Local News

The fruit and perishable goods in the stocks of the fruit store of N. De Rose, who left Holland without saying good bye, has been sold to a local merchant. An appraisal of the remainder of the stock has been made. The lease of the building expired October 1.

The installation of Rev. Dr. Ame Vennema as president of Hope college most likely will be deferred until next June when it will be made a part of the commencement week program. This will enable many of Hope's alumni who otherwise could not attend to be present.

An active warfare is being waged in Holland against the maple borer which has infested the shade trees and vigorous efforts are being made to exterminate the pest. In many instances from six to ten borers have been removed from a single tree.

Randall Doornbos, 6-year-old son of Marvin Doornbos, living at Grand Haven, was kicked by a horse while trying to catch the animal while it was at large in his father's field and died from the injury. The Doornbos farm is in Georgetown township, near Henry's crossing. The boy died less than a day after being kicked.

A circular has been sent out to school officers throughout the state by Insurance Commissioner Palmer calling their attention to the law requiring a fire drill once each month in every school, and that all doors and exits must be unlocked. The law provides a penalty for failing to comply with any of these provisions.

A burglar who nearly robbed a large number of residents in Holland in the last few weeks has been dubbed an amateur by police and public. His bungling methods are the only thing about him that occasion talk. The last house entered was that of Fred Vander Vusse, who discovered the marauder in the basement and chased him, not thinking enough about the matter to report it to the police.

The largest barn in southern Michigan has been built on the farm of Francis Lawrence, near Leonidas. It is 60 feet wide and 412 feet long. No harpoon forks nor treacherous hay slings will be admitted. Instead an inclined driveway extends from the rear to the top and as the load is being driven around a circular platform, projecting arms will shove the load off the rack.

Holland has a sure-enough hoodoo house, that of Mrs. Newel Gilmore, 169 East Seventh street. It was struck by lightning Tuesday night and its chimney shattered. It was in this house that two years ago a man named Waffle shot and killed his sister, a Mrs. Gilmore, which act later prompted him to commit suicide in a cornfield. Later a woman fell down the cellar in the house while visiting there and died.

Some remarkably large chestnuts were sold in the city this week, having been grown in Cheshire and Monterey. They brought from $5 to $7 per bushel, and they prove again that these nuts can be profitably grown here, where as yet they are free from the worms which are so plentiful in nuts from Ohio and farther south. Mr. Farmer, just set a few chestnut trees in odd corners and waste places, and see how quickly they will grow into money-makers.

Rev. Henry J. Veldman, pastor of the First Reformed church for four years, finds himself in a perplexing situation with respect to a recent call from the Second Reformed church at Muskegon. His present congregation is making a strenuous united effort to retain him and the Muskegon church is making a similar effort to secure him, this being his third call from that congregation since he entered the ministry in 1895, the last two having come to him within a half year. Rev. Mr. Veldman is one of the ablest and most eloquent pulpits orators in the Reformed denomination.

The goods roads commission of Ottawa county expects to build more than 200 miles of gravel and macadam roads during the next five years. If the voters pass the measure calling for an appropriation of half a million dollars, to be submitted next spring. Trunk lines will connect Holland, Grand Haven, Agnew, Olivet, Ferrysburg and Muskegon in Muskegon county; and from Holland to Zeeland, Jamestown and Zeeland to Grand Haven, another trunk line going to Georgetown, southern Alledale and Robinson, to connect with the artery between Grand Haven and Holland.

Council Proceedings

The Common Council meeting last night went off with a bang!

The first thing that was brought before the council was an order for a special election to change the franchise of the Holland City Gas Co. The Gas Company deposited with the expenses of this election to be held.

From all indications considerable paving will be done next season as demands have come to pave College Ave from 6th to 18th street, twelfth street, from Lincoln avenue to Lake street, and Ninth street from Lincoln avenue to Lake street. The city engineer has been instructed to consult with the property owners with reference to the construction of said pavement and also to find out what kind of pavement is desired. An extension of time has been asked by the committee to go over the Knickerbocker Theatre license. The committee aim to get the license as near to those of other cities the size of Holland as possible.

At the next meeting of the council an ordinance will be brought up by the board of health making it compulsory to connect with the sewers wherever it is possible to connect with them. Considerable trouble has been experienced in neighborhoods where sewers are being laid and where pipes are deposited in the street in that pipes are being broken. Several suggestions were made as to how the breaking could be prevented. Doubtless a few arrests will be made. Alderman King suggested that the city paste posters on each pipe stating that this was city property paid for by the tax payers. This was one of King's pipe dreams, no doubt as it would cost more to paste the pipes than the pipes are worth.

The new contractors are busy on the well which has collapsed recently and will have same ready before snow flies. The lot formerly owned by the Capt. De Boe, directly back of the city hall was purchased by the city at a price of $1000. The masons of this city were also negotiating for this lot to put up a temple but when they saw that the city needed this additional room they gracefully surrendered and will doubtless find a location that is still more suitable for their new home.

Diekema and Kollen brought in a communication stating that they were instructed to sue the city for $100 rent demanded by John Vander Veen. This firm claimed that only one month was collectible by law. Therefore they asked that $50 be paid instead of $100. This brought considerable discussion on the part of the aldermen. Drinkwater and King took the line of argument that the council had no right to give away the people's money. The matter was finally referred to the city attorney who said, while morally J. R. Vander Veen may not be entitled to this rent, legally he would be entitled to one month as the law specifically states that a tenant shall receive one month's notice to vacate, while on the other hand the landlord shall also receive the same notice. The city did not notify Mr. Vander Veen of their intention, notwithstanding the papers were full at that time of the date when the city would move to their new home, which Mr. Vander Veen must have known.

On page seven of this issue will be found an ordinance drawn up by the board of health which is a very good document and should be read by every citizen in this city. Many of the people of this city are daily violating this ordinance, not knowing of its provisions.

After it goes into effect it is to be rigidly enforced so it would be well for everyone to read it carefully.

After the adjournment of the council in an informal meeting it was ordered that a glass case be ordered to house the new road drag.

The milk ordinance must be sour by this time.

Addresses at the Sunday school convention in Zeeland yesterday were given by Rev. L. Velkamp, Rev. H. J. Kuiper, Rev. E. J. Tunk and Rev. B. H. Emlin.

The largest number of births reported to the city clerk was in September when 41 births were recorded.

The East Saugatuck and Gibson baseball teams met Saturday afternoon on the former place and the game was won by the E. Saugatuck team by a score of 11 to 13. The battery for the winners was Kolenbrander and Lubbers; for the losers Timmer and Carter.

Turned Down Request For Nurse

Local physicians are somewhat incensed over the action of the township authorities whom they allege have failed to follow the requirements of the law in dealing with the cases of Mrs. Arnold De Feyter and her daughter who are ill with diphtheria. Mr. De Feyter asked for a nurse and it is said that the township authorities had no time to see that a nurse was provided.

The law specifically says that when any person residing in any township within this state shall be infected with any sickness dangerous to the public health of the township where such person may be, shall make effectual provision in the manner in which they shall judge best for the safety of the inhabitants by providing nurses and other assistance and necessities which shall be at the charge of the person himself, if able; otherwise as a charge of the county to which he belongs.

In this case it is said that for several days Mr. De Feyter was compelled to nurse the members of his family although a request was made to the proper authorities for a nurse.

Jenison P. O. Robbed

Early Wednesday morning the safe of the Jenison Post Office was blown open by experienced yeggman and about $95 in cash and $140 in stamps was taken by the thieves. The post office is in charge of Mrs. Margaret Husband and is located in the L. and L. Jenison general store of which Mrs. Husband is the manager.

The safe crackers used a charge of nitroglycerine in opening the safe door piling blankets and books about the safe to deaden the sound. All in all the job was a thoroughly neat one the work being done carefully and the burglars departing leaving no clue whatever for the officer to work upon.

THEATER NEARLY READY.

The Knickerbocker theater, Holland's new playhouse, will be completed next week. It was turned over to the Michigan Trust company of Grand Rapids recently, and was leased to New & Agnew of Indiana, who say nothing but high class shows will be given.

The stage is a large one and the interior decorations place it in a class with the finest showhouses in the state. The seating capacity is 920.

The board of trade has agreed to sell out the house for the opening performance.

ROB THE CRADLE.

Harry Doll, alleged to have made an assault upon a little girl, Katherine Doyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Doyle, living near Jenison park, was arrested in Holland by Deputy Sheriffs Irving and Dornbos. The little girl who was hardly more than a child, was returning home from school, crossing the fields where Doll was working. It is alleged that the man attacked the child and the girl's mother, hearing the cries, came to her assistance. When the officers arrived they traced him to his home and had some difficulty in gaining admittance. The girl's father was ranging the country over, looking for the assaulter, with a double barrel shot gun. After his arrest Doll was taken to Holland. According to the mother's declaration to the officers, Doll confessed and begged her not to make the matter known and that if she consented to do this he would leave the state. Sheriff Ferris of Allegan county arrived in Holland and took the prisoner to the Allegan jail.

Xavier F. Sutton, 70 years old died Monday of heart failure. In recent years he was the proprietor of the Hotel Atlas. OVERISEL.

Last Thursday, W. H. Stephens of Gilmore, Ohio, was in Allegan searching for his son, who had been in this section this summer canvassing for books, and arrested for stealing a horse of John Yonkers in Overisel. As the boy was expected home to return to college at Marietta, Ohio, September 14th, the parents of the boy became alarmed when his three companions returned, but the boy made no appearance. The father came to Kalamazoo and learned that the boy had left there on August 28 on his wheel to make a delivery of books in Allegan county. Imagine his consternation to discover that his boy is held in the county jail charged with horse stealing. When Mr. Stephens first entered the jail the young man, who is about 26 years old, did not know his father, or at least was so surprised that he acted dazed at least. Since the young man has told how he got into the scrape that has brought him to face such a serious charge. He claims that while riding near Shelbyville he met another agent and stopped to chat. They soon became very sociable and were agreed that the book business had been very dull the past summer. The new friend suggested an "easy" way to make some money. The young fellow fell in with the plan and aided in the stealing of two horses—one belonging to John Yonkers of Overisel and another to Fred Brown, living south of Martin. Stephens was captured by Sheriff Ferris on Wednesday afternoon, August 30th, near Martin. He claimed at the time that he had an accomplice, but he gave the name of George King Rosmand when taken into custody.

The father is certain the son was led into the deal by bad company and is making every effort to secure the arrest of the fellow who caused his son's downfall, if such a thing is possible at this date.

GAAFSCHAP.

While Henrietta and George Bloemendal were driving home from the city Saturday evening the automobile of Mr. Reimink, who lives at Graafschap, smashed into the buggy from the rear, causing considerable damage. George Bloemendal, who was driving, was thrown out of the buggy, and the horse ran into a wire fence, where it was cut badly by the barbs of the wire. The buggy was demolished and Miss Bloemendal was injured, but not seriously.

Rev. M. Van Vessem, pastor of the Christian Reformed church at Graafschap, who has received a call from the local Sherman Street Christian Reformed church, will visit the congregation this evening. Although he will speak to the congregation on "Missions Among the Navajo and Zuni Indians," his real purpose is to look over the field and to meet the individuals of the congregation who have extended him the call. Mr. Van Vessem is one of the most popular pastors of his denomination, and a strong attempt will be made by the local congregation to induce him to take up his work in the local church. According to reports it is thought that the called pastor is considering the call very seriously.

FARMERS HAVE BEEN

GOLD-BRICKED

"During the past summer parties claiming to be agents for an Indiana nursery have been taking orders in a number of counties in western Michigan, including this county, for peach and catalpa seedlings and have made preposterous claims for their trees.

The peach trees are to be four year old seedlings and will be entirely hardy and free from yellows and all other diseases. It is claimed that they will bear every year after planting and the third year will produce a bushel of peaches.

The catalpa seedlings are said to be entirely hardy and to reach a size large enough for posts the third year and that they will make four posts the sixth year.

The facts are that the peach (called Friday) has never been fruited in Michigan and there is no reason for thinking that it has any of the merits claimed for it. Really it is likely to be less valuable than almost any of the standard varieties which can be obtained for one-half the price, or less.

The hardy catalpa is not quite so hardy in Michigan and, with ordinary care, not one tree in ten is likely to ever make a post and it will take three to five times as long as claimed. The price also is nearly ten times as much as it should be.

Many of the parties who have given the orders have countermanded them and will refuse to take the trees.

It is understood that the agents referred to have been repudiated by the Indiana nursery and, as they had not taken out licenses as dealers in nursery stock, they had no authority to sell trees in Michigan.

Common Sense and Science.

It can now be seen how little truth there is in Huxley's much quoted dictum that science is organized common sense. That is precisely what science is not. Science is a wholly different kind of knowledge from common sense at almost every point. To common sense, the sun revolves about the earth; to science, the contrary is an established fact. To common sense, a planet is still and stationary; to science it is a group of rapidly revolving centers of energy. To common sense water is a true element; to science, it is a compound of atoms of the familiar hydrogen and oxygen. To common sense, the Rosetta stone is a bit of brick covered with more or less regular markings, probably with a decorative purpose; to science, it is the key to a forgotten language and the open door to knowledge of a lost civilization.—From a lecture on Philosophy by Nicholas Murray Butler.

As the Boy Had Suggested.

"Do you remember, my boy," asked the father, kindly but firmly, "that in your studies you suggested that actions spoke louder than words?"

"Yes, sir," said the boy with a grin, that he did not feel.

"Thereby, as I took it, you expressed that you would like to have me express my emotions in some more substantial way."

"Yessir."

"I have not forgotten that. There is a great deal that is worthy of consideration in that saying. And though you have displeased me greatly today, I will show you what I think. Come with me." And the father led the way to the woodshed.

Woman's Culture.

It is not the wish of the advocates of the higher culture of woman's powers to withdraw her from her existing spheres of interest and activity, but rather to fit women for the more enlightened performance of their special duties, to help them toward learning how to do better what they have to do, whether as members of society alone or in the higher walks of a mother's or a teacher's duties, or in any of the arts or professions which may be chosen by them.

The work that many women are doing nobly now, without instruction, how much more nobly and efficiently would they be able to do it if they had been taught!

HIS REASON IS RETURNING

Insane Man, Formerly Member of National Guard, Drills Other Inmates of Asylum.

A Chicago man with a large acquaintance became insane within a year, and is now an inmate at a state asylum. One of his friends telephoned the hospital the other day to find out about him.

"He's the happiest man here," said the doctor, "and I look for his cure. He is getting big and strong and ruddy and he is doing wonders for 12 other patients.

"In conversation with him, I found out that he had been in the National Guard, and I asked him how he would like to drill a company. 'Fine,' he said. So I got him a uniform and a sword and gave him a canceled beer stamp for a commission.

"In good weather he marches those 12 men all over the grounds as if he were the marshal of an army on parade. His soldiers are just as much interested as he and keep step proudly. I think they march four or five miles a day.

"When they are off duty and see him coming they step to one side and salute.

"Their physical condition is perfect, and I hope to see their reason come back."—Chicago Post.

TAKING A LOOK BACKWARD

Picture of Life Upon Our Atlantic Shore as It Was Two Centuries Ago.

Brush away the fog of a couple of centuries, and take a look at this, our native land, as it then appeared. Here upon the Atlantic shore, the scream of the panther arose on the midnight air with the savage war whoop, and the pale-faced pilgrim trembled for the safety of his defenseless home. He planted his beams in fear and gathered them in trouble; his chickens and his children were plundered by the foe, and life itself was in danger of leaking out from between the logs of his hut, even if it was fortified with three muskets, a spunky wife, and a jug of whisky. Yes, my friends, this was then a wild, gloomy and desolate place. Where the Indian squaw hung her young papoose upon the bough and left it to squall at the hush-aby of the blast, the Anglo-Saxon mother now rocks the cradle of her delicate babe on the carpet of peace, and in the gay parlor of fashion. The wild has been changed to a blooming garden and its limits are expanding with the mighty genius of Liberty.—Lorenzo Dow, Jr.

WASTED EGGS.

Two eggs out of every dozen laid by American hens may be said to drop through holes in the farmer's basket before they reach a market. In other words, while the hen sees to it that every egg she lays is worth taking care of, the farmer takes proper care of only ten. The aggregate loss from this cause reaches over $1,000,000 annually. Nearly all these eggs may be saved by a better arrangement of poultry houses, a better system in collecting eggs and by co-operation in quick marketing.

Hum of the Hive.

Wait till spring to make a start in beekeeping.

It is surprising what an influence the winter has over the clover flow for the following spring, and where the heavy snows prevail it is generally a good omen for a heavy clover flow.

If you are tired of the flimsy bottom boards that are sent out by a number of manufacturers that hardly last long enough to pay for the paint they take, or if you have had mishaps with them in moving bees, etc., here is your remedy. Order all your bottom boards made out of seven-eighths inch lumber.

The real way to furnish a good market for honey is to produce the very best article and make people believe it. Honey is often sold at 15, 16, 18 and 20 cents right in a community where much honey is selling for 10 cents simply because buyers knew that the honey they were paying the higher price for was all right.

Give your bees a chance to use their wings all year round. When cold weather comes on pack straw or leaves under the hives and also around them, being careful to leave a way open to the hive door. When the temperature gets to 45 degrees the bees will fly and get back to their hives as soon as a wind comes up. Being wintered out of doors they get the benefit of several winter flights, cleansing flights, which are very beneficial. Your packing is around them in the spring and you won't need to unpack them until the cold weather has passed by, and they will get along more rapidly than in the cellar.

GET OUT OF THE AVERAGE.

Average farming is not new and never has been profitable, but it is the only kind of farming that average farmers can do. Improvement in men is reflected in all their works. Better men can be developed by teaching children the simple science of agriculture. To raise the average of crop yields involves an uplift of society as a whole. Education is a national problem.

DISEASES OF TOMATOES.

Wilt Will Not Yield to Spraying as Leaf Spot Does.

A disease of the tomato that is sometimes confused with leaf spots is properly known as fusarium wilt. That this is not in the least affected by the applications of spraying materials to the plants is fully proved in the experiments carried on at the experiment station of the University of Illinois.

This wilt has caused the loss of many a promising crop, and the first indication that the plants are affected is the sudden wilting of entire branches or even the entire plant. Within a few days the wilted portions become brown and dead, and an examination of the wilted stems reveals a discolored, brownish appearance of the woody portion. The plants may die before any fruit has matured or after any part of the crop has been gathered.

The first season that the wilt appears in a field usually only a few plants are affected, but if the field is used for tomatoes the next year the attack is likely to be very severe, for the disease is carried over in the soil, and the length of time the disease will remain in badly infected soil is not known. It is therefore important to practice rotation of crops so that the soil will not become badly infected.

Care should also be taken in securing soils for the beds in which the plants are grown. Fresh soil should be put in the beds each year, and it should be secured from a part of the farm which has never grown tomatoes nor received the wash from tomato fields. It is also important to avoid inoculating a new field by means of soil carried from an infected field on tools or the feet of men or farm animals.

AGRICULTURE IS KING.

Whether prince or plebeian, rich or poor, saint or sinner, the queen upon her throne or the maiden in the dairy, all must depend upon a common source for food and raiment—agriculture. It was thus from the beginning, from the forbidden fruit in the garden of Eden to the soil product of 1911, from the time of the airy costume of Eve to the more pretentious apparel of her sisters of the present age. Obviously, then, as population increases and the food supply becomes a more vital question, agriculture will command increasing attention and respect and the husbandman attain an importance among his fellows amounting almost to solitude.—Jacob C. Mohler in Kansas Farmer.

CROSSCUT SAW FOR ONE.

Easily Made and a Great Convenience to Have on Any Farm.

It is often convenient to have a crosscut saw that one man can use for cutting medium sized logs, says the Orange Judd Farmer. The one shown herewith fills the bill very well. It consists of a blade, a handle, set as shown, and a bow reinforced with wire wound around it at various points. Preferably this bow should be of well seasoned hickory, ash or some other tough but not too heavy wood.

This Explains It.

Lady—What! Thirty-eight cents a dozen for eggs? Why, that's more than 3 cents for one egg.

Grocer—Well, mum, you must remember that one egg is a whole day's work for one hen.—Exchange.

Poultry Pickings.

Poultry should be kept free from feather and skin vermin. These are most injurious to chickens and increase with amazing rapidity in summer.

Cut down the quantity of all heating foods, like corn and buckwheat. Nitrogenous foods, like wheat and oats, should be more generally fed, together with a daily supply of green food.

Avoid overcrowding your chicken coops. When too many fowls roost together they crowd, and the animal heat will cause them to sweat. This in itself has been the cause of more summer sickness than anything else we know of.

Many people hesitate to breed pure bred fowls because they are afraid that they cannot find a market for breeding stock. Those who advertise their birds find no difficulty in finding a market for good stock. Buyers are readers, and sellers must be advertisers.

Here is a cheap and simple remedy to paralyze chicken lice and mites. Make a strong brine and apply it hot. Put on the roosts and on the nest boxes and all over. Get the cheap grade of salt. Be sure to have the brine strong and hot and to get it into every crack about the henhouse.

FARM+SCIENCE=WEALTH.

Dr. Hopkins, Illinois soil expert, has hammered home the theory that you cannot keep taking everything out of the soil without putting something back. His dictum has been justified by recent experiments conducted by the University of Illinois, which show that with the use of phosphorus crops have been doubled.

On the same farm the wheat yield where phosphorus was not used was twenty-four bushels an acre; with the phosphorus the yield jumped to an average of fifty-eight and a half bushels.

Farming is being rapidly recognized to be as much of a science as the most intricate manufacturing business. The scientific farmer is the one who will make a fortune where his ancestors made a bare living.

Phosphorus For Wheat.

Experiments in soil treatment have been made on the University of Illinois experiment plots on the S. Noble King farm in McLean county, and by the use of phosphorus fertilizer the wheat yield was more than doubled. The average yield on all plots which were not treated with phosphorus was twenty-four bushels an acre. The average yield on the fertilized plots was fifty-eight and one-half bushels an acre.

This is the climax of the results that have been obtained on the experiment plot year after year and more than bears out the propaganda of Dr. C. G. Hopkins, the university soil expert, who holds that crops may be doubled with intelligent treatment.

Sunflowers Useful.

Sunflowers are attractive, and a place is always more homelike when they are planted in abundance near it. Sunflowers give dignity and charm to the farmstead, and their presence denotes taste and culture of the homemaker. The seed makes good poultry feed.

RIVER BOTTOM DRAINS.

Dean Raymond Shows That Tiles Must Be Used to Obtain Results.

The river bottoms of Iowa are usually broad, with little slope toward the river and almost universally with banks slightly higher than the land farther back, these banks forming natural levees to keep the river off the bottom lands except at very high water, but also serving to hold water on the bottom lands for long periods in the spring and after flood stages of the river. As a result of this formation many thousands of acres of the richest, most valuable land are wholly unproductive, says Dean William G. Raymond of the Engineering State university of Iowa city. They are covered by shallow ponds that dry out only late in the season or serve only for wild hay or inferior pastures.

Attempts to drain these lands by open ditches have sometimes been successful, but often have not owing to the very slight fall that can be had, the rapid choking of ditches by vegetation and the blocking of the mouth by river silt and sand. Moreover, this method wastes considerable quantities of this same most valuable land that it is sought to reclaim. An open ditch must have easy side slopes to prevent caving in of the sides, and the dirt taken from the ditch is deposited alongside, so that a properly constructed ditch only one foot wide on the bottom and four feet deep is likely to waste a strip of land twenty-five to thirty feet wide for its entire length. A mile of such ditch would consume over three acres of tillable ground. If the annual profit to be earned on such land is only $7.50 per acre, this would represent at 5 per cent a capital account of $450 that could be added to the cost of an open ditch to build a tile drain, and if the annual cost of cleaning the open ditch be capitalized in a similar manner a sum possibly even larger could be added to the cost of an open ditch to build a tile drain.

An open ditch that will even approximate the drainage effect of a twelve inch tile cannot be properly built for less than from $700 to $1,000 a mile, depending on the soil, the labor market and the class of labor available, while the cost of a twelve inch tile well laid may be as little as about $1,400 a mile, as is shown by the following cost of 3,300 feet of such tile drain laid for Mr. H. R. Mosnat of Belle Plaine. The cost was $895.76.

As there were 270 acres directly benefited by this drain the cost was about $3.32 per acre. Half of this land had never been under cultivation and the other half only in dry years. About seventy acres were in two ponds, and various attempts had been made to drain these by open ditches, but without success.

The result has been gratifying, and the owner was offered a 40 per cent increase on the cost of the land and tile as soon as it was demonstrated that the ponds could be drained. This particular line of tile averaged four to four and a half feet deep and opened into the Iowa river by a tide gate or flap valve that lets the water into the river at ordinary stages and keeps the river out of the tile at high water.

Value of White Oak.

White oak is now so scarce that the so called white oak timber of our markets is often a mixture of various species, including red oak. It is almost impossible to get an unmixed consignment of white oak.

REMOVE USELESS HORNS.

May Adorn Cow, but Often Lead to Serious Damage.

Since Pieterje Maid Ormsby made the great record that won first place in the thirty day division and had her picture so widely published many letters have come to me in regard to her, says Superintendent M. H. Gardner of the Holstein Registry at Delavan, Wis., in a letter to the American Cultivator. Several breeders show curiosity as to her lack of horns, one or two commenting unfavorably. As an individual proposition a neat pair of short, nicely curved waxy horns on a cow's head may be something to be admired. As a general proposition the cow of today has no need of such weapons, and if she has them will surely use them on her mates in the herd and cause more or less loss to the owner. Ages ago when the ancestors of Pieterje Maid Ormsby ran half wild in the forests of Europe it was necessary for the cow to protect her calf from the depredations of wolves and other beasts of prey, and the horns which nature had provided for that purpose were a necessity, but such conditions no longer exist, and our breeders may well ask themselves as to what useful purpose can be served by horns on the head of a cow.

Pieterje Maid Ormsby never had any horns because their growth was prevented. When a calf of about three weeks old, as soon as slight swellings showed where the horns were to be, she was laid on her side and the hair closely clipped from both swellings. Then the swellings were moistened with water and carefully rubbed with a stick of caustic potash, and the work was done with absolutely no pain to the little animal.

LIME WET LANDS IN FALL.

Caustic Forms Are Best and Cheapest if Spread When Finely Powdered.

The period of late July and August affords the best time for the drainage of many wet areas of land which are so saturated that they are filled with water at other seasons, says Professor E. O. Fippin of the New York State College of Agriculture. Particularly is it desirable to drain heavy clay land at this season in order that the soil which is thrown out may have an opportunity to thoroughly dry before being returned to its position over the tile. This period of slack work is also worth considering for the drainage of those other wet areas on the farm which show themselves in the field by the dwarfed crop and the distress which it suffers during these dry periods. Those places which suffer most from drought are often the same areas which have had an excess of water in the early spring.

The application of lime on old meadows and upon other land which is to be plowed for a crop next spring should now be considered. Caustic forms of lime which are generally most economical in this state are best applied in the fall, provided they are distributed in the finely powdered form. Fall applications followed by late fall or early spring plowing are preferable.

City a Spoiler For Country Life.

In one of the many fresh air homes for the poor children of the great cities about seventy-five tenement youngsters are taken every two weeks during the summer and given an opportunity to recuperate in the pure air and on the good food furnished at the home. But many are not at all satisfied. Recently one of the fresh air youngsters was found crying in bed. He was homesick for the city and complained that he hadn't seen a fight since he had been in the country. Another homesick city waif wailed because he hadn't seen any "cops" and another because it was so quiet he "couldn't hear anything but crickets." These children unconsciously expressed the power of social environment and the difficulty of breaking its bonds. Many have wondered why thousands of women and girls toil at starvation wages in cities when there is plenty of work and a good living for them in the country. These children tell us why.

A Remarkable Hen.

The humble but helpful hen has been held up to us of late as the greatest wealth producer of the country—the automatic provider of health, support and breakfast. It has remained for New York to present this simple minded but industrious friend of the farmer in the role of a hired hand. Finding her master—we hate to say owner—busy building a chicken coop—presumably for her occupancy—Biddy waited about until the man in the case dropped a nail. Turning to pick it up, he found that Biddy had already forestalled him and was standing by the coop with the nail in her bill, held ready for driving. Thenceforth until the homely, necessary task was done man and hen worked in profitable and pleasant alliance. This is all true, too, because it was "printed in the paper."

Artichokes For Hogs.

Artichokes and pumpkins are valuable sources of a vegetable feed supply for winter. The former can be grown on hills and odd corners, which would not otherwise be utilized, and in the late fall the hogs can be turned in to do their own harvesting until the ground is frozen. Pumpkins are of value in that they may be easily stored until midwinter and fed when the weather does not permit ranging out of doors on the wheat or rye fields.

Green Stuff Best For Cows.

The best dairymen are now feeding either silage or some green softing

A SEED CORN OBSERVATION.

A Michigan farmer vouches for this method of improving his corn. He says, "I always choose the top ear from a stalk bearing two or more ears and after doing so for the third or fourth time I have been successful in growing four to six ears on at least half the stalks in the field."

General Farm Notes.

Oats are the best single grain food for a horse and the best for road purposes.

A good colt bred for a purpose, and fed and trained for a purpose, is never a drug on the market.

Pure feed, plenty of air and regular exercise are best for the mother horse. But don't overdo the work.

The individuality of each horse should be studied, and the feeds supplied to meet individual requirements. Don't shut up a little colt in a dingy place by himself. Give him companionship. A calf will do if there are no other colts on the farm.

If the lawn is weedy and the grass does not seem to make a good growth apply nitrate of soda at the rate of 150 to 200 pounds per acre. Scatter broadcast just before a rain or before watering. Nitrate of soda may be used on spinach and other leaf crops to advantage.

Dairy Doings.

Never offer a pound of poor butter for sale. Better take it right out and bury it in the back lot.

Do not move the cows faster than a comfortable walk while on the way to the place of milking or feeding.

Probably no single cause tends more to check milk secretion than the failure to remove all the milk secreted at the time of milking.

The animal that is expected to make you profit must be made comfortable. Pleasant and comfortable quarters are great feed economizers.

Buttermaking can be readily reduced to a system and should be. It is the slipshod way that causes so much poor butter to be sent to market.

Keep the flanks and udders of the cows clipped. It is much easier than to clean the parts before milking. It helps to keep dirt out of the milk. To clip the cows all over once or twice a year will do them good.

Live Stock Notes.

Ensilage may be fed to sheep, but roots are better and safer.

Every quadruped on the place earns his salt, but does it always get it?

Orchard and Garden.

Promptly gather up and burn all brush and rubbish in the orchard.

The city dealer profits by the laziness of the grower, by grading and repacking his badly assorted fruit.

An orchard will live longer, bear better and be more profitable by being well cultivated and enriched.

When spraying do not work with bare hands. They'll be sore if you do. Put on a pair of rubber gloves.

A covey of quail in the orchard will prove a good friend to the grower, because they eat a tremendous number of insects.

Very few pears are at their best if allowed to ripen on the tree. A good rule is to pick when the seeds have turned brown.

An orchard soil rich in organic matter is the kind of soil we want; hence grow a clover crop this fall and plow under next spring.

Don't leave the culls on the ground to rot. That is where many apple pests come from. Pick culls up and feed them to the hogs or cows.

The apple thrives well on a great variety of soils, varying from sandy loam to heavy soils, provided it is well drained and otherwise well cared for.

Profit in the orchard largely depends upon the perfection of the fruits raised and the quantity. And the trees cannot produce their full capacity unless well cared for.

Theatre vs Liquor

Messrs New and Agnew are planning to open the Knickerbocker Theatre to the public a week from the coming Monday. For the past several weeks a force of men has been busy preparing the building for the coming season and nothing has been left undone by the new management. The building is a model of its kind and inside and out is most beautiful indeed.

We are assured by the managers, that the finest kind of theatrical entertainment will be given during the coming winter. It is planned to have only good clean performances, both vaudeville and plays. The former will be selected from the best circuits in the country and will be such as show in the best vaudeville houses in the largest cities throughout the state. The plays will be high class of the popular kind that appear in such theatres as Powers in Grand Rapids. Plays like The Man of the Hour, and such wholesome performances that cannot fail to please and delight the most refined citizens of Holland, will be seen in the Knickerbocker Theatre.

We cannot but feel that the opening of the new theatre will bring with it happy results in a social way. The younger element everywhere craves entertainment and amusement. They will now find their tastes directed in pure and clean channels. Over in Evanston the gentlemen who have charge of the local theatre have a similar playhouse. We have the statement of the Evanston Chief of Police that since the theatre there has been in operation arrests for drunkenness have decreased forty per cent. The narrow man might criticize this argument from the standpoint of no causal connection between the opening of a theatre and a decrease in drunkenness. However, the better condition did not manifest itself until after the theatre performances began and we are sure that when the young men have something else more worth while to do they can get along without liquor. We know that the right sort of a theatre can furnish exactly the thing.

We say all of this because we want it distinctly understood by our readers that this class of entertainment will be given them. We do not desire to boost any enterprise unduly and what we say is prompted by our desire to see in Holland a playhouse that will draw to it from its own merit alone the best people in Holland. We have always been earnest in our efforts to bring about this condition and we rejoice that at last it has come.

Return of the Gift Horse

The Canadians have sent back our gift horse. After looking it hard in the mouth they were unable to find any bad teeth, showing age or decrepitude. From the Canadian point of view the animal must have looked tempting. Throwing open a market holding 90,000,000 people to a country which is every year producing a larger surplus of foodstuffs is such an event as does not happen oftener than once in a millennium of years. And the Canuck knows a good thing when he sees it. Yet, after hard looking in the mouth of our gift horse, hard hitting of it in the ribs for signs of heaves or wind brookness, and putting it through hard paces over a long course, and after it has met every test without showing a blemish, he sends it back, without thanks.

We had indicated the possibility of this action, and why it might be taken. There is in horses what traders know, not as a disease, but as a fault. It is called "hard mouth" and a horse which has it is likely, at any time, to take the bit in his teeth and run away, not all of the hardest pulling or sawing on the reins being enough to hold it in. The Canucks were afraid to mount or drive, lest the reciprocity brute should some day bolt back over the border and bring them with it. A speech made by Champ Clark in Congress, after he had become the leader of his party in the House, and a looming candidate for the presidency, aroused this fear. Champ said that he was for reciprocity as the first step toward unfurling our flag clear up to the North Pole. When the Canucks heard of this they could actually see the gift horse laying back its ears and pulling hard on the lines.

This fear was not sectional. In Alberta, Saskatchewan and Columbia, where the pact made its strongest financial appeal, it held down the Liberal vote. Manitoba is the only one of these provinces even approximating the just expectations of the Laurier ministry. Yukon is yet to be heard from, but the anti-American bitterness of 1898, which doubtless survives, forecasts its action. This is not discreditable. The Canadians have national aspirations of their own, and they are willing to sacrifice great financial advantages to some day put their own flag in the sky. It is not to be thought that they have failed to see the advantages the pact offered them. The Canuck is too shrewd for that. They have deliberately made a great financial sacrifice on the alters of patriotism. We are far from condemning them, particularly since their action, under the influence of the Clark speech, makes Republican party unification a great deal easier. We take back the gift horse with pleasure, and shall offer him to outlanders no more.

Indian summer strikes us the best thing the Indians ever did.

Sooner or later Turkey will provide Europe's Thanksgiving dinner.

Boston has the distinction of having the first mortgaged aeroplane. But, then, on an airship it ought to be easy to raise a mortgage.

The mayor of Wichita, Kan. has been recalled from office because of a popular notion that his policy was increasing the price of water. This is entirely logical in a prohibition state.

A shoe merchant tells that women's feet and brains are becoming larger. Possibly he is misled by the fact that women have developed enough brains to buy shoes that fit.

There's a tribe in Africa under German domination, where the men eat their wives. This is a little more disagreeable than ordinary divorce, but it saves alimony.

Forty years ago this fall a cow in Chicago kicked over a lamp and burned the town down. It has, however, picked up remarkably well ever since.

MR. COBB'S OPPORTUNITY.

Commenting on the suggestion of Congressman W. C. Adamson of Georgia that Champ Clark be nominated for president on the Democratic ticket and Tyrus R. Cobb for vice president, the New York Sun says:

"We believe the people would strike out this ticket because Champ Clark is on it."

Then why not run Cobb for president?

HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE IN HOLLAND.

A heavy loss of life and considerable damage was caused in Zealand and other provinces with which communication was restored today by the storm that broke over the North sea coast yesterday. Of 130 mussel fishing boats belonging in the village of Bruiness, 120 were lost or damaged. Forty-five vessels were wrecked in the waterways between Dordrecht, a city on an island in the Meuse and the North sea. Most of the crews were drowned. Twenty-eight bodies have been washed up near Steenberg.

Marriages

Miss Katherine Fox was united in marriage to Jack Knoll at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Taylor, West 10th street. Mr. and Mrs. Knoll will be at home to their friends after October 12.

INSECTS HARMFUL TO MAN

Most of Them Are Worse Than Useless and Should Be Killed at Sight.

Our instinct to kill insects at sight is perfectly sound, writes Dr. Woods Hutchinson. Out of the quarter of a million species now known to science, a mere handful are even remotely helpful to man, and most of these only by their power of living upon other and more dangerous insects. On the other hand, thousands of species are actively hostile to man, to his food plants and to his domestic animals. Whole tribes have been swept out of existence by the attack of insects carrying bacilli—as within the last two decades, in central Africa, by the dread "sleeping sickness" carried by the tsetse fly. Whole nations have been weakened and crippled and whole civilizations retarded by another insect-borne disease, malaria.

Indeed, recent investigators have advanced the theory that the historic decline of both Greece and Rome was largely due to the ravages of this disease, brought into Europe by armies returning from wars in Asia and Africa. It may yet come, when we see things in their true perspective, that the warriors of civilized nations will turn from slaughtering one another to battling against our insect enemies.

Turn every battery of artillery in the world against that angel of the pestilence, the common house fly, and in ten years he would be exterminated, root and branch. With him would go half of our 50,000 deaths in the United States every year from the summer diseases of children, two-thirds of our dysenteries and cholera morbus, and one-fourth of our typhoid, with not a little of our tuberculosis, our tetanus and our boils and blood poisonings.

PERSECUTION OF THE GIPSY

Forty-five Executed in Hungary in 1728 on the Charge of Being Cannibals.

The persecution of Gypsies recalls the old belief that the Gypsies were cannibals, and the methods by which judicial confirmation of the belief was sometimes obtained. In 1728 45 Hungarian Gypsies were executed on this charge. First racked until they confessed to murder, they were taken to the place where their victims were supposed to be buried and racked again. No bodies were discovered. Therefore they confessed to eating them, and were duly executed. Joseph II. sent a commission down to investigate the case later, and the entire innocence of the Gypsies was proved, but history does not say what happened to the witnesses for the prosecution.

Gypsies are still more or less "persecuted," though in our milder modern sense of the word. And no wonder. A couple of years ago it was stated on official authority that in Hungary most of the serious crimes—murders, kidnapping and robberies—were committed by Gypsies, and very few of the offenders were caught. Gypsies are mighty difficult customers to tackle. When it was proposed in France that all nomads should have identity cards, to be checked at each stopping place, one of them said to a Matin reporter: "But I can't read, and I can't write, and I don't know how old I am, nor where I was born, and I don't remember the names of the places where my children were born, nor their ages exactly. We don't bother ourselves about such things." What can you do with people so astutely ignorant?

The Conscience of Clara.

One day when Mrs. Bell was making a neighborly call on Mrs. Ellis, the latter, in the presence of her caller, discharged her colored maid, whose obstreperousness could be borne with no longer.

A few weeks later Mrs. Bell again called on Mrs. Ellis, and to her surprise her hostess informed her that Clara was back.

The services of the maid were required by her mistress, who pressed the button in the drawing room. There was, however, no response. Finally Mrs. Ellis went out and waited on herself. While she was gone, Clara, who was acquainted with Mrs. Bell, having served in her family also, put her head in at the door and explained:

"Mis' Bell, I heard Mis' Ellis all the time, but you recollect the last time you was here she discharged me, an' said she'd never come back, too. But here I am, so we bofe lied. That's why I'm ashamed to come in. I was ashamed for bofe of us!"

Salt on French Roads.

As a general rule, the roads in and around French towns are tarred at the commencement of the summer in order to abate the dust nuisance. It has, however, been found that tar, although excellent in the case of macadamized roads, is of little or no value where car lines exist and paved street crossings intersect the roads in every direction, as tarring cannot be carried out on stones.

The authorities, basing their action on the well-known hygienic properties of common salt, have made a test of its value in laying the dust. Twenty yards of roadway have been sprinkled liberally with salt and then watered freely. If the results are satisfactory, salt will be used throughout the town of Havre, it being impossible to tar the majority of the streets, as they are paved with rough stone blocks.

PEIGNOIR AS CHURCH GOWN

Beatrice Grimshaw's South Sea Island Laundress Couldn't Resist Temptation of the Garment.

It would be hard to find a spot where the subject of dress does not sway the feminine mind. To the world at large its observance causes either a great deal of pleasure or a good store of amusement. In the category of amusement may be placed the proceedings of the dusky belles described by Beatrice Grimshaw in her book, "In the Strange South Seas."

A lace-trimmed garment of mine, usually worn at night under the shelter of sheets and quilts, went to a Sunday morning church as a best dress in full daylight, on the person of the laundress intrusted with my wash. The funny side was so conspicuous that she never got the reproof she deserved.

A certain flower toque, made of poppies—a bloom unknown in the Pacific—first drove the women of the island half-distracted with excitement, then led 36 native ladies to appear simultaneously at a dance wearing excellent copies of my Paris model, done in double scarlet hibiscus from the bush.

A wedding, from which, unfortunately, I was absent, furnished the finest display of native dress that took place that year. The bride wore 14 silk dresses, not all at once, but one after another, changing her dress again and again during the reception, until the white spectators were fairly giddy.—Youth's Companion.

MAKING WORLD VERY SMALL

Moving Pictures Give Us the Familiarity With the Globe That Breeds Contempt.

"There is one thing I object to about moving pictures," said a Cleveland man who is fond of the films, "and that is the fact that they are gradually pinching up the world until the old ball doesn't look much bigger than Mrs. Bob Cratchit's plum pudding. When a man can see teakwood cut in India, and pearl diving off Ceylon, and lion shooting in mid-Africa, and herding in Australia, and mining in Nevada and kite-flying in China, to say nothing of close familiarity with all the great cities of the globe, he begins to feel considerable contempt for the little old planet he calls home.

'And then he is afflicted with another sort of familiarity, a familiarity that attacks the ordinances and hedges that are built up around the chosen great ones of earth. Yes, as I sit in the darkened hall, prying into the hidden corners of the earth and hobnobbing with the great, the terrestrial ball grows smaller and smaller.

"It's a pity, isn't it?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

For Nifty Dressers.

To the man with a small income economy is essential. Why throw away your old socks because the heels and toes are worn out? Cut off the legs, and (after washing of course) sew them to the tops of your new pair of socks. Do the same when the lower pair is worn out, and so on as long as possible. A man who becomes attached to his hosiery may, by this simple process, in time become the owner of a handsome union suit, without any extra expense.

When you cut off your beard save your whiskers. Shoulders are to be wider, and human hair, especially when curly, makes the best possible padding. Or keep friendly with your barber and get him to save his clippings for you.

Avoid aniline dyes when you wish to recolor your light spring suit for fall wear. Vegetable dyes are much softer and more delicate. Almost any of the leading brands of canned soups will give a rich, mellow tone to worsted fabrics. Tomato, mock turtle and gumbo will be the prevailing hues next season. Use hot water for cotton goods and milk for woolens. Use no salt.—"A Haberdasher," in Leslie's.

Queer Face Facts.

"Why do you photographers always photograph the left side of the face by preference?"

"Because it's the best looking," was the prompt reply. "The left side of the face is always the more regular, and it always shows least the marks of time."

"But," he continued, "if you want to bring out the real character of a face photograph the right side. There nature sets her print. There the lines are bold and unmistakable. There every defect, no less than every excellence, is stamped deep."

"The left side, where everything is softened down, for beauty. The right side, where everything is well rubbed in, for character. Those are the portrait artist's two chief rules."

Retaining Self-Respect.

There is a beautiful harmony between the good of the state and the moral freedom and dignity of the individual. Were these interests in any case discordant, were an individual ever called to serve his country by acts debasing his own mind, he ought not to waver for a moment as to the good which he should prefer. His soul he must never stain or enslave. From poverty, pain, the rack, the gibbet, he should not recoil; but for no good of others ought he to part with self-control or violate the inward law.—W. E. Channing.

M. E. LADIES TO GIVE LECTURE COURSE

The ladies of the M. E. church are busy collecting the money pledged last summer for tickets to their lecture course which will begin on the evening of October 30. Enough pledges were secured some months ago to assure the success of the new venture, so the ladies immediately went ahead to secure the entertainments. Some of the very highest class artists in the country will appear on the local platform.

Four numbers will be given. The first one on the evening of October 30 is the Lyric Glee club. This club is composed of four members: Omar Covert, Harry M. Doolittle, Francis I. Hendrie and Tom C. Polk. This glee club entertains with vocal and brass music, character readings and sketches in costume. Wherever it has appeared throughout the United States it has been very popular and has received the highest favorable comment from the press throughout the country.

On December 6 Ellsworth Plumstead will appear here. Mr. Plumstead entertains with songs, stories, costume selections and character delineations. He has always been a big hit wherever he has appeared, as is shown by the various comments and recommendations of his work that have come to our notice.

Henry Clark, lecturer, has been engaged to deliver one of his three lectures: "Stop, Look, Listen," "Play Ball," or "Boxes." This will be on February 3. Hundreds of delighted audiences have testified to Mr. Clark's skill during the past six years. In some places he has been compelled to return to fill a fourth engagement.

The last number on the course will be given by Elizabeth de Barrie. Gill on the 8th of April. She is a harpist, reader and contralto soloist and her varied programs of instrumental and vocal music interspersed with humorous and dramatic readings never fail to arouse the enthusiasm of her audiences.

All in all this four-number lecture course is very strong and should suit the tastes of every citizen of Holland. There are two schedules of prices, one for children and one for adults. Children's single admission tickets sell for 25 cents and the full course for children can be had for 75 cents. Adult tickets are $1.50 for the full course; single admission being 50 cents.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church held a very pleasant meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Elferdink, 43 W. 18th street. The society has finished the book "Western Women in Eastern lands" and has begun the study of Robt. Peck's book, "The Night of the World". Mrs. A. E. McClellan was elected delegate and Mrs. R. Guidebeck alternate to attend the district convention to be held in St. Paul's church at Grand Rapids the first week in November.

"RIVER OF WATER OF LIFE"
Ezekiel xlvii, 1-12—Oct. 8
"Whoever will, let him take of the Water of Life freely."—Revelation xxi, 7.

In this study also we find that the Lord through Ezekiel gives us a picture of the Millennial Age, very similar to the one given us in the book of Revelation, seven hundred years after.

Ezekiel's picture shows Jerusalem and the Temple of God as the source of the River of the Water of Life; so in Revelation. Ezekiel shows the river deepening and broadening from a rivulet to a mighty river. He pictures it as flowing down to the Dead Sea, and carrying life whithersoever it goes. He pictures the Dead Sea as being revived, recovered from its deadness, and full of fish. No such river has ever yet sprung forth from Jerusalem, nor can we imagine how the river would ever have its start in the mountain top and reach such proportions in the short distance. This description, picturing a great spiritual truth, is in full accord with the picture in Revelation. It represents beautifully, forcefully, the blessings of refreshment and restitution which will issue forth from the New Jerusalem, the Kingdom of Messiah, when it shall be established amongst men. Gradually the mighty influences of the reign of Messiah will extend blessings to all mankind, even to the submerged class, steeped in ignorance and superstition, fitly represented by the Dead Sea.

"River of water."

Revelation pictures this river as flowing from under the Throne, the New Jerusalem, clear as crystal, and having trees of life on either side of its banks, good for food. Ezekiel has the same picture in mind; he tells of the same trees, whose leaf shall not fade and whose fruit shall not fail, but which will bring forth good fruit every month, because the water which refreshes them comes from the Sanctuary. "The fruit thereof shall be for meat, and the leaves thereof for healing." Similarly, in Revelation, we are told, "the leaves of the trees will be for the healing of the people" and the fruit for the sustenance of everlasting life; and the Water itself will be for their refreshment. Then we are told that "the Spirit and the Bride" shall give the invitation—a world-wide invitation. "Whoever will" may come, and he who hears the invitation may say to others, "Come, and drink of the water of life freely!"

No Water of Life Now

We are certain in our application of these symbolic pictures, that they belong to the future and not to the present. Where is the Water of Life of Revelation now? Where have we anything corresponding to the life-sustaining trees and their healing leaves? On the contrary, now, we have the Lord's Word for it that "No man can come unto Me except the Father which sent Me draw him." In other words, there is a measure of selection or election as respects the class invited to constitute the Bride, the Lamb's Wife.

But with the end of this Age will come the end of the elective process; then the Divine Message will be Free Grace, an offer and opportunity to every creature of Adam's race. All blind eyes will be opened so that all may see; all deaf ears will be unstopped that all may hear, so that the knowledge of the glory of God shall fill the whole earth.

No Bride to Say, "Come"

The Revelation picture tells us that the Bride of Christ, as well as the Holy Spirit, will give the invitation to every creature to come and partake of the Water of Life freely. But how could the Bride give this invitation before she exists? That there is no Bride at the present time is manifest. Now is the time for calling the Bride class. Now is the time for those invited to make their "calling and their election sure," but Bride there will be none until the Incoming Age. The name "bride" implies a marriage; the Church is already espoused to Christ, but the marriage is promised to take place at His second coming. Then there will be a Bride, and shortly after, the glorified Church, in association with her Lord, will be in Kingdom power, in the New Jerusalem—the heavenly. From that City, that new Seat of earth's Empire, will go forth God's Message, gradually deepening and broadening until every member of the race shall have had an opportunity to share in its blessing of life everlasting.

Blessed thought! When the Prince of Life shall have put in force the laws of righteousness and equity with an iron rod, the masses of humanity will learn that "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people." And, ultimately, they will learn to love righteousness. All who refuse to learn and obey will be "cut off" from life.

An ingenious Democrat at Catlettsburg, Ky., a few days ago, on the occasion of a Tilden and Hendriks pole-raising, fixed a small box holding a rooster in such a manner that the bird could be raised by the halliards and on reaching the top of the pole could be released. The plan worked very satisfactorily, and the bird on reaching the halliard pulley got out of the box, perched on the top of the pole and crowed lustily, to the great delight of the crowd.

WHAT YOU SAW 30 YEARS AGO

Our twelve weeks of anxiety are over. We have watched by that one bed-side, with the devoted wife and trembling children, fearful, cheered, cast down, encouraged, hoping against hope, praying with earnest prayers. And now that long season, which has shaped itself into a never-to-be-forgotten episode in the life of every man and woman and thoughtful child in this Union, these weeks of anxiety and suspense are over, and the result is known. The dastardly assassin has his wish, and the weeping nation mourns its cruel loss. Our President is dead!

Thomas Garfield, the grandfather of the president, died suddenly when young. One of his sons Abram Garfield, the father of the President, who also died suddenly while still a young man, leaving a widow and 4 young children. Thomas Garfield another brother, lost his life suddenly a few months ago and now comes the death of the President, for whom the nation mourns. There seems to be a line of fatality in the family.

We hear some talk of a course of lectures here the coming winter. It is hoped it may be made to succeed.

Arend Arendsen died Sunday afternoon at the home of his mother at 175 East 8th street after a two months illness. He was 22 years old. Besides his mother he is survived by two brothers, John and William and three sisters, Misses Hattie and Lena Arendsen and Mrs. Walter De Weerd. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from the Third Reformed church Revs. Dubbink and Van Hoogen officiating.

The business men of Holland have started the electric light system of signs and before long nearly all the places of business will have illuminated signs. H. Van Tongeren and Wm. Brusse Co. started the system by placing signs on the top of their respective buildings, spelling the name with electric lights. A. B. Bosman has followed with a sign on which the name is spelled letter by letter and then the word "Bosman" is flashed. Other merchants are planning signs and when the system becomes more general Holland will present a very metropolitan appearance.

The Third Reformed church was crowded last Sunday afternoon with friends and relatives who came to witness the last sad rites of the funeral of Fred Koning. The casket was literally covered with wreaths of flowers, the silent testimony of the love of many friends. Rev. G. H. Dubbink and Rev. J. T. Bergen conducted the funeral services and made impressive and comforting addresses. A quartet composed of Misses Anna Sprietsma and Lizzie Winter, John Vander Sluis and Henry Kleyn rendered appropriate musical selections and Mrs. G. J. Diekema sang "O Morning Land." The pall bearers were Messrs. Abe Cappon, Louis Van Schelven, Dr. Frank U. DeVries, Ike Sooter, C. VanDuren and Chas. Nibbelink.

Hon. G. J. Diekema is in Washington attending a session of the Spanish war claims.

Boards of Health are established for the purpose of protecting and promoting the health of the communities within their respective jurisdictions.
Sanitary science teaches that, to best accomplish this purpose, it is necessary, first, to have and keep the elements that sustain life—air, food, and water—in a pure and wholesome condition; and secondly, to prevent and restrict such diseases as are caused and transmitted by special contagion.

The city or community that succeeds in securing these essentials will secure ideal sanitary conditions which promote the health and often save the lives of its citizens.

In order to reduce the above principles to practice in every day life, and thus secure the benefits to be derived from them, the Board of Health of the City of Holland has, by virtue of the authority vested in it by law, adopted the following Health Regulations, reserving the right, under the law, to amend or revoke any of said rules and regulations, or to make additional ones from time to time as the circumstances may require. These regulations and rules will serve as a guide to the people of the city as well as the health department, and the Board requests the earnest co-operation of the citizens of Holland in observing and enforcing them. It is expected by the Board that the people will familiarize themselves with the requirements of the health department so as to enable them to aid the Board in its efforts to secure and protect the public health.

HEALTH RULES AND REGULA- TIONS AS CORRECTED AND ADOPTED BY THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

I.—To Prevent Contamination of the Air.

It is hereby ordered by the Board of Health of the City of Holland:

1. Rule 1. No person, firm, or corporation shall deposit or permit to remain in or on their premises any filthy or stagnant water, any foul 5 slops, foul drains or garbage, decaying or decayed animal or vegetable matter, decaying or decayed 8 fruit, or any offensive thing that 9 may give rise to poisonous, foul, 10 or offensive gases or vapors; nor 11 shall they deposit the same in any 12 street, alley, public space, private 13 premises, nor in any stream with-14 in the city limits.

2. Rule 2. The carcass of any animal or fowl that has died within the city limits, shall be removed by the owner thereof within 5 twenty-four hours, and buried at 6 a depth sufficient to prevent any 7 stench; provided, that the carcass
8 of a horse, cow, mule, dog, or of 9 any other of the larger animals
10 shall not be buried within the city
11 limits, and that the carcass of a 12 fowl or small animal shall not be 13 buried within 50 feet of any well.

3. Rule 3. No person, firm, or corporation shall keep or maintain
3 any slaughter house, slaughter
4 yard, or slaughter pen, within the 5 city limits; nor shall any person
6 engage in rendering tallow, lard,
7 or any animal tissue, as a busi-
8 ness, except such rendering shall 9 be so conducted as not to give 10 rise to offensive odors.

4. Rule 4. The keeping and maintaining of hogs or hog pens, within the city limits, is hereby expressly forbidden; nor shall it be 5 lawful for any person, firm, or 6 corporation to have and maintain
7 any stable, yard, or structure
8 where cattle are kept within fifty 9 feet from any dwelling house, occupied building, well or spring,
10 nor any structure, yard or enclow-
11 sure for the confining of chickens,
12 geese, or other fowl, or stable
13 where horses, mules or other ani-
14 mals are kept within twenty-five 15 feet from any dwelling house or 16 occupied building except that of 17 the owner of said fowl or animals
18 or within fifty feet of any well or 19 spring.

5. Rule 5. All stables, yards, and 11 they be deposited upon any street,

12 alley, public space, or vacant lot,
13 except by permission of the Board
14 of Health.

8. Rule 8. A garbage district is 2 hereby established, which shall in-
3 clude all of the territory within 4 the city limits and which shall be 5 governed by the following regula-
6 tions:

First—Each and every householder, or occupant of any dwelling house, boarding house or restaurant, having garbage to dispose of, shall provide one or more metal cans, sufficient to receive all garbage that may accumulate between the times of collection;

each can to have a capacity not to exceed ten gallons and provided with a handle, bail, and tight fitting cover. These cans must be so placed that they shall be at all times readily accessible for removing or emptying the same and no other receptacle shall be used for garbage.

Second—All garbage accumulating between the times of collection shall be placed in such cans; provided, that no tin cans,
wire, or metal of any kind, glass, china, crockery, or coarse rubbish, shall be placed in such cans.

Third—All garbage deposited in said cans shall be removed once a week by a licensed scavenger or garbage collector, except in cases of hotels, restaurants and boarding houses where garbage shall be collected and removed daily. The expense of such collection shall be paid for by the owner, agent, occupant or tenant of the premises from which the said garbage is collected, but in no instance shall the fee charged for such collection exceed five cents per week for each can, whole or part. In case of hotels, restaurants, taverns, barrels with tight fitting covers may be used in place of cans.

Fourth—The scavenger or gar-

Fifth—The wagon and convey-kept cleaned, and as free from of-shall they be kept in any street, alley, or public place, nor upon any private premises longer than is reasonably necessary to collect the garbage, nor within the city limits except by permission of the health officer.

II.—To Prevent Contamination of Food.

Rule 9. It shall not be lawful for any vendor of meats, poultry, fish, vegetables, fruits, candy, or confectionery to expose the same fish, poultry, or products of the same, or any meats, fish, or poulpremises, clean and free from all filth and dirt and flies.

Rule 12. Every baker and con-

4 shall keep their cases, counters,
5 tables, and utensils, shelves and 6 every part of their place of busi-
7 ness, clean; and shall protect all
8 such baked goods and confection-

Mrs. Dr. L. Chase of W. 12th street won the Chi-namel outfit in the grain-ing contest offered by Mr. B. Slagh, at the Holland Fair.

County Clerk and Mrs. Jacob Glerum and Mr. and Mrs. James Verhoeks, quietly observed their 25th wedding anniversary Friday, Sept. 29. Neither couple celebrated the event formally but the silver wedding grooms, who are old boyhood friends, extended the courtesies of the day.—Grand Haven Tribune.

Tuesday evening the Rev. Dr. Matthew Kolyn was installed as Professor of Church History in the Western Theological Seminary of this city. Dr. Blekkink delivered the charge to the new professor. Immediately afterward Rev. Dr. Kolyn delivered his inaugural address.

The case of the People vs. Bennie Lapidus which resulted in finding the defendant guilty in the Ottawa Circuit court has been appealed to the supreme court and referred back to the county court for a new trial. The charge against Lapidus is larceny, it being alleged that he attempted to steal a pair of trousers from the Lokker Rutgers company of this city. Since the case has been appealed Lapidus has been out on bail conducting his business.

The board of supervisors will meet in Grand Haven next Monday to determine the distribution of taxes for county and city. Mayor Stephan, G. J. Van Duren and Chris Nibbelink will represent Holland on the board. A pretty close estimate has been made of what Holland will have to contribute. The state tax for the entire county of Ottawa is $98,073.69. Of this amount Holland's share is about $26,000. The city's county tax this year will amount to $25,000. The total city budget appropriated by the council at its last meeting is $82,000 and the school tax amounts to an even $30,000. This makes the total amount the city will have to raise, in round numbers, $163,000. The total assessment of the city is $6,790,280, which makes the rate approximately .0241.

Hope College

Word has been received from Chicago that John Vruwink, formerly Hope's star athlete, is playing right end on the Freshman football team of the University of Chicago.

'15 lost to '14

The old story was enacted in this city last week when the superior finish of a year at Hope told in results. The boys from the verdant hen yards could not fill up the big gap between themselves and those of the superior finish.

'14 started things in the relay, Riemersma, Bilkert, Jongewaard, and Muste were the mighties who mangled the modest milk-feds, Boer, Stegenga, Rusticus and Vander Velde made meat for the manglers. Why not? Four freshmen failed to finish first. Freshmen are not meant to wrest victory from their superiors.

Soph Vander Schasf has his hands full with Fresh Wallinga in the wrestling bouts. At the finish neither was so fresh. Three bouts were necessary to decide the superiority of the superiors. Every one knew that it would have to be that way at the end but in spite of the foregone conclusion all the match furnished excitement. If one of those '15's had won this wrestling match the whole herd would remain for an indefinite time fierce, fiery and untamed.

Then the party adjourned to the streamlet where the freshmen let themselves get soused. They were polite—too polite to interfere with the purpose of the superiors to put the finishing touch upon the days festivity, too polite to war-tug with all their strength.

And then the victors and the vanquished went home satisfied. The second year men had won which was right and the first year men had lost which was right.

The Hope College Athletic Association has decided to have itself represented this year with a foot ball team. A strong schedule has been arranged. The first game will be played within a couple of weeks.

A few last year's style Cravenettes that were $5.50 and $6.50, if you come before they are sold you can have them for $2 each at J. L. Vandersluis.
