ears for weeks and months, she fell upon her face. Kind hands raised her and the woman present cared for and soothed her.

The distance she had traveled was seven miles, and as the poor woman told her brother, she would run until the exhaustion and excitement caused her to fall down in the road. Lying there a moment she would recover and rise to her feet and continue the terrible journey.

The case is truly one which should appeal to the hearts of all, and as we understand, the widow and child are utterly destitute; while the brother, also a Swede, is a poor laborer. We should suggest to benevolent individuals that a purse containing a sum of money could not be given to a more deserving person.

WHAT YOU SAW 30 YEARS AGO

Just about the time we were printing our last week's issue, Mr. W. Wakker, made the transfer of his entire stock of furniture, carpets, etc., to H. Meyer, Brouwer & Co., and our neighbor, De Hollander, is trying very hard to see how big a fool he can make of himself, by saying, four days afterwards, that we were wrong at the time we were to work at it. We advise him to attend to his seconds before he fools away any more time that way.

We received a letter of W. W. Burke, inspector for the government at Galveston, Texas, and the printed proposals to let some brushwork. It seems that the Government engineers are doing brush work now days at every place where it can be used. An importation direct from the Netherlands, will be the next move, perhaps, in order to have this work done. The work at Lincoln Park, Chicago, by Messrs. R. Kantera & Son, receives the highest praise from every engineer who inspect it, and it is fair to presume that Mr. Kantera's work is the criterion of this newly adopted mode of harbor work in this country.

WHAT YOU SAW 25 YEARS AGO

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dalman, on Thursday, Sept. 24, a girl.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Blom were made happy this week by the advent into their family of a bouncing baby boy.

Dr. B. J. DeVries has broke ground and will erect a residence and office on Eighth street next to Kremers & Bangs' drugstore. The doctor is severely criticised for the building of a house on a good store site.

For a number of years there has been a portable saw mill near the dividing line between the townships of Blendon and Zeeland. This mill has had numerous owners, and is at present located on ground that is now the subject of a legal contest between Mr. Jennison, of Jennisonville, and Mr. Jordon of Kalamazoo. This mill was the scene of a terrible accident on last Saturday, by which Mr. Christian DeJong came near losing his life. There were three men employed in the mill, Mr. DeJong being head sawyer, and the ostensible owner. On Saturday morning at ten o'clock, something being the matter with the pump supplying the boiler with water, the mill was stopped and repairs were commenced. Mr. DeJong, as the engine stopped, took occasion to tighten a belt, and for this purpose jumped down into a sort of pit under the saw. The men fixing the pump, not knowing that he was there, started the engine slowly. Mr. DeJong on seeing the saw move, attempted to get out, and fell in such a manner that the saw struck him, literally tearing off his left arm and cutting off his shoulder blade and a portion of his collar bone. It was a terrible wound. Drs. Huisenga, of Zeeland, and Kremers, of this city were summoned and attended the suffering man. The cut was fifteen inches in length. On Sunday it was thought that the patient would succumb, but by hyperdermic injections of brandy he was rallied, and is at present in a fair way for recovery.

Since the opening of Hope college last week, we have been enabled to obtain the following information as to its prosperous and hopeful condition. The various courses of study in the Institution have been rearranged and the branches as now taught are distributed as follows:

We learn that the creamery will run the year round, and that arrangements are being made for an active increase. The Holland Crystal Creamery has always been a popular institution with the farmers of this vicinity, and its product is never a drug upon the market.

WORSE EVERY YEAR

Plenty of Holland Readers Have the Same Experience.

Don't neglect an aching back. It will get worse every year. Backache is really kidney ache. To cure the back you must cure the kidneys.

If you don't, other kidney ills follow—

Urinary troubles, diabetes, Bright's disease.

A Holland citizen tells you how—the cure is easy.

William Van Dort, 25 E. Tenth St., Holland, Mich., says: "I suffered from kidney trouble and backache for over ten years. The kidney secretions were irregular and painful in passage and also contained sediment. My back was so weak and lame that I could hardly stoop or lift and if I caught cold, it always settled in my kidneys, causing me to suffer more acutely. I doctored a great deal, but never succeeded in finding relief until I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Doesburg's Drug Store. I was benefited in a short time and before long I was cured. I still take this remedy occasionally, when feeling tired or run down and relief always follows."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Weihe of Macatawa Park will make their trip to West Palm Beach, Florida, in their new Franklin touring car. They have decided to go through Detroit across the Southern border of Canada into New York state, thence down the Atlantic coast. This route has been selected partly because the roads are better than the more direct route through Indiana and Kentucky and partly because Mr. and Mrs. Weihe desire to visit relatives enroute.

The Royal Neighbors of America will adopt a large class Thursday evening Oct. 6.

The Pere Marquette will install the telephone system instead of the telegraph for dispatching trains. The telephone will gradually supplant the telegraph on every branch of the road.

The Modern Woodmen will adopt a class of 50 new members Friday evening Oct. 7 in Eagle Hall at 8:15 o'clock. Following the adoption of the new members there will be a banquet in the Woodman hall which banquet will be in charge of a committee of ten, made up of wives of members of the organization. All members are urged to attend both the adoption and the banquet.

Owners of $10,000 Orpingtons will hear with alarm mingled, perhaps, with some incredulity, that a hen near Scranton, Pa., lays as many as seven eggs a day and never less than two. With eggs selling at 40 cents a dozen in Scranton, it will be seen that if this paragon in the poultry world can be multiplied, the possessor of a dozen such hens can retire from active work and become a man of leisure in a small way. From July 20 to August 20 the hen's record was seventy-one eggs, taking care of a brood of chicks all the while. On several occasions she laid three, four and five eggs in a single day. Remarkable to relate, there is no strain of fancy blood in this astonishing chicken. She is just an ordinary self-made hen, without airs and sans medals and blue ribbons. Evidently appreciating the needs of a great egg-eating nation of 90,000,000 people afflicted with cold storage warehouses, she has done her best to make herself popular. To Pennsylvania she is what the cow Josephine is to Missouri—peerless among her kind. The old-fashioned uniparous hen must now become completely a back number; the modern septiparous creature is all the omelette.

The Council Meeting

Several things of unusual interest presented themselves before the council at their meeting last week. Chief among them was the alleged action of the gas company in failing to live up to the terms of its franchise. The officials of the company and the city fathers have failed to agree upon an interpretation of the franchise and the city attorney was at last weeks council meeting authorized to bring suit to annul the franchise.

It was decided at the meeting last week to let the voters vote upon the proposition that the aldermen receive $100 for their services in the future instead of only $50 as heretofore.

Certain provisions in the charter relating to the election of supervisors, the levy of special assessments for sidewalk construction, etc., will be voted upon at the next election.

The aldermen voted to raise a sum of $7600 to pay up the shortage in the city hall funds and buy furniture for the new building.

It has been decided to extend the west Eighth street paving to the west side of First avenue. This will entail an additional cost of $300 to the city and was decided upon after a petition from residents of the neighborhood was presented.

The park board is to take charge of the work of exterminating the maple borers in all trees within the city found to be infected at the city's expense.

Members of the school board and one of the aldermen engaged in a debate regarding the matter of appropriations for the board. The alderman was apparently anxious to make a good showing before the people by keeping taxes down and was opposed to allowing the board sufficient money for so necessary an improvement as a sanitary sewer system for the Columbia avenue school in order to accomplish his desire. The alderman won out.

An item of $9.50 was stricken out of a bill presented by F. N. Jonkman for two necessary trips to Grand Haven to inspect materials purchased there. The council based their action upon the claim that the Rickman Sons should foot the bill according to the contract.

Is Firm Financially Embarrassed?

It is believed that the firm of Rickman & Son which is building the City Hall here is in an embarrassing position financially. Mayor Brusse received a letter from the attorney for the Battle Creek Construction company Mr. B. J. Owen this morning asking that his client be protected by the city before making a shipment of goods ordered from it by the contractors.

Mayor Brusse says that the firm is in debt by reason of their operations on the city hall to the extent of $13,000 or $14,000. at least, says the mayor, this is the general talk in official circles. He states, however, that the city can not by any possibility be a loser in the event that the firm of Rickman and Son goes to the wall as the city still owes the contractor about $8,000 and is amply protected by the bond of $12,500 given by the firm's bondsmen.

Plant Shade Trees

Now is the time to begin to think of planting shade trees about the city. In about a month it will be time to set out the new trees in order that they may be well started by spring. Trees started at the right time this fall will be growing well and hardly by next summer. Those who wish to plant trees this fall should begin by clearing out the dead trees and poplars at once. The dead trees are an eyesore; and the campaign is being made against poplars because they impoverish the soil and retard the growth of other trees near them.

Dykhuys to be Deputy.

Hans Dykhuys has been appointed one of Sheriff Andre's principal deputies. He will move from Holland to Grand Haven some time in November and begin his new work. Knowing ones say that it is their belief that the sheriff is figuring on removing Deputy Salisbury and giving his place to Dykhuys who is an officer of considerable experience gained chiefly as Deputy Sheriff under Henry Dykhuys and as marshal of Holland.

It is an absolute waste of time to do any more hunting for Dr. Cook's records at Etah or Mount McKinley. In all probability Dr. Cook never lost any records.

SMOKE SIGNALS OF INDIANS DEVELOPING LOVE OF ART

How the Redman Communicated With His People and Warned Them of Danger.

The traveler on the plains in the early days soon learned the significance of the spires of smoke that he sometimes saw rising from a distant ridge or hill and answered from a different direction. It was the signal talk of the Indians across miles of intervening ground, a signal used in rallying the warriors for an attack, or warning them for a retreat.

The Indian had a way of sending the smoke up in rings or puffs, knowing that such a smoke column would at once be noticed and understood as a signal, and not mistaken for the smoke of some camp-fire. He made his rings by covering the little fire with his blanket for a moment and allowing the smoke to ascend, when he instantly covered the fire again. The column of ascending smoke had said to very Indian within thirty miles, "Beware! An enemy is near!" Three smokes built close together meant "Danger." One smoke merely meant "Attention." Two smokes mean "Camp at this place."

Frequently at night the settler or the traveler saw fiery lines crossing the sky, shooting up and falling, perhaps taking a direction diagonal to the lines of vision. He might guess that these were the signals of the Indians, but unless he were an old-timer he might not be able to interpret the signals. The old-timer and the squawman knew that one fire-arrow, an arrow prepared by treating the head of the shaft with gunpowder and fine bark, meant the same as three columns of smoke puffs. "An enemy is near." Two arrows meant "Danger," three arrows, "The danger is great." Several arrows indicated, "The enemy is too powerful for us."

Did Not Know Own Child.

Of unassigned paintings the Dusseldorf Zeitung tells an amusing story which may interest picture buyers. Achenbach, the German artist, enjoyed a vogue about ten years ago. A certain collector had bought from an art dealer a seascape represented as a genuine Achenbach. Afterward it was pronounced to be a copy. The buyer brought an action against the dealer who turned the tables by declaring that his picture was genuine, and the other was a copy.

Achenbach himself was summoned by the courts to tell which was which. Amazed at the absolute similarity of the two paintings, he gazed at them for a long time, inspected them closely, front and back, sniffed them, and then frankly admitted he could not tell which was the original and which the copy.

Japanese Method of Cold Storage.

On a recent visit to the city of Takata, on the northwest coast of Japan, I had occasion to observe, what at first thought I imagined was a haystack, but on investigation found to be an immense mound of snow covered with straw matting. The purpose of this mound was to keep in cold storage, for consumption in summer, fish caught in the wintertime. This is the only method of cold storage employed in the rural districts in the northwest of Jaapan, where the snowfall is very deep in winter, and these stacks are to be seen in considerable numbers distributed in different parts of the country.—Strand Magazine.

An Idyl of Theocritus.

The thievish Love—a cruel bee once stung him, as he was rifling honey from the hives, and pricked his finger tips all; then he was in pain, and blew upon his hand, and leaped, and stamped the ground. And then he showed his hurt to Aphrodite, and made much complaint, how that the bee is a tiny creature, and yet what wounds it deals! And his mother laughed out, and said, "Art thou not even such a creature as the bees, for tiny art thou, but what wounds thou dealest!"—From the Greek, by Andrew Lang.

Darkening the Eyebrows.

The hair of the eyebrows retains the color long after the hair of the head has turned gray. Light and gray eyebrows detract from the appearance and not only is it justifiable to darken them, but it is an easy process, as it can be done with pomade pencils, which come for the purpose. It is the only application of color that is in any way an improvement to the face. Some pencil under the lower lid, thinking that it improves the looks. They are much deceived, for it gives a very artificial appearance to the face, the same as painting the cheeks or changing the color of the hair.

Undying Fame.

"Far be it from me to boast braggingly of mah fambly tree," said the colored man who was whitewashing our chicken coop, "but one ob mah relatives was—"

"General Washington's personal body-servant, sah!" we interrupted, meanly, but gleefully.

"He was no sich thing, sah," warmly retorted the colored man; "he was one of Misteh Jack Johnsing's most esteemed sparrin' pardnehs befo' de fight!"

An Uncertain Luxury.

"I never saw a man who insisted on having a sure thing as Mr. Pennwise does. He declines to pay for anything unless he knows exactly what he is getting."

"That's true. He won't even buy a canteloupe."

Have Children During Their School-days Acquire the Habit of Visiting Picture Galleries.

A small lassie was conducted by her mother on a tour of the Layton gallery and the established etiquette for art galleries in general was being included as a part of her instruction for the day. Standing before a particularly prosaic-looking canvas, she found it convenient to divert her mind by utilizing the brass railing as a trapeze—thereby developing the muscles of her back and arms.

"What are you doing?" the fond mother inquired. "Do you think this is a gymnasium? You don't come to an art gallery to swing on a railing. You come to look at the pictures. Stand up there, if you want to come again." The implied threat as a finality was effective so far that there was no question in the onlooker's mind as to the treat the little lady evidently regarded a visit to the gallery. That is the great point—to have children during their schooldays acquire the habit of visiting picture galleries. Then it will be but a matter of time for the development of discriminative appreciation. That and real affection for the truly beautiful will follow logically.

AS TOLD IN PLAIN ENGLISH

Real Truth About Young Man With "Excelsior" Banner, and That Lamb of Mary's.

"Excelsior" is a poem about a young man who walked one winter evening through a village in the Alps. The hotel keeper stood in his door and told him the rooms were all taken, but anyhow the young man knew he didn't have enough money for tips. So he went on. He carried a banner reading "Excelsior." One theory is that he was a drummer for an upholstery house and the other is that he was a demented breakfast food inventor. He was found next morning near the top of the mountain and his relatives were notified.

Mary had a lamb that she spoiled by overfeeding and cuddling. She took it to school with her one day and the lamb bothered the spelling class, so the teacher kicked it out of the front door. Not having any sense of direction, it blatted around the schoolyard until finally the teacher sent Mary home with it and told her if she ever brought it again there would be trouble. Next spring Mary's father sold the lamb on the rising market.

Too Quick With Scorn.

That marvelous story of the British expedition to New Guinea, with its discovery of a new pygmy race, reminds a writer that in the past stay-at-home people have sometimes erred in treating travelers' tales with scorn. There was, for instance, the description by James Bruce in 1770 of the barbarous Abyssinian custom of eating raw meat cut from the living animal which was ridiculed by everybody. Yet Bruce has even recently been proved right. When Paul Du Chailu explored equatorial Africa in 1861 and described the wonderful gorillas and also the nation of dwarfs there he was discredited none too politely by the British Royal Geographical society. Yet subsequent explorers amply vindicated his veracity.

Love of Nature.

Too many, however, still feel only in nature that which we share "with the weed and the worm;" they love birds as boys do—that is, they love throwing stones at them; or wonder if they are good to eat, as the Eskimo asked of the watch; or treat them as certain devout Afreede villagers are said to have treated a descendant of the prophet—killed him in order to worship at his tomb, but gradually we may hope that the love of science—the notes "we sound upon the strings of nature"—will become to more and more, as already it is to many, a "faithful and sacred element of human feeling."—Sir John Lubbock.

Naples and Its Lottery.

All the hopes and dreams, almost the life itself, of the masses in Naples center in the national lottery system, with its weekly drawing of prizes. In Naples everyone plays the "lotto," and each week sees the upbuilding of the hopes and dreams of thousands, only to culminate at the Saturday drawing in a vast, widespread disappointment. But with the return of Monday the Neapolitan has taken heart again, his visions of fortune again take form, to be realized—surely this time—at the next Saturday drawing.—Harper's.

Quick Justice.

A Yorkshireman was standing next to a representative of the Red Rose on the second day of the Blackpool flying meeting, when he remarked: "I understand that justice is meted out very quickly in these parts." "Quickly!" exclaimed the Lancastrian, "I should think it is. Why, mate, only yesterday an airman fell out of his aeroplane, and he was tried and sentenced to six months in jail before he hit the ground." "You don't say so! What was the charge?" "Vagrancy; he had no visible means of support."
